The Assistant Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Oloitiptip): That, Sir, is what I was saying. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I was saying that if the Government is going to be able to help them as the West Pokot have already shown themselves that they are able to erect this statue, I have no objection. But, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think that the moment we do that, then the people, say, in Lodwa, will turn round and say, "The President has also stayed here for such a long time; also the hon. Mr. Achieng-Onyko or Mr. Paul Ngei has been here, and therefore we want a statue of the President".

[Mr. Gatunga]

Could he also tell us what are the qualifications of assessors who are required and who have been so difficult to get?

Mr. Otende: Mr. Speaker, in spite of what the Minister did, he has had some difficulty in getting, as I say, local people with knowledge of Nairobi and yet who do not have an axe to grind in this matter.

Mr. Balaha: Mr. Speaker, Sir, from the answer of the Minister, that the Ministry is still looking for a suitable chairman, will the Minister not agree with me that a chairman has already been appointed?

Mr. Otende: No, Mr. Speaker, I said suitable assessors. The chairman has already been appointed, as we all know. Now I may also say that the Minister has succeeded in getting together a number of people suitable for assessors and he promises us to publish this on 1st March this year.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Next question.

Question No. 253

TITLE DEEDS AND LAND LEASES, HAMISI

Mr. Godia asked the Minister for Lands and Settlement when he would complete the issue of title deeds and land leases for farmers and traders in Hamisi Constituency.

The Assistant Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. Nyagah): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply on behalf of the Minister for Lands and Settlement. At the present pace, which is governed by the amount of money available to finance land consolidation and registration, the issue of title deeds would be completed in Hamisi Constituency in 1968. On the other hand, if the funds are increased and the co-operation of the public maintained, the work could be completed in 1967.

I would, therefore, request the hon. Member to insist upon his constituency members to give as much co-operation as possible to my staff, so that the work can be completed within the target date.

The issue of land leases to traders is dependent on the land registration and, as this work is completed in Hamisi Constituency, consideration for leases will be given each application according to its merit.

Mr. Godia: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising out of the Assistant Minister's reply, is he aware that last year the Ministry indicated that it was going to endeavour to give land leases and title deeds to farmers and traders before the end of that year; and now he is indicating that the Ministry intends to get this completed by 1968. Is that not contradicting his former statement which he gave to the House?

Mr. Nyagah: Mr. Speaker, I have not quite understood what the hon. Member is trying to ask.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): A little bit shorter and a little bit louder, Mr. Godia.

Mr. Godia: Mr. Speaker, is the Assistant Minister not aware that last year the Ministry indicated that land leases and title deeds to farmers and traders would be given to the people concerned before the end of last year, and this has not taken place?

Mr. Nyagah: Mr. Speaker, I am not aware neither would I like to contradict the hon. Member. But I would say that an indication is not necessarily a promise. The Ministry has not refused to do what the hon. Member is asking. All it has said is that the work will be completed in 1968, and probably 1967 if more money is made available. But the hon. Member must also realize that there are people who have not even been given an indication, as he has been given. He should be thankful for that.

KAPKERER SUB-POLICE POST

Mr. Godia asked the Minister for Home Affairs if he would advance Kapkerer Sub-Police Post to that of a full police post, providing it with a V.H.F. radio and a Land-Rover to help it maintain law and order effectively on the Western/Rift Valley border.

The Assistant Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. Nyagah): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. Kapkerer is already a full police post. Tests are currently being made with V.H.F. radio equipment and, depending on the outcome, radio communication will be established at the post. At present, I am satisfied that the incidence of crime in the area of Kapkerer Police Post does not warrant the provision of a Land-Rover.

Mr. Godia: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising out of the Assistant Minister's reply, would he tell the House the progress in the area as far as law and order is concerned, so far?

Mr. Nyagah: Again, Mr. Speaker, I would like to say that I have not quite understood what the hon. Member is asking.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, I could not hear it either, Mr. Godia.

Mr. Godia: Mr. Speaker, Sir, will the Assistant Minister tell the House the progress being made in the area so far as law and order are concerned?

Mr. Nyagah: Mr. Speaker, I would like to say that we have police officers at Kapkabet and we have the provincial police officer, who keeps the matter under constant review. He tells us that the incidence of crime there is not as high as the hon. Member would like this House to believe.

Mr. Maitiro: Would the Minister not agree with me that a police post without a Land-Rover to assist in cases of crime does not fulfil its purpose?

Mr. Nyagah: No, Sir.

Mr. Choge: Mr. Speaker, is the Minister aware that Kapkerer is outside the hon. questioner's constituency, and that it is in my constituency, and that there are more crimes committed in Hamisi Constituency than there are in Kapkerer?

Mr. Nyagah: Mr. Speaker, as to the first part: yes. As to the second part: no, I do not agree.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It is not relevant 12390!

Mr. Agar: Mr. Speaker, since I am acquainted with the geography of that area, can the Assistant Minister tell us how policemen reach the scene of a crime, say twenty miles away from the police post, without a Land-Rover?

Mr. Nyagah: Mr. Speaker, Sir, if the policemen were always to go after the criminals in a Land-Rover, then they would never be able to apprehend most of the criminals in this country. There are some places where the policemen have to go on foot to get to the criminals; sometimes they have to go on horses. A Land-Rover is not necessarily the only thing they use. It is a very rugged country, this particular part.

Mr. Shikuku: Arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, where he referred to policemen going on foot and so forth, could he tell us whether he has employed special runners in this area who can run and chase thieves who steal things, let us say, twenty miles away from the police post?

An hon. Member: What about Kipchoge?

Mr. Shikuku: Can they still walk it and find the thieves waiting there for them, without having any mechanical means of getting there? Why is it, therefore, necessary in Nairobi to have 999 cars when there are good roads for people to walk and run?

Mr. Nyagah: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think the hon. Member for Butere is a little confused. The Kenya Police Force utilizes every means possible of apprehending criminals. Where Land-Rovers or 999 cars cannot work, people on foot are employed to do the work efficiently. But if the hon. Members would help the Kenya Police Force by making their people understand that crime does not pay, then there would be no need for all the Land-Rovers they are asking for.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Next question.

MOTION:

STATUE OF THE PRESIDENT FOR CHEWOYET

THAT in view of the fact that Kapenguria has some historical significance connected with the early life of our President, the Rt. Hon. Mzee Jomo Kenyatta, this House urges the West Pokot people to erect his statue at a place known as Chewoyet and further urges the Government to include Kapenguria as one of the chief centres for Kenyatta Day celebrations (i.e. 20th October).

(Mr. Lorema on 11th February 1966)

Amendment proposed, put and agreed to:

THAT the word "Government", where it first appears, to be deleted and that there be inserted in place thereof the words "West Pokot people".

(Dr. Waiyaki on 11th February 1966)

(Resumption of debate on Motion as amended interrupted on 11th February 1966)

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I would remind hon. Members that the Motion now before the House is the Motion originally moved by Mr. Lorema, as amended. The amendment is noted on the Order Paper, but I think I should again propose the question as amended. It reads as follows:—

THAT in view of the fact that Kapenguria has some historical significance connected with the early life of our President, the Rt. Hon. Mzee Jomo Kenyatta, this House urges the West Pokot people to erect his statue at a place known as Chewoyet and further urges the Government to include Kapenguria as one of the chief centres for Kenyatta Day celebrations (i.e. 20th October).

We have had thirty-two minutes spent on this debate; that leaves fifty-eight minutes. So the Mover will have to reply in forty-eight minutes' time.

(Question of the Motion as amended proposed)

Mr. Khalif: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, perhaps you do remember that I was the seconder of this Motion and I reserved my right to speak. Because of this, perhaps you will give me a chance?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, I think I did explain to you, Mr. Khalif, during this debate, that the Member who seconds formally has not, as a matter of order, any absolute right to a place in the debate afterwards. He is not debarred from speaking because of the formal seconding, but there is no guarantee that he will have a chance to speak; so you cannot raise this as a point of order. It is, of course, borne in mind.

Mr. Shikuku?

REPORT OF AUDIT INVESTIGATION, SAMBURU

Mr. Rurumban asked the Minister for Local Government if he would tell the House whether the recent audit investigation into the Samburu Local Authority finances had found any shortages, as far as misappropriation of public money had been concerned.

The Assistant Minister for Labour (Mr. Odera-Jowi): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply on behalf of the Minister for Local Government: The investigation carried out recently at Samburu by an audit team from my Ministry found a cash shortage. Information has been placed in the hands of the police and it would be improper therefore for me to disclose any further details at this juncture.

Mr. Rurumban: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, will he tell the House the actual figure that was found to be short in terms of pounds, by audit investigation?

Mr. Odera-Jowi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not have the actual figure at the moment.

Mr. Agar: Mr. Speaker, Sir, can the Assistant Minister assure this House that the police are not going to be asked to drop the case, as happened in the case of a shortage of local authority funds in South Nyanza last year?

Mr. Odera-Jowi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, at the moment I cannot conceive of any reason for dropping the case.

Mr. Ole Tips: Mr. Speaker, Sir, may we know from the Assistant Minister at what intervals these audit teams audit the books of accounts of various local authorities to prevent any of the offenders disappearing, thereby causing a lot of loss of public money?

Mr. Odera-Jowi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, there is no specified time interval. The hon. Member, I am sure, realizes that we are short of these auditors, and the fact of the matter is that they are kept working round the year.

Mr. Rurumban: Arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, it is now almost two and a half months, Sir, since this audit investigation took place. Why has the Government not yet come to any conclusion?

Mr. Odera-Jowi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have said that the matter has been handed over to the police and police investigations are going on.

Mr. Agar: Mr. Speaker, would the Minister take our advice that in future, if an investigation is to be carried out, it should not be done by local police who sometimes become friendly with the local government officials?

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the last reply by the Minister, that if the doctor charges higher fees he will not have any patients, is he aware that if my son is very sick, and I am prepared to borrow as much money as is needed to keep him alive, and if that is the case, is the Minister not going to try and convene a meeting of the doctors and try and put this case to them, that in view of the fact that the people in Kenya are very poor and that disease does not choose who is poor and who is rich that, therefore, they should lower their fees?

Mr. Otieno: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I quite agree with my hon. friend. However, there is a strange part of human nature which I must refer to. Whereas my Ministry endeavours to give free medical treatment, sometimes for epidemics, it is noticeable in cities like Nairobi, certain people prefer to go to private doctors, even for small-pox inoculations. They refuse the free issue by Government and go and pay for it.

Mr. Choge: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Minister aware that the private doctors are charging high fees because of the taxation on medicine being brought into the country, and that medicine should, therefore, be free of duty?

Mr. Otieno: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I disagree with my hon. friend. All private practitioners get medicine at a very reduced rate.

GRANT-IN-AID: SAMBURU LOCAL AUTHORITY

Mr. Rurumban asked the Minister for Local Government to tell the House whether the Government had ever given the Samburu Local Authority any grant-in-aid since Kenya had become a sovereign state. If the answer was in the negative, would the Minister tell the House why this was so.

The Assistant Minister for Labour (Mr. Odera-Jowi): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply on behalf of the Minister for Local Government. The answer is yes. The following grants-in-aid were paid to Samburu County Council during 1965, i.e., the first year after Kenya attained Republic status.

General grant	£2,600
Grant to offset loss of health centre fees	85
Total grant-in-aid for 1965	£22,685

In 1966, it is proposed to give a general grant-in-aid amounting to £17,200.

Mr. Odera-Jowi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I reject this implication, that the local police in certain areas become too friendly and, therefore, are willing to be bribed into overlooking violations of the law. I think that the police are honest officials of the Government and we trust that anywhere they will discharge their duties.

Mr. Shikuku: Arising from that reply, Sir, could the Assistant Minister tell the House what steps so far have been taken in terms of suspension of the people concerned? Have they been suspended, pending investigations?

Mr. Odera-Jowi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in a case like this, it is not wise to suspend an official of a local authority before it is proved that there was some embezzlement of the funds.

Mr. Rurumban: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Assistant Minister aware that he contradicts the reply that was given yesterday by the Minister of State, that the officers of this local authority were suspended, whereas the clerk had not yet been suspended?

Mr. Odera-Jowi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I revise the information: they were suspended.

IMPLEMENTATION OF LANDLORD AND TENANT ACT

Mr. Balala asked the Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development how far the Landlord and Tenant (Shops, Hotels and Catering Establishments) Act had been implemented in Nairobi and Mombasa, in particular.

The Minister for Health (Mr. Otieno): Mr. Speaker, Sir, on behalf of my colleague, I beg to reply. The Landlord and Tenant (Shops, Hotels and Catering Establishments) Act applies only to Nairobi at the present time. At a later date, the operations of the Act will be applied to Mombasa and to other main centres throughout Kenya.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development has had some difficulty in finalizing the administrative arrangements for the setting up of the tribunal called for under the Act. However, I am confident that the employment of qualified staff and the appointment of a suitable chairman and assessors will be completed very shortly and I am hoping that the Business Premises Rent Tribunal will be fully functional by 1st March 1966.

Mr. Balala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, does the Minister agree with me that since this Act has been passed by this House, many unscrupulous landlords have increased the rents of business establishments, and the Government did not do anything against them? As such, can the Minister assure this House that very stern action will be taken against such unscrupulous landlords?

Mr. Otieno: The answer is yes, Sir.

Mr. Shikuku: Arising from the answer yes, Sir, would the Minister also assure the House that he will check on any landlord who increased the rents after we had passed this Act in this House and that any such landlord will have to refund the amount taken from the tenants from that date up to now?

Mr. Otieno: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to allay the fears of the House on this. We shall deal very sternly with any house owner who has, since this Act came into operation, increased his rents. Since we now have records of the amount paid every month, it is very easy to catch those who have increased the rent.

Mr. Jahazi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that it is the habit of Ministers to promise stern action in this House and then to do nothing afterwards, would the Minister tell us now what steps he is going to take, what type of action, and give us examples, such as confiscation or any other action that he is going to take against these landlords?

Mr. Otieno: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Minister can only be as stern as the laws of the country permit; he cannot go beyond the provisions of the law.

Mr. Balala: Mr. Speaker, from the "yes" answer of the Minister, can he assure this House that a notice will be published in the local Press asking all tenants who had their rents increased to make a written complaint to the Minister concerned?

Mr. Otieno: On behalf of my colleague, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I will pass on the information and I hope that that will be done.

Mr. Agar: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, that the Minister for Commerce and Industry had encountered some difficulties in instituting a tribunal, could he tell the House what exactly these difficulties were?

Mr. Otieno: It is a very simple difficulty, Mr. Speaker, and that is to find a suitable chairman and to find assessors who have no interest in this question of owning premises, so that they are impartial.

Mr. Gatuguta: Mr. Speaker, Sir, does the Minister agree with me that the appointment of the chairman was announced a month ago and that the work of this tribunal has not started yet?

WRITTEN REPLY TO QUESTION

Question No. 313

ALLOCATION OF AGRICULTURAL FINANCE CORPORATION LOANS

Mr. Warfahi asked the Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry what the allocations were, district-wise, of loans by the Agricultural Finance Corporation to farmers for the year 1964 and 1965.

The Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. McKenzie): Small Scale Loans Allocations:

Over and above these allocations, there are loans to co-operative societies and districts that did not get loans for individual farmers who get loan funds through the co-operatives.

Large Scale Allocations: There is no specific limit of loan funds in as far as large-scale funds are concerned. The only limiting factor is the qualifications of the applicants and these are:—

- (i) Not less than fifteen acres of productive land likely to produce a gross income of £500 within a reasonable period.
- (ii) Less than fifteen acres of productive land if the district agricultural committee recommends that the piece of land will yield a gross income of £500 within a reasonable period.
- (iii) Two or more small-scale farmers in partnership who, in the opinion of the district agricultural committee, would be able to produce not less than £500 as gross income within a reasonable period.
- (iv) In all three cases above, the applicant must satisfy the Agricultural Finance Corporation that he either had title to his land or his land was consolidated or demarcated pending issue of title deed.

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Question No. 300

REMOVED FEES BY DOCTORS

Mr. Bahala asked the Minister for Health if he could tell the House how far the Minister's call to the private doctors for reduced treatment fees has been heeded to.

The Assistant Minister for Labour (Mr. Odero-Jowi): Mr. Speaker, Sir, on behalf of the Minister for Health, I beg to reply.

Private medical practitioners have been requested—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Would you like now to hand over to the Minister, as he has just walked in?

Mr. Odero-Jowi: Yes, Sir, I would like to hand it over.

The Minister for Health (Mr. Otiende): I am sorry, Mr. Speaker, Sir, but I have just had this question come into my office.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. Private medical practitioners have been requested to reduce their treatment fees because the fees they are charging at present are beyond the scope of the ordinary citizen. But it must be borne in mind that we can only request them to reduce their fees, and at present there is no means of enforcing any order.

Private doctors in Kenya argue that, because of the higher cost of drugs and maintenance expenses, they are forced to keep these fees up. As hon. Members know, I have asked them to see if they cannot charge the absolute minimum.

Mr. Bahala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, can the Minister tell this House how many private doctors are involved in his call for the reduction of their fees for treatment, by that I mean, how many private doctors are there in the country?

Mr. Otiende: Mr. Speaker, our estimate is that there are about 500 private practitioners in Kenya at present.

Mr. Bahala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, can the Minister tell this House whether it is possible for his Ministry to introduce legislation against high fees charged by private doctors?

Mr. Otiende: Mr. Speaker, Sir, we have been thinking carefully about this, but with the introduction of a national hospital insurance scheme which we hope to introduce next July, it was thought that the fees would regulate themselves, because if anybody charges higher, then he will not have any patients in his clinic.

THE SUPPLEMENTARY APPROPRIATION BILL

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move that the Supplementary Appropriation Bill be now read a Second Time.

This is a formal Bill which gives statutory approval to the financial provision made in the Statement of Excess 1962/63, Supplementary Estimate No. 1 (Recurrent) and Development Supplementary Estimate No. 1 of 1965/66 which have been approved by the House.

These savings are in respect of services transferred to other Votes as a result of the changes in Ministerial portfolios announced by the President on 14th December 1965.

(Ordered to be read the Second Time tomorrow)

Second Reading

THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY (POWERS AND PRIVILEGES) (AMENDMENT) BILL

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): This, as hon. Members realize can only be taken if we have the leave of the House, that is, no hon. Member objecting to the Second Reading being taken the same day as the First Reading.

Mr. Seroney: I object, Sir.
(Ordered to be read the Second Time tomorrow)

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): In that case hon. Members are released ten minutes before the usual time for interruption of business.

I am sorry, I should, I think, just see whether we have the leave of the House to take the Second Reading of the Constitution of Kenya (Amendment) Bill since it is on the Order Paper. If no hon. Member objects we can proceed with that today.

Hon. Members: We object.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I thought they would.
(Ordered to be read the Second Time tomorrow)

ADJOURNMENT

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): In that case this does conclude the business on the Order Paper with which we can deal with today. The House is therefore adjourned until tomorrow, Friday, the 18th February, at 9 a.m.

The House rose at twenty minutes past six o'clock.

[Mr. Mutiso]

Members know the terms of service of civil servants and of expatriates. I cannot go into details showing how much a person earns.

It is only fair, Mr. Chairman, as I said earlier, for these American expatriate teachers to be paid in the same terms as any other expatriate teacher today in this country. It is not fair for us to discriminate against the American expatriate teachers as opposed to the British or Asian expatriates we have in this country. It is only fair in the eyes of the Government to bring these American teachers into line with every other expatriate teacher. Originally, when they first came into this country it was not necessary to bring them on these terms but after great thought it was thought fit to increase their salaries to bring them into line with other expatriate teachers.

Mr. Balala: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, is it in order for the Assistant Minister not to answer my question? I said I wanted to know how many American teachers were involved.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Mr. Balala, I understand your point, but that is not a point of order, you know. It is entirely up to the Assistant Minister to speak as he wants; to speak straight to the point or to beat round and round the bush. He is at liberty to answer as he likes.

Mr. Gichuru: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, I think there is a little misunderstanding here. We are very short of secondary school teachers; very, very short indeed, and many of these teachers we have, we do not pay them. They are given to us. We pay the housing element, we pay the transport and things like that only. It is no good saying some of the things that have been said because they are not true.

The point is this. These teachers are given over to us and they are doing a very fine job. They come for a couple of years, then they go away. If we need more, we ask for them. I mean, they are not forced on us. We are very short of these teachers. If hon. Members argue it this way, then it is about time they resigned and went into the teaching job.

Hon. Members: What about you?

Mr. Gichuru: I have taught for twenty years. I have made my contribution. I do not come here just to shout so that people can hear me talk. This is where some of these hon. Members go wrong.

This is a matter where we need to feel grateful. We are getting this assistance, we are not paying full salaries. We ought to be very grateful. Maybe within the next five to ten years we shall have enough teachers. We have a programme for teachers. For instance, we have this programme for getting science teachers specially trained. Now, when we have our own people they will take over. However, I think that within this period we are so short of teachers that we would look extremely ungrateful and this would sound bad to those who are trying their very best to help us.

So, Mr. Chairman, I appeal to the House to be constructive in a matter of such great importance. Schools are multiplying every day and it is no good just saying, "Why are they here?" unless you have an alternative. Let us know where we are going to get these teachers from. Who is going to pay them? We must be grateful that we are getting them, that we are saving money on this.

Mr. Wamuthenya: Mr. Chairman, according to the debate on the Supplementary Estimate today, concerning the additional expenditure for teachers, I feel we should be in a position to recommend it because we are short of teachers in this country. Everybody who is assisting us from overseas is doing us an exceptional service.

We have been about to close some of our schools in my own constituency and then we managed to get some teachers from America who volunteered their services in order to help us.

Mr. Odhya: You are an old man, you do not know anything.

Mr. Wamuthenya: Mr. Chairman, I am speaking of my constituency and am giving my own opinion. You cannot control me, my dear friend. I am saying what I know from practical experience, not just theoretical matters. I am not speaking like some people who just sit here and say things about which they know nothing at all.

I want to make this very clear, that we should support this Supplementary Estimate so that we can get those teachers to be paid what they have to be paid. That is their right. I say this because without them I am quite sure that we cannot get sufficient teachers. We do not enjoy having to import teachers from abroad if we have enough here. That is very clear. If anybody can tell us that we have sufficient teachers here in order to replace those who are coming from abroad, then we will thank him very much because we do not want to run unnecessary expenses. The countries who are helping us are not spending their money just because they are happy to do so but because they know we are in need of these teachers. We have submitted our need to them.

[Mr. Wamuthenya]

So, Mr. Chairman, I agree that those teachers are very important to us and this money is not being wasted when it is being expended on them.

Mr. Ngala-Ahoki: Mr. Chairman, on a point of order, may I propose that the question be now put.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): There is no question to be put. It is convenient that we should move to the next subject and I agree with you there. We have exactly three minutes left. So, we will move on now.

C3—Grants and Grants-in-Aid

Mr. Omweri: Mr. Chairman, Sir, although you have cut me short on C1, I would like to say that in C3 we would like the Ministry to tell us exactly what is this money that is to be given by way of grants to schools, what is it to be paid towards and where it will go, because in my own case I know that some schools which used to have a grant-in-aid when they were under the regional authority have now lost that grant.

I would like the Assistant Minister to tell us what is happening to schools which used to be boarding schools, which had grants-in-aid to provide facilities and now they have nothing.

I would like the Ministry to give a bit of explanation and tell us whether this money is going to be used in a particular area or whether it is going to be spread among many schools because we find that in certain cases money is only given to particular areas while other areas have no allocation at all from this particular Vote.

I would like the Ministry to answer my first question where a boarding school which used to have grant-in-aid no longer has it; the Ministry has left this school without proper facilities and there is not enough money. I would like to know whether this question will refer to our own areas in Kiisi.

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Chairman, Sir, this money definitely is going to be used for the whole country. All the schools on provincial level send their estimates for various secondary schools which should be aided by the Government. After all the estimates have been compiled in the Ministry, this is precisely the money that is required to aid all the schools throughout the country. Therefore, I say that this money is not being asked for in order to benefit one particular area, one particular province, or one particular district. It is going to be spread quite evenly throughout the country.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Order! Order! It is now half an hour before the time for interruption of business. According to Standing Order 145 (3) allow me to put the Motion to the vote.

MOTION

SUPPLEMENTARY ESTIMATE NO. 1 OF 1965/66—DEVELOPMENT

THAT a sum not exceeding £333,324 be granted from the Consolidated Fund to meet expenditure during the year ending 30th June 1966 in respect of Development Supplementary Estimate No. 1 of 1965/66.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): I will now put this Motion to the vote.

(Question put and agreed to)

(Resolutions to be reported without amendment)

(The House resumed)

[The Speaker (Mr. Slade) in the Chair]

REPORTS

STATEMENT OF EXCESS: 1962/63

Dr. De Souza: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am directed to report that the Committee of Supply has considered the resolution that a sum not exceeding £8,244-6-06 cents be issued from the Consolidated Fund to meet expenditure during the year ending 30th June 1963, in respect of Statement of Excess 1962/63 and has approved the same without amendment.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move that the House doth agree with the Committee in the said Resolution.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso) seconded.

(Question proposed)

SUPPLEMENTARY ESTIMATE NO. 1 OF 1965/66—RECURRENT

Dr. De Souza: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am directed by the Committee of Supply to report its consideration of the resolution and its approval of the same without amendment: That a sum not exceeding £1,339,114 be granted from the Consolidated Fund to meet expenditure during the year ending 30th June 1966, in respect of Supplementary Estimate No. 1 of 1965/66 (Recurrent), having regard to the proposed savings of £252,702 therein appearing.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move that the House doth agree with the Committee in the said Resolution.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): That applies to hon. Members as well. If hon. Members had all been a little more brief we might have been able to get on much faster. No more points of order on this.

Mr. Oduya: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, I thought that I, personally, gave you notice of my amendment yesterday; I thought I had given you and that is why in fact I had the intention of moving—

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): No, you gave me a notice, Mr. Oduya, on C3—Grants and Grants in Aid.

Mr. Oduya: Only that?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Yes.

Mr. Gichoya: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, I have already given you my notice of my intention—

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): No, it is too late. We will move to the next one.

(Head B4 agreed to)

Secondary Education

C1—Personal Emoluments

Mr. Waribiti: Mr. Chairman, on this one—Secondary Education, C1, Personal Emoluments—now we are told that this money is required for three purposes. I have no quarrel with 2 and 3, but 1, the purpose here is to pay American T.E.A. teachers with retroactive effect from 1st April 1964. This will cost £20,000 of which £12,570 is offset by appropriation-in-aid—see subhead "2", item 12. Now, Mr. Chairman, here my quarrel is why is this found necessary to increase the salary of these American teachers who we know are spoiling our children. They speak horrible English. Now, the point is that it is true that we need teachers but I think these are not the type of teachers we should get for our children. In any case, my main quarrel here, Mr. Chairman, we see that their salary is to be increased by 124 per cent, and that to take effect from 1st April 1964, and to any thinking person it is quite clear that this must be an afterthought. If during the years 1964, 1965 and 1966 nobody thought of increasing these salaries, now we come to 1966 and we are asked to vote some money to pay them salaries going back to 1964. Somebody must have thought of this, or maybe there was a complaint or negotiations going on somewhere, I think the Minister should tell us the reasons why first of all it was necessary to increase their salary, and secondly why go back to 1st April 1964.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): Mr. Chairman, I think, first of all, I would like to refute the allegation by the hon. Member that it is hard to understand what some of these American teachers say, and that they speak horrible English. Mr. Chairman, this is not true because I think, what the hon. Member has in mind is just a debating point. These are well-trained teachers and they speak beautiful English, unless perhaps the hon. Members do not understand English themselves. Now, Mr. Chairman, this—

Mr. Gichoya: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, is it in order for the Assistant Minister to allege that Members of this House are not able to speak English, whereas we have already passed an English test?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): I do not think that the Assistant Minister said anything like that.

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Chairman, I used the word "unless", and that ought to have shown the hon. Member, perhaps he does not hear English well. I said "unless perhaps the hon. Members do not understand English".

Mr. Chairman, this increase of 124 per cent was thought necessary for these American T.E.A. teachers because these particular teachers are loaned to us by the American Government. Yes, they are loaned to us, we are short of teachers. Mr. Chairman, these hon. Members came to this House and rendered the Government into the difficulty of the lack of teachers. Therefore, we have to look round and borrow teachers. Mr. Chairman, it was found necessary to raise the salaries of these American teachers in order to bring them into line with other civil servants, or rather other expatriates in the country. It is not fair to have the British expatriate teachers having a higher salary or earning more than the American expatriates whom we have borrowed from the American Government. This is the reason why this increment was thought necessary. I think this is the information the hon. Members wanted.

Mr. Ngala-Aboki: Mr. Chairman, I would like to have a proper assurance from the Minister that the country is receiving these teachers from America, and that the majority of them are not trained teachers, but if they are all trained teachers the Minister must let the country know, because as far as I know it has been said time and time again that many of them are university graduates, some of whom go back after having completed their contract to University. They may be undergraduates, some of them probably finish as far as East Africa is concerned, school certificate. I

(Mr. Ngala-Aboki) do not know what they call it in the United States. Then they are sent here to help. In fact, I would like them to help us because we are short of teachers, but we must admit one thing, that they are not skilled, trained teachers, and therefore we cannot compare them with British teachers, people who have been teaching and who speak the correct language which is English. In fact, the intonation of the American people is decidedly odd, and if, for example, I could just say a sentence, you would think it sounded very funny, I know. So this sort of thing is not actually English. Mr. Chairman, I just want the Minister to tell the House clearly that they are not trained teachers.

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Chairman, I think there is some confusion which I would like to clarify. When I stood up to explain to the previous speaker Mr. Chairman, I did say quite clearly that these particular teachers are not the Peace Corps teachers. These Peace Corps teachers are volunteers who come for a period of about two years, but these particular teachers we are talking about in this Vote, are well trained teachers. They are not the Peace Corps type of teachers who come here voluntarily. The Peace Corps teachers are not paid by our Government. Therefore, I think this is the thing which the hon. Members ought to know.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Chairman, we have heard the reply from the Assistant Minister who profited no more than the Member for Gichugu. However, Mr. Chairman, I would like to know from the Assistant Minister how much or the amount of money we are supposed to pay these American T.E.A. teachers, who, after coming from America as loaned property, they are sent to Makerere College for one year's training: to familiarize themselves with Swahili, and perhaps to learn the background of the country. Does that one year's training make them capable of teaching in our secondary schools, and holding better positions than our own African teachers? Mr. Chairman, the Assistant Minister asks us to believe him. Luckily, the other Assistant Minister coming from a district where we have Kericho Kagumo he knows for certain—yes, geography shows me, Mr. Chairman, that this hon. Member, who is elected for Doonholm Road, in Nairobi City, belongs to Nyeri, to Othaya. Mr. Chairman, we are told that the teachers have been to Makerere, but to my surprise Mr. Chairman, their way of teaching is comparatively inferior to the method of teaching which is conducted by the African teachers who have attained the Teacher-Training Diploma and yet these P1 teachers are subjected to humiliation by these American T.E.A. teachers. I was to know what remedy my friend has in his own Ministry for helping promotion, in terms of responsibility, of the African teachers in these schools where you have these American T.E.A. teachers?

Mr. Kiboga: Mr. Chairman, while I appreciate the fact that these teachers are welcome to come and teach us, because we have no teachers, I would like to add to what quite a number of hon. Members have said that we need a little bit of planning. Last year when we were debating the Ministry of Education Vote, the Minister promised to ask ten students from every Constituency Member here to go and be trained at the Kenyatta College, so that they will be able to staff our schools. It was not carried out and I am wondering what the Minister is doing, although we would like to have these foreigners for a short time, we do not want them to be here all the time. Not necessarily because they cannot teach, they can teach but they do not know our way of life. They probably will not understand our African Socialism. We would like to train more teachers within the country, who can understand our aspirations, who can guide the development of our country. Whether these come from America or from Britain, or from Scandinavia, Russia, or Peking, we must not depend on these foreigners all the time. What has the Minister got on the question of training local people? When are we going to cut away from this method of having to import teachers every now and again?

Mr. Dalaba: Mr. Chairman, I personally believe that we are not suffering from as acute a shortage of teachers in this country as the Assistant Minister has implied because we will find in this House today that we have more than fifty Members who are ex-teachers. Also, in other parts of the country we have people who are ex-teachers. This was caused by the discouragement of the terms of service of Government.

Mr. Chairman, Sir, I would like to know from the Assistant Minister, (1) how many American T.E.A. teachers are involved in this increase of 24 per cent and (2) why did the Ministry think fit to increase the rate of pay for American teachers while our teachers, here, in this country have been discouraged?

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Chairman, I think we are coming back to this point every now and then. If the hon. Balala was listening, when I spoke earlier I said that the reason why we had to raise the salaries of the T.E.A. American teachers was because these are expatriate teachers. Expatriate teachers have separate terms of service, they are not like our local teachers here. You can see that I am sure. Mr. Chairman, the hon.

[Mr. Mutiso]

The hon. Member also wished to know whether this was a question of political pressure from somebody within Government circles. This is not so, Sir. We inherited these schools after independence; we found them there and we thought it necessary to continue running them. I think it was some time last year that I mentioned in this House that we have three of this type of school: one in Kitale, one in Eldoret and another in Nyeri. These are the only three primary boarding schools, and if the hon. Members want to send their children there, they can.

Mr. urap Soi: Mr. Chairman, the Assistant Minister has stated that these schools are meant for the children of the officials regularly, and now—well, if it was regular, it is all finished now and it should be dismantled. If it is not, then he should have said, and that would be all right. But if it was just meant for the past, it is not necessary now.

We also want to know, Sir, what fees are payable there, and we want to know what contribution is made by the county council. Are they contributing any money or is it just being given by Government? We do not want to create classes or unnatural distinctions in this country. If the Government would like to establish a good primary school in every county, that would be all right; we would accept that, because there would be one in every county. But just to have special counties or to continue colonialistic ideas created by people who have left the country, that is not right, in our view.

So, Sir, would the Minister tell the House the contribution of the county council, the fees payable there so that we can know that we are supporting something right.

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Chairman, I did explain that the county councils are not constitutionally supposed to run boarding schools, and, therefore, there is no question of any contribution being made by the local county councils. These boarding schools are run by the Central Government, just like any other boarding school; and therefore this is why we thought it necessary to ask for this additional sum of money in order to run this school. We thought it was going to close down and be handed over to the county council as an ordinary primary school. But we found that it is useful to run this school for the time being. So, when the Estimates were proposed, this was not included, and this is why we ask for this money.

Mr. Malinda: Mr. Chairman, I want to inform the Assistant Minister that if these schools are being set aside for children of members of the Civil Service or even Members of this House, that is a discriminatory act, in that only those children whose parents are able to pay the high fees charged in these schools may be sent there which will create a privileged class of people. If these schools are for the country, they should be used not exclusively or even set aside for members of the Civil Service.

Again, I think the Assistant Minister is wrong in saying that these are the only three primary boarding schools in this country, and that there are no county councils or local authorities which run primary boarding schools. If it is necessary for any of these members of the Civil Service to move from one place to another, or go on overseas tours or other things like that, here in Nairobi there are more than a dozen primary boarding schools. Why do they not send the children there? That is a fact, and if the Assistant Minister does not know, he knows now. The Nairobi City Council has boarding schools here.

There are boarding schools here and in Mombasa, too. Why should only these three be the ones to be looked after by Government? Now if children going to these primary boarding schools can get bursaries from the Government, then why not give bursaries to those other children who go to the other primary boarding schools?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Mr. Malinda, there is no suggestion of a bursary being given.

Mr. Malinda: But, Sir, he said that the fees are so high that the Government has to subsidize.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): No, no. Students' places are subsidized.

Mr. Malinda: All right. The other thing is this. It is quite unfair to give any chance to children from outside Kenya when our own children are going without education. We should give them a chance to enter these primary schools. It does not mean that all the children of school age have places in primary schools. It is unfair, Mr. Chairman.

The Assistant Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Kibaki): Mr. Chairman, I think there is need here to make the position absolutely clear, before we are accused of any discrimination or of any subsidy or of any other imaginary crimes which the hon. Specially Elected Member, Mr. Malinda, is proposing. The fact is, Sir, that if anyone cares to read the explanatory note on page 12, it says very clearly: "The school is not closing and additional provision is now required which will be more than offset"—more than offset, very simple.

[The Assistant Minister for Economic Planning and Development]

basic language—more than offset, by increased collection of tuition and boarding fees of £9,400 shown under subhead 'Z', Item 11." That is, appropriations-in-aid.

In other words, Mr. Chairman, the position is that this money is in the nature of an advance to help save a very useful institution which would otherwise have been closed. The money will be more than replaced, more than offset, by the collection of tuition and boarding fees, as I quoted. In other words, we are not being asked in any way to subsidize anything. This point ought to be made quite clear. We are not being asked to subsidize anything at all. All we are doing is to help bridge a period when no provision has actually been made.

Now, Sir, there is no question of Government paying a subsidy. The fees for tuition and boarding will cover these costs. That point is disposed of, and I hope that no hon. Member is going to try and misguide the people, that the money of the country is being mis-spent on three primary boarding schools. That is not true.

As to the utility, as to the need for these primary boarding schools, this is a need which is recognized everywhere in the world. We have parents—and I believe very many of the hon. Members here are parents with children who are going, or will shortly go, to primary schools—we have parents who, by the very nature of their job, because they travel, move, too much from town to town, to keep on moving their children as well; and therefore it becomes necessary for them to have a primary boarding school where they can leave their children to have a proper education.

Therefore, what the position is, is that these schools actually existed; this was existing capital we found. I do not know whether hon. Members would suggest that these places should have been closed, should have been burnt down, or dismantled or turned into beer halls, or something. I do not know what they would have wanted done with them. What is being proposed, therefore, is that these institutions which can afford to maintain themselves by the collection of fees, without subsidy by the Government, should be allowed to continue. Now what is wrong with a good institution which can maintain itself from the collection of fees being able to exist? If we were spending money to subsidize it, Sir, I agree it would be unfair, I would agree it was discriminatory. But then we are not. The institution exists on its own. In fact, Sir, for those who are worried about the need to increase education facilities, the existence of these schools does mean that we have more facilities than we would otherwise have. So I do not know what is worrying the Members.

Sir, my own suggestion is this, that we need this kind of school. In fact, we should in fact help many more parents to educate their children. The hon. Member for Gichugu will be able to speak until the cows come home. I will give him the perfect opportunity. There is no need for him to worry. Oh, he has no cow.

Mr. Chairman, the point about the schools being used by civil servants, again, this is a red herring. No, Mr. Chairman, it was true that in the old days where you had civil servants, whether they were in administration or elsewhere, who had, by the very nature of their job, to travel from place to place. They kept being transferred by the very nature of their job, they were forced to put their children into boarding primary schools. The district commissioners we have now, and this same hon. Member insists that we should transfer them to district areas of Kenya. If we have to, do we seriously want that district commissioner to move his child all over the country and lose the chance of a good education? He should have the opportunity of a good boarding primary school provided he pays the full tuition and boarding fees and that the school is not subsidized. Mr. Chairman, the position is very straightforward, and I think we should not be misguided into emotional talk about imperialist legacy, all these people were imperialist legacies as they were born before independence.

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, I was wondering whether it is provided anywhere in the Standing Orders, where, if Members are not satisfied with the discussion on one item, we could move that we do not go over.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): No, I am afraid there is no such thing. If any hon. Member felt so strongly about it, he should have mentioned that he had given notice beforehand to reducing the particular vote. But, Mr. Shikuku, you must realize that when I say we move to the next Head, there is only thirty-five or thirty-six minutes more, and we have not even done half the vote. It is in your interest, as well as in everyone else's, that we might get on to some other items.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Chairman, I am not challenging your ruling, but the point is that the Ministers are just trying to speak longer and waste more time so that we cannot get on with it.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): You are too much in advance, I think, you might just as well sit down.

Mr. Oduya: But anyway, let me speak on this one; I thought I would give you a note on that, that was why I was rushing. But let me speak on the other side, that is travelling. Now, Sir, we have a lot of problems today in the field. Although the Minister is asking for an additional £200, today his officers in the field, for example, the education officers, are not doing their work properly, either because there are not enough staff or may be because of inefficiency. This is something which the Minister must explain to the House.

I remember, Sir, there was a strike at Kolanya Secondary School just recently, and it took almost ten days for the Ministry officer to reach that place. I am giving the example of Kolanya Secondary School, where the headmaster fought with the children and on the spot, without a decision by the board of governors, the headmaster got rid of Form IV who are going to sit school certificate this year; and up to date they are still away. That means that he has already cancelled Form IV and no action has been taken. So this is a part of the officer's—

Mr. Malinda: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, is the Member in order to talk about secondary education, when I thought we were talking about primary education?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): You are quite right, Mr. Malinda. I was not quite aware at first what Kolanya School was until the Member mentioned Form IV, so I think you are perfectly in order. Mr. Oduya, you fully appreciate the necessity to be relevant to what we are discussing?

Mr. Oduya: Yes, you are very correct in your ruling. I did not actually follow; I thought that here we were generally discussing the item. So I think I will have to give way for those who want to talk on this one.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): Mr. Chairman, Sir, I think it would be proper if I explained about this head B2, travelling and subsistence expenses on duty. This money, Sir, is being requested because originally, as you can see from the revised estimate, we thought, before this estimate was prepared, that the Kitale Primary School, which is a boarding school, was going to close down and be handed over to the county council. But we had a second thought because normally, as a general rule, we do not give boarding schools to the county councils. This money is required to facilitate the inspection and also—

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, I am just wondering whether what the Assistant Minister is saying is relevant to what we are talking about. He is talking about Kitale when we are talking about travelling and subsistence expenses on duty. How does Kitale come into it?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): I think you should give him a chance to speak so that you can understand how he becomes relevant, rather than interrupting him in the middle of a sentence.

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Chairman, the hon. Member was not listening when I started. I did say, Sir, that originally, when this estimate was proposed, we thought the Kitale Primary School was going to close down and be handed over to the county council—

Mr. Warũthi: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, this comes under B4, equipment and maintenance, in the explanation. The Kitale issue comes under B4 and we are talking about travelling.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Yes, you are quite right. You were perfectly right, Mr. Shikuku. I was not listening fully to Mr. Mutiso because I was listening to the Clerk at the time. I think you are very much ahead, Mr. Mutiso.

Mr. Mutiso: I agree, Mr. Chairman!

Sir, I think the hon. Members will realise that at this stage we have not got an excessive number of staff, particularly on the supervisory side. As you can see, we require this money in order to facilitate the travelling and subsistence allowance for members of staff when they are on duty in various parts of the country. Hon. Members have been asking, saying that their schools are not being inspected; there are not sufficient staff members to inspect the schools and make sure that the lessons which are being given are in accordance with the requirements of the country. This is why we felt it necessary to ask for the additional sum of £200 in order to facilitate an increase in staff.

Mr. Kasse: Mr. Chairman, I am still not satisfied with the answer from the Assistant Minister. Now £200 is actually Sh. 4,000.

An hon. Member: Yes.

Mr. Kasse: Now if half the amount—if I understand well—which is £1,400, has really been a failure—because these supervisors, we are told that they are doing some proper supervision, but we have noticed poor results and this is why I want the Assistant Minister to tell me about the Sh. 4,000. Where have they used £700, and it has failed? We are wasting this money, Sir. There

[Mr. Kasse] anywhere else. We want to know why is no efficiency here. We want to know why these people have travelled. They are supposed to have travelled to these schools; they are supposed to have supervised these children. We want to know whether the standard of the teachers has gone down. We want to know whether these have, in fact, not travelled but have still used this money. We want to know whether some more vehicles have been bought. But we cannot just be asked to add another Sh. 4,000.

Kenya has forty-one districts, and that makes about Sh. 100 per district. Now if you are a sensible man of the world, you will see that to add Sh. 100 on to one education officer is not going to increase his efficiency. We know these supervisors he is talking about. They do not have desks in the offices. Why is he adding all this money? We must get an assurance from the Assistant Minister that their efficiency will be increased; and he must tell us why the Kenya Preliminary Examination results were bad. If it is a question of teachers, we know.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): I think we will move on.

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Chairman, I think if we are to be fair to ourselves, I fail to understand the point raised by the hon. Member. If we find it necessary to ask for this little sum of money, and yet he sees no efficiency coming from this money because it is such a small sum—I think he is trying to confuse the House. If he thinks this is a little little money, and that we should ask for £3,000, then he had better tell us and then we shall ask for that, money.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): I think we will move to the next subhead.

(Subhead B2—agreed to)

B4—Equipment, Maintenance, Postal and Incidental Expenses

Mr. Malinda: Mr. Chairman, I would like to know from the Assistant Minister why it has been found necessary to continue with this Kitale Primary School, when it has been an established fact, right from the beginning, that all primary education was a matter for county councils and other local authorities?

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, I thought we were moving to item B.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): If you did your homework better, it would be more useful, Mr. Shikuku.

Mr. Malinda: Again, Sir, I want to know why it has been found fit to continue with this primary school at Kitale, and why it is at Kitale and not anywhere else. If Government has decided to look after or run some primary schools, we would like to know how many of these schools are going to be run by Government, where they are going to be established and also what type of pupils attend this Kitale Primary School. Why should it not be in the hands of the county council there, as in other areas? Why should Kitale be favoured? Has anyone brought any pressure to bear on the Ministry of Education, to get the Kitale Primary School run by Government? If so, Sir, we want to know, we can also bring pressure to bear, if that is the method Government uses to listen to people. We also can bring pressure to bear to get some of these primary schools in our areas.

Mr. Chairman, the other thing is that I heard the Assistant Minister saying earlier that he thought that this school was going to be closed but that it had been found necessary to continue it. When was it supposed to be closed? Because, from the original estimate, it will be seen that there was a provision for £21,000. Now only an additional £6,000 are required for the running of this school. What difference will £6,000 make in an establishment which needs £21,000, when we know that it was likely to be closed?

Sir, I think answers to those points will clear my difficulties up.

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Chairman, Sir, I think the point raised by the hon. Member is important, and I would like to explain to the House that this is one of the rare cases that happen sometimes. In every country, Sir, you find that there are some primary boarding schools, which can especially be used for anybody, and mostly it is meant to be used by the children of serving officers, particularly the Government officers, who can be transferred here and there, all over the country. If a man is a district commissioner or a provincial commissioner or a police inspector, or someone of that rank, he is likely to be moved from district to district, and if he has a family, then normally he has to find a place where he can put his children, even if he is transferred from that area, so that they can continue their education.

Now Kitale is open even to the children of hon. Members, if they can afford to send their children there. It is meant to suit everybody. In fact, we also receive children from other countries, such as Uganda, in this school, and the Uganda people who want to send their children there pay the full fees of the school; our own people who send children there pay at reduced rates because they are citizens of this country.

[Mr. Ngala] wrong, then the Minister will say, "I wanted more money but you refused to give it to me." Then we shall be in a bad way. What we should do is give the Minister money but at the same time give him a serious warning. He is a big man and can take it well. If we give him this warning, and the money, then the work of the country can be done.

We have been told a story by the hon. Mr. Ngala-Abok, how his car has been lying on its side, no wheels. That matter must be investigated to find out who has removed the wheels, the tyres and so on.

If you refuse to give the Minister money, how are we going to investigate things?

There is another point. This money is not money that the Minister wants for the sake of wanting it. It is money that he wants to improve the criminal investigation service. If we refuse him on the basis that what has been happening is not satisfactory, then I think we are making a mistake and will end by worsening the service of the police.

[The Deputy Chairman (Mr. Slade) left the Chair]

[The Chairman (Dr. De Souza) resumed the Chair]

Now, Mr. Chairman, I believe the money is not being thrown away. It is shown very clearly here that originally we gave the Minister £100,000 and now he wants £5,000 more. He has also shown us how this money is going to be spent. It may be a lot of money but the police establishment needs it. Therefore, I submit very strongly that this House should avoid future blame by the Minister by increasing the amount of money originally voted. We should give him the money he wants and at the same time we should give him sufficient warning so that the work can be done efficiently.

Mr. wrap Moh: Mr. Chairman, I would like to answer one question. I was not satisfied with what the hon. Mr. Gichoya said. If he had any trouble or mistreatment by the police, he should have reported to the Commissioner of Police or to my Ministry so that the matter could have been taken up. However, I do not think it is fair for hon. Members to air their troubles and problems in Parliament instead of having them dealt with administratively and properly. It is no good bringing these complaints to Parliament and suggest that the police have said this and that. The matter could have been very serious and could have been dealt with outside Parliament.

I do not think that a circular has been issued to any police officer in the terms stated by the hon. Member. I am sure this is an absolute fabrication of the entire problem.

Now, Mr. Chairman, I would like to make it clear that the hon. Member for Kilifi did indicate that this money was for salaries. Although the Supplementary Estimate refers to salaries, staff and so on, I refers to the amount required to buy certain things which would improve efficiency in the Criminal Investigation Department.

Mr. G. G. Kariki: Mr. Chairman, personally I have no quarrel with the police because I am aware that the police are not being given a chance to defend themselves in this Chamber. They have been accused seriously by Members of Parliament and they cannot come here and defend themselves. I strongly oppose the idea of Members of Parliament criticizing the police because these people cannot come here and tell us why they are being criticized.

Mr. Oduya: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, we have laboured this issue for quite a long time, so would it be in order for me to suggest that the question be now put.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): I think we will let Mr. Kariki finish first.

Mr. G. G. Kariki: Mr. Chairman, maybe this point I am trying to make is affecting some Members seriously. We must see that Members of this House behave like hon. Members. If it is no use abusing the police in the street and then complain if they are arrested.

What I expect the Minister to tell us is why he wants this money, £5,000. I am not opposing the amount of £5,000, but I expected the Minister to tell us the reasons why he wanted this money because only the words "criminal investigation" does not satisfy us at all. We want to know whether he wants it for employing more people in the Criminal Investigation Department.

An hon. Member: He said that.

Mr. G. G. Kariki: Well, then if he has said that, it is all right.

So, Mr. Chairman, I conclude by saying that Members of Parliament should not be given a chance to criticize the police at any time because the police are not here to defend themselves.

Mr. Oduya: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, I propose that the question be now put. (Question, that the question be now put, put and agreed to)

(Question of the amendment put and negatived)
(Resumption of debate on original Motion)

Several hon. Members: Division!

The Assistant Minister for Labour (Mr. Odoerose): On a point of order, Sir, I thought that a certain minimum number was required to force a division.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): No, but if there is a little uncertainty, I think we had better—the vote was very close, and even if some hon. Members stand, I think we should have a division.

But I notice that the Members have sat down, so there will be no division.

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, the Member for Laikipia has just shouted that the Members are criminal.

Mr. Chairman, I was addressing you and not the Minister for Home Affairs.

Mr. Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Order! Please continue, Mr. Shikuku.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Chairman, the hon. Member for Laikipia has just shouted to us that we, the Members who are calling for a division, are criminals. Can he substantiate that?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): There is no question of substantiation. If he said that, it is quite out of order, and he must withdraw it. I did not hear him.

Mr. G. G. Kariki: Mr. Chairman, in view of the fact that you did not hear—

Mr. Chairman (Dr. De Souza): No, no. Order!

Mr. G. G. Kariki: I did not say that.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): You did not say it? All right, we will accept that. No, no more points of order.

(Head J agreed to)

(Vote 8 agreed to)

VOTE 11—MINISTRY OF EDUCATION

B2—Travelling and Subsistence Expenses on Duty

Mr. Kase: Mr. Chairman, I am interested in this; I am interested in why we have this additional money, and we want to know who is being paid for subsistence, because we have noticed that the results of the Kenya Preliminary Examination this year have been very bad indeed; and we want to know who is travelling to use this money. The percentage this year, Mr. Chairman, if I may quote is less than 30 per cent total passes.

This man is travelling. We want to know who this man is. For what business is he travelling? And if it is the supervisor of schools which are doing primary education, we want to know the reason why this money is being used, and yet people are not being supervised properly, so that it has led to the fact that pupils have failed in such great numbers this year. Unless we get proper clarification of this matter of this money, we shall not find it very easy to release this £200 to the Ministry.

Mr. Oduya: Mr. Chairman, I also rise to join my colleague. Here I can see one of the difficulties is that we have the duplicate Minister in the House to answer.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Order! Order. Mr. Oduya! Please withdraw that. It is quite out of order to talk like that.

Mr. Oduya: Assistant Minister.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): No, no, I have heard you say this so often. You have been told so often that you have to call the Minister by his proper designation. It is not amusing, it is pointless and it does not help this House or you, for that matter.

Mr. Oduya: Very well, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Have you withdrawn and apologized? I want you to withdraw and apologize.

Mr. Oduya: It is withdrawn.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): We do not want to hear it again, please.

Mr. Oduya: Now I go on to Question 1A. I do not think the Minister—Let me go ahead and don't interrupt me.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Order! Mr. Oduya! Please address the Chair.

The Assistant Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. Nyagah): Mr. Chairman, is the hon. Member in order to call me a thief?

Mr. Oduya: No, I did not say that.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): I am sorry, I did not hear it.

Mr. Oduya: I did not say it; he accuses me because he is sitting here.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Order! Order!

Mr. Nyagah: He did, he called me a thief.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Members must try not to bandy words with one another.

Mr. Oduya: All right. What I want to say is about what we call grants and grants-in-aid. I would like the Minister, when he replies, to explain to the House how they give grants because—

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): We are speaking on B2, travelling and subsistence expenses on duty.

Mr. Oduya: Oh, you are still up there, eh?

[Mr. Gichoya]

Now, the Minister does not state that the money that is needed is to establish a school of criminal investigation in this country or expanding the existing one so that we have more officers for criminal investigation, or training the existing people who have no basic education in investigation. Mr. Chairman, I say this because most of the people we have in the Criminal Investigation Department group were the former workers in the Colonial Government when they were trying to train people to trace the freedom fighters only. That was the basic qualification. A man who was able to say, "So-and-so has taken the Mau Mau oath," that man today is one of those who is reputed to be a very good criminal investigator. Mr. Chairman, it is very unfortunate that we have to pay money to our people who have failed the public.

Another thing I would like to say is this. The police have been given—it is a rumour, Mr. Chairman, I have never seen the circular—a circular to see to it that if they can arrest a Member of Parliament that would be an additional badge, an additional flash for their shoulders. This is a rumour.

Mr. urap Moki: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, hon. Members have been told from time to time not to quote rumours. Could the hon. Member substantiate what he has stated rather than give the House false information?

[The Deputy Chairman (Mr. Slade) took the Chair]

The Deputy Chairman (Mr. Slade): Yes, after hearing that substantiation, I must remind hon. Members that they have forgotten the limitation of debate on Supplementary Estimates. A Supplementary Estimate is merely an addition to that which is already voted, and does not give an opportunity of full debate on the whole policy of the particular Ministry concerned. It is only when the additional money involves some new question of policy that the policy can be debated, as being a new issue not raised by the Annual Estimates; otherwise all we can discuss is whether the money is needed.

Now, Mr. Gichoya, would you substantiate what you said.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Deputy Chairman, I said it is a rumour, which is being circulated and I do not think one could substantiate a rumour.

The Deputy Chairman (Mr. Slade): Ah, no. Please read HANSARD, Mr. Gichoya. You will find on several occasions I have warned hon.

Members that they cannot escape their obligations to substantiate by alleging rumour. It is as bad to allege rumour as to allege fact. In other words, unless you have some reason to believe the rumour, then you must withdraw it.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Chairman, I have some reason to believe it and I will give the reason now. On 14th—we have already heard of one such incident from the hon. Member for Butere. The latest case to date is the one which took place on the 14th at Thika near the sisal research level. This was when the Member for Gichugu was coming to Parliament. At about 9.30 p.m. after reaching that particular place, I found the police checking vehicles and what I did was to obey the particular policeman who was there. I stopped my car and when they saw it was the Member for Gichugu, with the red label, I was told, "Please park your car on the side." They did not check the car, they only asked me to park it to one side. Then I tried to find out, Mr. Chairman, why I was asked to park it aside. I merely asked a question, why I had to park the car to one side, and I was instantly removed from the car, handcuffed and put straight into a Land-Rover. Luckily enough I had my own driver who is my colleague in business. We were coming to Nairobi together. He remained in the car and I was taken to the Thika Police Station. Was taken inside the station. The officers who were there told me, "Look, we have already put in Tom Gichohi, we have already put in Gachaga; we have already put in Gachago"—although Gachago is here—and we can put you in, too." This is exactly the position, Mr. Chairman, and one of them said they had received a circular to deal with the Members of Parliament squarely.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Chairman, is it not out of order to refer to the hon. Member as Gachago instead of saying the hon. Gachago?

The Deputy Chairman (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! The hon. Member is in order, for he was quoting what the policeman said.

Mr. Gichoya: With due respect to the Minister's inquisitive approach I will go to the extent of saying that Tom Gichohi is still Senator under our Constitution. All these people are still on the payroll of the Kenya Government, unless the Constitution is amended.

The Deputy Chairman (Mr. Slade): You must keep within the bounds of the debate.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Chairman, after being taken to the police, and having been informed in that manner, the medical officer telephoned the doctor of the hospital and I was taken to the hospital for medical examination. Blood was taken from my right hand. After the blood had been examined the doctor pronounced me as having no alcoholic influence and said that there was nothing to prevent the Member for Gichugu from driving his car.

I would like to state here, Mr. Chairman, that I was not the driver of the car. I had a driver.

I am trying to prove that the investigation that is being carried out today is a sure sign that the police must investigate how a Member of Parliament sleeps, how he eats, where he goes, what he says.

The Deputy Chairman (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! You are now going beyond the bounds of the Supplementary Estimates. We cannot discuss the whole policy of the police. We must limit ourselves now. Mr. Gichoya you must only speak on the question of the need of an additional sum.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Chairman, after having explained to the Members that this money cannot be usefully used, I request all the Members of this House to accept the deduction of £1.

Therefore, Mr. Chairman, I beg to move that £1 be deducted from Vote No. 8.

(Question of the amendment proposed)

Mr. Ngala: Mr. Chairman, I would like to oppose the deduction. I think that—

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Chairman, I rise to seek your ruling on this. I thought the procedure of the House is that once a Motion has been moved, we need a Second and only then do we get other people speaking. Is it in order, therefore, that somebody should stand up to oppose this Motion before there is a Second?

The Deputy Chairman (Mr. Slade): Yes, we are in Committee and procedure now is less formal. We do not have a Second.

Mr. Ngala: Mr. Chairman, Sir, I oppose the deduction of £1. Perhaps the Mover does not understand the seriousness of deducting £1. Normally, £1 is deducted from a Ministry when it shows some serious deficiency or short-sightedness in its functions. In this case it is far from that. I think the Minister has shown understanding of his Ministry and other aspects involved. If I understand the position correctly, I think he is asking for more money for salaries; I think he wants extra personnel so that the Criminal Investigation Department can work more effectively.

What we want to know from the Minister, specifically, is whether this extra money will bring in extra personnel to make the work efficient? Now, when a Minister is asking to pay more salaries, to make his work more effective, I think it is unfair to reduce the Vote.

I feel, therefore, that it is quite wrong to reduce £1 when there is no efficiency shown at all. It is only a request by the Minister for additional money.

When the Minister want to make ex gratia payments, it is apparently for people who have served well when they were in the police department. So, it is wrong that we should let him have this money so that these payments can be made?

I quite agree with the Members that the Criminal Investigation Department has very much deteriorated. It has really deteriorated considerably and I think there are two reasons. One, is that they are too slow to act. I do not know whether independence has affected the Criminal Investigation Department badly, but they are very slow indeed to act. Two, in my assessment, they are politically influenced. I would like the Minister to check these points very, very carefully.

The Deputy Chairman (Mr. Slade): I am sorry, Mr. Ngala I think you are moving far from the bounds of the Supplementary Estimates. You must realize that you are limited to the justification of an additional sum. We cannot get on to the whole merits or failings of the police or any particular department of the police, even though that department may need more money.

Mr. Ngala: Mr. Chairman, the Minister originally was given this money, £100,000, and he wants 25,000 in addition. He has shown us that he wants it because he wants to pay more salaries. Apparently he wants more personnel. He wants this money because he wants to pay the civil staff, the ordinary people who are working in his Ministry. We want to pay extra to the people. Now, when he wants this additional money, which is very legitimate indeed, it is not good to come here and say that his Ministry's Vote should be reduced that is very, very unfair.

What we ought to do is to warn the Minister very seriously so that he can look into the efficiency properly. In this way in future proper action can be taken. However, I do not think there is any ground for reducing the money. If we reduce the money, Mr. Chairman, and then we find there is something happening in Butere and this cannot be investigated—or it may happen in Kilifi—after which something really goes for example, bring the question of a rival Kanu office in Kutus that is what you are trying to refer to and say that the police are not arresting the person, by putting it on the Criminal Investigation Department. The Criminal Investigation Department is well known and I think that you should restrict yourself to that, if you go too wide I will have to interfere, otherwise we will never finish, and do not forget that we have a lot of other Heads to discuss, after this one.

Mr. Gichoya: Thank you very much indeed. Mr. Chairman. Now the criminal investigation group, let me take them as the Criminal Investigation Department, we are voting this money for the Criminal Investigation Department. We have so many crimes committed in our own districts, and in Kirinyaga money is even being stolen from the society's offices, and yet the criminal investigation group is already stationed within the district. Mr. Chairman, there has been gossiping going on that some money has been stolen, or that So-and-so has stolen some money, and yet the investigation group has not given us any clue as to the person who has stolen that money. That is a reflection, Mr. Chairman, of the failure of these people, even if you give them more money, it will mean giving them more money for drinking purposes.

Mr. Mallanda: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, is the hon. Member in order in imputing improper motives as to the use of this money, and if so can he substantiate that the money is going to be used for drinking purposes?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Mr. Gichoya, it is quite wrong to impute improper motives. The Minister has explained that this money is going to be used for photographic equipment and other equipment which is necessary to help the Criminal Investigation Department in their work. It is quite wrong for you to say that this money is going to be used for drinking. If you have proof of this, yes by all means bring it up, and present it. If you do not, please withdraw it. These general accusations against any member of the Civil Service are out of order. Mr. Gichoya will you please substantiate or withdraw.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Chairman, I put it as a general case and there are possibilities—I withdraw.

After withdrawing that, I must say that there is a possibility, Mr. Chairman, of this money being used by some of these officers who are supposed to investigate for enjoyment purposes, whereas they claim they were on duty.

Now, Mr. Chairman, we have a police department of people who are supposed to investigate the problems. Today, Mr. Chairman, I understand, that the Kenya Police, because here—Mr. Chairman, you will have to make it clear to me although I am clear over it, that the money is for salaries and expenses of the Kenya Police, when it comes to the question of criminal investigation, as a specific purpose—

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Yes, I think I will clarify that, in fact, as I said earlier on, I said that Mr. Khasakhala appeared to be right, since then I have had the opportunity of discussing it with Mr. Thomas, and he has explained to me, that Vote 8 of Supplementary Estimate No. 1 is the general description of the department, and I is in fact, the details, the specific requirements for which this money is wanted.

Mr. G. G. Kariki: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, in view of the fact that the hon. Mover has totally failed to explain his case, could you ask him to discontinue?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): He is still moving and I have to give him time. Do keep to the point, Mr. Gichoya.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Chairman, my point is this. In quite a number of cases, and if I am supposed to quote them I am ready to do so. May I quote them, Mr. Chairman? I will proceed. In quite a number of cases—Mr. Chairman, there appear to be an organized group here—there are so many interruptions, however I will proceed.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): If you keep moving from the point, do not blame the hon. Members for getting impatient.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, would you, perhaps, remind the hon. Members that at 6 p.m. the gullotine will come down, and therefore if they want to discuss most of the items we ought to move a little faster.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Yes, I think you are quite right, Mr. Gichuru. I think hon. Members should realize that two days have been given to this debate, and yesterday I by-passed what hon. Members wanted to move as an amendment to reduce a vote, by £1, Ministry of Economic Planning and Development, because I was trying to rush forward in the interests of the House, and to ensure that we are able to discuss as many items as possible. We have had a full discussion on this particular item, I am not trying to stop any hon. Members. I allowed Mr. Shikuku a great deal of latitude to explain his point of view, and Mr. Ngala-Abok. If you have anything specific to say Mr. Gichoya, then say so, don't get up and make a generalized lecture on the police.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Chairman, Sir, the position as it is this. If other Members are not disappointed by the activities of the Criminal Investigation Department, these sensible people—

Mr. Malsori-Itumbo: Mr. Chairman, on a point of order, would the hon. Member withdraw the allegation that he made that the hon. Member dining here is not sensible?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): I do not think he said that. I think one or two Members interrupted him by saying "you have no material, sit down", and he said "be sensible". Both the remarks were quite out of order. I think we will continue as we are, I am going to be strict in future about needless interruptions.

Mr. Kase: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, we have listened to the hon. Member for the last ten minutes. We have failed to get his point, Mr. Chairman, would it be in order, under the Standing Orders, to make him sit down as he has no point?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): The Chairman can ask him to sit down if he wastes the time of the House in repetition, or becomes completely irrelevant. I think I must give him a chance to try to get to the point. I do not want hon. Members to stand up every second on points of order, because then he does not get the chance to speak either. You may want to put forward a point, but please let the hon. Member finish his speech.

Mr. Gichoya: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, am I not in order, when I try to explain certain difficulties which I, myself, have faced in my own area, in order to illustrate the exact position of the inefficiency or efficiency of the criminal investigation group?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Order! I have pointed out earlier on, that whenever an hon. Member rises on a point of order there seems to be ten or more other hon. Members who want to give a ruling before anybody else has the chance. I would request you, please, to let the Chairman decide what is right and what is wrong. That is his duty when he is here. Mr. Gichoya, you are perfectly entitled to give an example, but I have not heard you try to do so yet. I do not know what examples you have been giving, but I would like you to come to the point. Do not beat round the bush as it were, but get to the point straight away, we do not have a lot of time. No more points of order.

Mr. G. G. Kariki: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, with due respect to your ruling, you have just said, Mr. Chairman, that when a point of order is raised by hon. Member, we should not shout in view of the fact, Mr. Chairman, that we have been here now for nearly three years, and we know what a point of order is, are we not allowed to shout and tell him what it is, when he is wrong?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): No, if you tell him privately I do not mind, but what happens is this, that when one hon. Member is raising a point of order there are sometimes about a dozen other hon. Members who are shouting to tell him what is right and what is wrong. The Chairman does not get the chance to have a word I am afraid. It is his duty to—Mr. Mbogoh, please sit down. Please sit down, Mr. Mbogoh. Order! Mr. Mbogoh, please sit down otherwise I will have to ask you to leave the Chamber.

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Chairman, I will sit down now but I will not take orders from anybody else other than from the Chair. The hon. Member telling me to sit down, should shut up.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Yes, all right. Sit down. Order!

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Chairman, it is very unfortunate that the House seems to be disorderly.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Please get to the point, Mr. Gichoya.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Chairman, I was trying to give an example of to what extent we have been disappointed by the method of investigation of which we are being told let us pay more money to get better services. Mr. Chairman, I do not think that it is more money that is needed, other than better brains, and if we are being told by the Minister today that the money he is demanding £5,000, will mean getting experts from England, from Scotland Yard for investigation purposes, then we can listen to that. If it is a matter of adding more money to the "none" services we have received in the past, I feel, Mr. Chairman, that we are here wasting the public funds. An additional £5,000 is a sheer waste of public money when we need this money for development purposes. All the time the Ministers say we need more money, and they go from one corner of the world to another trying to beg for money for our development.

Mr. erap Moi: Mr. Chairman, I do not know why the hon. Member should raise that point of order. I read, "Expenses of Criminal Investigations, etc." I do not know what he understands by the word "police". I have given all the information required, and for what purpose the £5,000 is going to be used.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): I can understand Mr. Khasakhala's point of view, I must say, Mr. Moi. With all due respect, I would also have looked upon it in the same way as Mr. Khasakhala has done. If you look at the Supplementary Estimate, it says, "Supplementary Estimate of the amount required in the year ending 30th June 1966 for the salaries and expenses of the Kenya Police, the Kenya Police Reserve, and civilian staff and ex-gratia payments "£5,000." But it may mean that when it says "salaries and expenses" it only means expenses. I do not know. We will accept your explanation. I think the Minister is entitled to explain and we have to accept his explanation.

Mr. Ngala-Aboki: Mr. Chairman, I just wish to take this opportunity to draw Members' attention to the great and serious need for much more money, even double this figure, to safeguard the efficiency of the police. In doing this, I would like to mention two incidents affecting me personally and showing that we do not have efficient investigation in this country.

I know we have a good police force, a well-disciplined police force, a smart police force; this I understand, and I understand that people claim it is the best on the continent. Whether or not this is so, is not my concern. What I think is that we want much more money than this figure because one day last year, when I just went a few yards to park my car, I had already left this place. I was going home. I went to change a cheque for Sh. 800, and just after passing the bridge at Embakasi I parked my car, not even 500 yards. I parked my car. I went into the bush a little to help myself. On trying to sit and help myself, two people came with muskets—I am just telling this story to show how inefficient this particular investigation team is.

On trying to help myself, the two people jumped on me, with muskets on their faces. I could only see their eyeballs, and then I could see they had long sticks. They said, "For goodness sake give us some money; get into your car and sit there and hold your arms up like this." I went into the car and held up my arms; I could not do anything else. They ransacked the car and found the Sh. 800. I said to them, "I am going home, you see, I am a Member of Parliament—I wanted to see every way I could to ransack them—and we are the people who are fighting for you. Just give me Sh. 100, and I will help you with the rest." They gave me bloody Sh. 5, they told me—

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, is the hon. Member in order in using the word "bloody"? Is this parliamentary?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): No, you are quite right, Mr. Shikuku. The word "bloody" is certainly not parliamentary.

Mr. Ngala-Aboki: Now, just to be very brief, and to show that the police force—and particularly the investigation team, is a complete failure, I will finish my story. How they arrested the clever Mau Mau chaps, perhaps the Minister will tell us today.

Now, Sir, what happened was that they left me in the car. They said, "Don't do anything. We are going up to that tree and we are going to leave the key there. When we reach the tree, you come and collect the key." I said, "But if you drop it on the ground, I will not be able to trace it." They said "We shall be hanging it on a branch of the tree." They went off; they hung it there, and then they beckoned me—

Mr. Maitiro-Mumbo: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, I wonder whether this is the time when I would be in order to move a reduction of some pounds, instead of wasting time, talking for nothing.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): For your information, Mr. Maitiro, we are already debating this question of reducing this Vote by £1.

Mr. Ngala-Aboki: Mr. Chairman, let me appeal to my colleagues who are my friends here; let me put this case plainly, because this is going to affect many, more Members of Parliament, and not only Members of Parliament. If one went to the Police headquarters one could see that many criminal cases are never investigated, never traced; and no one knows where these people run away with whatever money they get.

Now these fellows beckoned me. I followed them, very much relaxed, very much finished, so much shocked. I picked up the key where they had left it and they started running right into the edge of the National Park. When I got back to my car, I had to go back to Embakasi Police Post to report. First of all, the police were not quick enough about taking my statement. I went with the police right to my car, and then they had to use this police message-sending thing, right to headquarters, to ask for dogs to come.

Mr. Ochiyo, please do not interfere.

They had to ask the police to bring the dogs. These dogs took about 30 minutes or 45 minutes to arrive there. When the dogs arrived, [Mr. Ngala-Aboki] Mr. Chairman, I do not know why they came with very reluctant men, who were very willing along very slowly with the dogs. Now the dogs started racing, they started very smartly. We were going round with the police car to try and see where these people went, and I was showing them.

The dogs did not go beyond my nose. They stopped there and they started looking all over the place, and behaving like idiots. The matter ended there, and my Sh. 800 went, these dogs did nothing, and yet we are told that we have the best police force and the best dogs in the world. If these dogs were arresting the Mau Mau chaps, who were so clever in getting rid of the colonialists, why should they not trace these open criminals who are in the bush, around the parks and around the airport. Therefore, we need more money and we need a more efficient police force. We do not want a biased police force and we need more efficiency.

Just last night, Mr. Chairman, the last one—because I do not want to dominate the whole thing, last night, I am living in Eastleigh Section 3, in a storeyed building, a very safe place, and my car is parked down below on the ground. This morning at 7.30 a.m. when I woke up I found my car lying on its tummy, no wheels, no rims, nothing. I have no car it is still lying there. The wheels and rims I got recently about three weeks ago with new Michelin tyres, and now they have all gone. I went to Pangani Police Station, where the policeman did was to take my statement and then told me "Oh, gentleman, what we shall do is to go and get the fingerprints and so on, and you know we cannot help it." I can inform the Minister that the whole of Eastleigh is served by Pangani Police Post, but that is the most corrupt place. There is no petrol for the police cars to patrol, and yet there are so many thefts. If one went to Pangani today he would find that last night so many tyres, and so many cars were stolen, and the police are doing absolutely nothing. I think it is partly due to the fact that there is no petrol, and partly because they have not got enough vehicles. That is why we want more money so that we shall not blame—we need more money so that we can deal with the Minister on the grounds of inefficiency rather than lack of money. Mr. Minister, we need more money, and your Ministry must ask for more money, so that if petrol is not there, if efficiency is lacking, if there are any other grounds trying to prevent the police force from investigating these things, then we shall blame you, but we will not blame the Government for lack of money. Thank you very much.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Chairman, I am deducting £1 for certain reasons from this Vote. In the first place, I must say at the outset that our police force today has failed the public. Our police force today has taken to itself the role of ruler. The police have—

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): May I remind you that we are at the moment discussing the Criminal Investigation Department, and you must confine your remarks to only those items on which there is a Supplementary Estimate required. Not the general police force, that will do at the Budget debate when it comes.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Chairman, I think I will need your clarification. A policeman, whether a Kenya Police Reserve, a policeman in uniform or a policeman not in uniform, I believe, Mr. Chairman, that they are supposed to be investigating any crimes that are committed, in order to avoid any crimes being committed?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): You are quite right, but on the other hand, there is a specific department called the Criminal Investigation Department, you must have heard of them, and it is this department we are discussing, not the entire police force.

Mr. Gichoya: Thank you, Mr. Chairman, as I said at the outset, the morale of our criminal investigation group has deteriorated badly. I have certain reasons to give. In the first place I quote an instance which has bothered the people of Kirinyaga for quite a long time, and I refer to an illegal office operating at Katusu an illegal office in the name of Kanu. Mr. Chairman, as I say in the office is an illegal one in the sense, I am a member of the Executive Committee of Kanu as well as the administrative officer of Kanu, that is the district executive officer, according to the Kanu Constitution. Consequently, I know the legal offices of the party and the legal officers of the party.

Mr. Omar: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, in view of the fact that there is too much repetition in the statements and examples given by almost every Member who is speaking, would I be in order to put the question that it should be put now?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): No, I am afraid you are not, Mr. Omar, I think this is only the second or third speaker, and in any case he has not even moved his amendment. How can I put it without his having moved it?

Mr. Gichoya, I do want to warn you I do not like interrupting any hon. Member, but you must realize that the line you are on is not strictly relevant to this particular debate. You cannot, today no one has been arrested. Then we want more money for investigation. This is only for chasing up politicians.

Mr. Chairman, the other point is in Butere itself—I do not know whether this £5,000 additional sum includes the Butere people. I have complained here sometimes that there is a lot of crime in that area and we require more petrol, I wonder whether this is going towards petrol and if it is then I will support it, but if it is not I am not going to have it supported, and in addition to that my support will be with strings attached to the effect that we should have two Land-Rovers in Butere, one in Kisa Location and one in Butere for criminal investigation to ensure that there is no crime in Butere, because I am the greatest enemy of crime.

The other thing, Mr. Chairman, is the question of the investigations, where you have people who are known as Special Branch. I am afraid to say that I have the feeling that these people are not really specializing in their stories and they say So-and-so said this—

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): That I am afraid, is not part of this, Mr. Shikuku, I think we are talking about the Criminal Investigation Department.

Mr. Shikuku: I understand your ruling, Mr. Chairman, but crime is also committed through speeches, is it not?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): If you are referring to Special Branch, it is not part of the Criminal Investigation Department.

Mr. Shikuku: Oh! I see. Criminals also listen to speeches that might be criminal and these people report very falsely sometimes, because I remember once I gave a speech denouncing thieves in my area and gave instructions to the effect that they should not kill thieves, but tie them on to the trees, I mean tie them to a tree and call the police. But to my surprise I understand from some friends of mine that I was reported to have said that thieves should be killed, which is completely opposite to what I have done. If this is the way the police are going to work to try and kill those who are trying to help them in their work or to get them tied up somewhere, then it is not a sufficient reason to give them this £5,000 to go and tell lies. We want to work with the police and we will help the police in every respect, and for your information, Mr. Chairman, I arrested a thief at the Overseas Transport Company and he is locked up. I was pinching from someone's pocket and I twisted his arm; I gave him one slap only, Mr. Chairman, he was very rough so to make him calm I showed him I was powerful and he is now to appear before a court, which goes to show that I am also helping the police to do their work. We want the police to work with us so that we eliminate crime.

With those few remarks, Mr. Chairman, I shall be delighted if the Minister would explain why the £5,000 is required.

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): Mr. Chairman, I have taken an interest in the speech of the hon. Member who has just spoken. First of all, in his last remarks he said that he got hold of a thief and took the law into himself and hit him. This is not what the Government wants.

Mr. Shikuku: Is it in order for the Minister to misrepresent what I said? He said that I took it on myself to beat him, and yet I said, "Because you tried to rough-handle me, I had to slap him." Is that not in self-defence?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Order! Order! I think Mr. Shikuku is right, Mr. Moi. A man can use reasonable force in order to apprehend a criminal. I think he said that a man was being rough, mainly because he was resisting arrest.

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Chairman, if the hon. Member suggests that when a policeman arrests somebody, he should slap, or they should slap him, then this is absolutely wrong.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): No, no.

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, is the Minister in order to continue misrepresenting what I said? What I said was that this man was rough and I had to slap him. Is he in order to do that?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): No, I am afraid, Mr. Moi, you are not in order. Mr. Shikuku did not say that a policeman is entitled to beat up a person after he has arrested him. I think what he said—and what the law says, in fact—is that the policeman is allowed to use reasonable force to apprehend a person.

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Chairman, I cannot recollect the fact that some remarks made by some of the hon. Members at certain meetings could help prevent crime. I would like to point out to the hon. Member who spoke that, in his province, crimes have increased, beatings have increased, several people have been murdered, as a result of encouragement by speakers at certain meetings, that people who are—

Mr. Muliro: Point of order, Sir. Could the Minister substantiate the motive which he, in fact, imputes to Members from the Western Province, that they encourage subversive speeches?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Chairman, Sir, I am prepared to bring a statement tomorrow about speeches made by some of the hon. Members which would justify what I have said, Sir.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): All right. He will bring the statement tomorrow, speeches or reports tomorrow, and lay them on the Table.

Mr. G. G. Karuki: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, is it in order for the Minister to bring this speech here, rather than taking such speeches to court?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): It is up to the Minister what he decides to do. It would be in order for the Minister to take this report—Mr. Shikuku, please! When I am making a ruling, I do not want five other people giving rulings at the same time. Either one person is going to speak or all the others.

Now I think it is perfectly in order for Mr. Moi to take them to court; in fact, that is probably what he will do. But, on the other hand, he has been asked to substantiate an allegation he has made; and therefore it is quite right for him to bring extracts or summaries or full verbatim accounts of those speeches, because that is, in fact, what he has been asked to do. We cannot, on the one hand, ask him to bring here the report and substantiate it, and at the same time object to his bringing them here.

Mr. Oduya: Mr. Chairman, we want to make sure, when he brings us the statement tomorrow—he has just mentioned the issue as to why there are a lot of murders and beatings, things like that, and it is because some Members are encouraging the public. So we would like him, in this statement that he brings; to assure the House that the Members are, in fact, encouraging their voters to fight and kill one another.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): No, no, no. I do not want you to prejudge the issue or anything. All I understand, from what Mr. arap Moi has said, is that some Members, by their speeches, tend to encourage crime. I think this was the gist of it. All right, this is what I understand, and I do not want to go through this again. He is going to produce the evidence on which he bases his allegation tomorrow; and I think we will leave that until he does produce his statement.

Mr. Kase: Would I be in order, Mr. Chairman, since the Minister is going to produce the facts tomorrow, to ask you whether it is in order for the Minister to bring this statement, detailing so many crimes, so that we can see the—

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): No, Mr. Kase, it is up to him to decide how he is going to substantiate his allegation; it is not for us to tell him what to do.

Mr. Khasakhala: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, could the Minister tell the House whether he is going to produce before the House tape-recorded speeches or mere reports from policemen?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): I am afraid that is entirely up to him, Mr. Khasakhala.

Look, we do not want to have so many points of order. We are getting a little too many, and we must continue the debate.

Mr. Gichoya: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, I wonder whether I am in order to ask that when the Minister brings this statement of his, we should be allowed to debate this, so that we can make a judgment based on fair information, since there is bound to be a story which perhaps could be challenged?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): No, I am afraid that is not possible, Mr. Gichoya. Sorry.

Order, Mr. Shikuku!

The Minister is going to substantiate his allegation tomorrow and that is as far as it goes. We cannot wait and have another debate tomorrow. It depends on whether today's debate on Supplementary Estimates comes up or not. If hon. Members are not satisfied with the substantiation tomorrow, they are now very fully versed in all the Standing Orders and will know what to do if they want to do something. But we do not want another debate tomorrow.

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Chairman, I do not see why the hon. Members should be so sensitive. If they are interested in knowing what is happening, they should be calm and sober.

Now this £5,000 provides, inter alia, for the purchase and maintenance of photographic and laboratory equipment in connexion with the investigation and detection of crime, fees for forensic services and post-mortem examinations and payment of rewards for information which assists in the detection of crime. The amount originally provided for in 1965/66 has proved to be insufficient and this additional amount of £5,000 is required to meet increased expenditure which is being incurred during this current financial year.

Mr. Khasakhala: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, the Minister has just stated that the money required is to buy equipment for investigation. Is he not misinforming the House. Under the same heading, it says here "... the amount required in the year ending 30th June 1966 for the salaries and expenses of the Kenya Police ...", not equipment.

[Mr. Shikuku]

Mr. Chairman, there are so many things motor accidents and so forth. The other day we had an accident at Nakuru and we were told it was still sub judice, but I know for certain that that accident was caused by the police force itself. Even the other day, Mr. Chairman, at Kikuyu Station I nearly passed away because the police force placed their lanterns in the wrong place and when I came in they stopped me and they said I was over-speeding. Well, I was not. Do you know what happened, Mr. Chairman? After eight minutes somebody else came up and banged all their lanterns and he nearly lost his life and went over the blockade on the road, which shows that the police force were wrong to place those lanterns in that place and on top of it they were drunk.

An hon. Member: That makes two of you then.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Chairman, if they feel that they have to have this money increased, then I feel that the Minister has a lot to explain before we give him the O.K. to spend £5,000, because we must be satisfied that the services are worth it.

The Attorney-General (Mr. Njonjo): On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, the hon. Member has raised a very serious allegation against the police and if in fact those police officers were drunk, it was the duty of the hon. Member to report the matter to the police, and I would be very grateful if the hon. Member can substantiate this, tell us when this took place and we will then be able to check who those people were.

Mr. Shikuku: I thought you would do that, Sir, I will not withdraw, I will substantiate, Mr. Chairman. It was on the 23rd December 1965, at five minutes to eleven at the Kikuyu Bridge just where the junction is leading to the Kikuyu Police Station and the one continuing to Nairobi, when I was stopped, Mr. Chairman. My being stopped—I am in the process of substantiating—they said, was because I was travelling very fast and that there was a police check. I said, Mr. Chairman, that there was no speed restriction at the area and, at the same time, the lanterns had been placed in a corner where the oncoming traffic could not see them and there was nobody on that day to signal the oncoming traffic to inform them of the check-point. Then when I came there I controlled my car and stopped it and they came and shouted at me and told me that I was drunk. Mr. Chairman, I was detained in that place from five minutes to eleven until twelve, midnight when I was sent to the Kikuyu Police Station and eight minutes after I had been stopped somebody came in who could not see the lanterns and was not good at driving. He overran their lanterns and nearly overran one of the policemen and went over the road block, burst all his four tyres and nearly overturned, then all they did was to detain me there and when I asked them to check my driving licence they just refused to take it. They told me "You wait here, ata kama wewe bwana Shikuku, you will stay here". I stayed, Mr. Chairman, and I refused to go, afterwards when they said "Sasa kwenda", but I said "No, I must go to the police station and be proved a drunkard or you are drunk". Mr. Chairman, I went to the police station in Kikuyu, I found the Inspector very co-operative, the man in charge, I told him the whole story and we were sent to the Kenyatta National Hospital for medical examination and I said that I must have the police also examined.

Mr. Chairman, even the Minister in charge of the police, the hon. arap Moi, can bear me witness. He could stand as my witness No. 1 I have never drunk any alcohol in my life. Mr. Chairman, when I go to the Kenyatta National Hospital the doctor heard my name and called me in—Mr. Shikuku—I walked in, Mr. Chairman. That was round about 2.30 in the morning at the Kenyatta National Hospital after having been detained at the police station. Now I was checked, Mr. Chairman, I was told to walk on a straight line and I walked very smartly and then later on, Mr. Chairman, the doctor threw down about six matchsticks and he asked me to pick them up at once, I picked them up at once and then the doctor told me to stand on one leg and I stood easily, and then, Mr. Chairman, the doctor asked me to breath in his face, which I did, and there was no trace of drink on my breath. The doctor said "What are you doing here?" and I replied that the police inspector had taken me there to be examined to see if I was drunk.

Mr. Chairman, my comrades were the two policemen, they were drunk and the doctor told them that they smell of liquor, in front of me. If you want any further substantiation, Mr. Chairman, may I refer the Attorney-General, and if you want me to get the documents from the doctor at the Kenyatta National Hospital to prove that the hon. Shikuku was never drunk but the police were drunk I will do so. That is why, Mr. Chairman, I say I do not blame the policemen, because I know the work of the police is very difficult. They come up against a lot of trouble. I know that, but when there is a mistake I will never hesitate to point out that mistake even if it means them chasing me around. That is why I say this £5,000 to be given in addition to all that, Shikuku objects.

[Mr. Shikuku]

Mr. Chairman, leaving that aside there is another thing here. You will find, for example, that there is a lot of cattle stealing and that there is a lot of maize stealing—if stealing maize is not criminal, then I criminal, if stealing cattle is not criminal, then I should be told what is criminal. You will find that these people steal cattle and nobody is arrested. Are these cattle stolen by devils who are invisible.

An hon. Member: Or Ministers.

Mr. Shikuku: If there are any investigations at all I should like to know what these investigations are, and if this additional amount is only to chase politicians to find out what they have said we should be told, but if it is for crime, they almost do nothing.

Mr. Chairman, the Butere people are totally disappointed and they are living in a state of fear and they do not even know whether the Government exists, because they say "Wakati wa kuberu kama ukupa mtu uta pata ume kwisha kuberu ndani ya Land-Rover; siku hizi mtu unapiga ndani ya Land-Rover, unapiga mtu na kaka hapo bila kusika". They say these days, Mr. Chairman, if I may translate that that during the imperialist time if you messed about you found yourself right in the Land-Rover and they took you to the police station where you were questioned until you told them what you were doing, but these days, someone hits somebody and that man goes on bragging around without being arrested.

Mr. Chairman, I have here also a document, it is a letter which I have received, addressed to the district commissioner, with a copy to the hon. Member for Butere, where somebody is complaining of having had his house burned on the 25th December 1965. When he reported this matter to the administration the chief did nothing, the sub-chief did nothing.

Mr. Oduya: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, how does the administration come into it and the chiefs and so on.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Mr. Oduya, I think he is in order because he is trying to state facts and there was no criminal investigation to find out the persons who burned down the hut.

Mr. Oduya: But, Mr. Chairman, with all due respect, those who deal with investigations are the police and not district commissioners.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Yes, I know, but he is coming to that.

Mr. Shikuku: I am just coming to that, Mr. Chairman. He reported the matter to the chief, the sub-chief, but none of them did anything. He telephoned and sent a telegram to the chief to get in touch with the police at Butere, but no one ever went there and nothing happened, and up to today nobody has been arrested for burning the house, so the house must have burned itself. Is this why you want more money? Can the Minister tell me that the house just burned itself.

An hon. Member: Children.

Mr. Shikuku: There were no children in the House and the man was in Nairobi. Mr. Chairman, some people may take these things very lightly, but—

Mr. Njonjo: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, I think what the hon. Member is saying is rather important and so I wonder whether he could move from where he is and come round here so that we can hear him properly?

Mr. Shikuku: Thank you very much, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Osogo: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, I am wondering if it is consistent with the Standing Orders of this House that the hon. Mr. Shikuku can speak from the Front Bench.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): I do not know whether there is anything to say that a Member cannot speak from the Front Bench, he cannot sit on the Front Bench.

Mr. Shikuku: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

The Assistant Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Oloitipiti): Mr. Chairman, Sir, my point of order is this. Since we all entertain the speech by Mr. Shikuku, Sir, and at the same time we have microphones all over the place and the hon. Member can speak from the other side, is it not in order for him to speak where he is, because the microphones are everywhere and the Members, as well as the galleries, can hear.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): I think all this is unnecessary. I did not ask Mr. Shikuku to come here or in fact to be where he is, he is entitled to be in any part of the House he wants to be. I think the hon. Attorney-General did suggest that he comes a bit nearer. I do not think that we want to be over-sensitive about where he stands.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Chairman, I promise I will never repeat anything. Mr. Chairman, Sir, I'm afraid the hon. Members will have to excuse me, for all they know one day I might even be at this Front Bench and they might be at the back, because I am the president of the poor people and they are in the majority.

Mr. Chairman, this is the issue where you have somebody who has had his house burned and this happened on the 25th December 1965, but up to hopes—he said hopes—will the Minister assure this House that, for that part of the country, his hopes will not be against hope, so that we may know when the Government is going to do something rather than mere hoping which may end up in hoping against hope?

Mr. Nyamwaya: Mr. Speaker, I do not really know whether I understand the hopes of the hon. Member, but the hon. Member for Butere knows that, for the first eighteen months we had, a regional constitution—of which the hon. Member was a very strong supporter—and the question of providing houses was a very great responsibility. Government has only taken over the responsibility since December 1964. It is not only a hope the Government is expressing. The Government is seriously looking into this and we are going to do it.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): There is a question by private notice.

QUESTION BY PRIVATE NOTICE

TRADE EMBARGO ON RHODESIA

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Makone, I think you have a question by private notice? Will you ask it now?

Mr. Makone: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to ask the Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development what is the effect of Kenya's trade embargo with Southern Rhodesia. Is the Minister aware that agents of Rhodesia's commercial concerns are, as before, carrying on with their business in Kenya?

The Assistant Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Oloitiptip): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. Kenya's embargo on trade with Rhodesia will not have a very great effect on Kenya's economy, or, for that matter, on the economy of Rhodesia, because our trade with that country has never been very significant.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, at the time that Kenya introduced the trade ban, it was fully appreciated that the individual economic effect would not be ruinous to the Smith régime, but that the clamp-down on trade indicated Kenya's complete condemnation of Smith, and added weight to the trade boycotts introduced by Rhodesia's former trading partners.

During 1964, our two-way trade totalled only £5,078 but would probably have shown a slight increase during 1965; for by October, Kenya's exports to Rhodesia had already reached £200,094, whilst our imports from that country were over £252 only. The main items, Mr. Speaker, sold to Rhodesia in the past, were soda ash, pyrethrum extract, sisal products, beans and peas.

In return, Mr. Speaker, we purchased Rhodesian manufactured goods. Markets for export products have been found elsewhere and manufactured goods from Rhodesia, excepting Rhodesian copperware, are easily obtainable from many other sources.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, in regard to part two of the question, I must confess that I fail to understand the motive which has prompted the second part of the hon. Member's question. Are there Rhodesian agents in Kenya? I have never heard of any at all and as our trade ban and currency controls have effectively stopped all trade and transfers of money to Rhodesia, I fail to see what profit these so-called commercial agents could be expected to gain from remaining in Kenya.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, perhaps the hon. Member is not aware of the fact that the former Rhodesian Trade Representative in Nairobi left Kenya a few days after the unilateral declaration of independence and, as far as is known, most other representatives from Rhodesia, Mr. Speaker, also left at the same time. I am aware that one or two international companies have transferred staff and records from Rhodesia to Kenya since the rebel régime took over, but, Mr. Speaker, these transfers are not contrary to Kenya's interest but, do, in fact, enhance Kenya's importance as the commercial centre of East and Central Africa. These companies, Mr. Speaker, found it impossible to operate from Rhodesia and maintain their organization with any independent African State, and have, therefore, voluntarily come to Kenya. I would not describe these new Kenya residents as Rhodesian commercial agents.

Mr. Makone: Mr. Speaker, I would ask the Assistant Minister to convince the House that the former Standard Bank of South Africa, now known as the Standard Bank, does not transfer money from Kenya to Southern Rhodesia through London?

Mr. Oloitiptip: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am not aware of this South African Bank operating here, all I know is the Standard Bank which is legally operating here and has nothing to do with the Rhodesian régime.

Mr. Makone: Mr. Speaker, Sir, how many Southern Rhodesian citizens were shareholders in this Standard Bank of South Africa?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think you are getting rather far from the question now, Mr. Makone. I do not expect the Minister knows the answer.

[The Speaker]

and I do not think it is really relevant to this question of agents of commercial concerns operating here.

Mr. Khasakhaha: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, could he tell the House when the last importation of blankets and radios from Southern Rhodesia were received in Kenya and why there are still plenty in all the shops around Nairobi?

Mr. Oloitiptip: Mr. Speaker, I think the hon. Member knows, as well as the rest of the hon. Members know that, since the introduction of this Act in Kenya, the Government has given time, up to 8th June when all the goods from Southern Rhodesia or South Africa will be cleared from Kenya and by then, Mr. Speaker, if any goods from those particular countries are found, then anyone who is holding them will be prosecuted.

Mr. Oduya: Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that most of the bankers and the shareholders of the Standard Bank are South African Nationals, what type of machinery is being used now to check on those people and to discourage them from using the Standard Bank to transfer their money through London or any bank in East Africa?

Mr. Oloitiptip: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not think that this question either is relevant, because we are here concerned with Rhodesian goods which the Kenya Government is trying to get rid of and not with a question of money or banking with the Standard Bank which, we all know, is registered in London and not in Southern Rhodesia. I do not think our Ministry is concerned.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It is time to go on now. May we have the next Order.

SUPPLEMENTARY ESTIMATE NO. 1 OF 1965/66—
RECURRENT

THAT a sum not exceeding £1,339,114 be granted from the Consolidated Fund to meet expenditure during the year ending 30th June 1966, in respect of Supplementary Estimate No. 1 of 1965/66 (Recurrent), having regard to the proposed savings of £252,702 therein appearing.

Committee on 16th February 1966)

VOTE 8—POLICE

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): When the Committee adjourned yesterday we were discussing Vote 8—Police. I had heard a notice of Mr. Gichoya's intention to move by the reduction of the Vote by £1, but as he is not here we can go on.

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, I thought I was speaking. Could I continue, Sir?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Yes, you are quite right. You may continue.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Chairman, I was just beginning to find out why the Minister had found it necessary to ask for an additional amount of £5,000 in connexion with the expenses of criminal investigation. Mr. Chairman, I had already told you and the House that the Kenya Police Force was considered one of the best police forces in the world and we were rated as No. 2 to South Africa, but to my surprise Mr. Speaker, after independence, things have gone so low, and I must at this moment point out why I feel—

The Attorney-General (Mr. Njonjo): Is he comparing the Kenya Police with that of South Africa?

Mr. Shikuku: Is he standing on a point of order, Mr. Chairman?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): I think it was an interjection.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Chairman, I think I will deal with that interjection. I was only comparing—I can hardly speak from this end.

An hon. Member: You can go to hell.

Mr. Shikuku: I was comparing the Kenya Police Force to the South African one in terms of being very able, internationally it is known, Mr. Chairman, that at one time the South African Police Force was the best and that we came second, but to my surprise, Mr. Chairman, the police force—and we must appreciate this fact—has gone quite low, and I have reasons for so feeling. I am entitled to my views. Already in Butere there were four murders, and in none of which was anyone convicted. If there is this Criminal Investigation Branch which wants more money, surely the Butere people would like to know where these investigators are.

These days, Mr. Chairman, if you are hit on the head and expect the police to come around you have to wait for seven days without seeing the police.

Mr. Balala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, can the Attorney-General tell this House on what grounds does the Registrar-General usually cancel a registered organization?

Mr. Njonjo: If the particular society contravenes the constitution of the particular society.

Mr. Shikuku: Arising from the Attorney-General's reply, is it not the responsibility of the Registrar-General to find out whether a society registered under its own rules complies with the rules? For example, if the rules of the society say that elections take place after twelve months, and if that society does not do so, can the Registrar-General draw its attention to this fact and then ban the particular society? If so, why cannot this be done to Kanu?

Mr. Njonjo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, that is precisely what I said. If the constitution of a given society provides that a general meeting or a meeting shall be held within twelve months and it is not held, and the attention of that particular society is drawn to that fact, if there is no response from that society, then the Registrar-General can take the necessary action.

There are certain things that the Registrar-General cannot do. For instance, we, sometimes, do not know whether, in fact, a meeting has been held in a particular area, then we are presented with a form to say that a meeting was held. Unless we ask the Criminal Investigation Department to investigate this, we do not know.

Mr. Balala: Mr. Speaker, can the Attorney-General assure this House that if a complaint, or information, is submitted to the Registrar-General against a particular organization which is contravening its own rules and regulations, the Registrar-General will, in accordance with section 10 of the Societies Ordinance, take action?

Mr. Njonjo: I give that assurance, Sir.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Next question.

NOTICE OF MOTION FOR THE ADJOURNMENT

UNSATISFACTORY REPLY TO QUESTION No. 298:
REGISTERED ORGANIZATIONS: RULES AND REGULATIONS

Mr. Anyien: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I want to raise this matter on adjournment because there are a lot of things going on and—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): That is all right, if Mr. Balala has no objection. You have the first claim, Mr. Balala, to raise it if you wish to.

Mr. Balala: I have no objection, Sir.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): All right, Mr. Anyien, you may raise it if you give written notice.

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Question No. 316

THEFT BY PUBLIC SERVANT

Mr. Agar asked the Attorney-General how many Government officials of all ranks had been convicted for stealing public funds or for irregularities in accounts between January 1965 and now.

The Attorney-General (Mr. Njonjo): Mr. Speaker, I am very grateful to the hon. Member who has asked this question, because there have been a number of offences committed by people who are employed in the Public Service, missing their offices, and in some cases, taking public money. However, I am afraid I shall not be able to satisfy the hon. Member, because I have not been able to gather the statistics.

However, hon. Members will have seen in the Press that a number of people employed in Public Service have been prosecuted and some have been convicted and are in prison for misusing Government money. The Government is quite serious about this, and any person in the Public Service who misuses Government vehicles, for instance, or takes away Government money, is going to be dealt with very severely.

I am not yet able, Mr. Speaker, to give particulars of convictions for this year but the number of Government officials convicted for stealing public funds or for irregularities in accounts during the year 1965 was, I regret to say, 130. All of the officers convicted were, of course, dismissed from the Public Service.

Mr. Agar: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Attorney-General be in a position to give me a departmental breakdown of these officers?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, doubtless after notice.

Mr. Njonjo: Mr. Speaker, if I am given notice, I will gladly give the information, but as I indicated earlier on, I have not been able, as yet, to collect these figures. This is, however, a subject that is causing Government concern, and I will be prepared to give the hon. Member the figures.

Mr. Muruli: Mr. Speaker, Sir, what machinery has the Attorney-General got to find out how Government vehicles are misused?

Mr. Njonjo: I do not want to give public notice of this but I may say that the Criminal Investigation Department are on the look-out for these offenders.

Mr. Makokha: Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that in any given district the police inspectors and the Criminal Investigation Department officers tend to respect district commissioners, who officers tend to be held responsible for reporting a district commissioner who misuses a Government vehicle?

Mr. Njonjo: The position is that, in this country, the police officers are guardians of our law and, as far as offences are concerned, they are responsible for law and order.

Mr. Makone: Mr. Speaker, Sir, will the Attorney-General tell this House that, in future, any officers found stealing or even suspected of the misuse of public funds, will not be defended by an advocate in a court of law?

Mr. Njonjo: I am afraid I am not prepared to give that assurance. I am a great believer in the rule of law. I also believe that a person is innocent until he is proved guilty in the process of law. Therefore, any person who is being prosecuted, has every right to be defended by an advocate.

Mr. Agar: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the apparent evidence that the number of such offences has increased, particularly after independence, can the Attorney-General tell us the circumstances and causes that have led to this kind of increase?

Mr. Njonjo: I am sure this will not be palatable but I think I must say, Mr. Speaker, that one of the main reasons for this is, inexperience. A number of people have been placed in responsible positions rather suddenly, without any preparation or training, and this is something which we have to pay for our independence.

Mr. Wariithi: Arising from that reply, Mr. Speaker, quite often irregularities in accounts take a long time to find out, and you find that the officer involved is found out years after he has taken the money. What is the Government doing to accelerate the checking of these officers who are in charge of accounts?

Mr. Njonjo: Mr. Speaker, I understand that the machinery in the Auditor-General's Office is being ironed out and I can also say that the arm of the law is very long.

STAFF HOUSES: KAKAMEGA PROVINCIAL HEADQUARTERS

Mr. Muruli asked the Minister for Housing and Social Services if he had any plans to build living houses for the many Government servants who had to travel as many as twenty miles to Kakamega Provincial Headquarters.

The Minister of State, President's Office (Mr. Nyamweya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. The Government has, since the establishment of Provincial headquarters at Kakamega, provided office buildings and a number of staff houses at Kakamega. The original intention was that the Government would carry out the first phase to provide minimum housing requirements at Kakamega, and the second phase was to be the responsibility of the county council.

The second phase would have provided housing for Government servants and other residents of Kakamega. This programme was disrupted by the unfortunate handling of county council affairs which led to its dissolution as a result of bankruptcy of the county council.

The whole question of providing civil servants housing accommodation is being considered by the Government. It is hoped that some satisfactory arrangements can be reached in the near future, so that all government servants can be housed at the provincial headquarters.

Mr. Muruli: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Minister aware that most of the Government servants who work in the provincial headquarters at Kakamega waste a lot of time and Government's money travelling from their own homes which are sometimes thirty miles away?

Mr. Nyamweya: I am aware that this is happening in Kakamega; not only in Kakamega but in other provincial and district headquarters. It is a shortage of housing accommodation which the Government is experiencing. As I have already told the House, the Government is seriously looking into this matter to remedy the situation.

Mr. Khasakha: Arising from that reply, Mr. Speaker, Sir, Kakamega Provincial Headquarters having been established some three years ago, could the Minister tell the House what building programme the Government has in mind to accommodate these officers, and how much it is costing the Government on travelling expenses? We would like to know whether this money could be used for building houses instead of it being used on travelling expenses.

Mr. Nyamweya: That is a very lengthy question, Mr. Speaker, Sir, and I would not like to do injustice to it. If the hon. Member gives me notice I will surely furnish him with detailed information of the amount it is costing the Government for transportation of Government servants to Kakamega, in the way of house to office allowance. I will also let the hon. Member know the amount it is going to cost the Government to build houses for civil servants in that particular area.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, where he agrees that it is three years since Kakamega was made the provincial headquarters, and also arising from his Paper for Members to put up all kinds of supplementary questions on that on the spot. Members must wait and see it in HANSARD.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, you did not understand my point of order.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I thought I did.

Mr. Anyieni: I am sorry, Mr. Speaker, if I did not make myself clear.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): That is all right.

Mr. Anyieni: What I said was that we have the question put on the Order Paper but, instead of the answer being given in the House, they should write down on the Order Paper also that the answer has been given in writing, so that the Members know that there was a question and they can look at the HANSARD, the small HANSARD which is given every day, and maybe raise supplementary questions later.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I am sorry; I did misunderstand your question. I thought you were suggesting that the written reply should be typed on the Order Paper.

No, I think that is quite unnecessary, Mr. Anyieni, if only hon. Members will read their HANSARD.

Next question.

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Question No. 247

PROVINCIAL LABOUR OFFICE FOR KAKAMEGA

Mr. Godia asked the Minister for Labour whether Government was prepared to establish a provincial labour office at Provincial Headquarters, Kakamega.

The Assistant Minister for Labour (Mr. Kubah): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. At the moment, we have a labour office at Bungoma serving the whole Western Province. The office has one labour officer and three clerks and they co-ordinate all the labour work with the Senior Labour Officer, Kisumu. We are quite satisfied with the present arrangement for the time being, unless the hon. Member would like us to remove our office from Bungoma to Kakamega, although Bungoma is more central in the Western Province. I do not rule out the establishment of a provincial labour office headquarters at Kakamega in the near future, but, at present, my Vote does not include the necessary expenditure for this.

Mr. Godia: Mr. Speaker, arising out of the Assistant Minister's reply, will he tell the House in what way the provincial commissioner co-ordinates the work in the province with the Provincial Labour Officer in Bungoma, and the other provincial officers are in Kakamega, and yet there is no telephone link between Kakamega and Bungoma?

Mr. Kubah: Mr. Speaker, my Ministry's boundary set-up is a bit different from the geographical provincial boundaries. For example, the Senior Labour Officer, Kisumu, is in charge of Kericho, which is in the Rift Valley Province, Kisii in Nyanza Province, Kisumu in Nyanza Province, Bungoma in Western Province, Homa Bay in Nyanza Province and Nandi Hills in Rift Valley Province. So we do not actually work according to the set-up of the provincial boundaries.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, Sir, will the Assistant Minister repeat his reply, where he mentioned Homa Bay? The mistake is mine, I was not listening, but it would be very useful.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! No, when hon. Members are so honest as to acknowledge that they have not heard because they did not listen, they cannot ask for an answer to be repeated.

You have a supplementary though? On what you have not heard?

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): All right.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Will the Assistant Minister tell the House why his Ministry does not consider it more convenient to move this labour office to Kakamega, which is the provincial headquarters?

Mr. Kubah: Mr. Speaker, as I have said, I do not rule out the establishment of this office at provincial headquarters at Kakamega, but we have not got the money for it at present.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Next question.

SPEECHES AT HAMISI CHIEFS' RALLY

Mr. Godia asked the Minister for Information and Broadcasting why the speech of the Assistant Minister for Information and Broadcasting (the hon. James Onamu) at the Hamisi Chiefs' Rally had been published by the Kenya News Agency and the Voice of Kenya on 2nd and 3rd of January, while speeches made at the same rally by the Minister for

[Mr. Godia]

Education (then the hon. J. D. Otiende), Senator Tsaiwa, the Member for Emukhaya and leading Kanu district leaders for Kakamega and Hamisi Constituencies, had not been reported.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achleng-Onoko): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. The Assistant Minister for Information and Broadcasting, Mr. Onamu, left an embargo copy of his speech with the Press Office before leaving Nairobi to address the meeting at Hamisi Chiefs' Centre on 2nd January. The speech was released by the Kenya News Agency at 5 p.m. on 2nd January when the embargo was lifted. It was used by the Voice of Kenya the same evening and published by the daily newspapers on the 3rd of January. It is unfortunate that Mr. Onamu's speech was the only one which the Press Office had in advance.

The meeting in question was covered by our Information Office at Kakamega, but, since there is no direct teleprinter service between Kakamega and Nairobi, the report of the meeting had to be transmitted through the Kisumu Office and did not reach Nairobi until twenty-four hours later. The full report of the meeting was immediately put out by the Kenya News Agency and mention was made of it in the local Press on 7th January. In view of the fact that the report was received twenty-four hours after the meeting, it was only natural that it should not have been given a very prominent place in the local daily papers. In the journalistic world, news values deteriorate badly with the passing of hours.

It has long been the aim of my Ministry to have direct teleprinted communication with all our provincial headquarters, but, to date, we have not been able to find the money to connect our Kakamega office in this way. It is hoped that when this is done, delays of this sort will be avoided.

Mr. Godia: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising out of the Minister's reply, is he not aware that his Assistant Minister is a great, rich rival of mine, and that when he came to this meeting I had arranged, his intention was to get his news out on the air, so that the country would know that he was the only person in that area, whereas the other Ministers and other leaders of Kanu in that area received no publicity in time?

Mr. Achleng-Onoko: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I did not know that two gentlemen could be rivals.

Mr. Khasakhala: Arising from that reply, Mr. Speaker, Sir, in order to avoid such incidents taking place again, could the Minister tell the House whether he will have double checks on speeches, or his officers will check on speeches, to be made at public rallies before the speeches are made, and that he will immediately provide funds to install a teleprinter at Kakamega so that our speeches are not delayed for twenty-four hours?

Mr. Achleng-Onoko: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have said in this House before that we normally double check our news, but, in this particular case, the Assistant Minister in my Ministry left a copy of his statement which was embargoed and only released after 5 o'clock.

I have also said that we are considering installing a teleprinter at Kakamega, but we cannot do that now because of lack of funds.

NOTICE OF MOTION FOR THE ADJOURNMENT

UNSATISFACTORY REPLY TO QUESTION NO. 250: SPEECHES AT HAMISI RALLY

Mr. Godia: Mr. Speaker, Sir, on a point of order, I feel that this question, although answered by the Minister, is not satisfactory. So, with your permission, I would like to raise this as a Motion on adjournment.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You will remember to give me written notice, Mr. Godia.

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

REGISTERED ORGANIZATIONS: RULES AND REGULATIONS

Mr. Babala asked the Attorney-General what was the usual course of action taken by the Department of the Registrar-General against organizations contravening their laid down registered rules and regulations.

The Attorney-General (Mr. Njonjo): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply.

This is not a very clear question because there are quite a number of institutions that the Registrar-General is responsible for, trade unions, for example. However, I have assumed that the question is making reference to societies.

The Registrar-General is not able to take action against societies which contravene their own rules. These are rules of the societies concerned. Unless such societies are, at the same time, contravening the Societies Act for example, by pursuing objects not provided for in their own constitution. The Registrar-General may cancel or suspend the registration of a trade union which willfully and after notice from the Registrar-General, contravenes any of its own constitution.

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not think the Government is in a position to ask foreign embassies in this country to take on Kenya nationals as interpreters. They are concerned with the administration and efficiency of their embassies here, just as much as we are concerned with ours. Our own wish is to accelerate the training programme, whereby we shall be able to train our people in Russian and other languages so that this anomaly no longer exists.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Next question.

FARMING LOANS: WESTERN PROVINCE FARMERS

Mr. Muruli asked the Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry if he could tell the House why farmers in the Western Province received less farming loans than the farmers of other provinces.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Murgor): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. It is incorrect to state that farmers in the Western Province received fewer farming loans than those in other provinces. The figures relating to the 1965/66 loan allocations are as follows: Rift Valley Province: loans to individuals, £78,000; loans to co-operatives, £16,250. Central Province: loans to individuals, £71,000; loans to co-operatives, £18,000. Eastern Province: loans to individuals, £55,500; loans to co-operatives, £7,500. Western Province: loans to individuals, £52,000; loans to co-operatives, £13,300. Nyanza Province: loans to individuals, £40,500; loans to co-operatives, £12,000. Coast Province: loans to individuals, £25,000; loans to co-operatives, £13,500.

Mr. Muruli: Mr. Speaker, is the Assistant Minister aware that people in the Western Province have applied for loans since last year and up to now they have never received any reply?

Mr. Murgor: Mr. Speaker, Sir loans are recommended by the district agricultural committees of each district, and then applications are sent to Nairobi. These are the loans which are left there for the Western Province. If they have not applied for them, it is not the fault of my Ministry.

Mr. Shikuku: Arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, does he not agree with me that, according to the figures he has given the House, the figure of £52,000 as loans to individuals is very small compared with others? And is he aware that whenever the people in Western Province apply for loans at Kakamega District levels, they are told that there is no money?

Mr. Murgor: Could the hon. Member, Sir, move nearer the microphone; I did not catch his question.

Mr. Shikuku: Arising from the Minister's reply, according to the breakdown which he has given the House so far, does he not agree with me that the figure of loans given to individuals is small, compared with other parts? And is he aware that when the people in Western Province, in various districts, apply for loans, they are told, "There is no money; we are waiting for money from the Government"?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I do not think that second question is relevant to this one. All we are concerned with is comparative totals between the different provinces, which have been given, and they can be discussed.

Mr. Shikuku: I thought Sir, that, as he has given us the breakdown for individuals, it hid some connexion with this, because these very individuals come back and tell us they do not get the loans because there is no money.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, the question is why farmers in the Western Province receive less farming loans than farmers of other provinces. It is a comparison of totals between provinces.

Mr. Shikuku: Yes, Sir, that is quite right, but are we not allowed to ask a supplementary question what he has told the House since he has given the breakdown?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, but your other question, about farmers being told that there is no money, is not relevant. I think your first question, too, was only a repetition of the original question.

Mr. Godia: Mr. Speaker, Sir, since the Western Province is the food store for Kenya, in so far as maize is concerned, will the Assistant Minister consider increasing the loans to the farmers of Western Province as requested?

Mr. Murgor: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the loans are not— it depends on each case; each is considered on its merits, taking into consideration the potentiality of the area. I can assure the Member that they will have their share later in the other province.

Mr. ole Tips: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the hon. Assistant Minister's reply, where he gave the figure to individuals as £52,000—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Speak up, Mr. ole Tips.

Mr. ole Tips: My voice is rather low this afternoon, Sir.

Arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, could he agree with me that the £52,000 loans to individual farmers in Western Province, as compared with £8,000 to farmers in that vast province known as Rift Valley, is really the lion's share?

Mr. Murgor: Mr. Speaker, I do not agree with the hon. Member. I have said that every case is taken on its merits. If an area has a certain potential, even though it is small, no doubt we will give it loans. So the question of a big area does not arise.

ALLOCATION OF AGRICULTURAL FINANCE CORPORATION LOANS

Mr. Warithi asked the Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry if he could tell the House what were the allocations, district-wise, of loans by the Agricultural Finance Corporation to farmers for the years 1964 and 1965.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): Mr. Speaker, before I reply to this question, I would like your direction on this point. We believed at the Ministry that this question was quite long to answer and we rang up the Clerk of the House and inquired whether we could give it in writing. He told us that this would be at your discretion in this House today, when we were answering this question. I am prepared to answer it, if the House does not mind my giving a long answer.

CONSIDERED RULING

QUESTIONS SUITABLE FOR WRITTEN REPLIES

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, I am afraid that was not the correct reply. Perhaps I should re-issue a circular which I sent out quite a long time ago, advising Ministries that they have a discretion always. If they get a question for oral reply which they think involves great length or detail, they can say, "No, we will give a written reply," because it is not a reply which would be digestible, if heard in the House. We have to trust Ministries to exercise that discretion fairly. So you do not have to consult the Speaker or the Clerk to do that in a case such as we have before us now.

Once it has come on the Order Paper, it is not very satisfactory for the House to hear then that the reply will be a written one, because, apart from other things, by getting on the Order Paper it has ousted another question which might have been there for oral reply. All the same, having seen the reply in this case, I think that, quite definitely, it should be given in writing; it is far too detailed to be given orally in the House today. I think you had better take that course.

Mr. Warithi: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, you have ruled in this House before that if a Minister thinks that he cannot answer orally then the question is not put on the Order Paper. Why did this happen today?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Well, I think I have given a definite ruling. Ministries can always decide, in their discretion, that a question should receive a written reply. But if they do so decide, they should so inform the Member who has asked the question and also the Clerk, so that it does not appear on the Order Paper. That is the right procedure.

All the same, if it does get on to the Order Paper, and still has a reply which is really quite unsuitable for oral reply, then I think it is better to have a written reply.

Mr. Osogo: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, since this question has passed through either you or the Clerk of the House, before it came to the Ministry, and since it involved counting a number of districts, maybe forty, and giving two different figures for two different years, would it not be in order that either your Clerk or you direct the hon. Member to require a written reply, instead of an oral one?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): That is so. In cases like this normally I myself say, "This is a question which should receive a written reply." This must have escaped me somehow.

Mr. Anylen: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that some of the questions which may be asked by hon. Members may be of great interest, and, because of this, when the reply is written, then some Members may not know when this question was asked, would it be in order for me to ask that a question be put on the Order Paper and below it is written, "Answer given in writing," so that the Members who are interested in that question can immediately look at that copy of the HANSARD the following day for the information?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, I have dealt with all this before. The procedure, when a written reply is given, is that it is published in HANSARD just like an oral reply, and Members can then, at their leisure, put in further questions on any particular detail of the written reply; they can pick out particular things which would be suitable for oral reply. Then it comes into the House and you get your supplementaries. But it is no good putting a long written reply on the Order

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, to my knowledge such cases are very rare in Kenya, but the position is that a married woman to be entitled to house allowance should really be legally separated from her husband. There is a firm principle involved, because although the situation which the hon. Member for Trans Nzoia has suggested can arise, such cases are very rare and unless you change the African tradition where the wife is the head of the family, I do not see how that can be.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, Sir, will the Minister of State to the President's Office define what he means by where the woman "is legally separated from the husband", because, in my view, I feel that this will bring about encouragement and promotion of divorce to enable people to get house allowance?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order, Mr. Ngala-Abok!

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have been asked to say what the words "legally separated" mean. When I said that, I meant where a married woman has by an order of the court been permitted to live away from her husband for reasons which are governed under the laws relating to the laws of marriage and family law, but that, of course, implies that there should have been a valid marriage.

Mr. Somo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, will the Minister tell this House very clearly that in a case where a woman works in Nairobi and her husband works in Mombasa, would that woman be entitled to house allowance?

Mr. Nyamweya: I do not really know whether the hon. Member is trying to—

Hon. Members: Answer the question.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! A little patience.

Mr. Nyamweya: That is what I am trying to do, my friends, I am trying to answer the question.

Because it is a tricky one, the hon. Members, Mr. Speaker, live in Nairobi and perhaps they want to justify house allowance for their wives who are working elsewhere, but the point is where a wife has been legally separated is the only time when that particular woman is entitled to house allowance. If a husband, for reasons best known to himself, has decided to work away from the place where his wife is working, that is a matter for that particular husband to make accommodation available for his wife.

Mr. Malinda: Mr. Speaker, Sir, will the Minister tell us what action Government will take in cases where the wife is a working woman and the husband has no work or is incapacitated due to illness or accident, will such a woman get house allowance?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): The Minister has answered that; he said "Yes".

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's previous reply where he referred to legal separation, would he not agree with me that this legality does not take into account African Socialism and that, according to African Socialism, there is no such legality which he is talking about, and therefore the question does not apply to those who are married in the ordinary African way?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the hon. Member for Butere maybe does not know that you can marry under African Customary Law and you can equally be separated from your wife or vice versa under African Customary Law. The African Courts have been doing this in the past and are continuing to do this.

Mr. Kibuga: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from one of the Minister's replies, does the Minister agree and is he aware that by giving more privileges to women legally separated from their husbands, they are encouraging divorce?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I must get this point clear. There is no question of encouraging married women to desert their husbands, but the hon. Members should be realistic and face the facts of life. Sometimes, due to the fault of nobody, one spouse may find it extremely difficult to continue with the marriage and naturally the law has some provisions whereby these people can live happily and separate.

Mr. Mairori-Itumbo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Minister, from all his wrong replies in the House, agree with us that he is clearly encouraging prostitution in the country as a whole?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would be the last person to encourage prostitution, but I have sympathy with married women who find it extremely difficult to continue with unmanageable and uncontrollable husbands.

MATERNITY LEAVE FOR UNMARRIED GIRLS

Mr. Muliro asked the Minister of State in the President's Office why unmarried young girls, employed by the Government, did not get normal maternity leave when they were pregnant.

The Minister of State, President's Office (Mr. Nyamweya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply, Government regulations provide for the grant of (Minister of State, President's Office): ... unpaid maternity leave to a married woman officer for a maximum period of three months. This is based on the presumption that it is a married woman who is entitled to be pregnant.

Government does not intend to extend the privilege of maternity leave to unmarried girls in the interests of maintaining good morals in society. But, in exceptional cases, however, where unmarried girls are bound to serve the Government for specific contract periods following their training, unpaid leave is granted for maternity purposes in order to retain their services. These cases are few and they are severely scrutinized.

Mr. Mairori-Itumbo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, would he give the House a breakdown of those unmarried girls, or give the number, who happened to have been pregnant in 1965 to date?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! No, that is quite a different question. I thought you were going to ask another question about prostitution.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that some ladies who have really become women and are not girls any more and may not expect to be married and have therefore decided that they must work and remain alone, and in view of the fact that we do not have sufficient men to marry all these girls, would the Minister consider allowing pregnant leave or maternity leave to ladies from a certain age and up?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am told by the learned Attorney-General that we cannot legislate for these accidents.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Is this your question Mr. Matano, or Mr. Rurumban's?

EMPLOYMENT OF AFRICAN RUSSIAN INTERPRETER

Mr. Rurumban asked the Minister of State, President's Office, if he would tell the House why the Kenya Government could not employ an African who could speak Russian to be an interpreter in Russia.

The Minister of State, President's Office (Mr. Nyamweya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply, Government officers are employed or appointed to established posts where vacancies exist. If a vacancy does not exist, then the Government is not obliged to create one automatically to fit anybody qualifying in a certain language or profession.

From time to time, the Kenya Embassy in Moscow, and for that matter any other mission, has been approached by various students wishing to be employed as interpreters. Such students seek employment, either as a part-time job or as a way of supplementing their incomes.

Interpreters in the Soviet Union are vital to all foreign missions, who normally employ local people, whose special knowledge of the Soviet Union and their contacts in the Government Ministries, facilitate the work of the mission. In view of this, any applications that are received from Kenya students are not accepted, mainly because translations by such students could not be relied upon. The Government is studying the possibility of training its own nationals as linguists for the Kenya missions abroad.

Mr. Rurumban: Arising from the Minister's reply, will the Minister tell the House whether it is true that all our interpreters in the Kenya Embassy in Moscow are Russians and, if they are, why can they not employ any African from Kenya?

Mr. Nyamweya: I have answered that question. Mr. Speaker; that we are looking into the possibility of training our own nationals to act as interpreters wherever we have a mission abroad. It does not cover Moscow only, but all over the missions we have.

Mr. Mbogoh: Arising from that reply, Mr. Speaker, will the Minister tell the House why they can rely on translations from a Russian while they cannot rely on translations from our own students?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Government does not rely on a Russian or an African; it relies on knowledge.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that if we employ a Russian, or, for that matter, a German, in our embassy, let us say, in Moscow or in Bonn, that means that at least one job has been taken by a foreigner, and the Kenya taxpayer is paying, would the Government consider negotiating with such countries as have their embassies in our country to make sure that they also have interpreters in their embassies so that the Kenya Government does not spend more money paying foreigners than the foreigners are paying the Kenya Government?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You mean employment of African interpreters in local embassies?

Mr. Anyieni: Yes.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You were not quite clear, I think.

PRAYERS

COMMUNICATION FROM THE CHAIR

USE OF MECHANICAL DEVICES IN THE HOUSE

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Hon. Members, on Tuesday, the 15th February, the question was raised, as a point of order, whether the accuracy of a newspaper report of a statement said to have been made by a Minister could be tested by playing a tape recording of that statement in this Chamber.

I was inclined to rule against that procedure: but as the question was novel, and as it seemed to involve the whole issue of mechanical reproductions—which can take many forms—my ruling was deferred for further consideration.

Certainly, it has been the practice of this and many other Parliaments to allow hon. Members to bring various objects into the Chamber for the purpose of proving or illustrating a case; documents, of course, but also photographs, models, specimens of produce (other than rotten eggs or tomatoes), and even (at least on one occasion in the House of Commons) a detached piece of human flesh. The introduction of mechanical devices for reproduction of things seen or heard is, however, an entirely different matter; and if we begin with any of them I do not know where we shall end. It would not be easy to draw any line of limitation beyond the starting point. Such devices can be very clumsy for movement or placing; they can require elaborate apparatus, and even the presence of an expert operator on the Floor of the Chamber; they may be so imperfect that the reproduction is not properly seen or heard; they are vulnerable to distortion by mechanical defect, or by deliberate tampering; they can even be instruments of sheer falsehood by concoction. They are far from being necessarily first-hand witnesses of truth.

In the case of mechanical reproduction of things said, there is the further objection that, though the House hears words, perhaps influential words, those words cannot be recorded in HANSARD. They cannot be recorded; because, even if purporting to be the words of an hon. Member, they are not words actually spoken on the Floor of this House.

Nor can any of the records used for such mechanical devices be laid on the Table—like documents, photographs, or other simple exhibits —for subsequent examination by hon. Members in any practical manner. What further use, for instance, could any Member make of a television reel which was laid on the Table of this House or placed in the Library of this National Assembly?

For these reasons, after due consideration, I shall not, while I am Speaker, allow within this Chamber any mechanical device for ephemeral reproduction of things seen, heard of (or that matter) smelled, unless and until our Standing Orders expressly requires me so to do.

This does not, of course, preclude the use of such devices elsewhere. Substantiation of allegations often takes place outside this Chamber, and there may well be occasions when hon. Members wish to see or hear, for proof or for illustration of something said in this House, a place, thing, or person which could possibly be brought here. Indeed, coming back to the original cause of this Communication the Minister for Information has promised to play the record in question to hon. Members at a convenient place, after due notice. That, I think, is the way to deal with all such mechanical novelties of our age.

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

CIVIL SERVANTS AND LOCAL AUTHORITIES: SAMBURU.

Mr. Rurumban asked the Minister of State, President's Office to tell the House why the Government ruling banning civil servants from sitting on local authorities had not been effected in Samburu District.

The Minister of State, President's Office (Mr. Nyamweya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. Yes, Sir.

I would like to correct the wrong impression created by this question that the Government circular bans civil servants from sitting on local authorities. The fact is that, under the provisions of the circular, civil servants may not seek election to the local authority; but this does not preclude the Minister for Local Government from exercising his prerogative to nominate civil servants to sit on any local authority to represent the Government.

The Samburu County Council has been in a terrible financial state of affairs recently, resulting in the suspension of its chief officers. The council has now had a new treasurer and the clerk is still under suspension.

Owing to this unsatisfactory state of the council's affairs, the Government decided to suspend the applications of the provisions of the [Minister of State, President's Office]

Government's Circular No. 43/65 to the council. In arriving at this decision, the Government was concerned about the welfare of the council and its people and could not allow the council's affairs to be run by inexperienced councillors and chief officers or executive officers. It is for this reason that the Government decided to retain the present councillors until the new council officers were experienced enough to guide the new councillors when they are elected. As soon as the Government is satisfied that the new council officers have gained the necessary experience, an election to return members who could replace the civil servants will be held. I hope the hon. Member will see the wisdom in doing this.

Mr. Rurumban: Arising from the Minister's reply, will the Minister not agree with me that if civil servants are elected to local authorities they will hinder the policy of the Central Government in view of the fact that they act under the banner of the electorate?

Mr. Nyamweya: I do not really think that a civil servant who has the interest of his people, country and nation at heart would hinder the progress of the country or the county council as desired by the Central Government.

Mr. Rurumban: Mr. Speaker, is the Minister not aware that the Samburu County Council will never make headway so long as we have these civil servants and illiterate chiefs, as well as local headmen, sitting predominantly on the local authorities?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, I appreciate the views expressed by the hon. Member for Korossi, but this is not a question of the Samburu people being deliberately held back. It is a question of education and education only will be the answer. That is why we think that, in the near future, people with sufficient educational background in the Samburu County will be able to present themselves to serve in the council, so that they can help to promote the welfare of the people of Samburu County.

Mr. Rurumban: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Minister not aware that the present chiefs that we have sitting on local authorities are the stooges and puppets—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! Mr. Rurumban! You know my views about the use of that word. You must withdraw that word. You know what word you withdraw, don't you?

Mr. Rurumban: Yes, Sir. I withdraw the word "woogs".

Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Minister aware that the county council, that is the chairman, prevailed on the district commissioner not to effect the ruling of the Government?

Mr. Nyamweya: I am not quite so sure, Mr. Speaker, whether I should agree with the hon. Member on this one. I think the problem here really is, as I have said, of getting people with sufficient experience to help the country.

The hon. Member says that these people were under the influence of some few people in Samburu. I think I would only repeat my reply, that the hon. Member for the area must work together with the Government to see that people who have the interest of the district at heart, come forward to serve on the county council.

Question No. 314

HOUSE ALLOWANCE FOR MARRIED WOMEN GOVERNMENT SERVANTS

Mr. Muliro asked the President if he could state the reasons why married women, employed by the Government, did not get a house allowance.

The Minister of State, President's Office (Mr. Nyamweya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. Married women employed by Government are granted house allowance if they are separated from their husbands and are entirely self-supporting or they are the sole supporter of a family or husband due to the latter being incapacitated by ill-health. In short, if the married woman is the breadwinner of the family, then she is entitled to a house allowance.

Married women living with their husbands do not qualify for house allowance. A husband is deemed, unless the hon. Members think otherwise, to be the head of his family and therefore obliged to provide his wife and children with housing accommodation. Thus, where a wife and husband are not legally separated and where conditions of incapacity on account of ill-health do not obtain, the husband has to find a house for his wife when she is employed as well as when she is not employed. The situation, I think, is extremely satisfactory.

Mr. Muliro: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, would the Minister not consider the question of a woman who is married and yet she is the breadwinner of the family, because the husband might not have the qualifications to obtain a better job. In a case like that, would the Minister give a woman, in those circumstances, house allowance because she would be maintaining the husband?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): If there is no hon. Member who wishes to speak, I will put the question that the House do now adjourn.

ADJOURNMENT

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): The House is therefore adjourned until tomorrow, Thursday 17th February at 2.30 p.m.

The House rose at fifty-five minutes past six o'clock.

WRITTEN REPLIES TO QUESTIONS

Question No. 2462 (a)

MONOPOLIES: CONTROL OF PROFITS

Mr. Ngalo-Abok asked the Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development what measures had been adopted to investigate and control monopoly profits, discriminatory prices and unfair marketing practices.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): The hon. Member's question covers a very wide field and I have therefore assumed that he is principally interested in what the Government is doing to prevent exploitation of local consumers. If this is the case, price control legislation exists and, where Government is satisfied that unnecessary profiteering is taking place in a particular item, action can be taken to control prices. In addition to price control legislation, my Ministry has trade officers in all parts of the country who are available and willing to investigate all and every complaint brought to their attention. If the trade officer reports that certain traders or companies are abusing their rights to trade freely in Kenya, action is taken by the Government to prevent such abuses occurring in future.

I would like to assure the hon. Member that the Government is not blind to some undesirable practices in commerce and industry which sometimes come to light. My Ministry is now assessing the whole situation and, if there is found to be a need for firm action, give me time and you will see.

There is a very close control on the marketing of many essential commodities through such agencies as the Maize Marketing Board, the Kenya Agricultural Produce Marketing Board, the Kenya Meat Commission and the Kenya Dairy Board, and even producers are guaranteed fair prices by the various other Government boards which pay farmers guaranteed prices for certain products. You may refer in particular to the complaints which have been received regarding maize marketing. As hon. Members are aware, a commission of inquiry is investigating maize distribution at the present time and this inquiry indicates that when obvious dissatisfaction is brought to the attention of Government, immediate action is taken to ascertain the facts and to correct the situation.

The Government controls monopoly profits through company taxation. It is a fact that certain firms in certain lines do enjoy a monopolistic position simply because the size of the Kenya market has not encouraged competitive enterprises to emerge. However, as a matter of principle, the Government does not encourage monopolies and continues to endeavour to encourage new investment in those fields where virtual monopolies exist. This is not to say that all monopolies are bad, and where a Kenya firm does find itself without competition, the Government allows a certain level of competition from overseas products through the operations of import licensing and customs duties. However, if competition from overseas becomes too disruptive, action is taken to protect local firms so that present employment levels are maintained. I can assure the House that in permitting the commercial and industrial sectors of our economy to enjoy free but guided operations throughout the country, the Government maintains continual vigilance to see that the ordinary consumer in rural areas, and producers, receive the full protection of Government.

Question No. 114

PASSION FRUIT FACTORY FOR KISHI

Mr. Anyien asked the Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry when Government intended to install a passion fruit factory with the help of any company in Kisii District.

The Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. McKenzie): The Government has no intention of putting up a passion fruit factory in Kisii in the foreseeable future.

Question No. 145

TEA PLANTING: MAJOGI-BASSI FARMERS

Mr. Anyien asked the Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry when Government was going to allow farmers in Majoje and Bassi Locations to plant tea.

The Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. McKenzie): At present the two locations are outside the tea-line, but Mr. Brown was asked by the Government last year to look further into the potential of tea growing in Kenya. When his recommendations have been studied, it is likely that the tea-line in Kisii will be extended to include some parts of Majoje and Bassi Locations. Once this has been extended, the people of Majoje-Bassi will be allowed to grow tea.

TRAINING FOR AGRICULTURAL INSTRUCTORS

Mr. Anyien asked the Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry how long was an unqualified agricultural instructor going to be allowed to work in the field before he was taken for full training.

The Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. McKenzie): There are no unqualified agricultural instructors.

Question No. 199

NAIROBI CITY COUNCIL EMPLOYEES

Mr. Shikuku asked the Minister for Local Government:—

(a) Could the Minister give the House the breakdown of the people holding key posts in the City Council of Nairobi on a district basis.

(b) Would the Minister also furnish the House with the names of all those holding top jobs in the Nairobi City Council.

The Minister for Local Government (Mr. Sgani): (a) It is not possible to give a breakdown of the people holding key posts in the city council as requested by the hon. Member, as records of the districts of origin of employees of the city council are not maintained.

(b) With regard to the second part of the hon. Member's question, the following are the names of the officers holding key posts in the city council:—

Town Clerk	D. M. Whitside.
Deputy Town Clerk (Acting)	P. A. Clarke.
City Treasurer	E. L. Jones.
Deputy City Treasurer	J. E. Bell.
City Engineer	N. S. Murenja.
Deputy City Engineer	Mr. Kahumba.
Medical Officer of Health	Dr. John Kabiru.
Deputy Medical Officer of Health	Dr. Kamau.
City Education Officer	John Callander.
Assistant City Education Officer	J. K. Icharia.
Director of Social Services and Housing	J. Mbugua.
Deputy Director of Social Services and Housing	C. M. W. Siganga.

I would like to add in explanation that all expatriate chief officers are serving on contract terms. In their contracts there is a clause to the effect that, if the city council decide to Africanize them when qualified Africans are available, then the council may either—

(a) terminate their contracts on giving three months' notice; or

(b) require them to continue in their employment in an advisory or consultative position to the holder of the substantive post until the end of their contract.

[Mr. Ngala-Abok]

Also, Mr. Speaker, the function of this Adult Education Board, although this was discussed here, should also be defined, so that the country could be satisfied that we would not involve ourselves in a lot of talking; that we are merely going to create a lot of boards here where people would squander a lot of Government money. The Minister made a lot of blunders, some of which I will not mention here because I would like to persuade him this time to come clean and to try and state specifically, instead of thinking that I am troubling him and avoiding the correct reply—

I just want to repeat, Mr. Speaker, before I sit down, that the reason why I brought this is that I want to see why the Ministry of Social Services should not carry out the job and the functions which they have been carrying out very efficiently. I also want to know how the Ministry has organized itself to carry out this function at the expense of those who are supposed to carry it out more efficiently. I also want to know which are these voluntary bodies which have been organized and are ready to take over this job, and to do it on behalf of the Ministry. I also want to know how the Board of Adult Education will supervise all these centres throughout the country so that we may rest assured that we are going to have all these adult men and women carrying out these studies under properly instructed and properly qualified staff. I do not want vagueness, I do not want to be told that teachers will be called upon to help, Members of Parliament should also go out of their way to help with this and that, and not listen to a lot of political talk which is so empty. This is a House where Ministers must speak in terms of explaining policies to Members of Parliament and this is where some Ministers find themselves with problems and in difficulties with Members when they seek to know something definite and Ministers keep on trying to avoid the correct answer.

I think, without going too far, I would allow a chance to other Members who wish to express themselves, and I will just say that I wish to move.

Mr. Kibunga: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I feel that it is very important that we should have a policy on adult education. The Minister has said previously that these duties in connexion with adult education, previously under the Ministry of Social Services, should be transferred to Education. Such a transfer is most important, but what we require is a policy where this will be organized properly. We should not wait for voluntary bodies to come and organize adult education, even if they are teachers, even if they are Members of Parliament who are willing to come and help with adult education, we need somebody in every district to go round and organize these voluntary bodies. We need to spend a certain amount of money so as to get our people educated.

This is especially important at this stage of Kenya's development, because most of our people are uneducated. Some people could take advantage of the ignorance of our illiterate people and confuse them politically. People could introduce foreign ideologies and, unless people know how to read and write, they would be confused. So, when the Assistant Minister comes to reply, we shall need to have a clear-cut policy from the Ministry. I see that the Minister, who attends Cabinet meetings and so on, is not here to reply, but I hope that the Assistant Minister is sufficiently briefed to answer fully. We do not want to be told, "Let us wait for the Board of Adult Education". What has the Minister to say about the policy of adult education? We ask him from time to time and, in fact, in the Kanu Manifesto we promised to give adult education. It will not be possible to give every adult education, but we at least need to make a beginning and there should be a department within the Ministry to supervise this. I am sure the hon. Mover meant well when he suggested that adult education should move to the Ministry of Social Services, and so on, but, being a professional man—an ex-teacher—I would suggest that this would be better carried out in our Ministry of Education, but we need a policy. The other thing, Mr. Speaker, is that voluntary bodies are very useful. We know that there are some missionaries, some other volunteers, and these people may get some villages to form adult education classes. But, if we have a field officer to go round in every district, he would be able to contact different leaders and organize classes for these people who are going to educate these adults and then these people would be able to carry on. Besides, if we have somebody to organize this, there would not be any part of the country left behind. I think, when the Minister comes to reply, we do not want to be told that, where we have people themselves, they will be helped by the Government.

That may be true but we need to get this officer in the field to go and talk to people in different locations, different villages, different markets. He will be able to collect them together, organize themselves, and once they do that, we do not need the Ministry of Education to provide all the material necessary. We will provide all the salaries. The people who are going to be taught, will have to pay a certain amount by way of fees, and this money will help towards the management of adult education.

I will end by saying that we need a policy from the Ministry of Education and we do not want to be told, "Wait until the board is ready." We have professional men in the head office in Nairobi, in the provincial offices, in the district offices in the divisions, and so on. What are we waiting for? We need to know exactly what is happening.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I say we need a policy.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): Mr. Speaker, I think the hon. Members who have spoken on this Motion have raised more or less similar points to the ones I was about to mention. I do not think there is much conflict with the views expressed by the speakers in connexion with this Motion, because it is precisely what the Ministry is planning to do.

One thing which I would like to make very clear at the outset is the suggestion that adult education should not be carried out by the Ministry of Education and that it should be referred back to the Ministry of Housing and Social Services as it used to be in the past. Mr. Speaker, I would however like to say that, in 1964, my Ministry received a circular from His Excellency the President which said, very clearly that, since the question of education was handled properly by the Ministry of Education, and that it was not adult education alone but a combination of adult literacy and adult education which was being carried out by the Ministry of Social Services, it was proper that this was handled by our Ministry. We concurred with the views of His Excellency the President. This is why the Ministry of Education feels that it is the proper Ministry to tackle this problem.

Now, Sir, I would like to answer my friend, the hon. Mr. Ngala-Abok, the Mover of this Motion, when he said that he wanted to know the policy of the Ministry in regard to adult literacy and adult education. He also wanted to know whether this was going to be confined to the towns and cities alone. Sir, I think the Ministry of Education is quite aware of the education officers in the field, the problems they face and the fact that they are not full-time employees on this job. To organize and supervise these schools for which they are not responsible, really brings about a lot of problems. In order to make the best use of these teachers, a certain policy should be effected. Now, Sir, in order to do this, my Ministry has made provision in the next Budget, which is the 1966/67 Budget, for administrative and supervisory staff for adult education, and this is included in the Estimates for the current Budget. As the hon. Members will see in the Ministry's Estimates, we have to include this in order to have some funds whereby we will be able to run the services of adult education and adult literacy as effectively as they should be. You realize that, in the past, this was only transferred to our Ministry, but without proper arrangements, as prevailed when this was being run by the Ministry of Social Services.

Coming very quickly to the question of how this would be organized at district level, Mr. Speaker, I would like to say this. In view of the immensity and variety of the work involved, we felt that literacy and adult education should have two additional education officers' posts which should be organized so that these people could supervise this work throughout the country. In addition to this, Sir, we also propose to have in every district one organizer who will be in charge of that particular district, to carry out the work of adult literacy and adult education. One person will also be in charge of the reading materials and literacy classes.

Now, this is the policy of the Government with regard to this point. You realize, Mr. Speaker, that this is a very complicated work, and if the Members are patient, I am sure the plans that the Ministry has will go a long way towards satisfying the requests of the Members.

I would also like to say that, at the present moment, the teachers who are engaged on this voluntary work will get some remuneration. We have already allocated some money for them so that these people can do voluntary work and yet receive some emoluments. This will make them feel that they are not being asked to give their services free of charge. We plan to give at least Sh. 50 for each teacher who volunteers to do this work during his leisure time. This particular work will be carried out by the teachers who volunteer to do this work after they have done their normal work. In addition to what they are being paid at present, we are prepared to pay them a sum of Sh. 50 a month. This is not for the teachers alone, but also for those other people who are trained to teach adults.

Mr. Speaker, I think we have gone a long way in meeting the requirements of the country. If we are given time, I am sure the Members will be satisfied with the plans that we have to carry out this big task of educating the masses.

the usual practice. Then you find that the head office of the Ministry is checking and saying, "Oh, now the country is really in danger." And then they say that they need additional money so that they can follow up these cheques properly. If it is for scrutinizing us, we cannot give the Government the money. But if it is for doing a useful job for the State, trying to—you know that political things, in their own language of administration, are counted also as criminal, because they say that seditious speeches are criminal. That is why I was saying that.

Anyway let the Minister tell the House why he requires so much more money, what necessitated this requirement on the part of the Ministry.

Now I think I should give the opportunity for my hon. friends to speak.

Mr. Omerwa: Mr. Chairman, Sir, I want the Minister also to tell us exactly how this Department of Criminal Investigation is carrying on its functions, and how it warrants that this House should add more money to what was originally voted. I know that this particular department of the police force is failing, particular as regards stock thefts. They are not doing much to inform the police or the Judicial Department exactly where these particular stock thieves are. In this case, Sir, I would have thought that since this particular department had failed to do what the country wants in this particular problem of stock theft, we should have suggested a reduction instead of an increase, because they are not doing much.

In that case, Sir, I would like to know why this department does not come out strongly and say how many cases they have revealed or how many cases they have discovered while investigating, and thereby enable the Government to stamp out this particular problem of stock theft.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Chairman, one thing is quite definite. This extra £5,000 is quite unnecessary in my view. First of all, there have been four killings in Butere and, up to this time, no one has been convicted. Secondly, Mr. Chairman, you find that these people these days—I am very much surprised because the Kenya Police Force was rated as one of the best in the world, second only to South Africa and yet today it has become so cheap. You find that even the Special Branch, which is supposed to be reporting whatever movements are going on, are not doing this at all. Instead, they cook up a lot of stories of their own on what was said for example, when Shikuku is denouncing violence they say, "Oh, Shikuku supports violence."

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): I think you will get time to speak tomorrow, Mr. Shikuku. It is now time to interrupt business. I will report progress to the Speaker and beg leave to sit again tomorrow.

(The House resumed)

PROGRESS REPORTED

SUPPLEMENTARY ESTIMATE No. 1 of 1965/66
(RECURRENT EXPENDITURE)

Dr. De Souza: Mr. Speaker, Sir, at the time of interruption of business, the Committee of Supply was discussing Supplementary Estimate No. 1 (Recurrent Expenditure). I beg to report progress and ask leave to sit again tomorrow.

MOTION FOR THE ADJOURNMENT

SUPERVISION OF ADULT EDUCATION

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It is time now for the interruption of business; but there is a matter to be raised on the adjournment, so I will ask a Minister to move that the House do now adjourn.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move that the House do now adjourn.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): seconded.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am glad to have this opportunity to say a few words regarding supervision of adult education.

Before I put forward any reason for my seeking to raise this Motion on the adjournment, and to get more clarification on this question from the Ministry, I would like to say that the Assistant Minister who answered this question was not specific and he did not tell us even the policy which will be adopted by the Adult Education Board when it starts operating. In his reply, Sir, the Assistant Minister said that adult education was a job for voluntary bodies, agencies and other bodies, who volunteer to assist; but I think we should not rely on volunteers to carry out a task which is so vital and so important to our people.

We have three enemies and one of them is ignorance. Our job is to see that as many of our people, as possible are educated so that they are able to read and write, and they are then able to understand Government policy. So what was not satisfactory here, Sir, was whether the Ministry has really adopted a policy that will be used for adult education or not. If the Ministry had any policy whatsoever, then the answer would not have been so vague.

[Mr. Ngala-Abok]

In my view, Sir, adult education has been carried out by community development, and this particular department is within the Ministry of Social Services; the staff there have been taught to educate people or to carry out adult literacy or adult education programmes. They have nursery centres in the countryside which could be used very conveniently for adult education. In towns, there are the self-same centres which could be used for the same purpose.

When we go to the Ministries and we encounter those people who are employed in various departments and who cannot read and write, this is where we could say that it might be the responsibility of all those immediate officers working in close association with illiterate people to spare some of their time to train or to educate such people to write and read. But when we look at the countryside, we find that the machinery is already there and if the Ministry could tell us how they are going to work in liaison with the Community Development Department, we would be satisfied. But merely to tell us that teachers will be asked to spare some of their time to carry out adult education and that, when the Board of Adult Education is instituted, it will call for the services of all people who may volunteer, is vague, unnecessary and a sign of a confused policy. We want to see clearly what will be done and how this will be carried out, because the machinery is already there; there are people qualified to teach adults, and these are available within the Department of Community Development, in the Ministry of Social Services.

I could even suggest, Sir, that this particular function should not be carried out by the Ministry of Education, because this Ministry could sufficiently and conveniently supervise the education of boys and girls from primary to intermediate and beyond, secondary schools and education at degree level. This is a sufficient responsibility. But to go on confusing themselves in adult education in the countryside is actually not going to be done efficiently; and this is self-evident in the reply of the Assistant Minister.

I want the Assistant Minister to come out and tell us exactly why this Ministry decided to take over, or why the Government, during its reorganization, decided to remove adult education from the Ministry of Social Services to the Ministry of Education. Was this merely because of the word "education"? And yet the entire function is so different and can be handled by another Ministry; it does not qualify, the Ministry of Education to become involved in a matter which it cannot carry out very well.

I doubt, Mr. Speaker, whether a person, after having done his job, or after having carried out his business, could volunteer to educate an adult in any centre. If such a thing is going on, the Ministry must tell us how many people have volunteered. He talked about agencies. Well, these agencies have their own jobs to do. They can volunteer in certain capacities, at certain centres, but this will not be something on which we can rely. We must have a better organized system, and I believe that adult education could be carried out very well by community development officers, supervising the qualified staff they have and who, apart from teaching children, can teach adults and who already have certificates to do this job. This job could be carried out on behalf of this particular Ministry by the Department of Community Development, which is the right place for this sort of work.

I think the Assistant Minister should tell the House that they are abandoning this function and they are advising the Community Development Department to take over, otherwise the Minister should report today how many centres are working and how they have organized teachers at these centres, and how many qualified adult literacy teachers they have since they took over.

Mr. Speaker, when the Minister replies, I should like to be told whether this is to be confined to towns only, because at least people who live in towns are in touch with those who read newspapers and they are as informed as those who can read. But in the countryside, we want people also to be well informed. The Assistant Minister represents a rural area and the only way in which to get him out of his seat is to confuse the uneducated people in his constituency who cannot read for themselves what our policy is as far as this Government is concerned. I could go there and tell them anything which I read in the newspaper, and then they would accept me. But if they were able to read, they would be enlightened and they would know exactly what they should do and what is going on in the country.

Sir, in South Nyanza, I do not see where the Ministry of Education is already running an adult education centre; all that I see, Sir, is that the community development officers, the assistant community development officers, and the officers in that particular department are doing it and are carrying it out very well.

[The Assistant Minister for Economic Planning and Development]

explained in a note on the same page. It is merely to facilitate debate and to meet with Treasury procedures, because what is intended is that the savings—I emphasize that, the savings—which have been made on the same subhead of Personal Emoluments should now be reallocated for expenditure on the items listed under the explanatory note. If the Members would like to read it, it is very well explained there; one personal secretary, Grade I, two personal secretaries, Grade II, one stenographer/secretary and three copy typists. The reason again, Sir, is explained in the notes below, that the expansion in the Ministry, the increase in staff, senior staff, requires this form of assistance. That is the reason why we require this additional secretarial staff.

Now, Mr. Chairman, I could not understand what the complaint is about, because we should, I think, have been congratulated on effecting savings. All we are seeking is to reallocate those savings for purposes which have become more urgent than had originally been envisaged.

Therefore, I think that hon. Members, at least on this one Head, should not waste their time on a debate, when we are not really asking them to give money. All we are saying is that procedures have to be followed, and that is why you need this vote of £1. I believe that that is the issue.

Before I sit down, Mr. Chairman, I think an explanation is required from you, as you said earlier on that if we are going to have a general policy debate, it has at least to be on a substantive Motion or some other kind Motion, I think, and you cannot merely sneak in comments in this particular debate.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Yes, I think Mr. Kibaki is quite right.

Mr. Ochwada: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, have you accepted the Motion to deduct £1 yet, or are we discussing the original Motion?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): I was just going to explain. I have received from Mr. Shikuku just now a notice of the Motion which he proposes to move, to reduce the expenditure on Vote 6 by £1 to nil. Now it is my duty—a not very pleasant one sometimes—to decide how much time we should devote to a particular sub-head or a particular Vote; and I realize that if I do not allow Mr. Shikuku, he cannot move his Motion.

But, on the other hand, it is my duty to decide that we use the time we have available for those items where, in fact, a substantial amount of money is being spent or where I think discussion is most merited. It is a decision I have to take, with which many hon. Members may not agree; but I usually take it irrespective of whether they go or not. In this case, I have decided to do to Vote 8. On Vote 7, there is no debate because that is only savings, so there is no debate on that.

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, since I have complied, I think, with the rules of the House, in that I have given notice of the Motion in writing; and since I have not yet put my case, which I feel I am entitled to do, is this quite in order?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Yes, I sympathize with you, Mr. Shikuku, but, on the other hand, you must appreciate my point of view. There are many items to be discussed and you yourself will appreciate that we will probably want to spend more time on them. Mr. Kibaki has also raised a point on which I made a ruling earlier to Mr. Oduya, that the only items you can discuss in Supplementary Estimates are those items for which a Supplementary Vote is required. You cannot discuss policy, nor the Ministry as a whole.

Now in this particular case, there is no real extra expenditure; it is merely a rearrangement, as it were, of officers and staff. As such, I think I would, in a way, not be quite fair to all other hon. Members, including, perhaps, yourself, if I allowed the Committee to spend much more time on this matter, rather than spending its time on other matters. I think that you yourself, if you think it over, will agree that that is probably the right position. In any case, this is what I have decided.

Mr. arap Sol: Mr. Chairman, Sir, in view of the fact that when the Assistant Minister, Mr. Kibaki, talked, he showed that this £1 was a token sort of thing, which was not actually required, and when the hon. Mr. Shikuku was going to move to reduce this, I do not see the reason why you should refuse him the opportunity to do so, because this £1 may be misused.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): I have evidently not been able to make myself quite clear. When Mr. Kibaki says that £1 is not really, in fact, required, what he means is that when the Government is rearranging expenditure or spending money in a way which is slightly different from what it was, in fact, allocated for by this House at the time of the Budget, the Government has strictly to come to this House and explain why this is being done. To do so, a debate is needed.

Now to give Members an opportunity to debate this, they have to put in a token expenditure of £1; and that is why this has been put in.

Now, once again, strictly speaking, I could let the Committee speak on this for a long time, but I feel—perhaps wrongly but this is what I feel—that there are some other items on which time could be more usefully spent; and therefore I have decided to go ahead to Vote 8.

Mr. Pandya: Mr. Chairman, I agree that it is not necessary to launch a policy debate on this Vote 6, but there has not been sufficient time to get one or two other matters clarified, and I should have thought that—

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): I am afraid, Mr. Pandya, that there were about three or four Members who spoke, and I could see that what they were trying to do was to speak on the main policy. That we shall do very soon when the Budget comes, which is only about three months away, and they can spend all their time on that then.

(Head A agreed to)

NOTE 7—MINISTRY OF DEFENCE

(Heads A B C E G H and J agreed to)

NOTE 8—POLICE

Head J—Expenses of Criminal Investigations, etc.

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, I seem to be quite overtaken. We have just finished Vote 6 and in my book here, on page 9, I find Vote 7.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): I did explain this a little earlier, that Vote 7 is merely a saving. In other words, Government is not asking Parliament to pass an expenditure; in fact, it is reducing expenditure. So we do not have to debate it or discuss it. That is why we went over that. But if you want to keep on, I can call it again.

Mr. Oduya: Vote 8, Sir, We would like an explanation from the authority concerned as to why they want £5,000. If this money was put to another use, Mr. Chairman, I am sure it could put up a very big project; it would employ perhaps more than fifty people in the rural areas. So we would like to know why the Ministry wants this. What are the additional expenses that occurred and which warranted the Ministry's demanding an additional £5,000. They say, under J, that they would like this money for criminal investigations.

We know that this has possibly been brought up just because of suspicion and so on about the movements of Members, which are counted as criminal. The Minister himself is very happy; he is happy spending money unnecessarily, watching Members for no reasons at all, instead of making this money build something. Anyway, all I want to find out from the Minister is whether this money enables the Minister to assist us in strengthening our borders with other States, such as Uganda and Tanzania. On the question of Somalia, we are not worried, because we already have a programme for that. If the Kenya Government has failed to catch the Shifita, that is a different matter. We have given them the necessary assistance; and there is money being spent on that matter. But maybe they want to keep the money for following Oduya and so on.

An hon. Member: You should go there.

Mr. Oduya: Yes, but I cannot resign my seat. I could go there as Oduya and still retain my seat for Deso.

An hon. Member: What are you going?

Mr. Oduya: If you give me double salary, I can go.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Order!

Mr. Oduya: Mr. Chairman, discipline the Minister first.

Anyway, I was just going to ask the Minister for Home Affairs who is responsible for these people, whether he has any arrangements at all to spend some of this money on the border between Uganda and Kenya, where we are experiencing a lot of difficulties. There we find that most of the people in the area are losing a lot, as regards stock and other things. Stealing of course, is a criminal offence, but we are not in a position actually to be able to find out from the Ministry how many cases of crime have been noted and what the necessary steps the Ministry is taking to remedy the situation in the area. I would like to know whether this additional £5,000 is needed to meet the Busia demand, which has been reported from about the border; and I hope he will tell me. And if this is not so, why is this money demanded? Is it just because the Minister has heard that in a certain meeting Oduya or Shikuku or Gichoya said this and therefore he needs additional money to—

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): You must refer to hon. Members in a proper way.

Mr. Oduya: Yes, Sir, that is right. The hon. Oduya or the hon. Shikuku or the hon. Gichoya might have said this and that. This is, I know,

Mr. Wariñhi: Mr. Chairman, what the Minister has said is very interesting, despite the fact that he has promised to show the Members of this House the film, there are still some things that we would like to know.

The first one is when did this film come to this country, when was it completed? The other one is why is it that up to now, before the matter has been brought to this House, the Government, or the Minister, did not see fit to show it only to the Members, but to the people of Kenya? If the film depicts Kenya in a very good light, good scenery and the rest of it, it is all the more important that we should see it ourselves in this country. Why is that before we raised a query in this House as to how this money had been spent, nobody thought of letting the people of Kenya see it and get some benefit?

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): Mr. Chairman, I did not want to intervene at this stage but I would like to answer what the hon. Mr. Wariñhi has just said. I did not see this film, but the fact that the Minister for Information has promised the hon. Members to show them this film is welcomed, for I think what the hon. Members were interested in is to see this film. What I also think should have happened, Mr. Chairman, is that it is only fair that a film like this should be approved by the people of this country. Let us not forget that the main aim of this film, as the Minister for Information said, was to publicize our country overseas for the different interests of this country. It has done a job by attracting more investors, and more tourists to come to this country. This is our interest here. If this is not our interest then hon. Members should stand up and say so. It was questioned, Mr. Chairman, that this is an exorbitant amount, £4,043. Honestly, with due respect to the hon. gentlemen who suggested this, he does not know the cost of any film. I agree I have seen him with a camera, and he knows what filming could cost, but that is only on a small scale. We have heard that films have cost millions and millions of £s. This, apparently, is a commercial film which has gone overseas to entice people to come to this country. What I would ask the Minister for Information and the Minister for Finance to do is that when he shows us this film, we hope it will cover Kenya as a whole and not sections of Kenya. We hope this has been covered in the film, because it is very important that every place in Kenya is shown, and that the tourists who are supposed to be attracted by this film, visit places they have seen. This I am only drawing to the attention of the Minister for Information and the Minister for Finance. Otherwise I do not see, Mr. Chairman, why we are quarrelling with this amount which I think we have gained in a way by making this film.

Coming, Mr. Chairman, to the point that has been raised by hon. Members, and I only wish the hon. Members could keep order, the hon. Member for Butere has raised the point that he does not understand why this should come here, independence somewhere else, and Kenyatta Day celebrations somewhere else. This is the technique that happens in finance. This is something that has not already been covered by other Votes, so the only person who can bear the burden is the Minister for Finance. Nobody else. That is why it is coming under the Minister for Finance. The debt of £5,500 owed to the city council, could not come to anyone else, because we voted money to all other Ministries, this is a debt, and it is a Government one, and can only be borne by one person, that is the Treasury, and that is the Minister for Finance. I do not see why Members are confused with this simple mathematics, and a simple item which comes under the Minister for Finance.

With these remarks, Mr. Chairman, I hope the Members will see the points.

VOTE 6—MINISTRY OF ECONOMIC PLANNING AND DEVELOPMENT

Head A—Personal Emoluments

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Chairman, Sir, Vote 6 where they say they have an additional sum of £1 for personal emoluments. Sir, I would like to know why there is any need to have an addition of £1. The Assistant Minister wants to know why I am asking about the addition of £1, he should know that I am even worried about 1 cent. Why it should be spent, because I am of the opinion, Sir, that there is a lot of expenditure which I think we should check on. There are too many big salaries in this Ministry, and the people who earn these salaries do not help anybody apart

(Mr. Shikuku) These people, Mr. Chairman, from themselves. These people, Mr. Chairman, earn the same salary, in this Ministry, as the salary earned by the imperialist officers, and those imperialist officers, Mr. Chairman, were those imperialist officers, they employed an office boy, very useful because they employed to take food to the table, a kitchen boy, and in that way they helped poor people to help themselves.

Mr. Chairman, I know of people here even in the Government who have big responsibilities, who are only the sons of drivers. The people in this Ministry want £1 more, when they do not even employ a shamba boy, when their lawns have become wild and they enjoy themselves at what you call parties, where they go every day and have free food and drink and then go and sleep. They spend nothing, their wives are also employed in the same Ministry or elsewhere, they accumulate wealth. Mr. Chairman, this is why I object to this £1 increase, because I am of the opinion that the salaries paid to the civil servants are too high, and as a matter of fact, Mr. Chairman, it should be reduced. In my opinion— I am sorry I have not given you in writing my intention to reduce this very £1. I hope that in the meantime Members will be speaking, and I will move a reduction of that very £1 and if possible, more, in this Ministry. They have not helped anybody at all, apart from boasting that they are big guns and drinking excessively. Mr. Chairman, I will sit down to put it in writing and allow some other Members to speak.

Mr. Oduya: Mr. Chairman, thank you very much. I wish to join my friend, the Member for Butere, in his contribution about this £1. In fact, it is very unnecessary at this stage for this Ministry to ask for an additional £1. We know that the Ministry has not helped anybody since its formation.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Mr. Oduya, when we are discussing Supplementary Estimates, we only discuss the additional expenditure involved, and not the whole Ministry as such.

Mr. Oduya: I know that, but the Ministry is those officers working there, and in fact what I am going to say—

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): You are not to say, what you are only allowed to do is to discuss those elements which caused the increase in expenditure.

Mr. Oduya: Yes, that is what I am going to say. You have caught me, Mr. Chairman, on only one sentence. Here you have a problem whereby you have officers unnecessarily paid. For example, I hear our own local men, I understand with economic degrees like the Assistant Minister for Economic Planning and Development here, although his head is just like mine, he has a lot of economics there. Well, just black like mine. What I hear is that quite a number of our young men who have just returned from overseas and joined this very Ministry, some of them, have left the Ministry and it is just because of frustration. It seems as if the Ministry has some officers who are called expatriates; I think you know what expatriates are, those people from abroad. So these chaps are there; they are trying to frustrate our own local chaps and; had we our own local chaps there, the idea of adding £1 more could not come about, because they are prepared to sacrifice, since Kenya is poor; they are prepared to be paid little; they will eat ugali, they will eat posho—the people of Nyeri, where the Assistant Minister for Economic Planning comes from, eat it.

Because of employing a man who wants to enjoy a high standard of living, as some of these chaps from abroad do, people from the United States and so on, these people have been given the opportunity to plan, and these are the boys who are earning a lot of fat salaries, including overseas allowances, gratuities, inducement allowances and so on. I think it would be better at this stage not to allow this unnecessary expenditure in a country like Kenya, which is so poor. Anyway, even if I am not allowed now to speak on the merits and demerits of the whole aspect, the Budget will be coming on in June and we shall see, on the Floor of this House, what to say.

Meanwhile, we would like to warn the Ministry that we want to know from the Minister, when he replies to this, why he wants £1 more. Tell us. Who is going to earn this money? How many of our African boys are there today? I know some of them are written off, they are taken into the field to be district, local administrators, when they know a lot of economics, more than those who are there, more than the Ministers themselves. Therefore, these chaps should come to work in the offices; the expatriates should be removed, because they cannot plan to suit our own country. Teso will require a different way of life; these fellows do not know Teso. But if you put a black head there, he will know what Teso is, and what its problems are.

The Assistant Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Kibaki): Mr. Chairman, I think, before we are led into deeper confusion, the point ought to be emphasized here, Sir, that we are asking for a token £1, as a procedural matter, in order to facilitate— Mr. Chairman, no additional expenditure is involved. This is

Mr. Maisort-Itumbo: Mr. Chairman, I would like to be enlightened about the expenditure of this particular item because we seem to see that the Minister did not care to show the House how he spent the money. Also, Sir, the Minister does not care that the House should have these details before any money is passed.

Now, Sir, before we have any recommendation on this Bill I wish he could give us a detailed explanation of how much money was spent on this and why, because we had already voted the money for this particular issue. We will soon be asked, Sir, by the same Minister to vote another Supplementary Estimate in the near future. Why?

Mr. Pandya: Mr. Chairman, "The Birth of the Republic" was made at Government expense of over £4,000. I do not remember seeing this film and I have asked one or two hon. Members of this House and they have not seen it. Now, Mr. Chairman, if this film was made, why is it that it has not been shown, not only to the Members of this House but also to the public? Why was it not given to cinemas on a commercial basis? I am sure most of the hon. Members here would have liked to have seen it.

My other point, Mr. Chairman, is that I am not quite clear as to how the Nairobi City Council came into the picture and that they had to be given those £5,500. Were they celebrating on behalf of the Government? What is the position? We would like a breakdown of this figure of £5,500.

Mr. Odway: Mr. Chairman, I also wish to join my colleagues on the complaints they have made. What I would like to find out from the Minister is, is it possible to spend money and then to come to this House only to seek approval, or should approval first of all be sought, that the money is needed for this reason, and then when we say O.K., the Minister can go ahead and spend this money? But, I think, Mr. Chairman, there has been a tendency for the very Minister, and other Ministers, they know that, very well, we have our schoolboys there, we just go to the classroom and say "Come on, boys, pass this." Well, I think one day the time will come when the country will be told that there will be no money today for this very Government, then we will see how these Ministers will pay these debts which they accumulate unnecessarily before knowing the views of the public representatives in this Chamber.

Mr. Chairman, my colleague here, Mr. Pandya, has raised the question of the film. I remember the premiere which he saw just recently, that was, I think, filmed by the Soviet, something like that, the Russian something something. This was recently, when we saw the President appearing during all his troubled days, up to the day of independence. But the film which is being reported here as having been bought with our own money has never been seen anywhere. Should we be told, Mr. Chairman, whether this film is being shown in the houses of the Ministers, or in the commercial sectors? We should be told. It is now nearly three years since independence, and this film was from the birth of Kenya, that means when we took over from the British Government. So, this film should have been really useful to the State, and the people in the countryside should have been given the opportunity of seeing it. But, I think that the Minister is going to explain fully, without trying to beat around the bush, and without jumping on us as he does all the time, because if he jumps on us we are capable of leaving the debate and can jump on him properly and see who loses.

An hon. Member: Let us get out and jump at each other.

Mr. Wamotheny: Mr. Chairman, I rise to congratulate the hon. Member for having pointed out some few mistakes already made by the Ministry. Now, Sir, because the Minister will be seeking the unanimous support of Members when he brings the next Estimate, I think it is very important for him to tell the House how this money was used. Not only the Members here would like to know this, but the people of this country should also know.

Mr. Chairman, the Minister has just indicated the figure of £5,500 which is the figure used by Nairobi City Council. We do not know whether this money was used in any other towns, or only in Nairobi as a city. How this money was used we do not know. I would like the Minister when he replies to this to tell us exactly, before he comes to seek the support of the Members here, how this money was used in Nairobi.

Mr. Shikuku: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. When there is something in excess I always quarrel with the Minister. Now, getting on to—

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): You must understand that this whole matter is one of excess; because the whole Supplementary Estimate is being brought to this House because of excess.

Mr. Shikuku: I mean a reasonable excess. When there is a reasonable excess I do not pick a quarrel with the Minister. But here is the question of the film. There are two films, Mr. Chairman: I saw one, which was the independence one, the Harambee one, but "The "Birth of a Republic" which has cost a fortune, I do not seem to have seen. I am a very good singer, Mr. Chairman. After Parliament I do not always sit up here and drink, but I go to see films, and I do not recall seeing this film which has cost me a fortune. Above all, if the film exists and it is being shown in private quarters—I do not know whether the hon. Member for Teso was quite in order but he seems to be assuming that this film is being shown in some Ministers' houses.

[Mr. Shikuku]

Mr. arap Moi: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, I do not think the Member is being logical. I do not think that Members should impute that a film of that kind should have been shown in the Ministers' houses, and this has been repeated by the two Members.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): I think what they are trying to do is to say that they have not seen the film, they would like to know—

Mr. Gichuru: But why not say so and shut up?
Mr. Odway: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, is "shut up" not an unparliamentary expression?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): I agree.

Mr. Gichuru: I withdraw, Sir.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Chairman, I think we are becoming rather too childish on this question—

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): We do not want any more of that.

Mr. arap Moi: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, when a Minister says something some of the hon. Members jump up and ask that it be withdrawn. Would the hon. Member withdraw his suggestion that we are children?

Mr. Odway: Shut up.

Mr. Shikuku: Shut up yourself.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): I must say that I think we are going much lower than the standard of debate than we need. We do not have to use the words "shut up", no matter in what circumstances. We do not have to call anybody a child. We know from years of experience that we have to call an hon. Member "an hon. Member". I would ask Mr. Shikuku to withdraw that anybody is being a child.

Mr. Shikuku: I have withdrawn.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Now, Mr. Odway, will you please address Mr. arap Moi as the hon. arap Moi or the Minister?

Mr. Odway: Yes, Sir.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): And withdraw what you said, "Shut up".

Mr. Odway: I withdraw that, but anyway—

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Chairman, I am sorry you had to go to all this, but the point I was trying to make is the fact that money has been spent on something that has not been seen, and I think whether the Ministers like it or not, public money has been spent. I am, Mr. Chairman, like any other hon. Member in this House, of the opinion that we ought to know where that coat, or where that car or where that film is. This is the thing that we want the Minister to tell us. If it is not there, he has got to give us a substitute for the expenditure of £4,000.

The other thing, Mr. Chairman, is the question of the Republic expenditure, here, Mr. Chairman, some of us are not—I admit on my part that I am not conversant with accounts, and I will only be enlightened if the Minister concerned could slowly explain to me how he reconciles the Republic celebrations, Kenya Independence celebrations, Jomo Kenyatta celebrations and all this, so that we know where we stand. For heaven's sake, Mr. Chairman, I think we are entitled to that explanation before we go on. At least where the film is.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Oneko): Mr. Chairman, Sir, I do not see why we should quarrel over this. What the hon. Members are requesting is about the film and if it is available, I would like to inform the hon. Members that this sum of money was part of the payment for a film which was shot by a company called Ceres Production (Nakuru), and the film is entitled Kenya becomes a Nation. The film was intended not really for local consumption, but for publicising Kenya overseas. First of all, before the film was approved by the Government, His Excellency the President had the opportunity of seeing this film at a private preview in Nairobi. Several Cabinet Ministers also had the opportunity of seeing this film—we cannot stop civil servants from seeing it because they are the backroom boys who are doing our job for us. I have not finished yet. I have a copy of this film in the country today; several copies are in our Embassies; we have given this film to tourist agencies overseas, and they are making use of it. This film depicts Kenya in its true character, it shows the scenery of Kenya and its beauty, and I would like next week, as I am a factual man, to organize a showing of this particular film to hon. Members of Parliament. With the support of the Minister for Tourism, I will even ask him to provide tea so that the hon. Members can see the film. This is the answer to the amount of £4,000 which is just a part of what we paid for the production of the particular film that is being referred to. It is a very good one.

[Mr. Gichuru]

The suggestion about church services I support fully, because I have represented the Government on a number of occasions and I think it is something good, for those who feel they want to. Those who feel it is nonsense, I mean, they can just keep out. I think that those who feel that it does contribute to the national service, to the well-being of the country, I think they ought to come forward and I am quite sure that those who organize the celebrations would allot people of that type to various churches on the day of our celebrations.

I am being asked about mixing religion with politics. You see I am a religious man and I am a politician—Makarios in Cyprus, the Archbishop. I do not think we need to dwell very much on that, but nevertheless I think where we have freedom of worship and those who feel they would like to worship ought to be given every opportunity to do so.

On the question of taking the salute I am completely open. I think it is a question of those who are organizing the celebrations, and I am quite sure they will be reading the HANSARD, to ensure that as wide a net as possible is cast out to enable as many hon. Members of this House to participate in these celebrations as is possible.

Mr. Makone: Mr. Chairman, my hon. friend, the Minister for Finance has not yet satisfied me enough to justify the fact that we should give him this money. The £23,000 that we are being asked for was already due last December on Independence Day. He has not stated clearly from what fund he obtained this money, because we are approving a Vote that has already been spent and if this £23,000 was spent, the list that the Assistant Minister read to us to the expense incurred in the whole amount, was confused at the same time, which meant that there is no proper record kept to justify that the £23,000 was due. Now, may I ask the Minister to shed some light as to how this money was spent, because the Assistant Minister confused himself and even the figures he gave in the House were not correct on his own assumption, because he said he was not too sure whether he was correct, so we want to know exactly how this £23,000 was used. Give us a good outline. Now, your previous estimate was £88,100, now you want an additional amount, and this means that this additional amount was not expected. What emergency was there that brought about this extra expenditure of £23,000 from the previous estimate that you had?

Mr. Gichuru: Mr. Chairman, Sir, with due respect to my hon. friend, I did answer that question before, I did say that last year we spent a lot of money and we were not very sure how much we were likely to spend this year, no, the year before last—1964—we were not very sure, but we were doing our very best to save as much money as possible. We cut out a lot of things that would have involved a heavier expenditure. I hope that this year, now that we have a figure, we shall be able to estimate more accurately, that is why we did not provide for this money and we had to spend it and then come here for authority to legalize it, as it were. But as I said before this was money that was necessary to be spent: £190 was spent in the Central Province, spread right through; the Coast Province £1,060; Eastern Province £1,180; North-Eastern £135; Rift Valley £1,315; Western £920; Nyanza £1,200; other organizations £250, making a total of £7,250; then we have the national day of events in Nairobi without including, as the Assistant Minister said, the money that was spent in bringing—and I hope this money will not be spent any more—in bringing over the Black Stars just to give us thirteen goals to nil more or less, came to £15,750 making a total of £23,000.

I was not responsible for the actual allocation of the money, but the accounts have been scrutinized and the Treasury has agreed that the money was well spent. It is unfortunate that there is nobody from the Vice-President's Office here this afternoon to speak and answer the questions that have been put to me, but I can assure the House that this year we are going to make sure that we have a definite figure in our Estimates to make sure that whoever is going to be responsible for the spending of this money will have the feeling that he does not have to fly right up to the moon.

Mr. Makone: Mr. Chairman, last year we approved the sum of £88,000, but somebody somewhere, maybe a friend of the Minister, who knows that there is money to be spent did over-spend.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): You are repeating yourself. The Minister has already answered this point.

Mr. Makone: I am trying to spread the basis of my point.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): The Minister has just told us how this happened.

Mr. Makone: The Minister told us at the beginning how he got this money to spend on their enjoyment, when the teachers' college in Kisii has been closed down for six months and they have been sent home for an indefinite period. Where does he get this money from; and [Mr. Makone] this teachers' college should be re-opened. The teachers' college has been closed down for an indefinite period and I would like to know where he got this money from so that we could also find a means to re-open this college.

Mr. Gichuru: Mr. Chairman, that is another question.

Mr. Makone: Mr. Chairman, On a point of order, my question is where did the Minister get this money?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): I think he has explained earlier on from the Civil Contingencies Fund.

VOTE 4—MINISTRY OF FINANCE

Head R—Payment to the Development Finance Corporation of Kenya, Ltd., for Feasibility Study.

Mr. Warlith: Mr. Chairman, the Development Finance Corporation of Kenya was recently formed and as I understand it is meant to help the setting up of industry in this country, and giving funds or assistance in research. Now, could we be told by the Minister, up to now the type of industries or businesses which have been assisted by the Development Finance Corporation of Kenya and the amount of Government participation in such industries if any.

Mr. Gichuru: Mr. Chairman, Sir, I would like notice of that question. The Development Finance Corporation of Kenya has put a lot of money into various projects, particularly in projects where the financiers from outside feel that they would like Government participation. Just to feel that everything is all right we try and put a little money into it. Sometimes, for example, with the Panafric, the Development Finance Corporation of Kenya did put money into that project. I could lay on the Table, if I am given time, the number of projects in which the Development Finance Corporation of Kenya has become involved and also the sources from which we get money. Some of the money comes from the Colonial Development Corporation, from Western Germany and so on. I could lay on the Table particulars of this nature; but the particular item here referred to is the money that had to be advanced by the Treasury for this feasibility study to the corporation to enable it to advise the Government as to whether the hotel project that is being studied, is worth while. It is hoped that if the project is worth while then this £2,500 will become part of the whole project. If it is not, well it is an expense that we ought to be able to bear.

Mr. Warlith: Mr. Chairman, I am quite happy that the Minister has promised to give the information, although it was not directly relevant to this subhead, and I think it would be very useful to know how much the Financial Development Corporation of Kenya is assisting, and I would request him, if he could, to lay the Paper on the Table when it is ready.

Head S—Republic Celebrations—Residual Expenditure

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Chairman, I would like to know from the Minister why he should have to deal with the Republic Celebrations, whereas in actual fact, celebrations do come under Vote 3. I would like to know whether this will be the normal routine, whether there are two people conducting these celebrations, one for the Independence Celebrations and the other for the Republic Celebrations, when the two celebrations fall on the same day, that is, 12th December. May we be given an idea as to how these Republic Celebrations expenses were spent, and for what purposes this sum was spent?

Mr. Gichuru: It does say there that this is residual expenditure. A film was made of "The Birth of a Republic". This was not included in the original Estimate. It cost £4,043. There were other bills that came much later, particularly from the Nairobi City Council for over £5,500 which were received too late to be incorporated in the 1964/65 accounts. You will remember that we had the celebrations then in the catering, etc.

Mr. Armp Sol: Mr. Chairman, I do not understand why, when we vote money for celebrations and then again we go back and find a Ministry spending money on another matter which we did not deal with and now, I wonder why they did not use that money which was in the Vice-President's Office for all these films. Why do they have to introduce things and use money and then come to ask us for approval? This is a very serious mistake. I notice that there is money which has been already used by some particular Ministry, like a number here, money which we have not voted, and it is being used and then they come and ask us. This is illegal expenditure. You should not use this money before you come and ask us, otherwise we shall ask you to refund the money and explain.

Mr. Okelo-Odongo: The incident took place two months ago, so naturally it has been paid for. But, in any case, the expenditure has been incurred, so to speak, and we might be getting bills.

Mr. Alexander: Where does the money come from?

Mr. Okelo-Odongo: Mr. Deputy Chairman, Sir, as far as Independence Day celebrations are concerned, this is the first time this was done; it is something that is always done. The breakdown here is again according to provinces. Central Province, £1,180; Coast Province, £1,060; Eastern Province, £1,190; North-Eastern Province, £135; Rift Valley, £1,315; Western, £920; Nyanza, £1,200; other organizations, £2,250. A total of £7,250. National events in Nairobi, including football, then we get the total. So the other expenses, which I believe include the cost of transporting the Black Stars, would be the difference between £1,500 and £2,300, which is miscellaneous.

Mr. Khusakhalo: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Chairman, may I get your ruling? The Assistant Minister is answering a question by the hon. Member on the actual cost, which has already been incurred; and now we are being told it will be incurred. Is that in order, Sir?

The Deputy Chairman (Mr. Slade): You cannot raise that on a point of order; you can ask further questions and find out what he means, but you will just have to wait for the Minister to finish and then ask him to clarify it.

You must be careful about what constitutes a point of order, Mr. Khusakhalo.

Mr. Alexander: Mr. Deputy Chairman, do I understand the Assistant Minister to say, by calculation, that the Ghana All Stars cost £18,500?

Mr. Okelo-Odongo: No, no, no. What I said was that all other events cost about £1,500—Sorry, I can get this here. They cost about £1,000. This must be a wrong figure here, I am sorry.

Mr. Deputy Chairman, all other events cost up to £15,750. The difference between that and £23,000 should represent the cost of other events which took place in Nairobi, and I believe—I am not quite sure, Sir—this includes the expenses incurred in transporting the Black Stars. The things in Nairobi involved football at Jambhuri Park, and Members should know that Jambhuri Park was rented and also insured, and so forth; the rally, the dancers, the film Harambee, the garden party and so on. So all that is included in the difference between £15,750 and £23,000.

Mr. Alexander: Mr. Deputy Chairman, Sir, that difference is £7,300. Would it be reasonable to suggest that, out of that £7,300, £5,000 was for the Ghana Black Stars soccer team? I have done a rough calculation; twenty air fares at £200 each return comes to £4,000, plus, say, £1,000 for other expenses, including accommodation. Would that be a reasonable assumption, Mr. Deputy Chairman?

Mr. Okelo-Odongo: Mr. Deputy Chairman, I think if the hon. Member gives us time we could then find out what it costs for a ticket from Accra to Nairobi. I think that can fairly be found out. Whatever the hon. Member has worked out, we cannot guarantee it. But if he would do it, I would be glad to know. However, I think this is really not very important. Whatever the sum is, it is not really important. What we like to know is the hon. Member's opinion about it.

Mr. Kibuga: Mr. Chairman, this Vote J—Independence Day Celebrations—is a very important item, together with the other celebrations, those on Kenyatta Day. You find, Sir, that in most cases people did not know about this day until about two weeks before the celebrations take place, with the result that the little money that comes from Nairobi is not enough to meet all the expenses we want to incur. Could I have an assurance that, in future, the celebrations will be planned a little bit earlier and the local people are told, so that they can make their own collections, they can make their own arrangements and, by doing this, so that everyone will try to come to Nairobi. When things are not arranged on the district level—they are usually arranged on the provincial but the district level—then the day arrives and very little is going on, with the result that most of the people want to come to Nairobi; and it becomes very expensive, and the people who remain at home do not enjoy the day at all. All I am asking is that the people concerned with the arrangements start this a little bit earlier, not just two weeks before the day comes.

Mr. Okelo-Odongo: Mr. Chairman, Sir, that is rather strange, that people only know about Independence Day two weeks before. Before Kenya got independence, I think the day was known for about eight months beforehand. Since then, it has always been known; it does not change at all; it is on the 12th December. Anyone who wants to make arrangements can start doing so at any time.

[Mr. Okelo-Odongo]

When it comes to the question of local organization the people by themselves do this, and this can be suggested.

Mr. Pandya: Mr. Chairman, if the Government knew that they were going to celebrate Independence Day, why was no provision made in the original Estimates so as to avoid this procedure of the Government having to come to this House after it has spent this money?

Mr. Kibuga: Mr. Chairman, further to the point I raised, the Assistant Minister has assumed that the local people arrange these celebrations without taking into consideration what is arranged in Nairobi. People would like to know how much they will get from Nairobi; and then, with this amount of money, they would know how much to add and so on. Besides, just a little time ago we learned, and we know, that the people who organize these celebrations are the officials. If the officials are to arrange these things, then they should start arranging earlier and they should all a committee of the politicians in the local area. The Government should not shift the responsibility and say that everyone knows about the celebrations. There is an official given this duty, and he should start earlier than two weeks before the day.

Mr. Gichuru: Mr. Chairman, first of all, I think one ought to remember that in the first celebrations we did not know how much it was likely to cost. I think we only put in a token £1 or something like that, something very small. But it was very expensive. We invited a lot of people from overseas; we paid for their air-fares and we paid for their hotel accommodation here in Nairobi; we also provided them with motor-cars. It was quite an expensive do. But it was worth while. We wanted to show the world that we were independent and, therefore, we had to pay for it.

Mr. Gichuru: This second one again we were trying to economize, we did not invite people from overseas and it was very difficult to estimate, but it was necessary to spend a little money and I am afraid that is why this happened.

Mr. Abogoh: Mr. Chairman, I am quite happy with the figures in this Vote, but I would like to make a few suggestions to the Minister as I have received some letters from Kenya students overseas. Some of them find that they cannot celebrate Independence Day because the Kenya Government does not even send a representative to where these schools are. I would like the Ministry to keep a vote for the Kenya students who are overseas so that they can also celebrate Independence Day very effectively. Mr. Chairman, what happens there is that in overseas countries Kenya must also show her image to the world so that her students who are overseas can also celebrate the birthday of their country, and therefore this would be quite sensible. Mr. Chairman, again, it has been very interesting to see during Independence Day that so many people go and attend the celebrations and then on Sundays you find that all denominations preach something concerning independence. I think it would be fair if even the politicians were given a chance to go and represent the Government in churches and preach there on that day, so that everyone is in the church to which he belongs and so that he can put it to the people of the church that there is no difference between the church people and the independence of a country.

Mr. Chairman, I preached once and I found it quite interesting, so someone would be advised to do the same. Again I would say that this money does not go very far into the country and while it is given to the civil servants to share amongst the people of the country, you find that some of the people who live in the remote areas, who are not exactly in the town, will not get a share of this money and they will not enjoy themselves as they should. I would suggest sometimes that it is better, though there is a provincial or a district celebrations' centre, if there is enough money to go as far as the locational level so that people in the locations, those who are very old and cannot get to the district centre or the divisional centre, can also have a fair share in the celebrations.

Mr. Chairman, I am not quarrelling with the salute, but as a certain Assistant Minister said that he cannot agree with politicians receiving a salute, I find it quite interesting when someone who has never taken a salute anywhere, comes to advise us here about taking the salute. It does not matter what you are wearing or whoever you are, it is only necessary for you to raise your hand in response when you are given the salute or to stand quiet and to remove your hat, that is all. But for someone to tell us that you need a Harambee kofa in order to take a salute, is absolute nonsense. So, Mr. Chairman, I will support that very quickly and I hope that the Minister takes some of these suggestions. Thank you.

Mr. Gichuru: Mr. Chairman, Sir, it is very difficult to allot money for students to spend on these celebrations. What we do is that we allow a little sum of money to the Ambassador who can invite students. Even here we do not get everybody in Nairobi and therefore the students who are very far away, it is just too bad. We encourage our Ambassadors to have a nice little party and invite leading people of the country in which they represent us, and also invite our students there.

therefore, I have no quarrel with the Minister on looking at this. But, Sir, there are one or two points which I would like to query. This sum of money which we are being asked to approve, I do not know how it is being distributed. I would only be too glad if the Minister would tell me, or the House, how they distribute the amount to various provinces, because it was a shameful thing, that one day at Butere, when the people of Butere thought that they were going to have everything when in actual fact they could not get a cup of tea, because there was no money.

Mr. Mutiso: Where is that?

Mr. Shikuku: I hear the Member for Yatta asking where Butere is, and although I have never been a teacher I will try and explain to him where it is. Butere is in the western part of Kenya, 287 miles away from Nairobi, very close to the Yala Station and the railway line ends at Butere.

Mr. Deputy Chairman, Sir, after having told the Member for Yatta where Butere is, I would like to come back to the question I asked before. What amount is distributed to the various provinces? I would like it to be explained by the Minister how they give various provinces money so that we have an equal distribution of money so that the people can enjoy the Kenyatta Day celebrations without any difficulties and without some provinces having everything and the others having nothing. That, Sir, is one point.

The other point, Mr. Deputy Chairman, Sir, which I would like to make is this. On these occasions I have realized, and even in Nairobi itself, that on big occasions the Members of Parliament are not really put in the limelight. The civil servants always get the front benches, and the politicians, who fought for the independence of this country, are kept at the back. The hon. Minister will agree with me that during the struggle for independence, some of these civil servants were the ones that were pestering us, but I do not want to go back to that.

The Deputy Chairman (Mr. Slade): You are going away from the question.

Mr. Shikuku: Yes, Mr. Deputy Chairman, Sir, I was wondering whether the Minister would assure us that the Members of Parliament, according to the protocol list, should come third I think. First of all it is the President, then the Cabinet and then thirdly, the Members of Parliament. The civil servants should sit at the back. This, Sir, is the order of the day, and I think that when he is answering us he should officially announce to this House about our meeting the President in the Parliamentary Group meeting where that system was agreed upon and whether this is also going to be carried out on Kenyatta Day celebrations, where the President, if he is there, is the Head, followed by the Ministers and then the Members of Parliament, but not the civil servants, Members of Parliament and the Ministers. This is the complete reverse of what we passed during our Parliamentary Group meeting.

With these few remarks, as I have said, I have no quarrel with the Minister on this, I would like to support if he would only assure me, when he answers, that he will take note of what we have said.

Mr. Okelo-Odongo: Mr. Chairman, Sir, I think what the hon. Member said is noted. As far as distribution is concerned, I think it is fairly distributed to various areas, according to size and population. The sum ranges from £125 to £200, according to the place. Every province had that sum, with the exception of Nairobi, which had a little more because there were more things happening in Nairobi, like the dinner and dance, football and things like, the motorcade and rally. So, as far as that is concerned, I think that is the answer.

Now I think the Minister has already made it clear that in places where the provincial commissioner takes the salute, that is where that has been decided; and, as far as the Ministry is concerned, it does save some money because you do not send a person there. But in places where a Minister has been sent, either a Minister or an Assistant Minister, then he generally takes the salute. Now as far as the order, or the way of sitting, there is concerned, I think if the Member of Parliament is present, then he will make arrangements with the provincial commissioner, and I think he will be accorded due respect.

The Deputy Chairman (Mr. Slade): We must go on now, we have a lot of ground to cover.

(Head H agreed to)

Head J—Independence Day Celebrations

Mr. arap Too: Mr. Deputy Chairman, Sir, I would like to know from the Minister why, during the Independence Day celebrations, the Marakwet and Pokot dancers were not invited to participate. I have noted, Sir, that during the Independence Day celebrations at Jambhuri Park, most of the tribal dancers usually come from Central or Nyanza or Eastern Provinces; and I would like to hear from the Minister, in reply, that from now onwards he would consider selecting some of the best Marakwet dancers and Keiyo dancers to take part in these celebrations.

[Mr. arap Too]

Mr. Deputy Chairman, I think the Assistant Minister should travel one of these days to see what is happening up-country.

This is what I want to know, Mr. Deputy Chairman, from the Minister, if he wants me to support the Supplementary Estimate.

Mr. Glehuru: Mr. Deputy Chairman, I do not think there is any discrimination whatsoever in regard to this. I think we are now talking about expenditure; and I am sure it is in the interests of this House to try and minimize it as much as possible. Therefore, it is not possible to invite as many dancers from as many areas as we would like. But I can assure the hon. Member that there is no criterion, other than finance, whereby his own area is left out. I hope that in the coming years these people will be asked to come and dance nearer home, not necessarily to come all the way to Nairobi, just to enable us to make a saving.

Mr. Alexander: Mr. Deputy Chairman, Sir, this is £23,000 which relates to a date which is already two months past. Has this money already been spent, and, if so, where has it come from? May we, Sir, also have a broad breakdown of this £23,000 and particularly the cost, all the costs, of bringing the Ghana Black Star soccer team to Kenya to play here? Whilst on that, Mr. Deputy Chairman, may I ask why it was the Vice-President's Office that had to organize a soccer side from Ghana? To what extent, did the Vice-President's Office take part in this? Did it go so far as the Vice-President himself selecting the Kenya team?

Could the Government tell us why, if they had a lump sum of money to spend in this way on a soccer side for the Independence Day celebrations, did not the Vice-President, as it was entrusted to him, choose to consult sport generally so that it could decide the best way in which to spend this money? Furthermore, Mr. Deputy Chairman, could we know why, in any case, this assignment fell to the Vice-President's Office? Surely it should have gone, if anywhere, to the Ministry of Social Services. But, more notably, would the Government agree that the people that should have dealt with this, as they chose soccer as the instrument, should be the Football Association of Kenya? Does the Government realize that the Football Association of Kenya was placed in a position of serious embarrassment over this, having been brought into something, at a late stage, and for which they had no organization at all?

This, I think, all tended to minimize the impact of this particular event as part of our Independence Day celebrations, and I would say that perhaps, overall, it was a rather sorry story, the whole affair.

Mr. Glehuru: Mr. Deputy Chairman, Sir, I did play football that day; I only touched the ball twice, but fell over round about twelve times. My wife kept the count. I felt very sorry about the way we were defeated by this team on that first day—

Mr. Alexander: That was not my question.

Mr. Glehuru: I am coming to that.

The Deputy Chairman (Mr. Slade): There was a reference to a sorry event; and I think Mr. Glehuru is dealing with that sorry event.

Mr. Glehuru: Yes, I am dealing with a sorry event, a sorry aspect of it; and this is why I did not come on the second day when our team drew with the Ghana team. I thought it was not wise to have invited the team, myself, but this is now history.

I think the point my hon. friend is making is that, in future, if we are going to have a football match, we ought to include the organization that deals with football in the whole organization. Our team ought to be given time to practise and it is the Football Association that knows better how to organize it, not me, not any of the Ministers who do not play football. I happen to know how to play football.

An hon. Member: But fell down twelve times.

Mr. Glehuru: Yes, it was rather wet that day.

I think the best answer I could give to the question is that, in future, this will be taken into consideration. There is nothing very much we can do about what has already happened. I regret what happened; I hope it will not occur again.

The Deputy Chairman (Mr. Slade): There was another question, as to whether this money was spent before being voted and, if so, where it came from.

Mr. Alexander: And a breakdown of this.

Mr. Glehuru: What is the question again?

Mr. Alexander: I will repeat it, Mr. Deputy Chairman. It is in two parts. First, this relates to a date some two months old; has the money already been spent and, if so, where has it come from? Secondly, can we have a breakdown of the broad details of this, particularly the cost of bringing the Black Stars or All Stars, or whatever it is, to this country?

The Assistant Minister for Finance (Mr. Okelo-Odongo): Mr. Chairman, I think, to answer the first question, there might be some confusion with regard to this money for Kenyatta Day Celebrations. As hon. Members will see, on the Vote itself, you have £3,725 which is for this one, but then, below, you have appropriations-in-aid which is also £3,726. That means that the money which is used for Kenyatta Day Celebrations, in fact, should come from the local people, and whenever any money is advanced by the Government, it is just advanced to start things moving. But then, after the celebrations, the local people are expected to have collected enough money for the celebrations so that the money is paid back to the consolidated fund.

That is far as that goes.

Therefore, it is not a question of where these administrators get money from the Government and then collect extra money from the people; it is a question of their having to collect money from the people so that it pays for the celebrations and that is not paid by the Government.

Then, with regard to the loss of funds that the hon. Members mentioned in Mombasa, I suppose that is a local matter. If the chief did not keep the accounts and so forth, I think that is a matter that can be easily dealt with by the local authorities there.

As regards the second question, I think the Minister dealt with that squarely, saying that the Kenyatta Day Celebrations are generally a joint venture between Kaniu and the Administration: in other words, it is also the local people. For the time being, that is the arrangement, that the local people participate as much as possible, the Kaniu people are expected to be there, and the Administration head has to organize it because he is the Government head in the area.

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Deputy Chairman, first of all I did not wish to speak on this Vote until some hon. Members raised a point which I thought it was necessary to clarify.

Sir, two hon. Members have indicated that it is not proper for the civil servants to take the salute during Kenyatta Day and that they, as elected representatives of the people, should be appointed by the President to represent him on this occasion. But, Mr. Deputy Chairman, I fail to understand the understanding of the hon. Members on this particular issue, when it comes especially to the question of the salute, because it looks awkward for a person to salute with a bare head or standing to attention. I think the hon. Members are questioning what is wrong, but I think there is everything wrong with it, unless they do not understand the meaning of the salute.

Mr. Kase: On a point of information—

Mr. Mutiso: I do not need your information.

Mr. Deputy Chairman, I think I am better informed on this particular issue than the hon. Member because I have been in the army and I know a lot of these regulations.

Mr. Deputy Chairman, it is fitting for the provincial commissioners or district commissioners or the district officers to take this salute because on their heads they wear a hat which has the national colours of our country. Also, if he is a soldier or a policeman he wears a hat which has our coat of arms, and these are the symbols which are necessary for a person who takes the salute. Therefore, it is rather awkward, Sir, for a person who is just an ordinary civilian to take a salute, saluting with a bare head; it looks quite awful and I have never seen it in any other place. So I think the hon. Members should know this point.

I support them on other points, that when there are Kenyatta Day Celebrations, the Members also should be present, and I think this is something which is quite clear. When these celebrations are organized at district or provincial level, it is certain that the hon. Members of those places should be at the headquarters and participate in these occasions. Therefore, I see no point why the hon. Members should raise some objections to this Vote.

Mr. Khasakhala: Mr. Deputy Chairman, Sir, I just want some clarification from the Minister. Already on page 5 we are told that an advance of £2,500 has been made, but yet, on page 4 the sum required under "H" is £725. Under "Z" it is expected—

Several hon. Members: He is ahead of us.

Mr. Khasakhala: Yes, that deals with the Vice-President—

The Deputy Chairman (Mr. Slade): Which Head are you under?

Mr. Khasakhala: I am under the Head dealing with the Vice-President, Kenyatta Day Celebrations, and I am quoting figures which are in "H", Mr. Deputy Chairman, Sir. If you look there, then you will see that there is a footnote where there is a sum which the House is being asked to approve, which says that already an advance of £2,500 has been made. Look at the footnote on page 5.

The Deputy Chairman, (Mr. Slade): Order! You have slipped into another Vote with your footnote. There is a reference to an advance here, but it is a different amount.

Mr. Khasakhala: I am sorry, but I took the whole thing to mean this. Mr. Deputy Chairman, Sir, I want to know exactly what will happen if the expected surplus of £3,725 is collected under "Z", if we vote that money, then where will it go to once it has been collected?

Mr. Okelo-Odongo: Mr. Deputy Chairman, Sir, that will remain in the fund where it is. This money is advanced for the celebrations. As soon as the local people have contributed, then the money is paid back so that it will cost the Government nothing.

Mr. Khasakhala: Mr. Deputy Chairman, Sir, will this again be brought to us to show that the money has been recovered?

Mr. Okelo-Odongo: Well, Sir, I think that when the money comes back it will come back and I do not think that it will be necessary to bring it to the House. But if it should be short, then it is necessary to pay excess for the shortfall, and the House will be informed.

The Deputy Chairman (Mr. Slade): I think that is so. If the vote of a net sum is required by the Government for a Supplementary Estimate on the assumption of a certain Appropriation-in-Aid, and there is shortfall in the Appropriation-in-Aid, there has to be recourse to the House again with a further Supplementary Estimate to cover the deficit.

Mr. Okelo-Odongo: Yes, Sir, that is what I said.

Mr. Kase: Mr. Deputy Chairman, Sir, I think that one hon. Member has lost himself.

An hon. Member: Who?

Mr. Kase: The hon. Member for Yatta, I think. He said it looks awkward taking a salute bare-headed. Now, Sir, we know most Ministers here do not have hats on their heads, and we have seen them representing the Government in various places taking the salute and inspecting the guard of honour, but they do not wear hats. Now, Mr. Deputy Chairman, Sir, I was listening to the hon. Member for Yatta saying that the Ministers are exceptional according to the law, because he says that according to the law it is against regulations one is not allowed to take the salute bare-headed. I was listening and waiting to hear him say that the Ministers were exceptional. We would have agreed with him on this point but, Sir, he never made that point.

Now, Mr. Deputy Chairman, Sir, furthermore we have noticed that the President also goes without a hat. I do not know where it is, whether it is at Gatundu or State House, but, Sir, he is still taking the salute. We therefore, Sir, want to know if that is one exception to the regulations from the Member for Yatta.

Mr. Mutiso: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Chairman, Sir—

Mr. Kase: No, no, I do not want to know.

The Deputy Chairman (Mr. Slade): It is a bit hard on the hon. Member when you say that you want to know, and then you will not let him speak. Perhaps you do not want to know.

Mr. Kase: I do not want to know, he had too much time when he was speaking before.

Now, Mr. Deputy Chairman, Sir, this is a political Government and I believe and I am convinced that when the Head is a politician he should be represented anywhere else by a politician.

Now, Sir, if we say that the President is going to be represented by the provincial commissioner, then I have no grudge against the provincial commissioner, but, Sir, we would like to be told if this is going to be the situation here. If the President is not there, then we should be told and it can either be a Minister, the next in line. The Ministers work in conjunction with the provincial commissioners. But, Sir, let us be told here that it does not matter whether the Members are there or not, the Government will still go on because the Head of the Government is a politician. Therefore, Sir, this is just protocol for a Minister to represent the President if he is not able to attend, or if that fails, then a Member of Parliament should represent the President. I think it is very unfair, Sir, to say that the Members have no heart—

Mr. Gituru: On a point of order, Sir, I am seeking your guidance, would I be in order if I said that the point which the hon. Member was making has been noted?

The Deputy Chairman (Mr. Slade): Well, not on a point of order. I think he has made the point though.

Mr. Kase: Mr. Deputy Chairman, Sir, I am very happy that the Minister for Finance has noted this and we shall now wait and see the result of these notings.

With those few remarks, Mr. Deputy Chairman, Sir, I beg to support.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not have any quarrel with the Minister as I only have quarrels with the Minister when there is an excess,

(Question, that the question be now put, put and agreed to)

(Question of the amendment put and negatived)
(Vote 2 agreed to)

VOTE 3—OFFICE OF THE VICE-PRESIDENT

Head II—Kenyatta Day Celebrations

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Chairman, we have complained here some time back that the Kenyatta Day Celebrations have become the responsibility of the civil servants. Kenyatta Day, Mr. Chairman, is the outcome of political evolution in this country, that is why we remember it as Kenyatta Day. It has not too much to do with civil servants. May I know from the Minister whether future arrangements for Kenyatta Day will not be left in the hands of the civil servants only, but will also be the responsibility of the politicians, the Kanu leaders in various districts and provinces, and whatever arrangements are made will be made on the basis of our political set-up and not civil servants' set-up? In this respect, Mr. Chairman, let me have enlighten the Minister. We have dances prepared in certain provinces or places where Kenyatta Day celebrations were to take place, and the key man there is either the provincial commissioner or the district commissioner. The saluting base has the district commissioner on it. What I would suggest here, Mr. Chairman, is that either the President appoints any Member of Parliament or otherwise any Minister, to go and represent the Kenyatta spirit at those celebration centres.

Secondly, Mr. Chairman, Kenyatta Day means the day of the five colleagues of Kenyatta, that is hon. Kagga—

Hon. Members: No, no, no.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Chairman, let me explain my point. May I have order so that I may continue? It means that we remember that we had Kenyatta as the leader of this country being put in together with others. For this reason, Mr. Chairman, I would prefer that these four others were also mentioned by name, including one who is not a Member of this House, but who is a very respectable citizen of Kenya; that is hon. Paul Ngei, we have—

Hon. Members: Shame, shame.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Chairman, I still maintain that Paul Ngei is still honourable and, until he is removed from the Cabinet, he is still honourable. We have the hon. B. M. Kagga, the hon. Achieng-Oonek, Mr. Chairman, I wonder whether as the Assistant Minister says that B. M. Kagga, Member for Kandara, is dishonourable, may I understand it?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): I do not know if Mr. Mutiso did call Mr. Kagga dishonourable, if he did he is quite out of order and must apologize.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): I did not.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): That is all right, we will accept that.

Mr. Gichoya: If he did not do so, thank you. Mr. Chairman, my suggestion to the Minister is this. These gallant leaders of Kenya should be given the chance to be sent to various centres to represent the President, Mzee Kenyatta. To represent Mzee Kenyatta, because it is Mzee Kenyatta's Day, it is not the President's Day. This being the case I request that Mzee Kenyatta be represented by his Cabinet Ministers, some of them may not be commanding the public's respect. The mistakes that were made in the past should be corrected, and if the Minister assures me that these corrections are going to be made, I will have no quarrels with the Kenyatta Day Celebrations.

Mr. Gichuru: Mr. Chairman, Sir, I have just a few remarks to make in reply to the hon. Member's very unfair remarks. What we must remember is that the civil servants, who are serving us today are our own people. Maybe, many of them have done a little more for our independence than the hon. Member himself—

Mr. Gichoya: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, is it in order for the Minister to say that some of the civil servants have done more than I have done? Is he willing to explain the allegations? to substantiate his allegations?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Mr. Gichoya, you have been in this House long enough to know that any hon. Member is entitled to his views, his own opinions. It may be correct or it may not be correct, but he does not have to substantiate everything he says.

Mr. Gichuru: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. It is not strictly an opinion. What I am expressing is the honest truth which is that some of the hon. Members who shout so much here did nothing during the Emergency. Did nothing.

An hon. Member: What did you do?

Mr. Gichuru: You know. I was not like you. I was trying to save the Kikuyu people from being killed.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Mr. Gichuru, you must address the Chair, you know.

Mr. Gichuru: Mr. Chairman, I feel that the argument that has been brought into this particular Vote, is irrelevant. That the office of the

(Mr. Gichuru) Vice-President requires this money, the money has been well spent, the fact that the hon. Member who questioned this was not appointed to represent the President in one of the areas, is irrelevant. We ought—

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Mr. Gichuru, I do not think he said that he wanted to be appointed, I do not think he said that.

Mr. Gichuru: I see. Mr. Chairman, he said that Members of this House—

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Yes, but he did not say that he himself should be one.

Mr. Gichuru: Mr. Chairman, he is a Member of this House. It is true that the President cannot represent himself every time at these celebrations, but it would be better if he had other members of the Cabinet to represent him in places all over the country. This would be the crux call that is so very necessary to our civil servants when they stand and take the salute at some of these places. We give them the responsibility that I feel, squarely, is theirs. If we do not give these civil servants, the provincial commissioner, the district commissioner, this kind of responsibility, this feeling of the fact that they are the official in the area. If we did not do that we shall have failed in our general organization of the Government. It is true that we should have as many—when the provincial commissioner goes to a place like this it costs us nothing. If the hon. Member, Mr. Shikuku, was scheduled to go and represent the President at the Coast, it would cost us money. Whereas if the Provincial Commissioner, Coast, represents the President it does not cost us much. But there would have to be some entertainment; and I entirely agree, and I am sure that you would agree with the hon. Member that it would be right to have a little champagne or some soda or something like that. If the area is as primitive as your own, then they can have—sorry.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): I think we will have all remarks addressed to the Chair.

Mr. Gichuru: Mr. Chairman, Sir, therefore, I feel that the sum asked for here, for Independence Day Celebrations—suggestions have been made in the committee that organizes it that we should have wider scope of representation. With that much, Mr. Chairman, I agree. I have complained myself before and I feel this is a very good proposal.

Therefore, I beg to support.

Mr. Omar: Mr. Chairman, Sir, there are two or three points which I would like the Minister for Finance to tell us in this House about this Vote.

I do not know about other provinces, but what happened last year in the Coast Province was that before the Kenyatta Day Celebrations took place, some chiefs collected some cattle, goats and even money. These goats and cattle were slaughtered during Kenyatta Day, and people were called there to dance and those who went to dance did not get anything at all. The money which was collected by the chiefs and subchiefs was kept by them and no account of expenditure was kept. In fact, there was an instance in Mombasa District where a chief was involved in a theft case and it came about because he was given authority to collect the money and, instead of spending this money on buying foodstuffs which would have been used during Kenyatta Day Celebrations, it was not used.

So we would like the Ministers to tell us here what arrangement they have because there is a lot of money here being set aside for this purpose and, at the same time, civil servants are also allowed to collect more money, to spend during Kenyatta Day Celebrations. Therefore, I think the Minister for Finance should tell us exactly what arrangements they have on this money.

Another point is about the centres of the performance of Kenyatta Day Celebrations. You find that in each location the chiefs or district officers or district assistants take the salute and leave the politicians of that area who are more popular than the district commissioners or district officers. I was not happy, Mr. Chairman, last time to see that the provincial commissioner was just taking the salute. I would very much like to have seen one of the Members of Parliament from the Coast taking the salute instead of His Excellency the President, because a provincial commissioner is a civil servant and he has not any voice for the public. If something goes wrong with the public, it is only the politicians who can quieten and silence the public, not provincial commissioners. So I would like to get an assurance from the Minister for Finance that in future the salute will be taken by the politicians instead of by the provincial commissioners.

Hon. Members: No, no.

Mr. Omar: Do not say no, or you will allow provincial commissioners to have control over the public.

So, with these few words, Mr. Chairman, I support this Vote but would like to know the arrangements about these chiefs who were collecting money, cattle and foodstuffs from the shopkeepers and did not give it to the dancers or the people who went to the performances of our celebrations.

[Mr. Shikuku]

why the Government does not see fit to establish a lodge for the President at Kakamega which is a provincial headquarters of the Western Province, we are told that there is no money. But here there is money going to Mombasa. Why has it not been sent to Kakamega? We want to know, Sir, whether we are just coming here to say "Hear, hear", and so on, just to please the Minister for Finance. So, Sir, if this money is going to State House in Mombasa—I do not know whether this is because of the swimming pool, but they have places for swimming in Kakamega too.

I will go on speaking, Mr. Chairman, even if the Minister goes out. He will read in HANSARD what I have said.

Mr. Chairman, I do not think—

Mr. arap Moi: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, I did not want to interrupt the speaker, Sir, but it is in order for the public in the galleries to laugh?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): No. It is certainly not in order. My attention was drawn to this fact a few minutes ago. I do stress that it is strictly improper for persons in the gallery, or in the Speaker's Gallery or in the Public Gallery to demonstrate in any way, by laughter, clapping or in any other way. If any hon. Member does find that this happens, then, of course, I will ask the Serjeant-at-Arms to clear those particular persons from the gallery, and—if necessary—to clear the whole gallery.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Chairman, I am just trying to make a point. The Minister has completely failed—if I may submit, Sir—to explain to this House why it is necessary to have this extra £3,500. Therefore, I am completely in agreement with the hon. Mover for the reduction of £1, because we are not going to be asked to vote for things in this House without knowing the reasons. In addition to that, I would also like to know if the reason given is that this is for State House in Mombasa, why he has not found it necessary to have any provincial headquarters in Kenya improved, so that we would see that the President was for all, not only that he should travel between here and Mombasa, between here and Kisumu, when our own areas are dying to see him. We want the President to come and chemusha things at our places. But, why do we not have money here for him to have a lodge in Kakamega? I do not believe in next time, Mr. Chairman, I want to know why they have not considered Kakamega.

In addition to that, Mr. Chairman, I am seeking your ruling on this. I was wondering whether it was in order, while speaking on this reduction, to refer to some of the clauses for additional amounts—

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): There is only one Head as far as State House is concerned. So, if you mean the appendix, namely "d, f, g," then you can, because they are all covered under the same Head. You are entitled to speak as far as this particular Motion is concerned, on any of the items in State House, under Vote II, State House, because as far as Vote II, State House, is concerned there is only one heading. These are all parts of the appendix, so you can speak to the question of replacement, maintenance and running expenses of vehicles, or f and g, because they are all subheadings of the one heading that you are now discussing.

Mr. Shikuku: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. I think I will leave it at that for the time being. I might speak again.

Mr. G. G. Karuki: Mr. Chairman, when we are trying to question the Minister as to why he wants additional money for State House we expect to get a good reply or explanation, but the Ministers who should tell us of the need for this money should not use arrogant language and try to abuse Members indirectly. This can never help.

Therefore, Mr. Chairman, I expect to see that when a Minister is requested to tell us what is needed, he should, of course, tell us exactly what is needed, then we are going to accept it or reject it.

Mr. Chairman, here we see that there is additional money of £4,196, and the definition we get here is that we have a lodge in Mombasa. If it is a State House, Sir, I would like to protest strongly, because it is a waste of money. In every province in this country we have State Lodges but not State Houses like in Mombasa. Mr. Chairman, if I may add, here in Nairobi, these days it has been very difficult for Members to get in touch with the President. Ministers must be aware of this, but when we are trying to seek explanation, they should not try to manoeuvre. They should go and say our problems, therefore, Mr. Chairman, for your information we have tried to write letters, which does not require any money, but we cannot get replies because of people sitting there. Therefore, Mr. Chairman, I beg to oppose the reduction of £1.

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Chairman, Sir, I for one would not like to enter into the pros and cons of the items indicated in the Supplementary Estimates.

[Mr. arap Moi]

One the £3,500, to enlighten the hon. Member for official entertainment. The hon. Member is aware, Mr. Chairman, that when His Excellency the President visits the Coast, he must entertain the local people there. The hon. Member should wait to hear if he wants to hear. At the Coast, he entertained more than 2,000 people, to get as many as possible, so that he could feel he was keeping in touch with the people of the Coast area. Recently, when he visited Kisumu, he also had a big entertainment with the people living in the area. The hon. Member is complaining of Kakamega. But, in Kakamega, the former house of the former president of the Western Province is being made a State Lodge, and will be approved by this Supplementary Estimate which the hon. Member wants to see reduced. If the hon. Member could tell the House now that we should not pass this money in order to improve the State Lodge at Kakamega, then the Kakamega people and the Western Province people should know—

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, is the hon. Member in order to misrepresent what I said? I was replying to the Minister's statement that this amount was for Mombasa.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, I never said that.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): The Minister never said that this amount was intended for Mombasa. He said that one has to take into account the fact that there are two State Houses, one in Nairobi and one in Mombasa, and hence the increase in expenditure. It does not mean that the expenditure is only for those two places and only for the opening of the house at Mombasa, but the details are here which you can read; they are quite clear in explaining the increase in expenditure.

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Chairman, now Kisumu was recently improved, and if the hon. Member could visit Kisumu he would see that it is a good State Lodge. His Excellency, the President, intends to improve in each province, so that he has State Lodges, so that hon. Members could mix with His Excellency when he goes to their area. Yesterday, people were trying to dislodge the Government and His Excellency, saying they have no confidence in His Excellency the President, but when his Vote comes here—

Mr. Gichoya: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, is it in order for the Minister to refer to the Motion which was debated here last night and confuse it with the allocation of money to various heads in this Supplementary Estimate?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): No, in a way, Mr. Moi, you are out of order there, you may not refer to last night's debate here.

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, taking into account what the Minister has just said, is he not implying that since we passed a vote of confidence in the President, if we question this then we are more or less questioning what we passed last night? Is it in order to imply that by questioning this we are going back to what we passed yesterday?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): No, I do not think he is implying that, but he is coming close to it. On the other hand I think hon. Members must remember that they are, after all, dealing with the department which is run by the President personally, namely the State House. You must, at least, in that regard, temper your remarks, at least the language in which you use them. I do not think he is doing that. If he is doing that he is out of order.

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Chairman, I do not want to create any trouble with the hon. Members, but what I am trying to say is that the reason, Mr. Chairman, for refusing this item is because some hon. Members have not been given the chance to see the President. This is what I have detected, or the impression I have obtained from the remarks of the hon. Members. As the Minister for Labour has said, most of us see very little of the President ourselves and we also have to wait to see him. All of us should appreciate how busy he is and we should be patient and then we will have our chance of seeing the President.

Mr. Chairman, I do not want to hammer any more, and there is what I feel should be done. It should be passed without any argument at all.

Mr. Godia: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, in view of the fact that the Minister, Mr. arap Moi, has made the position very clear regarding that money which the argument is about, may I move that the Mover of the Motion be requested to withdraw?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): I think we have had enough discussion so I will allow the question, that the question be now put.

Mr. Seroney: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, can I not be given a chance to reply to at least two points made by the two Ministers?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Actually this is the Committee stage so there is no right of reply. It is up to the House to decide whether the question should be put or not, or the Committee to decide.

Mr. Gichuru: Mr. Chairman, I would like to state right from the outset that the period that the hon. Member mentioned, when State House, then Government House, was very free and when he was the spokesman of Kadu and he had the full support of the then Governor, Renison, he could go there whenever he liked, these were the constitutional talks—

Mr. Seroney: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, can the hon. Minister substantiate that, I said as a Back-bencher of this House, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): No, Mr. Seroney. I do not know exactly what you are asking him to substantiate.

Mr. Seroney: He said that because I was Kadu then I had access to the Governor.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): That is a matter of opinion, I am afraid, it is not a question of substantiation.

Mr. Gichuru: Were those the days when we had constitutional talks and we used to go there rarely ourselves, as Kanu, but Kadu used to live there. No wonder he claims that it used to be easy to go there, they used to live there. It must be remembered that then Government House was merely an outpost in the colonial days. If you go to Britain, and the hon. Member has been there, you will find that Buckingham Palace has gates and soldiers standing at them. This was—shut-up—what is he talking about—

Mr. Oduya: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, the Minister said shut-up to the Member here and you do not want to rule him out. Can the Minister therefore withdraw the words. We cannot allow this, it is too rude.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Yes, Mr. Gichuru, I am afraid you must apologize.

Mr. Gichuru: I apologize and withdraw.

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, I thought that when anyone spoke on a point of order, the Minister or whoever was speaking should sit down, but the Minister stays on his feet?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): No, you are quite right. I think he has now apologized for that.

Mr. Gichuru: I sat down. I am not a school boy.

It must be remembered that Government House at that time was merely an outpost in the good old colonial days, and therefore it could be cheap. But it is wrong to suggest that there was no gate. A gate was there and the hon. Member knew that it was there. You knew whenever you passed through there, and there were akari standing there. They were there, maybe you never went there, you were not a prominent member of Kadu, you were just a child.

Today the President does not live there. He works there. Therefore, if the hon. Member who questioned this wants to see him, he can go to Gatundu. It is open, everybody goes there. There is no question about it, it is open. The hon. Members who never visit their own constituencies but who come and make a lot of noise inside the House—

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, the Minister has just alleged that there are these hon. Members who never visit their constituencies. Could the hon. Minister substantiate and tell the House who are the hon. Members who never visit their constituencies?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Yes, Mr. Gichuru, I think he is right. You cannot make such a general allegation; if you refer to any particular person, because, as you know, in politics it is quite a serious allegation to state that a Member does not go to his own constituency.

Mr. Gichuru: I will withdraw.

But the point still remains—I said it, he should have been listening, and I am not going to repeat myself.

I would like to end by saying that today we must not forget that we have another important State House in Mombasa and this is why this extra money is necessary to maintain it. During the days of regionalism this House was put to a very poor use and we have had to make a lot of repairs to it, and it is no wonder that a little more money has had to be spent. When the President visits the Coast he sits there and entertains the local people, and it is only right and fair that he should do so. This is why we need the extra money.

The Minister for Labour (Dr. Kiano): Mr. Chairman, Sir, I would like to make sure that in debating this particular Motion brought by the hon. Member, people are very aware of what they are debating. The reduction by £1 is a Parliamentary expression of dissatisfaction with the particular item.

The hon. Minister for Finance has made it very clear that the President does not live at State House, he uses it as a working place. Another fact that people must remember is that a Colonial Governor was acting in accordance with instructions given to him; the President of our independent nation has to work and work not simply as an instrument of outside powers.

[The Minister for Labour]

Therefore, if we were to open the gate for anybody who wanted to see him at any time without making an appointment, perhaps the hon. Members do not know that even we Ministers sometimes have to wait for a week before we can see him. We do not complain because we know that at any time we cannot get him, this is because he is working. Therefore, I think it would be wrong to assume that because you have to have an appointment with our President he is being difficult. He is not being difficult. The Colonial Governor had very few callers wanting to call on him because most of us were not interested in presenting our problems to him; our interest was to get rid of him as soon as possible. But, with our President—as President of us all—we would all like to see him at some time and, therefore, there must be some arrangement where we have to make appointments in order for him to be able to see us properly. Therefore it must not be assumed that because an appointment is necessary—and sometimes we have to wait for a week—our President is not democratic. He is democratic enough to try and see all of us and, therefore the programme becomes crowded and some of us have to wait for about a week. So, Mr. Chairman, we must not lose sight of the fact that a Colonial Governor had very few people wishing to see him and, therefore, perhaps those who called on him did not have to wait for a week because there were so few of them, whereas an executive, democratically elected President has so many people wishing to see him that all of us must be patient because eventually our requests for appointments are fulfilled.

Mr. Shikuku: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

I wonder whether you realize, Sir, that the two Ministers have not even given what I had asked for, the explanation of the additional £1,500, apart from telling us that they intend to improve on the State House in Mombasa.

But, Mr. Speaker, when it comes to the question of State House I think the Minister who says that the former Kadu people used to live in State House is completely wrong. I do recall, Mr. Speaker, having even visited Government House during the P.C.P. time when I was only the Secretary-General of the P.C.P. in 1958. That was during the height of colonialism in this country, and I used to make protests to Government House. I went to Government in 1959 when I went to place the Memorandum regarding the release of Jomo Kenyatta. I went to Government House in 1960, and I have been there a thousand times.

But today, Mr. Chairman, even when you telephone Government House, you get in touch with someone there who says that you cannot even speak to the President. At that time you could speak to the Governor. Mr. Chairman, there are a lot of restrictions which are completely unwarranted. You cannot even speak as a representative of the people to the President.

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, is the hon. speaker in order to compare His Excellency the President with a Colonial Governor?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Order! Order! Please sit down, Mr. Shikuku. I do not think he is comparing His Excellency the President with a Colonial Governor, I think he is comparing the ability to get into the House, and whether it is a nice thing to do, or not a nice thing to do, I am afraid it is not a point of order.

Mr. Shikuku: Some hon. Members think that by speaking so nicely of the President, they are getting somewhere. But I am not comparing the President to the Governor. By insinuating that I am trying to compare him with the Governor, the hon. Member is trying to get the credit for being a good boy, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, I take very strong objection to the insulting language used by the hon. Member that I am trying to be a good boy to the President.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): I think your objection is in order.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Chairman, I feel that I was not comparing the President with the Colonial Governor, but the access to Government House, which is now State House, was easier then than it is today.

During the colonial time we did not have any fences round the Central Government buildings. Today there are fences there. Is that not a difference?

Mr. Chairman, I was trying to get—I fought for this freedom, Sir. What we are trying to do, Sir, is to point out to the Minister before we approve this £3,500 is that we have to show our dissatisfaction with the increment. When you telephone State House you are not even allowed to speak to the President, so we are asking for reasons why we should spend more money to have more restrictions.

Mr. Chairman, the other thing is that the Minister has tried to tell this House that the additional sum of money is to try and improve the Mombasa State House. I have no quarrel with that. When we asked a question in this House as to

As a mark of my protest against this behaviour of the civil servants, in particular, I pick on this State House, which is now so unapproachable, much more so than when it was occupied by Colonial Governors; and I beg to move a reduction of £1 on this Vote.

Mr. Gichuru: Mr. Chairman, it would be very interesting if the hon. Member could tell us how many times he visited State House during the colonial times.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Mr. Seroney, it has to be in writing, you have to give notice.

Mr. Seroney: I thought that in the Committee this ruling did not apply.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): You can give it now, but it has to be in writing, and it has to be sent up immediately. But I have to have it in writing before I can propose it.

Mr. Seroney: But this is Committee stage, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Even in the Committee stage, Mr. Seroney, notice has to be given in writing. You do not have to give it, as it were, before the House sits, which you would have to do if it were a Bill, you can give it now, but it has to be done. You can speak as often as you want, so you can give it now and speak to it a minute later.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Chairman, Sir, although I agree with your ruling on this, I think I have something to say about this amount which we are being requested to approve here, as far as State House is concerned.

The Chairman, I do not wish to be stubborn on this but I think the Minister for Finance would have to explain at length why he finds it necessary to have the extra amount of pounds which has been added here, £3,500. I would like—for example, the official entertainment—to know why this has to be increased, because I am of the opinion that we must try to effect savings rather than extend our expenditure, in view of the very many problems that we have here, such as unemployment and all sorts of things. I suppose this entertainment, Mr. Chairman, is for drinks and cakes and so forth. I was just wondering if the Minister could give me a breakdown as to how he comes to this, because we will find these days, as the hon. Member said and I wish to support him, that even getting to State House poses quite a problem.

I remember once I tried even to ring in order to get in touch with the President—

Mr. Gichuru: Why should you go there?

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Chairman, I am being asked by the Minister for Finance why should I go to State House. Mr. Shikuku belongs to this State and the Member for Butere and on top of that I am the president for the poor people and I am entitled to go to that house any time. If the Finance Minister, Mr. Chairman, thinks that he can get away with this and he asks me to approve this sum of money and he expects me to do it without saying anything, then he is very much mistaken. You want my support for this, Mr. Chairman, he wants my support, and if he wants my support, my support is with strings, and the strings are, Mr. Chairman, that I am not satisfied with the running of State House and why should I approve an extra amount when I am not happy with the services at State House? How many times have we attended cocktail parties there? Mr. Chairman, personally I have not attended any cocktails there, nor have I been invited—I might not be all that important to be invited—but I represent the people and I think that this extra money is not necessary. If it is a question of drinks, we have a very cheap drink here which can be used for African drinks. It is called Busaa and it is very cheap.

If any American comes here or a Russian or someone from Peking, he should know that he is coming to Kenya and we should entertain him with our African dishes and African drinks, why should we spend more money, buying whisky, vodka and all the rest of it. If Russians come here they should not expect to have vodka, they should expect Busaa. So, Mr. Chairman, I would like—

Mr. Gichuru: He is addressing the gallery.

Mr. Shikuku: I would like it to be explained why this extra money is required by the Minister for Finance.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Chairman, Sir, I think it is most unfortunate that when a Member is speaking on so serious a question he tries to make it into a joke and ridicule the whole position of the President—

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, is the Assistant Minister in order—

Mr. Mboya: I am not an Assistant Minister, you should know that by now.

Mr. Shikuku: I am sorry, is the hon. Minister in order to insinuate that I am joking when I am being serious on the issue.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): If it is his opinion that you were not treating it as serious, I am afraid that is not a point of order.

Mr. Mboya: Mr. Chairman, I am entitled to say that the hon. Member is trying to ridicule this particular discussion and he knows as well as all of us here that this is a particularly serious and important question. There is no use talking to the public gallery about Busaa's who does not know about Busaa's in his house. He does not even know how to make it.

Mr. Chairman, on the more serious part of this whole question, on page 2, an explanation is made. In Vote 3 the question of an increase in expenditure is not something unique or new, it is true and the public of this country know that it is true, that in the last two years since independence there have been more functions at State House, more Africans attending those functions, more traditional dancing at State House, more accessibility at State House, than at any time during the colonial days, and I challenge any Member in this House, who would suggest, that during the colonial days as many Africans went to State House as do go there today. I challenge any Member in this House, including the hon. Member who has just sat down, to tell us on what occasion at Government House, in those days, Africans were treated as respectfully as they are today, and on what occasion the Governor invited and gave honour and respect to the humblest man in this country, including our traditional dancers, I would like to know that. Mr. Chairman, it is so easy, when talking about these things, for one merely to get up and say that this money could have been used for something else. Of course, all money could have been used for something else, including the salary which the hon. Member is being paid, and that of the Ministers, or including the money which was used for building this House. It could have been used for agricultural development. You can say that of everything in this country, but to try and ridicule the President's Office and State House is in fact descending rather low.

Mr. Chairman, I do not know on what day the hon. Member had a chance to sit with God and question him. I understand the hon. Member was in a seminary and could not contain God, or God could not contain him and so chased him out.

An hon. Member: He was chuckled out.

Mr. Mboya: Mr. Chairman, I do not speak to God, so I know nothing about that and certainly we are not voting any money for God's expenditure. I honestly fail to see the argument of the hon. Member, because until he can tell us that he wishes either to reduce the amount because it is excessive and tell us why, or tell us his reasons for thinking that the previous allocation was enough, if we are given sound arguments we can then consider them, but if they are only put on the basis of generalizations under little anecdotes and jokes, then we cannot consider it seriously.

Mr. Seroney: Mr. Chairman, Sir, the Minister for Finance challenged me on the accessibility of State House. Mr. Chairman, I have been an elected representative in this country since 1961 and during 1961, 1962 and 1963 it was very easy for any Member of this House, or for a combination of Members of this House, to have access to Government House as it used to be called. I have been there several times, with Back-benchers of this House, either in their representative capacity or with two or three Members, that is of course without counting those innumerable conferences which used to take place there. At that time, Mr. Chairman, there was no gate there, there were no policemen there, there were only two ceremonial askaris there and at no time, Mr. Chairman, was I or any group with whom I was stopped outside there by a barred door, but after Uhuru, Mr. Chairman, we have reached a situation where certain people, within State House itself, will make it as difficult as possible to get an appointment even with the President's Private Secretary, and the reason why I am moving the reduction of this £1 is as a matter of protest. I mean if they come to this House and expect us to approve expenditure, at least they should recognize that Members—

Mr. Gichuru: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, what has this to do with the Entertainment Vote which we are now discussing?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): I think it has something to do with it. State House—it does not mean of course that Members want to go there. That is the only way they can discuss it.

Mr. Seroney: The Minister for Economic Planning sought to put the onus on the Member for Butere as to his criticism of this additional amount in the Entertainment Vote, but surely it was up to the Minister of Finance to say why it has been found necessary to increase this amount and what miscalculations were made in the first place when the original estimates were given, surely it is up to the Minister himself to say why it has been found necessary that the original amount was found to be insufficient and that instead an additional sum of £4,196 is now being sought. Now, Mr. Chairman, in conclusion I beg to move formally that in respect of this Vote the Vote be reduced by £1 from £4,196 to £4,195.

QUESTION BY PRIVATE NOTICE

TRADE EMBARGO WITH RHODESIA

The Speaker, (Mr. Slade): There is a question by private notice. Mr. Omweri.

Mr. Omweri: I do not have it, Sir

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It is on the Order Paper. I do not know whether the Minister is here to answer it. Well, ask the question anyhow; read it off the Order Paper, Mr. Omweri.

Mr. Omweri: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I wish to ask a question by private notice of the Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development.

What is the effect of Kenya's trade embargo with—

Mr. Speaker, this is not my question.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): There must be some misunderstanding. If that is not Mr. Omweri's question, we shall have to restore it to the Order Paper tomorrow under the right name.

I would remind hon. Members that on the adjournment today Mr. Ngala-Abok is to raise the matter noted on the Order Paper.

Also, with reference to the next order. Committee of Supply. I would remind hon. Members of the Resolution passed yesterday, that this could continue for two days if necessary. That Resolution, of course, still holds good.

Mr. Omweri: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, could I find out when this question came under my name, because I am not aware of it?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): If it is not yours, I should not worry, Mr. Omweri; we will get it under the right name. I apologize for having troubled you.

COMMITTEE OF SUPPLY

(Order for Committee read)

[The Speaker (Mr. Slade) left the Chair]

IN THE COMMITTEE

[The Chairman (Dr. De Souza) took the Chair]

MOTIONS

STATEMENT OF EXCESS, 1962/63

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Mr. Chairman, Sir, I beg to move:—

That a sum not exceeding £8,244-6-04 cts. be issued from the Consolidated Fund to meet expenditure during the year ending 30th June, 1963, in respect of Statement of Excess 1962/63.

Mr. Chairman, this statement was made and the reason for it was that it was hoped that a little more money would be forthcoming from African court fees. Unfortunately, that money was not realized and this is why I am asking for this money, to make good the shortfall that has accrued as a result.

I beg to move.

(Question put and agreed to)

(Resolution to be reported without amendment)

MOTION

SUPPLEMENTARY ESTIMATE NO. 1 OF 1965/66—RECURRENT

THAT a sum not exceeding £1,339,114 be granted from the Consolidated Fund to meet expenditure during the year ending 30th June 1966, in respect of Supplementary Estimate No. 1 of 1965/66 (Recurrent), having regard to the proposed savings of £252,702 therein appearing.

Mr. Chairman, the Members have the Supplementary Estimate in front of them and they are, I believe, self-explanatory. I therefore beg to move.

(Head A1 agreed to)

Head B9—Official Entertainment

Mr. Seroney: Mr. Chairman, I see from the explanatory note that these are supposed to be additional provisions required to cover entertainment expenses during the President's tour in the provinces. Now, as we have noticed during the past financial year, these visits to the provinces have been very peculiar. They have been confined primarily to the Nyanza and Coast Provinces; and Nakuru, which happens to be the headquarters of the Rift Valley Province, is only treated as a ceremonial place which is incidental to either a visit to the Western Province or the Nyanza Province.

Since Mzee Jomo Kenyatta became Prime Minister of this country, he has visited, I believe, Nandi, in January 1964 and Elgeyo. And then afterwards he has visited Eldama Ravine once and he has visited Kipsigis once. I am wondering, Mr. Chairman, what assurance we can be given that all this expenditure which we are now being asked to vote will reflect any changes in the movements of the President during the present financial [Mr. Seroney] year, and whether the President, particularly in the Rift Valley, will visit those places he has not visited as President? This means practically the whole of the Rift Valley, apart from Narok, which he has only visited once. As the President of this country, he has not visited the rest of the Rift Valley, from Turkana right down to Kajiado.

Mr. Gichuru: Mr. Chairman, the President has visited Kajiado and Narok; that is part of the Rift Valley. I must congratulate the hon. Member on being extremely sober this afternoon. In the past, when all these arrangements were being made, many hon. Members were asleep; they did not and do not come forward and invite the President. It is up to the hon. Members. When they feel that their area is ready for a visit by His Excellency, the President, then they should apply. He is always willing to visit all these areas. I notice some people here screwing up their faces, but the point is that you have to make this application if you are ready for it; if you are not, how does the President know that you want him in your own area?

Mr. Seroney: Mr. Chairman, it is unfortunate that the Minister has made such an explanation. It is suggesting that the President has never been invited to Nandi and that no one was in charge of those visits, particularly to those areas or districts within the Rift Valley?

Mr. Gichuru: All I am suggesting is that if the hon. Member takes the troubles to invite His Excellency, I am quite sure he will visit Nandi and any other area.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Chairman, it is surprising that the hon. Minister should actually say openly that it is because people have not invited His Excellency, the President that His Excellency has failed to visit certain districts or places. Would the Minister agree with me that the condition is that it is at the pleasure of the President that he visits an area, and it does not depend on requests made by the people? I remember, Sir, that we have even made representations in person and as groups, going to see His Excellency, the President, requesting him to come and visit our own areas. Luckily enough, of course, recently, he has found it convenient to pay a visit to Kirinyaga District. Could it be made a kind of procedure that His Excellency, the President should not merely concentrate his visits to places like Embu District, Meru District, Nyeri District—

An hon. Member: Kirinyaga District.

Mr. Gichoya: I am afraid the Assistant Minister does not understand the geography of modern Kenya.

Mr. Chairman, there should not be a kind of a pressure on His Excellency, the President, to visit a certain place. It should be a kind of a routine to visit an area, and even spend a night in that area, since I believe, Sir, that in a place like Kirinyaga we have first-class accommodation for His Excellency, the President, if it pleased him to stay in the area.

Mr. Gichuru: Mr. Chairman, Sir, I am extremely surprised that the hon. Member should bring this particular question up, because it was only about the middle of last year that the President toured his own area, his constituency. I cannot possibly understand what he is complaining about. I understand also that the President is going over there next week. Maybe the hon. Member never goes there; maybe he will not be there. Therefore the point he is raising does not arise.

Mr. Gichoya: I was merely taking it as a general case for other places, Sir. I said that the President goes to a place where he is pleased to go; he does not go to a place where he has been invited to go. I might mention here that His Excellency, the President, together with the whole of his Cabinet, went to Mwea/Tebere. I came to know that they were going to this place, which is in Gichugu constituency, my constituency, Mr. Chairman. This was not at my request; it was the pleasure of the President to do so.

Now here I am trying to request one thing, Mr. Chairman, so that this official entertainment money can be spent all over the country. It should not only be the pleasure of the President to go to a particular place; it should be a routine, a procedure, that for this year, he must go to this district and that district, etc. Whether Members have made applications for His Excellency to visit them or not, it ought to be in that form so that we can feel that His Excellency does visit nearly every part of the country. That was the problem.

Mr. Gichuru: Mr. Chairman, the point is noted.

Vote 2—The State House

Mr. Seroney: Mr. Chairman, Sir, there used to be a time when it counted for something to be a Member of the legislature, but apparently, since Uhuru, these Ministers, and the President himself, have become so unapproachable that sometimes one wonders what the civil servants who put fences round the President think they are up to; and yet they are reduced to coming here and asking us to vote them more money.

[The Minister for Home Affairs]

Another very important point that cannot be disregarded, is that to give a prison an innocuous name which could be associated with our educational institutions for law-abiding citizens could well result in the stigma associated with criminals being mistakenly directed to innocent persons and the risk of this occurring cannot be entertained.

For these reasons any change in the name of "prisons" is unacceptable and the best advice for persons who want to avoid the stigma associated with prison or imprisonment is to be law-abiding citizens.

With regard to the second part of the question, the principle upon which the Kenya prisons system is founded is contained in rule 3 (c) of the Prison Rules which reads: "at all times the treatment of convicted prisoners shall be such as to encourage their self-respect and sense of personal responsibility, so as to rebuild their morale, to inculcate in them the habit of good citizenship and hard work, to encourage them to lead a good and useful life on discharge and to fit them to do so."

To implement this rule, every prisoner sent to prison is given the treatment and training to fit them to lead a good and useful life on discharge.

Prisoners sent to prison are taught the habit of hard work and those sent for sufficient length of time are taught a trade or occupation, and so everything possible is done to enable prisoners to earn an honest living on discharge. The amendment to the law to provide for this is, therefore, unnecessary.

Mr. Godia: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising out of the Minister's reply, where he informs the House that at certain stages the prisoners are taught how to lead better lives after prison, does that not warrant the change of the name from "prison" to "probation school"?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, could the hon. Member speak up as I spoke, so that I can hear him?

Mr. Kibuga: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, and the very fact that when the prisoner leaves the prison, he is given all the chances in which to reform, could the Minister make arrangements whereby the prisoner, when he goes there is a prisoner, then he goes by stages so that by the last stage he is not known by the word "prisoner" but by a different name?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, if the hon. Members are anticipating going to prison so that improvements are made for them, then the Government is not prepared to change the law!

Question No. 289

HELP FOR PEOPLE WHOSE PROPERTY HAS BEEN DESTROYED BY Shifita

Mr. Ithirai: asked the Minister for Home Affairs if he could tell the House what the Government was doing to help those people whose property had been looted by Shifita in Meru District.

The Minister of State, President's Office (Mr. Nyamweya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. The Government has a duty to look after the welfare of all its citizens, including those whose property has been looted by the Shifita in the Meru District. If, therefore, any person in Meru is suffering undue hardships as a result of Shifita activities in that district, he can always report the fact to the local administrative officer, who will investigate the state of the alleged sufferings and recommend to the Government the remedy for the sufferings.

The hon. Member for Nyambene North would, himself, be assisting the Government a great deal if he told the people he knows to be suffering in his area to explain their troubles to their nearest Government official, who may be a district officer, district assistant or a district commissioner.

Mr. Ithirai: Mr. Speaker, Sir, now that not only Meru is affected by the Shifita activities, but also Lamu and the North-Eastern Province, what is the Government doing to help these people?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): That is a repetition of the previous question, is it not?

Mr. Mate: Mr. Speaker, Sir, while appreciating the very good words from the Minister, is the Minister prepared to admit that he Kikuyu, Embu and Meru have suffered before this at the hands of the colonialists, and when he talks of the Meru people himself, is he prepared, in black and white, to give compensation, so that the Meru people are not forgotten in this Uhuru Government, so that we feel good?

Mr. Nyamweya: I am quite sure, Mr. Speaker, judging from the manner in which the hon. Member is speaking, that he must be feeling good! I may add, though, that it is not the Government's policy to pay compensation for property which has been lost, whether it be the property of the Kikuyu, Meru or Embu or, for that matter, any other tribe, through Shifita activities, because the Government has not the funds to meet all the claims that would be submitted. However, the Government is prepared to relieve any undue hardships which its citizens may be experiencing in certain areas, particularly those hardships which have been caused by Shifita activities.

Mr. Ithirai: Mr. Speaker, will the Minister then assure this House right now that the Government compensates these people?

Mr. Nyamweya: I have already dealt with that point, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): That assurance has been given, you know.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, would the Government consider taking away the property of the people who are found to be Shifita, and of selling it so as to compensate these people who have been looted by the Shifita?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, there are provisions under the emergency laws and regulations, and the Government is acting under those.

Mr. Sono: Mr. Speaker, Sir, as there is a big auction going on in the Republic of Somalia, of the property which has been taken in Kenya, would this Government write to the Republic of Somalia, as far as we are on good terms with them, to ask them to bring that property back to Kenya, so that it can be returned to the right people?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the hon. Member for Lamu should be aware that we have no diplomatic relations with Somalia and, as a matter of fact, the two countries are not friendly nor on speaking terms.

Mr. Sono: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Minister aware that there are some people who have suffered from these Shifita activities and they have already submitted reports of their losses to the district commissioner and chief and yet the reply they get is that whenever they get any property from the Shifita, then they will return it? What property has this Government recovered from the Shifita?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am prepared at a later stage to go down to Lamu with the hon. Member for Lamu to look into this.

Question No. 286

BETTER HOUSING FOR EASTERN PROVINCE

Mr. Ndile: asked the Minister for Housing and Social Services if he would tell the House what plans he had to help the people in Eastern Province to build better houses.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onoko): Mr. Speaker, Sir, on behalf of my colleague, the Minister for Housing and Social Services, I beg to reply. Building projects at the present time under construction and in the planning stage in Eastern Province comprise:—

(1) Meru Urban Council Loan of £27,000 for thirty-seven rental and tenant-purchase housing.

(2) Embu County Council Loan of £12,500 for fifteen tenant-purchase housing.

(3) Kitui County Council Loan of £1,200 for a site and service scheme.

(4) A demonstration team is starting operation this month in Kajiado District and it is expected to extend its activities to Kitui and to other parts of Eastern Province in the near future. The purpose of the team is to erect suitable but cheap housing for the people to see, and if their response is good, funds may be made available to those interested in erecting their own houses to enable them to obtain materials on a loan repayment basis from the Ministry either for tenant-purchase housing or aided self-help housing.

Mr. Ndile: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Minister tell the House why he has not mentioned the efforts which are being made to promote this housing scheme in Machakos District.

Mr. Achieng-Onoko: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to inform the House that, further, in Machakos, more than 1,000 houses have been either built or improved by self-help groups, and in Meru, eleven stone houses have been built by self-help. Two block-making machines have been supplied, one to Machakos and one to Kitui and the groups are making thousands of blocks as well as hand-made bricks. While the majority of these are for public projects, some are available for house building.

The advantages of living in better houses are taught in most of the courses held in the four community development training centres in the province. Also, technical advice is available to self-help housing groups from the Ministry of Works county engineers and health officers.

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that the Minister has mentioned the effort being made by councils, what is the Government doing to give more money to the provincial centre, that is Embu, so that the occupants are better housed?

Mr. Achieng-Onoko: Mr. Speaker, which officers is he referring to?

Mr. Mbogoh: Officers of the provincial centre.

Mr. Achieng-Onoko: Mr. Speaker, this is another question.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, I think it is. We must go on now.

[The Assistant Minister for Information and Broadcasting]

The Government has only the responsibility of previewing all films and is entitled to ban any film or scenes from a film which might not be to the country's good. This is done through a statutory board known as the Film Censorship Board.

The Indian-owned cinemas in Mombasa tend to show Indian films on Sundays, largely because that is the only day on which they can attract a large number of patrons. As the hon. Members know, the majority of Asians in Kenya are businessmen and spend the other days of the week in organizing and administering their business.

Mr. Balala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Assistant Minister aware that also, in addition to Indian businessmen being free on Sunday, citizens of other races are free and want to see films and they do not want to be forced to see films in which they are not interested?

Mr. Njeru: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I cannot, on the other hand, force the Indians not to show the films which they want to show. We know that these cinemas want to show a profit.

An hon. Member: Answer properly.

Mr. Njeru: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have said that the cinemas are operated as private businesses and they are supposed to make a profit. The owner of the cinema has the right to show a film which the Board of Censors has approved, and we cannot force them to show films for which they think they will not get money.

Question No. 297*PLAYS AND FILMS IN SWAHILI

Mr. Balala asked the Minister for Information and Broadcasting what the Government was doing to encourage—

(a) the staging of plays in the country's national theatres and elsewhere in Swahili; and

(b) the introduction of Swahili films in the country's cinemas.

The Assistant Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Njeru): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. The question does not really refer specifically to my Ministry.

I gather from the Ministry of Education that everything is being done to encourage schools to stage their own dramatic productions. The best of these productions are entered at the annual competition at the Kenya National Theatre in Nairobi which, as the hon. Members know, arouses a great deal of interest. It is recognized that most schools are using—

Mr. Omar: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, the hon. Oduya is making so much noise here that we do not hear what is being said.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! Would you restrain yourself, Mr. Oduya, please?

Mr. Mate: Walk out.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Mate, I shall have to advise you to leave unless you can control yourself. Just keep quiet.

Mr. Njeru: It is recognized that most schools are using the English medium for teaching and, as a result, many of the plays are in English, but, at the same time, Swahili plays are produced frequently in the schools and at the National Theatre.

As for my own Ministry, the Voice of Kenya is putting forward every effort to produce plays and other entertainment programmes in Swahili, using local talent. One of these programmes, which the hon. Members will all recall, is Jamaa ya Mzee Pembe which portrays the trend of events in Kenya and encourages local talent to participate in its production.

I should also like to report to the hon. Members that my Ministry has recently formed a film producing unit which will produce films in both English and Swahili and, indeed, in other vernacular languages as well. These films will be used in mobile film units to publicize what the Government is doing for the people. It is expected that the mobile units, using locally produced films, will be touring the country by the end of this year.

Mr. Omar: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from that reply, and in view of the fact that most of the cinemas in Mombasa and at the Coast as a whole, are owned by Indians, can the Assistant Minister tell us what plans he has to make the cinemas which are owned by Indians introduce Swahili films?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think you had the answer to that on the last question.

Next question.

Question No. 308*WATER SUPPLIES FOR SAMBURU

Mr. Rurumban asked the Minister for Natural Resources and Tourism in view of the fact that water was a chronic problem in Samburu District, what plans did his Ministry have, if any, for water provision for Samburu people.

The Assistant Minister for Natural Resources and Tourism (Mr. Mohamed): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. In view of the several answers I have given to questions regarding water supplies in the Samburu District, I would like to state emphatically that it is the Government's policy to compile development programmes from requests from the people of the district concerned. The leaders of the district—both the civil servants, the county councillors, as well as the politicians are the only ones who can help the people, by providing the necessary background information on which development plans can be based.

Referring specifically to water development in the Samburu District, it is regrettable to say that requests for background information on water supplies made by the Water Development Department's officers, and even by the provincial authorities, have been ignored by the Samburu District Planning Team. Thus, the Samburu District has not submitted any estimates or requests for water to its own provincial planning team.

In spite of this refusal to co-operate, my Ministry has included in the 1966/67 Estimates provision for the construction of a water supply at Baragoi Trading Centre. Because of the reasons given above, this is the only firm plan we have in this district.

I would like to urge all the leaders of the Samburu District to try and get into close touch with the Government officers of technical departments and generate the co-operation which is essential before the Government can initiate development plans for the district.

Mr. Rurumban: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, in view of the fact that water is one of the most essential commodity of consumption for any living creature and also in view of the fact that the district is now affected by severe drought that dried all the water up that people used to depend upon, what urgent measures is the Assistant Minister proposing to take to alleviate the present water problem in the district despite the county council's failure to submit its estimate?

Mr. Mohamed: Mr. Speaker, Sir, we accept the fact that water is a very necessary commodity and the hon. Member accepts the failure on their part. Mr. Speaker, Sir, water supplies can only be developed on a long-term plan, this is not a crash programme that we can work at. We have repeatedly requested the local leaders in the Samburu District to provide us with the required information as to what their water requirements are. This has to be on a long-term plan, not only for one year, but for the next five years and we are prepared to help them, provided they are prepared to co-operate and give us the required information.

Mr. ole Tipis: Mr. Speaker, Sir, could we know from the hon. Assistant Minister whether the Government has done anything to try and carry out the hydraulic survey, as far as the water potentialities in the Samburu are concerned, instead of trying to kick the ball back to the Samburu County Council?

Mr. Mohamed: Mr. Speaker, Sir, technicians of the Water Development Department are always available. The main fact remains that any water development has to be planned, it has to be surveyed and an assessment has to be carried out. Water development is the dual responsibility of the local people as well as the Government. We need to know the requirements of the area, this is the first stage, and then the second stage is with regard to the hydraulic survey which then comes in. We have repeatedly asked for background information and this has gone through the provincial commissioners to the district team, and unless we get an estimate of what the requirements of the district are, then we cannot move into the second stage.

Question No. 224*CHANGING NAME OF "PRISONS" TO "PROBATION SCHOOLS"

Mr. Godia asked the Minister for Home Affairs if the Minister would consider amending the present law so that the name "prison" would be replaced by "probation schools", where criminals would be taught a better way of living in order to earn a living afterwards.

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. I propose to answer this question in two parts. Firstly as regards the suggested change of name from "prison" to "probation schools," it is apparent that the reason for making this request is an intention to remove the stigma which the community attaches to persons known to have been in prison. Close examination of this problem by penologists and sociologists throughout the world have failed to solve it, or to find a better or more appropriate name than "prisons" for the place where persons are sent whom the courts consider it necessary to deprive of their normal liberty. The reason for this is that experience has proved that, no matter what name an institution is given, once it becomes generally known that it is a place where rogues and persons who have committed crimes are accommodated, a stigma will be attached to anyone sent to it.

encouragement to this proposal, since Busia is one of the leading cotton-producing districts. The firm had accepted to run the textile mill with local Busia cotton growers, who were to contribute a certain percentage of the capital required. The project, however, ran into difficulties because the German firm did not take adequate steps to finance the project as promised and the licence issued consequently expired. New sponsors for this project have now been found and the Government is already exploring several proposals which have been presented. The situation will have to be studied more carefully now, because several licences have been issued for the manufacture of textiles in recent years and there is a possibility that the existing licence holders can satisfy the market, and any new applications may have to wait until a more complete survey has been done on textile consumption. The Government is, however, actively studying the matter and if a decision is reached to grant more licences for cotton fabrics manufacture, Busia will certainly be one of the first.

(b) In regard to the establishment of a sugar factory at Mumias, the Ministry of Agriculture is still carrying out feasiably studies on the project and nothing has so far been finalized. In fact, a similar question was tabled by the hon. Masinde Muliro, Member for Trans Nzoia, not so long ago and it was answered in detail by my colleague, the Minister for Agriculture, Mr. Bruce McKenzie, on 2nd February this year.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade). What the Minister says on the sugar mill question is quite correct. We cannot have supplementaries again on that question, but we can have supplementaries on the cotton industry.

Mr. Aremam: In view of the fact that the Minister said that a certain percentage should be produced by the local growers in the area, can he tell us what kind of percentage these people should produce so that the mill will be allocated there?

Mr. Mwendwa: Mr. Speaker, the percentage may vary, it depends on the amount of money that the local people can provide. If, for example, the local people say that they can only produce 15 per cent, while in another district, the local people may produce even 50 per cent, there is no definite target or fixed percentage.

Mr. Godia: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising out of the Minister's reply, will he tell the House the circumstances which led to the failure of the first German firm which was to have established the factory in Busia?

Mr. Mwendwa: Mr. Speaker, one of the reasons why this company was unable to establish this factory, was that they asked for a guarantee from Government of 85 per cent. They wanted to have a promissory note of 85 per cent. Now the Government could not give this percentage as a guarantee, because if we did so we would have run into difficulties. Perhaps this company would have only brought in the machinery and then have gone home, then the Government would have to pay the rest of the money. That is one reason. Another reason was that this company was not the actual company which was actually going to establish the industry; it was, as it were an intermediate one. There was another company which was to give machinery to this company that we were negotiating with. Therefore, the company failed to obtain the machinery which they required from their mother company and therefore they stopped the whole industry.

Mr. Muriuli: Mr. Speaker, Sir, could the Minister tell the House whether the cotton factory that has been built in Kisumu, replaces the one that was to be built in Busia?

Mr. Mwendwa: Mr. Speaker, the answer is "No".

Mr. Omweri: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's earlier reply about the German company refraining from taking up the project, would he tell this House how much money the Government invested in this project to attract the German or any other firm to participate, because the Government should also have taken the initiative?

Mr. Mwendwa: Mr. Speaker, the failure to establish this industry did not depend on the failure of the Government to give some part of the money; this is not the question. The Government was even prepared to give any amount of money should this company come in with its own share. The failure is that this company failed to get the machinery at home and, therefore, whether we pay the money or not, that is a different question.

Mr. Khasakhaha: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that the Government promised the people of the Western Province a cotton factory would be built in Busia, could he make a public apology to the people, because he made the announcement before the grounds were laid down?

Mr. Mwendwa: If the hon. Member listened to me very carefully he would have heard what I said. Since the first company failed to carry its commitment through, a new company has been found and we are now negotiating the terms and the money required and so on, but the Government has not broken its promise at all.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, could he tell this House whether he contacted the people in Busia and informed them that they were to raise a certain percentage before they could get the machinery or the cotton industry established in that area? If not, does he not agree with me that the Government has failed in trying to fulfil its promise by refusing to guarantee the 85 per cent to the firm?

Mr. Mwendwa: Mr. Speaker, I am quite sure the hon. Member will be the first man to challenge and to take the Government to task for being a careless Government, if we were to give a guarantee of 85 per cent, only to find that, at the end, the Government had to pay for the equipment and everything after the company had gone home!

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): He was objecting to the guarantee loans the other day.

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I was just wondering whether the Minister for Finance is quite in order to shout at me and refer to me as a fellow, and that I refused to guarantee or support a guarantee for a certain loan, is he in order to do that?

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I was talking to my friends here, I did not know that he would hear.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! No, I think Mr. Gichuru knows better than most hon. Members that offensive remarks are not excused by being addressed to someone other than the person offended, if they are so loud as to be heard, I am sure you will apologize to him.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): I apologize, Sir.

Mr. Mwendwa: Mr. Speaker, the second part of the answer is, the hon. Member, if I understand him rightly, did not reply that perhaps this industry failed because we could not get local people to invest. Mr. Speaker, this is not the main reason. In fact, the local people are required to invest as little money as they can possibly invest in the interests of themselves alone. Now if the local people are not interested, or if they have no money, that cannot be taken as a reason to stop the industry. The industry will carry on, whether they invest or not, but it is the wish of this House, it is the wish of the Members of this Parliament, to see that the local people are interested and also they are part and parcel of the whole industry.

ROADS ROUND KAKAMEGA PROVINCIAL HOSPITAL

Mr. Muriuli asked the Minister for Works, Communications and Power if the Minister was aware of the danger of the dusty roads and paths in the vicinity of the Kakamega Provincial Hospital. If he was, what plans had he to pave these with a macadam surface.

The Assistant Minister for Works, Communication and Power (Mr. Bomett): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. I am sorry about the dust nuisance in the vicinity of the Kakamega Provincial Hospital, but regret to say that, as the roads and paths concerned are not classified grant-earning roads, the Government has no plans to pave these roads with a macadam surface. The construction of such roads is the responsibility of the local authorities. In this case, the Kakamega Township Authority may, in certain circumstances, be able to obtain a local government loan for the purpose.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, is he aware that the Kakamega County Council was one of the first councils to be declared bankrupt and, as such, they do not have money and that is what is causing a lot of trouble, in that there is a lot of dust raised by passing vehicles? Could the Minister not consider tarmacking these roads for the sake of the sick?

Mr. Bomett: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not speak about the Kakamega County Council, but I speak about the Kakamega Township Authority. In any case, Sir, there is nothing we can do because this is not a classified road.

Question No. 296

INDIAN FILMS SHOWN IN MOMBASA ON SUNDAYS

Mr. Babala asked the Minister for Information and Broadcasting whether he could tell the House why almost all Indian-owned cinemas in Mombasa insisted on showing only Indian films every Sunday.

The Assistant Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Njeru): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. Cinemas in Kenya are all private businesses and on the basis as other private enterprises.

Mr. Muliro: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, would he consider competition among the tribal dancers so that in the event of having to take a team out to represent Kenya, the best possible tribal team is sent to represent Kenya instead of having people picked out anyhow?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I very much concur with the views expressed by my friend, the hon. Member for Trans Nzoia.

Mr. Ngala: Arising from one of the replies by the Minister, whereas I agree that groups of tribal dancers should exist whether in amateur or professional form, would the Minister not agree with me that the time is ripe when Government should encourage these dances to the extent of forming national dances or dancers, so that we do away with the tribal or traditional aspect as other nations in Africa do?

Mr. Nyamweya: I missed one vital point in the question, Mr. Speaker. Would the hon. Member please paraphrase it for me again?

Mr. Ngala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, all other African nations are building up national dances, not tribal dances. I am just asking the Minister if he does not think the time is ripe when we should have national dances, whether in an amateur or professional form, because our nation needs that culture?

Mr. Nyamweya: I agree that this question of traditional dancing is a good thing and should be approached from the national point of view. However, at the same time, I think that whatever is good in a tribe or a group of tribes, should be preserved, provided it is not inconsistent with the national interests of the country.

Mr. Ngala: Arising from the reply, while I am not contradicting the Minister that tribal aspects should be shown, is the Minister aware that he is not answering my question? That is, that we should have a system whereby national dances should be encouraged; instead of hearing that the President was entertained by tribal dancers, we should hear of national dancers and national dances. This should not be tribal. What is the Minister doing to prepare national dances and dancers?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have very high regard for the hon. Member for Kilifi South. However, what I fail to understand is his argument. Tribes constitute a nation and if there is a State function or there is some function going on in Kilifi, it is quite proper that the people in Kilifi, who belong to certain tribes—I hope they are the Giriama—should be able to display their tribal dancing.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Next question.

Mr. Rurumban: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, before asking my question I seek your permission and the indulgence of the House for a correction to be made. The doctor's name should read Indire and not Indile.

Question No. 305

RESIGNATION OF DOCTOR FROM MINISTRY OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS

Mr. Rurumban asked the Minister of State in the President's Office to tell the House why Dr. Indire, an Under-Secretary for External Affairs in Russia, was forced to resign.

The Minister of State, President's Office (Mr. Nyamweya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. The officer referred to, Dr. Indire, as corrected by the hon. Member for Koroddi, was not forced to resign, nor, in fact, has he resigned from the Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

Officers within the Ministry of Foreign Affairs are transferable from any of our Missions abroad to any other Mission or to the Headquarters in Nairobi. In the case of this officer, it was a transfer from Moscow to the Headquarters in Nairobi.

The officer referred to in the question, has not suffered any financial loss.

Mr. Rurumban: Arising from the Minister's reply, Mr. Speaker, will he agree with me that it is because of political beliefs, as far as Eastern ideologies are concerned, between the Ambassador and Dr. Indire that prompted the desire for this gentleman to ask to be transferred or for him to resign?

Mr. Nyamweya: I have already said that this officer has not resigned. This officer is at the present time working in the Headquarters of the Foreign Office in Nairobi.

The Government is not aware of the conflict of political ideologies or convictions which made or necessitated the transfer of this officer from Moscow to Nairobi. All officers who are serving in the Foreign Office are supposed to support the views and policies of the Kenya Government.

Question No. 291

X-RAY EQUIPMENT FOR KAKAMEGA HOSPITAL

Mr. Murall asked the Minister for Health when the Kakamega Hospital would receive X-ray equipment.

The Minister for Health (Mr. Otiende): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. The hon. Member for Ikolomani can rest assured that my Ministry knows the needs of Kakamega Hospital and, so far, we have included all the necessary improvements in our Development Plan. I can tell the hon. Member right away that the building which will be put up at Kakamega has been surveyed and plans are ready; it will be put up in June this year. It will contain the out-patients department, a theatre and an X-ray department.

Mr. Shikuku: Arising—

Mr. Mate: Eh, eh!

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order. Mr. Mate!

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, is he aware that Kakamega Hospital, being a provincial hospital which is situated at the headquarters of the province, has been without X-ray equipment for a long time? Does he not consider that we require this equipment immediately because there are many fractured limbs in that district which have to be transferred to Kisumu Hospital, for treatment; so many fractures of skulls and ribs and so forth?

Mr. Otiende: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the hon. Member also can rest assured that we have all the staff at Kakamega now. There is a provincial physician and a provincial surgeon. There is a small theatre which is used at present and there is a light there from a battery; if there is need for an urgent case, it can be done there. But X-ray cases which are not urgent are still sent to Kisumu.

Mr. Khasakhalu: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, is he aware that no X-ray plant can operate without electricity? Could he therefore tell the House when 2-volt electricity will be supplied to Kakamega Hospital, which is a very important provincial hospital?

Mr. Otiende: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not know when the hon. Member was there last but the hospital is now fully lighted.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Next question.

USE OF SCHOOL FEES BY LOCAL AUTHORITIES

Mr. Odera-Sar asked the Minister for Local Government if he would instruct the local councils, particularly Kisumu County Council, to use the primary school fees being paid this year for educational purposes only, so as to save the primary schools from being closed very soon due to the lack of funds.

The Minister for Local Government (Mr. Sagon): Mr. Speaker, Sir, this question is based upon a misunderstanding which I would like to correct at the start. It seems to imply that, so long as all the money from school fees is spent upon education, then there would be no difficulty in financing the schools.

This is not so. The income from school fees meets less than half of the expenditure on primary schools and, therefore, all fees are being used for educational purposes. The remainder of the expenditure has to be met from other sources—principally from Graduated Personal Tax income and the Government general grant to councils.

If any council spent only the money from school fees, and nothing else, on primary schools, then all the schools would be closed down by the middle of the year.

The question refers particularly to Kisumu County Council, and I can give approximate figures relating to that council for last year, 1965. The income received from school fees was £190,000. The total expenditure on primary schools was over £470,000. Therefore the council found, from sources other than school fees, £280,000 towards the cost of primary schools. And these figures are quite typical of other councils.

The principal reasons for the difficulties in financing primary education are these:—

- (i) Under-collection of school fees;
- (ii) Graduated Personal Tax evasion; and
- (iii) the attempt in many cases, to expand the education service at a rate of growth beyond that which the council can afford.

But there is no truth in the implication that the difficulties arise from the misuse of school fees income by the councils.

COTTON INDUSTRY, BUSIA AND SUGAR INDUSTRY, MUMIAS

Mr. Godia asked the Minister for Commerce Industry and Co-operative Development what actual progress had been made on the ground up to date regarding the Government plan for the establishment of—

- (a) a cotton industry for Busia, and
- (b) a sugar factory at Mumias.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): (a) After prolonged discussions between the Kenya Government and a German firm by the name of Inha, an application was made to the Industrial Licensing Council for the manufacture of textiles. It was expected that the mill would be established in the Busia District and the Ministry of Commerce and Industry had given

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): I will welcome the substantiation, but I want it to be on record that at every point before independence, in all my public pronouncements, at all election campaigns, and thereafter, I always stood against British troops in this country. What is more, Mr. Speaker, it was myself, the Minister for Education, the Minister for Foreign Affairs, the three of us, who, on the instructions of the President—then the Prime Minister—went to London and negotiated the removal of the British troops in this country as well as the date for independence. Mr. Speaker, that is on the record and any attempt to sidetrack us into other issues will not just do.

Mr. Speaker, the other point by the hon. Member for Majoge-Bassi was the usual one that many people resort to, when perhaps they have no further ideas or points to make: that is, to try and reduce this debate or the problems of this country or the factional or ideological problems of stability in this country to an Mboya/Odinga struggle. This, Sir, is a cheap attempt that has been made from time to time when people do not wish to face issues. I have definite views and convictions. They do not have to be mine because I am against Mr. Odinga. I always express them. If, in the process, I do not accept what struggle: it is just as much as I would oppose the Member for Majoge-Bassi.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think you mean the hon. Member?

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): The hon. Member for Majoge-Bassi, and the hon. the Vice-President.

Mr. Speaker, I want to make it quite clear that I am tired of this persistence to reduce issues to such a low level. That, Sir, may be said to be what they are by people who seek to benefit by them.

Mr. Speaker, the other point I want to make—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Mboya, if you were imputing any improper motive, you are out of order, you know.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not wish to impute any improper motives.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the other point I want to make about this so-called history is that the public of this country, as the hon. Member for Karachuonyo said, is very well aware of what all of us did or did not do, but we are not going to live on past glories, and the myth that only certain people in this country mentioned Kenyatta's freedom must end, because they did not. The myth is there, there are records and maybe one day historians will write, and we will know the truth.

Mr. Speaker, I want to conclude on this note. The Government has brought itself squarely in the hands of the House, and it is for the House to declare its confidence or lack of confidence in the Government.

I beg to move.

(Question put and agreed to)

ADJOURNMENT

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order. It is now time for the interruption of business, and the House is adjourned until tomorrow, Wednesday, 16th February, at 2.30 p.m.

The House rose at Midnight.

Wednesday, 16th February 1966

The House met at thirty minutes past Two o'clock.

[The Speaker (Mr. Slade) in the Chair]

PRAYERS

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE CHAIR

TRIBUTE TO OFFICIAL REPORTERS

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Hon. Members, I have two informal Communications to make. The first one is an apology for the slight mistake I made yesterday when we adjourned yesterday's sitting. At the time of adjournment, I said that we adjourn until 2.30 p.m. tomorrow. Of course, I should have said, since it was past midnight, 2.30 p.m. today.

With reference to that, I would like to point out to the House what a considerable strain this put upon our staff, and particularly the HANSARD reporters: I do not say it was not worth while, but I would like to offer our thanks, particularly to the reporters, who not only did the equivalent of two full days' work in one day, but they happened to be very short-staffed at that time. For that reason, I am sure the House will bear with them if the report of yesterday's proceedings and today's proceedings is somewhat delayed.

IMPARTIALITY OF SPEAKER'S RULINGS

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): The other matter which I think I should mention is a matter that arose yesterday and has arisen before. One hon. Member has, on three separate occasions, suggested by points of order that the Speaker is not impartial. Now, I should like to say a little more about that, not from any personal point of view at all but for the welfare of the House.

I do not know how serious the hon. Member was in his suggestion, but it is a very serious matter. I know that a House of Parliament will be very patient and put up for a long time with a Speaker who is ignorant, stupid, weak, rude or impatient: but what no Parliament with our traditions can stand for any length of time is a Speaker who lacks the quality of impartiality.

I did explain to the hon. Member that criticism of the Chair can only be made by a substantive Motion, but it is of vital importance that such criticism should be made, if there is any suspicion of the Speaker being biased, because a Speaker who is biased, or even believed to be biased, will wreck the House.

So, I do urge hon. Members, if or whenever they seriously have doubts on this matter, to move a substantive Motion without any delay. I am quite certain it will be given absolute precedence by the Sessional Committee, or even by the Government in Government time, and certainly with the fullest support of the Speaker, because these things must be immediately resolved by the House. If they are not going to be resolved in that way, then they must not be said either in the House or outside.

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

PROFESSIONAL GROUP OF TRIBAL DANCERS

Mr. Ndile asked the Minister of State in the President's Office whether, in view of the great interest which His Excellency had shown in tribal dancers, the President would consider creating a professional group of dancers for regular entertainments.

The Minister of State, President's Office (Mr. Nyamweya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply, No, Sir.

Traditional dancers come from various parts of the country and display a variety of tribal dancing during State functions. Every tribal group has its own form of traditional dancing which differs from those of other tribal groups. It is this variety that makes tribal dancing all the more interesting.

If we are to create a professional group of traditional dancers we would discourage and possibly destroy the traditional character of tribal dancing which we are anxious to preserve.

However, the Government is looking into the possibility of creating a professional group of tribal dancers and action will be taken in accordance with the results of the investigations. I should like to sound a warning that previous experience has shown that professionalism tends to kill amateurism which is necessary.

Mr. Ndile: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that Kenya sent a national team to the Commonwealth Festival in London, would the Minister not consider it more necessary for Kenya, as a nation, to have professional traditional dancers, not based on provincial or district levels but on a national basis, to represent Kenya outside?

Mr. Nyamweya: If the hon. Member listened to my original reply, Mr. Speaker, he would realize that his question was covered in the original reply. That is why investigations are being made along these lines.

victims check their own mistakes? It is the public who can check us, but not to vote against us because we are already here, but through the party, and that is the thing which we want to impress, and I think my colleagues have no quarrel with this. We also press upon the Mover who moved this Motion that in his capacity as secretary, and also as the President has said in the Parliamentary Group that all the powers have been given to him to reorganize their party, of which I am sure he tried, but, Sir, he is now saying that the branches are not ready. But, Sir, which branches is he talking about? Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have already made the position of the Western Province clear. So, Sir, if it is the Western Province only that has been holding up these elections, then let him now declare fresh elections immediately, so that we have a valid office of the party in the national headquarters functioning. We want a valid office working, with a valid governing council, a valid executive and a valid authority of our party, so that when the Members happen to differ, even in the Cabinet—because I know that we Members of Parliament are not able to bring about the unity of the Cabinet and we must admit this—we are able to carry on. We go to the Parliamentary Group where we have always tried to—each person as a Member tries to, because we each have our own personal interests, and the party man will say, "Oduya, you are wrong", "Tom you are wrong", and "Koinange, you are wrong". He says this because he does not know that in this respect he knows that we do not have to dance around to show our interests and therefore he will correct me. It is the only way to help us build Kenya.

That, Sir, is why I think my speech to the party is very important. I would like the support of the Members on this particular thing that through this Motion we want the Minister to do something, because the Ministers also recognize the fact that they themselves in the Cabinet cannot agree. When it comes to us, Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Members of Parliament—some of us have friends in the Cabinet—naturally we sympathise with them. But, Sir, I assure you that the party will not have a friend. The party will discipline anybody, including Oduya, properly, and if there is any weakness or corruption of some sort, the party again will press upon the President, in his capacity as the President of the State and the President of the Party, to take stern steps to discipline any Minister. But, Sir, when we just come like this, then who will give the President a genuine case? No one will give the President a genuine case.

Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to continue by saying that the Minister for Economic Planning and Development, when he was speaking, mentioned about democratic principles. But, Sir, I am wondering whether we are really exercising these democratic principles, and if we are, then I do not see why we should be worried about this Motion. Because of that alone, we must act according to the democratic principles. Now, Sir, here is an important issue. It means that any Member, even after passing this Motion, should not be penalized, and the word "condemn" and so on, should not be taken seriously when a Member has a point which, of course, is possibly not in line of keeping with the Cabinet. For example, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I, the Member for Teso, have never condemned the Government in any public meetings, but I put them right when they need to be put right. Unless a person has any ulterior motive, then he will give this Government a clean record of my speeches in the field. I have always praised the Government and this alone shows that I have confidence in the Government.

Several hon. Members: Do you support the Motion?

Mr. Oduya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, some people are asking me if I support the Motion, but I feel that they are behind time. Mr. Speaker, Sir, even when some Ministers come to my constituency, and some have been there already, they have seen that there is no atmosphere which they get from some places where they visit. I am not the Government and if the freedom has therefore been created through this Motion that each Member will be given the right to exercise his principles whether in the Government or not, then in this House we should be allowed to speak, but not when one has a difference of opinion to be told that we are the men opposing the Government. We should not entertain such weakness, because it will not help us. We are bound to oppose the Government when we think the Government is going a little too far. For example, we have these groups which have been referred to in this Motion and perhaps where some Members had a lack of confidence in the whole thing, but I would like to tell the Government Ministers that it was not that the Members were being organized by anybody. If the Members were being organized by anybody to oppose the Government, then let them say so. But, Sir, what I am saying is that the Members themselves were capable of checking whether this Bill was for the interest of the House and for the nation. That is how we are running things.

[Mr. Oduya]

Mr. Speaker, Sir, it should not therefore be thought that the Members have ulterior motives when opposing the Government. We have actually been trying to help the Government where necessary. I think that even after passing this Motion it is now indicating—

The Minister for Defence (Dr. Mungai): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, as I think we are not likely to get any more from people speaking any more, could we call upon the Mover to reply now, Sir?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I think we had seven hours of this debate now, and I do not hear many new points coming up now, and Mr. Oduya has had quite a long run; and so I think the House must now consider this. It is for the House to decide. The question is that the Mover be called upon to reply.

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am seeking your ruling on this. I thought, but I might have understood you wrongly, but you did rule that since Mr. Oduya was speaking that he might continue with his speech, and you would only consider the question of the—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think you misunderstood me, Mr. Shikuku, if I said that. I was replying to a proposal to move the closure at that stage, and I thought that it was premature.

What I said for the rest, please do not take too seriously. I have the power to refuse the closure at any stage it is moved, but, I think it was perfectly right at this stage for the House to entertain it. There was such a very big majority in favour, and therefore, I am quite sure now.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, if hon. Members will stop talking I will finish in a record time.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, points have been made during this debate that must have helped to enlighten the public of this country on what we all must agree have been very important and grave matters. I still believe that this debate was necessary and I would like to submit, especially to those Members who posed the question, on why the Government itself should seek to move a Motion of this sort, suggesting that this was not something which ought to have been moved by people belonging to the party in power. Mr. Speaker, Sir, this is a definite misunderstanding of what can and should be done, but it should be remembered that here we have a one-party Government and the freedom to bring Motions and ventilate these kinds of matters should be accorded even to the Government if and when it feels that sufficiently important issues have arisen that require such ventilation. I do believe that here today we have demonstrated that in Kenya, although a one-party State, serious discussions can take place of issues based on a democratic concept of our relations.

Mr. Speaker, I want to refer to some specific points made by some of the speakers before I conclude my reply.

The hon. Mr. Anyieni, the Member for Bassi-Majoge, made an effort to give a reasoned statement of his position, but in the process he did what, if the House listened to what I said in my original speech, I suspected might come out of some Members: that is, the attempt to white-wash, the attempt continuously to use certain labels, the attempt to divert our attention on the more important question of today by referring to history. Mr. Speaker, I do not wish to go back into history, I have had opportunity—

Mr. Oduya: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, as we are prohibited from going to the area of the Front Benches, how do I get some water?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order. I am sorry, Mr. Oduya, I did not hear you, but it probably was not serious, was it?

Mr. Oduya: Yes. What I was saying, Mr. Speaker, is that as we are prohibited from this area, how do we get some water?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think Mr. Oduya has a very good point there which we will have to consider.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, the point I was going to particularly refer to is the suggestion by the hon. Member for Majoge-Bassi that at some point in 1961 or 1962, the hon. Minister for Finance and myself, in Germany, signed or negotiated an agreement to retain British troops in this country after independence. Mr. Speaker—

Mr. Anyieni: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I said they were reported to have, which is different from what he said; they were reported to have.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! No, from the point of view of substantiation, there is no difference between saying something has happened and saying something is reported to have happened. I have made that quite clear. You cannot get round things that way. I think you were going to substantiate, were you not?

Mr. Anyieni: Yes, Sir.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): And you will have to.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I will give Mr. Mate the benefit of the doubt in believing that he was speaking on a point of order.

Mr. Oduya: Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker, Sir. The quarrel which I have here is this. I feel that our Ministers should try and respect their positions. I remember one day when we were in the other Chamber, I think, when we were speaking about the Lumumba Institute, the Minister for Economic Planning declared that we were out to fight international communism.

Several hon. Members: What is wrong with that?

Mr. Oduya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, when I hear a rumour I speak my mind. I do not want to be interrupted just because I am speaking my mind and also because some people are being used for that purpose. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to say that my quarrel is directed to the Ministers of the Government. If one is opposed to the communist world, then he should not, because we know that in the Western world they are publicly fighting communism and what it gets out of people, bring it here, because we know that the West is hiding something from them. In our party, Sir, we have a problem prevailing which the Mover of the Motion has outlined. We, of course, know that it is famine, and here he has talked of the many problems which face the country today. There is a shortage of schools, food, which we have to get from outside although Kenya has plenty of land. These are some of the facts which the Members of this House and the Government must examine, instead of fighting international communism. When a Minister declares something like that, then perhaps he has a friend who is in the communist part of the world. But, Sir, why can that man not declare also that he is out to fight to capitalist world? Now, Sir, now that two giant issues have come before us, we should not give way or suppress them, but give way and say that communism will bring this, and capitalism will bring this, and let the people of Kenya select. If the Kenya Government does not want any interference, then we would like to humbly beg our Ministers not to take us to fight the international world. We want to fight the domestic affairs, and finish that first. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I know what international problems are facing us in Teso.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the international problems which are facing us in Teso are severe, and one of these days I will ask the Minister for Economic Planning and Development, along with other Ministers, to come and—

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I did not wish to interrupt the hon. Member but he keeps repeating this point, which is the allegation that at a debate I have said that we are fighting against international communism. Could he substantiate this, or does he mean that I said we rejected communism?

Mr. Oduya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is in the HANSARD, but with your permission—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): When you say it, do you say it with reference to this debate?

Mr. Oduya: Not today, Mr. Speaker, Sir, but the other day in the other Chamber, when we were discussing the question of the Lumumba Institute. Actually, Sir, I was quoting an example.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You rely on the HANSARD of the Senate?

Mr. Oduya: Yes, Sir.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Then you will produce it to the hon. Member, and if you cannot substantiate, you will come and tell the House?

Mr. Oduya: Yes, Sir. Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker, Sir. I have no other quarrel, but all I would like to say is that the international problems which prevail in Teso today are first of all, the shortage of schools, and secondly, the Minister did challenge me, as the Member for Teso, that I should organize co-operative societies in order to put Teso into an effective position, for example, putting up self-help schools and other projects to advance Teso. Other than this, Sir, I have no quarrel.

But, Sir, if all our time is going to be wasted debating personal interests here, then how is the Teso problem going to be considered in this? Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to say that if the Government is tired, they should not use the name of the President all the time. The name, Mzee Kenyatta, is a very big name. If, for instance, a Minister has a Motion and he says that he wants to use the name, Kenyatta, then I feel that that Motion should not be entertained. If we are tired, then all of us here should advise the President that since we cannot help him to build the country and because we are tired, we merely want to use his name.

The people are waiting to see from where the food comes, because, Sir, I know that there are some districts, and also the Minister for Economic Planning and Development knows, that are depending only on the supply of food. They have nothing of their own today, therefore, Sir, [Mr. Oduya] for how long are we going to help our people? These are some of the things which I say that if we fail to find a solution for Kenya, then the best thing is to call a general election. Somebody disputes the fact that a general election would not be the solution. But, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I say that the general election will be the solution.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, we are elected on three ideologies and principles. Firstly, the African People's Party, which we know what it is. Secondly, Kadu, and we knew the principles of Kadu. Thirdly, Kanu, which is supposed to be ruling now. Kanu is a coalition, it is not ruling by itself. It is a coalition of three policies and three principles which have been brought together. But, Sir, if we are doubting our integrity—I am still speaking and so there should be no Member standing. Mr. Speaker, Sir, if we doubt our position, then we should ask the President of Kenya to declare the House dissolved, so that we all go back to our constituencies, and if Kanu can put up two or three candidates from each district or constituency, then we can be assessed by the people under one Kanu policy, so that we know who is going to come.

Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, it means that some of us may lose, but take me for example, I am not the only man in Teso, and if the people of Teso think that I have not made use of the chance that I was given, and that I have joined in the confusion, then they will put another man in. When the men come here possibly with other people, then they will help Mzee Kenyatta formulate the line and Kenya would like to thank them. At the moment, when I speak, I am really ashamed of our position. For example, Mr. Speaker, Sir, in the Press it is reported that the Ministers are going this way, and the Members of Parliament, who do not hold any position of responsibility in the Government, say this and the people outside read this. Now, Sir, the people outside are really wondering whether we are going to be able to find a solution to some of the needy problems, which are today pressing in on our people.

Also, Mr. Speaker, Sir, there is another point which I would like to speak on, which the Mover of the Motion raised, and that is how the Government is feeling about the position of the party, and how the party top officers have taken an interest in trying to reorganize the party. Mr. Speaker, Sir, in connexion with this, I think I am involved. Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Minister referred to the Western Province where elections have not been properly conducted, and, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I must say, in my capacity as chairman, I have a great interest in this one which I would like to make clear. I am the Chairman of the Kanu Co-ordination Commission, and I know that from 1963—for the information of the House I have done my best. First in 1963, Sir, I did the elections, on reaching 1964, the year ended and so those officials were retired. Another election took place in 1964, and the Minister for Economic Planning and Development came down and as you know my seat was so sweet that some people wanted to take over from me, and they passed some talk around that Oduya did not do anything last time, but the people knew me and therefore I was re-elected and remained in the office.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order. Mr. Oduya! We are not discussing the confidence in Mr. Oduya, we are discussing confidence in the Government.

Mr. Oduya: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to go further and say that the Western Province so far has done very well under my chairmanship. The officers are there, and I would like to inform the House that there is a chairman of Kanu with his officers, for example, Mr. Lugonzo in the Kakamega District, and he is the chairman for that area, Bungoma. Mr. Makokha is the chairman for Busia along with his officers. The Minister is shaking his head, but I know, because it is my authority. The hon. Mr. Makokha is here to justify whether he is the chairman or not. So, Sir, this alone shows that the Western Province should not be blamed. All that we are waiting for is the date for the national election. If there is any place in Kenya which hinders the progress of the party, the Minister himself as secretary of the party has to find where this place is, but not merely say that he has not done his best.

But, Mr. Speaker, Sir, what I would like to see is that if we have a party which is organized, then some of these matters which come to this House should have been handled throughout the executive or governing councils of the party. Also this party would then have assisted our hon. President in discipline the Members of the Cabinet or even the Members of Parliament whenever they tried to bring points about their personal interest first. This is the only basis on which we can face our problems in Kenya and bring them into a proper line, so that our activities can be checked and the victims take their own steps, otherwise how can we check our activities and how can the something frank is actually carried out. But those people who gain by merely cheating others should continue to do so, but with me, at the moment, when I feel that I can no longer gain because my own views are not being supported— Mr. Speaker, in this ideological policy which is being carried out in this country, the moment when I feel that my own views are being submerged and I will have no opportunity to put my own personal views in which I believe, I shall kick off any of this sort of alignment.

So I support this Motion, saying that we pass a vote of confidence in our President, appreciate what the Government has done and condemn all those people who feel that they will have it or it will go their way by merely trying to suppress the freedom of the people to express opposition to them or who want to appeal to the emotions of the people and yet they, themselves, have not even the guts to explain a policy, merely pronounce, pronounce, pronounce.

Mr. Speaker, there is a difference between organizing a programme and telling people that from building a well, we shall build a school, from building a health centre, we shall create this and that. It makes a lot of difference between a well-tailored programme with aid behind it and mere speeches to appeal to the emotion of the people. I have the guts today to speak in this manner, but I do not have any person in mind; I am only speaking my mind as the rightful Member for Homa Bay Constituency, and if anybody feels that I am against him, for goodness sake let him go to hell.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Oduya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, thank you very much.

Let me also take my chance and I would like, through the Chair, to tell the Members that I have been very patient here and I thank the Chair for giving me the opportunity to air my views, but mere shouting at me will not silence Oduya at all.

Because this Motion has come to the House, it is the duty of the Members of this House to examine the merits and demerits of the Motion, and also—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Did you say the amendment, Mr. Oduya?

Mr. Oduya: No, I am speaking on the Motion.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): That is right. I am sorry.

Mr. Oduya: I have no amendment at all, but the Motion as it is to me, personally, is not a danger; I will give my views.

During the Mover's speech, which was a long speech in which he outlined what the Government has been attempting to do and what he has attempted to do, and what it intends to do. I take it that he has really outlined this without actually trying to blame anybody, but only when you try to go a little outside the facts of the Motion—I as the Member for Teso also have the right, Mr. Speaker, to put my own case independently. The Mover of the Motion has been my colleague for many years. I have known him since he was only, I think, twenty-six and I was just a small thing, but today I am equal with you here.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the point here is this. The Motion actually came up as a result of the statement which was supposed to have been made by our Minister for Finance somewhere in Lagos, otherwise the Motion would not have come to the House. But because this paper misreported or, possibly, reported correctly—we do not know—the Minister for Finance—of course, because some of us are readers, we obtain the paper on the street, because it is sold somewhere in Nairobi, and we also read it in the library. So we were questioning amongst ourselves here during tea-time, and so on, whether a Minister could really say this or whether he was misquoted. All we were waiting for at that time, Mr. Speaker, was for the Minister at least to refute this, even in our own local papers, but since this failed, I think a question was proposed in the House and when it came to the House, I think that is the time when the Ministers also were taken by surprise. Possibly, they thought that the Members here were going to condemn the Minister, just because that day I remember the Members pressed very hard on the Chair to agree to that Motion being discussed as a matter of national importance, but the Chair said it could only be brought in as a private notice question and "later on we will see if you can move it on adjournment and then you will be allowed to debate it."

I think the Ministers thought that by allowing it to come in the form of a question, it might possibly embarrass the Minister or the Government as a whole, and so they have considered it fit to bring it in the form of a Motion. However, I would say that they also went further because actually the paper is not written in Kenya. The paper was written abroad and, personally, I do not even know the character who wrote the paper. If one examines the paper, Mr. Speaker, Sir, without being biased, it has really condemned the Minister for Finance. On the other hand, it went on further to call him even the darling of the capitalist world, which is also quoted. It went on further to praise the Vice-President and called the Minister for Information and called them left-wing. The Minister for Finance was called a "rightist". Here it is the duty of the Members in Kenya to say, "Who wrote that paper?" But the Members also have to consider how the person who wrote the paper was writing. Was he trying to make Kenya a united country, to work for the interest of the Kenya people all the time, or to brew up trouble, whereby a Minister says, "Well, maybe the Vice-President is connected with the man who wrote the statement to condemn the Minister for Finance."

Naturally, the Minister for Finance is a friend of the Minister for Economic Planning and Development and they might have thought it was better to hit back. This is where we now have this trouble. On the other hand, the Vice-President, on his part, thinking that the Motion has come to the House—probably he was not in his office today or he was not consulted—felt that perhaps these people might have an idea of attacking him as a person. If I am allowed to make my point to the man who is interrupting me in such a manner, although I do not have the best language, I can reply to him. However, Sir, I would like to go on. Am I allowed to go on on my own?

The Assistant Minister for Health (M. Moss): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that the hon. Member now speaking has alleged that the Vice-President and the Minister for Information are branded as leftists, could he substantiate or tell us as to whether he agrees with the Motion as it stands or—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! This is entirely a fraudulent point of order. You will leave the precincts of the Assembly, Serjeant-at-Arms!

(Mr. Moss withdrew from the Chamber)

Hon. Members, I know that there may be some amusement at this time of night when several have satisfied their thirst on so many fraudulent points of order that bring so much discredit to this House, but there is much more effect, you know, in the disciplinary measures which have to be taken if hon. Members do not stick with laughter every time.

Mr. Oduya: Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker. Now I would like to go on.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Members should not act emotionally on the issues which come from abroad. First of all, Sir, I know that the Minister for Finance was reported to have said something but he has denied the allegation both in the Senate and again here today. Also, Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Minister for Information made it clear that there would be a film, or a record played in this House, so that we can hear the voice of the Minister. Mr. Speaker, Sir, we in this country and this House know the voice of the Minister for Finance very well, and therefore do not see why we should punish the Minister. We just want to hear this record or see the film and then we will be able to judge for ourselves. It is very simple. It is a cheap reply and therefore I do not see why people want to build a mountain, as high as Kilimanjaro, out of a mole hill. Mr. Speaker, Sir, the only thing I am concerned with are the sentiments of the statement given by the Minister for Economic Planning and Development, who moved the Motion.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, with all due respect to the Minister, and also personally I do not have any quarrel with him, but, Sir, I would like, in my position as Oduya, I would like to check on him and I find out whether we differ. But, Sir, some people take it for granted that just because I happen to oppose the Motion brought by the Minister for Economic Planning and Development, they think that I am opposing Mboya. But, Sir, I know that the Minister for Economic Planning and Development is carrying out his duties very well. For example, he will visit my constituency, assess the situation and the problems of Kenya—and also Teso which is a part of Kenya—and see what he can do.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I have told hon. Members several times that if they wish to cross from side to side, then please will they do it at the Bar of the House and not by the Mace.

The Minister for Defence (Dr. Mungai): I am sorry, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Gatuguta: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, now that a lot of discussion has taken place on this Motion, and the Members have already made up their minds, can I move that the Mover be called upon to reply?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think we must certainly allow Mr. Oduya to speak a little longer. I will then see whether we are hearing much more which is new in this debate, because I am very loathe to deprive hon. Members, even in the minority of one, of saying something new on such an important matter. But if it appears that we are getting no more than repetition, then I think the House ought to consider the closure.

Mr. Mate: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, does it mean that just because certain people feel, or might feel, that the Motion is finished some of us will not have a chance to speak? I would like to support my friend, the hon. Member for Kikuyu, but oppose him and say that we are not tired.

[Mr. Ngala-Abok]

Personally, I would like to thank those Members or Ministers who thought that this Motion was wise and timely. I very much congratulate the Kenya political leaders for their maturity in coming out quickly to explain to the countryside anything that might undermine us or which might go on secretly, so that at the end we might find a Nigeria situation. It is important, Mr. Speaker, that no attempt should be made to suppress openly the views of Members of Parliament, left wing, right wing, pro-East, pro-West, but this is the Parliament where the pro-East and pro-West views can be expressed. If the country feels that pro-West views are prevailing, let pro-West views prevail. If pro-East views are prevailing, let those views prevail. If African Socialism views and non-alignment views or pro-Kenyatta views, for example, are those ones prevailing in the country, let us allow ourselves to be free. Personally, Mr. Speaker, I do not believe in freedom of an individual suppressing any view whatsoever.

In my constituency, Mr. Speaker, whether you are my opponent or not, I would entertain your views and wait for my turn when my constituents will eliminate me and I will know that I am no longer required. But at the time when I am still required also to represent my people, I shall not try to interfere, merely because I personally do not think that this is a good thing. So, Mr. Speaker, I do not wish to see any amendment to the Motion. This is for one logical reason. The Motion is questioning that those people who wish to feel that they want to show the country that they have certain principles in which they believe, and they believe that these principles will better serve the country, will eliminate unemployment, will eliminate ignorance, will eliminate disease and will bring things as quickly as possible, should come and say so, and let the country hear their views, and again try to put these views to the test of facing the public outside today. This, frankly speaking, Mr. Speaker, is what this Motion is seeking.

But then, we may find in our midst people who think that, to be allowed to express your views openly, is to be exposed to ridicule and actually to be exposed to ideological alignments. In fact, this, I think, is a very short-sighted sort of thing. I would like to see Members expressing themselves very, very freely indeed.

There is one thing I do not wish to see, Mr. Speaker. There should be the fullest possible consultation, so that even within this consultation machinery, if anyone does not want to succumb to what the majority of the Members want to do, he should then be told that we had this consultation but his acceptance was not forthcoming and now we are defying it and defying it democratically because, Mr. Speaker, there is a big difference between what a Minister exercises in his office and what he can do in this Parliament. After a Minister has left his office, he no longer has any power to rule this Parliament where Members have come under Standing Orders, and this is a real misunderstanding. Standing Orders are here to control Ministers and to equalize Members of Parliament, Backbenchers and Ministers equally. If a Minister puts forward a point of order, he will be ruled equally regarding the point of order of this Parliament. The same will apply to Backbenchers, and this is where we say that we must observe every principle of democracy. When one has already proposed a Motion in this House and the Motion has been so defeated, I do not see—as the Vice-President has done today—any sense in walking out because, Mr. Speaker, everybody else is seeking for the same thing. Those politicians are seeking for the same thing. Go back to the people. If you are left out, do your job. If you were a farmer, a medical assistant, do your job—

Mr. Anyieni: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, when the Vice-President walked out, did he walk out in protest, or did he walk out as any other Member who is never compelled to stay here?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order. I might be wrong, but I understood pretty clearly he walked out in protest.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, personally, what I believe in at the moment is that I see a true thing happening and if I do not believe in it, I will say so and I remain free, and I find myself enjoying it. Mr. Speaker, one cannot say on the one hand that one is advocating democracy, advocating the cause, fighting for the cause of the people at large, when at the same time one takes the initiative to propose democratically a Motion which is defeated democratically and, at the same time, settles to listen to the debate and in the course of that debate leaves the Chamber, instead of waiting to protect one's position, to defend one's position. This sort of leader, Mr. Speaker, cannot lead a nation, because to lead a nation is not a job, to lead a nation needs a person who is politically thick skinned and who will not respond to a mere approach to emotionalism, so that you will respond so negatively. We want to see a person of some calibre, a person who would resist any situation, a person who would stand any attempt to test his own integrity, but this Motion—I believe—was questioning some of these people's temperaments.

[Mr. Ngala-Abok]

Mr. Speaker, any learned politician in this House knows very well that there is nothing intended in this Motion to be against any politician. What is intended in this Motion is only to test any person who feels that he has some views and principles, on which he firmly stands, to come and reveal them today in this House, but if instead of a person showing today in the national Parliament that he is up to the mark with all the principles and he can stand up, quell all these things, refute all allegations, stand firm—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think I must intervene, if this is criticism of Mr. Odinga still. I am pretty sure, as I said, that Mr. Odinga walked out in protest, but he was not walking out in protest against the actual terms of the Motion, as I understood it, he was walking out in protest against the statement that it was a Government Motion, when he had never been informed. We must have it clear.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker.

The Assistant Minister for Lands and Settlement (Mr. Gachago): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, in view of your ruling that the Vice-President walked out in protest against the statement that this was a Government Motion, if in the long run it is proved that it is a Government Motion, does it mean that the Vice-President has also walked out of the Government?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order. That is not a good point of order; I think you must know it is not, Mr. Gachago, and I must ask you to leave the precincts of the Chamber, without laughing please.

The Assistant Minister for Health (Mr. Moss): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Will you wait until Mr. Gachago has left the Chamber, please.

(Mr. Gachago withdrew from the Chamber)

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You had a point of order, Mr. Moss?

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, in fact, at the time when the hon. Member raised a point of order, I had already left the question of the Vice-President leaving the Chamber. I was saying generally, in terms of this Motion, it was giving an opportunity for a Member or a Minister, frankly before this House—and this is why we have even suspended Standing Orders—who has the guts to explain exactly where he stands in this country to come out and say so. But we do not want, Mr. Speaker, to be swept into speaking arrogantly, or defending a meaningless and unknown cause, with a person not understanding what he is defending and the facts of the matter he is trying to avoid. This is what I was saying.

I was saying that, Mr. Speaker, because I do not believe in the amendment. The question is—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): We have disposed of that; it is out.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Yes, I agree, but I had to refer to that one because—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You do not have to refer to something that is finished.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The most important part of the Motion is, do we unanimously support what the Government has done so far, or do we have any dissident opinion or views which we can put before the country? This is the dry fact of the matter, and if we do not have any dissident views, probably we just have personal ones which may be naturally political views, and we cannot show these to the country. Do we have to agree that the country is doing well under the present Government and that we shall no longer profess views which cannot be practical and which cannot be forthcoming and can never be implemented in the shortest possible time? This is also in the Motion, Mr. Speaker, because this is a request to the country, Ministers and its leaders.

This does not mean that there are people who are of such views in my view, Mr. Speaker, because in the Mover's own statement he said that there is freedom for each Member to express his views, to question the Ministers' policy, but there is such a thing, Mr. Speaker, in this House. When a Member tries to become democratic and free or he tries to question something, some people will, if it is a question affecting America, Britain, Russia or China, call him a stooge. One day, Mr. Speaker, I had the experience of being very much embarrassed when my own colleague, the Member for Majjoo-Bassi, labelled me as a stooge when I had the opportunity merely to support a very logical amendment to a Motion about a railway line which was to be investigated by Government and then to be built. This is what the Motion is saying today. Are there people who want to build up their own political status and political stand, merely because of either political hatred or alignment?

Now, Mr. Speaker, I support the Motion because I believe very much in frankness and, personally, I have suffered some frustration because I have been trying hard to see that

[Mr. Agar]

Sir, we find that a Member of Parliament belonging to the Conservative Party from Britain goes back to England and admitted that Smith was not going to surrender. So, Sir, nobody in this House is impressed with the statement that we have supported the Rhodesian cause. Nobody is impressed that we have taken a firm stand of our own about this issue. Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, let the Cabinet know that the country is so far dissatisfied with the stand that the Government has taken. We can say this without saying that we have lost confidence in the Government of Kenya, but, Sir, we are saying this in order to alert the Government so that they know that we expect more of them. They have taken this stand, but, Sir, suppose I see some child being mistreated and I am strong enough to do something about it, or else a young woman being raped, I do not stand there and say that it is very bad, I do something about it. Otherwise, Sir, what would people say? They would say that I am a coward, I would do something to save the child or the woman.

So, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, we would like our Government to take a clearer stand and state a certain line of action, so that they lead Africa.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, the conference which was held in Lagos—

Mr. Khasakhalu: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I beg to move that the question of the amendment be now put.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! No, I think, considering the interest in the debate, one must still have to let it go a little longer.

Mr. Agar: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, today in this House something did happen and I use these words—

Mr. Gatuguta: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, this is only a question of an amendment and the House is aware of what the Motion is and also the amendment, therefore, I am wondering whether we could vote on the amendment and then speak on the Motion itself?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Mr. Gatuguta, I think you must be aware of the Standing Orders. According to Standing Orders, the Speaker has the duty of deciding whether he thinks sufficient time has been given to the debate before he allows the question to be put, even the question of whether the amendment should be put. I certainly for myself, although the Speaker might have different opinions—he will be here in a few minutes' time—feel that this is a very important matter and, as far as I know, only one or two persons have spoken on the amendment, and I think it is only fair that for a matter of such great importance proper debate should be allowed.

Mr. Agar: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I was going to say that there is no clear demonstration of the division that exists in our Cabinet than what happened on this Floor today, where one Minister stood up and said that the President had allowed this Motion, and the other one stood up and said that the President had not allowed this, then there is a dual on the Floor. Now, Sir, whoever thinks that our people are foolish is mistaken. Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, whoever thinks that he is with the people more than any other person—for example, you may come to Karachuonyo and say that you are for the Karachuonyo people more than I am, you may sneak there at night, but others have done this sort of thing and they have found themselves hung. So, Sir, we would like to see at this House which is the supreme authority, no repetition of what happened in this House today, and we would also like to see that the President takes a firmer stand on the discipline of the Cabinet, then this Government will be able to run smoothly.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, there are matters which can be brought to the Parliamentary Group and also those which can be brought to this House. Apparently, it has been shown that Members have thought it a very admirable thing to do to come and embarrass or accuse another Member of this House so that it is publicized and the Member is discredited in public. I do not know which Member here does not make a mistake. I do not know whether it will be the President who can make this House dignified and make it have any meaning to this country. I therefore, Sir, would like to declare my stand here and that is that although on our foreign policy we have shown a feeble line, we have shown people that we are, perhaps, sailing along with the tide.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, although in certain matters—domestic affairs—we think that the Government has not acted sufficiently vigorously, we have confidence in this Government as expressed in this Motion. We have told the President in this Motion, if it is passed—and I hope it will be passed—that we want to see him working with an outwardly unanimous Cabinet. Even if they have to fight on some issues within the Cabinet, outside, we want people presenting a united view to our people. We want to see clearly, and we want to tell the President that next time we see that the Cabinet does not present to the public and to us here a united front, we shall discredit it and we shall reconsider the confidence we are going to express today.

1001 Motion—Confidence in the President—

Thank you, Mr. Deputy Speaker.

The Assistant Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Kibaki): Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I have merely a few words in opposing the amendment and in supporting the original Motion. I have merely a few points to bring forward which are very important.

[The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza) left the Chair]

Mr. Speaker, the amendment, in fact, should be seen for what it is. It seeks to remove from the Motion the statements which are statements of fact. Mr. Speaker, I thought that this particular Motion gave us the opportunity to face up to the facts, to challenge these facts, to address ourselves to them, to speak openly without fear or favour as to these facts. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I object to any attempt to remove from the Motion the statement of the well-known fact, internationally known, in fact, that there are, as stated here, in the quotations by various papers, that certain people have grouped themselves and called themselves by the names that have been stated in the Motion.

Mr. Speaker, equally in the Motion, there is the statement that we are convinced that those who do not support this particular policy should have the freedom to speak their minds. Again, Mr. Speaker, this is a statement of our conviction that they should have this opportunity. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, why do we want to remove from the Motion two statements of fact? I would have thought that if anyone had wanted to amend the Motion, he would have sought to amend the substantive part of it, which is that we express full confidence in the President and the Government of Kenya, and condemn these dissident, confused groups. Mr. Speaker, I would have thought, therefore, that if anyone really seriously sought to amend a Motion with the intention of guiding this House to make a decision, other than that which is proposed in the Motion, he would have had the guts, the courage, to amend that part of the Motion which asks us to take a positive decision, that he would not have sought merely to delete from the Motion preliminary statements of fact. He would, Mr. Speaker, have tried to amend the substantive part of the Motion.

Mr. Speaker, therefore, I feel that somewhere there is an effort to divert the thought of this House from the substantive part of the Motion towards other very minor and, in many ways, not very significant points, because in the way this Motion has been drafted, we are merely noting that these things do exist, they are facts, they have been stated by the hon. Members themselves, even tonight, Mr. Speaker, and some people—credit to themselves, I dare say—have declared what groups they belong to. Then, Mr. Speaker, if people have gone that far, why are we being requested at this very late hour in this debate to delete from the Motion statements of fact acknowledged by Members themselves?

So, Mr. Speaker, the only point I want to make here, is that the amendment is not really even helpful to those people who are themselves trying to move the amendment, and therefore, that they might even at this late hour take a cooler view, a much better view of the Motion, and accept that there is no need really to insist on the amendment. Mr. Speaker, therefore, my—

Mr. Ngala-Abok: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, knowing that Members are getting tired and also seeing that those who have put forward the question of the amendment have reasoned enough, could I suggest, Mr. Speaker, that the question of the amendment be now put?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, I think we can entertain the closure of the amendment; that does not necessarily mean to say the whole debate. I will put the question.

(Question that the question of the amendment be now put, put and agreed to)

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I must thank you very much indeed for having allowed me to speak on the most important and deciding Motion we have had a chance to debate in our history during the last three years.

Mr. Speaker, you will believe me when I say this Motion is revealing and it is providing a chance for Members of Parliament who want to be frank and who want to speak to the country and to air their views as people who were elected, each Member representing his own constituency, each Member standing on his own feet, each Member thinking on his own lines as a person who advocated certain views and who stood to be elected by his constituents, to come, personally, to represent his constituency.

group, but, Sir, that group must be constructive for God's sake. You produce a paper, produce a proposal, Motion or a Bill to the Parliament, you discuss it and put it through. If you think that the Government is refusing reasonable proposals, then you go out into the countryside and tell the people. So, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I have been very surprised and amazed to see how we have allowed this debate to descend so low. We are not debating the principles here.

Today, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, many people have just been talking about how they hate one another, how they think the other used to be a wicked man or a better man, or how they think one is progressive and critical of the other. But, Sir, there is nothing wrong with a person being critical towards the Government. Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, speaking on this Motion, as it concerns all of us, we are here in this House as two groups; those who are entrusted with the responsibilities of the Government as Ministers, and those who remain with the responsibility of representing the people only. It is quite easy for the Minister to develop or to get into the habit of blaming the Members of Parliament or being biased against a Member of Parliament because the Member of Parliament has become critical about him or because of his policy, but yet, at the same time, it is quite easy for the Members of Parliament to try—I think it was the hon. Tom Mboya who said this—to try to see themselves as the only person free from blame but that everybody else should be blamed. This attitude, if developed in our country, will destroy this country. But, Sir, our people are not fools, they are watching. However much you come here and try to show that you are a better Minister than the next Minister, or that you are a better Member than other Member, the people are watching you from outside and they say, "We elected you to go there and act collectively and work together," but we find that when they come to fight they are pleased. They think that when they go out and talk to the Mzee, telling him that they attacked a Minister or that they revealed a Minister, or that they told the House and people heard them saying how these other people were this and that. This, Sir, is not going to help the country or the people.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I oppose the amendment on this Motion. I support the Motion as it is and there is no amendment which I will accept to this Motion, because the Government has asked us to express our confidence. I am not going to amend any part that eliminates some other people and says just "the confidence in the Government and the President". The Government asks that if there are people here or in evidence of what has been going on in the newspapers, and even in our HANSARD if you read it today, you will find that if there are people, particularly in the Government, who feel that they do not like the policy of this Government, its activities, its decisions, then they should say so openly. If I am one of them—although there is no sign of it—there is no better service one can do in this country than by saying so. If I am in the Cabinet, then I cannot criticize that Cabinet publicly, but I have a chance of putting my views to the Cabinet. Outside, Sir, I am with the Government. The day I feel that a principle is involved which I cannot tolerate and that is disunity in the Cabinet, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, this is the only practical solution so that democracy can operate. You cannot say that we have one party, therefore the Cabinet Ministers and Kanu can criticize the fellow Cabinet Ministers. What about those, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, what about those confidential things they discuss in the Cabinet?

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, they swear secrecy and yet we find groups discussing this matter outside, passing information to their friends instead of putting them to the Cabinet. We hear before the Government announces something, "Oh, the Cabinet discussed this". We are not going to go on like this, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, and I would like to call upon the Mzee and let him read this that we are going to have a disciplined Cabinet or else this Government is going to fail. I do not support those who think that they will solve any problem by going to country and holding general elections. I do not see how people are going to benefit from this when you go out, except to tell them, "Oh look, when I am elected, I will do better than this or that man." Even those fellows waiting outside will tell you that the Members have failed them who said that they would do better than the ones before them. Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, where does all this end? We cannot play about with our people. They have given us a job to do in five years and if it is a question of unity, then let us consolidate our unity. We voluntarily disolve Kadu in order that we may be able to work together with Kanu. Therefore, Sir, there is no reason why we should act like dogs biting at one another.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, those who won the independence for this country, some of them are not even known and most of them are not even in this House. There are people who sweated and shed their blood, and people who suffered for the sake of this country. Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, there are so many people here who speak so much of what they can do, of who was not faithful and who was the champion when they themselves did not even raise a finger. In fact, Sir, some of them were traitors. But, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, having forgotten all these things, we have been elected to come here and therefore let us work humbly for our people. The fact that I suffered and sweated does not mean that our people owe me something. I have helped achieve what we sweated for, and there is no question of boasting of what one did for this country. I do not want to be cut short as many Members suggest, because I believe that if this Motion is not over by tonight then we can move that it continues until tomorrow morning so that more Members can express themselves.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I want to speak on how much progress the Government has made. This Government, since it came into power, has done so much for the Africans in this country. The President has repeatedly quoted a lot of things which have been done in the last three years. Mr. Speaker, Sir, a person may think that if he went into Government, or the Office of the President, he could, by way of a miracle, get something done without the people having to sweat. If anyone thinks that he can go to the Western or the Eastern countries and get large loans, free money and then build everything which he wants without using the sweat of our people, then he is selling us and our children. Therefore, Sir, whether we are growing gradually and suffering as we are doing, we would rather try and remain independent upon ourselves. Therefore, Sir, if you come here and begin discrediting this country and saying that it has done nothing, you are just one of those jealous people who think that if your friend is in power, then he will vote for you the next day. If you go there the next day, then they will probably vote for another man. Therefore Mr. Speaker, Sir, we must be mature enough to see that if we put our fellow men into Government, if we put the President in the Chair, we do not expect them to be like angels and that if you want free medical attention and free education you get it, or get employment. Who do you think is going to employ these people? We talk here so much, that the Government gives people chances to start this or that, but, Sir, we want the people to be properly employed. We pay our taxes and our poor people also pay their small taxes and we think that the Government is going to employ everybody, but, Sir, with what money are they going to pay their salaries if they are employed all of them? It is our duty to create employment for our people. It is our duty to take the initiative. If we take the initiative of our people by telling them to wait in their houses; educated people, Members of Parliament and retired people, just to sit there and wait for employment, then I know that we are misleading the people. Why should we indulge in cheap propaganda to our people? We are going to make this country what it is by encouraging the initiative from our people, to tell them to be independent of the Government.

Therefore, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I consider as this Motion is worded, we have to realize in this House as Members of Parliament that that confidence we seek in showing the Government today, and those who doubt it are those people who think that they can ask you to sit idle and the Government will do everything for you. It has never been done in Russia or even in China. What is it that should be blamed against this Government? Nevertheless, Sir, the blame can be put there so that their lesson is learnt from that and if they do not learn their lesson, then it is not for us only to pass a vote of no confidence in the Government, or a vote of confidence, it is for the people to see.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, if we are going to have in this country a divided kingdom, divided leadership and divided loyalty then that is the surest way of ruining this country, because if you think a tribal group can dominate nine million Africans, you cannot do it. If you think that by discrediting your fellow Members or your fellow Members of the Cabinet secretly, you are going to be ruined and progress in nothing. Also, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I would like to call upon the President to check these things. We want to see this country developed to such an extent that the people will forget what we used to call tribalism in the past. Let us, the Members or the Cabinet Members, give a lead to demonstrate that nobody feels tribally biased in whatever post he holds.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, on this question of Rhodesia which brought about this Motion. It is clear that in Africa as a whole and neighbouring countries many people expected much more from Kenya. They expected our Government not only to support certain lines of action or endorse the right of the Rhodesian people to get independence; this was a foregone conclusion, but, Sir, we thought that the Kenya Government was going to strike a line of action and give a lead to Africa as the whole of Africa expected. We thought that that lead was going to be clearly expressed, we were going to be active. It was going to be realistic and we were going to be kept informed, and something much more effective, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, was going to be done in the shortest possible time. Now, sentence. What does this long sentence without any full stops in between seek to do in this House? This is what we want to know in this House. Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is no good anybody trying to divide this long sentence into two. They are not two sentences but one only. It is one long sentence with two semi-colons in between, and a full stop at the end. This one long sentence is seeking one thing only, and that is whether this House has confidence in the President or not, Mr. Speaker, Sir. This is the question before us.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, in opposing the amendment, I would like to say this. It is very unfortunate to try and separate the President from his Cabinet. This, Sir, has never been done anywhere, but for what reason is it trying to be done?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Mwendwa, we must make it very clear that the amendment does not seek to do that. It keeps in the Motion the words, "confidence in the President and his Government", it only cuts out some of the other words. You must not argue against something which is not there.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think I am coming to that. If I am not wrong in my assessment, then all that I am saying is that if you read the whole Motion as one, and one only, some Members have implied that—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Will the hon. Members please be quieter, if they have to talk?

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): Mr. Speaker, Sir, they have confidence in the President. They have stated here in this House that they have confidence in the President and there is no question about this. All I want to state, is this. It is no good any Member here saying that he has confidence in the President, but that he has no confidence in the Government as a whole.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Mwendwa, I must warn you that you are off the point. We have to get this quite clear. In moving his Motion, Mr. Mboya corrected what is written here by inserting in the last line but one the words "and his Government", after the word "President", so that you have now in the last line but one, "expressed full confidence in the President and his Government . . ." The amendment now proposed does not touch that at all. It leaves it intact, but seeks to remove other words. So there is no attempt by this amendment to make a distinction between the President and his Government. So it is irrelevant to argue on that.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker, Sir.

Now, Sir, at the moment what we are fighting about is whether this House has confidence in the President and his Government, so that can be left alone. Mr. Speaker, Sir, if I may say, that there are other groups which are speaking different languages and that is what we are opposing here. These are the groups which are splitting themselves up into various categories, fighting the very President that they are supporting, if I understand you correctly, and so on. Mr. Speaker, Sir, this is what I have to say and I think you had better listen.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I am listening. Mr. Mwendwa.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): Mr. Speaker, Sir,—

Mr. Odera-Sar: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, since the Minister is speaking on the nature of the grouping system, although I do not know what grouping system he is referring to, and because I am from Ugenya Constituency—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! What is your point of order, Mr. Odera-Sar?

Mr. Odera-Sar: Mr. Speaker, Sir, my point of order is this. When the President visited Ugenya Constituency— Mr. Speaker, Sir, I will only speak when the House is silent.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I want your point of order, Mr. Odera-Sar, very quickly.

Mr. Odera-Sar: Mr. Speaker, Sir, my point of order is this. The Minister is speaking about a group existing in this House, but when the President visited the Ugenya Constituency people of Ugenya—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Sit down, Mr. Odera-Sar. Mr. Odera-Sar, I did warn the House, at the request of hon. Members, that any false point of order from that time onwards would lead to the hon. Member concerned being sent out of the precincts of the House. This is a completely false point of order, and you will leave the precincts of the Assembly until the House rises. Serjeant-at-Arms!

(The hon. Odera-Sar retired from the Chamber)

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am going to be very short indeed. In fact, Sir, I do not want to take more than about one second more. My disappointment is that in a Motion like this, the merry men who, in 1962, stood to hear him say that he supports—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Would the hon. Members please control their conversations, so that those who want to hear can hear the Member on his feet. Otherwise, it is a sheer waste of time.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): Mr. Speaker, Sir, the men who, in 1962—

Mr. apg Soi: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, is it in order when you are on your feet for the Minister to continue standing?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, it is not. He forgot that.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to support.

Mr. Agar: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir,—

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to oppose this amendment.

Mr. Agar: Mr. Speaker, Sir, my point of order was to inquire into the Minister repeating himself, but now he has sat down.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, we have proved in Luo that even if it is your mother who has died you can still laugh, so, Sir, even if Members are so merry and yet on the other hand Members say that this is a very serious Motion, they are inconsistent. Here, Sir, in this House we were not elected to come here on any ticket to repeat what we thought we had done during the independence struggle. There are people who would like to look very brave nowadays. There are people in this country who would like to tell you of all sorts of things which they did for African independence, and there are also people, who at the same time, would like to try to say that everybody else was a coward, and that everyone else did nothing to gain independence.

(The Speaker (Mr. Slade) left the Chair)

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, our people never elected us on this kind of a ticket. Our people elected us on the understanding that when we came to this House to form a Government, that that Government would deliver the goods. Again, Sir, the President of this Republic announced during the election campaign that we would go to this House and forget the past and that we would have nothing to do with it. But, Sir, if that were so, I daresay that no European would be in this country or this House today, and also no Indian. But, Sir, because we say that we have become a mature nation and we are going to mould it and make it grow and develop it, our people agreed that we were coming here to build the nation. Why should we hear so much of what happened in the past, and of what somebody said on such-and-such an occasion whether this was that, or whether the Minister for Finance did sign this document or not? Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, these things to me are irrelevant.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, this debate here is about the Government having the confidence of the people. I do not separate the President from the Government because he is the Head of the Cabinet. Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, when it is said that people have confidence in the President alone, then one does not understand what one is talking about, because, Sir, the President controls the Cabinet, and one cannot come here and say that some Ministers are good and others are no good, or that the President is good and the Ministers are bad. If the President allows some Ministers who are no good, who cannot do much and cannot do what we want in his Cabinet, then we go to him and tell him to sack those Ministers. Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I want this House to consider today the fact that we are not going to indulge in personal recriminations. The worst we can do to this country and the sure way of killing any hope in our people is to come to this House and begin showing that we are better than our brothers. For example, I am holier than you, I am more progressive than you, I am more of a socialist than you. Why do we not leave our people outside for them to judge who is better than the others? Why do we come here and say that we are better than others? I would like to call myself better than any other person, but, Sir, I would feel ashamed to do that.

Therefore, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I condemn strongly, and also I know that my colleagues condemn strongly this attitude. Also the Africans outside condemn strongly those people who come to this House and make an issue of saying that they are better than the rest as their main theme in debate. But, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, what do people do in a democracy when you are elected by your people? You join a group you like and we are free to form any being put on their speeches, Mr. Speaker, Sir. What is the Standing Order just now, Sir, because those people—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I have answered this point of order twice already, Mr. Ngala-Abok. It is a valid point of order, but you must be careful with your points of order.

Mr. Khalif: Mr. Speaker, Sir, before I continue, because it would save a lot of explanation, I would like to know if I am supposed to combine debate on the Motion and the amendment or am I to speak on the amendment alone.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You can speak on both. But if you are speaking in favour of an amendment which leaves in a vote of confidence in the President and his Government—and you have read out the whole resolution as you would have it, which ends up with a vote of confidence in the President and his Government—you cannot speak against that, logically or with great interest to the House.

Mr. Khalif: Thank you, Sir, I understand now.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, we have been told by the hon. Mr. Anyieni that somebody like the hon. Mr. Gichuru, in the past, signed documents, which said that all the Mau Mau convicts should not be released.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to know what he did during that time and also what the hon. Mr. Anyieni did. I would like to know what the document he is referring to is.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You are asking him to substantiate?

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Yes, Sir.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): On yes, you can do that but be careful. You have been asked to substantiate, Mr. Khalif.

Mr. Khalif: Mr. Speaker, Sir, that statement was made here in this House by the hon. Mr. Anyieni about fifteen minutes ago, and that is what I am referring to. If the hon. Mr. Gichuru wanted it to be substantiated, then, he should have asked the previous speaker to substantiate.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Well, perhaps he was not here then. Unless you know it yourself, you had better withdraw it, even if Mr. Anyieni has said it.

Mr. Khalif: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not know much about this myself and will be perfectly honest with you.

Several hon. Members: Withdraw!

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! You cannot blame the hon. Member for referring to a statement made by another Member that was not challenged, but now it has been challenged, he withdraws because he does not know himself. He is behaving perfectly properly, so please leave him alone.

Mr. Odero-Sar: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, this question of the hon. Mr. Gichuru signing something—if at all he really did and in view of the fact that this thing has been going on—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Unless you can be very quick and clear on your point of order we must get on, Mr. Odero-Sar.

Mr. Odero-Sar: Mr. Speaker, Sir, what I would like to know is that for a very long time—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! We cannot spend this much time on points of order. Sit down, Mr. Odero-Sar.

Mr. Khalif: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to leave that alone, but would like to know from the Minister who is going to reply, the hon. Mr. Mboya, what is wrong specifically with those he calls progressives and those he calls socialists in Kenya, and also what he calls the prohibited Africa and the World magazine which notes that they call on the people to act on progressive line, or is it because the prohibited Africa and the World said that those in Kenya who are progressives and socialists should act instead of sitting on the fence? We strongly believe that we in Kenya need exercise instead of just sitting on the fence. Mr. Speaker, Sir, those of us in this House, in the country, politicians in Kanu and even ourselves in Kanu who are progressively minded, and those whose policy is based on socialism, should act instead of just sitting. Mr. Speaker, Sir, if the hon. Minister for Economic Planning and Development wants to know as to whether the people, let alone the Members of this Parliament, have confidence in the Government, then the only thing to do is to dissolve Parliament. We will go before another election. Mr. Speaker, Sir, bringing a Motion like this, does not help anything. If this Motion is passed tonight, it will not show that we have any more confidence in the Government than we did before. The Government will not really achieve anything, as it will not have more confidence shown in it. If the Government is doubtful of its confidence with the masses and the Members of Parliament, then it should dissolve—

Mr. Anyieni: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, is it in order for the hon. Minister for Finance to threaten me?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): To do what?

Mr. Anyieni: Threaten me.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I did not hear him threaten you.

Mr. Anyieni: He called me here and asked me to show him on what I based my statement.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I did not hear it. You had better carry on and perhaps get a little further away from each other. Mr. Gichuru, will you please control yourself, in your position particularly.

Mr. Khalif: Apart from seconding the amendment, Sir, which was proposed by the hon. Mr. Anyieni, I would like to say one last word, Sir.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I feel that the only way the Government can gain more confidence of the masses is to dissolve Parliament and go to the masses.

With these few words, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to support.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Hon. Members may not quite have understood, but Mr. Khalif is not, in fact, opposing the Motion; he was moving an amendment which is quite a different thing. When people move an amendment to a Motion it means that they support it substantively. So you must take it, in spite of what he said, that he seconded the amendment which supports the Motion.

I have to propose the question of the amendment.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think we must combine debate on this with debate on the main question.

Mr. Oduya: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I just stand to seek your help on this. Just before you came in we, as Back-benchers, had put up a point of order to your deputy and he indicated to the House that the chances only are for the Minister, is it in order for me to request you that since some of us have been waiting to speak, the Members would be given chances?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order, Mr. Oduya! I am sure that every Member would like to rise on a point of order and suggest that it is his turn to speak, but that rests with me and I will see how it goes.

I will call Mr. Mwendwa, now, but do not bother to rise until we have dealt with all these points of order. It is another burst of points of order.

Mr. G. G. Kariuki: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that we now know what is being debated here, and in view of the fact that we have sat here a long time, am I in order to move that the question be now put?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It is in order for any hon. Member to suggest the closure in a debate of this kind, but as there are so many Members interested in this, it is far too early to entertain the closure.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, the question of the amendment is the one which is now being proposed be now put, because, Sir, those supporting the amendment have put forward their views but the original—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Are you challenging my ruling about the closure?

Mr. Ngala-Abok: No, Sir.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Then sit down.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am very pleased to have to associate myself in opposing the amendment of this Motion. Mr. Speaker, Sir, this Motion is composed—

Mr. Odero-Sar: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am seeking your guidance. Since this Motion was introduced in this Parliament, you have been allowing the Ministers to speak on this Motion, now would you allow—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Sit down Mr. Odero-Sar. I warn hon. Members that if another hon. Member rises on a point of order that claims some sort of precedence in this debate, he will go out of the House.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): Mr. Speaker, I have said that I am very pleased to be personally associated with the opposition of the amendment to this Motion. Mr. Speaker, Sir, let me say, and I say it now in this House, that this Motion rather than the amendment, the Motion is composed of one sentence only. If the hon. Mover will read the Motion as it is from the word, "Whereas" up to the word "groups". Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is only one sentence. I am a teacher, and have taught for a few years, and the only thing which divides this long sentence is semi-colons. The first one appears after the year "1963.", another one appears after the word "fence," and then after the word "groups" there is a full stop. This, Sir, is far too long a sentence. It is one long

[Mr. Anyieni]

House. Those words should be deleted, from the words "noting also" down to the word "fence". All those words should be deleted.

An hon. Member: The whole thing.

Mr. Anyieni: No, it is not the whole thing; from the top to the word "policies" is included. That is where it has to do with the Government and Mzee. Who is quarrelling, my dear?

Also the words from "and being" after the word "matters" should also be deleted, down to the word "intentions". Then the words "expresses full confidence in the President" should be left there, and the words "and his Government" should be included. Mr. Speaker, I am proposing this amendment—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I believe, Mr. Anyieni, you wanted to delete the words of the last line also, did you not?

Mr. Anyieni: Yes, "and condemns those dissident and confused groups". Those should also be deleted.

Mr. Speaker. I am moving this because I believe that we do not want to pretend, honestly. For example, the hon. Mr. Tom Mboya is more to the right, the hon. Mr. Anyieni is more to the left, but this is typical even in America—

An hon. Member: To the left of where?

Mr. Anyieni: Of the central line, which is Mzee Kenyatta.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, even in the United States which is completely capitalistic, there are some on the left side and some on the right. Everywhere you go, even in your own family, with your children, there are some a little bit to the left and some a little bit to the right. But the most important thing is that we are lucky that we have somebody who can accommodate all of us, and continue with peace and the progress the hon. Minister was talking about. But why should we be magnifying this idea of groups? We know that the hon. Ministers meet together and discuss things over a drink. If one has Sh. 5, he buys drinks and they drink and they discuss. If I also have Sh. 5 I can call my friends and we discuss something. There is nothing wrong with this. I can never agree with him when he says that unity does not mean unanimity, because you never have this, even you and your wife.

Now, Mr. Speaker, if this is intended to bring unanimity, it is impossible, Mr. Speaker. I say that if I were to sit down and we were to vote without having regard to our past activities, the hon. Minister would have agreed, but because of these past activities I think he will never agree with me.

An hon. Member: Address the Chair.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! The hon. Member is quite in order.

Mr. Anyieni: I believe that we have differences here, but we are lucky, and we hope that even after Mzee Kenyatta, there will be somebody who can still keep the groups together in the interests of the majority of our people. We believe, Mr. Speaker, that we shall not have a situation whereby America and Russia are going to say, "All right, if you don't agree, box, box." Then our country may become the battle-ground for the big powers. We do not want this, Mr. Speaker.

With those few words, I beg to move the amendment to this Motion.

Mr. Khalif: Mr. Speaker, Sir, for those who did not really follow the amendment, our amendment reads as follows, Sir:—

WHEREAS the Government of the Republic of Kenya under the leadership of the President, Mzee Jomo Kenyatta, has carried out faithfully its mandate as approved by the people at the General Election in 1963;

AND WHEREAS all the Government's activities and policies have been based on a faithful interpretation of the democratic will of the people, as expressed in the Constitution of the Republic, the Kanu Manifesto and Sessional Paper No. 10—African Socialism and its application to planning in Kenya;

AND WHEREAS the President of the Republic and his Government have spared no effort in securing the unity of all the people of Kenya under Kanu so as to create the political stability needed for the effective and rapid development of the country;

NOTING that in these past months some leaders and even Members of Parliament have used words or made statements implying lack of confidence in the Government, its activities and its policies, this House, having regard to all these matters, expresses full confidence in the President and his Government.

That, Sir, is what we have come here to support and that is what we have to be logical about. Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is clear and it has been indicated by the fact that this Motion has been put forward by some Members and that some parts of this Motion are immaterial. It is immaterial because it refers to methods which are also quite immaterial. It talks about groups, progressive and socialist groups, but, Sir, as far as I am concerned I do not see any reason why some people should be deprecated because they are either socialist-minded or progressive-minded. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not see why some people should fear being described as being progressive. There is no reason at all, Sir, why any of us should fear being termed as progressive or socialist. For that matter, Sir, there is no reason following the Motion, why such a Motion should be brought to undermine or to try and indicate that those who are progressive-minded, and those who are socialist-minded have no room in Kenya.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is doubtless that the people of Kenya feel greatly indebted to Mzee Jomo Kenyatta. There is no question about that. We know that it was the Mzee Jomo Kenyatta who led the struggle for freedom in this country, and there is nobody who is going to doubt that. There is nobody who is questioning that. But, Mr. Speaker, Sir, we also know that there are some people who are trying to use the name of Mzee Jomo Kenyatta, who are trying to use His Excellency the President's name, in order to try and build themselves up, to try and right the wrongs. Mr. Speaker, Sir, if we are going to accept this Motion, then we might as well indicate that the Members in this House unanimously agree to be led blindly, by those people who brought this Motion to the House.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, as far as the hon. Members are concerned, it is Kanu which brought the hon. President and his Government into power, but, Sir, what is Kanu? It is not camouflaged. Kanu is composed of the people of this country. Those people are the ones that now suggest that because in 1963 the then members of Kanu, as many of them have now left, brought the Government and the then Prime Minister into power, that now we should bring a vote of confidence, is immaterial and ridiculous. Mr. Speaker, Sir, if today a private Member brings in a vote of no confidence and then wherever he is being urged in this Motion, then that would have been logical, but now that nobody has brought any Motion of no confidence in the Government, we in the party ourselves, and the Minister in the Government brings a vote of confidence in the Government. Mr. Speaker, Sir, who has expressed that they do not have any confidence in the Government?

Mr. Kiprotich: You, Mr. Khalif.

Mr. Khalif: I beg your pardon, Sir, is the hon. Member who says that I expressed that I had no confidence in the Government in order?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You can I think, ask him to substantiate.

Mr. Khalif: That, Sir, is what I am doing.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): All right, then you sit down and let him do it. Which Member are you asking to substantiate?

Mr. Khalif: The hon. Kiprotich.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Kiprotich, you are being required to substantiate your statement that Mr. Khalif has at times expressed no confidence in this Government. Can you do that?

Mr. Kiprotich: Not to my knowledge, Mr. Speaker, Sir, and because I do not want to express my views I withdraw, but think that all the Shifita are the people causing all this trouble.

Mr. Khalif: Mr. Speaker, Sir, even after withdrawing his remark, the word Shifita which was mentioned by the same hon. Member, but, Sir, I am not going to pursue it because I know, and so does everybody know, that I am not a Shifita, and neither have I ever indicated lack of confidence in this Government.

Sir, although we appreciate all these things, and all the learned people of Kenya appreciate it also, we feel that there is some difference between the Mzee Kenyatta of Gatundu and the President of Kenya. There is a difference, Sir, if what is referred to here is Mzee Jomo Kenyatta, then let me say point blank that in no uncertain terms that everybody, in so far as I know, has confidence in Mzee Jomo Kenyatta. But, Sir, if we are referring to the Mzee, the President, in his capacity as Head of State, it is a different thing. Mr. Speaker, Sir, the difference is when something is manoeuvred by the public and also in the papers that there are certain Ministers in Mzee's Cabinet who are corrupt and who have betrayed the people and the nation. We then think twice as to whether we confide in the President as the Head of State or the Member for Gatundu. We have every confidence in the Mzee Jomo Kenyatta as a man, which is quite different. I think it is different the President being Head of State and also the Member for Gatundu.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I would remind you, Mr. Khalif, that you are speaking to an amendment which leaves in a vote of confidence to the President and his Government. You cannot speak against what you are supposed to be moving or seconding.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, we shall be sleeping here if even those who are speaking in support of the amendment were allowed to speak without any limit

[Mr. Anyien]

Mr. Speaker, at this time, to say that Mzee Kenyatta was the leader, was really a terrible thing. Then the hon. Mr. Odinga did say that the British and the Kenya Colonial Government must know that in the heart of hearts of the African people Jomo Kenyatta and those who were restricted with him were the leaders of the people. Now, at that time, Mr. Speaker, we know that very many of our people today, who are saying Kenyatta is wonderful, were the people who had no guts to stand by him; they denounced him, even Mzee Odinga, to give a challenge to Dr. Kioko—I am sorry that he is not here: I do not like to speak about him when he is not here—to convene a meeting in Central Province and share a platform on this particular point. This was not done. At last, and slowly, every member joined in the chorus and we all joined and, as a result, Mzee is out.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Anyien, I think a lot of what you are saying is of very great interest to us this evening, but there is a limit to past history. We are concerned with present confidence. The background is important, but we cannot go right through details of the history of all past years, you know. Try to make it short.

Mr. Anyien: I was trying to quote this, Mr. Speaker, because the problem we have today did not start today, and it is very important that we know the background of the whole thing, so that the world is not deceived, because we have never had the opportunity to give the background of the whole divisions that exist in our country today, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Agar: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, if this is going to take so much of the time of the House—that is, the recitation of what did take place—is it fair for some of us who were in the heart of that struggle and who have records, magazines and newspaper cuttings, to keep on listening to some of the things which are actually inaccurate and the Member does not have documents here to prove it?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! This is a valid point of order, to the extent that, if we get too involved in the past history of this country, we shall have wandered, before we finish, rather far from the subject matter of this debate. I would not say that past history and background are altogether irrelevant, but I would ask hon. Members to keep that part pretty short. The real issue is present confidence. Mr. Anyien is opening a very wide door by going along on this ground.

Mr. Anyien: Mr. Speaker, I think that is enough of the past.

Mr. Speaker, when Mzee came out, he found a situation where even Kanu, the party, was divided into two factions. When Mzee came out, he tried to put together Kanu/Kadu, but he also had a problem within Kanu and we must give him credit, honestly, for having worked in such a way that he has been able to keep the hon. Mr. Odinga together with the hon. Mr. Mboya in the interests of unity and in the interests of the country. I thought that what should be done now is to try, as much as we can, to minimize some of these differences. Maybe, when we meet each other with a glass of beer, we can discuss them, but we should not make them the subject of a major discussion like this.

What I fear, Mr. Speaker, is this. Today, some of us want to implicate and to bring Mzee Kenyatta face to face; we want to take him to ourselves, in order that he may help us to crush our opponents. What I think is being done here, Mr. Speaker, is this. You can go to Kamukuni, to any meeting even in the remote parts of Kisumu, and people will tell you they have confidence in Mzee and they have confidence in his Government. Honestly speaking, Mr. Speaker, when a matter like this is brought— for example, in Britain, when a matter has to be brought by the party itself—by the ruling party—trying to express confidence in that Government, it means that something went wrong and, as a result, you have to get the Parliament to pass a vote of confidence in the Government in order that that may be covered. What, honestly, has gone wrong?

We know that the hon. Mr. Gichuru went to Lagos. Personally, I do not know exactly what he said. The first time I heard about what he said was when I read this paper Africa and the World. The hon. Mr. Gichuru got a copy of this paper before this was a matter of discussion in the Senate. What we had expected him to do was to denounce it and say that he did not make such a statement, and also say that he was going to sue the paper. But the only thing we heard was that when this matter was brought to the Senate, our Ministers went there and they said they had nothing to do with this paper and, as a matter of fact, the first person to ban the paper was the very man about whom the paper was speaking.

It seems as if, Mr. Speaker, this Motion has been brought as a result, not of the speech but of the comment of this paper. Honestly speaking, there is mention here of progressives and of the socialists. I am not ashamed to say that I am progressive-minded; I am not ashamed to say that I believe in socialism, whether you call it

[Mr. Anyien]

African Socialism, Kenyan, or, if you want to call it that, Majoje-Bassi Socialism, or whatever type of socialism you want to call it. I am a socialist. I do not understand why there is something wrong with being progressive. I waited for my friend who has read books. He might not have been to school for many years, but I know he has read enough to understand, but he did not tell us what this word "progressive", which he does not like, means. As far as I am concerned, my definition may be wrong because it is my own. I did not read it anywhere; being progressive means that I would like the country to progress toward the wish of the majority of the people in the country. I also believe, Mr. Speaker—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): There is a point of information suggested by Mr. Ekitella.

Mr. Anyien: No, Mr. Speaker, I do not think I should be diverted.

Being progressive, Mr. Speaker, means that I believe that there should be continuous, progressive changes. There should be changes in the interests of our people, and every time we come to this House we thank the Government very much for this and that, but we say that this also needs doing. Mr. Speaker, if we had Members here bringing a Motion into this House, trying to discredit the Government and trying to overthrow the Government, this Motion could have been justified, but, Mr. Speaker, the hon. Mover did agree also that there were a lot of things which needed doing, and we know there are. We also know, Mr. Speaker, that it is very easy for me to say that we want secondary education, but for him, who is doing it, it is very difficult because he has to look for the money but then, while he is trying to do what he can with the money, it is also my duty to tell him, because, as a Member, how can I keep quiet and tell him everything is all right? If I tell him everything is all right, it will be very bad.

You can quote, Mr. Speaker, the speeches we make in our own constituencies. I have never made a speech in my constituency, telling my people that the Government has failed them; I have never said that. What I have said is—

An hon. Member: You have said this.

Mr. Anyien: I have never said that. Mr. Speaker, nobody should bear false witness against another. I have never said that.

What I have said in this House is that this is what we think should be done and then we say that we believe the Government is coming. For example, they have given us free medical treatment. It is our duty as Back-benchers to tell the Government we want this and that done; it is our duty.

If the Ministers who take this as being against Government believe that the duty of a Member, who is not a Minister, in a one-party Government, is just to say that Government has done wonderfully, and finish it there, we shall be failing our people. When I go to my constituency, Mr. Speaker, people come to me; it is me they want to slaughter, it is me they blame, they do not see any Government there. They say, "Anyien, you people promised us this and you have not brought it. What is wrong with you people? We do not want to see you." Then what I do, Mr. Speaker, is to say to them, "My dear friends, we are doing the best we can." but when I come here I must relay those wishes of the people and this must not be taken to mean that I am against the Government or any other Member who speaks like that is particularly against the Government.

What the Government should do is this. If I speak like that and Government finds that those words I speak are not enough, and after I have said those words, I go again and engage myself in underground ways to try and overthrow the Government, the Government should arrest me and put me into gaol for the sake of peace. Mr. Speaker, it is a very well-known fact that if one tries to overthrow a popularly-elected Government, one must suffer for it, and I do not believe that the Minister who is saying "Oh" is saying that he has known people who have been going against Government and they do not want to do anything. It would be failing the country.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I do not want to go too far on this Motion. All I would like to say, Mr. Speaker, is this. If the Government has or if the Mover and the group which met in some mysterious place have some facts—

An hon. Member: Where?

Mr. Anyien: I do not know where, that is why I am calling it mysterious. If they have some facts that we have some elements who, at this time, are trying to interfere with the security of the country, to shed blood, the Government has the power to act. I do not see why the Government cannot act.

Mr. Speaker, I have amended this Motion. From the beginning of the Motion—where it starts with whereas—all those words are very good down to the word "policies". All the other words are immaterial, useless, intended to create more divisions, intended to bring instability in the country. I do not think they are of any use to this

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, we did not know why they differed, we were not there, and I do not really know why they differed, but as a result, each of this group was trying to get some financial help and it must be admitted here that the hon. Mr. Mboya did go to the Western countries, particularly to America, to seek financial help. In those days, it was to fight for political independence for the African people in Kenya. When the hon. Mr. Mboya seemed to be having too much of this money, the hon. Mr. Odinga also thought, "This is going to become dangerous, he is a young man, he is going to crash, so I think I must also go to the Eastern countries—maybe Moscow of Peking." I do not know where he went, but the fact is that he must also have—I was then at home, my friend, I did not know very well. You were here.

Then, Mr. Speaker, he also obtained some money, as I said for the hon. Tom Mboya, to help him in the struggle for the independence of the African people.

Mr. Speaker, these two gentlemen started arguing. There have been a lot of arguments, there have been a lot of differences between them. I would like to quote a few, Mr. Speaker, so that I can put correctly the situation which Mzee Kenyatta inherited and which was not of his own making.

For example, Mr. Speaker, the hon. Mr. Gichuru—I do not know whether he is in here—and the hon. Tom Mboya went to West Germany. I think this was in 1962. They said that if Kenya achieved independence, they would negotiate with the British Government for their troops to remain in our country after independence, and also that there would be no taking away of land without compensation.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I hate to interrupt the hon. Member and I think what he says is of interest to the House and to the country. I would, however, ask that he does substantiate the point he is making about what we are supposed to have negotiated in West Germany, so that, if we are to reply, we know what we are talking about.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes. Can you substantiate what you are saying, Mr. Anyieni?

Mr. Anyieni: I am very sorry for one thing, that I went to the library this afternoon to try and get the cutting because I knew the date, but I was told that all the papers from that date to this day were burned last week but one. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, if given time, maybe I could get this from some other quarter, but this was reported, Mr. Speaker, in the Daily Nation. As a result of this—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, before we go on to the result, we are concerned with substantiation. These things are very important. You must either tell us now on what ground you have alleged this particular thing, or, undertake to produce the evidence on which you allege it, within a very short time, or withdraw it.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, if you give me about two years, I think I will get it; I will try to get some old cuttings. I think I can get them, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes. If you cannot—

Mr. Anyieni: Then I will come and—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Tell the House.

Mr. Anyieni: Yes. I will come and tell the House.

Mr. Speaker, as a result, when we heard of this, we said that this is dangerous. We formed what was then called the "ginger group" within Kanu. This was started by people like Akumu, ourselves and others, like hon. Senator Josef Mathenge. We opposed this. We said, Mr. Speaker, that we did not want any British troops to remain in our country after independence, and that also the land which the European settlers were on was our land and there would be no need for compensating them; the only thing we might do was to compensate them for the development on the land and not the naked land as it was given to us by God.

Mr. Speaker, these were some of the differences. I am starting where we started not to see eye to eye, and let people not blame Mzee Kenyatta for these differences because he was not there. When we said this, Mr. Speaker, the Manifesto of Kanu was changed, and as a result, some of the things which we said, were included and there was a negotiated agreement, so we agreed at last; we had Kanu.

But then there were several things, Mr. Speaker. There was, for example, a time when Dr. Waiyaki stood to fight the election in Nairobi and swore an affidavit that he was only going to fight that election so that when Mzee Kenyatta came out of gaol, he would vacate the seat automatically and leave it for Mzee Kenyatta to occupy, so that he would become a Member of Parliament. Now, the hon. Mr. Mboya also stood and the hon. Mr. Warithi was here, he was one of the lawyers who was called to witness the signature of the hon. Mr. Mboya.

[Mr. Anyieni]

Mr. Speaker, there was a time when the hon. Mr. Odinga believed that the only man who could stand in Nairobi and still give his seat to Mzee Kenyatta was Dr. Waiyaki and not the hon. Mr. Mboya. So, the hon. Mr. Odinga supported Dr. Waiyaki to fight the hon. Mr. Mboya, because he did not believe that if Mr. Mboya obtained that seat, he would ever give it to Mzee Kenyatta. The fact is that when this was done, the hon. Mr. Mboya and the hon. Mr. Gichuru came together and they suspended Mr. Odinga from the vice-presidency of the party. When the Governing Council was called, these gentlemen were made to withdraw and to apologize for the act they had done. As a result, Mr. Odinga was never suspended.

This is some of the background to what we are subjected to tonight.

Mr. Speaker, things went on like this. Surely, Mr. Speaker, let us be honest and, if we agree that the hon. Mr. Odinga was getting some money from the East, we must also agree that these people in the East could not give him money to create a capitalist State in Kenya. There must be some Socialist State. This we must accept. Equally, we must accept, Mr. Speaker, that the money which the hon. Mr. Mboya was getting from the West was to help him to create a capitalist state in our country. This is the basis of the whole problem, and we must face it; there is no point hiding it.

Mr. Speaker, these two giants who happened to come from the same tribe, their differences started to widen, widen and widen. By 1966, they are very much apart. Here we must agree that we have factions in this House. The background of everybody must be taken into account. It is not the first time that the hon. Mr. Gichuru has said something and withdrawn it. The hon. Mr. Gichuru did sign a paper to say that all people convicted Mau Mau should not be released. At the time, when he was signing this, Mzee Kenyatta was convicted as Mau Mau.

So, in other words, he was signing a blank cheque and was allowing the imperialists to write any amount they wanted and in this amount they wrote that Mzee Kenyatta was one of the people who must never come back.

Mr. Speaker, in the former House where we were, in those days I was young; I must agree I was not actively, openly in politics, but in my small way, I was also a politician and very faithful to the national cause. Mr. Speaker, we were whispering secretly, making sure no Government informant was hearing us: "We know Kenyatta is the leader, we know Kenyatta is the leader, we know Kenyatta is the leader." Then one day, this old man Odinga came to the House. I do not know what happened to him, but he forgot that there was any security problem involved. So he said "Release Kenyatta." This was the time when the British had conspired to kill Mzee Kenyatta, to kill Kaggia at Kapenguria, or wherever they were—

Mr. Kiprotich: On a point of order, Sir, I was there and Mr. Argwings-Kodhek—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! You have a point of order, Mr. Kiprotich?

Mr. Kiprotich: Yes, Sir. We do not want to mislead the public here when we say that we come here to tell the truth. If I am lying, Mr. Speaker, Sir, Mr. Argwings-Kodhek was the president at that time of the Congress Party. Is it in order for the hon. Anyieni today to quote some false information because I and he were there?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! Mr. Kiprotich, you cannot make a big speech on a point of order, but you can do what I think you are trying to do, that is to ask the hon. Member to substantiate what he alleges.

Mr. Kiprotich: Mr. Speaker, can he substantiate when we as the Congress at that time approached anyone at any time of the day?

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, I have not mentioned the word "Congress" in this House and what the hon. Member is asking me to substantiate about the Congress and Mr. Kodhek, I have not mentioned the hon. Kodhek; I have not mentioned the Congress. What I was saying, Mr. Speaker—and I do not think any Member who was reading the papers and who has ever read the HANSARD can refute this—is that one day, when a letter reached London from Mzee Kenyatta and those who were imprisoned with him saying that they were being starved and they were not getting water, the matter came to the Legislative Assembly then.

An hon. Member: Who produced it?

Mr. Anyieni: I do not know who produced it. You can give me that information.

An hon. Member: He is there.

Mr. Anyieni: We give him credit for it.

When it was introduced by the hon. T. J. Mboya—I do not want to hide credit, I am not doing that—the—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order!

Mr. Anyieni: I am a young man, I can twist. I am not too old for twisting!

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): I hope that the hon. Member who still owes me some money—and this was long before he was a Member of this House—

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, I do not know whether the hon. speaker has withdrawn the remark in which he referred to the hon. Ndile as nothing. Is it in order to refer to a Member like that, Mr. Deputy Speaker?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): No, no, it is not in order. In fact, I told the Minister that he should not address remarks directly to any hon. Member in any event, and I think he will not do so.

Mr. Gichuru, you have withdrawn that?

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): I have, Sir.

Mr. Bala: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, would the hon. Member speaking substantiate the fact that one Member—I would like to know his name—owes him some money?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): No, order! This is not a fraudulent point of order. If I thought it was a point of order which was completely ridiculous, I would send him out, but it is a point of order that could be raised and in which one could be genuinely mistaken about the type of facts which need to be substantiated. This is not the type of fact which needs to be substantiated, so you carry on.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): I apologize to my personal friend here, that I had—he provoked me to make a reference—

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Then do not get provoked.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Right. No, it does not matter; I do not care.

What I was trying to refer to was that the remarks which were made here earlier on were not my own, and I have just read the remarks that I made. There is still further explanation, which I gave the other day. I did, indeed, expand on this theme, because in the communique that was issued, the part dealing with assistance in training Rhodesia Africans, it was said that the Prime Ministers were agreed that planned assistance to a lawfully constituted government of Rhodesia should begin at once. They, therefore, approved the establishment of a special Commonwealth programme to help accelerate the training of Rhodesian Africans and it directed the Secretary-General to arrange, as soon as possible, a meeting of educational and technical assistance experts to consider detailed projects of aid by Commonwealth countries, including the early establishment of an administrative training centre in Rhodesia.

This is what I was referring to earlier this afternoon. I think anybody who has the interest of these Africans at heart in Rhodesia would support that as much money—and Britain has definitely promised this—should be made available to ensure that these people—and as I said here in this statement, Africans in Rhodesia are not as well organized as they are in West Africa, or here in Kenya. This is true.

An hon. Member: How do you know?

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): I know because I have read. I am not like you, I read newspapers and you can tell it from the reports that we read of the conflict that there is in Rhodesia today between the African groups. I only said they are not as well organized; I did not say that they could not take over the Government. This is the issue, that the newspaper, that magazine, has tried to build on, that I said that they were not capable of taking over their Government. I never said anything like that, and this is what, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I would like to refute very strongly. This is why I am happy that if the Minister for Information, although he does not—the other day I went to Limuru. We had the opening of a school. Over the radio, my name never appeared as the Member for the area, and this is the policy that the Minister carries out.

My point is, where he thought he could get me, he has taken a lot of trouble, wasted a lot of money, to try and buy these films, just to blacken my name. He has failed. This is the only thing that there is in the Independent Television. I would like this damned thing—oh, sorry, I withdraw that word. This is why I feel that this record ought to be played because you will find that there was a question and then I gave my answer. There is nothing wrong. This is why I am happy that the film should be shown. There is something very important that I was going to say; I thought the Minister was going to wait—

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onyko): I am here.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Oh, he is here.

I would like to put it this way. Honestly, I feel that it would not be fair—it is not a fight between me and him—it would be extremely unfair for me to make some of the quotations that people who were imprisoned with him have been making, because I was not there and I cannot substantiate, but they do say a lot of read here were not mine: the words to the effect that the Africans of Rhodesia are not quite ready to replace Smith's régime; those were not my words. This was supposed to be an introduction to the question, and I refute it, and I challenge the Minister himself. He has taken a lot of trouble, although he has never tried to ask me about it. As I said, His Excellency the President went to open my school, in my own area, and he described this area as Ruiru. This was done deliberately, and my name never appeared over the radio, although the newspapers did mention it.

Mr. Gichoya: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, we have been given valuable information from the Minister for Finance. Would he substantiate the statement he has made, so that we are not left in ignorance?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): No, no, I am afraid. Mr. Gichoya, by now you know that is not a point of order. I am afraid you had better leave the Chamber.

(Mr. Gichoya withdrew from the Chamber)

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I did not have any intention of trying to whitewash myself—

Mr. Bala: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I do not mind going out of the Chamber so long as I raise my point of order. Mr. Deputy Speaker, my point of order is this. Could we really allow the Minister to get away with it when he is making very serious allegations that some people have informed him about the activities of the Minister when he is not prepared to substantiate? Can we allow that?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Mr. Okuto Bala, I explained just now, and, in fact, you are being quite unfair to me and to the House, that this is not the type of thing to be substantiated. Mr. Gichuru has not made any allegation. He did make a passing reference to something and he said that at some future date he may bring up, so there is nothing to ask him to substantiate when there is no allegation made. He did say that some of the chaps did say something which he would not like to bring because it was personal and it was not a direct fight between him and the Minister. There may have been a possibility that some of these things were not very complimentary to the Minister, but one cannot start delving into all the possible effects of what a person might hear or have heard and now, particularly, having made a ruling just now to the same effect, you stand up and want to challenge the ruling, which is most unfair. I must ask you to leave the Chamber.

(Mr. Bala withdrew from the Chamber)

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Mr. Deputy Speaker, all I want to make very clear was that the first words that the Minister

read here were not mine: the words to the effect that the Africans of Rhodesia are not quite ready to replace Smith's régime; those were not my words. This was supposed to be an introduction to the question, and I refute it, and I challenge the Minister himself. He has taken a lot of trouble, although he has never tried to ask me about it. As I said, His Excellency the President went to open my school, in my own area, and he described this area as Ruiru. This was done deliberately, and my name never appeared over the radio, although the newspapers did mention it.

[The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza) left the Chair]

So I can understand why he has taken all this interest, although he takes no other interest in other things to bring this affair up. Thank you. I support the Motion.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I wish to thank the Member who brought this Motion today, but I regret that, for some reason which he never told us, he has forced us to discuss it today.

Mr. Speaker, one hon. Member is saying that I do not like the hon. Mr. Mboya. In politics maybe I do not like him, but tomorrow he may be my saviour and so I do not think there is any permanency there.

Mr. Speaker, I intend to move an amendment to this Motion, as I have already notified you, and before I give this amendment, I would like to say that there are some words which have been included in this Motion which are completely unreasonable.

Mr. Speaker, it is a very well-known fact that when the President of this Republic was sent to gaol by the Colonialists, those who remained outside did their part. Here I must thank the hon. Mover of this Motion for the part he played and all the other Members who did something to help the African people while Mzee and others were inside. Mr. Speaker, while Mzee was inside, the hon. Members will remember that there were divisions. Some parties were formed and later on there were Kanu and Kadu as the national political parties. Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is a very well-known fact that in that very Kanu, which was formed by our leaders then, after a few days, there were some differences. Whether these gentlemen went to London and had a quarrel for a girl or something else, we do not know, but then, Mr. Speaker, as a result—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I do not want these running commentaries, please.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Oneko): My hon. colleague, the Minister for Finance is trying to say that he wants to quote me in Lamu. Where was he when I was in Lamu?

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Yes, I will tell you.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Oneko): Was he not hiding here? Where was he when I was kept away from my family?

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I would like to state—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Make sure it is a point of order.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): On a point of clarification—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Oh, well, no. It is for the Minister to give way or not, on a point of clarification. Do you give way, Mr. Oneko?

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Oneko): No, Sir, since the hon. Member is going to have a chance—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! Hon. Members please keep calm. We are using up a lot of late hours with great hardship on some of our staff to get through this debate, and I would ask hon. Members to use this time properly.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Oneko): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think I have made use of this time. I have been trying to be as honest as possible to myself, this House and the nation, and if some hon. Members do doubt my honesty, I do not mind. I am a simple countryman and I will serve in any capacity, and what I do not want, Mr. Speaker, is for some groups—when I refer to groups, who in this House does not know that when the Corner Bar is not meeting, there is always quiet in this House? When there is agitation and some infiltration, there is always trouble.

An hon. Member: From where?

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Oneko): From where? You know where.

So, Mr. Speaker, we have taken this opportunity, and it would be very wrong—I would appeal to hon. Members to speak until one o'clock, so that we can speak again tomorrow, to give more information to this House, rather than to be limited until twelve. This is a very serious issue, Mr. Speaker, and therefore to apply a manoeuvre by which some people's opinions will be suppressed because some people seem to say that they belong to a majority group, is wrong. We belong to one group, and that is the Kenya group. I have heard in this House that there are some people who are being challenged because they are socialists or progressive. Can one tell me about this? Even in Great Britain there are left-wingers, even in the Parliament, and left-wingers are always the ginger group to push the Government to do something. What is wrong with that?

Or do you just want us to walk in and say that you are very good always? This is not government. Government is like a family and in a family there will always be people to push even the father. We are family men, we have some children who push us to do something. What is wrong with that? I do not want to be called anything. If you call me a socialist, I am an African socialist. But calling me leftist, I do not know what that means, but I know that I follow the policy of our country, which is contained in Sessional Paper No. 10. What is wrong with that? Everybody supports that.

So, Mr. Deputy Speaker, if I have been doubted on anything about the film, about the script—now, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I do not want to be, with due respect to the hon. Member for nowhere—

Hon. Members: Question, question.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Oneko): This is why I feel, Mr. Deputy Speaker, that there should not be these small doses, where you are suffering from malaria and somebody gives you something else. The best thing in order to get rid of some Members who are Members of nowhere and Members who think—

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Murgor): On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, is there an hon. Member of nowhere?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! Order! I think you are strictly correct, Mr. Murgor. Technically, he is a Specially Elected Member and I think he should be referred to as a Specially Elected Member.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Oneko): Mr. Deputy Speaker, I do, with respect, submit to what you have ruled and that he is a Specially Elected Member, but he is not the Member for any place.

[The Minister for Information and Broadcasting]

Mr. Deputy Speaker, this is the liberty that we always ask for, this is the freedom that we always ask for. Myself, I have heard Members saying that they do not want to be pocketed. Who wants to pocket you if you do not want to be pocketed? These are far-fetched arguments and we should not allow ourselves to use words like that. These are some of the words which we were using during the campaign of Kanu and Kadu. These days we have been advised by our President to forget the past, and we are trying to do so. So, as regards the question of being pocketed, if one has allowed himself to be slow and succumbed to be pocketed, it is up to him and his constituency.

But we have a policy to guide us. This is the main thing. We have a policy to guide us to achieve what we stood for. In fact, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I want in conclusion to say this. I have already made some proposals which I hope other Members may raise when they stand to speak. I have the honour, Mr. Deputy Speaker, to lay this paper on the Table as the property of this House, and I have indicated that when this film comes—of course, it will speak for itself—it will be announced and then it will be shown to justify and to support the freedom that we are always looking for, and so I should not be accused again in this House or elsewhere of suppressing somebody's genuine opinion.

So, Mr. Deputy Speaker, with these remarks, I would like to support the Motion that will be on the basis I have proposed, expressing full confidence in His Excellency the President of Kenya, Jomo Kenyatta, and the Republic of Kenya. But I do condemn very strongly, Mr. Deputy Speaker, in this House the use of the name of President Jomo Kenyatta when some people go for protection.

PAPER LAID

Independent Television News: International Newsfilm Service—Roving Report, dated 12th January 1966.

(By the Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Oneko))

(Resumption of debate on Motion)

Mr. Ngala-Abok: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker—

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! Order! I thought I heard a point of order. Please, I hope you have heard the ruling of the Speaker, which I propose to pursue.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I am raising a point of order. Members of Parliament who are not Ministers are very much interested in this Motion and since this Motion started, we have seen Members of the Cabinet struggling and fighting. Should it not be—

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Mr. Ngala-Abok, please sit down. I will not send you out this time, but I will in future take this action. I appreciate that there are hon. Members here who think and who feel that Back-benchers should be given a chance, and they will be given a chance—there is no doubt about it—but I think that when there is a particular Minister so directly involved, he should be given a chance to explain himself.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I stand to make a quotation from the paper that has just been laid on the Table.

The first part, which was quoted as if it was I who had said it, simply says, "Treason or not, Mr. Gichuru of Kenya realizes that the Africans of Rhodesia are not quite ready to replace Mr. Smith's régime." I never said that. It is here. I mean the quotation is not against my name. I was asked that question and that is how they put it, and this is what I said. "Well, it would be very stupid if we were to ask for immediate take-over. The Africans in Rhodesia are not as well organized as they are here, in West Africa, or as they are in East Africa, if I might claim that, much." This is a fact. Some of the freedom fighters that he has been quoting—

An hon. Member: Who is he?

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): You know him, the Minister here.

They fight here in Dar es Salaam. They dare not go to Rhodesia. I mean, how can you fight? Others live a luxurious life in London. They live well, they have cars and luxurious places in which to live, apartments.

If we have to be honest, we have to understand this, and this is all that is being quoted against me. This is what he is going to play on the tape recorder; that is all, nothing more. I would be 100 per cent happy if this was played, because it does not reflect on anything that is wrong.

You can be what you are, Ndile, you are nothing I know—

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Mr. Gichuru, you must address the Chair. Order! Order!

Mr. Gatuguta: Mr. Speaker, Sir, this matter is becoming very interesting indeed. In the first instance the leader of the House can walk out, in the second place the Ministers seem—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): This is not a point of order, you know.

Mr. Gatuguta: I am making a point of order, Mr. Speaker. The Ministers seem to disagree on this Motion. Is it in order for this House then to assume that the President of this country has no advisers, because the Ministers are supposed to be his advisers?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! You have no point of order there. You may have a debating point, it is quite a different thing.

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that some of us take this matter very seriously and in view of the fact that there are a lot of points of order that are not points of order, could you now rule that anybody standing on a point of order which is not a point of order will be sent out of this Chamber?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! Yes, I will do that, I will warn hon. Members. Any one who rises on a point of order which is not strictly a valid point of order will go. Order! Order! Mr. Oneko your rest continues a little longer.

The Assistant Minister for Works, Communications and Power (Mr. Bonnett): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, when we started this debate you ruled, after a long wrangle, that this was a Government Motion and it was accepted that it was a Government Motion and now the Minister has said that he was speaking as a Minister and now he is saying that if he had been consulted he would have removed part of this Motion. Now, where are we, Mr. Speaker?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! I think the hon. Member is entitled to point this out, but I cannot see how it is a point of order. Hon. Members have been told so many times, and I hope in particular Ministers have listened, that a point of order is only a point of actual procedure or a matter of some hon. Member breaking the Standing Orders of this House in some way. I cannot see how the point Mr. Bonnett has raised is a point of order and I shall, therefore, ask him to leave the precincts of the House.

(Mr. Bonnett withdrew from the Chamber)

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onoko): Mr. Speaker, Sir, the reason why I am suggesting some amendment to the Resolution is this: We are trying to invite and to include unnecessary things, we are capable of running our own Government, if we feel that there has been quite a lot of criticism in the country, which we consider to be destructive, some of the things which, of course, I would have brought here if this House was allowed to sit until tomorrow, some of the remarks made by Members of Parliament and other leaders to support this particular Motion, because I am the custodian of some of these resolutions, some of these remarks, I would have brought them here to justify why we want to pass a Resolution to express confidence in our Government and the President, but if you now, Mr. Speaker, think in Kenya today there is any reason why we should call for confidence. Confidence means that the President has been shaken a bit, but is the hon. Jomo Kenyatta shaken in any capacity, not at all. He is not shaken. Now some of the people, Mr. Speaker, Sir, go to Mzee and they say "Mzee, you know there is a danger", and Mzee asks, "Where is the danger coming from?" "Mzee you do not see, it is just in the cloud" and then Mzee says "A very good cloud to look at that particular danger" and he sees nothing except clearness.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, this Motion is a camouflage.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I must remind Mr. Oneko and the House that according to the Mover it was by the direction of the President that it was moved.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onoko): Mr. Speaker, I was straight enough, I am a straightforward person. Here, in this House, I said that I saw the President immediately after seeing this Motion, I want to see the President and I asked him whether the Motion or something else was being discussed, but the President did not give me the impression. So I am saying this, Mr. Speaker. What I am trying to say is this, that my voice is being reduced just because some other people do not like the facts, but I will say them here tonight and not tomorrow. Mr. Speaker, what I would have proposed would have been this and I read how this Motion would have been worded. Now, Mr. Speaker, the Motion would exclude the part I have referred to, because they are not necessary. Tomorrow if the hon. Members agree that we shall include the remarks of newspapers then nobody should complain against the newspapers and especially illegal newspapers.

Mr. Speaker, if Members in this House are trying to cover something which we know is correct and then we are told "Oh, this paper refers to this and that", well, I too agree some of the remarks are not good for Kenya. With this I quite agree. They should have been referred to [The Minister for Information and Broadcasting] in support in any action that we intend to either take against a paper or a resolution without referring to that particular part in our Government resolution.

Mr. Speaker, if the hon. Members will wait I will give them something. They say here, hon. Members are trying to say that all right they are prepared to go to the country.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! Yes what is your point of order, Mr. arap Too?

Mr. arap Too: My point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, is that I do not understand whether—I would just like to get this, Sir, from you—is the Minister supporting the banned paper in the Republic of Kenya. I was just seeking your guidance.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! It is very easy for hon. Members to rise on a point of order and say they are seeking the guidance of the Speaker and raise something which is not in the least a point of order; you may or may not have been here when I uttered my warning, but it is too bad, and you will now leave the precincts of this Chamber for the rest of the day.

(Mr. arap Too withdrew from the Chamber)

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onoko): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am giving another alternative. I will support the proposed amendment which I will again read, but if the House refuses to support the proposal I think we should be honest to our country and to our people and say to them, whether one is going to be returned or not, we should say here and now that we demand elections and that this House should be dissolved.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not want to say that I have no confidence in the people of Kenya, I do not want to be protected and the only test is that if we do not approve and support the proposals that I am making, is to go back to the country. There is no question of resigning, resigning in small doses, because when they resign there may be another one, let us give the full doses and the full dose is by resolution of Parliament so that our people can return us with full confidence in the present circumstances. This is a challenge to this House, Mr. Speaker, and the alternative proposal is that the Motion should read as follows: "Whereas the Government of the Republic of Kenya under the leadership of the President, Mzee Jomo Kenyatta, has carried out faithfully its mandate as approved by the people, by the general election in 1963, and whereas all the Government's activities and their policies have been based on a faithful interpretation of the democratic will of the people as expressed in the Constitution of the Republic, the Kanu Manifesto and Sessional Paper No. 10, African Socialism, and its application to planning in Kenya and whereas the President of the Republic of Kenya and his Government have spared no effort in securing the unity of all the people of Kenya under Kanu so as to create the political stability needed for the effective and rapid development of the country which in these past months seem to have been opposed by Parliament and have used words or made statements implying lack of confidence in the Government, its activities and its policy." Now we come down then to "this House, having regard to these matters, resolves its full confidence in the President of the Republic of Kenya" and delete other things. This is what I am presenting to the House. If the House—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I am afraid you cannot, Mr. Oneko, because in Standing Orders, as I have pointed out to the House several times lately, no amendment can be moved unless I have it in writing before it is moved.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onoko): But, Mr. Speaker, Sir, what if I give it to you after this?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No. You must get someone else to move it.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onoko): All right, Mr. Speaker, this is what I am trying to propose and in fact, Mr. Speaker, I have also indicated the alternative. Because you see, when we are here, Mr. Speaker, they may have this with words. We may try to convince the whole House and yet our intentions are wrong.

It may be some of the hon. Members are questioning my line. Shall I ask them where they were most of them. Anyway the hon. Members can conclude for themselves, I do not want a free ride on the bus, what we want here is to do service to our people and again I must say this if the intention, Mr. Speaker, of this particular Motion is in fact to cut the freedom of the Press then I would say that definitely it is incorrect. But we should not start with just general comments; let us leave the main issue. Had it not been that the hon. Minister for Finance did not make some remarks in Lagos, nobody would have been discussing this tonight. Probably, by this time, we would have been dancing or meeting our families—

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): I am going to quote you.

Mr. Malinda: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, if I heard the Minister properly he said, reading from that document, that the reporter whoever it was attributed certain words as having been said by Mr. Gichuru, but the paper here which we have before us says that the Finance Minister expressed his view that Rhodesia was not yet ready for majority rule. Is it in order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, to conclude that what the reporter has said is exactly what Mr. Gichuru himself said?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! No, reports of what someone has said are never accepted as proof that he said it. It is some evidence that he said it, if it purports to be a first-hand witness, and that is most of what we get in this House. We very seldom get absolute proof of anything. We get what is called substantiation, sometimes, which is the reason for alleging something. That is all it is.

The Assistant Minister for Works, Communications and Power (Mr. Bomett): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, since the Minister has quoted from some papers here, and some other papers which he is still having, would it be in order, if we knew in advance, the source of the information?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I do not understand what the hon. Member means by saying "in advance". Mr. Onoko has described what this document is, and he has produced it now. It is on the Table so he tells us.

The Minister for Defence (Dr. Mungai): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, since this is a very important matter, and it has been quoted by the Minister for Information, could it be available now to the Members so that they can have it properly, or the Minister for Information repeat it slowly so that it can be noted down by the hon. Members of this House?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I have said it should be laid on the Table, that is the practice and it will be laid on the Table.

Mr. Gatuguta: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, since this Motion is of much wider scope than what we are now being asked to debate on: it is a question as to whether this House has confidence in the Government or not. We are not debating a small issue, whether Mr. Gichuru said this or that. Could you not rule now that any more reference to this particular newspaper article is irrelevant?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! I would not say this is a small issue, in fact it was the question by private notice on this very issue which sparked off the whole of this Motion, so I understand. I certainly will not rule this irrelevant.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, for goodness sake, Mr. Speaker, in a Motion like this, have you no powers at all under Standing Orders to rule that we listen to speakers so that we can make better use of the Motion and better use of this House? Could you please, with the resolution of the House, rule that no point of order will be allowed until all speakers have had a chance to air their views?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! That is one thing, unfortunately, the Speaker cannot do. That is one thing, among many others, that is the responsibility of the Members themselves; to control themselves, and make this a proper debating Chamber and not a monkey house.

Mr. Gatuguta: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, since this is a very important matter, and involves so many things within the Government, can we give you powers now, Sir, not to allow points of order until this debate is finished?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! There is one thing none of us can ever do, and that is to deprive an hon. Member of raising a proper point of order at a proper time. Now, can we go on?

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onoko): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I must thank the hon. Members for taking great interest in what I was saying, which, of course, led to a number of points of order.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, what I wanted to say, and this I must repeat, is what the hon. Members are challenging me on, because they also inquired whether I could produce the film. A film is not secret. Why? Because this has been shown all over the world by the Independent Television News, and it is a sort of roving report, the film which I expect will be coming from Singapore. There it has been shown, of course where they have business, and we also have a contract with them. Mr. Speaker, do the hon. Members expect me to be honest and say the truth, or just come here and clap and support because I want to be a good boy? This I cannot do. I will never be led in this country by anything else but the truth and facts alone. I think I am grown up enough—

Mr. Gatuguta: On a point of order, Sir—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Is it a necessary point of order, Mr. Gatuguta? I thought you were one of those who wanted to rule out points of order! I should carry on, Mr. Achieng-Onoko.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onoko): Mr. Speaker, Sir, if the film is shown, it will not only be shown to this House, but I will have it announced to the House so they will be able to look at it, view it if it is shown on television, and sound recording also. The Kenya people will not be denied the freedom of seeing or listening to what a leader did say in Lagos.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Mr. Onoko, in order to get this clear, hon. Members are greatly interested in this, could we have it that you will arrange for a showing of this film, when you have it, on due notice to the Members in a suitable place in the building?

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onoko): I will do so, Mr. Speaker, when I have it, and even for private viewing if you like.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, having said those things about the paper, I now wish to say a few things on the Motion. Mr. Speaker, Sir, as I said here about four hours ago, that I did not know about this Motion, I now want to state that if I was approached on this particular Motion, I would have done this, and I referred the hon. Members. Mr. Speaker, to the Motion itself. The Motion would have gone up to mid line of "confidence in the Government, its activities and policies", and put out "the record which has been taken from the paper." We are not being ruled by newspaper editorials. Our attention cannot be directed or drawn to these remarks, but we do not want, if it is a Government Motion, we do not want and we do not wish because we have intelligence enough to refer to some of these remarks, because these are independent remarks which can be made anywhere, and they have been made in this country of ours. Some of them are very useful. What about when there was an argument about the maize distribution? There were remarks by newspaper men. Already the President, himself, has appointed a commission to look into the whole thing. I would have liked, if it were necessary to bring a Motion of this type, which I do feel very strongly, Mr. Speaker, that in Kenya today, unless we are looking for something else, we are the only country in Africa where we have managed to maintain peace, law and order, and everybody here is quite happy except, of course, we are not going to shut up the mouths, or tie up the tongues of our people when they say "you Government, you have not done enough, we want more secondary schools, we want more hospitals and so many other things." These are signs healthy in a democratic country, these are healthy criticisms, several times I have been criticized in this House—

The Assistant Minister for Works, Communications and Power (Mr. Bomett): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I would like to know one thing because this is a very important debate, I would like to know whether the Minister is speaking now as a Minister of this Government—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! Sit down, Mr. Bomett, that is something we are asking of every Minister as a rule to say if he is speaking for the Government or himself.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onoko): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I can speak as a Member or as a Minister; I have every right to speak up.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! Now, Mr. Onoko, it is the desire of the House, a very reasonable desire, that whenever an hon. Member speaks who is both a Minister and a Member for a constituency, that he makes it quite clear in which capacity he is speaking, or both perhaps.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onoko): It is very difficult for me, Mr. Speaker, when I am just trying, I have already explained, why I do feel that if I were asked to go through this draft, I would have put it another way altogether. In this respect I am speaking as a Minister.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not mind what the other Members say, or whether they heckle, I know I stand firm, I am a loyal citizen of this country and I have worked for this country, and I will not be diverted by any heckling whatsoever, and here I am. Make me anything, I work and live only for Kenya.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would have deleted anything referring to newspapers, and this is what I am trying to do, it may be very peculiar, but Mr. Speaker, I would have deleted anything referring to Africa and the World giving it such a big name, and yet it has been banned by our Government. Then, Mr. Speaker, the last paragraph would have read "this House, having regard to all these matters resolves and expresses its full confidence in the President and the Republic of Kenya". Then instead of talking about groups, now who does not know the groups in this country?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! I see Mr. Gatuguta on his feet with a point of order.

[The Minister for Information and Broadcasting] papers. Most of them are based outside our jurisdiction and we cannot deal with them immediately.

Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I shall not go into the merits and the demerits of the editorial comments contained in that particular paper because I realize that my colleague, the Minister for Home Affairs, has banned it and I have all due respect for what he has done in his opinion.

Mr. Gatuguta: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, we are getting a lot of very funny statements from the Minister who is now speaking. The Minister for Home Affairs banned this paper, so we are told, but, Sir, he is a Minister of the Government and therefore the paper was banned by the Government. Is he now telling us that this paper was banned by the Minister for Home Affairs and not the Government?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think it would be in order if you made that clear, Mr. Oneko.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onoko): Mr. Speaker, Sir, what I was referring to is that, normally, the opinion of a Minister is as a representative of the Government and I do not say anything against my friend, the Minister for Home Affairs. Mr. Speaker, Sir, what I want to do—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Gatuguta's question was quite an important one particularly dealing with the situation as it is now. What he is asking for really is confirmation that you have accepted it as a representative of Government on this occasion. That is what you have not made quite clear yet.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onoko): Mr. Speaker, Sir, when I learnt that he said—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order, Mr. Anyien! He did not say it. He said that a Minister's action is normally representative.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onoko): Mr. Speaker, Sir, when I learnt of the decision by the Minister, I did concur and support the action he had taken.

The Assistant Minister for Works, Communications and Power (Mr. Bonnett): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not know whether I will be in order, but I would like to find out that, when the debate was carried out in the Senate, the same Minister said that he was not part and parcel of this Government, I do not know whether he was speaking the truth in that House or in this House.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I do not think we can be very much concerned with what the Minister said in the Senate, if he says categorically in this House that he was party to this order.

Mr. ole Tipis: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, could we please seek your guidance as to where we stand in this affair, whether the Cabinet has collective responsibility or not, because we are not here to be told by one Minister this way or the other. The banning of the paper—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order, Mr. Tipis! We have disposed of this matter. There was collective responsibility in this case. Do let the debate go on.

Mr. Maisori-Itumbo: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, —

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, Mr. Maisori, what is your point of order? I think, Mr. Oneko, you had better stay seated for a little bit until the rash has passed.

Mr. Maisori-Itumbo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, about three hours ago, the same Minister denied categorically in the House that the Motion that he is now speaking on, Mr. Speaker, Sir, was a Government-sponsored Motion. Is he trying to tell us whether he is speaking as a Minister or as a Member for Nakuru?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order, Mr. Maisori! That is quite a different thing, and it is not a point of order.

Now, any more valid points of order before Mr. Oneko starts again? Well then will you please give him a chance. Continue, Mr. Oneko.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onoko): I did say that when I learnt of the decision by my hon. colleague, the Minister for Home Affairs, I did support him.

Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I heard with great interest the remarks made by the Minister for Economic Planning and Development that we must be frank and tell our country the truth. Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to take this opportunity of informing the House of what actually did happen before I go into the comments or remarks made by this horrible newspaper. Mr. Speaker, Sir, it has been wondered in this House whether my colleague, the Minister for Finance, the hon. James Gichuru, did utter the words which have been quoted in the paper. With your permission, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to ask the Minister for Economic Planning to give me the paper, which was laid on the Table, so that I may be able to quote from it.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, it should be lying on the Table now, until it goes into the library.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Achieng-Onoko): Mr. Speaker, Sir, if there is any contradiction in what I am going to quote—I am a humble Member of this House and therefore in what I say I do not want to mislead the hon. Members of this House at all—in fact, Sir, I would just like to tell the truth and only the truth. Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, it has been denied that Mr. James Gichuru, the hon. Minister for Finance, never said these words at all, but, Sir, I want to tell the House that on the 12th January 1966, in Lagos according to the independent television news, international news film service, which is known here as Roving Report, which is not only viewed in Kenya, he was reported to have said, and with your permission, Sir, I would like to play a record in this House of the interview. Mr. Speaker, Sir, we have said in this House that in order to clean up our House we must be straightforward, honest and direct and I am doing so in the interest of Kenya. Mr. Speaker, Sir, the fact that our attention has been drawn to this, is why I would like to clear it up, Sir, I love unity, but, Sir, I do not love unity only when I am trying to please others.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Many hon. Members have asked for this evidence of this statement to be produced either by film or whatever it is, and Mr. Oneko is offering that evidence now, and I cannot see where the objection is. The only question I have to consider is the rather novel question as to whether we can have records played in this Chamber. I will have to think about that one.

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do recall your ruling during the question time when the question by special notice was being asked that you ruled to the effect that we could not move on any further since this Motion was coming. Now, Sir, I was wondering whether this is the opportune time for us to hear the record and if there is television to see the television film. Therefore, is it not, Sir, in order for him to play the record or show us the television film?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think I did indicate, Mr. Shikuku, that it was such a novel request, that I would need a little time to consider it, because one has to watch the precedents you know, in these things. We might get all kinds of mechanical records once we start.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onoko): Mr. Speaker, Sir, on the 12th January 1966, as I have already said, the hon. Mr. Gichuru in the presence of Harold Wilson, the Prime Minister of Britain, Sir Albert Margai, the Rt. hon. Milton Obote and Lee Kwan Yung, had a Press conference in Lagos where, and I will only read the relevant parts, it is stated, and I will also come up with another substantiation if I am challenged, but, Sir, he was being interviewed by John Wayne, and his reply was this, "Treason or not treason, Mr. Gichuru of Kenya realizes that Africans of Rhodesia are not quite ready to replace Mr. Smith's régime." Mr. Gichuru went on further to say, "It would be very stupid if we were to ask for an immediate take-over. The Africans in Rhodesia are not as well organized as they are here, in West Africa, or in East Africa, if I might claim that much."

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboyal): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the hon. Minister for Information, now that he has quoted from the document, agree to place the entire document on the Table?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, you must do that, of course, Mr. Oneko.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onoko): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I shall do so.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, it should be put there from the time you have finished speaking; put on the Table so that other hon. Members can refer to it.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboyal): Mr. Speaker, Sir, on a point of order, I thought you ruled that the paper should now be placed on the Table?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I did say from the time he had finished speaking. But strictly it should be on the Table from now on, so that the hon. Members can see it.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onoko): Mr. Speaker, Sir, it will remain on the Table.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It is there now, is it?

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onoko): It is there now.

Mr. Kibuga: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I understand that you have not yet ruled over the question of the recordings, can we be assured that we shall have a chance of hearing these records?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Oh, yes, I think without question that if they are offered they should be made available to be heard somewhere. My only doubt at the moment is whether this Chamber is the right place. Quite definitely you will hear it.

Mr. Malinda, you have a point of order?

or guide this country, or become like a receiving set or radio set, listening to strong stations from Somalia or from China or from Moscow, or, yes, from Washington, and despises our weak station, the Voice of Kenya, I can only say this: either he is despising this country and the people who elected him, or he has something wrong with him.

Nowadays we hear a great deal about leadership. Leadership is something that comes as a natural thing to a person. You cannot make yourself into a leader by wearing funny clothes or by giving yourself titles. A leader is known by his actions, a leader is known by his devotion to duty, not by the fanciful dresses he puts on. And, if I may say so here, what is wrong now in Kenya is that certain individuals have taken it upon themselves to be leaders and to succeed, in future, as the natural leaders to the Presidency, or whatever there is in the future.

Now every Member here represents his own area; and the Government works in this way. The different Ministers, although they are Members for various constituencies, work together as a team to carry out the policy. Now if one sets out to make himself the natural leader, inheritor, of all things in Kenya, we shall tell him that he will not get these things. After all, this is a democratic country and I cannot think of any Member thinking he is so big that he can make and unmake the other Members. They are all equal.

If I hear of anyone coming to my constituency to play about there and say, "Oh, Otiende, you see, unless you come into my pocket here, you have no chance at the next election", well, I am so large that I cannot go into anyone's pocket!

Another cause of all the rumours that are going around the country is because certain people somehow have discovered a way of financing themselves, an external way of financing themselves. Now, because of our democratic Government, we do not go chasing up people to see how they get their Mercedes or how they buy their new houses; but the time has come now for the Government to look into the activities of certain individuals. People flit from capital to capital of the world on shady business. How many hon. Members here have kept all their money in this country? How many have foreign bank accounts? To show that you are loyal to this country, you must have faith in this country, and you must keep your money here. But you keep your money in a foreign country and then you declare how poor you are and what a good socialist you are and yet you have thousands of pounds in foreign banks.

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I have just heard the hon. Minister state quite frankly that there are people who are keeping—Members of this House or Ministers—their money outside this country. Could the Minister tell us who these Members or Ministers are? Could he substantiate what he is telling the House, that people keep money outside this country?

The Minister for Health (Mr. Otiende): The hon. Member misheard me a bit. I said that if they keep their accounts in foreign country, then they are being disloyal to this country. I said "people". I did not mention any Ministers.

Another point that I notice, Sir, which is bringing about discord in this country is that foreign papers, as we heard today, are trying to mould this country to follow their way of life. I know that the big powers are anxious that we should become their followers, but we have endeavoured to keep clear of them all without antagonizing any of them. Surely, no one in East Africa can say that Kenya's foreign policy has been biased. We have been very, very straightforward and we have made no enemies so far. We have tried to keep our people free from the cold war.

Mr. Speaker, I do not believe in following anything which I do not believe in, and I do not think I can change at this age.

I would like to say very, very frankly here today that this Motion must be studied and carefully chewed over by Members because it only points to certain things that are ruining our otherwise very peaceful country; and if we all agree on this Motion it will reduce tension in this country.

Just now, Sir, as we are speaking, rumours are going round the country, like they are doing in other countries, to their detriment. "Oh, you see, Uganda is like this and Kenya will be like this." People begin talking, talking. It is our duty here, as Members, not to encourage or to take sides in such things. We should tell our people who sent us here that we are following our own course to its logical conclusion. We shall go to hell or we shall go to heaven with our African Socialism.

There are individuals in every society, of course, who want to be very important. In African society, we used to have witch doctors and perhaps chiefs. Mr. Speaker, I am not saying that we are referring to witch doctors here, but I will like to say that hon. Members must be very careful, because when a man is anxious to be big and to supersede all others, he will never leave any stone unturned until he is big; and he will use any manner of achieving this end. Some people, even in this year of 1966, are tempted to become primitive and refer to witch doctors in this country, so that they may very well be bigger than other people in this House.

I would like to assure the Members of this House who started out with misgivings about this Motion that it has no malice behind it. It is only giving them a platform in order that they may be able to tell us here today, without fear, that the Government, say, has been wrong in this and wrong in that, and that it should do this and do that, instead of what is happening now. We think we are one party, but you hear that we are three groups in one party or that one party will break off and form a new body, as that paper was saying.

What I suggest is that if anybody is not satisfied with the policy today, let him stand here like a man, as a deputy; let him stand here and say so on behalf of his own people.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onoko): Mr. Speaker, Sir, as Minister for Information and Broadcasting I wish to extend my sincere thanks to the free World Press for having done their job some time to remind us of our responsibilities where we sometimes go wrong. Had it not been that the paper which, of course, has been tabled here did not carry certain stories, then this matter would not have come to this House for discussion this evening. Mr. Speaker, Sir—

Mr. Kiprotich: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I seek your guidance on this issue. Is the Minister alleging that the paper which has been laid on the Table there does not carry the information which was alleged by that paper?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Kiprotich, I cannot see any point of order there.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onoko): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do realize that some—

The Assistant Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Onamu): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, as the Assistant Minister for Information, I am baffled by the Minister who states that he supports the paper which has been banned, may we know—

Several hon. Members: Hear, hear!

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think the hon. Member is getting on dangerous ground to pay tribute to a paper which has been officially banned. Order! Now, hon. Members I do not want applause any more than I want criticism of the rulings I make. Please just entertain them in silence for better or for worse. To speak in favour of the freedom of the Press as a whole, is obviously in order; but, as I have said, hon. Members in this House with their oath of loyalty and their membership of a properly constituted Parliament, must not show a shadow of support for anything illegal. Now this paper has been banned, and so it must not be supported now. But if the hon. Member is referring to any good it did before it was banned, then he is just in order, I think.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onoko): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I was expressing thanks to the free Press which is contained in our Constitution, and I am also saying, whether banned or not, these papers normally remind us of our responsibility and business. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I know that most of these papers sometimes go wrong; sometimes they quote people out of context; and in most cases in fact, we have complained in this House, and I know that the hon. Members have reminded me from time to time of my responsibility and referred me to certain remarks which have been written in some of our local papers and even in overseas newspapers. I do remember, Sir, immediately after the reshuffle among the Cabinet in December last year, some hon. Ministers were referred to as plotters, and this was referring to the then hon. Minister for Internal Security and Defence who had been reduced to the reasonable size because of the army, because he was referred to in this House as a plotter by the hon. Members. I stand to be corrected if I am wrong.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I shall not go—

Mr. arap Sol: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, with that allegation, could the Minister substantiate and name the hon. Member who said what he has said now?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I do not think so. There was some reference to Dr. Mungai being a plotter, but I think by Dr. Mungai himself, if I rightly remember. The Minister can refer to that.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onoko): In fact, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I did not refer this matter because it was my duty, but here is the paper referring to an hon. Minister as a plotter, and, of course, sometimes we do disagree entirely with what is said in these

[The Minister for Economic Planning and Development]

We cannot be united if we think that we will stop anyone from thinking as he wants to think. We are provided with brains and intelligence so that we may use them; and the Government will encourage anyone who can use initiative constructively to help this country, proposals that will help us go forward will always be welcome.

When people criticize our development efforts, they should take into account the time we have had to move forward. It is a very short time. In that time, a lot has been done. We have the highest number of children at school today, more than at any time in the history of this country. We have the highest number of Kenya Preliminary Examination school-leavers of any period. We have the highest number of secondary schools in this country today, and the number increased by a higher percentage than at any time in the last seventy years.

I agree that we do not have enough secondary schools; I agree that we do not have enough places at the university; I agree that we do not have enough places in the primary schools. But that is a different question. The quarrel we have is with those who seek to exploit the emotion of the parents by telling them that the Government has done nothing. That is the quarrel. It does not require courage to get up and whip up these emotions. What requires courage is to be able to tell your people, before their own eyes and in their presence, that there is a problem and that they should appreciate the problem. That is what requires courage. But going to tell them that they have no schools does not require courage. Nor is this talk going to produce schools.

The only way that you can produce schools is by working to establish schools in the different areas, using Government as well as voluntary initiative, and I do not speak about this merely because I am a Minister. As a Member for my own constituency, in this past two years, I have seen to it, through private initiative, that we have doubled the places for children at secondary schools; and we have not asked the Government for a cent. I have done that as a Member for the area.

My friend, the Member for Gichugu, who is not a Minister, and my friend, the Member for Githunguri who is not a Minister, whose area I had the opportunity to visit recently, have, in one year, working with their co-operative societies, have been able to build thirteen secondary schools. Mr. Speaker, the hon. Member for Teso has the potential in his area; cotton is grown there; there are co-operative societies there. All they are waiting for is his leadership. I know that some areas have fewer resources than others. I do not expect every district to build thirteen secondary schools. But I do expect that every district can start to make some contribution. If this is done, then the limited funds we have in the Government can be directed to those areas that are poorest, to help them, because they cannot help themselves.

That is the way I would like to plan our development. But, Sir, it may be a hard job. It can, however, be done. It has been proved. Let us have it done. There is a lot of land in the areas of some Members which, agriculturally, is better than anything in the Highlands, on which you have the best rainfall in this country. But where the rain falls, there are no crops for it to help grow. Mr. Speaker, Sir, we want to intensify the use of our resources, and we will give every facility for this purpose. But we need the co-operation of the Members; and certainly Members must give leadership in their areas.

Mr. Speaker, the work of this Government can be seen with the naked eye. It does not need glasses. The Civil Service of this country has been Africanized at a higher pace than anywhere that I can think of. What remains is for us to encourage the new civil servants to do their best for their country. We will always have problems, but what we want is the spirit to solve them.

In conclusion, Sir, I should like to submit that Africa as a whole, and developing countries in general, is passing through a crisis of confidence. In this crisis of confidence, leaders of whatever organization, Governmental or non-Governmental, at whatever level, have a heavy responsibility to guide, to lead and to influence the people, for they are the reflection upon which the man in the street will determine his reaction to the problems of the day. If the leaders talk carelessly, they cannot escape the responsibility for the reaction of the people. Speaking freely and speaking carelessly are two different things; and the distinction must be made. Freedom to speak is not licence to be reckless and careless and irresponsible. We have a mandate to govern, and we intend to govern; but we respond to the people of this country because the mandate is theirs and not ours.

Africa and the world talk of a crisis of revolution. Mr. Speaker, I do not accept that phraseology. It is the distinction between their approach and our approach. I talk of a crisis of confidence. The newly independent States need to generate sufficient confidence that will assure stability for the people to see that the future is not a hopeless one, that the future is full of expectation and opportunities. If our people know that opportunities lie ahead, they will not be to blame if they become disillusioned and fall the victims of cheap propaganda.

Mr. Speaker, the hon. Member for Majengo-Bassi says I should not under-estimate the intelligence of the people of this country. Mr. Speaker, I have had a bigger and longer lesson than the hon. Member. Yes, I am about the hon. Member's age, and I do not know what he was doing when I started to do things for our country. I do not quarrel with the fact that he was earning his living in a different place; hence he must concede that we have different experiences.

Mr. Speaker, the Government's position is very clear, and, very briefly, on some of the wider issues, it is this. On Rhodesia, our position has been stated and it remains the same. We shall support, as we have done before, the right of the people of Rhodesia to majority democratic government. We are doing so even now. If the hon. Member feels that he can do it in a different way, I have yet to hear what his proposals are and I have not even heard that he resigned his seat to go and lead guerrilla warfare in Rhodesia.

Mr. Speaker, we here in this country fought for our independence, sacrificed for it and did not even have as much support as some people now have. But we won. I know the situation in Rhodesia is difficult and it is different, and that they need more support. Through the Organization for African Unity, like every other African State, we have made our contribution to the fund, the freedom fund, to help them fight. Sir, it is easy to talk about Rhodesia with emotion but Rhodesia's problem must be solved; the issue is how to do it, and we will continue the pressure in doing it. We have never said it should be a non-violent solution; we have always said that the people of Rhodesia has the right to fight back, and if they need our assistance they will be given it.

As regards the Organization for African Unity, we continue to support it; we continue to believe it is the hope for African unity and for the future. Some Members get terribly worried when the organization runs into problems, Mr. Speaker, where is the organization in this world that does not run into problems from time to time?

Mr. Gatigata: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I congratulate the Minister on all he has been saying during the last three hours, but I would like to know from you, Mr. Speaker, Sir, whether it is in order for one man in the House to go on talking all that time?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, Mr. Gatigata, with your professional training, I think you know the answer. It is completely in order, unless there is a time limit imposed by the debate, so long as the hon. Member is relevant and does not repeat himself.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Speaker, I entirely accept the seatments of the hon. Member for Kikuyu, but if I had had less interruptions, we would have finished long ago.

As I was saying, Sir, we will continue our support of the Organization for African Unity, and we would like to make it quite clear that whenever there are problems we will continue to strive to get them resolved, within the spirit of African unity. But that unity must be based, as indeed the organization's charter recognizes, on the sovereignty of the constituent countries. That we have never conceded to anyone.

Sir, our ideology has been stated in Sessional Paper No. 10 and that must continue to guide us. We do not accept any efforts or attempts to confuse the public regarding this ideology, and so, Sir, here today the Government has made it possible for this House to air its views on the record of the Government, its activities, its policy and its performance, and, where there is criticism, freely, frankly and publicly, to air this too, so that we can give our people the stability that they demand, the stability that is a prerequisite to the accelerated development which our situation calls for.

Mr. Speaker, I beg to move.

The Minister for Health (Mr. Otiende): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I will not take up the valuable time of hon. Members because I know exactly how tired they have been, but they have learned a big lesson today which will take a long time to unlearn. I would like to make only four points.

The first of them is this. Members of this House were elected on a Kanu or Kadu ticket or any other kind of ticket; but they were sent here for a purpose and that purpose was to guide the destiny of Kenya towards the goal that has been laid down in our Manifesto. Therefore, if any Member here comes up with new, high-falutin' ideas to teach us how to rule

[The Minister for Economic Planning and Development]

Mr. Deputy Speaker, it is easy to go to an international conference and shout and, in some cases, shout against your own Government and country, because you want to prove that you belong to an idea. Mr. Deputy Speaker, God help us in this country if we will descend to the extent of disowning and prostituting our own country and its leaders, in order to please and serve the wishes of some foreign ideology and influences.

Sir, if in order to be a good nationalist, if in order not to be called an American stooge, I am required to go to Cuba, or to go to any other conference and there to abuse the system of Government, the principles, the policies and ideals of my people, the customs and traditions of my people, then, Sir, the need and usefulness of my existence will have passed and I would be better dead. That is my answer to those who would threaten us in the corridors of this House and outside, that they might do to us a Nigeria. Let them not also forget that Kenya is Kenya and not Nigeria.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, I want to say a few words about Kanu, because our Government's programme is based on the Kanu Manifesto. There have been criticisms of Kanu, there have been criticisms of its leadership and there have been criticisms of its organization and in the last few weeks there have been circulated, even in the precincts of this building, documents attacking me personally, attacking Kanu leaders in general and threatening that a second party might be formed.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, I have chosen in the past to remain silent on this question because I did not want to lend dignity to activities which I knew were the actions of men whose motives were dirty. By replying they would have thought that they had ascended certain steps and they would have got the publicity that they were craving for.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, it is true that since independence we have had problems of organization in Kanu. It is true that there have been certain weaknesses, it is true that the party needs to be re-organized and it is true that its constitutional position has not been strictly adhered to in these past three or two-and-a-half years.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, no Member in this House can pretend that by speaking about this in the Parliament or by writing some circulars in this country that they are giving the public a discovery, because I personally more than on one occasion, have drawn attention to these weaknesses, to the need to do something about it and have devised, in consultation with my colleagues, a programme of re-organization to achieve this end. What do we find? Instead of support for this programme, active support for this programme of re-organization, the same people who come to this House and outside to shout about Kanu weaknesses and to condemn me and other officials, are the ones who least co-operate and support the programme actively.

An hon. Member who raised this point in this House was in fact himself chairman of a re-organization committee for a province which required that they should re-organize and do elections from the locations to the district level to facilitate national elections, but which until the time I am speaking here, he had not completed—the Western Province. It is so easy—

Mr. Oduya: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, can the Minister state whether anybody in this House or not is the legal chairman of the Kanu Western Province Co-ordination Commission and for the information of the House the election of the Western Province is well, legally and—

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! Order! Please sit down Mr. Oduya. If you think that what the Minister has said is not strictly correct, I am sure you will get a chance in which you can express your views.

Mr. Gitchoya: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, on a point of order, you have already stated that the hon. Member will have an opportunity—

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): I said I am sure he will, I cannot guarantee that.

Mr. Gitchoya: Now, how can you guarantee it, Mr. Deputy Speaker. Are you going to fix it—

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! Order! I think you must understand this quite clearly. It does not mean to say that because any hon. Member stands up on a point of order that he must be given a chance, but I am sure considering that we are going to have as many speakers as possible, it is quite likely that Mr. Oduya may get a chance.

Mr. Bala: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, would the hon. Member speaking substantiate the fact that one hon. Member in this House has not carried out the elections for helping Kanu to complete the elections in the Western Province.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Mr. Bala, I am afraid that this is not the type of generalized allegation that needs to be substantiated. It is more a question of opinion and I think it can be rebutted, if necessary, by the person who is concerned.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, it has been said by those who go about criticizing the party that we have never held any meetings, any conferences, any nothing. Mr. Deputy Speaker, in 1963 we had numerous conferences. We even had conferences to approve the Party Manifesto. We even had conferences to agree on candidates, we even paid the deposit for most of our candidates who were elected to this House and the party actively supported the candidates and campaigned for them. I personally and many of my colleagues went around the country, more in other constituencies than in my own, to ensure that this party won the elections and we did win the elections. I am glad that some of those who opposed us as independents are with us today and that they are the loudest in proclaiming their loyalty to Kanu and in suggesting to the people of this country that they are loyal to Kanu and not people like myself.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, in 1964 after the elections, we generally agreed and the matter was even discussed at a Parliamentary Group meeting, that much dislocation had taken place in the districts, especially where Kanu fought Kanu, leave alone fighting Kadu, and it was necessary to carry out a programme of re-organization by which we held provincial, at that time regional conferences throughout the country. I personally conducted those conferences and most Members in this House, those who were Kanu at the time, attended all those conferences and yet, Sir, some of them are the first to say, "Nothing has been done, no meetings have taken place anywhere". When we had finished these conferences in 1964 and were about to go ahead with the national re-organization Kadu was dissolved and it was then agreed that it would be unfair to go ahead with the national elections until new conferences at provincial level had been held to help integrate the former Kadu and Kanu members into one political organization. We went ahead in 1965 and we held all those conferences as agreed and it was then the demand that we give some people the chance, who had been Kadu, to register as members of the party, and they were then given the receipt books. In each province we established a committee with a chairman. In many cases the chairman were Members of Parliament who sit in this House.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, how fast this work went on in each province was entirely in the hands of that committee, but on my part we reminded them from time to time to complete these elections and in addition we did our other work as effectively as we could. Until now some areas have not even finished these elections, although in many districts the elections have been carried out.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, we cannot re-organize the party by merely convening a conference at national headquarters. The best and effective method is to start from the bottom and that is what we are trying to do. I concede to the hon. Members that the delay has caused some difficulties and weaknesses, but the answer is not to try to accuse everybody but yourselves because in each area most Members could help. In some cases where elections were completed we were immediately lodged with appeals and although some Members and other people would like the House and the country to feel that these appeals were only in areas which they themselves defined, there have been appeals from many different areas including appeals by hon. Members sitting in this House for fresh elections.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, and yet I am blamed and the President is asked, the Government is blamed, why has action not been taken? Mr. Deputy Speaker, what we need is some help from those who blame us to get this done. I congratulate some groups who did their work expeditiously in their provinces, not including the hon. Member who is heckling me now.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, on this point I would like merely to say this: that every effort is being made and will continue to be made for the re-organization of the party. That we all accept the significance of the party and its place in our Government and in the lives of our people, but I do not necessarily subscribe to those who have put forward suggestions of incorporating the party in the Republic Constitution. If they listened carefully to what the President said in his message to the nation here in this House, they will know that he said it was not the intention of the Kenya Government to legislate on a one-party State.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, I hope that instead of all this recrimination, that people will settle down in their own areas to creating an active Kanu machine. I will never stand in the way of this and we have never stopped them going ahead to do this.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, I have spoken at length. [The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza) left the Chair]

[The Speaker (Mr. Slade) resumed the Chair]
But the issues before us are of importance and we feel that they should have been aired in this House freely, frankly and publicly. As I said earlier, Sir, unity does not mean uniformity, and reveal that in these two-and-a-half, nearly three years when this Government has been exercising responsibility for the affairs of this country, much progress has been made. We have moved a long way on the road towards higher standards of life. We have moved a long way on the road in our resolve to remove the handicaps and difficulties of our people. The Government does not say, and has never contended, that all the problems of our country have been solved. We know, as well as every Member in this House, that in many areas in our country there is still poverty, misery, hardships. We know—as well as any Member in this House, that many of our people are still living in deprivation, and we know that they urgently desire to share in the fruits of Uhuru. We do not refuse that a Member should come to this House and freely air the problems or difficulties or views of his constituents. This is his right. It is recognized in our Constitution and it is appreciated by the Government. When a Member gets up in this House to explain the difficulties of his area or visits a Minister in his office, to plead for development in this area, he is doing his duty. If he fails to do this, then, Sir, he does not deserve to be in this House.

We welcome criticism. In fact, in these past few months the Government has shown beyond any doubt that it is responsive to constructive criticism, that it is big enough to accept mistakes when and if they are made, that it has the courage to come out and try to correct what is wrong. Mr. Deputy Speaker, this is the foundation for a democratic society and government. So long as we each try to act in that spirit and on that basis, there will be no quarrel between us. But, Sir, what we reject, what we condemn, and what we must continue to resist, is that case where a leader or a Member of this House tries to play on the emotions of the people, tries to exploit the misery and suffering of some of our people for his own political purposes, trying to undermine the work that is being done constructively throughout this land, to develop the people, because he believes that in so doing he will run down the Government or run down a Minister or Ministers.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, this we reject, and this we shall resist. We are bound to tell our people that they must not be used as a ladder by cheap and bankrupt politics. When a man is unemployed, he knows more than any Member of this House the suffering that he goes through. He does not have to be lectured to by a Member in this House, in order to know how serious a handicap unemployment is. When a man has children and those children fail to go to school, he does not need to be lectured to by some persons that his children have failed because he has no money; he knows, he suffers this. And too often those who persist in this behaviour are not suffering one bit. Their interest is a very temporary expedient: how best can we exploit the situation?

It is a well-known fact, universally, that irresponsible leadership tends to play upon the hardships, the handicaps and the difficulties of the masses and the ordinary man. Mr. Deputy Speaker, some Members in this House, some leaders outside this House, would like the public to believe that President Kenyatta, his Ministers and Government have deserted them, after being put into power, and that only they are the new stars and champions who have suddenly been ordained with the wisdom, intelligence and knowledge to fight for the masses. Mr. Deputy Speaker, we who sit on the Government benches can claim—and I hope without contradiction—that we have dedicated ourselves to serve the people. We are Ministers in the Government because a government must have Ministers, not because we were born to be Ministers. We are in the Government because the people of this country have decreed that there shall be a Government, and they have decided on the nature and structure of that Government. We are in this Government because the people of this country, in their wisdom, have chosen to give us the mandate and the responsibility to look after their affairs.

We are prepared to go to the country on our record of performance, and, Sir, if we have failed, let the people's judgment be sustained. But, Sir, this is not a licence for some people to try to ridicule the position of those in office today, to try to undermine, to try to exploit that position.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, we have been listening patiently from week to week, from month to month, in these benches and outside, to people who pour scorn upon us as persons, as leaders and as Ministers, even in some cases people who are just beginning to show whether they can really lead and serve. Mr. Deputy Speaker, is the public of this country going to believe that in merely two years the leaders who fought with them and for them, in days of great difficulty and insecurity, have so suddenly abandoned them because of merely being Ministers? I hear Members shout in this House every time a Minister speaks or the Government tries to bring in a measure, "Let us go with you to

[The Minister for Economic Planning and Development]

Kamakunji." Mr. Deputy Speaker, what is the threat for? In the days when there was no Kamakunji, when some of us used to meet under threats greater than this, when some of us used to defy all the measures by the Colonialist Government, when some of us spoke without fear, even when our speeches were being tape-recorded, and when there was no opportunity to speak at Kamakunji of any sort, we defied those threats, and we can defy new threats today.

Just because we have accepted responsibility, and just because we carry the responsibility and must speak responsibly about the future of this country, just because on our shoulders rests the decision that will help this country move forward and, therefore, we cannot engage in demagoguery, some people think that our tongues have been cut out or that our intelligence has deserted us, or that we cannot, as eloquently, speak to the public at Kamakunji as some think they can.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, we do not intend to stay in power beyond what the Constitution says. In 1968, there will be a general election, and there is no intention of this Government to put off that general election, because we know that by our record the people of this country will be ready, willing and eager to give us yet another mandate. It has become a cheap point for some people to stand and talk, "Oh, if you don't believe, if you don't talk to me properly, we shall do to you what happened to some Ministers in Tanzania." More recently, some people say, "If you don't do this for me, we shall do to you what happened to some Ministers in Nigeria." What do they take us to be? If it is a question of losing at an election, does that Minister think that his seat is guaranteed? Does the Member think that his seat is any more guaranteed than mine? I will fight for my seat, as I have fought before, and I will fight for my seat just like every Member in this House will fight for his.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, it may very well be true that those who now think that some of us are in for trouble do not know what awaits them. Mr. Deputy Speaker, I speak strongly on this point because I feel the time has come when we also should take this opportunity to reply, to put the record right, so that the public can make a decision based on fact. Mr. Deputy Speaker, I heard it, and the hon. gentleman who said it is out at the moment. I know that someone will get up here—I heard it being said behind these benches—in this House and say the hon. Mover of this Motion is an American stooge, or he has been given money by Americans. Mr. Deputy Speaker, I am not in the least worried about such stupid nonsense. I am not worried and for the last twelve years in public life in this country I have never been bothered or worried about such labels. I do my best; I serve my people; I work in this Government; and my work can be seen. I do not stay in the Government or in leadership or in public life as an act of grace or generosity from anybody. When we fought for independence, some people said some of us would sell this country to the Americans. Today, some of those same people would like to use these same slogans in order to defend their own shady intentions. Mr. Deputy Speaker, it is not a reply to the issue to shout back and use labels and tags. That is what this paper does of Mr. Gichuru. This is not a new technique, it is intended to compromise some leaders—

[The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onoko): On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, what about if the hon. Minister continues to speak until about midnight, as he is capable of doing?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! Order! I think the Minister is entitled to speak until midnight if he wants to, but, of course, the Motion will not be put until it is proposed and seconded.

[The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Deputy Speaker, I take the hint from my friend, but the point I was making is this.

When a person—and let the public of this country get to know this—resorts to labels and names and personalities, then the public of this country must know that the man is bankrupt of ideas. Mr. Deputy Speaker, what the public of this country want to know is positively for the person to make his contribution, in his own constituency to show by work and deed that he is going to do something for his people, just as some of us have done and continue to do. When people only want to go to Kamakunji instead of going to their constituencies, to help to organize their people into constructive groups for self-development, then, Sir, they have run out of ideas and the public should know this. It is not that the Government will do everything that needs to be done, a lot of it can be done by the people themselves. What the people need is leadership, and that leadership must be constructive and practical. That, Sir, is what the Government wants of the Members and the leaders of this country.

(Mr. Anyienl)

Mr. Speaker, Sir, what I want to tell the hon. Member who is proposing that we continue, is that I would like to warn him that there is something, some fear in some quarters, fear that has been created by the actions of the very people who have the fear. What is the fear? Why do they not want this Motion to continue until tomorrow? Are they telling the world at large that if this Motion is not passed today, then tomorrow the President will not have the confidence of the people?

Mr. Areman: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, may we know from the Speaker whether this Motion is not of national importance, so that it will enable us to speak until any time we desire to finish—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order, Mr. Areman. That is no point of order. Will you continue, Mr. Anyienl.

Mr. Anyienl: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I hear my colleague in the Front Bench saying that he wants to oppose me, although he was my colleague yesterday, because he has been made an Assistant Minister he now wants to oppose me. Mr. Speaker, Sir, the reason why we would like this Motion to be continued tomorrow is because there was a contradiction, and according to a ruling we agreed to listen to the Mover. Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, the hon. Mr. Achieng-Onoko told us that he had seen the President, but that the President had not told him that he had given specific instructions to the hon. Tom Mboya to move this Motion—

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onoko): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I selected the words which I used at that time and therefore, Sir, I do not want words to be put in my mouth. I am going to speak on this Motion and I think that the hon. Member is misrepresenting me.

Mr. Anyienl: Mr. Speaker, Sir, maybe I misquoted what the hon. Member said, but I have been made to understand what hon. Minister said, without him coming to tell me specifically what he said. Mr. Speaker, Sir, as I have said before that we would like to be given a chance in order that we can prepare some facts so that when we come back to this House we can speak on this Motion.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, another thing which I would like to point out to the House is this. I feel that it must be known that we were surprised by the introduction of this Motion. I believe also, Mr. Speaker, Sir, that the Minister, group or whoever it was who decided to bring this Motion never wanted to stage any coup. I think we should wait until tomorrow before we discuss this Motion and finally pass it.

With those few words, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I believe that we should continue, but those who have fear and do fear will die very many deaths.

Mr. Ekitella: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, My point of order is this, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I feel, Sir, that in this House there is no such thing as time.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order!

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): Mr. Speaker, Sir,—

Mr. Anyienl: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, that is an example of us sitting late.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker, Sir. I rise to support the Motion before the House at present.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, in supporting this Motion, I would like to inform my hon. friend who has just sat down that I was not implying, when I said that I was going to oppose him, that I was not his friend, and the fact that I have been made an Assistant Minister does not mean that I am not his friend. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think it is time the people of Kenya were made to understand the factions which exist among the leaders of this country. I think, Sir, it would be fitting for the House to be given sufficient time to debate these groupings which have already been indicated in this House, and if those who oppose the continuation of this House have nothing to fear, then I do not see any reason why we should not continue until, if it is necessary, midnight, or until we finish this very important business.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Motion before us asks that Order No. 6A be exempted from other business of the House with the effect that we will continue until we have finished and accomplished our business. I think, Mr. Speaker, Sir, that this is going to give us time then to know those people who speak with two tongues, because already in this House, as you have often heard, some Members call other Members duplicitous and all sorts of names. Therefore, Sir, I think it is important that we know what—

Mr. Jahazi: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, may I move that the Mover be now called upon to reply?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): On this Motion I do not think that there is any right to reply, and so I will just put the question that the question be now put.

(Question, that the question be now put, put and agreed to)

That means that we go on until midnight, if necessary, to complete this debate, and that being so I do not think we can possibly entertain the adjournment motion of half an hour which Mr. Pandya was to have had today. We will have to put that over, I think, until next Tuesday.

Mr. Kase: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that the Motion being moved by the Minister for Economic Planning and Development is a very serious one which might result in something, what percentage according to the Constitution, would be required to pass or reject this Motion?

CONSIDERED RULING

CONSTITUTIONAL SIGNIFICANCE OF CONFIDENCE MOTION

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think it would be opportune, in view of the point of order raised by Mr. Kase, to explain the exact constitutional significance of this debate.

The decision on this debate will not have any automatic constitutional effect. What section 65 (2) (a) of the Constitution provides — that is the Constitution as amended in 1964 — is that if the House of Representatives passes a resolution which is supported by the votes of a majority of all the Members of that House, that is not merely the majority present but the majority of all of Members (it would be sixty-five Members) and of which not less than seven days' notice has been given in accordance with the procedure of this House, declaring that it has no confidence in the Government of Kenya, and the President does not within three days after the passing of that resolution either resign from his office or dissolve Parliament, Parliament shall stand dissolved on the fourth day following the day on which that resolution was passed.

So there is a procedure whereby dissolution can be forced, but it has to be a vote of no confidence, not actually negating a vote of confidence, and it has to be after at least seven days' notice. So if this Motion is negated, it does not have the automatic effect of dissolving this House, though it might well be, as I think Mr. Mboya has indicated, that in view of the failure to secure a vote of confidence, the President would feel it appropriate to exercise his power, as he always has, of dissolving Parliament, but it would not be an automatic constitutional result.

Mr. Gitchoya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, that is the procedure of a no-confidence Motion or a confidence Motion, as far as the Constitution is concerned, but certain things are necessary for a certain Motion to be debated here. Can we know from what the hon. Minister has stated that there would be a General Election if this Motion is not passed by the House?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I suppose I have to explain again. Do please listen carefully when I explain these things.

The Minister has said the Government are treating this as such a serious question of confidence and that if the Motion is lost, the President, I understand, will dissolve the Parliament. That is stating the President's intention, and there you have it. But what I am telling you is that it is not an automatic dissolution of Parliament flowing from the Constitution, unless it is a vote of no confidence after seven days' notice, which this is not.

Mr. Ochwada: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, following your earlier ruling that you would, Mr. Speaker, prefer to give almost all Members an opportunity to air their views on this Motion, and the latest ruling which you have made that we would only sit up to twelve midnight, supposing by midnight only 50 per cent of the Members have aired their views, what will be the position?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): We will have to see.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Speaker, I would like to resume from where I left off, and I would not have still been speaking if there were not as many interruptions.

(The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza) took the Chair)

Mr. Deputy Speaker, it is easy for some leaders or even some Members to try and make capital out of the miseries or problems of certain people in our country and to try to lay the blame for the existence of these problems on the President, the Ministers and the Government. There is nothing easier than doing this. It does not require courage or effort, nor does it require much intelligence or thinking. It is merely an emotional approach to the problem — I will refrain from using that word "agitation" — but, Mr. Deputy Speaker, when all is said and done, we must come back to the facts, and the facts in this particular case will, no doubt,

[The Minister for Economic Planning and Development]

Sir, the greatest task in our country today is that of development. We inherited certain grave difficulties in our economy. We inherited serious unemployment problems, problems of poverty, inadequacy of education, problems of training and of man-power development; and potentially explosive problems of racial relations, tribal relations and regional jealousies. The first task of this Government, therefore, has been, and continues to be, how best to handle these problems, how best to foster a spirit of co-operation, so that development may take place. The task of this Government has been to explain to the people the nature of these problems so that they understand them and also the efforts that are being made.

The problems that must be faced in this effort of development are of great magnitude and no Member of this House can pretend that he does not appreciate this elementary point. We are not the only undeveloped or developing country in the world; there are others who gained their independence long before us, and who are still struggling to reach even the point that we have achieved. There are others who have even greater problems, less manpower, fewer resources, a smaller capacity for development. But they know, as we do, that, in the final analysis, the only answer to our problem is to work out a programme for accelerated development. This, Sir, I submit to the House, is a full-time job, it is not a part-time one. We cannot do it in an atmosphere of fear, or uncertainty and of suspicion. We cannot do it in an atmosphere where people write as they do here and some people echo their views even in this House, disturbing the peace of mind of the people of this country and distracting them from the most important job before us, that of development.

Perhaps, Mr. Speaker, I should stop for a few minutes so that we can move the procedural Motion:

MOTION*EXEMPTION OF BUSINESS FROM STANDING ORDER 11: HOURS OF MEETING

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Mr. Speaker, Sir, owing to the seriousness of the Motion before the House, I beg to move that the business under Order 6A be exempted from Standing Order 11, in so far as it is necessary to complete that business today.

The Assistant Minister for Labour (Mr. Odero-Jowi) seconded.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): This means we go on until the debate is concluded.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, some of us do not, from time to time, read Standing Orders and I am sure you will help me in understanding fully what we are attempting to do. My understanding is that we are continuing with the debate. Does this mean, Sir, that we must carry on debating this Motion until we have taken a resolution on it and we have ended, regardless of whether it might go as far as I am?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I think, since the terms of the Motion are to enable us to complete the business today, it would lapse after midnight when we get into tomorrow anyhow.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, Sir, that being the case, and since the Government is so much concerned with this Motion, would it not be in order, therefore, to ask that all Members be present in this House and all Members, particularly those known to be either claiming to be either progressives or—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Now, Mr. Ngala-Abok, you are inventing new Standing Orders.

POINT OF ORDER*MOTIONS FOR LIMITATION OF DEBATE CANNOT BE MOVED IN COURSE OF DEBATE

Mr. Gichoya: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I did ask earlier whether there could be a limitation of time, and you suggested that so long as we could go on, even until tomorrow, there was no question of limitation. But now I understand, Sir, that the Minister has moved that we by-pass our own Standing Orders in order to finish this business today. May we then limit the time for each speaker so that as many people as possible can express their views on this very important Motion?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, I thought I had explained that, under Standing Order 71, a Motion for limitation of debate or times of speeches cannot be moved actually in the course of debate. It can only be moved before a debate starts or after it has been adjourned and before it is resumed. There may be some misunderstanding. When I said that this resolution, if it is passed, will lapse as midnight, I did not mean that the debate would necessarily end at midnight. It is only that then we should have to adjourn the House, I think, until the ordinary time tomorrow, and conclude the debate then, if we need more than another six hours.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Point of order, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, well, do not invent Standing Orders this time.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: No, this is a genuine point of order, Mr. Speaker. When I was making my last point of order, you ruled that I did not listen point of order, you ruled that I did not listen to how you ruled, but you understand also what this Motion implies, Sir. Is there any clause in our Standing Orders guiding you as to how you make sure that all these people concerned in this Motion will be given a chance to speak?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, order! Hon. Members must keep to the point. The question before the House now is whether we continue with this debate today, instead of interrupting business. The ordering of the debate really is getting outside that, who is to speak and when and for how long, etc. The question before the House, which I have proposed, is that we exempt this business from Standing Orders so that the debate continue straight on, till midnight, if necessary.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, while you are allowing me to speak, I hear one hon. Member saying, "Put the question". It seems as if some of my friends, the hon. Members, feel that, after they have agreed on something, it should be steam-rolled through. I do not see any big reason for saying that the Members of this House should be made to sit in this House any longer than the usual time. If there was something that was happening, which the Members did not know about, and which, if the House sat for a long time, say, till midnight, the Members might be able to avert, then I would be one of the first to support our continuing; I would say, "Let us be locked up till we finish, and then let us get out."

But if there is not any particular reason why this Motion must be finished today, then I feel that there is some fear, in some quarters, that if this Motion is prolonged until tomorrow, maybe some more facts will be given to this House and, as a result, the intention of bringing this Motion may be defeated.

Mr. Speaker, I believe that those of us who are very anxious to express confidence in the President will be able to express confidence in him today, tomorrow or any other day. But if there is a fear that if we go over until tomorrow then we shall not be able to express confidence in the President, then I agree that we should continue so that we do not land in such a situation. However, what I believe is that this Motion, as has been said before, was brought up very hurriedly; a special Order had to be made for it, special notice had to be given, as if there was something which the Minister, who is almost finishing has not told us. Now, if it is a question of this magazine for which we must continue up to midnight, then, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to say that this magazine has been in the country for a long time. The Government only started acting on this paper when somebody decided to bring this matter up in the Senate. So, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not see the hurry. If the point is to refuse those who want to get some material in order to speak effectively and expose those who want to think that they can monopolize everything and even monopolize the President and all the people of Kenya, then I believe that we should be given time. Some of us want to be given material which we want to use to expose truly the majority of the Members of this House. We would like the world to know, because we do not want anybody to speak for us, we want to speak for ourselves, every Member would like to speak for himself.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, there is a fear here that perhaps the hon. Mover may want to tire the Members, make the Members sit here until they are tired and want to sleep. Then, when they are tired they want to go home. We do not want this.

In addition, the other day when we wanted to extend the sitting of the House until 12 o'clock we did not even go as far as 12 o'clock, Sir. You remember what happened that day? Some of the Members went to drink outside because they were tired and when they came back, Sir, you gave them a chance to speak. It was then that you thought it would be better that we adjourn the House because the House was getting out of order. Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, we do not want this House to get out of order, we do not want that the Members should be made to become tired. If there is any particular reason, if there is any good reason, if there is something very bad coming which we must know, then I agree we should be locked up here until we have heard what this is, and then tomorrow we can come back here feeling free. However, if this is a question of passing a Motion of confidence in the President, I think we must agree, and the Government must agree, that this Motion will go through tonight, it can go through tomorrow morning, it could have gone through yesterday.

For the reasons given, Sir, I think it is in order to give hon. Members, when they go home to sleep, an opportunity to digest everything that has been said by the Mover in order that they may come here tomorrow and be able to agree or disagree. I agree that this Motion should end at the normal time of 6.30 p.m. However, Sir, that time has now passed, so I think we can continue with this Motion only until 7 o'clock.

some so-called progressive elements internationally. This country deserves to know whether we are going to sing to the tune of some people who have taken it upon themselves to determine what the image of Kenya is going to be, and we want to know whether in this House or even in the Government there is a Member who believes that Kenya's reputation and image is going to be determined by somebody in London, in Washington, in Peking or in Moscow. I would even go further and say that our membership of the Organization for African Unity, our relations with any African State, preclude the right of the Organization for African Unity, the right of any State to determine the destiny of the people of this country.

If this is not so, then we are not independent, and let us say so. We will contribute to African unity, but not on the terms of some other person. We will do so in the interests of all countries and our people because we believe it is right, but not because someone threatens us, that we must fall in line in order to be angels of Africa or the angels of international groups.

Mr. Speaker, when these same words are repeated by some Members in this House and outside, when some of our public and people are being told that the Government is losing touch, that the Government is no longer being supported by other African States or by progressive elements in the world, then, Sir, this House and this Government have a right to know what mandate these self-appointed spokesmen have for us. One reason why we fought for independence, one reason why we are prepared to make sacrifices for the maintenance of our independence and sovereignty is because we want to be our own spokesmen, because Kenya's policy must be truly Kenya's policy and not merely an image or an echo of some other country, wherever that country may be.

Mr. Speaker, may I now make one point on this article. We heard rumours, murmurings amongst some Members on the corridors of this House, "Oh, Mr. Gichuru has made a terrible statement." Mr. Speaker, when we had an adjournment debate in the Senate, I listened carefully to those who felt strongly about this article. Mr. Speaker, the only thing that they felt strongly about, the only thing that they have raised in this House and in that House has been, did Mr. Gichuru say this or not? But, Mr. Speaker, what seems to have escaped the—deliberately or otherwise, I am not prepared to say—is that this article has something more important than what Gichuru may or may not have said. It challenges the very concept, the very existence of our independence. It goes even further than that: it is a deliberate, provocative interference in the right of our country to determine what policy we are going to pursue. Mr. Speaker, what is even more, it calls upon some unnamed people in this country, whose identity perhaps the writer of the article must know, and with whom he may be in contact, and tells them that the time has come for action, do not sit any longer on the fence, get up and act.

Mr. Speaker, if there be a man in this House, an hon. gentleman in this House who believes in these things, who belongs to this progressive group, here is his chance to get off the fence and act. Mr. Speaker, they have been told by whoever this person may be that they must now act. This has as custodians—

The Assistant Minister for Finance (Mr. Okelo-Odongo): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, while I do not wish to disagree with my friend and colleague, the Minister for Economic Planning and Development, I think that he is a little bit out of order on the Motion. He is discussing an article from a certain newspaper. The merits of this article in this paper which has been banned and which cannot answer for itself, surely this is irrelevant and is quite a different thing from the substance of the Motion?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes. The hon. Member is referring to this article at length as being, according to him, a symptom of certain conditions which call for this vote of confidence. He is entitled to do that and it is quite relevant.

Mr. Oduya: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, ..... (Inaudible) to bring unity and to get confidence, but now he has gone further to complain about the ..... (Inaudible) paper there. What help can the House have if the Member is going to ..... (Inaudible) on the fact that he is picking up from the paper and not what he wanted, the confidence ..... (Inaudible) this paper now?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I have already stated that it is relevant. If hon. Members read the Motion again, they will see that it is referred to in the Motion and, as regards making a whole speech on an article, I think Mr. Oduya had better wait and see the full length of the speech to see what proportion this article takes.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Speaker, I do not want to exchange words with the hon.

[The Minister for Economic Planning and Development]

Member for Teso, and some of the things he says when he is in his seat are just the sort of things that can be said by persons who want to do the thing he accuses me of trying to do.

Mr. Speaker, I submit to this House that anybody—anybody—who was genuinely worried about this magazine and this article, and who read it intelligently, could not have escaped the serious implications of this article. And, as I have said, when these sort of things are being brushed aside on the pretext that we are only concerned with what some people allege Mr. Gichuru said, we are merely trying to whitewash the affair and to fool the public.

Mr. Speaker, reference has been made in this House to unity. Of course, we want unity, and we do not just want it; we have worked for it. No man in this country has worked for unity more than the President of this Republic. He has toured and gone about the country, to bring to all the peoples in the different parts of this country a feeling of belonging, of participation, of togetherness. I can equally say, without any fear of contradiction, that all Ministers in this Government have emulated the fine example set by the President. They have toured, they have visited, they have discussed, they have listened to all manner of expression of opinion, to try to weld together a Kenya nation out of this sovereign State.

Mr. Speaker, many parts of this country which, for seventy years of British rule, had never heard of an effort by a Minister of the Government or by the Government itself to bring them closer to policy, to consult them and to see and listen to their problems, have, in the past three years, had that opportunity. Efforts have been made towards unity and this Parliament, as it sits here today, is part of the testimony of the success that these efforts have brought, for, in June 1963, we were divided, not into two but into more factions and groups.

Mr. Speaker, unity does not imply uniformity, and I do not expect that all of us shall be the same height, the same width, the same weight, the same complexion, or even the same tribe or the same race. But I do expect—and certainly our people demand—that unity shall mean that we stand by certain broad declarations of policy, that we support our Government, and that we represent to our people the proper state of affairs, without efforts or attempts to mislead or confuse them in issues about which they must be feeling very strongly.

However, Sir, the tenor of this article is that, in fact, the time for unity has passed and what we must now do is to come off the fence and be whatever we have been, benign only to this person and this paper. I am told that this Motion can lead to greater disunity. I question that I do not believe in unity where people fear to speak to each other frankly; I do not believe in friendship based on flattery; I believe in unity and friendship based on free and frank exchange, and I believe that the future of this country lies in that kind of unity, not in the other. Or, Mr. Speaker, are we being told that we should not raise these issues now because we might upset the apple-cart for some one?

If so, we are entitled to know and the public is entitled to know.

In this paper the writer of this article goes out of his way, in every paragraph, to sow the seeds of disunity, to create conflict and division. I will quote from one paragraph, although the whole article is very interesting reading. Speaking in this paper, they have chosen to give labels to some leaders in this country and in this Government; and yet we were being told only this afternoon that this is the only paper that is friendly to the Africans. This paper is so friendly to the Africans that it refers to Mr. Gichuru as a "stooge", who will discredit the Kenya people; it is so friendly to the Africans that it chooses to refer to the hon. Vice-President and the hon. Minister for Information as the left-wingers in the Government. In other words, Mr. Speaker, someone sitting in London has the cool impudence to decide that he is going to decide for the Kenya people, who are the leaders who are good, who are the leaders who are stooges, who are the leaders who are left-wingers, who are the reactionaries, and who are the progressives.

I think that I have said enough about this paper and this article. But there are other articles in this paper which I would commend to the hon. Members who have been so interested in it, who could not even afford to keep it in their pockets long enough, because it was burning their pockets every time it was put there. There are many articles here; and if anyone would like to tell me that they are intended to generate a feeling of unity in Africa, leave alone Kenya, then that man has a completely different understanding from mine.

Mr. Speaker, I have referred to this newspaper in the Motion because I feel that we must expose some of these things and we must discuss them fully and openly.

[The Minister for Economic Planning and Development]

So, Mr. Speaker, it is necessary to clarify, when some people speak of their next Government do they mean a next Government with different policies and programmes, or do they mean their personal, secret personal ambitions and aspirations to power? Because those are two different things. It is very possible that the hon. Member for Teso might lead it. I do not. I would like to assure the hon. Member for Teso that if he is leading a Government with the right policies, based on the declared democracy of this country, and with the support of the will of this people, he might find that all of us might support him. But, Mr. Speaker, if he intends to lead a different kind of Government, with different policies, we want to know and we want to tell him here and now that we shall not accept it.

Mr. Speaker, I am assuming for the time being, that the hon. Members' policies are similar to those that this Government supports, but I also hope that, when he speaks, he will enlighten us on what his policies are.

Mr. Speaker, since last week, and this is why perhaps we have seen fit at this point to bring this Motion in the House, since last week, there have been a lot of goings on, including in these Houses of Assembly, about this magazine, and the article contained in it. The title of the article is this "Kenya, is the price of unity too high", and the end of the article, before I come to the body of it, is this and in capital letters—

POINT OF ORDER*LAYING OF DOCUMENTS ON THE TABLE

Mr. Gichoya: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I understand that that paper has been banned in Kenya. How could it be referred to here whereas we cannot read it ourselves?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I did deal with that point of order earlier today, when I said that it was not a thing on which I could rule as a matter of order, though the Attorney-General might be interested in the presence of the paper, but I do think as a matter of order—in fact, it is so—any paper to which an hon. Member refers in the course of debate must be laid on the Table and made available to hon. Members to see, even if it is illegal.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Speaker, I am willing to lay the paper on the Table at—

Mr. Anyieni: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, is that not going to create a very difficult problem because if the paper is banned, Mr. Speaker, and the Minister lays it here, then Anyieni wants to take it home to read it, somebody will follow me up? Is this not creating a problem, Mr. Speaker? Can we lay papers on the Table which we cannot take outside with us?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think we will have to ask the Attorney-General to resolve this problem for us outside.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): But, Mr. Speaker, with respect to the Member for Bassi-Majoge, papers laid on the Table are not supposed to be taken outside.

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I am seeking your guidance on this question of the paper. The hon. Member has just said that papers laid on the Table are not supposed to be taken out of this House. I was assuming, Mr. Speaker, that any paper laid on the Table becomes a legal paper and it is in order for anybody to take it out. After laying the said paper on the Table, shall we allowed if we find another copy of the same paper, to take it home with us?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): All that I can require is that the particular copy that he has referred to is laid on the Table and made available in the library for Members to see. I cannot require other copies to be made available.

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Sir, you did not understand my point, Sir. What I am trying to put is this. The hon. Member has a copy of a paper which is already banned and which is illegal. If he lays it on this Table, it becomes illegal. Shall I be entitled to go and get a copy from the library, and take it home with me to read, because if so, what is going to happen is that if I am found with it I shall be prosecuted?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think I have your point, but all I can say is that you will be entitled to have this copy, this particular copy, made available in the library, and to look at it there. I cannot say whether you will be entitled to buy other copies; you will have to ask the Attorney-General about that.

POINT OF ORDER*GOVERNMENT PAPERS LAID ON THE TABLE

Mr. Anyieni: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, normally, when the Ministers lay papers on the Table, they also tell us that we will find these papers in our pigeon-holes, and any material supplied to us in our pigeon-holes we can take with us. How is it that there is now a special standing that this paper can only be read in the library, in view of the fact that—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, no, Mr. Anyieni, you are confusing papers which are laid by Government formally on the Table representing Government policy, with papers which are referred to in the course of debate by a particular Member. Papers laid by Government as a matter of Government policy are, of course, distributed by way of copy to all Members. When a Member is required—as he quite often is required—to lay on the Table a document to which he has referred in the course of debate, there is no practice of making copies of that document for every Member; it goes into the library for Members to see.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, am I in order to assume that the hon. Minister was substantiating something by producing this paper and that he was not laying it on the Table, because if he is reading extracts from this, this can be found in our HANSARD?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, you are wrong on that. Mr. Osogo, it was not a case of substantiating; the Minister was referring to a document for the purpose of debate and Members are not required to restrict themselves to reading the extracts which he has read and which are reported in HANSARD. Very rightly, they are entitled to see the whole context. That is the reason for requiring the paper to be laid on the Table.

Mr. Oduya: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that Minister speaking is, not speaking just as Mr. Mboya but as Government, am I right to say that the House will be treating that paper which he is going to lay on the Table, as a paper which has been laid on the Table as a Government paper and not as a private document?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, if you did not understand the distinction which I described just now, I am sorry.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Speaker, Sir—

Mr. Gichoya: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, there is one part which you have not made clear to me. If this copy is in the library, Mr. Speaker, and it will be accessible to every Member, suppose a Member borrows it from the library, this very copy—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): He must not. He will not be allowed to.

I think before you resume, Mr. Mboya, let us make quite sure there are not any more points of order for a bit, otherwise let us have them now and get rid of them.

I think you are in the clear for a little bit now, Mr. Mboya.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Speaker, the relevant paragraph that I was going to read in this article reads as follows, and I would like to quote—

An hon. Member: In capital letters.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Before I come to the capital letters.

"We have felt that the question—that is, the publishers of this—"of national unity has been paramount in Kenya. Most Kenyans have taken the same view. They have felt respect for Mzee Kenyatta's great nation-building efforts, but one is entitled to ask to what end is the unity being built." Then he goes on: "If Kenya is not to be brought into increasing disrepute, those in its Government and outside—"those in its Government and outside—"who hold progressive views must speak out at once." Then, Mr. Speaker, in capital letters, "They"—that is, those holding the progressive views—"must no longer hold a discreet silence. They must proclaim their own position clearly and uncompromisingly. The continent of Africa is in a condition of revolutionary crisis. How that crisis is resolved is of importance to the whole of mankind. Progressive-minded people are entitled to know who are their friends and who are their enemies in Kenya. The time has passed for sitting on the fence."

Mr. Speaker, that is the end of the quotation.

Mr. Speaker, the relevance of this article to my Motion is as follows. In the first paragraph I have quoted, we see the same pattern of, on the one hand, praising Mzee Kenyatta and, on the other, running down his Government and his country, the same pattern that we have been witnessing in some statements and speeches.

Then, Sir, in the second paragraph that I have quoted, we are told that Kenya is going to be brought to international disrepute and yet, Sir, those are the same words that we have even heard from some hon. Members in this House, and even today, that we shall see internationally. What shall we see internationally? This country and this House deserves to be told who are these internationalists who shall make us see, and what it is we shall see. We want to know if there are any back-seat drivers of the affairs of our country, trying to influence it, trying to dominate it and trying to direct it from outside this country. We want to know whether the people of this country elected us, so that we can serve the wishes of

The Assistant Minister for Finance (Mr. Okelo-Odongo): On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, is the Minister in order to ridicule Kisumu which has produced him.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, with the greatest respect to the hon. Member—

Mr. Anyien: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, when a point of order is made, why do you not make the ruling, why do you allow the person who is speaking to make the ruling?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): There is no question about my making a ruling. I am grateful to Mr. Okelo-Odongo to having raised a point of order, but I did not think it was a point of order which in fact needed a ruling.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Deputy Speaker, the only comment I can make is that with the greatest respect to my friend the hon. Member, the Assistant Minister for Finance, if he knows anything about biology Kisumu can never produce me.

The Assistant Minister for Finance (Mr. Okelo-Odongo): On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, is the Minister in order to exhibit his ignorance of the fact that there exists something called geography?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! Order!

I appreciate that there are asides in any debate and that Members like to be a little humorous, but I do not think it is necessary for us to exhibit our knowledge of either biology or geography or anything else. I think we had better continue the debate.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I do not want to continue this exchange except to say that I may hail from Kisumu but perhaps the problem here is when you try to interpret Luo into English.

Mr. Speaker, on the more serious side of what I was saying, I have made the point and I do not think that I ought to repeat it except to emphasize it. That democratically we were elected and we hope democratically to stay in power. If in between an election there occurs a change of mind and if in between an election the Government is deemed to be ineffective, if in between an election the Government appears to veer from the policies and mandate upon which it was returned to power, then we provide in the Constitution that this House must have the right to pronounce on the matter and the country must have the right to declare its preference afresh.

We do not believe that we should hang on to power purely for personal ambitions and prestige and land our country into some of the miseries that we have seen elsewhere. If, today, we are not wanted to govern then let someone else do so. Maybe tomorrow we could come back to govern. Mr. Speaker, the issue is as simple as that. This House has to express itself for or against the Government. Mr. Speaker, I want immediately to make this point, that paying lip service to the President as a person is not good enough. The President, under our Constitution is the Head of the Government, and the Constitution clearly states that his position is indivisible from that of his Government and Ministers. But lately, there have been occasions when some people have tried to suggest that "Oh, they like the President," but they single out certain Ministers that they do not like them, also, Mr. Speaker, some people say "Oh, they like the President, but the Government they do not like". Mr. Speaker, you cannot like the President and not like his Government, unless you underestimate his intelligence. This is cheap, and this is illogical, and that is why we offer the opportunity for a free, frank and public, I repeat the word public, discussion, because we on our part feel that we have nothing to hide.

POINT OF ORDER

RULING ON LIMITATION OF DEBATE AND CLOSURE

Mr. Anyien: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I see that it is about a quarter to six, being a quarter to six. Mr. Speaker, I want to know as to whether, in view of the fact that the Minister who is now speaking, seems to plan to speak for a long, long time, does this mean, Mr. Speaker, that when it comes to 6.30 p.m., the whole Motion will have to end, and if that is the case, Mr. Speaker, shall we agree that this matter can continue to be debated tomorrow? It would be unfair to the other Members who may want to speak.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! There is no time limit fixed for this debate at present, either by Standing Orders or by resolution of the House, and so it will continue this evening, and if necessary, tomorrow, provided it is put on the Order Paper tomorrow, and continuously until the House resolves on the closure.

The Assistant Minister for Lands and Settlement (Mr. Gachago): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, if it is the wish of the House that this Motion should be disposed tonight, even if it means we stay here, is there a provision in the Standing Orders whereby we can resolve to continue with this Motion until it is finally resolved?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! As I explained to the House, there is no limit at present for this debate, it will continue until it is ended or the closure is successfully moved. It could be limited by a Motion under Standing Order 71, whereby the House fixes a time limit for the debate. That Motion can only be moved either before the debate begins, or after an adjournment. Presuming that we do not finish the debate today, at the start of tomorrow's business a Motion for limitation of the time for the continuation of the debate could be moved and carried. Of course, an hon. Member could move the closure of this debate before 6.30 p.m. this evening, but I doubt if I would feel in the position to allow it to be put.

Mr. Gichoya: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, you have stated that we can continue even up to tomorrow, but we already see, Mr. Speaker, that there is an intention to close the debate before most of the people could air their views.

In the light of this, Mr. Speaker, Sir, could we then limit the time for each speaker, so that as many people can express their views on this confidence or non-confidence Motion, on the part of the Government?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Standing Order 71 applies both the limitation of the period of the debate and the limitation of the time allowed to each speaker. So the Motion, as I say, could be moved tomorrow before the debate is resumed, it could limit the time for each speaker as well as the time for the debate, but I do not think that any hon. Member ought to anticipate premature closure of the debate, because as hon. Members know, the Speaker has the last word as to when he will allow the closure to be put.

POINT OF ORDER

RULING ON EXEMPTION OF BUSINESS FROM STANDING ORDERS

Mr. Kagga: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, supposing the House resolves that after the end of the time, that is after 6.30 p.m., we want an extension of time, can we extend it in this House?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes. Order! A Minister can move that almost anything be exempted from the provisions of the Standing Orders, and the Minister could move at 6.30 p.m. today or even earlier, that this particular business be exempted from the Standing Order which requires us to rise at 6.30 p.m. for a specified period. It has been done before. If the House so resolves, then we go on for the period that the House so resolves.

(Resumption of debate)

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Speaker, I would like to give the House a complete assurance that the Government is interested that every Member should have an opportunity to speak, and further that we do not intend to introduce a time limit, and lastly, that before 6.30 p.m. we intend to move the suspension of the Standing Orders.

Mr. Speaker, I am afraid that some of these interruptions make it necessary, for me, perhaps, to go back on one or two things, but I will try and avoid repetition. As I was saying before the interruption took place, the issue in this Motion, and if Members will read it, and read it without any prejudice and without any prejudged positions, they will note that all it does is to bring into this House what every honest Member in this House knows, has at one point or another, been either said, implied or stated, and there should be no fear, therefore, in getting all these matters brought here, aired fully, so that all of us, those who may have been having things on their chests, can cough them out and let them be free of the imprisonment of some of the figments, or some of the ideas, some very fantastic ideas, that some people have been going about with in the country. I think such a freeing of consciences will also help to free the public itself from some of the tensions and confusion which they tend to get into when they hear too many contradictory statements and too many allegations made about this Government and about its future. There have been cases where people have said, and some of it has been reported or referred to in this House, that "Oh, you do not worry, do not worry about this Government, we will wait for the next one", or "we shall have another one, everything will happen properly when the next Government comes into being".

Mr. Speaker, I know there will be another Government, I am not as naive as not to know that. But, one question is, whether this Government is pursuing the policies that are generally accepted by the people of this country. Whether we will have another Government in 1968 is not the question, the question is that as a democratic society the people of this country, must only have a Government of which they approve, and a Government whose policies they generally approve. That is the question.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): The correction is correct.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I would like to state at once that I fully understand the gravity of the Motion that is now before the House, and I would like to state quite categorically that it is not going to help explain the situation by mere heckling or shouting back at me as a person. Whether I am in the Government or not in the Government the most important thing is that Kenya should be free of the confusion. I am surprised, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am free from the confusion that exists even today.

I am surprised to note that Members who now heckle me so loudly are the ones who not more than once, less, so many times here and elsewhere in cases, have in fact stated that the Government was divided, that there was confusion, and this Motion, Mr. Deputy Speaker, seeks to give the Members in this House an opportunity frankly, freely and publicly to state what it is that has been bothering them, what it is they feel is short, what it is that they feel is weakening the Government and to state quite categorically their views. Too often members of the public have been treated to doses of this or that statement or allegation against the Government and it is right that the Parliament, in the case of a democratic society such as ours, should have an opportunity to state quite categorically what it feels.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, looking at the HANSARD and at our newspapers and other publications, one comes across a persistence of very extravagant and reckless and even loose talking about the Government and about its future, including the future of this country. The people of this country and the public of this country need to know what it is that causes such loose, reckless and extravagant talk and statements. If we in the Government because we wish to hold on to Ministries, were to refuse a free ventilation of these issues, then, Sir, we would be denying the people and we would be denying this House its democratic rights. The Member for Gichugu has said, "Let us go to the country". Mr. Deputy Speaker, let me state quite categorically and let the public of this country know it, that at this time and hour and in this place and on this day the Government is offering the opportunity to go to the country, to dissolve this House. If this Motion—

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): There is a point of order, Mr. Mboya.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Otienko): On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, in view of that statement can we resolve here and now without even going ahead that, that is what we will do: go to the country?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! I am afraid we are discussing one Motion. If there is a question of another Motion I am sure it will be taken in its due time.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): But, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I would have thought that the Minister for Information is well conversant with the Constitution of this country, but that is precisely what the Motion is asking for. Under the Constitution of this country a vote of confidence means that if this House resolves to reject this Motion that it has no confidence in the Government, then the President will dissolve this House as laid down in the Constitution and every Member will have to go back to his constituency and be re-elected.

The Assistant Minister for Finance (Mr. Mr. Okelo-Odongo): Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, is the hon. Minister in order, or is he being accurate by reducing this big Motion, which has really two parts in it, that is of condemning a group which I think is in his own imagination, by reducing it merely to a Motion on the confidence of the President?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! A Minister or any Member moving a Motion can say anything he wants provided it is relevant and I certainly cannot say that he has said is not relevant.

Mr. Kamau: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, is it in order for such a Government Motion, for both Ministers of the Cabinet to start to throw mud at each other?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Mr. Kamau, that is possibly a matter of comment, but I do not think it is a matter of order at the moment.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I will deal with the points as I see them. In these past months there have been instances when some people have suggested that the Government had failed in its policies, in its programme and in its activities. There have been instances when some people have suggested that Kenya—

POINT OF ORDER

NO TAKING OF NOTES IN THE HOUSE EXCEPT BY THE PRESS

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I thought it was provided in the Standing Order that we have strangers, Pressmen and so forth and also diplomatic personnel in this building and the Press gallery is for reporters but anybody in the diplomatic corps cubicles allowed to go on taking notes, unless he is a Pressman?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): No, no, I am afraid that nobody else is allowed to take notes except members of the Press and the Serjeant-at-Arms will obviously look into it.

The Vice-President (Mr. Odinga): On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, the Minister moving the Motion has actually raised two very important questions, that this Motion is a vote of no confidence in the Government or a vote of confidence in the Government, which I said, and I have maintained, that he has no mandate of the Government to move that on behalf of the Government.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! Order!

The Vice-President (Mr. Odinga): If that is what his intention is, because I took it to be a simple Motion that he was moving himself, but if it is on behalf of the Government I am afraid I cannot be a party to it and I will not sit and listen to it.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I will continue with what I was saying. It has become the practice—

Hon. Members: Shame, shame.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! Order! This is a serious Motion and I would ask hon. Members to treat it with seriousness.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, the people in this country knew me long before they knew the hon. Member for Bassi-Majaga.

The hon. Member has yet to produce a record of service in this country, except a record of words.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! Order!

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I will not be diverted from my speech by the hon. Member for Bassi-Majaga.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, it is fair to the Government, it is fair to the House, it is fair to the country and it is fair to the people that we should have a reasonable degree of stability in this country. That there should be complete security in the minds of the people, that they should feel that the Government they have elected and the Parliament they have elected to look after their destiny and interests, is carrying out its responsibility as required, if at any time that stability, that security or that responsibility appears to be undermined or covered with a spate of confusion, and arising sometimes from those charged with carrying out that responsibility themselves, then the country is entitled to an explanation as to what exactly is going on. And today we are giving the opportunity for those Members who have been saying or those persons who have been trying to plant the seed of doubt and the seed of confusion, to come out as men and state what it is they are worried about, and state what it is they feel has not been done which should be done. If, Mr. Deputy Speaker, we were to take the public of this country for granted or to take this House for granted, we would be making a serious mistake. We would be abusing the responsibility entrusted to us by the mandate of the people. It is quite all right for those who are not Ministers to feel that every time they rise in this House they can abuse, ridicule Ministers and the Government and themselves build the image that they do not share at all in the collective responsibility of this House to the people of this country. We are getting tired of just taking abuse after abuse, ridicule after ridicule and it is far better that we know here and now how we stand with this House and how we stand with the people of this country.

If, Mr. Deputy Speaker, we are in power by force and we are insubordinating any person or any group of persons, we wish to know this, if in fact we are in power as a small clique that, as somebody has said a few minutes ago, has lost touch, has lost influence and has lost the support of the people, then we should be told so and democratically, because we wish to preserve the democracy and constitution of this country.

Let us be told so in broad daylight. Not at night and not by discussions of coups, because, Mr. Deputy Speaker, the freedom of this country was won through the efforts, the unity and the suffering and even the bloodshed of many of our countrymen. Many of them did not live to see it or to enjoy it and we have no right, none of us has any right, to think, including myself, and including the hon. Member for Kisumu or whatever it is.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! Order!

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Do please keep quiet, Mr. Anyieni, you have been at it non-stop.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I really thank the men who advised our hon. President, His Excellency, Jomo Kenyatta, to ask any one Minister, no matter what his number is in the line, to move this Motion today. The country is waiting this very minute to hear from the hon. Members who really do represent the country, to say and state clearly and categorically whether they support the Mzee or whether they support another group. Mr. Speaker, Sir, anybody should be ashamed to stand in this hon. Assembly and try to oppose this Motion which says that this Assembly, this House—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! If hon. Members persist in being so disorderly I shall send out those who continue to make trouble. I was just going to remind Mr. Mwendwa that the debate we are on now is not the merits of the Motion, but whether we should adjourn the House.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I thank you, Sir. I think I have made my point very clearly, and I really oppose the adjournment of the House.

Mr. Balala: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Minister in order to imply that there are people opposing the Motion, when in actual fact the Motion is for the adjournment of the House?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! That is why I called him to order, and referred him back to the question before the House.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have made my point, therefore, Sir, I beg to oppose the adjournment of the House.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I stand to oppose the Motion for adjournment. I think we have talked so much about a lot of things that require clarification, and this is a golden opportunity to give us that chance so that we can speak and speak freely.

I therefore, Sir, oppose the Motion and hope that hon. Members will also oppose it.

Mr. Kaggin: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I rise to support the Motion very strongly, and I would like, Mr. Speaker, Sir, to say, from the outset, that we have confidence in the President, all of us, and there is no question about that. But, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I must make it very clear that we shall not allow, and you should not allow it, Sir, for some Ministers who know very well that they have no confidence in this country to come and cover and carry on. Mr. Speaker, Sir—

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the hon. Member right in implying that there are some hon. Ministers who have no confidence in this country?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, it is quite out of order to say anything like that, and quite irrelevant I think, to this adjournment debate.

Mr. Kaggin: All right, Sir, I will withdraw. Mr. Speaker, Sir, what I was going to say is that I support the Motion for adjournment very strongly, because this Motion was brought here in a hurry without notice even to yourself. The Minister told us that this was a Motion of the Government, that it was so important and asked the House to debate it today. We have heard in this House, Sir, Ministers of the same Government contradicting each other, some saying that this is not a Government Motion and others saying that it is a Government Motion. That, Sir, is why I say that we should not allow a group of Ministers or some Ministers to try to seek a mandate from this House as a cover in the name of the Government and the name of the President. I am sure, Sir, that the President has no doubt that this country has confidence in him. If he has any doubt, then he could have come here today and moved the Motion himself. But it is for these Ministers who might have doubted their confidence who should come here and bring their own Motion and seek a mandate for themselves, then we shall see whether they get it.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, as some of the Members have said here, this is not a straightforward Motion. If it was a straightforward Motion just demanding a mandate of the Government, we should not need any time to discuss it, but if you read it, Mr. Speaker, Sir, you will see that it is very involved. It includes all the groups there and it shows that some kind of small group met last night, and drafted this Motion and brought it to the House today. We are not going to allow our President and Government to become involved in this small night group. It is for this reason, Mr. Speaker, that we would like some time to discuss and have the consent of the President as to whether this is a Government Motion.

[Mr. Kaggin]

Mr. Speaker, Sir, we have already had an example of this, I think it was last session, when one of these small groups which met at night drafted out a Motion saying that there were arms being brought into the country. It was brought here as a very important Motion, Mr. Speaker—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Now please keep to the point of the adjournment of the House today, Mr. Kaggin. I think you are getting well away from it.

Mr. Kaggin: Yes, Mr. Speaker, Sir, but I was just giving an example. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I feel that this is a peculiar Motion and we need time in which to discuss it. Mr. Speaker, Sir, before I sit down, I would also like to say that the demonstrations which we have had in this House this afternoon are very confusing and it has revealed to us the whole confusion and muddle existing in the Cabinet, and we should therefore have the time to sort this out before we discuss this Motion.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would ask the Speaker to ask the President to confirm whether this is a Government Motion before we debate it tomorrow. I beg to support.

Mr. arap Bly: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move that the Mover be called upon to reply.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, I think I am right in saying that on this particular procedural Motion, there is not any reply, but it is reasonable to consider the closure. I will put the question.

(Question, that the question be now put, put and agreed to)

(Question put and negatived)

MOTION

CONFIDENCE IN THE PRESIDENT AND HIS GOVERNMENT

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move:—

THAT WHEREAS the Government of the Republic of Kenya under the leadership of Mzee Jomo Kenyatta, has carried out faithfully its mandate as approved by the people at the General Election in 1963;

AND WHEREAS all the Government's activities and policies have been based on a faithful interpretation of the democratic will of the people, as expressed in the Constitution of the Republic, the Kanu Manifesto and the Sessional Paper No. 10—African Socialism and its application to planning in Kenya;

AND WHEREAS the President of the Republic and his Government have spared no effort in securing the unity of the people of Kenya under Kanu so as to create the political stability needed for the effective and rapid development of the country;

NOTING THAT in these past months some leaders and even Members of Parliament have used words or made statements implying lack of confidence in the Government, its activities and its policies;

NOTING ALSO that there have been those who call themselves Socialist Group and Progressive Group—including the recent exhortation by a monthly magazine, Africa and the World (for the Progressive Leaders) in this country to act now instead of sitting on the fence;

THIS House, having regard to all these matters—and being convinced that those who do not support Government policy should be free from any responsibility in the Government's actions and, further, that such people should declare publicly their intentions—expresses full confidence in the President and his Government and condemns those dissident and confused groups.

[The Speaker (Mr. Slade) left the Chair]
[The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza) took the Chair]

I would like, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, in the first place to ask that—

Mr. Makokha: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir—

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Deputy Speaker, there is a correction to be made on the Paper that has been circulated, and that is that the word "diffident" should be "dissident" and that the words, "and his Government" be added after the word, "President" in the last line. These are typographical errors. I believe that is what the hon. Member was going to raise.

Mr. Makokha: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, that is not the point of order, I wanted to raise, the point is this. On the copy I have it merely reads, "confidence in the President and condemns . . ." May I know if the words, "and his Government" are included in this paper?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Yes, I think Mr. Mboya has explained this, and notice of this was given to the Speaker earlier, that these words were missed out in the typing and that they are typographical errors.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Mr. Odinga is on a point of order.

The Vice-President (Mr. Odinga): Mr. Speaker, I feel that, since this Motion is what it is, and in view of what it is trying to bring about, this can only be done if the House is adjourned and which will give us a chance to check it actually with the President, to see if this is a Government Motion. But this would be a queer way, because it is not the President who usually gives the House the Government business; it is from me that you always get Government business.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You would not be able to move the adjournment of the debate. Mr. Odinga, until the question had actually been proposed; that is to say, after we had heard the Mover and seconder and I had proposed the question. Then it would belong to the House, and any hon. Member who was on his feet in the course of the debate could move the adjournment of the debate. Alternatively, you could move now, as a point of order, the adjournment of the House. You are entitled to do that. This would mean that we do not more business today.

MOTION FOR THE ADJOURNMENT

ADJOURNMENT OF THE HOUSE (UNDER S.O. 31 (b))

The Vice-President (Mr. Odinga): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I hope the hon. gentlemen will wait for me to speak, because when it becomes hot I always become alive.

Now, Sir, in the light of the heat that I feel, I beg to move that the House do adjourn now, in order to consider some very important questions which I have already mentioned.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Are you seconding.

Mr. Khalif: Yes, I am seconding, Sir, I beg to second the Motion that the House do now adjourn, in view of the fact that we today see the Vice-President of Kenya at loggerheads with a Minister in this Chamber, and a Minister at loggerheads with the Vice-President. As far as I am concerned, Sir, I have always thought that, in the order of supremacy, the President, the hon. Mzee Jomo Kenyatta, comes first, the hon. Oginga Odinga, next, as the Vice-President of Kenya, and T. J. Mboya is only one Minister.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order!

Mr. Khalif: Mr. Speaker, the hon. T. J. Mboya is only a Minister. I am saying, Sir, that—

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): On a point of order, Sir, I do not know whether you allow such remarks. It has been indicated that this Motion is a Government Motion, and now a Member is alleging that this Motion belongs to a Private Member. Is this not out of order completely?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, I think it is at the present stage. You must accept the position that, at the moment, this stands as a Government Motion.

Mr. Khalif: Sir, I have never said that this is not a Government Motion. What I said was that a Minister brings a Motion and indicates that it is a Government Motion, and then we have the Vice-President saying that this is not a Government Motion. And if you did not understand, Sir, why Mr. Odinga moved the adjournment of the House, his reason was that the hon. Oginga Odinga moved the adjournment because he said that he never knew about this Motion before. And he knows all Government Motions which are brought to this House by all the Ministers. Yet the fact that he indicated that this never went through him, the fact that the Minister for Information indicated that one hour ago the President did not give the impression that this was a Government Motion, this alone, Sir, should make hon. Members understand, realize, agree, that this House should adjourn now until the President is consulted.

As far as I am concerned, Sir, I know that a Motion never does become a Government Motion unless it goes through the President. I am not challenging anyone; I am saying that as far as I know no Motion becomes a Government Motion unless it has the consent of the President. Now we have the Speaker of this House saying that he never up to now had the opportunity to know whether this Motion was going to be moved with the assent of the President or not. We are left, therefore, in doubt as to whether this is a Government Motion. This is, by itself, an argument to adjourn the House. We must consult the President. The President is supreme, the President is the only person who can either consent to this Motion and say it is a Government one, or who can refrain from saying that it is a Government Motion. It is not for the hon. Odinga, it is not for the hon. T. J. Mboya to do this. As far as the House is concerned, although they are Ministers, compared with the President, they are nothing. We want the President to rule on this. We want the President to say that this is a Government Motion, and we can go ahead and discuss it; or else we want the President to say that this is not a Government Motion, and we will say, "Hon. Mboya, you have indulged in untrue statement in Parliament", and we are going to see what we are going to do to him. But we want the President to rule on this; it is for the President of Kenya, the hon. Jomo Kenyatta, to say that this is a Government Motion or this is not a Government Motion. It is not for the hon. T. J. Mboya or the hon. Odinga to say that this is or is not a Government Motion.

Sir, this House has been put in a very embarrassing position. For the first time in history, since Kenya attained independence, we have two Government Ministers at odds, and yet we are told that the Government of Kenya has unity and the members of the Cabinet are united. Yet we have two Government Ministers opposing themselves in this Chamber, one saying that this is a Government Motion—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! Please do not say everything six times, Mr. Khalif.

Mr. Khalif: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg your pardon, if I was getting heated.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Keep off repetition, you may have some more points to make. Marshal your thoughts a little.

Mr. Khalif: Sir, I would like to say this, that in view of the fact that for the first time in history since Kenya attained its independence we have two Ministers at loggerheads and this House should agree—the Members should be patient if they want to hear what I have to say. But, Sir, I feel that this House should agree with the hon. Vice-President in that we should resolve here and now that this House should adjourn until the word of the President is obtained.

(Question proposed)

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am surprised, and I also hope that the people who are listening to us here are also surprised. Mr. Speaker, Sir, it takes no time at all for me to decide whether I love or hate somebody. I do not need to be given any time to think. Even during my sleep, if somebody wakes me up and say, "Do you like Kenyatta?", I do not need any time to think—

MOTION

WITHDRAWAL OF STRANGERS

Mr. Maisori-Itumbo: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the seriousness of this Motion, and I feel that I can speak freely, therefore, Sir, would I be in order to ask you to declare that the strangers in the House withdrew from the Chamber?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! If any hon. Member supports the proposition that strangers be ordered to withdraw, I immediately put the question and take the feeling of the House.

Mr. Omari: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to second the proposition put forward by Mr. Maisori-Itumbo.

(Resumption of Debate on Motion for Adjournment of the House)

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I was saying, when I was interrupted, that if anybody wakes me up during the night and asks me, "Do you have confidence in Kenyatta", I do not need to give this question any time at all to tell them the answer, also if I am asked if I have confidence in the Kenya Government, I do not need any time to tell them the answer which is yes. Yes, Sir, I have confidence in the Kenya Government. Mr. Speaker, Sir, what is this Motion asking us to do? It is asking us to show here today, without wasting time, that we have confidence in the very President we are talking about or whether we have confidence in the Government which we support. Therefore, Sir, I do not see the reason why—

Mr. Kamau: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, could the hon. Minister address His Excellency as the hon. President, Mzee Kenyatta, instead of calling him just Kenyatta?

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): I am sorry, Mr. Speaker, Sir, if I did not say our hon. President. Mr. Speaker, Sir, all that I am saying in the opposition of the adjournment of the House is that—

Mr. Kase: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I wonder whether it would be in order for the hon. Minister to declare whether he is speaking as a Member representing a constituency or whether he is speaking as a Minister?

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not need to declare myself here, I am—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! In any debate, even a debate on procedure, the Members do like to know in which capacity a Member is speaking, whether it is a Minister or otherwise.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am not one of those people who when they want to commit a crime they say, I speak as a Member, I am always a Minister. I am proud of it, and any time I commit a crime, then let me be taken as a Minister. Mr. Speaker, Sir, all that I am saying is that—[Mr. Kaggia] from the Minister for Information whether he has seen this film or not? If so is it not fair for us to see this film—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! It is nothing to do with order, this. You will have a perfectly good opportunity of making this sort of suggestion during the debate, but not as a point of order. Now can we get on with the business?

The Assistant Minister for Works, Communications and Power (Mr. Bomett): Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that part of the Motion, the last paragraph reads "This House, having regard to all these matters—and being convinced that those who do not support Government policy should be free from any responsibility in the Government's actions and, further, that such people should declare publicly their intentions—expresses full confidence in the President and condemns these diffident and confused groups", in view that this is part of the Motion, why should this House not be allowed, Mr. Speaker, to debate the whole Motion?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Really, Mr. Bomett, it is quite superfluous for you to get up on a point of order and argue that this Motion should go ahead, when I am only too anxious for it to go ahead, if hon. Members will only give it a chance.

MOTION TO BE REFERRED BACK TO GOVERNMENT

The Vice-President (Mr. Odinga): Mr. Speaker, Sir, with, I think, all due respect, to the views expressed by you, I would have said that since this Motion is being argued, as to whether it is a Government Motion or not, I am actually taking it that it is not a Government Motion. And if it is a Government Motion, I would like it to be referred back to the Government and let us consider it.

Furthermore, the Motion asks for the unity and the harmony of the people, and if that is the real intention of the Motion, then the only line we can take is to refer the Motion back.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): There may be some sense—I am sure there always is some sense—in what Mr. Odinga suggests, but I cannot rule on that as a matter of order. It would be open to him, in discussion with Mr. Mboya or others, to propose the adjournment of the debate at any time, once we get started on this. Again, it is a matter of the internal organization of Government, which I cannot direct from the Chair.

Mr. G. G. Karuki: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that you have ruled that this Motion is a Government Motion, why do we waste time? Could we not continue now?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): A very good idea, Mr. Karuki.

Mr. Khalif: On a point of order, Sir, now that you, as the hon. Speaker, have admitted that you had no previous consultation with the Government as to whether this was a Government Motion or not, and now that we have the Vice-President of Kenya at loggerheads with a Minister—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You are going over and over the same thing. Sit down. I will not have hon. Members going over and over the same ground by way of points of order. You are deliberately wasting the time of the House.

POINT OF ORDER

WHETHER POINTS OF ORDER CAN BE RAISED AFTER HOUSE HAS DECIDED TO PROCEED WITH MOTION

Mr. Gatuguta: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, it looks very interesting, that points of order should be raised as to whether this Motion is a Government one or not a Government one, when we know, Sir, that when this Motion was moved the House agreed that it should be taken as Order 6A. Sir, I am seeking your guidance on this matter. After the House agreed that the Motion should be debated, is it in order that Members should then raise questions as to whether it should be debated or not?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): There was no formal resolution that it should be debated, it was merely that I sounded the feeling of the House as to whether it should go on the Order Paper today or wait until tomorrow; and I sensed the very strongest feeling that it should go on the Order Paper today. That was not a resolution of the House and, therefore, these points of order, questioning the authority for the Motion and so on, are not out of order. But they have been disposed of, and I am not going to have them repeated.

POINT OF ORDER

RULING ON CHALLENGING THE CHAIR'S RULINGS

Mr. Oduya: Mr. Speaker, on a point of order, I just seek your guidance on this—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Get on with it, please.

Mr. Oduya: Sir, I come to seek your guidance, possibly you may help the House—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, will you make your point of order? This preamble is quite unnecessary.

Mr. Oduya: I am going to make it. Can the Chair inform this House how the Members, or some of the Members, would be able to put things right, if they find, for example, that the Chair might be biased or influenced—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Will you sit down, please, Mr. Oduya? I think, Mr. Oduya, this is the third occasion on which you have sought to challenge the impartiality of the Chair by a purported point of order, seeking guidance. You have had the answer three times: that it is contrary to Standing Orders to criticize the conduct of the Speaker without a substantive Motion for that purpose, a Motion which goes to the vote and shows you the resolution of the House. If again you try to use this method of criticizing the Chair, I am afraid I will have to send you out of the House.

The Vice-President (Mr. Odinga): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I am sorry to come back to this, but I want to know about this. If the Members would like to debate this particular Motion, I am not worried about it. If they want to debate it as a Private Member's Motion, I do not mind; but if it is a Government Motion, this is what I am worried about. Government Motions are normally decided by us in Sessional Committee and then we bring them here; we do not normally bring them abruptly like this. I do not think any Minister would just bring a Motion abruptly like this.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Odinga, this is a most unfortunate situation and, from what you tell me, I do sympathize with your position, but I do not think I can add anything from the Chair, on a point of order, to what I have said already. I am of the opinion that we have to accept this as a Government Motion, if it has been directed, as Mr. Mboya says, by the President, and we will proceed with it now.

The Vice-President (Mr. Odinga): That actually shows me, Mr. Speaker, that you disbelieve what I am saying. You believe Mr. Mboya and you disbelieve me. That is another question, and I must take it so, because I also have a responsibility in this House.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I am very sorry you should say that, Mr. Odinga. It is quite incorrect that I have disbelieved you. I have accepted everything you said as true. It does not alter the position, as I see it, as regards the order of this House. I have given a ruling, to the best of my ability, hearing what you say and what Mr. Mboya says; and I cannot go any further. I am very sorry if you think I have disbelieved you. It is not so.

Mr. Anyleni: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I am happy that you are being patient about this, because this is an important matter. Now the point of order I want to raise is this: When you have received information from one Minister, telling you that such and such a Motion is a Government Motion, then a Minister from that same Cabinet tells you that this is not a Government Motion, would it not be proper for you to seek—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order, Mr. Anyleni! Will you sit down? You are trying to go round and round on the same point, and I will not have it. If anybody wants to raise a point of order, it must be a new one; and I do not think there are any more new ones on this.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onekko): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, am I in order to be heard if I give my impression when I saw the President about an hour ago, on this particular Motion?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No. We cannot possibly entertain, on the Floor of this House, disagreements and conflicts between Ministers of the same Government. All we can do is when a Minister gets up and says, "I do something by the authority of the President", believe that it is so until it is repudiated by the President. I cannot see any other way.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, in this case, when the situation is as it is today, would it then be proper for this House to seek the consent of the President or ask him to appear?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No. I think Government has to decide this, what they do about it. The position, as far as this House is concerned, stands as I have described it half a dozen times.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onekko): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I would like to say that when I saw the President an hour ago he did not impress on me that this was a Government Motion.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, no more points of order from you, Mr. Khalif; I am afraid you are too repetitive.

POINT OF ORDER

RULING ON ADJOURNMENT OF DEBATE

The Vice-President (Mr. Odinga): Mr. Speaker, can I move that, in view of all the opinions that have been expressed, this Motion be adjourned until we consult—

Several hon. Members: No.

[The Speaker]

but notice was given earlier, and there should have been a copy in every Member's pigeon-hole by now. If any Member wishes to see a copy and has not got it he should go to his pigeon-hole.

POINT OF ORDER*PRINCIPLES USED BY SPEAKER ON DECIDING TO APPROVE NOTICES OF MOTION

Mr. Khalif: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I should like to know whether this Motion by the hon. Minister is to be considered as a Private Members' Motion, in which case it will be given only one and a half hours or whether it is going to be considered as a Government Motion, whereby more time is going to be given to it.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, I understand that it is a Government Motion. In fact, that is the only reason I can see for it having been taken in Government time. So I have no doubt Mr. Mboya will confirm that he is speaking for Government in moving this Motion.

The Assistant Minister for Finance (Mr. Okelo-Odongo): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I do not know whether from your answer you are not quite definite whether this is a Government Motion or not. I would like us to be quite clear about this.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): We were going to hear from Mr. Mboya.

Just a moment's patience, and I think you will hear.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I am sorry, Mr. Mboya, we would like confirmation that it is a Government Motion.

The Assistant Minister for Finance (Mr. Okelo-Odongo): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker—

This Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Mboya has confirmed that it is a Government Order.

The Vice-President (Mr. Odinga): I would object to that, Mr. Speaker, because I did not know of the Motion.

The Assistant Minister for Finance (Mr. Okelo-Odongo): Mr. Speaker, if I understand that this is a Government Motion, what is your practice all the time that when a Motion is brought to you, you decide whether the Motion should come in or not? I believe that you are using certain principles, and I would appreciate it very much, Mr. Speaker, if you would tell this House some of these principles, because I see words included in this Motion which are really fiction, like—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): What is your point of order, Mr. Okelo-Odongo?

The Assistant Minister for Finance (Mr. Okelo-Odongo): My point of order is, would it be in order for you to address the House somewhat with regard to the principles you use in deciding when a Motion should be brought here or not, because this Motion would seem to be intended to create disunity.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, but this cannot be an opportunity for your discussing the merits of the Motion, Mr. Okelo-Odongo. I think hon. Members are very well acquainted with the very simple principles that guide the Speaker in approving a Notice of Motion. He has to approve any Notice of Motion which is not contrary to Standing Orders; that is to say, it does not raise a matter that has already been resolved by the House within the last six months; or does not anticipate some other matter which is already coming along, or does not raise a matter which is sub judice. A very, very limited range of things the Speaker has to disallow. Otherwise, he has to allow a Motion, whatever he thinks of it himself, though some times he may take it on himself to try and persuade the Mover to change the language or even the form, or discourage it altogether. That is a matter for persuasion, it is not a matter of the power of the Speaker.

POINT OF ORDER*GOVERNMENT MOTIONS: APPROVAL OF PRESIDENT

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I would like to confirm that this Motion is a Government Motion and that I will speak for the Government on what I want to say to the House and that consultations which are normally necessary for introducing a Government Motion took place. It is not for anyone, as an individual, or for any single Minister, as an individual, to claim that a Motion is not a Government Motion because he personally does not agree with it, or does not wish to introduce it.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! It is certainly rather embarrassing for the House if they hear from two Ministers two conflicting views as to whether a Motion is a Government Motion or not a Government Motion. I think the only test is whether it is authorized or directed by the President. If Mr. Mboya says that the President has directed him to move this Motion, it is a Government Motion.

The Vice-President (Mr. Odinga): Mr. Speaker, as the man responsible for the Government business in this House, I must say categorically that I have just learned of this Motion in this House when I came in. I was not aware of it at all before this.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): As I say, this state of affairs is regrettable—Order!—but we are concerned at the moment as far as the order of the House goes, with whether this is or not a Government Motion. We have to take it, I think, that the Minister who purports to move it as a Government Motion, and tells the House that it is directed by the President, has, in fact, done it by the direction of the President. The rest is a matter internally for Government outside the House.

The Vice-President (Mr. Odinga): Can I take it, Mr. Speaker, as being the person responsible for the business here, you would expect that I would know it in the first place.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I did acknowledge that it was embarrassing, Mr. Odinga.

Mr. Khalif: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, before the hon. Mr. Oginga Odinga rose on a point of order, he indicated that this was not a Government Motion, and now we have the hon. Mboya stating that it is a Government Motion. In view of the fact that the hon. Vice-President is the most senior Minister in this House—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! Mr. Khalif you are seeking to reopen a matter of which I have disposed.

POINT OF ORDER*GOVERNMENT MINISTERS: COLLECTIVE RESPONSIBILITY

Mr. Anyieni: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I would like you to inform us of your usual principles which guide you in deciding. This is in connexion, Mr. Speaker, with the fact that you, as the Speaker of this House, do recognize the fact that, according to the ruling of the President, the Vice-President is in charge of this House. When a Minister of the same Cabinet brought a Motion to you which was, I think, of special importance, to be debated at an abrupt moment without prior notice to this House, would it not have been in order, Mr. Speaker, and would it not have been proper for you to inform the Leader of this House before, and in view of the fact, Mr. Speaker, that you say you did not, do you not think, Mr. Speaker—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! No, the sort of thing Mr. Anyieni is suggesting is quite contrary to any conception of collective responsibility.

Mr. Oduya: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, since the Vice-President, who is second in command—let us accept the fact—and also who is responsible for the National Assembly, has said that this is not a Government Motion and the public are here and the Press is here, now the Minister for Economic Planning also says that this is a Government Motion, according to your own ruling, how many Governments are there?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): If you want me to answer a point, give me a chance to hear it, please.

Mr. Oduya: Would you inform us whether this is the normal practice. If it is the normal practice, we would like to know on what basis are we going to accept this Motion and has the Minister for Economic Planning got documents from the President or not, since the Minister who is responsible for the National Assembly is denying that it is a Government Motion. Is the country going to understand this confusion?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order!

If hon. Members cannot keep quiet when the Speaker is on his feet, they will have to leave the Chamber, it is a fundamental principle of order. Now, hon. Members are trying to pursue this all over the place, where they cannot go. The principles are very simple. Our Government is based on the conception that hon. Members hear over and over again the conception of collective responsibility; that means that any Minister who speaks as a Minister, is believed and assumed to speak with the authority of Government, and any Minister who comes near the Speaker for any parliamentary business is accepted by the Speaker on the face of it as speaking for Government. It is the first time in my experience, I think, that in this House I have heard two Ministers contradict each other as to whether a matter is or is not authorized by Government. I have never had occasion to inquire before. I have never thought of inquiring. Since it has arisen, there is only one test, as I say, and that is, has this been authorized by the President? Mr. Mboya assures us that it has. If he is wrong, I am sure there will be very quick reaction and repudiation from the President himself. We must accept what Mr. Mboya says and now proceed with this Motion.

Mr. Kagga: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, as it appears this Motion was motivated by this report which was contained in the paper, Africa and the World, and in view of the fact that we hear that this film has already arrived in the country, is it not fair for this House to hear documents offered here. They are hanging there, they have been hanging there for days, sometimes for years, without our having looked at them, but one day will not debar us from debating what we have had in our hands for nearly twenty-three days. It will be the Second Reading, Mr. Speaker, when it comes here, and when the Second Reading of the Constitutional Amendment Bill comes, I think they may speak until—as usually they do—Kingdom come or ad infinitum.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, there is one further point which I must stress here before I resume my seat. There are certain hon. Members, and they may be quite right, who have a reasoning that perhaps we want to give certain powers and vested powers, but that will be discussed when it comes. There are certain sections on which certain people have certain misgivings, but let that day come and you speak for as long as you like, but on this occasion, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg this House, because we have already had the reading of this thing for twenty-one days, to let us debate it for twenty-one years. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): Thank you, Mr. Speaker, for giving me this chance. I think I should clarify a few misgivings that the hon. Mover of the amendment and a few of his supporters are trying to give to this House. It is a pity that if our electors knew exactly what we are trying to talk about here, they would be surprised. Mr. Speaker, here is a document that has been lying with us since 21st January 1966. In the new one, the Attorney-General has told us very, very plainly that it necessitated him deleting a section, section 127. That has saved us from reading more and, here again, we are asked that we should be given more time to read what we have been reading for over twenty-one days, as the hon. Assistant Minister for Internal Security has said.

Those hon. Members who are amending this Motion have not asked in their speeches what amendments might have occurred. In fact, they have not seen the new Bill. They have not seen it because they have not gone to their pigeon-holes, Mr. Speaker. This is a pity. The only words which have been added are "six months"; those are the new words that will be read. Otherwise, the work has been simplified by deleting a full section. The rest of the wording is the same, word for word, from the beginning to the end, except the deletion and the addition of "six months" in another section. If we cannot see the words "six months", Mr. Speaker, so that we should need seven days to see the words, then we should be told here—

Mr. Anyieni: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, is the hon. Member who is now speaking not, in fact, discussing the Constitution instead of this amendment, because he is trying to bring what has been changed in the Constitution. In which case, Mr. Speaker, we should have been allowed to discuss why in that Constitution, we demand seven days. He is telling us now how good it is that it is shortened and he is discussing the Constitution.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, he is not. He is not. He is pointing out, as directly relevant to your amendment, the fact that this is the same Bill that the House has already had published for many days, with one deletion, and one addition of the words "six months". That is directly relevant, I would have said, to whether you need seven days or one day to look at the new publication.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): Mr. Speaker, I thank you very much for your wisdom.

I was only telling my friends that if they cared to hold the two documents in their hands they would not have moved this amendment because they would have been ashamed of it. They would be ashamed in that the words are the same except for a deletion, and this has been clearly expressed here by the Attorney-General who stated that he could not amend the Constitution in the Committee stage as it is not allowed. He had to withdraw the whole Bill so that he could delete this section and add a small thing. This is what has actually happened. If we leave this House, Mr. Speaker, I would call upon our voters to see how much we are trying to waste their time by asking for more time to read something we have already read over and over, and still ask for more time here. Mr. Speaker, I would appeal to hon. Members to go out and go to their pigeon-holes and go through their papers. I have noticed that some of the pigeon-holes are full up. It will take them quite a time to get this Bill, but I would ask them to go out and get the Bill so that they can compare it with what has been amended without coming here.

Mr. Speaker, with due respect to the Mover I think I will ask the House to support the original Motion and not the amendment. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, may I move that the question of the amendment be now put because, in fact, it seems that there is no more material except repetition, in support either of seven days or in opposition to seven days. So I suggest that the question of the amendment be now put.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): That is a reasonable proposition. I will put the question.

(Question, that the question of the amendment be now put, put and agreed to)

Mr. Khalif: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, is it not in order for somebody who has either had an amendment or seconded an amendment to speak on the original Motion?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, any Member moving or seconding an amendment has an opportunity to speak on the main question at that time, as well as putting forward his amendment. Then, when you debate the amendment, if debate is confined to the amendment itself, any Member speaking on that debate is free to speak on the main question afterwards, but not the Mover or the Seconder of the amendment. They have had their turn.

Mr. Warithi: Mr. Speaker, I will be very brief. I stand to support this Motion. The reasons why I support this Motion, Mr. Speaker, are that the purpose of the period of publication, if Members are aware, is to enable Members to study the Bill. If a Bill is hardly a page and a half, I do not think that it would require a period of fourteen days. I also believe, Mr. Speaker, that our Standing Orders are for our own convenience. If we have Standing Orders we pass them ourselves in this House, we can amend them at any time for our own convenience. I do not believe that we should be slaves to Standing Orders if they are in the way of what we want to do. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, the question of this publication from fourteen days to one day is simple—the main argument is that the Bill was published a long time ago, we have seen it, we have studied it and we are quite aware of the contents. If the Members were willing to study it, and to refer to the amendments, there was ample time to do it.

So, Mr. Speaker, there have been suggestions that some Members in the Government were trying to ignore the Constitution. There is no intention, Mr. Speaker, for anybody in this House to show that the Constitution is not important. We all believe that it is important and we all believe that it should be given the due time required. If we have not yet studied it, we can study it and see what is intended. I do not see why we should oppose this Motion.

With these words I beg to support.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, Sir—

Mr. Khalif: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, is it therefore now not in order, Sir, that the Mover should be called upon to reply?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It is a reasonable proposition, but I do not allow it to be proposed by some hon. Member who has had his turn and wants to debar another.

The Minister of State, President's Office (Mr. Nyamweya): Then, Mr. Speaker, I suggest that the Mover be called upon to reply.

(Question put and agreed to)

The Vice-President (Mr. Odunga): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I thank the hon. Members for taking keen interest in this Constitutional question and I thank the hon. Members, particularly the Assistant Minister for Agriculture, for having made it very clear to the Members what our intentions were. They were not evil at all, and I hope that when we come to debate this Constitutional question we shall all face it squarely and with open hearts.

I beg to move.

CONSIDERED RULINGS*TIME FOR DEBATE ON SUPPLEMENTARY ESTIMATES

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Before we come to the next Order, I would point out to hon. Members that although it was directed by the Order Paper that the next Order, Committee of Supply should begin not later than 3.30 p.m., it is now nearly 4.30 p.m., that is of no real significance now that the House has resolved that the next Order may continue for two days. As I explained earlier, it will be open, if the House so desires, to resolve again tomorrow or the next day that we should continue for a further day.

I will ask hon. Members to disregard that note on the Order Paper, "not later than 3.30 p.m."

COPIES OF MR. MBOYA'S MOTION FOR MEMBERS

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Before calling Mr. Mboya I would like to make sure that hon. Members have in their possession a copy of the actual Motion here; the Supplementary Order Paper only gave a general warning of the Motion.

mere rubber-stamp of the country as a whole. Now, Mr. Speaker, when you get these piecemeal things you are bound to be confused at one stage or the other, because we are not lawyers, Mr. Speaker, and we do not know how to connect this clause and the original clause and the other clause to give us this meaning. So we would like, as part of our home-work, to have the whole document, the first amendment, the second amendment and this amendment combined, then we would know that this was amended, now after amending this we are amending this one and the implications would be thus.

Mr. Speaker, one day means a people rushing. I do not know where the people are going to. We have been assigned a duty, Mr. Speaker, by our own constituents to come and make a law peacefully and very carefully, but what the Vice-President is suggesting, along with the Attorney-General here, is that we must act like children in a school who are told by their masters "Do this" and immediately say "Sir, yes, we do it". Here we are mature leaders and as mature leaders, I understand Mr. Speaker, that previously it used not to be fourteen days during the colonial period. It used to be forty days for a Bill, but if it is a matter of progress, I see also that progress is being discussed here, well and good. If a revolutionary approach is to be made it should be taken into account and I believe also that it must be calculated revolutionary.

The Attorney-General says that we are now a revolutionary people and we are to rush, and instead of having forty days we must have one day. Mr. Speaker, if we do that, what is going to happen is that the whole world will laugh at this Parliament and say that we have never come across such a foolish Parliament as the Parliament of Kenya, which does not consider the implications of a Bill. Mr. Speaker, I feel that it is wrong on the part of the Government to come and rush things here in this House and later, when we come to realize the implications, we start repenting. When we start repenting, there will be no solution.

If, Mr. Speaker, we can take the past experience, we said one day that the Constitution we amended first was based on certain interests and we made it very clear that we wanted to have our Father of the Nation as the President of this Republic. Consequently, we never cared whether that particular approval of the Constitution meant certain implications, dangerous ones or otherwise. Mr. Speaker—fourteen days, or seven days? Have you any further argument for making it seven days instead of one day?

Mr. Gichoya: Yes, Mr. Speaker, seven days instead of one day. I agree that we need also to be speedy. That is well and good, that is a progressive outlook, a progressive mind, that people are looking ahead. If that is the case, Mr. Speaker, seven days would definitely be reasonable for everyone to scrutinize the document and air some views. The intention, Mr. Speaker, of seven days is simple: that we are to explain our own views here express our misgivings on the Constitution which exists and suggest also further amendments to the future Constitution. I say here, Mr. Speaker, the confusion that exists in this country is based on the kind of Constitution we have.

At one stage of time, Mr. Speaker—if I may say so—I found it very difficult to challenge the Head of the Government, because he is the Head of State, and, furthermore, he is the Father of the Nation, although there are certain things which I am entitled, as a citizen of this country, to say are wrong. If I say so, I am not touching the Government, I am touching the personality of the President which, in principle, is wrong. I would have even gone to the extent of saying that the new Constitution must give a place for a Prime Minister who we can abuse in this House—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Gichoya, do keep to the point, please.

Mr. Gichoya: Yes, Mr. Speaker. I was trying to explain the reasons as to why more days are necessary than one—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Oh, no, you were not, you were going far beyond it.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Speaker, ending my short speech on this, I would say, let us accept seven days and reject this one day.

Mr. Kase: Mr. Speaker, Sir, hon. Members are as much touched with the amendment of the Constitution as I am, and the country as such.

However, Mr. Speaker, I am wondering whether on the reason given by the Vice-President and the Attorney-General, hon. Members have tried to think a little. All the Vice-President has said and the Attorney-General has said is that they are moving a simple clause of the main Bill that is all; it is being removed, but the rest is remaining as it was. Mr. Speaker, we are not here to pass Bills for some certain interests which might destroy other people. I remember in this House, Mr. Speaker, when we debated that lengthy Bill on the Constitution, it was reduced from fourteen days to one, and it was this House which did reduce it.

[Mr. Kase]

Mr. Speaker, the question of reducing it to one day does not stop hon. Members from opposing it. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to declare my interest on that one; I mean, I have my own views on that Bill. Whether I will accept it or not is a different matter. Whether hon. Members will be debating this Bill one day or two days is their business. I do not see the reasoning of just refusing the Motion as it stands and amending it to seven days, Mr. Speaker, if the Bill is the same as it was, except for removing a clause from the Bill. If this is discovered not to be true, and that clause is still there, then we shall not trust the Vice-President or the Attorney-General, but if that clause is going to be removed altogether, I do not think we have anything to quarrel about since we have had almost a month to study that constitutional Bill.

Mr. Speaker, Government should know whether it comes today or tomorrow hon. Members are going to oppose it, there is no doubt about that. So, whether hon. Members want to postpone it for the next two years, whether they want to postpone it for the next five years, the situation will come to the same thing. Mr. Speaker, I do not think I have really much to say except to appeal to hon. Members that we should accept the one day, and whether we shall accept the Bill as such will be at our own discretion.

Therefore, we should not really spend much more time of the House. I beg to oppose the amendment.

Mr. Kamani: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I will speak very briefly on this amendment.

I will warn the House that the Constitution we have is the one we knew before our independence took our Government to remain in London for a long time. Today, we know very well, Mr. Speaker, Sir, that we have failed to make some progress in this country because of this Constitution.

Here is a very interesting clause, Mr. Speaker. I want to refer to what it says, which is very important. If we look at the first one, it reduces it from fourteen days to eight days, but when it comes to the very important question of the Constitution, it is reduced from fourteen days to one day. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I want this House to look very carefully at this. If we cannot give free education to this country because this Constitution will not allow us, and if we come only for one day and say that we pass the Bill, that we agree to amend the Constitution on the following day, I do not want anybody to try to convince me here that it is only one word in the Constitution.

I am not a lawyer, but I could say with my experience that if we have suffered, we have suffered in order to have a Constitution in this country. If we are now enjoying any fruits, we are enjoying them through the Constitution. Therefore, the Constitution should be given time. I must speak my mind frankly, that seven days is more appropriate than one day.

I know, Mr. Speaker, some people who are making these amendments—some people may shake their heads any way they like, but I am expressing my own opinion that if we are to make anything effective in this House, we shall not play about with the Constitution, passing it in a day.

Without labouring much on this, Mr. Speaker, if the Powers and Privileges should have eight days—the word "Privileges" should make us happy—the most important thing, amendment of the Constitution, should have more than one day. I really fail to understand, Mr. Speaker, how these hon. Members could be honoured throughout the world if they could overlook the importance of the Constitution of this country.

With this, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would very strongly oppose one day for passing a Constitutional Bill, and I support the amendment.

The Assistant Minister for Defence (Mr. Argwings-Kodhek): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I thank you very much for this opportunity.

First of all, I take this particular opportunity to congratulate my friend, the Vice-President, for moving the Motion and for sticking to the one day. In the first place, Sir, I wish to say this. Some people appear and wish to show the world, as they call it, that they are the guardians of the Constitution. It is not the privilege of those particular folk, either, as I know them. I remember, Mr. Speaker, Sir, way back in 1964 I spoke very scathingly against the amendments to the Constitution, and I am no believer in written constitutions, but the situation we have here today is a completely different one. The Constitution, as an hon. Member said here, should be of such a nature that it will be understandable to the ordinary person. In my view, that should be expedited, and it was one of the stern warnings I gave the Attorney-General, that the people who drafted that clumsy and cumbersome Constitution should be sacked. I still do say so because I know what you people desire is to get a simple Constitution, and you are going to have it.

Therefore, let us have the one day, but that one day means only this, Mr. Speaker, I must deplore that we have a lot of paper work; they are one of the guilty ones. We do not read the

[Mr. Anyieni]

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am saying this because if we say more days, then the House might have to adjourn before such a Motion is discussed. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I believe that if this were to be published and seven days given, then very many Members would be able to study so that when we went to our constituencies we will not have amended a Constitution which may mean the penalizing of our people without our knowledge.

With those few remarks, I beg to move that amendment.

Mr. Khalif: Mr. Speaker, Sir—

Mr. Kall: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I see that the Vice-President is asking for eight days but in the Minutes of the Sessional Committee it is nine days. I do not know which is which.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I cannot help that. It cannot be raised as a point of order, I am afraid. It can be raised in debate possibly.

Mr. Khalif: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I thought that amongst all the Bills that we have raised in this House the Kenya Constitution (Amendment) Bill is the most important. Sir, I do not see why the publication of the Kenya Constitution (Amendment) Bill should be reduced from fourteen to one, which is the least. Sir, we can interfere with Members sitting but we can never interfere with the Kenya Constitution (Amendment) Bill just because we cannot afford to adjourn the House and call Members of Parliament again. The Kenya Constitution is the most paramount of our laws, of our Bills, the one of the most paramount importance and without the Kenya Constitution this country is not even worth mentioning. The Kenya Constitution (Amendment) Bill should be given fourteen days, all the time that is needed and that is specified in our Standing Orders. There is no reason, Sir, why we should minimize the publication of our Constitution amendment from fourteen to one day, that is, so far as I am concerned, Sir, ridiculous.

Sir, I should think that Members of Parliament should be given chance to figure out what part of the Constitution the Government wants to amend and in so doing it is only logical to say that the Government should give Members of Parliament more than one day as far as the publication of the Kenya Constitution (Amendment) Bill is concerned. There is no question, Sir, of us minimizing the importance of the Kenya Constitution amendment. I do not see any reason and I do not think there is anyone in this House, even a Minister or even an Assistant Minister, who should minimize the importance of the Kenya Constitution. We, Sir, have here an amendment of the Constitution of Kenya and we want this amendment—I am not saying that the amendment is bad or good—all that I am saying is that the amendment should be given all consideration, and should be given all the time that the Members of Parliament need to think about it. The publication, in so far as the Kenya Constitution (Amendment) Bill, 1966, is concerned, should be given all the time, in respect of publication, as are the First, Second and Third Readings. This is the most important Bill in Kenya. We had one in 1964 and it was the most important for that year, it is the most important for this year and it will always be the most important for the coming years the Constitutional (Amendment) Bill. We will not allow, and I hope that Members of the Chamber will bear me out, Members of the Government coming into this Chamber and trying to minimize the importance of the Kenya Constitution. The Kenya Constitution is paramount and is most important and I hope that Members will bear me out that we shall not allow Members of the Government to come to this Chamber and try to minimize the importance of the Kenya Constitution. If we are going to have an amendment to the Kenya Constitution it is going to be an historical event, it will go into our history, and we will not allow what is going into our history, such an historical event, to be minimized, We cannot allow that.

Mr. Kase: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, with due respect to the hon. Member for Wejir North, I thought he was repeating far too much the word minimize, minimize. I feel he has already made his point.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! No, the hon. Member was not out of order. He may have been exaggerating what would be the normal opinion of this Motion, but that can be answered of course by a representative of the Government as to what the intention is. You cannot call him to order on this.

Mr. Khalif: Sir, forgetting the interference of the hon. Mr. Kase, I would like to ask all hon. Members that they should not consider the Kenya Constitution (Amendment) Bill as any other Bill, it is the most paramount and for this reason, Sir, I would like to urge all hon. Members not to reduce forthwith the publication of this Bill from fourteen to one day, instead I would urge all hon. Members to agree with the amendment in which it is suggested that the days of publication be reduced from fourteen to seven, this is logical argument, but reducing it from fourteen to one is just ridiculous and I ask all hon. Members to understand. I beg to support.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): We will confine debate to this particular amendment, and not the rest of the Motion.

Mr. Malinda: Thank you, Mr. Speaker, on a point of order, I would like to know can I speak generally on the— I was trying to find out if I could speak generally on the Motion.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, I have just said "No", when I proposed the question.

Mr. Malinda: Then, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to speak on the general Motion.

The Attorney-General (Mr. Njonjo): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I rise to oppose the amendment because I think it is due to misunderstanding. Mr. Speaker, the main Bill which the Vice-President has just moved, was in fact published on 21st January this year and in fact it had ripened for debate in this House, but as hon. Members will remember, the Minister for Finance was urged to move a Motion which in fact moved an amendment to a Finance Bill which was also contained in this Constitution. Now that amendment was agreed and as a result of that I had to withdraw the Bill because, unlike other Bills, the Constitution Bill cannot be amended in the Committee stage. Now what we have in fact done is merely to take out what was amended in the Finance Bill and, therefore, Mr. Speaker, Members have had enough opportunity—as I have said this Bill was published on the 21st January—and there is nothing substantial which has been added to this Bill, in fact what I have done is to take out that section which is necessitated by the amendment which the Minister for Finance introduced. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I beg to oppose.

Mr. Seroney: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have never heard such a poor excuse for seeking to reduce the period of publication in respect of these two Bills as that advanced by the Vice-President.

The only reason given, Mr. Speaker, is that if we do not have these two Bills, then we cannot keep Members here in Parliament. Well, Mr. Speaker, if we have no other work to do, but these two Bills have to be cooked and presented prematurely to Members, then I am sorry I begin to wonder what we are here for. Mr. Speaker, Sir, no reason has been given whatsoever—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): The Vice-President is inviting you to give way, Mr. Seroney.

The Vice-President (Mr. Odiga): On a point of information, Mr. Speaker, I thank the hon. Member for giving way, but he is misquoting because I gave the whole reason, but I gave the reason which has actually been confirmed by the Attorney-General and which I gave very, very strongly indeed and which I never normally make at all in my statements.

Mr. Seroney: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the reason referred to by the hon. Member applies to the second Bill, but certainly does not apply to the first one.

Now, Mr. Speaker, there appears to be a tendency—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): We are only debating the proposed amendment from fourteen to seven days at the moment.

Mr. Seroney: Mr. Speaker, Sir, does that mean when we come back to the original I can refer to the first one?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, when we have disposed of this amendment.

Mr. Seroney: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am sorry I did not accept either the original Motion or the amendment.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, as I have said we appear to have the tendency where we have no Constitution except pieces of schedule which are being amended piecemeal every time, so that I do not really know whether the Members know what Constitution they are supposed to be amending.

Mr. Speaker, I would like the Minister concerned to produce to this House, for the information of those who do not know how these things are worked, to produce the Constitution of this country in one whole document, instead of constantly—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, but Mr. Seroney unless you suggest that he is going to do it within these fourteen days, it is not relevant to this question.

Mr. Seroney: I reserve my comments, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Gichoya: I rise, Mr. Speaker, Sir, to support the amendment which states that this must be more than one day. I have reasons for saying that. In the first place, we have thrice now amended this Constitution, this is the third time of amending the Constitution and as the hon. Member here has put it, we badly need a comprehensive document to see the connexions between the first and the present one. Today, Mr. Speaker, if you go to the library you can never get all the amendments kept in the library, that is a comprehensive document which means a new Constitution for Kenya. What we are getting today is another method of—without our knowledge perhaps—of possibly landing ourselves in a situation whereby this House would just be a

Mr. Ngala-Abok: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, am I allowed to speak?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, Mr. Ngala-Abok, you can speak. But there is not an amendment for you to support.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker, Sir—

Mr. Oduya: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, is it in order for hon. Members to remain unacquainted with our Standing Orders?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It is most regrettable that the hon. Members are not yet acquainted with Standing Orders.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think your clarification of what this Standing Order means and says has cleared quite a lot of the doubts of the Members as far as the intention of the Motion is concerned. I can only say, Sir, that in future the Minister when introducing such an Estimate should not fix a day because our Standing Order, which you have just pointed out to us, is so flexible, but that it should be put that it must be more than one day, so that we do not find ourselves having to come to an end at a time when the Members still wish to speak or when some points are not clear, when discussing such Estimates.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I support this idea of extending the day, but I wish that in future the Minister will not fix a day, but just say for more than one day, which means more than the days that the Standing Order says. Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker, Sir.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, since this is a Procedural Motion, could we now call upon the Mover to reply? Mr. Speaker, Sir, the notice of the Motion was on the Order Paper long before we came to the House, and if someone wanted an amendment under the Standing Orders, then, as you have rightly pointed out, they should have submitted it. We should not just be asked by the Member for Bassi-Majioge to delay other business in order to suit his purpose.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I was moving, on a point of order, that since this is a Procedural Motion the Mover should be called upon to reply.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I do not think the House would suffer by entertaining that Motion. I will put the question that the Mover be called upon to reply.

(Question put and agreed to)

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move.

MOTION

REDUCTION OF BILL PUBLICATION PERIOD: THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY (POWERS AND PRIVILEGES) (AMENDMENT) BILL

The Vice-President (Mr. Odinga): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move:—

THAT this House agrees that the period of the publication of the National Assembly (Powers and Privileges) (Amendment) Bill be reduced from fourteen to eight days; and of the Constitution of Kenya (Amendment) Bill be reduced from fourteen days to one day.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I hope the hon. Members are, especially the hon. Member behind me, patient for a little while, and then they will understand the reasons which are accompanying the Motion. I should say, Mr. Speaker, Sir, that the National Assembly (Powers and Privileges) (Amendment) Bill is a very straightforward and simple Bill indeed as the hon. Members have seen. The Sessional Committee have very carefully considered this and found that we could not adjourn the House while we have so much business pending and some of which we can dispose very quickly, instead of having to wait for another week. Therefore, Sir, the Sessional Committee, very kindly, requested the House to accept and endorse that we relieve the usual procedure of fourteen days and have only eight days. Surely the hon. Members have already started that Bill, so that when they come here they will find it very easy for them to go through.

Now, Sir, we come to the Constitution of Kenya (Amendment) Bill. Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Bill itself had already matured, but because of the amendments which we had last week, there were certain consequential amendments which were necessary to be embodied into the Bill. As you know, according to our Constitution, you cannot make any amendments in the Committee stage in this House. If it is something which has to be amended it has to go back to be reprinted and the whole game restarted. It is only that we were given fourteen days again after the fourteen days which had lapsed, and in that fourteen days, we did not consider that there was anything which needed to be added than what the hon. Members had studied in the Bill. If the hon. Members would agree, the Bill stands just as it was with only a few minor amendments, and if we could waive now the other fourteen days and continue with the work of debating it, I hope the Members will get the business which they can continue with during this week and perhaps the next week, or if they are quick enough, then we could finish it this week.

[The Vice-President]

Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, this is necessary, because we have actually gone through all the business that we had. We did not want to interrupt the continuation of the sittings by just adjourning the House and then within a fortnight call you back again. We thought that would be a great bother, therefore we wanted a continuation so that we could get on with this Bill. I am sure, Sir, that the hon. Members will see reason as to this request which the Sessional Committee has put before the House, approve it and therefore let us continue forthwith.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move.

The Attorney-General (Mr. Njonjo) seconded.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, I wish to support the first section of this Motion, which deals with the National Assembly (Powers and Privileges) (Amendment) Bill asking us to reduce the time from fourteen days to eight days. I think, Mr. Speaker, Sir, that eight days is enough for any Member to study and say what he wants to say on this Bill. But, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I find it my duty to reject and introduce an amendment to the second section of this Motion, which deals with the Constitution of Kenya (Amendment) Bill.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I find that a matter which has to do with the Constitution of our country is a matter of fundamental importance. That is, Sir, the foundation of our nation. Therefore, Sir, I see no reason why, when in those days, the colonial days fourteen days was thought to be sufficient time in order to let the Members look at a Bill, but, Sir, why today, when we are independent, when an amendment to the Constitution is being proposed, that instead of allowing the Members to have it and go over it for many days, it should be published for one day and then raised in debate. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not understand why this has become necessary. Is it the fear that if the Members are given sufficient opportunity to look into the Bill, that the Members will see the danger involved in the Bill; that the Members will see the interests of their constituencies interfered with; that the Members will be able to see the rights given in the Constitution being played about with in that amendment? Is this, Mr. Speaker, Sir, intended to make sure that things will be done, like things are being done today, for instance, Motions being given and then rushed through?

Mr. Speaker, Sir, we believe that the Constitution of Kenya and for that matter the constitution of any other country, is the basis of that country. The absence of a constitution results in the absence of that country; the absence of that country as a union, institution and government. Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Vice-President has not told us why he thinks that the Constitution of our country should be hurried up.

Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, the hon. Vice-President has just said that he did not want to interrupt the sitting of the House. I see how necessary that is, because I see that we have a lot of business, as I see a lot of Motions being brought by the hon. Members. Furthermore, Sir, the business of our Constitution is being hurried up in one day, and I do not see that this is necessary. Mr. Speaker, Sir, maybe some Members think that if we allow this it will be all right, but, Sir, I must warn the hon. Members that they will be creating a very dangerous precedent because tomorrow morning a very dangerous amendment Bill can be published and within a day or two of that publication the Members will be asked to approve. This, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I feel is very dangerous. I suspect that the reason why this Motion is being brought is because of the fact that for the last two or three weeks there has been on the Order Paper an amendment Bill to the Constitution. When the Government tried to find out what the majority of the Members felt about it, then I am sure that the majority of the Members would reject this Motion, because it was going to affect the Members and the country as a whole, and maybe that is why this procedural Motion is being brought to this House. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I see that the Attorney-General is shaking his head, but if he can assure me that this is not the reason, and also what the Vice-President said is not the reason, then that is all right, but, Sir, I still feel that you cannot hurry up the Constitution of a nation, because you do not want to interrupt the House. If it is necessary then you allow the Members to go out for one or two weeks, and then call them back. They are there at your disposal.

Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I believe that what should be done is that if the Government wants to do something quickly, in order to make the arrangements for the sitting of this House, but we know that according to the arrangements of the sittings for this House we are going to sit until March, therefore, Sir, we do not want to delay too much, and I believe that seven days will be enough. Therefore, Sir, as I have already notified you, I am proposing to amend this Motion by deleting all the words after the word,

"to" in the last line, and inserting in place thereof the words "seven days", so that the Motion now reads, "... from fourteen days to seven days."

Mr. Obok: Secondly, Sir, would the Minister not agree with me that Africa and the World is the only African news magazine—

Several hon. Members: Shame! Question!

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! I am calling for order, and if I am not heard the hon. Members who do not hear me will have to leave.

Mr. Obok: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, would the Minister not agree with me that Africa and the World is the only news magazine that has sympathy for the African and projects the African point of view?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! That is quite irrelevant to this question.

Mr. Masinde: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, and in view of the fact that hon. Members here have, possibly, different information, do I understand, therefore, that the Minister for Information has separate information or has possibly seen the film? If so, could he assure this House that in the near future he will display the film?

An hon. Member: From Russia with Love.

Mr. Gichuru: I think the House has every opportunity, when we come to debate the Motion which has just been tabled, to bring these questions up; then everyone could take part freely. This is just a question and I am responsible for it.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, I am inclined to agree with the hon. Minister that since we have a full-scale substantive Motion related to this subject coming on this afternoon, it would be better for hon. Members to pursue this question then and meanwhile we will proceed with other Orders.

Mr. Anyieni: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that the Minister has now replied to the effect that, because there is an impending Motion in connection with this question, some of the things the Members are now asking should be brought up at the time of discussion of this Motion, what guarantee has the House that some individuals or some hon. Members will not introduce Motions in this House abruptly, Motions which have been prepared in advance and thereby take advantage of the other Members who have not had time to prepare for such a Motion?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I cannot quite understand what the hon. Member is complaining of. I pointed out to the House the ordinary practice with regard to notice of Motion and the time for taking a Motion, of which notice is given, when the notice of this Motion was given to this House. I sounded the feeling of the House as to whether there was a preference for taking this Motion today, rather than tomorrow; and there seemed to be an overwhelming preference for taking the Motion today. That is the view of the House, not mine, nor indeed of the hon. Member who gave notice of the Motion. And if there is a Motion coming on, what is the objection to postponing any further questioning until that Motion is debated? I really do not quite see what the hon. Member complains of.

The Assistant Minister for Finance (Mr. Okelo-Odongo): Mr. Speaker, Sir, on a point of order, is it in order to have in this House a magazine which has been banned by the Government?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I do not think I can rule on that as a matter of order, though the Attorney-General may be interested!

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, since you have declared that it is beyond your jurisdiction to rule on that, is it not in order for us to ask the Attorney-General to give us his ruling as to whether the hon. Minister would be subjected to arrest after this House rises?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, if it is not a matter of order, it cannot be raised as a point of order.

We will go on to the next Order.

MOTION

BUSINESS OF THE HOUSE: SUPPLEMENTARY ESTIMATES

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move:—

THAT, under the provisions of Standing Order 145 (3), this House orders that the business of supply for Supplementary Estimate No. 1 (Recurrent) of 1965/66 and Development Supplementary Estimate No. 1 of 1965/66 shall continue for two days if necessary.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Motion is self-explanatory, if read with Standing Order 145 (3). The Sessional Committee last week felt that the House should have the opportunity of extending its examination of the Supplementary Estimates over two days instead of one, should it desire to do so, and this Motion allows the Committee of Supply to report progress and ask leave to sit again tomorrow at the time for interruption, instead of having to apply the gullotine at 6 o'clock, which otherwise would have been necessary.

Sir, I beg to move.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya) seconded.

Mr. Seroney: Mr. Speaker, Sir, this Motion, just like the next one, appeared to be innocent, but, Sir, our Standing Orders, like any law or any constitution, for that matter, are designed to serve a specific purpose, and we are standing to prejudice our position in this House if we are going to set aside our Standing Orders before we have had explained to us why it is necessary that we should do so. I would rather that we get down to the business and, if it is necessary, I have no doubt that we have sufficient control over our own Standing Orders to stretch them, if necessary, once we know why these Supplementary Estimates have been introduced today.

Mr. Speaker, I oppose this.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think I should explain to hon. Members, both on this Motion and on the next one, that neither Motion here is actually proposing a suspension or exemption from Standing Orders. In each case the Standing Order says the such-and-such a thing shall happen unless the House otherwise orders. So that Standing Order itself contemplates that the House may, on certain occasions, wish for a longer time for Supplementary Estimates or for a shorter time for the publication of a Bill. The House is almost invited by Standing Orders to entertain a Motion of this kind from time to time.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): Mr. Speaker, Sir, perhaps at this time, I can point out to the hon. Member for Nandi North that if he had looked at the Supplementary Estimate No. 1, then he would have thanked the Minister for Finance and the Government for having brought this Motion to the House, because he will notice that it is quite a thick pamphlet which would not possibly take one day, and I think that is the reason why the Motion, was brought by the Minister for Finance, because he wanted the Members of this House to have ample time in order that they may examine thoroughly the Supplementary Estimate No. 1. So, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to point this out to the hon. Members, that this is an indication that the Minister for Finance wants us to discuss this Supplementary Estimate No. 1 thoroughly.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker, Sir.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Any other hon. Member wishing to speak?

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, since this Motion deals with Standing Orders, would I be in order to ask you to remind us of the Standing Orders in connexion with such Motions, because I feel that this would help the Members decide. For example, if the Standing Orders say that this should be taken, discussed and debated in one day, then we must thank the Minister for having made it two days, so that we can have more time, but, Sir, if the Standing Order says that such shall be discussed for more days, then it will also help us to decide whether we want more days or not.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): The position is precisely as Mr. Anyieni stated in the first alternative. I do not think I need worry the hon. Member by reading the Standing Orders, because they are rather long. Actually our Standing Order originally provided that any Supplementary Estimate had to be finished in one day. We overlooked it for some time, and Supplementary Estimates did actually continue for two days or more. When we did notice it, then we amended, only recently, our Standing Orders, Standing Order 143, to say that, although that is the position, that normally a Supplementary Estimate has to be finished in one day, yet the House can order that it shall continue for two or more days, and so that is an extension for the benefit of the Members.

Mr. Anyieni: In that respect then, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to make one amendment to the Motion, and that is that I would like to add the words, "or more" after the word, "two" in the last line, so that the Motion now reads, " . . . shall continue for two or more days if necessary" . . .

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I have to have the amendment in writing you know, and I do not have it.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, all I am asking you to do is to add the two words, "or more", after the word, "two", and that is all.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I am sorry. We have to stand by Standing Orders on these things.

Mr. Ngala-Aboki: Mr. Speaker, I am just rising to support the amendment—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You cannot support it until I have it in writing, I am afraid.

Mr. Ngala-Aboki: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am speaking in favour of that one.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): But, Mr. Ngala-Aboki, it is not before me. I am sorry, but I am going to hold the hon. Members to the rule.

I have warned hon. Members of the Standing Order several times, and I am going to hold the House to it, that no amendment will be entertained unless it is given in writing to the Speaker before it is moved. I would point out, incidentally, on this particular thing that it is quite open to the House any time during the second day to resolve on a further extension, it might be convenient to leave it at that.

[The Speaker]

I would remind hon. Members that on the adjournment today at 6.30 or at the earlier conclusion of business, Mr. Pandya is to raise the matter noted on the Order Paper.

QUESTION BY PRIVATE NOTICE*MINISTER FOR FINANCE'S ALLEGED STATEMENT IN LAGOS

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): There is a question by private notice which I overlooked. Mr. Muliro?

Mr. Muliro: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to ask a question by private notice.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Actually, you should read it out, Mr. Muliro, although it is on the Order Paper.

Mr. Muliro: Mr. Speaker, Sir, could the Minister confirm or deny the statement attributed to him in Lagos and published in Africa and the World, Vol. 2, No. 17, of February, 1966: "Mr. James Gichuru, the Finance Minister, expressed his view that Rhodesia was not yet ready for majority rule".

If the answer is in the affirmative, is this Kenya Government's view?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Gichuru?

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, since the hon. Member has not mentioned to whom that question was addressed, was it addressed to Mr. Gichuru who is also mentioned in the question?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, the question is asked of Mr. Gichuru and you will see that he is about to answer it.

Mr. Gatiguta: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, we know that this matter was raised in the Senate, that this took place there, and we read the reply of the Minister. Is it in order for us to raise this matter again in this House?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It would be a terrible thing if the proceedings of the Senate, debarred this House from considering anything.

Mr. Oduya: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, would it not be in order to ask the Minister in charge of Foreign Affairs to answer instead of asking the Minister who is the subject of the question?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Hon. Members have been told times and again that Government decides who shall answer questions.

Mr. G. G. Karuki: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that we are now going to debate the same thing which appears here, having been moved by the hon. Mr. Mboya, are we not wasting time in having this question?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It rests entirely with the discretion of the Government how far they answer this question separately and how far they refer hon. Members to what will happen in the impending debate.

Mr. Khalif: On a point of order, Sir, you and I know that Mr. Gichuru is involved in this, and in view of the fact that the Government has to choose someone to answer this question—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I am sorry, Mr. Khalif, you cannot question my rulings, I am afraid, especially when they are rulings of long standing.

Now let us get on.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I feel that it is only right and fair that I should answer this question.

An hon. Member: You are involved.

Mr. Gichuru: That is why I should answer it. Sir, I am supposed to have expressed the view that Rhodesia was not yet ready for majority rule. This is nonsense. All I said, when I was questioned on a point that appeared in the communique that came out as a result of the conference, as to whether I agreed with the view that it was true that the Rhodesian people should be given plenty of opportunity to go to school so that the majority of them, who have no chance of going to university—Britain offered the money. Who am I to say that they should not get it? If anybody has any interest in the Rhodesian Africans in his heart, definitely he would support such a move, that as much money as possible be made available. Not from any African State, not the African States that contribute to this paper, a paper which is trying to create a rift in this House. But certainly Britain has offered to make money available so that, as soon as the Smith régime collapses, money will be available for the Rhodesian Africans to avail themselves of higher education so that they can fill the higher posts, as we do here today.

Therefore, the question as it stands here is just nonsense. I never said anything like that.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I do not think you meant to say that, Mr. Gichuru. The question itself is not nonsense; the alleged statement to which the question refers is nonsense, I think you mean, do you not?

Mr. Gichuru: I apologize, Mr. Speaker. But the insinuation contained in this article is nonsense.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order!

Mr. Gichuru: I have apologized.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, order! Since you have apologized, it is quite all right.

Mr. Muliro: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, is it proper for the Minister, when questioned on the authenticity of the statement, to use the word "insinuation"? I never made any insinuation at all. Will the Minister withdraw that, because, as far as I was concerned I wanted to find out whether the sentence was true or not. That was all.

Mr. Gichuru: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I felt that I should make this point very clear, because the question itself does not only refer to me personally; it goes still further and asks whether, if the answer is in the affirmative, this is the Kenya Government's view. That is why I say there is a certain amount of insinuation.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! No, Mr. Gichuru. I do not understand what insinuation you are objecting to, but this is a perfectly proper question, whether you said something you are alleged to have said and whether, if so, you were speaking for the Government. I think you must withdraw the suggestion that there is a bad insinuation here; you must not say that, Mr. Gichuru. You must make clear that you do not hold anything against Mr. Muliro for asking this question.

Mr. Gichuru: Nothing whatsoever, Sir. I think it is fair and proper that he should have asked this question, because this was made known to him through a newspaper like this, which is trying to bring in a lot of discontent among ourselves.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! In fact, your quarrel is with the newspaper and not with Mr. Muliro.

Mr. Oduya: Mr. Speaker, I only rise to query one or two things, and I will put my first question. Is it true that we hear that the film which the Minister for Finance is alleged to have taken part in, when interviewed on television in Lagos is already in Kenya and that certain Government forces are trying to suppress it, because it might have serious repercussions?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, one question at a time, I am afraid.

Mr. Oduya: Perhaps I may be allowed a second one.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Perhaps.

Mr. Gichuru: Mr. Speaker, I do not quite know what the source of the hon. Member's information is. If he does know—because I do not—he should tell the House.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that the Minister for Finance has very strongly denied the reporting of this paper, and in order that the country may be able to believe Mr. Gichuru and refuse to believe this paper, would the Minister agree, would the Government promise, here that the film should be brought to Kenya to be shown to the Kenya public in order to refute the allegations?

Mr. Gichuru: This does not come within my portfolio, Sir.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the collective responsibility of the Government, and in view of the fact that the reason why the hon. Minister for Finance is answering this question is because Government has to agree on who is going to answer and he is answering for all Ministers, could I ask the Minister to consult his colleague, who is responsible for this, and ask him to bring us this film? May I ask him to agree with me that if the film is not brought here, he would not be a proper representative of his people?

Mr. Gichuru: The point is this, Mr. Speaker. I have said my bit. If the hon. Member knows where the film is, let him bring it here and play it through.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's denial, could he follow up—let him be honest, I understand he is a Christian—the Minister for Information's speech in the Senate, where he promised to bring the film? Does he still agree with me that this film should be brought here, failing which the people of this country will be left with no alternative, other than to believe that malicious paper?

Mr. Gichuru: I say again that this has nothing to do with me personally.

Mr. Obok: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, why did the Minister have to wait until this matter was raised in the Senate? Why did he not himself call a Press conference, as usual, and make a denial of the said allegation, published in Africa and the World? And, secondly, would the Minister not agree with me—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): One question at a time.

Mr. Gichuru: Mr. Speaker, I had not seen the paper and therefore I could not have known its contents. But as soon as I knew the contents of the paper, I did make an appearance in the Senate to clear myself.

REVISION OF STATISTICAL ABSTRACT FOR 1965

Mr. Murrill on behalf of Mr. Bala asked the Minister for Economic Planning and Development if he would amend or print a revised statistical abstract for the year 1965, stating district populations in Western Province, instead of including North Nyanza as one of the districts in Nyanza.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. The Statistical Abstract 1965 does include estimates of the 1963 district populations of Western Province on the basis of the administrative boundaries which came into effect in 1963. These estimates are set out in Table 13.

The abstract does explain, however, in the notes to this section on page 6, that the 1962 census of population was carried out before the present boundaries became effective and, as a result, more detailed statistics, such as are set out in Table 12, to which I think the hon. Member refers, are set out on the basis of the old boundaries. I appreciate that this is an unfortunate drawback in using the statistics and the Government itself would like to have more reliable figures on the basis of the present boundaries. This will, however, not be possible until a new census of the population is taken. Since a census is a very expensive and complicated undertaking, I do not—

Mr. Matson-Imbibo: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, is it in order to have a second meeting in the Parliament? Can we be told about this conspiracy?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! It is quite in order for hon. Members to have their own private conversations, so long as they do not make so much noise as to interfere with the business of the House. There is no interference that I noticed.

Mr. Mboya: Mr. Speaker, I will repeat the last paragraph.

I appreciate that this is an unfortunate drawback in using the statistics and the Government itself would like to have more reliable figures on the basis of the present boundaries. This will, however, not be possible until a new census of the population is taken. Since a census is a very expensive and complicated undertaking, I do not expect this to occur for another few years.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply where he refers to the question of a census being an expensive undertaking, does he not agree with me that it is necessary for the people in the areas concerned to be included in the right place, and, since there are some disputes on the border, these should be rectified by having a new census to find out how many people belong to North Nyanza and how many to Central Nyanza?

Mr. Mboya: I do.

Mr. Mnsinde: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, could the Minister assure this House that in view of the fact now that we have the Electoral Commission sitting and they always consider the size of the population as such, that the question will therefore be dealt with properly so that North Nyanza, or the Kakamega District, will not be deprived of actual representation in this House, because of the population being counted in the Nyanza Province.

Mr. Mboya: I do, Sir.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the repeated "I do" from the Minister, if he does so agree, does he not consider it now necessary and compulsory that immediate action should be taken before the decision of the commission is made?

Mr. Mboya: I do, yes.

Mr. Murrill: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the importance of statistics of the population, does the Minister not think it fit to do the census as soon as possible?

Mr. Mboya: Mr. Speaker, the only reason I did not feel like making another lengthy statement, is because the questions being asked are in fact fully covered in my original reply. In my reply I have stated, first, that in the 1962 census the population was counted according to the original districts, in publishing them in 1963, although the regional constitution had come into effect, the reflection could only be on the basis of the original districts. In reproducing these figures in the statistical abstract, in a note on page 12, we have drawn attention to this error or drawback and tried to reflect what the situation might be on the basis of the new district boundaries. We recognize that this is not the most ideal situation and, therefore, I have stated that, as soon as the new census can be organized, we will do so and when that is done, it will be on the basis of the new districts and not the old ones. In the case of the Electoral Commission, this information is available to them and they will, in their deliberations, take into account the note that appears in the abstract.

Mr. Gichoya: Arising from the Minister's reply that he appreciates the need for re-assessing the new set-up and also that the commission—the [Mr. Gichoya] new districts that have come in and the population that has already been increased—is the Minister prepared to introduce a census in between this year and the next year, so that members who appear before the commission will have all the facts established by a correct method of counting the people in the country?

Mr. Mboya: I did not follow the question.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Speaker, the Minister says he appreciates that there is a need for maintaining abstracts based on the present boundaries of the districts and also he says that the commission is being given information in relation to the population so that its work becomes easier. Is the Minister prepared equally, too, to facilitate matters for the members who might appear before the commission by giving them the latest information through carrying on a census in this year or between this year and next year?

Mr. Mboya: Mr. Speaker, the question is so complicated, I still do not follow it.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): We can only have one more try, I think, Mr. Gichoya. I think if you made it very short it might be easier to follow.

Mr. Gichoya: Is the Minister prepared to introduce a census between 1966/67, let me put it, financial year, so that members of the public will have information at their disposal in the way that the commission would have it, so that they can appear before the commission and put their own case across based on facts?

Mr. Mboya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I hope I have understood the question. The position is that these figures are published and having been published they are available to members of the public, just as they are available to members of the Electoral Commission, so there is no information which is not now available to members of the public. I am not, at the moment, able to agree to commit the Government to a census between the 1966 and 1967 financial year. As I have said, this is a very expensive programme and it is not necessary to have a census every year. We feel that for the next few years we can do other things that are of greater importance.

Question No. 260

CO-EDUCATION KABIANGA SECONDARY SCHOOL

Mr. arap Sol on behalf of Mr. Kerich asked the Minister for Education whether the Government intended to start co-education in Kabianga Secondary School.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. As Kabianga was constructed as a men's teacher-training college and not as a mixed institution, and as it does not lend itself readily as a secondary school to co-education, it is not the intention of the Government to convert this institution into a co-educational one.

Mr. arap Sol: Mr. Speaker, Sir, if the Government does not intend to introduce co-education at Kabianga, would the Ministry consider building a separate place for girls around the area?

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): No, Sir.

Mr. Shikuku: Arising from the Minister's "No", would he tell the House what he intends to do, if he is not prepared to accept co-education. Are the girls in this area to be neglected and is that the way we build the nation?

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): The girls in this area are not neglected and I would like to inform the hon. Member, Sir, that by comparison, say with the Rift Valley Province as a whole, there are nineteen boys' boarding streams to eight girls' boarding streams, and six boys' day streams to two girls' day streams.

Mr. arap Bly: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Assistant Minister aware that when Kabianga was being used as a training college, both men and women were being trained in the same place and, therefore, when this school has been converted into a secondary school it could have been made into a co-educational school?

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): Mr. Speaker, there is a difference between a training college and an ordinary school.

Mr. Khasakhala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, could the Assistant Minister tell the House the distance between the nearest school for girls in Kabianga where he intends the girls of this area to go to if it is to be a day school?

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): Mr. Speaker, although I would rather have notice to that question, I would like to inform the hon. Member that in the Kipsigis District, there are the following schools, and I am sure the hon. Member knows their location: Cheptenye, Kabianga, Kaplong, Kericho, Kipsigis and Tenwek, I am sure the hon. Member knows the distance of these areas.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): We must go on now, I think.

[Mr. Malsori-Itumbo] worked in his Ministry, he attended the Egerton College for three years and after that he failed in only one subject, can he tell the House what happened to such a dignified person, when they are not given any employment within the Ministry?

Mr. Osogo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not know whether the hon. Member is trying to ask why we failed the Kuria chap—he calls him chap—at the Egerton College, but what happened to him is that he failed the examinations.

Mr. Agar: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Assistant Minister agree that the desire of this House is to give those areas which were neglected by the former Colonial Government a kind of priority and concession in qualifications so that their men will also participate in building the country?

Mr. Osogo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I agree to that, and the policy of my Ministry is to try and assist those tribes who have not come on, into either the agricultural and veterinary services so that they are trained, but, Sir, they must apply. We are not going to hunt for them in their tribes and make them go to the training colleges.

Mr. Malsori-Itumbo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, can he tell the House how many agricultural assistants are men from my constituency in Migori or anywhere else in South Nyanza?

Mr. Osogo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, we have one veterinary assistant, Kuria, working in South Nyanza and four agricultural assistants.

Question No. 222

LEGISLATION TO PUNISH IDLENESS

Mr. Godia asked the Minister for Labour whether the Minister, in consultation with the police would consider introducing a Bill to provide that all people who were idle and who did not work on their farms were given some form of punishment.

The Assistant Minister for Labour (Mr. Odero-Jowi): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. Mr. Speaker, Sir, we do not think it is consistent with conventions of the International Labour Organization to put into jail or to penalize those people who are unemployed, and so we are not willing to take the action suggested in the question.

Mr. Godia: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, does he consider it necessary to do something to encourage most of the idle men to work on their farms?

Mr. Odero-Jowi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is not only the responsibility of my Ministry to encourage the idle people to work. This is a national duty which should be done by every good citizen of the country, including hon. Members.

Mr. Ochwada: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Assistant Minister agree with me that no intelligent, live person would afford to remain idle knowing that he has something to do and especially when he has land to till?

Mr. Odero-Jowi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, there was too much noise, I did not get the question.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, will hon. Members please keep quiet. Speak up again, Mr. Ochwada.

Mr. Ochwada: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Assistant Minister agree with me that no intelligent, live person would stand idle knowing very well that he has a piece of land which he can work on?

Mr. Odero-Jowi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not understand the implication of the question. On the face of it, I agree with him.

Mr. Gatuguta: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that there are a number of people who have farms and yet they go about the country looking for jobs, is the Government not prepared to enforce these people to go back to their farms, by some means and to look after them so that we do not have the problem of unemployment in the city?

Mr. Odero-Jowi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, that is a question which sounds very attractive, but we do not want to infringe upon the fundamental rights of the citizens of the country.

Mr. Odunya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that the question has been brought here by my hon. colleague, Mr. Godia, the Member for Hamisi, would the Assistant Minister agree with me that this sort of punishment that the Member has asked should be given to the people in his own constituency?

Mr. Odero-Jowi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, again, that is a very attractive suggestion, but I am not going to concede to it.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Assistant Minister's reference to the conventions of the International Labour Organization, is he aware that people with land who do nothing but drink from morning to night do not work on their farms, do increase the problem in Kenya of unemployment, because they go on producing and therefore it is necessary for the Ministry to consider how best they could make these people work on their farms, and if necessary, by force?

Mr. Odero-Jowi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I quite agree that people who drink from morning to evening without doing any job are a big liability to the country, but, Mr. Speaker, Sir, we are not going to institute forced labour just in order to deal with drunkards.

Mr. Masinde: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Assistant Minister agree with me that those people—with due respect to my hon. colleague, the questioner—who drink from morning for, say, twenty-four hours, and they have money to drink, and they live on their own, whether their land is touched or untouched, do not cause unemployment in this country; they give employment to the people in the breweries?

Mr. Odero-Jowi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, that question is so involved, could he ask it again?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Would you like to repeat your question, Mr. Masinde? It was more an argument than a question, actually, was it not? How about making a question?

Mr. Masinde: May I put it very simply, Mr. Speaker? Would the Assistant Minister agree with me that those people who do not work on their farms and have something to live on could still be allowed to do so, and they are not causing unemployment in this country? Could they not be allowed to live as such?

Mr. Odero-Jowi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is difficult to imagine in this country people who do not do any job and yet they have an income to live on. These must be mythical people who come from Lurambi only.

LEGISLATION FOR PETTY OFFENCES

Mr. Godia asked the Minister for Home Affairs if he would consider the possibility of amending the present laws, so as to provide that criminals with minor offences could be penalized by working on local self-help projects within their districts, while staying at their homes.

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. There is no need to amend the present laws, as the Prison Act, Cap. 90, Part XII, does provide that in any declared area male petty offenders sentenced to imprisonment or detention to six months or under or committed to imprisonment for non-payment of any fine, costs or other sum adjudged to be paid under any written law who are physically fit, can, at the discretion of the court, be ordered to perform public work outside a prison or detention camp for the period of such imprisonment or detention. Such persons live at home, except in cases where they have no fixed abode or live too far away from their place of work, when they are accommodated in a labour camp.

Mr. Murrill: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Minister not agree with me that if such laws were introduced, people would think of work on local self-help projects as a form of punishment?

Mr. arap Moi: I do not think we need anything that the Member has indicated, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Masinde: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Minister agree with me that it would be very out of order to get the criminals to work with the people who volunteer themselves on self-help projects and, for that matter, criminals should be dealt with as criminals in separate areas in a more severe way?

Mr. arap Moi: I seem to agree substantially, Sir, with the ideas of the hon. Members, in that our laws are flexible and we feel that the people should help themselves in self-help projects and we should not rely on offenders and criminals.

Mr. Mate: Mr. Speaker, Sir, while appreciating the help that these people could give to the community, would the Minister, or whoever is responsible, make sure that the district officers and the district commissioners concerned do direct this kind of labour and do not just leave it to chance?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, if any Member wishes to make use of these petty offenders, I may consider asking in some of the areas where this law could be applied. Normally, the district commissioners or district officers always take action according to the directions given.

Mr. Gatuguta: Mr. Speaker, Sir, while I appreciate the feelings of the Minister, that the criminals cannot be employed to work on self-help projects, and so on, will the Minister also assure this House that these criminals will not be used to work for the district administrators and that they should be used only to do anything which has anything to do with the public good?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, for the interest of the hon. Member, most areas in Kenya are gazetted as declared areas in which extra-mural penal employment schemes can be operated and, today, there are, in round figures, 1,100 persons serving their sentences extra-murally.

NOTICES OF MOTIONS

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 2 of 1965-66: AMENDMENTS TO PENSIONS REGULATIONS

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to give notice of the following Motion:—

THAT this House approves the proposed amendments to the Pensions Regulations as set out in Sessional Paper No. 2 of 1965-1966.

CONFIDENCE IN THE PRESIDENT AND HIS GOVERNMENT

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to give notice of the following Motion:—

WHEREAS the Government of the Republic of Kenya under the leadership of the President, Mzee Jomo Kenyatta, has carried out faithfully its mandate as approved by the people at the General Election in 1963;

AND WHEREAS all the Government's activities and policies have been based on a faithful interpretation of the democratic will of the people, as expressed in the Constitution of the Republic, the Kanu Manifesto and Sessional

Paper No. 10—African Socialism and its application to planning in Kenya;

AND WHEREAS the President of the Republic and his Government have spared no effort in securing the unity of all the people of Kenya under Kanu so as to create the political stability needed for the effective and rapid development of the country;

NOTING that in these past months some leaders and even Members of Parliament have used words or made statements implying lack of confidence in the Government, its activities and its policies;

NOTING ALSO that there have been those who call themselves Socialist Group and Progressive Group—including the recent exhortation by a monthly magazine "Africa in the World (for the Progressive Leaders)" in this country to act now instead of sitting on the fence;

THIS HOUSE, having regard to all these matters—and being convinced that those who do not support Government policy should be free from any responsibility in the Government's actions and, further, that such people should declare publicly their intentions—expresses full confidence in the President and his Government and condemns those dissident and confused groups.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Hon. Members, you have heard that Notice of Motion; it is, of course, a very important Motion. There is nothing in our Standing Orders which precludes our taking on the same day as the Notice the actual Motion which the Notice proposes, provided that the warning of it is given to Members on the Order Paper.

Now this Notice of Motion came in very late this morning but, in the belief that hon. Members might like to take this Motion today, particularly as it is related to a question by private notice which we have today, we have put on the Order Paper, on a Supplementary Order Paper—which hon. Member should have in their possession now, though it was only issued about twenty minutes ago—preliminary notice of this Motion.

What I want to inquire is whether there is any strong objection on the part of hon. Members to this Motion being taken as Order No. 64 today, that would be immediately after the two Procedural Motions, Orders 5 and 6.

If no group of hon. Members strongly objects, I believe it is the will of the House that this Motion be taken as Order No. 64 today.

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Question No. 274

GOVERNMENT PROVINCIAL OFFICES FOR KISUMU

Mr. Odero-Sar asked the Minister of State if the Government had any plans for erecting Government provincial offices in Kisumu at one place instead of finding them scattered here and there.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Is the Minister of State ready to answer Question 274? Mr. Nyamweya?

The Minister of State, President's Office (Mr. Nyamweya): Sorry, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I did not—

An hon. Member: You are confused.

Mr. Nyamweya: I am not confused; you are.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. The Provincial Commissioner, Nyanza, has included in his Provincial Development Plan an estimate of £20,000 for a new office block for provincial departments in Kisumu. This request will be considered by the Government in conjunction with other requests from other provinces.

I wish to add, Mr. Speaker, Sir—I am not going to be interrupted by careless interjections from the hon. Member for Lurambi—that the hon. Member for Ugenya might like to note that there is a provision in the revised Development Plan for administrative buildings in the provinces and districts; and the total amount for the planning period is £83,000. Among these buildings, there is also being considered an administrative building in Kisumu; this is included in this amount. This administrative building is under consideration; it would also accommodate the Fisheries Department and the Meteorological Department and other administrative offices.

Mr. Mate: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Minister aware that this applies to the Eastern Province?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): That may be so, but it is not relevant.

Mr. Masinde: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, would he assure this House that the provinces which had the facilities during the colonial days would not have preference over the provinces which were recently created by Kenya independence?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I know that the hon. Member for Lurambi has in mind the Provincial Headquarters of the Western Province. But, Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Government has it in mind more than the hon. Member for Lurambi.

Mr. Masinde: Mr. Speaker, Sir, can I therefore believe that the Western Province and some other provinces, as the Minister is aware, will be considered first before any other province?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Are we still on the subject of Kisumu?

Question No. 270

NO HIGH-RANKING KURIA IN MINISTRY OF AGRICULTURE

Mr. Malsori-Itumbo asked the Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry if he would tell the House why there were no Kuria in his Ministry holding a high rank, despite the fact that there were educated Kuria workers.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. It is true that there is no Kuria holding a high post in my Ministry.

The hon. Member should note that the employment and promotion of any officer in my, and indeed any, Ministry to a high ranking post is done purely on merit and qualifications, and not on tribal basis.

But if the hon. Member for Kuria can submit to me names of qualified Kuria with Cambridge School Certificate who are now working with my Ministry, they could be considered for one of the various agricultural training institutions.

Mr. Malsori-Itumbo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, could he tell the House what happened to one chap who was—

Mr. Masinde: Mr. Speaker, Sir, on a point of order, is the Member in order to say semi-Minister?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think he said second Minister. I do not think he meant to give any offence.

Mr. Malsori-Itumbo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, he can be anything.

The Assistant Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. Nyagah): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the hon. Member for Kuria in order, when you give a ruling, to say that it can be semi or anything.

Mr. Malsori-Itumbo: I did not say anything like that.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Now, Mr. Malsori, will you get it right.

Mr. Malsori-Itumbo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, my question is this. Can the Assistant Minister tell the House what happened to one chap who [Mr. Odunya] and other places, celebrations have been held, but without having a statue. The statue here is enough.

What my friend should ask for in that particular area is the allocation of funds during the celebrations, so that the people of Kapenguria can be given some money—let us say, £500 or £1,000—so that they can also celebrate the day in that particular sector where the case was held. But I do not see how the Teso taxpayer will agree to this money being wasted on putting up statues to individuals.

This does not mean that I am personally opposed to the President's statue being put there. I am really loyal to the President but I do not think it is a wise idea because when we put up a statue of His Excellency, the President, because we know that that day was for all, these other comrades who were tried will also need the same treatment, because they also were involved in the crisis of those days. So people should not capitalize on simple things; they should not come to the House simply to popularize the name of someone who is already popular, by trying to create unnecessary things which will not help the development of Kenya. Teso today is short of many things for which such money could be used.

This statue outside the National Assembly, for example; if it was done by an individual that might be a different thing. But if it was done through our own pockets, that means the pocket of the Kenya Government, it must have cost not less than Sh. 200,000. What sort of a project could we carry out for that amount of money? Such a project, if sited in Teso, where we need a good deal of development, would have helped a lot. As far as I am concerned, I only respect the person who is leading the Government and I respect the machinery of the Government; but to go to the extent of creating unnecessary things like statues at this stage, Sir, is just a dream which I think even the people from my hon. friend's own area may not be happy about.

I know they are happy about the area being historical, and my friend, the Member for Embu South or North, has already stated that when he was there he saw that the people were really happy because of the historical associations of the place. But the people of Pokot can be happy because there is nothing else to make them think of other problems; they can just look forward to seeing the Member for that area bringing genuine cases here, for example, asking for the development of the area. I do not think they are eager to hear him asking for statues.

I think I have actually covered the content of this Motion and I do not see how the Kenya Government can act on this. Anyway we shall look at it with interest to see if it is approved. And if it is approved, where will the money come from? As far as the erection of a statue is concerned, will the money come from the taxpayers or from individuals? If it is a special collection, then we will be happy about it; but if it is going to involve the taxpayer, then I will oppose it anywhere. I cannot allow individuals to be boosted up for no reason, when we have already boosted them and that is enough. What we require of the President of Kenya is to do something at his retiring age for us. We do not want Members dreaming and asking for extra expenditure, just because they are looking for a glass of milk. I do not think my friend will even one day qualify to meet the President and ask for anything.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker, for allowing me to make these few remarks.

Mr. Lorema: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, is it in order for the Member for Teso, Odunya Oprong to insinuate that I am looking for a glass of milk by bringing this Motion here?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I am sorry, Mr. Lorema, I still cannot hear the most important part of your point, because somebody laughed. Just repeat the last few words.

Mr. Lorema: Mr. Speaker, I rose on a point of order to ask you whether it is in order for the Member for Teso to insinuate that by bringing this Motion I am looking for a glass of milk. Is that in order?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Looking for what?

Mr. Lorema: A glass of milk.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): A glass of milk? I see no harm in that. If it were Nubian gin, it might be different!

The Assistant Minister, Vice-President's Office (Dr. Waiyaki): Mr. Speaker, as the hon. Mover has said, there is no real controversy involved in this Motion. It is a welcome thing that something like a statue should be erected at Chewoyet, and that Kapenguria should have Kenyatta Day celebrations. I think I should say, at once, that we accept the idea of holding these celebrations and arrangements will be made to try to hold them next time, that is, October this year.

As far as Chewoyet is concerned, again we would very much like to see the people of West Pokot doing something for themselves. The hon. Mr. Lorema will remember that the statue outside this House was put up by means of contributions, and I would invite the people of West

[The Assistant Minister Vice-President's Office] Pokot themselves to erect a statue of the President. This will put the hon. Mr. Odunya at ease; there is no question of expenditure of Government funds.

The Government wants to amend the Motion, Mr. Speaker, to read:

THAT in view of the fact that Kapenguria has some historical significance connected with the early life of our President, the Rt. Hon. Mzee Jomo Kenyatta, this House urges the West Pokot people to erect a statue at a place known as Chewoyet and further urges the Government to include Kapenguria as one of the chief centres for Kenyatta Day celebrations.

I have probably thrown the ball back into the hon. Mr. Lorema's court but I am quite sure that he would welcome that ball, since the people of West Pokot very much would like to see a statue. At this moment, it is difficult for us to devote funds to this particular project because there are so many more urgent matters connected with unemployment, famine and the rest of it. I do not consider that there is so much urgency that the Government has to go to West Pokot and erect a mere statue at this time. As the people, on the other hand, might like to do a little self-help work, this might easily be one of those projects that they could contribute to very happily.

So, Mr. Speaker, the Government would accept the amended Motion.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya) seconded.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think in this case we should confine debate on the amendment to the amendment itself and not get it mixed up with the rest of the question, because this is rather pin-pointing the main subject. So hon. Members can speak on this particular amendment, and if we continue the debate, with or without amendment, they can speak again on the general merits afterwards.

Mr. Mboya, would you like to speak for one or two minutes?

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move that the question be now put.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, I think that is reasonable.

(Question, that the question of the first part of the amendment be now put, put and agreed to)

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I now have to propose the second part of the amendment, which is that there be inserted the words "the West Pokot people". I think the House really wishes me to put that question also.

(Question of the second part of the amendment, that the words to be inserted be inserted, proposed)

(Question of the second part of the amendment, that the words to be inserted be inserted, put and agreed to)

(Question of the Motion as amended proposed)

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, would it not be possible to call on the Mover to reply if he is not going to take too long, and dispose of this Motion?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, I have a limited discretion to allow time to run on a little bit. If the House wanted the closure now, I think it would be convenient for the Mover to reply now.

(Question, that the Mover be now called on to reply, put and negatived)

ADJOURNMENT

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): In that case, we had better adjourn now. It is time for the interruption of business. The House is now adjourned until Tuesday, 15th February, at 2.30 p.m.

The House rose at thirty minutes past Twelve o'clock.

[Mr. Lorema] to include Kapenguria as one of the chief centres for Kenyatta Day Celebrations: i.e. 20th October.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, this Motion, as it is here, is not controversial at all. It is a straightforward Motion.

Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, as everybody in Kenya knows Kapenguria is a place where the trial of our President and five other nationalists took place and, therefore, I feel that the Government should do something in order to remind the people of this country what took place during that time. I know, Mr. Speaker, Sir, that people can always forget, but then, history will always remind us of something. Then, as we go along we should not forget whatever has taken place. This was the turning point as far as the history of Kenya is concerned. This was a very long case which everybody in the world heard of. But up to now the Government has completely forgotten this place and is going according to the saying, "We must forget the past". But we cannot forget such a major incident of this nature. This is why it is my intention that the Government should be reminded of this again.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is very well known, if there is any place today in Kenya where a major incident of this nature takes place—Mr. Speaker, Sir, the idea of Uhuru was conceived in Kapenguria and born in Nairobi. However, when we forget this I know the Rt. Hon. the President cannot try to build a statue of himself, to remind us of what happened, without the support of the Government. He must get somebody to do it because he is connected with this matter. These are the people who fought for the people of Kenya. Who can forget today, who can think that there was no place in Kapenguria? Who can forget today that the Rt. Hon. the President was condemned by the imperialists in Kapenguria? However, until today neither the President nor the Government have tried to visit Kapenguria.

As I say, Mr. Speaker, Sir, this Motion does nothing but asks the Government to erect a statue of the President in Kapenguria. There are many tourists who normally visit this area, and before they do anything else in West Pokot they first inquire where is Kapenguria and the place known as Chewoyet. I know that the Ministers have not been to this area, they only read books. However, the tourists come to the very classroom where the President was tried. It is a very small classroom, but the fact remains that this is the very place from which our independence was born. I have observed with great sorrow that when celebrations take place, Kenyatta Day Celebrations, on the 20th October, there is no regard at all given to Kapenguria. I am surprised to see what Kenyatta Day' can mean without the inclusion of Kapenguria. It is meaningless. If at all the celebrations are to be held in places like Nairobi—because it is a big city—and in places like Nakuru, Mombasa—where all facilities are available—this does not do away with the fact that Kapenguria should be the first place to be considered; and if possible all the Government Ministers, or at least one representative, should be sent there. Sir, I have often raised this matter but because my area happens to be a place which comes under the category of the less developed areas it is just neglected and left like that. But the fact remains, Mr. Speaker, that history cannot be forgotten just like that. History has its own formula, and that is that history always takes into consideration what incident took place when and where. If we take account of the "where", then Kagenguria is also included.

Merely to celebrate this day in Nairobi does not do justice to Kapenguria. I know very well that if such a thing had taken place in Kiambu or in Kisumu or in Mombasa, for that matter, there would have been wonderful celebrations.

I hear the Minister is saying, "Wacha maneno yayo", but then he knows me.

Now I do not see the reason why the Government has gone on strike on this matter. This is a plain issue, a plain matter; and it does not quarrel with anybody at any time. So at least there must be something indicating that Kapenguria has a certain historical importance. If the Government wants to do this, it can do it just by building a statue to remind the tourists, when they come—as I have said before, the tourists come and see exactly where things happened; they roam around, trying to find where Kapenguria is, and doubting very much whether this is Kapenguria or not. I know very well that it is a remote place, as some of the papers and books say, but it is not all that remote, because if it had been all that remote, the case could not have been held there.

The residents of that area are very proud and very eager to see that this place, at least, is remembered by the Government. But if the Government constantly forgets this place, without doing anything for it, then I do not know how it is going to be.

There is also the question of the school. The school was the place where the courtroom was, a very famous court; and now it is a secondary school. It is just a single-stream school but, despite that fact, the boys there who sit for their school

[Mr. Lorema] Certificate do very well and have always done very well in this examination. They pass the examination well and it has been the wish of the people of Pokot that this school should be made a double-stream school—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Lorema, I think you are outside the terms of your Motion now. You have been relevant so far, but not now.

Mr. Lorema: Sorry, Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, Sir, as I think this Motion does not require much discussion, it is just a matter of yes or no, I beg to move.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Are you seconding, Mr. Oduya? Who seconds?

Mr. Khalif: I second, Mr. Speaker, but I wish to reserve my right to speak later.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes. I would warn hon. Members that when they second formally and reserve their right to speak, it does not necessarily imply a guarantee that they will get the opportunity of speaking. It only means that they have not lost their right to speak by seconding. Sometimes there is no opportunity for the seconder to be heard in subsequent debate.

The Assistant Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. Nyagah): Mr. Speaker, Sir, speaking personally, as a person who has visited Kapenguria recently, I beg to support the hon. Member very strongly. Not only would I consider Kapenguria alone; I feel that consideration should be given, as a matter of priority, to Lodwar, Lokitaung and Maralal.

However, Sir, confining myself to the relevant matter of Kapenguria, I would like to say that when I last visited the place, about three months ago, I found the people there very appreciative of the part that Kapenguria did play at the peak of the political events or evolution in Kenya, when the hon. Father of our nation, Mzee Jomo Kenyatta, and his five colleagues, were detained and tried at Kapenguria. When a person visits Kapenguria, he is shown the little cell where the old man was first detained; when an attempt was made, as is alleged, on his life—and even the mark of the bullet on the wall of his cell is shown—he was moved to another set of cells where he was put right in the middle of the five cells. This place is pointed out as a matter of historical interest. The little prison, with the little wall round it, is still shown there and I think Sir, the people of that particular part of Kenya have a right to ask that this particular spot be honoured in Kenya's history.

A few miles from this spot, a visitor is taken to the school known as Chewoyet and one of the things one sees is the classroom which was used as a courtroom, where the decision to imprison the old man was first taken. I believe, Sir, that this school, among other things, should change its name and include the name of Kenyatta in it, as well as attracting more support from the Government for its expansion and also for its place of honour during the ceremonies of Kenyatta Day.

Without labouring the subject very much, Mr. Speaker, I would like to support very, very strongly what the hon. Member from that area has said, and urge the Government to do something, not only for Kapenguria, but for other places as well, where the honourable old man was detained and imprisoned.

Mr. Oduya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I also rise to make a comment on the Motion which has been proposed by my hon. friend, Mr. Lorema. The Motion actually is very good. It touches on the historical significance of the area. But, although I think I support the views expressed, personally I have my own different comments on this.

First of all, when the question of a statue is being discussed, if it is approved by this House, it would mean that the Kenya Government would have to waste some money to put up a statue. I personally think that because we have some other pressing problems at the moment, we should not rush to put up a statue in that particular area at this stage; I think that my friend actually should have asked for something else which was better than a statue. By this, I mean something which would benefit the people of Pokot. I do not see how a statue is going to benefit the people of Pokot.

Take, for example, the one that is outside here. People come and see it and then they go away and they are still hungry. What do they get out of it? That is why I say that I also oppose any suggestion that the Government development will be involved in erecting statues at Lokitaung and what not, as one of my hon. friends here suggested. There is no need for such things at the present time.

I know Kapenguria is a historical place, that Mzee Jomo Kenyatta, and many of his colleagues were tried there; there is no doubt about that and the people of Kenya know this. But if it is a question of celebration, that could just be done as we do now at the present time. I know the celebrations started just a few years back and have been a success throughout the country. Even in Nairobi here, at Kamukunji, and many

In his own area—Boran—there are different tribes: the Rendille and other tribes. Internally, there might have been raids between the tribes, and all that. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I will be making a full statement in the House with regard to all these allegations, together with the number of stock thefts and others.

I would like to say that within the Marsabit area, security forces in 1965 killed thirty-four Shifita, wounded seventeen and captured one. Since November 1965, sixty-seven Shifita have been killed, forty-three wounded and three captured in the same district. Therefore, the security forces have been very active in the area. As I said before, Mr. Speaker, it must never be forgotten that these raids across the boundaries from Ethiopia are a traditional activity, and they take place in both directions. Ethiopians alone, therefore, are not to blame; the people of Marsabit must also accept some responsibility for this inter-tribal conflict. The Government has and always will take the necessary measures to protect people of Marsabit District, but the ultimate solution lies in the realization by both parties that the policy of good neighbourliness is more profitable than the one they pursue at the moment.

I would like to state here, Mr. Speaker, that the Samburu have lost thousands and thousands of cattle; many people have been killed. Turkana have lost many people and, on the other side of Ethiopia, many people have also been lost. People within the southern province of Ethiopia have been disarmed, but there are people who escape with some guns and, similarly, with the Turkana people. They have their troubles as well and we must continue to see that these people are disarmed, because our policy is not to arm people. I would like to make it clear that the Government is always reviewing all our problems within our borders.

Also, Mr. Speaker, I would like to state—before I close—because it is important for the information of the hon. Member, that we have been supplying famine relief to his own people. In the month of October, the people of Marsabit have received 185 bags of maize, twenty-four crates of milk, edible oil, four crates, and also forty-six pounds. In November, they received 100 bags of maize and sixty cartons of milk. Also, in December, 600 bags of maize meal were given to the district and eighty-eight crates of milk, six pounds each, were issued to them, and 802 of canned meat. In January, they received 345 maize bags, and in February, eight and 700, and ten bags of soup powder which would help the people of Marsabit.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I would like to state that the Government is doing everything possible to help the people of Marsabit. Also, the hon. Member ought to help the Government in getting the people to understand why we are trying to create peace in the area. So, Mr. Speaker, I would like to make it clear that the question of breaking off diplomatic relations with Ethiopia cannot be accepted by the Government.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It is time now for the Mover to reply. We must deal first with the amendment.

Mr. E. D. Godana: Mr. Speaker, I am grateful to the hon. Members who have spoken and have given me some useful information, although I am not so happy with the way Government has refused to accept my Motion as it was.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to make some corrections to the speeches which have been made by some hon. Members. Firstly, I will deal with that of hon. Mr. Nyagah, on which I raised a point of order, in which he said that I have advised my people not to pay taxes until they have been paid compensation. I fully oppose that allegation. I have always advised my people to pay their taxes and then, as their representative, I fight for their rights. I brought the Motion here in good faith, just to make our Government alert on the facts, and we are still persuading those, who have refused to pay their taxes, their Graduated Personal Tax and their school fees, to pay them, so that their day-to-day life continues in the spirit of Harambee.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Assistant Minister, Mr. Mutiso, said that we have many raiders who go to Ethiopia and raid the people there and that they might be Marsabit people. I will say that there were nil, because if this were to be published officially, all Ethiopian officials who are living along the border, whom we know, would have reported to us that so many Marsabit people from Kenya go to Ethiopia and along the border and raid the Ethiopian people, or steal cattle from them and take them away. I have not heard of this happening during the last two three years of my life as Member of this House.

However, Mr. Speaker, we have approached the Ethiopian Embassy in Kenya, in Nairobi, the Ambassador is our personal friend; we have given him letters to be sent to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs so that they could do something

[Mr. E. D. Godana] along the border of Kenya and Ethiopia; but nothing has been done. All the time we have been writing letters, sitting with the Ministers and Assistant Ministers, talking about this affair, nothing has been done. What steps, then, shall I take? There is no other way in which I can help my people. At least they should hear what I have done for them as their elected Member.

Another allegation which was made by Mr. Rurumban, the Member for Korossi, was that the Boran and the Rendille are Shifita. I want to refute this very, very strongly. None of these people are Shifita, but those who are Shifita were forced by those Somalis who came from across their borders to Kenya and forced these people to be their guides, to show them where the water points were, to show them where they should go and attack the towns, the police force, the administration centres, and all that.

So, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to make it quite clear that none of the Boran or the Rendille are Shifita, but they were hounded by those who were fully armed and came from other countries, Ethiopia and Somalia. They were directed to go and hunt, to raid the manyattas and the villages, everywhere. They were not the Boran the people Kenya who went to Somalia. Those who are now the guides there are those who were forced at rifle point.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not have much to say, but what I would like to mention is, if the Government could approach the Ethiopian Government on behalf of the Marsabit people and the Turkana people who have always been raided; men, women and children, innocent people who were looking for grazing land were butchered in cold blood. We, who live along this border, are tired of hearing that something will be done. We know that we have a good friendship with Ethiopia. Our people who live along the border of Kenya and Ethiopia always have to go without a pass or permit. Our relatives and people have been able to go into Ethiopia without a permit because they were sure that we had a good relationship. But it is said when we see that hundreds and thousands of people are being killed, butchered and raided. Their cattle are being taken away. So, unless something is done the Kenya Government should consider taking very drastic action. I am sure that in December I was told by the Minister for Internal Security and Defence, Njoroge Mungai, that he had approached the Ethiopian Government, but that so far no reply had been received. He said that no reply had been received since one or two years. Is this not disgraceful? No reply to a letter sent to Ethiopia by our Government one or two years ago! Is that a real Government or a jungle Government?

So, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like in good faith—the Motion has been amended—

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the hon. Member in order to describe a Government in those terms?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): If he is alleging that the Ethiopian Government is in any way responsible for the raiders that come into Marsabit or he is unable to control them, then I think he is justified in using that phrase. It does not mean to say that the House believes him, but it is relevant to the Motion.

Mr. E. D. Godana: Thank you, Mr. Speaker, Sir, for correcting the Minister.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It was a reasonable point of order but, yes, you are in order.

Mr. E. D. Godana: I would like to see, as I suggested when I moved the Motion, that a commission is appointed by the Kenya Government to find out how many people have been killed since 1963 and how many livestock have been taken away from the people concerned in Marsabit District so that we shall be able to ask for compensation from the Ethiopian Government. Also, as I said, our people who are living along the Ethiopian border in manyattas, should be under the protection of the police so that there will not be much danger. This will not be an expense to the Government to employ police to be kept along the border. This is what I am suggesting to the Government. This is a solution that the Government could use for the Marsabit people and the Turkana.

I do not want to labour any further. What I have said is enough, and from what I have said, the Government and the Minister who is here should be called in and consider these suggestions in good faith. This is a political issue.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move.

(Question put and negatived)

MOTION*PRESIDENT'S STATUE AT CHEWOYET

Mr. Lorema: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move:—
THAT in view of the fact that Kapenguria has some historical significance connected with the early life of our President the Rt. Hon. Mzee Jomo Kenyatta this House urges the Government to erect his statue at a place known as Chewoyet and further urges the Government

Mr. E. D. Godana: On a point of information—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): A point of information: I do not know if you will give way, Mr. Nyagah?

The Assistant Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. Nyagah): I have had enough information from the hon. Member, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. E. D. Godana: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I did not suggest that I was telling the people not to pay the tax, but the people of one part who are mostly concerned say that they will not pay tax until the compensation is paid.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Well, that is a very important difference, and you are justified in getting up and correcting the hon. Member if that is so. As I said only the day before yesterday, I think, it is completely out of order for hon. Members of a constitutional Parliament, bound by an Oath of Loyalty from the moment they enter this House, even to suggest that they will be party to illegal or unconstitutional action. But for an hon. Member to warn the House that unconstitutional action may be taken by others, if a certain situation is not remedied, is in order.

Yes, I think you must have misunderstood the hon. Member, Mr. Nyagah.

The Assistant Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. Nyagah): I am open to correction, Mr. Speaker, but I am glad that we have put it right, that the hon. Member is not going to advise his people to be a party to people who have threatened not to pay their tax unless the 30,000 goats, 10,000 head of cattle and 3,000 camels have been compensated for to the extent of Sh. 20 million. I am glad that this correction has been made.

Mr. Speaker, the hon. Member did suggest that famine relief should be given to the people in the area. What he has not told the House is that famine relief has already been given to the people in the area and the Government have gone to great lengths in trying to help the people, not only those who have lost their nyombe or camels, but even those who are suffering naturally.

I think this Motion, Mr. Speaker, is very much misguided, and I would like the hon. Mover in future to consult his supporters, so that they bring forward a Motion similar to the proposals by the hon. Member for Githunguri, which, if it had been the original Motion, would have been on a better line. I notice, Mr. Speaker, that the hon. Member who moved the Motion very carefully avoided telling the House the activities of his people against the people who live to the west and south of Kenya: the Samburu, for instance. He suggests we should break off diplomatic relations with Ethiopia. If that is the only cure that he can suggest for stopping stock-theft, what suggestion does he have for curing the old-age problem of stock-theft between the Samburu and the Boran.

I suggest, Mr. Speaker, that this Motion is untimely, is misguided, and I find it very difficult to support it as it is. Mr. Speaker, Sir, these people in that area are my blood in so far as they are Kenyans and I am a Kenyan. I would suggest to the hon. Member, just as we did the other day with our friends in Masai and Kuria, that he should invite us as a Ministry to go with him and try and see on the spot whether we can find a solution which will be amicable, other than the four alternatives which he puts here and which I find it very difficult to support.

With these remarks, Mr. Speaker, I oppose both the amendment and the original Motion.

Mr. Khalif: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in so far as you have said, Sir, that we should combine the debate on both the amendment and the Motion, and I have been the Seconder of the Motion, I will now speak on both.

In so doing, I completely agree that we should accept the amendment and refrain from breaking off diplomatic relations with Ethiopia. Sir, the amendment as proposed by the hon. Waira Kamau indicates that a special mission should be sent to see the Emperor of Ethiopia, as an old friend, asking him to intervene to stop this raiding from Ethiopia. Sir, I do not see any reason for the Government to refuse this, because sending a good-will mission to the Emperor is just what we need now. I think suggesting that we should break off diplomatic relations with Ethiopia was a little extreme, but the question of sending a special good-will mission to our old friend, the Ethiopian Emperor is just what we need now, because if there has been anything bad going on in between Ethiopia and Kenya, and the two countries being friendly, then the only cure is to sit at a round table and discuss it. That is the way we can bring good relations, that is the way we can stop the raids between Ethiopia and Kenya.

This is very moderate, I think, because having accepted that we should not break off diplomatic relations with Ethiopia, now we see the Government opposing even sending a good-will mission to Ethiopia. Sir, if I understand well that Ethiopia is a very friendly country with us and that we have pacts with them, then why should we not sit at a round-table conference with our Mzee

[Mr. Khalif] Balo Taifa, Jomo Kenyatta, and the Mzee there. Emperor Haile Selassie, possibly in Gatundu or Addis Ababa? They could discuss these raids frankly, and that is the only possible way we could stop them.

Sir, we have been told by the Mover that from 22nd October 1963, to December 1965, more than 152 people were killed in these raids by people coming from Ethiopia. We have also been told that more than 32,000 cattle have been looted by these raiders from Ethiopia. Sir, this is very shocking in view of the fact that we have very good relations with Ethiopia. If this had happened in the north-eastern part of Kenya, it would not be very surprising because our relations with Somalia are not good. But we have very good relations with Ethiopia, and after admitting that we have very good relations with Ethiopia, to learn that more than 152 people were killed and more than 32,000 cattle were looted by Ethiopian raiders is just ridiculous.

Sir, people down there in Marsabit, particularly, are very much concerned at this state of affairs, not only the Boran, the Rendille but also the Turkana are affected. It was only the other day when we read in the papers about the massacre of eighty-eight Turkana in one raid. Now, Sir, these are lives that we are losing, and if we sit tight on our benches here and try to say that everything is all right, it is not going to work. Every Member has problems in his constituency and the paramount problem Mr. Godana has in his constituency is the continuous killing of his people. Let us face the facts: Just the same way as everyone—

An hon. Member: By whom?

Mr. Khalif: By Ethiopian raiders. This is the same way—

An hon. Member: And the Somalis.

Mr. Khalif: Yes, also the Somali raiders. Yes, I am not going to—yes, that is accepted; also the Somali raiders. But the same way that everybody has a problem, the same way that some Members here are concerned about the Harambee schools and they bring Motion after Motion, question after question about the Government taking over Harambee schools, so does Mr. Godana have a problem in his constituency relating to Ethiopian raiders.

For that matter, Sir, it is going to be very unwise to sit here and try to say that everything is all right. We have been told, time and again, by various Members through Motions and questions that people are being killed, that there are massacres up there, that at one time eighty-eight Turkana have been killed. It is no use for the Government to sit and try to oppose the amendment as proposed by hon. Waira Kamau because the amendment only asks for a good-will mission to be sent to Ethiopia to confer with the Emperor of Ethiopia, so that these raids are stopped, and that is that. The Government would be evading its responsibility by refusing to accept this amendment, because it is the Government's duty to see that its loyal citizens—I am not speaking about the disloyal ones—are looked after and their lives preserved. The only way to do that, in so far as this Motion is concerned, is to accept this amendment of the hon. Waira Kamau.

With these few words, Sir, I beg to support the amendment.

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You only have five minutes, I am afraid.

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): I am very sorry indeed.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I stand to oppose the Motion and the amendment, for the simple reason that the amended Motion still allows people to be armed in the area. The hon. Member did not give true facts in his Motion. First of all, Mr. Speaker, allegations have been made by the hon. Member, and I should like to draw your attention, Sir, to the fact that there is a section in the Standing Orders whereby, if a Member makes a serious allegation in the House, there is a committee which will judge why that allegation has been made; but I do not want to enter into that one, Mr. Speaker.

However, I would like to say in this House that Kenya and Ethiopia have been friendly countries and we shall continue to be so, and we shall not accept breaking off diplomatic relations with them. There is already a committee on the border between us and Ethiopia. This has been set up and we will continue to review conditions along the border as we have done with other States. Secondly, Mr. Speaker, if it is merely a question of breaking off diplomatic relations because of traditional activity between the borders, then I should like to state that there have been raids between us and Uganda; there have been raids between ourselves and the people of Tanzania, merely traditional raids. Mr. Speaker, the hon. Member pins down the problem to the Ethiopia Government and yet the Motion says Ethiopia and Somalia. Now, he did not say how many cattle were taken to Ethiopia and how many were taken to Somalia. Nothing was put before the House.

that it is up to the Government to know exactly the sincerity of anyone who speaks on behalf of the Government.

With these few remarks, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I propose the amendment.

CONSIDERED RULING

CRITICISM OF INTERNAL AFFAIRS OF ANOTHER COUNTRY

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Before we continue the debate, I would like to clear up a point of order which arose while the Deputy Speaker was in the Chair. It is quite an important point. As hon. Members know, there cannot be criticism of a friendly Government except by way of substantive Motion for that purpose. Now here is a substantive Motion, directly criticising the Ethiopian Government as being responsible for the activities of armed raiders, and therefore proposing the breaking-off of diplomatic relationship. Anything relevant to that is, therefore, permissible.

But the question arose as to whether it was in order for hon. Members to criticize the internal affairs of Ethiopia in this Motion; and quite definitely, no, it is not relevant to this Motion, and it is criticism of a friendly country on a subject to which this Motion is not directed, so it is definitely out of order.

Now it was said to the Deputy Speaker, to his embarrassment, after he had ruled to that effect, that I had allowed the Mover to comment on the internal affairs of Ethiopia in the course of his speech. That is true, but his comments on that particular aspect were so brief that he had moved on before I had time to stop him. If he had continued any longer on that point, I would have stopped him. So the Deputy Speaker was quite correct in his ruling; and I think the Minister for Home Affairs raised the same point of order, and he was correct in raising it. So we must get this clear; there must be no more reference to the internal affairs of Ethiopia in the debate.

Who seconds the amendment?

Mr. Gichoya: I do, Mr. Speaker. I am the seconder. Mr. Speaker, the intention of seconding this amendment is, in the first place, to prove that we are really friends of Ethiopia as much as Ethiopia—

Mr. Khalif: On a point of order Mr. Speaker, I was the seconder of the whole Motion. Sir, and I reserved my right to speak.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, I am sorry, it was my mistake; it was the hon. Member who spoke second, Mr. Ogle, I think. Whoever did try to speak on this subject claimed that I had allowed the Mover to speak—never mind who it was.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Speaker, we all know that we have a very good relationship with Ethiopia. As a matter of fact, we have a more or less brotherly relationship—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I am sorry. Dr. De Souza informs me that Mr. Khalif was claiming the right to speak because he had seconded. But you see, having had an amendment proposed, we have to see who seconds it. If you had wanted to second the amendment, you could have spoken now; but otherwise you have to wait for someone else to second the amendment, and then your chance will come. I will bear it in mind. I am sorry, Mr. Khalif.

Mr. Gichoya: So, Mr. Speaker, I continue.

We know that our President and the Emperor of Ethiopia are personal friends and what we should aim at is to request our President to approach, in person, if possible, the Emperor of Ethiopia and acquaint him with the problem we are facing in this country. It is indeed very disappointing to find that 30,000 head of cattle, 10,000 sheep and goats and 3,000 camels have been taken by the people of Ethiopia and about ninety people, belonging to the State of Kenya, have been killed by the people of Ethiopia. Taking these things into account, one is bound to think that we are really enemies of one another. But, in actual fact, in every society we should expect certain differences among the people. For that matter, some of the misguided Ethiopians and misguided Somalis, or Boran, for that matter, might have been engaged in this activity of stealing, taking it to be part and parcel of their way of life.

Today, Sir, even in Kenya, a Masai believes that if he does not kill an animal, a lion, for that matter, he is not a real moran. This is a way of thinking, Sir, and it may be these misguided Ethiopians, Somalis and Boran might have been taking it for granted that to steal is not a crime, and to steal is part and parcel of their way of life. Consequently, for them what we call a crime is a mode of life. Now the heads of the two Governments, the heads of the two States, could normalize this situation. I fully support the idea that there should be a special mission sent to Addis Ababa to see the Emperor of Ethiopia. If possible, the Emperor of Ethiopia should be summoned to State House here, or, for that matter, to Gatundu, and have explained to him Kenya's position.

We have agreed that we live as friends; we have even concluded friendship treaties. But what meaning would these treaties have if, the next day, the people are being reduced one by one? It means, Sir, that if we do not take immediate steps the time will come when Ethiopia may even perhaps say, "We will conquer this part and make it part of the Ethiopian empire." This again would be a breach of the faith which we have in Ethiopia, and unless we do something about the trend of things, about the move that is taking place, the Ethiopians might come to the stage of feeling that we were, one day, a part of their own empire and we should now be part of it again. If that is the case, Mr. Speaker, then we are bound to sell this country of ours.

I should make one thing clear, that even though we are not as many as Ethiopians, even though we do not have a very strong army as that of Ethiopia, we are capable of defending our own country and even if the worst comes to the worst, we can fight the Ethiopians physically. So before that stage comes, let us appeal to our own President, tell him to see the Emperor of Ethiopia or summon him on a friendly basis to come and see him and discuss these issues. Unless that is done, Mr. Speaker, I feel that our friendship with Ethiopia is going to deteriorate and consequently, we might find ourselves faced with Somali/Kenya problem, Ethiopia/Kenya problem and, this is the final analysis, might bring about international conflicts based on petty things.

With these few words, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I support the amendment.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think it would be for the convenience of the House if we combined debate on that with debate on the main question. There is very little time left. In fact, I would point out that I have to call on the Mover to reply in twenty minutes' time, so that if Government intend to speak on this Motion, they had better speak now.

Mr. Gichoya: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I wonder whether we are in order to state that the paragraphs 2 and 3 are deleted as soon as that amendment is put there? Because I was supporting the whole thing with an idea that the whole thing is cancelled and that it is the one that substitutes paragraphs 1, 2 and 3.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): The note that the Deputy Speaker gave me was that only paragraph (f) is left out. I will have to be advised by the Clerk; or can Mr. Kemau tell me what he actually proposed?

Mr. Kemau: Exactly as the Deputy Speaker has put it.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Just the modification of paragraph (f) without interfering with paragraphs 2 and 3?

Mr. Kemau: I did not interfere. That is why the Mover agreed.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Well, you cannot second anything but that, Mr. Gichoya.

The Assistant Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. Nyagah): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I rise to speak very shortly on this Motion and, particularly, to base my arguments on the Mover of the original Motion.

It is very difficult to accept a Motion like this, which does not seem to have a clear-cut aim. Here is a Mover, Mr. Speaker, who tells the House to see the President and then advise the President to tell the Government, and yet the President is the Head of the Government. The Mover also goes on to say that the Government has done nothing to defend these people. He goes at great length, to give the figures of ngombe, the goods and camels that have been stolen from his area. I have every sympathy with him when he says he is just performing his duty as an elected Member because he has his voters; I believe those are his words. I have every sympathy on that one, Mr. Speaker.

What I have no sympathy with is his analysis of the situation or meeting points, which are very important. He has not said anything about the activities of the Government security forces in that area. He has not even given us the figures for all the people he considers to be capable of carrying arms over the age of thirty-five, but he has a wonderful calculation of Sh. 20 million as compensation, and more than that, Mr. Speaker, he goes on to commit the most blundering action of threatening that he and his people will not pay tax, unless this compensation is made. Mr. Speaker, Sir, one would expect that when an hon. Member brings a Motion like this, trying to ask the Government to put right things which are wrong, he would be the first person to take a leading part in showing the right way, but threatening that they will not pay tax, I think, is not a particularly good thing for an hon. Member responsible for a constituency like that.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutsaers): I do not need your information, I am well informed.

Mr. Deputy Speaker: Sir, it is true that some Members introduce a Motion and allege a lot of things which they, themselves, cannot substantiate. Now, Sir, how is it possible for this House to agree that there has been a raid where at least 30,000 head of cattle and about 10,000 sheep have been taken to the Ethiopian side, and so much money, when the Member cannot substantiate and show how this was done, when and whereabouts and also he cannot show any evidence which would support his argument? Mr. Deputy Speaker: Sir, it is easy to come to this House and say that there has been at least a million shillings stolen, but unless—

Mr. Eklifels: On a point of information, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir—

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutsaers): No, thank you, I do not need any information.

Mr. Eklifels: On a point of order—

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Are you sure it is a point of order?

Mr. Eklifels: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, my point of order is this. Is it right for the Assistant Minister to tell lies when he does not have any proof as to this?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! Mr. Eklifels, please withdraw the word lies. I think you were told by the Speaker yesterday that we must try and use parliamentary language, and we do not want any hon. Member to accuse anybody, whether Minister or otherwise, that he is telling lies. Please withdraw the word lies. It is a point of order.

Mr. Eklifels: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I withdraw the word lies.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutsaers): Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I think that since independence, as the hon. Mover of the Motion indicated, the Kenya Government along with the Ethiopian Government have taken adequate measures to ensure that the boundary position is restored, because, Sir, if you remember, you will realize that this is not the first time that this issue has been brought to this House. I remember, Sir, some time ago last year, this issue was raised when we were in the other Chamber, and it was said, and the Government informed the House that already there were some boundary committees which were handling the issue of conflicts.

But, Mr. Deputy Speaker, it is not a question of asking for the breaking-off of diplomatic relations so as to solve the problem. That would mean adding more fuel to the fire which is already burning. I think it is the policy of our Government not to seek solutions by force, and the position today is that we have good relations with the Ethiopian Government; if we have any grievance or there is any case, then we should speak to or communicate with the Ethiopian Government and place before them any argument or any grievance that the Kenya Government has. Then the problems can be solved amicably without involving the use of force.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, some of these things are traditional and even inside Kenya here, we have these boundary disputes, even between the Kalenjin and the Masai and the Kikuyu and the Masai; this stock-theft is a traditional thing and I do not see how it can cause our Government to break off diplomatic relations because there have been some thefts on the boundary. This is something which can be handled by the security forces; and I am sure the Minister for Home Affairs will inform the House of the position, or the work the Ministry has been able to do, since independence.

So, Sir, I do not think that there is very much substance in this Motion which can really be taken very seriously; and in addition to this, Sir, I oppose the Motion.

Mr. Rumamba: Mr. Deputy Speaker, whilst sympathizing with the sentiments of the hon. Member, and also being cautious over the state of affairs in his constituency, I rise to oppose the Motion, particularly two clauses of it, clause (1) which talks of breaking off diplomatic relations with Ethiopia, and clause (3) which talks about the arming of the Boran.

Sir, we Samburu are adjacent to the Boran and we complain bitterly of raids perpetrated on us by the Boran and the Somalis. Mr. Deputy Speaker, the Boran tribe are Shifja and the Somalis are Shifja and all are near the Samburu District. Sir, we truly are suffering more from the Shifja of the Boran tribe than those of the Somalis. And we are suffering more than the Boran are suffering from the Boran of Ethiopia. And if the Government could really accede to the request made by the hon. Member of arming all the Boran in the district, I am sure that the situation in the whole of the Northern Frontier District would be made worse.

Again, Sir, if we break off our diplomatic relationship with the Ethiopian Government, what we are courting is again trouble in our own country. We must really maintain our

[Mr. Rumamba] diplomatic relationship with Ethiopia. What the hon. Mover could have said is that our Government should negotiate with the Ethiopian Government to disarm their people who are now using arms.

Sir, the Motion as tabled by the hon. Mover is not really quite clear; it does not indicate what really is in the hon. Mover's mind. If he really insists on the Government arming all the people in the Northern Frontier District, and the people in Ethiopia are armed also, what is going to happen is something bad for both countries; and it will not help our Government here. If we really want the Government to contain the situation in the Northern Frontier District, it must recruit more people into the police force, into the army, so that these raiding incidents can really be contained, rather than arming the Boran, who are, at the same time, Shifja, and again arming the loyal Somalis who are Shifja; and again breaking off diplomatic relations with Ethiopia.

With these few words, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I oppose the Motion.

Mr. Kamau: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I would like to amend paragraph (1) of this Motion to read as follows:

"To send a special mission to see the Emperor of Ethiopia, as an old friend, asking him to intervene so as to stop these raiders from Ethiopia".

Mr. Speaker, this amendment is very simple. Everybody in this country knows very well that Ethiopia has been our closest friend and it was, with all due respect, the first African State to be independent. We know very well that had it not been for the Ethiopian Emperor all these countries, from Ethiopia and Kenya onwards, would have remained occupied and fully dominated by the Western powers. Nobody is in doubt that the Emperor of Ethiopia, because of the encroachment of the Italians some time back, had to fight and he was forced to fly from the country to live in Britain; in this he was defending the cause of African States at large.

I have consulted my hon. friend, the Mover of this Motion, and we have agreed that I should move this amendment for the simple reason that if we do not want to sabotage our own Government it would be dangerous for us to advocate the breaking-off of diplomatic relations with Ethiopia; this would give a chance to the so-called power-mongers from outside to penetrate from Ethiopia and, by so doing, the people of this area, as far as I know, who are very poor in many ways, would be tempted. I think the intention of my friend, in bringing this Motion, is to try to pave the way to urging the Government to help these people to be uplifted, to be civilized as much as other people in this country, to be developed educationally, economically and politically. I do not think it was his intention to condemn fully the relationship between Ethiopia and Kenya.

I would say that I have been living in Marsabit myself, it was where I was detained for six years during the Emergency. I am proud to say that I myself and my colleagues, who were detained, urged him—he was then the clerk to the district commissioner—to join politics and leave the administration, because we knew the benefits the Northern Frontier District people would get from his education.

As regards this amendment, I think I would say that it will be easier for the Government of Ethiopia to consult the Government of Kenya. A treaty between the two States has recently been made; and if we go about this equably and peacefully and then something goes wrong, it will be settled by the two Governments. For anybody sensible to try to call Ethiopia hostile to other African States would be tantamount to committing a crime, because we know how much the Emperor of Ethiopia has done towards the uplifting of other African States. And it is true to say that, because of the initiative shown by the Emperor of Ethiopia, many African countries are independent today. To try to condemn such an honourable Government would, in my view, be wrong.

Therefore, Sir, I would request the House to accept the amendment and then debate the Motion according to its merits.

Before I sit down, I should like to make one remark, that the poverty of these people should be borne in mind; and I would request my Government to do all it can to help these people in the Northern Frontier District so as not to cause those people outside the country, the enemies of our independence, to believe that it is easy to penetrate Kenya by way of the Northern Frontier District. These people should be assisted so as to be in a position to protect the Government of Kenya. At the same time, I would warn the Government to be alert, to know the allegiance of everybody who speaks on behalf of the Kenya Government, whether he speaks with two mouths or one. I do not allege that any Member of Parliament has an ulterior motive against the Government, but I do think independent for nearly 3,000 years, but the first reaction one has when one comes to Ethiopia is that they are not even ready for self-government!

That Sir, is why I said that Mr. Godana had done very well in bringing this Motion to the House. Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, the Government has constantly said in this House and outside that they are very friendly with Ethiopia, but that does not matter. Sir, what we are interested in, and I am sure every Member will agree with me but what we are interested in is the well-being of our people. Mr. Godana has displayed to the House what is wrong, what the Ethiopian Government has done to our people, and because of that we cannot just continue to say that they are friendly—

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, in this issue is there the question of the security of the people of Marsabit, because I do not see how the hon. Members can enter into internal affairs of a friendly State, unless they bring in points which concern the security of Marsabit District which implies that diplomatic relations should be broken with Ethiopian Government. Whether the people of Ethiopia are illiterate or not, does not come into the Motion.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): I understand what you are referring to Mr. Moi, and that is what I had in mind when I first interrupted the Member, but in view of what Mr. Khalif has said, that Mr. Speaker, here in the Chair before me allowed Mr. Godana to speak about the internal affairs of Ethiopia, and in view of the fact that clause 2 asks very clearly for us to break off diplomatic relations with Ethiopia it is, in fact, a substantive Motion, then I am afraid that I do not want to interfere, because if one speaker has already been allowed to say it, then I do not think we can now stop other speakers from saying the same.

Mr. Ogle: Mr. Deputy Speaker, I can see the Minister is worried about my comments on the Ethiopian Government, but, Sir, that I feel does not matter.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, some time ago there was an agreement between our Government and the Ethiopian authorities concerning the disarming of the people along the border. We have carried out that agreement to the extent of disarming all the people, the Boran, Turkana and other citizens near the Ethiopian border. But, Sir, the Ethiopian Government has not done so. I cannot see the reason why we should continue disarming our people and make them easy prey for the raiders from Ethiopia coming over the border and killing them, plundering their property and taking everything that they own.

Another thing Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, is that the Government is always talking about the friendship of Ethiopia. Once they told us that they defend the Kenya Government if there was any attack from Somalia—

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, the hon. Member alleges that we have agreed with the Ethiopian Government that they should defend us in the case of Somalia attacking us. What defence pact does he know of?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Yes, can you substantiate that, Mr. Ogle?

Mr. Ogle: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I would like to say that when the Shifita menace broke out there was an immediate defence pact between Kenya and Ethiopia and everybody can assume that this was directly—

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): If there was a defence pact, Mr. Moi, I think the normal understanding of a defence pact is that people will help each other. I think he is entitled—

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): But they should—

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): I think it must mean help each other in the event of an attack.

Mr. Ogle: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I am very sorry to see that the Minister is worried about Ethiopia. I quite agree, Sir, with Mr. Godana when he said that we should break off diplomatic relations with Ethiopia, because there is no use us talking about having any friendship with Ethiopia any longer. Apart from that, Sir, the main supplies of arms to Ethiopia is Great Britain and the United States of America, and I think that we should also write a diplomatic note to these two Governments holding them equally responsible for this as well, and warn them that they should not supply more arms to Ethiopia since these are used against innocent people in this Republic of ours.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, time and again we are told that Parliament is the supreme authority and it is the desire, and the wish of this House, that we break off diplomatic relations with Ethiopia, and I could not think of any Minister standing in front of the Members here telling us that we should not do so, unless he is working on his downfall.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, another thing which I would like to say before I finish is that now we have disarmed our people, and we can see that the Ethiopian Government is sending its people across the border completely armed to attack our people, and loot their property. Now, Sir, we cannot protect them, although the Minister stands here and says that we will protect them, we have the necessary force and therefore we will protect them, but, Sir, that will not work, because through my experience as an ex-pole officer who was stationed along the border near Ethiopia I know that there is no protection which we can offer in the case of either sending a platoon of General Service Unit men or something of that nature. Therefore, Sir, the only other alternative method which we can employ is to arm the people there in order that they can defend themselves from those people who are sent by the Emperor of Ethiopia. I know the main intention of Haile Selassie— but, Sir, before I come to that, I would like to say that Ethiopia has a very high prestige outside, but, I fear, Sir, that this has already been lost. There is nothing left, and I remember when the Organization for African Unity met in Addis Ababa about the Rhodesian issue, it was the Emperor who said that he was prepared to send two battalions, or what it was, to Rhodesia to fight, but when it was decided that the African Governments should take action by first of all breaking off diplomatic relations the Emperor was the first person to go back on his word, therefore the prestige of Ethiopia is no longer recognized outside, and therefore, I cannot see the reason why our Government should rely at all on Ethiopia, because they are going to ruin us completely, and will show that this Government is not independent.

Therefore, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, we must arm our people in order that they are able to defend themselves from these people. I know, Sir, that the intention of the Ethiopian Government is to take over Kenya or any other country. I am expert on Ethiopian affairs, and you have been to the Jubilee Palace where the Emperor invited you to, but I have been living up there and I know quite a bit.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): I have not been to any palace myself.

Mr. Ogle: I am sorry about that, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir. So, Sir, the intention of the Ethiopian Government is to rule this country, and our Government, I am afraid, is so blind that they cannot see, for example, when you say that the Ethiopian Government is unfriendly nearly every Minister, who is representing the Government, is on his feet and objecting to that remark.

Therefore, Sir, if we cannot say such things, I would just like to end my speech by saying that we must break off diplomatic relations with Ethiopia simply because they are hostile towards our country, and simply because they have lost their prestige outside. Secondly, Sir, I feel that we should arm our people so that they can defend themselves against these ruthless people who are sent across the border by Emperor Haile Selassie.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir—

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Are you speaking on behalf of the Government?

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): No, Sir, I am just opposing the Motion.

Mr. Kamau: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, with all due respect, is it in order that at this stage if one wants to amend this Motion—

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Yes, Mr. Kamau, I have your notice, but I will call you in due time. I think Mr. Mutiso has the right to speak now.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I find it difficult to understand the essence of this Motion because the hon. Mover and the seconder of the Motion have totally failed to explain the actual reasons why the Motion is seeking to break off diplomatic relations with Ethiopia. If, Sir, it were because of boundary raids, then I think, Sir, that it is a well-known thing, historical or even inside Kenya here, that where you have boundaries there is bound to be some conflict sometimes and to a certain extent blood is bound to be shed.

Now, Sir, as far as this boundary is concerned, it is well known that it is not only the people inside Kenya who are attacked but that the people also from that part of Kenya also attack the people on the other side in Ethiopia. I think that if the Motion, as it was tabled, and on what the Mover and the seconder spoke upon was genuine in its case, then they would have told the House how many raids by Kenya tribesmen have been made on the Ethiopian side, and how many cattle, sheep and goats have been taken away from that side. It is quite evident, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir—

Mr. Ekiella: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, or at least on a point of information—

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): No, I am afraid you cannot.

[The Speaker (Mr. Slade) left the Chair]

However, what I would like to tell the Government and the people of Kenya is that today I am here with the confidence of my people. They have urged me to bring this Motion forward. They have asked me to say that we should cut our relationship with Ethiopia, that we walk into Ethiopia and fight with bows and arrows. I support them, they are my voters. I have come here on their behalf, to defend them. They are in a bad position, they have no money.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, I would like to tell the Government—I would be happy if what I say could be put before Mzee Kenyatta—that the people of Marsabit District, and Turkana, too, are—just the other day when we adjourned, on the 10th December, we learnt that eighty-eight people were killed, women, children and men. Innocent and defenceless people were killed and yet we come here and are told that we are friendly countries, Kenya and Ethiopia. We are told that we are trying to construct an international road right up to Ethiopia. We are told that the survey is on the way. No, Mr. Deputy Speaker, we should cut out this diplomatic relationship in the first place and see that we defend our soil by killing the thousands of people who are trying to come into Kenya and take over-part of Kenya. They say that Somalia has a lot of Shifta but I would say that Ethiopia is one of the dangerous elements that we have to contend with. We should be aware of this. The only proof of friendliness will be help from Ethiopia. If we go and approach the officials, governor-generals—we have several letters written to the Governor-General of Nagale asking if he could be of any help, if he could send people to the area from where people come and raid, the Rendille and Gabra people. He was not helpful at all. So, if somebody has not been helpful why should we be told that we are friendly countries? We should just cut out the diplomatic relations. Then we can move forward according to our plans, knowing that we do not have any relationship diplomatically as now exists between Kenya and Somalia. That is why we have declared the North-Eastern Region as one of the emergency States.

I was very concerned, Mr. Deputy Speaker, when I heard that innocent people were killed, men, women and children.

I have brought this Motion here, Sir, because so many Members do not know what is happening. They are shouting things here without knowing what is happening with the area I am talking about. That is why I have brought this Motion. One Member is saying now that the Samburu are always being attacked. It is not that the Gabra, the Rendille or the Boran come under the Samburu, but these raiders come from Ethiopia, from some 200 miles, and they move into the interior of Kenya. They attack, raid and then go away with cattle and other animals. During the last three years, since 1963, they have taken a total amount of 32,850 cattle. I do not want to quote anything that happened during the colonial times. I only want to talk about things that happened since 1963. 32,850 cattle were taken away, 18,400 goats, 3,000 camels. Today, this is costing the Government money, over Sh. 20 million. May I inform the House that the people of Marsabit District have refused to pay their personal tax in protest; unless they receive compensation for 30,000 cattle, 10,000 goats, 3,000 camels they say they will not pay their personal tax. I was within my constituency at Marsabit when an ALMO official went down to Gabra to buy livestock. He was told that the people there would not sell any livestock to the Kenya Government, neither would they pay the tax. Mr. Deputy Speaker, these people are poor, there is nobody to present their views, their difficulties in order to help them to better their conditions. So they say they will not pay their tax within the Gabra Constituency.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, may I give the following suggestion to the Government before I sit down. I think that a commissioner should be appointed in the Marsabit District including Turkana, and placed along the Marsabit border, to find out how many people have been killed since June 1963, how many cattle, goats, camels and donkeys have been taken away. Then compensation should be paid by the Ethiopian Government to this friendly country, to those innocent people who are not helpless and do not have any means of getting food. There are several of these people in Nairobi with nowhere to live. Compensation should be paid to them.

I think that every man should be armed in order to cut down the Government's expenditure. This should be done in Marsabit which is in the North-Eastern Province, in Turkana which is within the Rift Valley. In this way the men will be armed and they can defend their property and their country. There is no point in coming here and saying, yes, but Ethiopia is a friendly country. There is no point in signing a defence pact. What is the Kenya Government afraid of?

An hon. Member: Of the Shifta? Are you a Shifta?

Mr. E. D. Godana: Well, at the moment I do not side with the Shifta but things can make me become a Shifta. When I see hundreds and thousands of people killed in cold blood, then I do not like it. All the time the Minister is in the Rift Valley enjoying some time in his home. Government only says, Shifta, Shifta. You do not know what the Shifta are. When we see the blood of hundreds and thousands of people shed every month, every year, the blood of innocent people, then we will become worse than ever. Things are now becoming worse than ever. They were much better for us during the colonial days, things were a hundred times better.

I have a letter with me written to the President, who was Prime Minister at that time, saying that the police were afraid to go and track the raiders as the raiders had killed the mother and father of the vice-chairman of the county council.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Mr. Godana, I am afraid your time is up.

Mr. E. D. Godana: Mr. Deputy Speaker, will you please allow me just another five or ten minutes?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): No.

Mr. E. D. Godana: Just another five minutes more?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): No, your time is up. I am afraid I am not in a position to allow you that unless there is very special reason, and in this case there is no special reason.

Mr. E. D. Godana: May I just give a special reason for my Motion, then?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): No, Mr. Godana, I am sorry. You have proposed the Motion, have you not? Have you read the Motion?

Mr. E. D. Godana: Yes, Sir.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Who is your seconder?

Mr. E. D. Godana: My seconder is Mr. Khalif.

Mr. Khalif: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I second the Motion formally and reserve my right to speak later.

QUORUM

Mr. Malsori-Itumbo: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, in view of the importance of this Motion I think this House should have a quorum, which we do not have now.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): We do have a quorum. Do continue Mr. Ogle.

Mr. Rurumban: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, suppose an hon. Member wants to amend this Motion, and his amendment proposes to delete almost every word of the Motion now before the House, what—

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! Mr. Rurumban, that is not a point of order. If you have an amendment that you want to propose, and you are not sure about it, I think you can speak to the Speaker privately about it, rather than stand up on a fraudulent point of order.

Mr. Ogle: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I should say, "Well done." to the hon. Mover who has brought this Motion to the House. It is a well known thing that Mr. Godana, the Mover of this Motion was a great friend of the Ethiopians some time back, but today he has seen fit to bring this Motion here.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Ethiopia is a rich country, but I would say that almost the entire population are starving. Ethiopia is a country where there are so many great universities but nearly 99 per cent of the people are illiterate. Ethiopia has a Government ruled by an Emperor—

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! Order! No, Mr. Ogle, we are not attacking a friendly country in this debate. I think you must confine yourself to the Motion here, not to attacking Ethiopia.

Mr. Khalif: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I thought the Speaker said earlier, Sir, that this was a substantive Motion whereby anything could be said.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): No, as far as I understand it, in regard to the substance of the Motion, namely the question of the attacks by Ethiopia, not on the internal Government of Ethiopia.

Mr. Ogle: Mr. Speaker, but the Motion asks for the break off of diplomatic relations, and, therefore, I think one is at liberty to say anything whether it is friendly or unfriendly.

Mr. Khalif: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Mr. Godana was earlier speaking on the internal affairs of Ethiopia and the Speaker made no ruling on that.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Well, if the Speaker allowed him to do so, then I will not stop you. Carry on, Mr. Ogle.

Mr. Ogle: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Ethiopia is a country where the ruler is an Emperor who claims to be elected by God. Ethiopia is a country where the people claim they have been removed by the amendment. I did not oppose this but accepted it on the understanding that, before the changes are made, we shall be consulted. I am sure that if we are consulted we shall find the best way of bringing about these changes.

If the changes are made, Sir, I am sure that there will be harmony and peace in these three affected districts, because, as I said, we are not claiming any land, we are not refuting any boundary which was demarcated by the commission; all we are seeking is the best way of working harmoniously together with these two neighbouring districts.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I do not think I have to labour much on this, but all I wanted to impress on the Government is that if this is implemented quickly, if we are consulted, I am sure that the whole trouble will be removed.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, in closing I would ask the hon. Members who have sought to bring another amendment on this Motion to bring Motions concerning their particular areas, and I can assure them of my support which will be wholehearted, because, as I said, this problem was different from their problems. But as I appreciate their problems, I will be willing to support them on their Motions concerning their particular areas.

Mr. Speaker, I do not think I have anything to add and therefore I beg to move.

(Question of the Motion as amended put and agreed to)

Resolved accordingly:

THAT in view of the present overlapping of authority between the Murang'a County Council and Thika Administration in the former Thika District which is now part and parcel of the Murang'a County this House urges the Government to remove the overlapping jurisdiction between the Murang'a County Council and Thika District Administration, and if necessary to introduce such legislation as may be necessary for that purpose.

MOTION

BREAKING-OFF OF DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH ETHIOPIA

Mr. E. D. Godana: Mr. Speaker, I beg to move the following Motion:—

THAT in view of the deteriorating security position in Marsabit District whereby about ninety people were killed between 22nd October 1965 to 27th November 1965 by the

Shifita from Ethiopia and Somalia and escaped with about 30,000 head of cattle, 10,000 sheep and goats and 3,000 camel, this House calls upon the President to advise the Government to take appropriate measures:

- (1) To break off diplomatic relationship with Ethiopia, in view of the fact that most of the armed raiders come from Ethiopia.
- (2) To give urgent famine relief to all people concerned who lost their livestock in Marsabit District.
- (3) To arm all people over thirty-five years of age for self-defence against Ethiopia and Somali Shifita, since Government could not defend them.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, this is one of the most sad Motions which has been moved in this House, and I regret to say that this is most sad, because it has been so much noted by the people whom we represent within Marsabit District that they have been defenceless and have been left in the hands of raiders and looters, those who have been empowered by their Government.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, Ethiopia is supposed to be the mother of all African countries, but I regret that Ethiopia has been having a very much worse administration than the Johnson Government of America. Mr. Speaker, Sir, we have been writing, we have been asking and we have been approaching them personally, their officials, their embassies from 1961, 1962 and 1963, but nothing has been done so far. I regret to mention that Ethiopia is our motherland where my father originated, but today, with all due respect and with much concern, I am just calling on the Government to break off diplomatic relations with Ethiopia.

Mr. Speaker, I am just wondering who is here to reply to my Motion because I do not see the Minister for Home Affairs or the Assistant Minister.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Nyagah—perhaps you did not see—is sitting behind you.

Mr. E. D. Godana: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have just mentioned that Ethiopia is the mother of all African countries, but if today we look at what they are doing, the way they are raiding other neighbouring countries is becoming excessive, and we cannot tolerate this. Mr. Speaker, just to wait and listen or say that this is a friendly country. Mr. Speaker, for how long shall we say that this is a friendly country? I know this it is true that my father originated from there, but still we have some of our own people in Ethiopia, and that is why I am so much concerned. If I do not bring such an important Motion into this House, I will fail to do my duty as an elected Member or representative. So, Mr. Speaker, just to perform my duty, I have brought this Motion to this House to alert the Government and to inform them what is going on in the Marsabit District.

[Mr. E. D. Godana]

It would not be too much to mention that on 22nd October, in Marsabit District, at a place called Erade four people were killed and 10,000 head of cattle were taken away, 10,000 goats were taken away. Then, after one day, on 23rd October, thirty-four people were killed within the same area. Then 3,000 camels were taken away. In the next five days, the same Ethiopian raiders or tribesmen, fully armed, came and killed about five people, and they did not escape with any livestock. On the 6th November at a place called Balleza, in Marsabit District, they killed seven people without taking any livestock; they made off. At a place called Turbi, Somali Shifita killed seven people. I am sure our Government never took any initiative whatsoever, when so many people were killed, to trace these people or to track them.

Mr. Speaker, I have so much correspondence here which I have brought from local elders, county councillors, regional assembly members, as far as 1961, but I am more concerned, with when Kenya became independent, from June 1963. We wrote a letter to our Mzee, who was then Prime Minister, to ask him if he could give any assistance to those people concerned. May I quote the letter, Mr. Speaker?

"On 4th December 1963, Galubba tribesmen attacked a Gabra manyatta at . . . (Inaudible) which is within Marsabit District. They killed twenty-four persons. These include women, men and children. When this incident occurred, Government—that is, police and Administration in this region—took no steps to help these innocent people who have lost their lives and stock. They did not even follow the tracks of the raiders. The people who succeeded to run away from the attacked manyatta are now suffering with hunger because all their stock were taken by the raiders. For example, one of my members, who is a county councillor, Mr. . . . (Inaudible) twelve persons of his family died in this raid—this is, his father, mother, six sisters, four brothers—and all their stock were looted."

Mr. Speaker, how can I, if I am an elected Member, a representative of the people, just remain always quiet, to see the blood of innocent people flowing. How can I see people dying, being raided and brutally killed by people with no mercy, just people from the jungle?

Mr. Speaker, Sir, if I am not wrong, I would like to mention that the Ethiopian Government is the worst one we have today in Africa. I am sure those who have been to Ethiopia have seen what the city of Addis Ababa looks like, with the shanty buildings, dirty, full of beggars who are all over the streets, everywhere. When they come here, they think themselves very important and want a lot of priority to be given to them. They want to have big buildings, big offices, to be given land. They mentioned to us the other day, when the Emperor was here, that there will be no boundary between Kenya and Ethiopia. If I quote the Mzee, our President, he said, "You are just at home." He is telling the Emperor Haile Selassie, "You are at home, this is your land and soil." And what is the Emperor doing to help these innocent people? Who are these raiders who are fully armed, who come and raid our innocent women and children, who are helpless?

Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is not only the ninety people I have mentioned, from 1961, because I could not have some documents; my people are nomadic, they have different places. There are so many other people who have been killed in Marsabit District from 1963 up to December 1965; I am sure there are more than ninety people who have been killed, particularly from Ethiopia. There is no need, Mr. Speaker, for me just to see that we have a diplomatic relationship. I went to Ethiopia, in September 1964, and I met the Assistant Minister for Internal Affairs in Ethiopia. I mentioned all this to him, and asked what he would do. He told me that he would take drastic action, that he would see every possible action was taken, and there would be compensation for the Rendille people for all the raids, the cattle, camels, goats and sheep. Up to now nothing has been done. Then, we just came here and said we are now friendly countries, there is no boundary between us. We were told to feel at home with Ethiopia. We can never say that. So, let Government set us free so that we can defend ourselves with bows and arrows as our grandfathers used to do when they wanted to defend their homes or manyattas.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, so many people in Marsabit District are suffering today from hunger. They are roaming about in the towns, begging for 30 cents, 10 cents with which to buy a cup of tea. How can we give 1,000 people 50 cents, Sh. 1? I do not want to attack Ethiopia personally because this is where I have most of my friends and relatives.

parts of Kenya with such anomalies, and if necessary to introduce such legislation as may be necessary for that purpose.

Mr. Speaker, I beg to move.

Mr. amp Toor: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to second the amendment. I do not want to say much on it, but I think the purpose of it is to allow a wider range to the Motion so that the other parts of the country which have the same anomalies will also have to be considered. I will give one example, Sir, in my own area to support this amendment. You see, at the moment, we have the administration of the schemes which have recently been introduced, and it is not known who is to administer the affairs of the schemes, whether it is the district commissioner of the African areas, as they used to call them, or the settled areas. We do not know. So I think, Sir, if the other Members will support this amendment, then the Motion will allow so many parts of Kenya to be revised and all these anomalies to be removed.

Another example is that part of our areas between Trans Nzoia and Cherangani. Today the police who are in Cherangani come under the jurisdiction of the police in Kitale, and these police are, in fact, in my district. We do not know under whose jurisdiction these people come. Sometimes they say they are administered from Kitale; sometimes they say they are administered from Tumbach, which is the headquarters of the Elgeyo-Marakwet District. I think if we allow a wider range to this Motion, which is why my colleague, Mr. Kibuga, has moved his amendment to the amendment, we will be able to correct and rectify some of these anomalies which exist in most parts of the country.

With these few words, Sir, I beg to second the amendment to the amendment.

(Question of the amendment to the amendment, that the words proposed to be inserted be inserted, proposed)

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think that debate on this, for which we only have three minutes left, should be confined to that particular question, of extending the scope of the Motion by adding those few words.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): Mr. Speaker, Sir, on behalf of the Minister of State, I would like to say that the Government finds it impossible to accept this amendment, simply because if the Government does accept the proposed amendment by the hon. Mr. Kibuga it will invite a lot of problems where they do not at the moment exist. Mr. Speaker, I think that so far, what the two speakers have said implies that there are some confusions in other parts of Kenya, but these confusions in my opinion are not of the same nature as the confusions which exist in the Thika District. These are a matter of boundaries; and this Motion, as originally proposed, Sir, does not discuss the question of boundaries.

As you know already, there is a commission which is sitting until some time around December and I would like the hon. Members who have difficulties regarding boundaries in their own constituencies to submit memoranda or appear before this commission to give their views so that this commission can consider adjusting the boundaries of their respective areas.

But, Sir, on this Thika question—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, Mr. Mutiso, I said that we can only debate now, at this time, the desirability of enlarging the scope of the Motion by this particular amendment proposed by Mr. Kibuga. Actually, it is, in any event, time now for the Mover to reply, so we must dispose of all these amendments and call on the Mover.

(Question of the amendment to the amendment, that the words proposed to be inserted be inserted, put and negatived)

(Question of the second part of the amendment proposed)

(Question of the second part of the amendment, that the words proposed to be inserted be inserted, put and agreed to)

(Question of the Motion as amended proposed)

Mr. Kagga: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I must thank all the hon. Members who have contributed very effectively to this debate on this Motion. Again I must thank the hon. Ministers, the Member for Kangema, the Member for Kiharu, the Member for Kigumo, for supporting this Motion.

Further, Mr. Speaker, I thank the Government very much for accepting this Motion as amended because I feel that although the Motion was amended the substance of the Motion was not removed.

Mr. Speaker, I would also like to say why personally I oppose the other amendment from my friend, Mr. Kibuga. While I agree that there are some other anomalies in other districts; I am convinced that this anomaly in Thika District is quite peculiar to this place; and while I appreciate and sympathize with other complaints, I said from the beginning, when I was moving that I would not like the Government or the House to regard this Motion as other Motions that have been moved, calling for the revision of boundaries. In this Motion, Mr. Speaker, we are not claiming any land; we have no quarrel with any other district as far as demarcation is concerned. All we are asking is the removal of the overlapping between the county and the administration.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I would say that this is peculiar to this district, and I am glad that the Government has drawn attention to this, so that this problem, which is worrying our three districts, is not confused with all other problems in other areas.

Now, Sir, having said that, I would like to point out to the Government that, although I accepted the removal of the word "confusion", this does not mean that there is no confusion. As the other Members have pointed out, there is a terrible confusion and, as a result of this, I would like the Government to implement this Motion as soon as possible so that this confusion is removed. I would like to repeat a bit of what I said concerning the confusion in the Kanu organization. We know very well, Sir, that Kanu is the ruling party in this country, and whenever we have elections, either county elections or those for the House of Representatives or the area councils, the Kanu branches in the areas concerned nominate candidates for these elections. In these areas we always have difficulties; and since we are now approaching county council elections in Murang'a and, I think, Kiambu also, we are bound to have the same confusions, because we will have Kanu, Murang'a, branch nominating candidates in those areas because they belong to Murang'a County Council. It will not be surprising to have different candidates nominated by Kanu, Thika branch, for the same areas, and for the same seats. This is bound to bring confusion.

Therefore, I would ask the Government to see to it that something is done at least before June because that is the time we are expecting county council elections in those areas. As the hon. Minister has pointed out, I agree that there are some changes that could be made administratively before the Government introduces any legislation to change the Constitution, because I think that an administrative announcement is enough to extend the jurisdiction of the District Commissioner, Murang'a, through the whole of Murang'a County Council area; and if that is done, I think most of the confusion would be removed. I think the only thing that would need a change in the Constitution is the removal of Thika as a district; and I am sure that this can be done any time, and this House will definitely approve such an amendment of the Constitution to bring about this very necessary change.

Mr. Speaker, I think if this Motion is implemented as soon as possible, it will remove all this conflict, and, as I said in my opening speech, it will accelerate the development of these various areas which are very much neglected, just as they used to be during the colonial times. I say that all these former settled areas are occupied by African squatters and workers who have no say in these areas. They have no property in these areas, and, as a result, nobody cares to consult them; nobody cares for their development because the settlers in those areas are happy already, they have everything they want and so they are not interested in any further development as far as the African people in those areas are concerned. But if the District Commissioner of Murang'a is given jurisdiction over this area, with the direction of the elected Members and of the County Council of Murang'a, he will see to it that our African brothers in these areas are advanced in various ways, educationally and otherwise.

It is for this reason, Mr. Speaker, that we feel strongly about this. You can see from the books about economy that the Thika District is a very rich one; but when you go to see who is rich in this particular so-called district, it is the settlers; and the poor Africans are very poor, they are kicked out from their jobs any time the settler wishes and they have no way of advancing their prospects.

It is because of this that we demand very strongly this change so that we see that these people living in the former settled areas are put on the same level as their brothers living in the so-called African land units.

The last point I would like to make, Mr. Speaker, is this. It is all right for the Government to accept the Motion but it would be wrong if the Government decided to remove these anomalies without consulting the Members from the Murang'a District and also the county council and also those from Kiambu. Therefore, I would suggest to the Government that, before it decides how to remove the anomalies, it should arrange for a meeting between the Murang'a Members and Kiambu Members of Parliament and also the members of the county council, so that we may suggest the ways and means whereby these anomalies could, in our view, be removed. I had suggested, Sir, in my original Motions the ways in which the Government should act, and some of these ways were the respective areas and help towards the development of this country.

It is fact, Mr. Speaker, Sir, as my hon. friend, Mr. Kibuga said, that we have seen here people from the Western Province and such places complaining of the same thing. Therefore, Sir, I would again like to request the Government when they go into this matter concerning Kiambu and Murang'a, to go into the whole thing so that they can get this country moving smoothly, because if we do not do this, Sir, today, it is a fact that for one reason or another it will be done tomorrow but not in such a harmonizing way as it will be done today. It may, Sir, be done in a different way. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I believe that it is a matter of power, even to elect somebody to represent them, they are being elected on his or her merit. It is not a question of thinking that if there is confusion one will gain power, because the power gained through confusion or revolution does not last long, because the people know very well how to adjust things.

Therefore, I very much support the fact that Thika should not be known much longer as a district, but that it should be known as a municipality and that one part should go to Kiambu and the other part go to Murang'a.

Mr. Speaker, I beg to support the Motion.

The Assistant Minister for Local Government (Mr. Njiru): Mr. Speaker, Sir, in supporting this amendment I would just like to say a few words. The point I would like to make is about the confusion which has been created. According to the county councils regulations the decision was made whereby the county council, Kiambu and Murang'a divided the area. At present, Mr. Speaker, Sir, the District Commissioner, Thika, is always interfering with the authority, whereas the county councils are always getting the taxes and everything. In supporting this amendment, Mr. Speaker, Sir, it goes back to the years when we were fighting imperialism and the Europeans and Africans were supposed to stay in one area. Mr. Speaker, Sir, when the Kanu governing councils of Kiambu and Murang'a met they made a decision that they must make sure that the country is working according to the geographical set-up.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Government now has decided to make this amendment, in order to remove all the confusion that has been going on. But, Sir, there is one thing which I would like to urge the Government and that is that we do not want this amendment just to go down in HANSARD, we want the work to be done immediately.

With these few words, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to appeal very strongly that this amendment be implemented without delay. With these few words, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I support the amendment.

The Assistant Minister for Lands and Settlement (Mr. Gachago): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am very grateful to the hon. Member for Kandara for having brought this Motion to the House and also equally grateful to the Minister; to the Minister in charge of administration, for having shown his tendency to agree and to accept that there exists a confusion, though in his amendment he has proposed the deleting of the word "confusion". Mr. Speaker, Sir, the confusion exists in this Motion in a very big way.

First of all, Mr. Speaker, Sir, the confusion exists from the point of view of administration. Mr. Speaker, Sir, since the commission, that was charged with the duty of giving the boundaries of the various constituencies, saw it fit to divide the former Thika District into the various districts that existed then because they had in mind that the Thika District itself was created for the sole purpose of protecting the interests of the settlers in the area and in an independent Kenya if a Thika District existed it means that we are also trying to protect the interests of the settlers in the settled area without thinking of the African people who have won this independence. Therefore, Sir, I am very glad that the commission saw this, and instead of demarcating constituencies in the Thika District, a part of Thika District was added on to what is now my constituency of Murang'a District. Then, Sir, one area was demarcated into what is now known as Gatundu, Thika Constituency, which is represented by our hon. President. Various parts of the former districts went to other constituencies like Yatta, the constituency represented by my hon. colleague, the Member for Yatta, and another went, as we heard from the hon. Member for Githunguri, to Githunguri.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Thika District as such ceased to exist. Now, Sir, when we appeal to the President and say that since the Thika District has ceased to exist, what are we going to do. Are we still going to have a district commissioner at Thika, or are we still going to have a county council at Thika?

Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, a number of former settlers who were really advocating and who were diehards during the colonial days, started and they started saying that there must be a Thika County Council, which resulted in a hurly-burly issue, political confusion, and administrative confusion, but, Sir, I am glad to say that the whole thing was later dissolved by our great President when he said that we cannot maintain the monopoly or the safeguards that the former European settlers wanted. If they want to live in Kenya, then some of them must learn to live with the people of Murang'a and others must learn to live with the people of Kiambu and Machakos and the hon. President decided that there would only be the Murang'a County Council and Kiambu County Council and the boundary thereof was to be the Chania River. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am surprised that my hon. friend, the Minister for Defence, is walking out of the Chamber, because he said that he wanted to hear what I had to say but I can assure him that I will tell the truth.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, Sir, the hon. President declared that in the interests of the people of Kenya, the Thika County Council would not exist, and parts of the Thika District went to Murang'a to form the Murang'a County Council and the other parts went to Kiambu to form the Kiambu County Council. I think, Sir, what happened after that was that this job proved to be excellent and the President must be congratulated for doing this, but there was a job which was left uncompleted, because after demarcating the county areas, Murang'a and Kiambu, there still remained a district commissioner in Thika. Now, Sir, the administrative area of that district commissioner was left hanging in the air over Kiambu and Murang'a County, and it is very unfair to the people of Murang'a and to the people of Kiambu, because the Thika District Commissioner tends always to try and safeguard the interests of the former colonial district which was known as the Thika District. Mr. Speaker, Sir, we have difficulties in running the local Government, which is the Murang'a County Council because of the interferences of the district administration in Thika, which does not have the same ideas of administering as those of Murang'a and Kiambu.

Now in Kanu, there also we have difficulties in that people adhere to what was the former Thika District and call themselves a separate Kanu branch, and this Kanu branch should also cease to exist.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I would conclude that the continued existence of Thika District as an administrative area is a continuation of what is a colonial legacy, and I think it should be wiped out completely, as soon as possible, so as to establish Murang'a Administrative District to cover the county area, Kiambu Administrative District to cover the county area, and leave alone our nice, beautiful Municipality of Thika. If they then want to form a branch of Kanu in the Municipal area, they should be free to do so.

But, Sir, what is important, because of the amount of confusion that is being brought about by this issue, is the urgency with which this should be expedited. As the hon. Minister for Labour said, speaking as Member for Kangema, this is not something that can be left until the necessary legislation has been enacted. There is something which can be done administratively today by announcing that Murang'a Administrative District is extended to the county area, and also the Kanu branch in Murang'a is extended to cover the county area, so that those two groups, the Murang'a Administration, the county council, and Kanu, can work together to develop that district and to develop all the facilities that are required by the people of Murang'a in the interests of the people of Murang'a.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I beg to support very strongly the Motion and also the amendment which was brought by the hon. Minister of State.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I would suggest that hon. Members allow me to put now the question of the words being left out, so that there will be just time, still for the House to consider Mr. Kibuga's proposed further amendment.

(Question of the second part of the amendment, that the words to be inserted, be inserted, proposed)

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Kibuga, would you now formally move your amendment?

Mr. Kibuga: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I wish to move my amendment so that the Motion covers a wider range by adding, after the word "Administration" the words "or any other parts of Kenya with such anomalies" so that the whole Motion will read:

THAT in view of the present overlapping of authority between the Murang'a County Council and Thika Administration in the former Thika District which is now part and parcel of the Murang'a County, this House urges the Government to remove the overlapping jurisdiction between the Murang'a County Council and Thika District Administration, or any other

[The Minister for Labour]

The other matters are purely administrative, and now that the Minister of State in charge of administration has accepted the Motion as amended, I hope that this will be done immediately, so that the District Commissioner in Murang'a can now cover the whole area. At present although we have agreed to remove the word "confusion" in order that the language may appear to be more polished, the fact is that the place is confused, because if a man wants to stand for a county council seat in Murang'a and he is in Mitubiri, he wants the Kanu in the area to support him, and then somebody comes and says the Kanu in that part should be under the Municipality of Thika. The whole thing is very confused, but I am glad that the Government has agreed to it. I have, personally, exchanged correspondence with the Minister of State on this matter and I hope that this administrative side of the solution which can be done without waiting for legislation can be effected without delay.

I support the Motion as amended.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I stand to support the amendments which have been put forward in order to normalize the conditions of Murang'a and Kiambu.

It is a fact that the former Thika District is today non-existent in terms of a district, but we are made to believe that there is a Thika District. Mr. Speaker, we have been in the Central Province victims of this sort of arrangement whereby Kirinyaga District is considered to be equal to Thika District, and Thika District, Mr. Speaker, is part of Gatundu Constituency and of Kiharu Constituency. Even if mere common sense is to be considered, it was a mistake to accept that Thika should be a district. Thika ceased to be a district, but for various reasons, that people wanted to have an additional Senator for the— I will put it point blank. It was because of Kadu's and Kanu's problems that we had to have more Senators for Kanu and less Senators for Kadu, so that we could rule this country. But now, Mr. Speaker, there are no Kanus, there are no Kadus, we are all nationalists in this country, and the Kanus are finished, the Kadus are finished, we are now nationalists of Kenya. That being the case, there is no fear that in the Senate we need an additional Senator to keep a balance this side or that side.

I would suggest, Mr. Speaker, that under a new amendment to the Constitution Thika should be written off from the history of the district in this country. In the Kanu set-up in our own area we find it difficult, when we hear there is Thika. There is nothing like Thika, Mr. Speaker, it is Gatundu, which is Kiambu District. It is Kiharu, which is Murang'a District. Then why should we have these anomalies kept there?

There is another thing, Mr. Speaker, that, if we can find out an answer to the problem that confronts the Kiambu people, the Murang'a people, I believe, Sir, that we should equally try to get an answer to other problems in the country. In this respect, Mr. Speaker, there is an anomaly existing also in Kirinyaga District, whereby by sheer lack of historical background of our country the gentlemen who were sent from London to give us the constituencies, the regions, did make a mistake. It was not their own mistake, it was sheer confusion that was existing, that some Ministers in this House, who are today in the Kenya Government, said they could not live together with the Kikuyu. I am afraid to say, Mr. Speaker, Sir, that those Ministers who were then mere Members of the Legislative Council are today very close colleagues of the Kikuyu, the leader of the nation, Mzee Jomo Kenyatta. Yet they said they could not associate themselves with the Kikuyu, and today they are saying, "We love you, Mzee, we are the custodians of your own Government."

If they can live together today and in the past they could not live together, I believe, Sir, because of the changed conditions, the anomalies that were created by the sheer confusion, created by a people who were after power then, should be corrected equally. Here we have the Mwea issue where a portion of our own area is in Embu. The district commissioner for those people is in Embu, the district officer in Kerugoya and they go there for cases in my own area, because to go to Embu is so many miles: an overlapping problem again. To go to the police it is so many miles that the policemen can never reach there. So it has been thought to let them have the police services in my own area, the court arrangements in my own area. Why should we have all these overlapping arrangements, when my county council pays for the services in the area where these people are being served and yet these anomalies cannot be changed. I suggest, Mr. Speaker, Sir, that when we correct this Murang'a/Kiambu anomaly, the Embu/Kirinyaga anomaly should be corrected, and the Kitale anomaly, I think, too, should be corrected. We aim at peace. There is nothing else, and there is nothing more expensive today than peace. To maintain peace, law and order means a lot. We should aim at minimum expenditure in terms of human pains and to get that much we have to correct the anomalies that were created unnecessarily by people who never knew that they were creating a problem. They did it in good faith, but we have proved that it was a mistake and this mistake should be corrected.

[Mr. Gichoya]

With these few words, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to support.

Mr. Kamau: Mr. Speaker, Sir, first of all, I must congratulate my colleague, the hon. Member for Kandara, Mr. Kaggia, for bringing this Motion at the right time.

Also, I would like to thank the Government for accepting this Motion. I will speak from personal experience. As has already been stated, although the word "confusion" has been amended, it is clear, Mr. Speaker, Sir, that we people who are living in Kiambu and Murang'a are very much worried as to what will be the consequence of this overlapping district.

Now, Sir, for the information of this House, I should only say that I am the Member for Gihunguru Constituency which runs almost right down to Ruiru and then we have a boundary with His Excellency the President at Ndarugu, which is Gatundu. Recently, when the Kanu branch was formed at Ruiru, there was confusion at that time as to whether the office would work together with Thika District or with Kiambu. This has made us send many delegations to His Excellency the President, Mzee Kenyatta, to alleviate this confusion.

It has also happened, Mr. Speaker, Sir—many people might have taken a very great interest to hear this—the hon. Assistant Minister, the Member for Kiharu, at some time had a collision with people at Thika during a Kanu rally. Some alleged that he was interfering with their right, in their district, and those people were alleged to come from Kiambu.

Now, Sir, we used to call it confusion, but as long as the Government now has agreed, I think this is going to be overcome. I would like to say, Sir, as any other hon. Members and also as Mr. Kibuga put it, that this time the Government should take this chance, not only to examine the Thika dispute, but to also examine the disputes throughout the country, because at this stage we know, Sir, what is happening in the other areas of the African States, and it is not difficult for this to happen in Kenya. We know, Sir, that when the country is divided into small areas it is likely to be the subject of a political coup d'état. Mr. Speaker, Sir, some people say, that if they fight, then they will become the chairman of the party branch in that particular area; and then probably tomorrow they will influence the people and take over the Government. Mr. Speaker, Sir, if we had returned this country to right, before the imperialists divided this through a political manoeuvre, and have the district corrected, then I think that we will not have any more trouble in this country.

This, Sir, is a very simple illustration. Recently, Sir, as a Member for that area, I called a meeting at Ruiru in order that people may subscribe money towards the Famine Relief Fund, which was sent direct to the President and the Minister for Home Affairs for the National Relief Fund. But, Sir, for your information, it was only on the spur of the moment that I saw that a different delegation, without my knowledge that they had changed in my absence, took it to the District Commissioner, Thika, but where the district commissioner took it, I do not know to this day. Now, Sir, what I would like to suggest very, very strongly is that we remove the District Commissioner from Thika, and that the two parts should be divided equally as was done formerly, one part to go to Murang'a and another part to go to Kiambu. There is no point in saying that the Government is going to see to it that the necessary registration is done, because it is we who know the difficulties of the area.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to suggest that from today this part should be known as Murang'a and Kiambu administered by the county councils of the respective districts. This is necessary so that we get our fair share, so that we will be administered by the District Commissioner, Kiambu, and by the District Commissioner, Murang'a. For the information of the House, Mr. Speaker, Sir, had it not been for His Excellency, Mzee Jomo Kenyatta, who is the President of this Republic today, there would not have been any other constituency which suffered conflict other than Gatundu. Why? Because Gatundu is within Thika and it is also within the President's constituency. So many try to interfere with that area. Maybe they thought that the President is not the President for that area and therefore he cannot fight for his area. I think, Sir, that it is high time in this House we resolved that Thika is no longer a district, but a municipality under the jurisdiction of Kiambu, then North Chania will be under the administration of Murang'a, and with this all the unscrupulous fellows who try to cause misunderstanding will be stopped and we shall be able to develop these areas for the benefit of the people who have been living as squatters for centuries and centuries and then those other people; the capitalists who have been monopolizing Thika and causing all this confusion, will now know where they stand. The revenue from this area, at any time, will go to [Mr. Kibuga] same jurisdiction. We do not want one individual, a representative of an area, going to Murang'a and then he is directed to Thika to solve some problem; or going to Kiambu and then being directed to Thika. One should go to one part and then finish everything.

I remember one time there was a meeting somewhere to be held by one of the Members from Murang'a County, a Member of Parliament, and some people in Thika objected to his going there because of this confusion. So there is no doubt that if the Government removed this double jurisdiction, the affairs of Thika, Kiambu and Murang'a would be administered properly.

Well, if Machakos is affected, I am not yet aware of this, but the hon. Member is probably better informed.

In trying to solve this problem, Mr. Speaker, Sir, we must take into consideration the wish of the people of the area. It would be wrong to go and impose a decision on the people living there. So I hope that when the Government starts to try to solve this problem, it will try to seek the opinion of the people in those areas, some former parts of Thika, which are now in Kiambu and some parts of Murang'a which formerly used to be part of Thika.

In doing this, we shall be solving the problems of Kenya and not just making ourselves happy.

Because of this, Sir, I wish to support the amendment because both the amendment and the original Motion seek to solve the same things; but the amendment does not bring in some of the words in the original Motion which are probably not really in keeping with our standards here. I think if then our problems could be solved without bringing any annoyance to anyone, that would be most welcome. In supporting this amendment, I would like to propose a further amendment, because Murang'a and Kiambu and Thika are affected but it would be wrong to assume that only these three are affected at the present time.

Recently, we had a case of some hon. Members from Western and Nyanza Provinces bringing some problems of jurisdiction, some people saying this part should belong here and the others saying no. I would say that also in Kirinyaga and Embu, my friends in Embu and our people in Kirinyaga have always had some difficulties over the Mwaa issue. The County Council of Kirinyaga still goes to work on the Mwaa Plain and sends people there because the land belongs to it. But the administration of the area is in Embu. So we do not want this confusion in the country, and we would prefer that things are solved as regards Thika and any other part of the country.

Therefore, Sir, I would propose that in the second line of the amendment, after the word "Administration", we should insert the following words: "or any other parts of Kenya with such anomalies", so that the Motion would read:

THAT in view of the present overlapping of authority between the Murang'a County Council and Thika Administration in the former Thika District which is now part and parcel of the Murang'a County, this House urges the Government to remove the overlapping jurisdiction between the Murang'a County Council and Thika District Administration, or any other parts of Kenya with such anomalies, and if necessary to introduce such legislation as may be necessary for that purpose.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, it would be wrong for the Government to take things for granted, saying, "Because there is a certain problem somewhere, let us not touch it." This now is our Government. If the British Government failed to solve certain problems in Kenya, we now have our own Government, and it is up to our popularly elected Government to see to it that all such confusion in the country is removed. If we do this, the people living in Murang'a, the people living in Thika Municipality, the people living in Kiambu, will be happy.

We do not want somebody to go and hold a meeting somewhere and say, "This is my district," and someone else says, "No, this is not your district, it belongs to So-and-so." The Thika and Kiambu and Murang'a people are all brothers, but when such overlapping authority is introduced, things become very difficult. In fact, there would not be any difficulties if this was done; problems would be solved quite easily. But while this double jurisdiction remains, there will always be confusion, and we do not want this, Sir.

I would also add that in Kirinyaga and Embu, people are very friendly, they live happily but—

QUORUM

Mr. Muliro: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I do not think we have a quorum here now.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, no quorum, ring the Division Bell.

(The Division Bell was rung)

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): We have a quorum now. You may proceed, Mr. Kibuga.

Mr. Kibuga: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I was saying that this amendment is welcome and I hope that the original Mover of the Motion will not find it very difficult to accept it, because, although it covers a wider range of jurisdiction, although it covers a greater area than he originally proposed, his original wish for the problems between Murang'a and Thika to be solved will be met, and in solving these problems, the problem of Kiambu also will be solved. With that one, I think that some people think if we bring this Motion, widen it, it is going to bring a lot of problems throughout Kenya. What is wrong with solving problems if they are there? If we can solve the problems of Thika and Kiambu, why can we not solve the problems of the other areas of the country? If we solve the problems of one part of the country and we do not solve the problems of the other parts, the other people will be left complaining.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the person who was supporting me, Mr. arap Too, has not yet come, but I hope I can get a friend to second my amendment.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I see Mr. arap Too has reappeared; but, although I would not find your proposed amendment out of order, it is premature to move it, because the question we are now considering is simply that certain words are left out of the question. It is only if we resolve to leave those words out that we come to consider what words shall be inserted. It will be at that point that your amendment should be moved. I think as it is, to some extent, technically, I will allow you to move formally this amendment without any further speech after we have decided to leave certain words out, if we so decide.

The Minister for Labour (Dr. Kiano): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am very happy that this Motion has come to this House because, although we appreciate the reasoning by my colleague, the Minister of State, to ask us to leave out the word "confusion", and we therefore accept the amendment he has proposed to us, nevertheless there has been considerable confusion in the area because of the overlapping that my colleague from Murang'a, the hon. Mr. Kaggia, has mentioned.

The solution, however, is going to be a very simple one. It is true that some legislation may be necessary in order to finalize this problem, but there are also some administrative steps that can be taken almost immediately. The issue is not complicated at all, Mr. Speaker. When we introduced the county council system of local government, the old settler district Thika was finished. All the parts of the former Thika area, south of the Chania River became part of Kiambu County, and all the parts north of the Chania River—of the former Thika—became part of Murang'a County. All the Graduated Personal Tax and any other money collected today from those areas goes to the Kiambu County, and the Murang'a County respectively.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Dr. Kiano, I am sorry to interrupt you. At the start of your speech I would have asked you to state whether you are speaking for Government or for your constituency. I think you are speaking as a constituency Member, are you not?

The Minister for Labour (Dr. Kiano): I am speaking as a constituency Member, Sir.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Members always like to have that clear.

The Minister for Labour (Dr. Kiano): I am supporting the amendment proposed by my colleague, the Minister of State, and I have consulted with my friend, the hon. Member for Kandarā who has also assured me that he is accepting the amendment.

I was pointing out that when we introduced the county council system of Government, the old Thika ceased to exist. Even the councillors north of the Chania River in the old Thika area are now members of Murang'a County, and the councillors south of the Chania River are members of the Kiambu County. Therefore, we fail to understand why, while the counties have already been clarified, the district commissioners in those two districts have their jurisdiction limited.

We have also a rather peculiar situation which my colleague, the Member for Kiharu, will point out: that he has one constituency under two district commissioners. One part is under the District Commissioner of Murang'a and the other under the District Commissioner of Thika. The administrative solution that I was referring to is this. If, in accordance with the Motion as amended, we cover the administrative district to be the same as the county area, then we shall simply remove the District Commissioner in Thika. He is unnecessary. The Thika Municipality is within the Kiambu County. We can perhaps put a district officer there under the District Commissioner of Thika, and all the parts of Thika north of Chania come under the District Commissioner of Murang'a. This can even be done administratively. The only legislation necessary is simply to define the boundaries of our nice little Thika Municipality. That is all the legislation that is necessary.

The Assistant Minister for Natural Resources and Tourism (Mr. Mohamed): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. The answer is, no, Sir, because my Ministry is—

Mr. Oduya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, on a point of order, the Chair, I understand, ruled that the word, "Stooge" is not allowed in this Chamber. Why are some Members allowed to use the word "Stooge"?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! No hon. Member that I hear using that word gets away with it.

Mr. Mohamed: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the answer is, no, because my Ministry has no jurisdiction or control over land adjacent to the Marakwet Forest.

Mr. arap Too: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising out of this reply, would the Assistant Minister tell me under whose jurisdiction this land is, which is adjacent to the forest of Marakwet?

Mr. Mohamed: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I presume that it should come under the Ministry of Lands and Settlement or the Ministry of Agriculture.

Mr. arap Too: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising out of that reply, is the Assistant Minister aware, and if he is not, will the Assistant Minister tell me why the place in Marakwet, which he himself has seen, cannot be given to the Marakwet people who are very poor and have no land on which to live?

Mr. Mohamed: Mr. Speaker, Sir, if the hon. Member is speaking about excision of the forest, then, Mr. Speaker, Sir, when the Marakwet Forest was gazetted, great care was taken to exclude good farming land. It is for this reason that the boundaries of these forest areas are extremely tortuous. The land outside the forest is not at present well developed. As long as this is the case, my Ministry finds no justification to reconsider the boundaries of the forest which were so carefully aligned with the local people.

Mr. arap Too: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Assistant Minister said that the land adjacent to the Marakwet borders is not under the jurisdiction of his Ministry, but, Sir, he himself saw the forest boundaries which stretched far from the forest to the houses of the people. Will he tell me now, Sir, that if I ask the Marakwet people to live on this land which has no trees at all, and will he agree with me that if I ask these people to go and live on this land that it will be all right?

Mr. Mohamed: Mr. Speaker, Sir, as far as the land which is within the forest is concerned, if the hon. Member asked his people to go and live there, they would be trespassing, but if the land is outside the forest areas, then we have no jurisdiction over it.

Mr. Kamuren: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, would he tell this House whether he will make a trip to the area as soon as possible so as to remedy the situation as far as the people of Marakwet are concerned?

Mr. Mohamed: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have said many times in this House that excision of forest is a question which we have to consider very carefully. Sir, I think the hon. Members are looking at today only and not looking towards the future. Forest development is a very long-term plan and, as the population of the country increases, we will need more forest for various purposes, and it is for this reason that, as I have stated earlier on, there is land in that area which is not fully developed, and we do not see any justification in the request for excision in the forest areas.

EXPLOITATION OF MINERAL RESOURCES IN MASAI

Mr. Ndile asked the Minister for Natural Resources and Tourism if he would tell the House whether the Government was going to exploit the mineral resources found in Masai land, or whether these would be mined by private companies.

The Assistant Minister for Natural Resources and Tourism (Mr. Mohamed): I beg to reply. Presumably the hon. Member is referring to the recent Press report of the discovery of Wollastonite near Kajjado. The possibility of mining this mineral is still under study. After all the economic details are available, my Ministry will do everything possible to see that this mineral is exploited to the full.

I must state, however, that due to the extensive organization, the skilled personnel and large amounts of money required to exploit such a mineral, the Government does not propose to enter into mining by itself. The Government may participate in the mining enterprise as a partner with a mining company if this is in the public interest. On the other hand, mining companies with skilled men and financial resources may be encouraged to undertake mining provided the Government exercises a certain amount of control over such companies through legislation.

Mr. Ndile: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Assistant Minister tell the House the potential value of the non-precious minerals? What is the total amount, the worth of the non-precious minerals?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): That is another question, I think.

Mr. Jahari: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that many foreign companies have discouraged this finding and tried to play it down, saying that there is no market for this new discovery, would the Assistant Minister tell us what steps he is taking to find a market for this rich mineral found in Masailand recently?

Mr. Mohamed: Mr. Speaker, Sir, as I said in my reply, a very careful study is under way at this moment, and as soon as our findings are completed, both in terms of the quantities and the economic value, I would like to assure the hon. Member that my Ministry will do everything possible to see that this mineral is exploited.

DANGEROUS MINING HOLES AT SIGALAGALA

Mr. Murull asked the Minister for Natural Resources and Tourism whether he was aware that former gold miners at Sigalagala had left deep and dangerous holes unfilled, and if so, would he tell the House when they were going to be filled in.

The Assistant Minister for Natural Resources and Tourism (Mr. Mohamed): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. As far as my Ministry is aware, the gold mining excavations in the Sigalagala area were made secure by filling or fencing off some time ago. It is, however, possible that new holes might have appeared as a result of a collapse of the old mines. We would be grateful, therefore, if the hon. Member can let us know the exact locations of the holes he mentions and we will arrange for them to be inspected and made safe.

Mr. Agur: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, that most of these holes were filled in, would he agree with me that if he sends his team there, including also a visit to the Kamagambo area, he would find pits that have never been filled in and they remain a danger? Would he send his team to find out and fill them immediately?

Mr. Mohamed: Mr. Speaker, Sir, as I said in my reply, it is a prerequisite of all the mining companies that when they leave the mines, they fill in the holes; but if holes appear afterwards, as I said in my reply, this may be due to the collapse of the inside surface. However, I would like to assure the hon. Member that we will send an inspector round to have a look in that area.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Next order.

MOTION

JURISDICTION OF DISTRICT COMMISSIONER, THIKA

THAT in view of the present confusion and overlapping of authority between the Murang'a County Council and Thika Administration in the former Thika District which is now part and parcel of the Murang'a County, this House urges the Government to remove the confusion by extending the Murang'a District Commissioner's jurisdiction to the whole of Murang'a County area and restrict the jurisdiction of Thika District Commissioner to Thika Municipality, and to introduce such legislation for amendment of the Constitution as may be necessary for that purpose.

(Mr. Kaggia on 10th February 1966)

Amendment proposed:

THAT there be deleted—

- (a) the words "confusion and" in the first line; and
- (b) all words after the word "remove" in the fifth line; and that there be inserted after the word "remove" in the fifth line the words:—

the overlapping jurisdiction between the Murang'a County Council and Thika District Administration, and if necessary to introduce such legislation as may be necessary for that purpose.

(Minister of State on 10th February 1966)

(Resumption of debate on the first part of the amendment, "That the words proposed to be left out be left out", interrupted on 10th February 1966)

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): In this debate I would remind hon. Members that we have had thirty-two minutes, which means fifty-eight minutes to go. Mr. Kibuga was speaking and still has eight minutes.

Mr. Kibuga: Mr. Speaker, Sir, as I was saying yesterday, the confusion, or rather, the overlapping jurisdiction over Murang'a and Thika also affects Kiambu; in many meetings or many incidents there have been some difficulties over the solution of certain problems. I said that when, for example, we were reorganizing Kanu in the Central Province, when we reached Thika, Murang'a or Kiambu, it was very difficult to know where the elections would take place, what jurisdiction would be covered. So it is very necessary that if Thika is to remain it should be with certain jurisdiction and the District Commissioner and the Municipality should have the

(Dr. Kioko) Beatrice James from Kitui District, Paulina Gigali Luana from Kakamega, Miss Rachel Kishar Livoi also from Kakamega, Gasuta Naginda Njoroge from Kiambu, Nyazita Kirori from Kiambu, Esa Ahmed Bajuni from Lamu District, Eileen Jepso Kipkiri from Baringo District, Helen Achieng Amunga from Central Nyanza, Priscilla Mumbi wa Kibiru from Nakuru, Juliana Mutaba Makosi from Masaku and Lucy Murugi Kipchaga from Nyeri.

Mr. Arnyeni: Mr. Speaker, I see that there were no Wakisi girls there. Would the Minister tell this House why there was no Kisii girl in this list? Why are there so many Kikuyu and so many Luo?

Dr. Kioko: Mr. Speaker, Sir, there are not so many Kikuyu and so many Luo. The point is that we were training fifteen girls for leadership and from the applications we received, those are the ones we selected and we are not going to select leaders on the basis of geographic distribution.

Mr. Rurumban: Mr. Speaker, Sir, there has been a formality that when there is recruitment for the Youth Service, all Members of Parliament are informed. Will the Minister tell the House why, when this recruitment came about as Members of Parliament were not informed in this case?

Dr. Kioko: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in the first place I am very glad that this House is so interested in the continuation of the National Youth Service, contrary to the Motion of yesterday.

Mr. Speaker, let me say that the recruitment of women, as I said, has not been a general recruitment. We recruited a nucleus of fifteen girls who are being trained as leaders, but the Act itself says, "other members of the Service who must be male or female citizens of Kenya"—female or male. What we have done, as the hon. Member very well knows, is that at the beginning, the Members of Parliament themselves used to bring the recruits to the National Youth Service. Subsequently, this was changed, whereby district committees were set up, and this was announced here. If the hon. Member was not aware of the fact that we now have district committees that do the selection—they consist of a district commissioner, the Kanu chairman of the district, the community development officer in the district—I shall check the records and if he is a member, I shall let him know immediately, and we will apologize if he has not been notified.

Mr. Nyaberi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, can the Minister assure the House that such a thing will not go on so that Members do not have to complain that recruitment has not been done correctly?

Dr. Kioko: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have already stated that when we get a proper camp for the women's squads, the district committees that select recruits for the National Youth Service will be informed to send in the names of recruits, but we do not have a camp yet. We are just borrowing the training school from the Prisons Department for the time being.

Mr. arap Toor: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that we were told last time that there were very few Kalenjin who had been promoted in the National Youth Service, and again today the Minister says there is only one girl from the Kalenjin area, will he tell the House why there are no more girls in the National Youth Service from the Kalenjin area?

Dr. Kioko: Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is getting very common in this House for hon. Members to attack this evil known as tribalism, and yet the same people keep on complaining that their tribes are not represented! Either you are for tribalism or you are not for tribalism. But the point, however, is this. Among the very few—fifteen—leaders, one of them is from Baringo District. There are some areas which do not even have one, including my own district, Murang'a.

Mr. Ngala-Aboki: Mr. Speaker, Sir, will the Minister note and agree with me that, in future, when selection is taking place and he is considering provinces, he will make sure that South Nyanza is a separate whole district and Central Nyanza should not continue to have a bigger share?

Dr. Kioko: Mr. Speaker, Sir, with all due respect to my good friend, that is Majimboism.

REPORTING OF PUBLIC MEETINGS IN NYANZA

Mr. Oseku-Nyallick asked the Minister for Information and Broadcasting what information the Minister had to give the House on the reasons why his three sittings held on 15th, 16th and 23rd January 1966 had not been reported in any way.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Oreko): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. I must make it clear that no person has an automatic right to have his activities or words reported by the newspapers or by the Kenya News Agency or by the Voice of Kenya.

(The Minister for Information and Broadcasting) I cannot speak for the newspapers, whose decision to print or not to print any item is based upon their evaluation of it as an item of news.

The Kenya News Agency and the Voice of Kenya must also be governed basically by the question of news value. A further consideration which is taken into account is the question of whether an item is of constructive value to the country, as opposed to mud-slinging and unnecessary counter-criticisms.

Again, the nature of the language used by the hon. Member was not the sort which it is the policy of the Kenya News Agency to transmit. For example, part of the report relating to the hon. Member's speech said: "He warned against saboteurs and frustrated leaders holding unlawful secret meetings"—which, of course, we checked and found the contrary—"at night and writing threatening letters to those fighting for the public's demands."

The main theme of the statement in question was dismemberment and disunity of the present coherent Central Nyanza District which has received publicity in the past. On the whole, our policy on reporting is to avoid repetition.

Mr. Oseku-Nyallick: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, could he deny that in this House I have brought, on behalf of Nyanza people a Motion for the division of Central Nyanza, and when it was alleged that it was my own making, I went to find out whether it was the desire of the people or not? Was that something in the way of sabotage, to find out whether the people were supporting my contention to bring such a Motion? Was that something contrary to Government policy? Would the Minister tell me why this was not reported?

Mr. Achieng-Oreko: Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is not my business to discuss whether a Motion has been brought to the House or not. What we did, in fact, is this. When this Motion was brought, it was reported in the normal way as one of the matters discussed in this House. But it is not my business to help the hon. Member put across his views to his constituency.

Mr. Oseku-Nyallick: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, would he deny the fact that I was informed at the Kisumu head office by somebody in charge that instructions came from Nairobi not to report anything that I said in that meeting? Would the Minister deny this?

Mr. Achieng-Oreko: I deny very strongly, Sir, that the allegation is true and, in fact, our office in Nairobi had received this report, and I have just quoted part of it.

Mr. Ngala-Aboki: Mr. Speaker, Sir, since this is a specific allegation, that the Member was told that instructions came from Nairobi, and since this is an allegation which should be investigated, what disciplinary action will be taken against the staff at Kisumu who misreported the Ministry of Information? If the Ministry of Information is found to have given instructions, what should be done to the Minister; should his resignation be called for?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Since the Minister has already denied that any such thing happened, I think your supplementary is rather out of place.

Mr. Agar: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Minister agree with me that there is an impression now in Central Nyanza that people who are against the separation of districts into two districts are also within the Ministry of Information, and they are the ones trying to suppress the expression or the publication of news of support of separation of the district into two?

Mr. Achieng-Oreko: No, Sir.

Mr. Oseku-Nyallick: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, could he deny the fact that on the 15th and 16th for the said meeting I had full coverage on the information and when I checked up at the Kisumu office I found that a copy was teleprinted and sent to Nairobi, but no news at all was broadcast on that day? Could the Minister tell me why the news was taken down at Kisumu by his office, and eventually, when it came to Nairobi, nothing at all was heard?

Mr. Achieng-Oreko: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the hon. Member is defeating himself because he has just told the House that somebody said in Kisumu that there was instruction not to transmit, and now he is telling us that it was teleprinted.

RELEASE OF MARAKWET FOREST FOR SETTLEMENT

Mr. arap Toor asked the Minister for Natural Resources and Tourism whether in view of the fact that there were so many poor people in Marakwet District and in view of the fact that most of them, lived in areas where life and agricultural progress had proved impracticable, the Minister would consider making some of the good land adjacent to the Marakwet Forests available for settling these people.

[Minister of State, President's Office]

Government to remove the overlapping jurisdiction between the Murang'a County Council and Thika District Administration and, if necessary, to introduce such legislation as may be necessary for that purpose.

Mr. Speaker, this amendment has, in fact, preserved the gist of the Motion and I hope the House will be saved the trouble of debating this Motion at length since we are in sympathy with the Motion.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move the amendment.

The Assistant Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. Nyagah) seconded.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): In discussion of that we can combine the debate with the debate on the main question.

Mr. Kibuga: Mr. Speaker, Sir, this is a very important Motion and I happen to be concerned about it because one time, during the reorganization of Kanu in the Central Province, I came up against this problem. There was the confusion that the people of Murang'a said, "If we are to elect Kanu officials, we must elect Kanu officials to include the area sometimes controlled by Thika District." It was the same thing with Kiambu.

When it came to Thika, some people within the former Thika District also claimed that they should be the officials of the areas in Murang'a. In many cases, one finds that when meetings are being held, either within the jurisdiction of Murang'a or within the jurisdiction of Thika, one wonders exactly where one is. So, if one is to remove this confusion, a clear-cut decision has to be made by the Government to restrict Thika District jurisdiction within Thika Municipality and then the other part goes to Murang'a, the other part goes to Kiambu, as the present county council-rules go; or, if they cannot do that, they will have to find out what the opinion of the people in those areas is, and they would have to do something. Either they must revert to the old method of Thika District, which is not acceptable to some people, or the new method of where the County Council of Murang'a, takes all the area within or the County Council of Kiambu takes the area within, and becomes the County Council of Murang'a, the County Council of Kiambu. Also, when it comes to the district commissioner's jurisdiction, he also controls those areas.

It is very difficult, Mr. Speaker, Sir, because some of the problems being dealt with by the district commissioner may be the same as the ones being dealt with by the county councils. If a person has to go to Murang'a to deal with his problems, he may find that, as regards some other matters, for half of what he wants, he has to travel miles and miles to Thika to find out the solution, this becomes a great confusion.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Have you much more to say, Mr. Kibuga? You can continue tomorrow.

Mr. Kibuga: Yes, I would like to continue tomorrow, Mr. Speaker. Thank you.

ADJOURNMENT

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It is time for the interruption of business now. The House is, therefore, adjourned until tomorrow, Friday, 11th February at 9 a.m.

WRITTEN REPLY TO QUESTION

Question No. 174 (a)

LOANS TO CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETIES, CENTRAL NYANZA

Mr. Bala asked the Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development how much money the Minister was going to lend to the various co-operative societies in Central Nyanza in the current financial year.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): Cotton growers' co-operative societies in Central Nyanza District are eligible for seasonal loan funds for cotton development.

This fund, which has now been increased from £100,000 to £200,000, is operated by the Cotton Lint and Seed Marketing Board, through the Agricultural Finance Corporation.

During 1964/65 cropping season, cotton growers' co-operative societies in Central Nyanza received loans totalling £11,043 for cotton cultivation and pest control. This money is due to be recovered in full during the current cotton buying season. The extent to which these societies will participate in the £51,000 fund already allocated to Nyanza Province for 1966 seasonal loans, will largely depend on the successful recovery of previous loans.

Development loans are also being given to sugar production societies in the Nyanza sugar belt. These are tied up with cane production programmes within the zones of the various sugar mills. Already, the Chemelil Sugar Development Company is granting loans to co-operative societies in the Luo and Nandi Tribal Land Units. It is hoped to introduce similar schemes for the Miwani and Muhoroni areas.

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Question No. 295

STRENGTH OF THE KENYA NAVY

Mr. Bahala asked the Minister for Defence if he would tell the House what the present strength of the Kenya Navy was.

The Minister for Defence (Dr. Mungai): Mr. Speaker, Sir, no intelligent nation ever gives the strength of her armed forces and Kenya belongs to this group of nations.

Mr. Agari: Mr. Speaker, Sir, although agreeing with the Minister that this kind of information should not be given, would the Minister tell us how many vessels we have, since they are simple things that nobody is interested in?

Dr. Mungai: Mr. Speaker, Sir, all I can assure the hon. Members over here is that Kenya will have cause to be very proud of her navy.

Mr. arap Soli: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Minister tell the House, whether this improvement has been carried out recently, as far as this is concerned?

Dr. Mungai: Mr. Speaker, Sir, there is always improvement in our armed forces all the time.

Mr. Jahazi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that the Kenya Navy is a young navy and the Minister only started recruiting, maybe one year ago, can he assure the House that the recruiting programme is still continuing, or whether the number is sufficient and he is no longer recruiting?

Dr. Mungai: Continuing according to plan.

Mr. Gichoya: Arising from what the Minister has just stated, Mr. Speaker, would the Minister assure this House that the system of recruitment will be changed so that in each district there will be a chance for young people to join the navy?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! That is too remote from this question. I think this is a rather barren pursuit. We will go on to the next question.

Question No. 273

WOMEN IN THE KENYA NATIONAL YOUTH SERVICE

Mr. Otero-Sar asked the Minister for Labour if he would tell the House—

(a) when the women in the National Youth Service had been selected; and

(b) how many from each constituency.

The Minister for Labour (Dr. Kiako): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. No general recruitment of women from constituencies has yet taken place, pending the acquisition of a camp for them. It is hoped that recruitment will be able to start during the next few months, when it will be conducted through the regular machinery of district recruiting committees in all parts of Kenya, in the same way as with the men.

During the month of September 1965, the Prison Training School kindly permitted its facilities to be used for the training of fifteen girls to form a nucleus of leadership material to assist in the day-to-day administration of the women's unit when it is formed.

With the assistance of the Administration in the districts, fifteen girls were selected who possessed K.P.E. or some qualification such as a knowledge of agriculture, tailoring, typing or nursing. These girls have been given training since 12th October 1965.

Mr. Otero-Sar: Mr. Speaker, Sir, will the Minister tell the House from which district or provinces did these girls come from?

Dr. Kiako: Mr. Speaker, Sir, yes, Sir. In fact, not only will I say where they come from, but I will give their names, too, in case you know some of them.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the young women are Miss Joyce Gakir Samuel from Meru District, Miss Sylvia, daughter of David Oloo from Central Nyanza, Miss — Mr. Speaker, Sir, there are forty-two districts in the country and the girls are only fifteen. Miss Posila Anyango Mwei from South Nyanza, Miss Agatha Wilson from [Mr. Kaggin] sub-branches there regard themselves as if they belong to the Murang'a Kanu Branch, because they are in the Murang'a County, while the officials of Kanu at Thika Township continue to claim that this part belongs to them, because they have a branch as we have. Now this conflict has continued up to the present moment and it becomes very difficult for some members of Kanu, let us say some are limited, near Maragwa, to come all the way to Thika Township as the headquarters of their branch, which is very difficult.

The other difficulty, Mr. Speaker, is the question of ordinary administration. Now the whole area which belongs to the Murang'a County Council, we find that most of the people living in that area, the Africans I mean, are experiencing difficulty in having their grievances or problems solved, because in many cases when they have troubles, they will go to the District Commissioner, Murang'a, thinking that because we belong to Murang'a County then obviously the District Commissioner, Murang'a, will solve our problem. They will go all that distance to Murang'a only to be told "Oh, I am sorry, I do not administer your area, you must go to Thika." Then they take all the trouble to go to Thika District and in many cases, as I have said, Mr. Speaker, the District Commissioner in Thika has not got the interest of the African squatters in his area at heart, all he is interested in is the welfare of the settlers and for this reason, in many cases, he does not listen to the grievances of the poor workers and squatters in this area.

Mr. Speaker, as I have said, we will find that one of the Murang'a constituencies, that is Kiharu Constituency, extends from Kiharu to the Chania River covering all the small estates that are in that area and in that area the Member for the area cannot hold a meeting in that part of his constituency until he is given permission by the district commissioner and the branch of Kanu in Thika. This becomes very difficult for him, he has to contact the District Commissioner, Thika, and Kanu outside his district and in many cases they sabotage his meeting.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to say very clearly that the way the boundaries of the so-called Thika Administrative District have been arrived at is very amusing, because we shall see that small estates are protruding in most of our constituencies. Next door to my Kandara Constituency you will find small shambas protruding within my constituency and we are surprised to see our brothers being victimized and tortured by settlers just next door and yet we cannot interfere, because this is the Thika Administrative District and the District Commissioner, Thika, does not give permission. Yet our District Commissioner in Fort Hall cannot help these people to have their grievances removed.

Mr. Speaker, it is therefore important that these anomalies should be removed so that we shall see this small part of our district progressing in the same way as the other part.

Mr. Speaker, we have always said that we would like to see that the people in this area are looked after. In this settled area, Mr. Speaker, you know there are these so-called trespass laws. A trade union official or a Kanu official are not allowed to go into these estates because the settlers feel that they are small kings in their small shambas and they have their own district commissioner who is prepared to protect them always and whatever grievances these people may have, even the Member of that area can be stopped from going into these shambas because they are called private property and unless you have permission you cannot visit them, even if they are part of your constituency.

This, Mr. Speaker, I think is very unfair in the Kenya of today which is independent and which is ruled by an African Government. Mr. Speaker, that is why I am urging in this Motion that these anomalies should be removed in two ways. One, Mr. Speaker, the whole part which is on the north side of the Chania River, which is part of the Murang'a County Council, should be fully administered by the District Commissioner of Murang'a who is directed in various ways by the Murang'a County Council which is an elected body and which has the interests of the people at heart, because as it is today the district commissioner has nobody to direct him, he is just a king in his own area, because he is an official of the Central Government and the people whom he administers are the rich settlers, the people he listens to and he does not listen to the poor Africans who are squatters without property and without anything in that area.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I would like to say only a few things, because I think this is a very straightforward Motion and I have made all these anomalies very clear to the Minister and how difficult we find it in our district to settle this problem. I have already made it clear to the Minister that the President agreed with us about our difficulties a long time ago, although nothing has been done to remove them. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, what I am submitting to this House is that all settled areas in the north of Chania must be fully controlled by the Murang'a County Council. All workers in that

Mr. Speaker, Murang'a and Kiambu are the only two districts which have these difficulties, because you will find in all other districts that the boundaries of a county and the boundaries of an administration correspond. Therefore, I urge in this Motion, that the district boundary must correspond to that of the county and that the jurisdiction of the District Commissioner, Fort Hall, be extended to cover the whole area and, in my opinion, Mr. Speaker, that of Thika's District Commissioner should be restricted to Thika Municipality and therefore, Mr. Speaker, I beg to move.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You are seconding, Mr. Gichoya?

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I understand from the Minister of State that he would like first of all speak or give his own—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Well, you can second formally, if you like—

Mr. Gichoya: But I would like to reserve the right to speak.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, you can do that.

Mr. Gichoya seconded.

(Question proposed)

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Nyamweya, you will speak for Government and claim twenty minutes if necessary?

The Minister of State, President's Office (Mr. Nyamweya): Yes, Sir.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am going to be very brief in presenting the Government's case concerning this Motion. This Motion has been eloquently put by the hon. Member for Kandara. I would only like to make a very few corrections of the impressions he has given to the House.

One of the impressions given to the House is that the District Commissioner, Thika, is not capable of entertaining the complaints lodged to him by Africans residing in that area. Mr. Speaker, Sir, administrative officers, whether they be situated in Thika District or Murang'a, have the full authority and backing of the Government to entertain and receive complaints from all members of the public. We have not received any case so far where the District Commissioner, Thika, has refused or failed to entertain such complaints.

I would also like to correct another impression which the hon. Member has given, and that is, if an hon. Member of the area wishes to see his electors who happen to be within the Thika District Administration, he cannot do so without some difficulty. Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Government is not aware of any case where any Member, particularly the Member representing the area in question, has found it difficult to enter the district and meet and talk with his electors. This he can do. The only problem which arises, Mr. Speaker, is perhaps the question of licensing public meetings. This, I agree—and I am prepared to concede what the hon. Member has said—is a difficulty. On one hand, if he wants to have a meeting in a certain area in his constituency, he has to get his permit from Fort Hall; on the other hand, if he wants to have it in another part of his constituency, he collects his permit from the District Commissioner, Thika. This is a difficulty which the Government concedes.

After correcting those impressions, Mr. Speaker, I would like to say that the Government is in full sympathy with the feelings and expressions contained in this Motion, but the way the Motion is drafted appears to me a little bit weird, although I have always had a very high regard for my friend, the Member for Kandara. I have spoken with him in great detail concerning this Motion and we have come to some agreement that I should amend this Motion to drop unnecessary verbiage.

I should like to add at this point, Mr. Speaker, that we have received sufficient pressure from various Members in this House representing that area which includes Murang'a County Council. We also appreciate the feelings expressed by the delegates from Murang'a who, some time ago, saw His Excellency the President, and we regret that no action has been taken up to this point. The House may perhaps appreciate the difficulty involved in putting all these things right. They involve certain changes to the Constitution and, maybe, we intend to or we will, in due course, try to find ways and means of remedying the anomalies, only if the Members of this House will be prepared to approve the Constitution (Amendment) Bill which may be coming in due course, because that is the only way you can amend these things; you cannot amend them otherwise.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I propose to make the following amendment to the Motion: to delete the words "confusion and" in the first line, and also to delete all the words after "to remove" in the fifth line, Mr. Speaker. The amendment will, therefore, read:—

THAT in view of the present overlapping of authority between the Murang'a County Council and Thika Administration in the former Thika District which is now part and parcel of the Murang'a County, this House urges the

[Mr. Mbogoh] even clear the bushes while in the army, and they can build bridges if they are in the army. Just to leave them like that, and to let them rot when they go home, after paying them at a rate of Sh. 8 a month, it is very difficult.

Mr. Khalif: On a point of information, Sir, one of the roads between Garissa and Wajir—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! No point of information.

You were giving way were you, Mr. Mbogoh? I am very sorry, I thought you had finished. He gave way to you. Very well. I am sorry, Mr. Khalif.

Mr. Khalif: One of the major roads in the North-Eastern Province between Garissa and Wajir, for the information of the Minister, was built by the British Army. Not by the National Youth Service from Britain, but by the British Army, by an engineering squadron, therefore, there is every possibility if the National Youth Service is absorbed into the Army, for them to do the same work as the National Youth Service is doing today.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I am afraid, Mr. Mbogoh, that has used up the rest of your time and I have to put the question now.

(Question put and negated)

MOTION

JURISDICTION OF DISTRICT COMMISSIONER, MURANG'A

Mr. Kaggia: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move:—

THAT in view of the present confusion and overlapping of authority between the Murang'a County Council and Thika Administration in the former Thika District which is now part and parcel of the Murang'a County this House urges the Government to remove the confusion by extending the Murang'a District Commissioner's jurisdiction to the whole of Murang'a County Area and restrict the jurisdiction of Thika District Commissioner to Thika Municipality, and to introduce such legislation for amendment of the Constitution as may be necessary for that purpose.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, before I bring my points supporting this Motion, I would like to say from the outset that this Motion, or this problem that this Motion is seeking to remove, is not the ordinary boundary disputes as we have in other areas as the result of the Boundary Commission Report. I know the Minister may rise and say we have problems like this in various areas and treat it accordingly. This is a very serious anomaly which was created by the Boundary Commission, and therefore, Mr. Speaker, I would like the Minister to listen to me and to accept this Motion, if possible, without amendment.

Mr. Speaker, the Boundary Commission created the boundary between the Murang'a and Kiambu counties on the River Chania. That means the whole of the south of the River Chania is the Kiambu County, and the whole of the north of the River Chania is Murang'a County. On the top of that, Mr. Speaker, the Boundary Commission created another district called Thika. That is we have a district which has one leg in Murang'a and the other in Kiambu. A district which has no county, and a district which has no constituency at all. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, what I am urging in this Motion is to see that this overlapping is removed, and the reason is this, Mr. Speaker, we have a constituency in Murang'a which is part of Kiharu Constituency, which comprises of the whole of the settled area on that north of the Chania, which, administratively, we are told belongs to Thika District. On the other side, we have a constituency, or part of a constituency of Gatundu, which is also part of the so-called Thika Administrative District. Mr. Speaker, when this commission gave its report, the Murang'a District and the Kiambu District opposed this overlapping very strongly. On a number of occasions the two districts have tried all they could to see that this overlapping is removed. I think about twice or thrice the Murang'a and Kiambu County Councils have met and have passed resolutions asking the Government to remove these two parts to Kiambu and Murang'a County Councils. I think, twice or thrice, both Kanus of Murang'a and Kiambu have met and agreed on the same resolution. After a while, when we saw that the Government was not doing anything to remove this overlapping, delegations were sent to the President comprising of Kanu from Murang'a District and Kiambu District. The President promised us that he was going to do something to remove this unnecessary overlapping. I am afraid to say, Mr. Speaker, that up to now this confusion still exists.

If I may go back a little bit, Mr. Speaker, we in Murang'a have opposed this set-up from the beginning, because we thought that this was part of the colonial legacy. As during the colonial time, the Colonial Government carved this so-called Thika, taking all the parts that were owned by European settlers, you find that the district has got some legs in Machakos District where the European farms protrude into the Machakos District. It has other legs in [Mr. Kaggia] Kiambu District, and another leg in Murang'a District. When the Colonial Government were determined to see that all this area which is occupied by European settlers is not kept under an African district commissioner, and it was for this reason that it was made a district by itself. We were tolerating this state of affairs during the colonial time, but we could not expect this kind of thing to continue after independence. We wanted to see these settlers in the Thika District ruled by either Murang'a or Kiambu County Councils, where they belong, because we could not see why just a small European area should be made a district by itself, because previously I knew that Europeans would detest being ruled by an African district commissioner, but in an independent country like Kenya, I do not see any reason why any European settler in this part of the country should not be ruled by our county councils.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to remind the House that during the majimbo campaign, we can remember very well that Mr. Blundell had drawn a map of his own, and he has created a province or region in the Rift Valley of the whole European settled area.

This was the same idea and I am glad that this did not materialize, and I am going to submit that the presence of the Thika District as it stands today, reminds us of this old colonial and exploiters plan, and that is why Mr. Speaker, we are seeking to get this thing removed.

Mr. Speaker, we see that in Murang'a the county council area comes up to the Chania River, as I have said, including all that part of the settled area on the north of Chania. The County Council of Murang'a collect tax from all the taxpayers in that area, including the Europeans in that area, but funnily enough the county council cannot initiate projects of development in this area without the consent of the District Commissioner, Thika. Mr. Speaker, I must say here that when a district commissioner comes to Thika or any other district which has a European majority, because we must understand that in the whole of the so-called Administrative District of Thika, the Africans who are there are mere squatters and employees. They have no property, they have no say in that area, the only person with a say is the settler, a European or an Asian. Therefore, it is only natural that the district commissioner will always be influenced by the people with property, the people with a say in that area. It so happens that in many cases the district commissioner opposes our development project in that area if the settlers think that these developments will not be for the benefit of exploitation in that particular area. I will quote one example, Mr. Speaker, which is very vivid. Recently the County Council of Murang'a decided to establish markets in all these settled areas, because it has been very difficult for the squatters and agricultural workers to get to the markets which are miles and miles from the settled area, therefore the county council decided to open markets in various areas. First it was very difficult for the county council to obtain a piece of land in this area to establish a market, although it was obvious that these markets were important for these workers who had no time to go twenty miles to get to a market in the reserve. Yet, it was not easy to get land. After a long struggle some small pieces of land were obtained on a few farms, but then came the clash of the interests of Thika Township and various proposed markets and we got the district commissioner opposing the establishment of various markets, because some people in Thika Township said that this market would reduce their trade in the township or vice-versa. For this reason, up to now, Mr. Speaker, we have not been able to establish a single market in this area and our African brothers continue to suffer in this area.

Another example, Mr. Speaker, I think last year all districts in the Central Province were allotted teacher-training school places to send people to train as teachers, but because of misunderstanding as to where the Thika District is and where the Murang'a and Kiambu Districts are, somebody in the provincial headquarters regarded Thika District as a district like Fort Hall or Murang'a. As a result Thika was allotted twenty-five places, while Murang'a had thirty-four places. Mr. Speaker, although the education officer in Murang'a raised this question, nothing could be altered, and it will be interesting to note that the Murang'a County Council has got 260 schools and on that basis was given thirty-four places, while the Thika Township, because all these primary schools are run by the county councils, has only five schools and yet they had twenty-five places. This was very unfair because all the areas which are part of the Thika administrative district, but the schools there are run by the county council, were not counted and could not have places, because somebody in the provincial headquarters regarded them as part of Thika District.

Now these are just two examples to show the difficulties that we are up against. The other difficulty, Mr. Speaker, was that formerly when Thika was a district it had a Kanu branch, while we have one in Murang'a and another one in Kiambu. Now since the report of the Boundary Commission we have had conflict in these areas, because in the area north of Chania all the Kanu

Mr. Khalif: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in seconding the amendment, I would like to say that I am completely opposed to the question of dismantling the National Youth Service.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I should warn you, Mr. Khalif, that you only have about three minutes. I am afraid, before I have to deal with this.

Mr. Khalif: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the question of dismantling the National Youth Service is completely out of the question. Instead, Sir, we would like this semi-military organization to become a complete military service. We would like to urge the Government to convert this into a military training institute for the use of the National Youth Service. Sir, the youth in the National Youth Service have become frustrated because, firstly, the element of tribalism has been paramount. Secondly, Sir, the National Youth Servicemen have been kept, in other words they have been detained for a certain time; one year or two years, and then they are sent home. This, Sir, is a waste of time. Thirdly, Sir, what has been referred to by the hon. Ngala-Abok as salary is only Sh. 12, and that should not be the kind of pocket money we should expect in the year of 1960.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, Sir, because of these three reasons the National Youth Service has proved that it has failed to meet the requirements of the National Youth Service.

Another thing, Sir, which I would like to point out to you and that is with regard to the strength, and on this I hope the Minister will bear with me and agree with me on this, that the strength of the Kenya Army is surprisingly very little. This is not a statement, I was only thinking that if the weakest State in Africa invaded Kenya today, then Kenya would be defeated, because as in accordance with the list that was published in the papers only recently showing the strength of the armies in all the independent states of Africa, it was indicated that Kenya was the weakest country in terms of its army, and therefore, Sir, if the weakest army in Africa did invade Kenya, by means of war, then they would be very badly defeated unless Kenya relies on other powers like Britain and other imperialist powers. For this reason, Sir, I feel that the Minister should readily agree that the National Youth Service should be converted into a military service so as to strengthen our military force so that we become paramount in Africa.

With these few remarks, I beg to support the amendment, Mr. Speaker, Sir.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): The Mover is due to reply in about one minute's time, so we must dispose of the amendment now.

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Speaker, Sir, whether this Motion is defeated or not, the fact remains that my Motion was genuine and I was only asking the Minister what I did ask him for the benefit of these youths.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Minister who spoke on this Motion omitted the most important part of this small booklet which is on page 10. He only went into trivialities where he said that they would be clearing bush in the national park in order to make some more places. On page 10, Mr. Speaker, Sir, it says that the National Youth Service be taught to use basic tools, operate and maintain equipment, to use improved agricultural techniques, to plan and organize people at work, and to read and follow instructions which none of them are being taught. Mr. Speaker, Sir, it says that there will be courses in literacy, English, Mathematics, ethics, and using material especially developed for them, but, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am sure that none of these things are being done in the National Youth Service.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the other part of this where it says that there will be courses in vocational or academic subjects designed to use work and count experiences as the starting point. Mr. Speaker, Sir, if those subjects are taught I would have no complaint against the whole organization, because this would prepare them for good work when they go out, and they would be employed. Mr. Speaker, Sir, when the Minister was speaking he said that there was a guarantee that nobody would be kicked out until he had finished his two years' training. What about these two years? What happens if he signs on for one year and then signs on for another year, but just to clear bushes, then he gets a certificate after the two years to the effect that he can clear the bushes? Mr. Speaker, Sir, this is a sheer waste of a man's youth. If a young man is wasting two years, then I feel that he should not be allowed to do so.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I understand that there is another point stating that girls are also in the National Youth Service. When was this school

(Mr. Mbogoh) formed, and who was informed of it? How long have they been there? This, Sir, is one of the things which is happening without any of the hon. Members knowing. It must be true that somebody goes and collects these girls and takes them there and says that she belongs to the girls squad. This, Sir, I do not think is—

The Minister for Labour (Dr. Kiano): On a point of order, there has been allegation that somebody goes around and takes his girls to the women's squad. I would like him to substantiate.

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is it true that the hon. Members in this House do not know that there is anything like the Girls National Youth Service?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I know, but that was not the question raised by Dr. Kiano. Would you make yourself clear on that particular point, Mr. Mbogoh?

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Speaker, I never alleged that somebody does. I said it might be somebody was interested in sending his girls there as a possibility, that was my own opinion, not that I was alleging.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You have no reason to believe it is so?

Mr. Mbogoh: I am convinced in my own beliefs, Mr. Speaker, but that is not necessary for him—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I am sorry, we must get these things clear, Mr. Mbogoh, You have no reason to believe that it is so. You only say that it might be so. You have no reason to believe that it is so?

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Speaker, Sir, if there is anything like a Girls National Youth Service, I would like to know their future also, whether when they come out of the National Youth Service they will be employed as sweepers, or if they will be better wives, or they will be whatever they are. It is unnecessary to put them there to cook for the commandants in the National Youth Service.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, if, for example, now we go to the National Youth Service camp and there try to check, as the Minister says, that there is no tribalism these days in the National Youth Service. If we go there now and try to obtain the statistics of those people who have even gone for different schemes of training, the Minister would be ashamed of the statement he made in this House. He would find that what I am saying is the truth, and instead of him investigating this, he denies that there is any tribalism. I know for certain that there is, even if the Minister went there and paraded them and asked "what tribe are you, captain, what tribe are you, general, what tribe are you, constable? The figures would show that my statement is absolutely true.

Mr. Speaker, I am glad to hear from the Minister that he has already tried to co-operate with the members of the National Assembly, though it has been alleged previously, in some quarters, that there is a rule that if a Member of Parliament ever goes to that camp, because the Members of Parliament have been finding out some very difficult things, he will be arrested and imprisoned. If this is what the Minister has said, I think it will be quite sensible and I am sure that Members would comply and work with him very closely.

Mr. Speaker, if this National Youth Service, as the Minister says he does not accept my Motion, is going to exist, then the Ministry must take care and the Minister must know that what he is training is a danger to the country, unless there are more improvements, or unless there is anything else which is to be done on the safe side, on the training side, and on the salaries side, when these young men finish their training, and on promotion from the lowest to the top. I am sure it will be out of control and it will be difficult for the Government to control it, and I as I have already indicated have seen things happening without the control of the Minister or the Government.

Mr. Speaker, as I have just said it is useless to send people out with a certificate that So-and-so is an expert on clearing bush. I have got a lot of people at home who are married, who have children to support, and I can employ them on my shamba to clear the bushes. When these young men come out after being fed with rice, being given free uniform thereby looking smart, tea, everything, they think that their own standard is higher than when they left home. If you just push them back to their home, and keep them there, this is not helping them at all. It is useless to say that they can continue for another two years, to waste another two years of their lives, instead of getting married and producing some children for this country. Mr. Speaker, this is ridiculous. Mr. Speaker, I do not believe that they are allowed to marry while serving in the National Youth Service as the hon. Assistant Minister for Education is saying. I believe they would serve a better purpose if they are trained to fight, and as we know there is a lot of nonsense in the North-Eastern Province. Even on roads and building, as the Minister says. Even if they were enrolled into the army, they could build roads. They could

Now, Sir, I would also like to remind the House that when the Motion was passed in this House stating that we should have a group of Members of Parliament to work with us, although we did not think that the allegations made justified all that was said, nevertheless the following day, as the Minister in charge of the National Youth Service, I stated publicly, maybe some Members did not see this, since we had nothing to hide, we would welcome a group of Members of Parliament to be associated with us, so that their ideas, their suggestions could be carried out and now that the House has reconvened, I will be discussing this matter with the Party Whip of the Parliamentary Group so that that Motion, which was passed by this House, can be implemented. I stated very clearly that although I did not agree with the reasons given, nevertheless I said that since we had nothing to hide we shall welcome those persons and I hope that when I talk with the Whip we shall be able to get some very good suggestions in this regard.

Let me also refer to one other point made by the hon. Mover. He talked of the student being told to go and the rest of it. We recognise very clearly, as the hon. Mover has said, that to have well trained and disciplined young persons doing nothing can be a dangerous thing. It is for that reason that we make them, before they leave—because if they do not want to leave after the first year we give them another year to continue with us until we can place them—but those who have left have had to sign a statement reading as follows in Swahili: Mimi karibu kukamilisha utamishi wangu tarehe So-and-so na omba kufuta kwa hiyari yangu. Mimi na thubutisha nime fahamishwa nina haki kutia sahili kwa miyaka wa pili katika utamishi. Na kuendelea ku pata manufaa ya maisha na elimu katika National Youth Service na kungojoa uwezekano wa kupata kazi. Nathubutisha sipende kwa tumia na fusi hii.

In other words, those who finish the first year if we have not been able to find them an alternative place to go to, we tell them that they can continue with us, then he has to sign and say "I go" or "I want to stay", we do not, therefore, kick people out. I would also like to remind the hon. Minister—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Dr. Kiiano, I think HANSARD would be grateful for a copy of that passage in Swahili after you have finished with it.

The Minister for Labour (Dr. Kiiano): I will give you a copy of it right now to the Clerk of the Council.

Now, Sir, I would also like to refer to the question of the conditions of service. A case could be made, and one that I have taken great note of, is the fact that although we feed these young men, and although—some of them are better fed than some Members of Parliament, I know, who live on, I will not say, what, Mr. Speaker—but although we feed them and clothe them a point can be made—

Mr. Mhogoh: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, the Minister has alleged that the youth are fed better than some Members that he knows here. Can he substantiate that?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! No. The statement is far too vague to be capable of substantiation. I don't think we will press it in detail.

The Minister for Labour (Dr. Kiiano): Mr. Speaker, Sir I would only like to say this, that essentially the National Youth Service is for those projects that are nation building, but let me give a warning that if it is dangerous, and I agree with the hon. Member, to have these youths doing nothing after we have trained them in this disciplined manner, that is why we give them a second year or a third year until we can place them, but if it is dangerous to have well-disciplined youths doing nothing in the country, it is more dangerous, if I may say so with all due respect to the army, to have a very large army doing nothing but just marking time in their camps. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think the question of simply saying that the fellows are not doing much, let us turn them into soldiers is useless, because already they are doing this. If we turn them all into soldiers, then their only purpose in nation building is military defence. I do not think that will be adding to the activities of these young men. It would appear to me that it would be reducing the activities of these young men.

Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I was also making the point very clear about a point which has been made that perhaps the financial remuneration might be quite small, and I said that I have made a note of that point which was well made by the hon. Members. But, Sir, I do not believe that the way to improve the country, or to build the nation, is to dismantle everything you do not agree with 100 per cent. If that is so, then our voters should have dismantled this House a long time ago. I believe, therefore, Sir, that we should continue to work together to improve, and continue to improve, this very aspect of our nation building.

Lastly, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to say that because these fellows have undergone a year's training, or maybe two or three years' and accepting sacrifice training, the discipline and important points when you see one of our most important points when looking for a job for them. The employers say, "If this fellow has done one, two or three years of hard self sacrificing work, he may be a good fellow", therefore, Sir, I would ask the Members of this House not to cast mud on the National Youth Service, but make the National Youth Servicemen feel that we appreciate what they are doing. We are doing our best to improve their lot instead of cutting them down.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am wholly unable to accept this Motion which calls for the complete abolition of the National Youth Service, where, I know, we are doing very well, and we are also trying to improve what is not yet perfect, and also calls for the fellows who are doing the very important work to stop doing it and to be just soldiers. This, Sir, would be reducing the activities, when they want to contribute to the nation. Therefore, Sir, I cannot accept this Motion and oppose it.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have decided to accept this Motion so that the Minister will be able to accept it. In the first place, Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Constitution, which made the National Youth Service possible, which is here says clearly that the National Youth Service is a kind of a semi-military type of training. Clause 17, of the Constitution, says, that the Governor, who, of course, has now been replaced by the President, during an emergency can convert that institution into a military section, and they will be subject to all the laws of the military rules. Now, Sir, if that is the case, then these people are part of the military force in this country.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, on going on to clause 18, which deals with discipline, it is stated, that these people can have their ranks reduced in such a case as disobeying the Code of Regulation, or they can be drilled like the normal military people or policemen, and if he proceeds further, as we understand it, it says that they cannot become members of a trade union. Now, Sir, these are the conditions which the young people are being subjected to. But, Sir, if you look at the whole thing, and with the experience we have, it has proved that these people are being trained for frustration only, and when they come back to their homes they start asking for employment from the Members of the National Assembly. This, Sir, is one thing which I must tell the Government about otherwise they might be faced with a situation whereby the people which they have been feeding for a year will become a problem to them.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, that is why I am amending this Motion so that the Minister will accept it, and also, the House will support it. I would like to amend the Motion by:

Deleting all the words after the word "to" in the third line, and insert in place thereof "convert it into a military training institute for youths in the National Youth Service".

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the intention of that is that although we know in this country we have a good army and the people will always be safe and if we have no use for more members of the service today, then these people can be trained and kept as a reserve, but yet, at the same time, be trained as mechanics, technicians, electricians, and blacksmiths, and during the peace period they could be employed on useful jobs getting a proper salary, for example, manufacturing jembes, because no matter where they are manufactured, even in the National Youth Service we still have to buy them. If things are manufactured by these people, they can be sold commercially and locally and it will be a benefit. Mr. Speaker, Sir, there was time when these people could have come here and worked on this building when it was being constructed, instead of getting other labour from commercial firms. Mr. Speaker, Sir, had these people been employed they would definitely have earned something to their income and the Government would have benefited from that. But, Sir, what we are now faced with is still our people being ignorant but more frustrated. They feel that they are well educated, but do you know that saying, "A little knowledge is very dangerous"? We would like these people to be useful citizens, and in order to be useful citizens they must be sent straight to do their military training and from there the Kenya Army will have its reserves, recruit people who have been disciplined properly and who also have the national spirit at heart, but just mere frustrated people who have been trained and treated nicely with good food, then later throw them out into the villages; go back to the land.

This, Sir, is going to give us a big problem, and therefore I would like the Government to take care of this amendment and accept it, because it just glorifies and dignifies the Government in the eyes of the people looking in; those who are in the National Youth Service and those who intend to go into the National Youth Service. They must be trained, instead of being trained to hold the symbol the jembe or the shovel and nothing else.

With those few remarks, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move the amendment.

[Mr. Jahazi]

Mr. Speaker, I support the Government, that we do not want to dismantle the Service, but I hope the Minister will stand up and justify the trust and support that we have in him with real plans for the youths, otherwise our support will not last very long.

Mr. Wamothonya: Mr. Speaker, I rise to support this Motion very strongly. My reason is this: when we started to select our youths, we and their parents had a great hope that these boys were going to be trained for something which would give them some advantages in their lives. As the Mover of this Motion has said, those youths should not go back home empty-handed; they should be trained further and join the military or police forces. I believe that would be much better than for them to go back home and then be a burden on their parents and on the public at large.

I have received many of my own youths, whom I selected, and I was very happy that they were going to get something and help the country. I believe some of the people are afraid that if they become military they will have a kink in their minds. But I am quite sure that we have not a big enough military force in this country to resist any army which might invade this country; and I do not think that if these youths joined the military forces there would be extra money expended or misused, because they would be very useful to defend our country.

While we were selecting our youths, the time was very brightening, but now things seem to be very darkling, especially when they are being selected for certain jobs. I have been told by some of my youths who have come back to my constituency—they come back with a statement of disgrace, that when selection is made for the job, it is being carried out in a discriminatory way. I myself am not in a position to blame anybody or to challenge anybody, like the Director of the Youth Service or anyone who is training them, but I would like the Government to modify the situation and bring these youths to some hope for the future. But when some come home and say that they have been trained for one year or two and there is no job for them, it makes matters worse than before, when they were still in the country, because they did not know anything. But now when such a youth has been trained, he has a hope of getting something better. Now he has nothing, so what is the use of training him? It does not pay. It does not benefit the country, nor does it benefit the youth himself or his parents.

I very much disagree with anybody who tries to say that he would not like the military to be enlarged, and then our youth has to join the military.

An hon. Member: You are just darkling.

Mr. Wamothonya: Well, "darkling" means that the time is darker, because it was very bright when the youth was joining the Service. Now, when they are turned down and going home the time seems to be very darkling.

Mr. Speaker, I think this Motion will be passed as it is because we want to build our country and if anyone here is capable he can tell me what is the strength of our army, which does not want our youth to join it. Myself, I am requesting the Government to see whether the youths can be trained and then join the military or the police force to strengthen our defence of this country.

With these few remarks, Mr. Speaker, I beg to support the Motion.

The Minister for Labour (Dr. Kiano): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am very grateful to the House, and particularly to the Mover of this Motion, for giving me an opportunity not only to reply to the various questions that have been raised by the previous speakers, but also to give the House an opportunity to know some of the things that the National Youth Service is doing.

Before I do so, however, I would like to refer to some of the specific points—made by the various speakers. I am not very sure, Mr. Speaker, as to whether the hon. Member has just sat down really supported the Motion or not.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: He was confused.

The Minister for Labour (Dr. Kiano): I shall plead with the House, Mr. Speaker, to give me a hearing without too many footnotes.

The hon. Member talked of increasing training in the organization and that some of them should go to the police and so on, and yet supported a Motion that calls for the complete abolition of the same movement.

The other point I would like to refer to before I go through this point by point is a very, very serious allegation, Sir, which was made by the Mover when you were away. He referred to a particular camp, that is Gilgil, where he said that because the commander of the camp is a Luo all the other persons with responsible positions, that is those occupying executive positions, are Luos. I immediately contacted the headquarters and I am glad to inform the House that

[The Minister for Labour] that statement, although the hon. Member said that he noticed it when he was there, is nevertheless entirely not right, that of the officers there under this particular Mr. Okelo, some are Wakamba, others are Baluhya, others are Kikuyu and there is even one Masai. Mr. Speaker, Sir, we are referring to the particular camp which, we were told, had only Luos as office bearers; we are not talking about all the camps, we are referring to the Gilgil camp. I have contacted the director because I thought this was not correct, but I did not want to challenge the hon. Member until I had the facts from the place.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I want to continue with a few other points. I would like to refer to the Motion as it is worded. The hon. Mover referred us to the booklet which was distributed and which indicated what the National Youth Service would do. He, himself, referred us to page 8 of that booklet. Then his Motion says that the National Youth Service has failed. I took the trouble to go and borrow the exact booklet he had in hand in case there are different booklets and, from the booklet that he gave me, I looked at page 8 to which he referred us and the National Youth Service, according to his booklet which is also the official booklet states that the work that the National Youth Service will do will include—I quote now because I copied this from his book—"Irrigation and dam building; national park and game reserve preservation and development; road building and house projects; re-forestation and forest development; urban and rural water reticulation and sanitation system construction; range fire control; land clearing and tsetse fly control; agricultural projects; general natural resources conservation and development." Additionally National Youth Servicemen will work on such other aspects as masonry, carpentry and so on, I did not copy the whole thing.

Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I intend to indicate that these points made by the booklet given to me by the hon. Member are already taking place so that as far as failure with regard to the aims is concerned, I cannot accept the allegation. We have, for example, in the Shimba Hills, a unit of the National Youth Service clearing the land and helping in the demarcation for settlement, as indicated on page 8. We have, in Voi, road and irrigation projects to help the development of the tourist industry in the national parks around Voi as stated on page 8 where we were given the aims. We have, in the Yala River, which was referred to by my friend, Mr. Ngala-Abok, a group of youths clearing the bush in order to beat tsetse fly which causes sleeping sickness and this is a very major contribution by the National Youth Service, if I may say so, to the health of the country. We have a road now being constructed to connect Kiambu with the Nyandarua District across the Aberdare mountains according to point 3 on page 8; road building and construction. We have another 70-mile road being constructed leading to the Seven Forks which will be producing electricity for this country. I am giving just a few examples. We have also Tumaini Farm, according to section 8 of page 8 of the booklet belonging to the Mover which talked about agricultural projects. I gave these examples to indicate that those items that were mentioned in the booklet inviting the youth to join us are the very ones we are following.

I would like, also, to say this; that we should be careful not to blame Government for our own shortcomings. All of us were given an opportunity; as Members of this House, to select people during the first period of recruitment and it would be unfortunate if we were to put too much salt or too much sugar in our attempt to ask some young men to join the National Youth Service and for them only to find out that we had exaggerated and, therefore, made them feel disillusioned. Therefore, I would like to make that very clear because apparently many people—if somebody went and found a young man who was already being trained and asked him to leave that job and that he would take him to the National Youth Service, and if the young man was disillusioned as a result when he was made to go to Yala to clear the bush in order to beat tsetse fly, then I can see where the disillusionment might sometimes come.

I would like to say this, Mr. Speaker, on the question of training. I would like to say that I accept the point made by several Members in this House, that we could increase the facilities. It should be remembered that we are not yet two years old in this programme, and it is a major programme. Incidentally, I would like to inform the Members that some of the countries, like Zambia from which country people were here the other day just to see what we were doing and they thought we were not doing a bad job at all.

We already have a driving school and we have trained twenty-seven drivers; this is not a very large figure but I want to show that we are trying to do something. We have also another 140 young men who are going to train as mechanics, welders, panel beaters and sprayers as well as masons.

[Mr. Ngala-Abok] to do. But the question of dismantling it is emotionalism and it is a careless Motion which cannot help this country.

All countries in the world have National Youth Services and our National Youth Service must be carried on. At the moment a group of them are engaged in Nyanza, cutting bushes and trying to help that part of the world with clearing tsetse fly. This is very useful indeed and I must thank the Government for that. But what we want is to improve their conditions. Mr. Speaker, because if we had no National Youth Service, the bush which is now being cleared would not be cleared. The number of people dying of sleeping sickness is being reduced because of the National Youth Service, and what we want is to improve the conditions, to stop tribalism, not to select a group of youths because they come from So-and-so, from Tom, Dick and Harry's constituency, and, therefore, those who come from James' and others' constituencies are not going to be cared for.

I think if Members were unanimous in improving the present terms and conditions of service of the youths and seeing that tribalism does not prevail and seeing that whenever the President makes a statement it is carried out, this would be more useful than saying that we have no National Youth Service, we only have military forces. What, in the terms of peace, can the military forces do for any country? Would you ask the military people to go and engage in cutting bushes? Yes, in other countries, but here it is not so, it is not the law in this country at the moment to make use of the military forces as they do in other countries. In fact, in other countries, the military forces, apart from engaging in war, always serve as our youth are now serving, but the law of this country does not allow us to order the military forces from a camp to go and engage on a national work. If such a clause is there, then the Minister will tell us, but, for goodness' sake, let us be a bit sensible. Fight for the conditions of the youths at the moment to be improved and see that they get promotion properly and see that the selection board, which we have already advocated here, is carried out. This is the only sensible thing.

In fact, I know, if we were to ask the youths now whether they would like to be absorbed into the military forces, all of them, they might not agree. But if we told them that they were going to get a higher salary than they have now, they were going to have recreational services in those centres and, at the same time, they would be engaged in trade, they were going to be trained in different trades, then they would accept these conditions very happily indeed.

Sir, I am not out to see such a useful organization dismantled. I know everywhere, even in the police force, even here in Parliament, there are things that Members still demand. These demands will continue. From time to time in the countryside and even in Parliament here and in the administration, there are mistakes and there are wrong things, which should be improved. We would like to see our Members fighting for improvements. Whenever there is/a mistake, let us get rid of that mistake; let us try to think sensibly and let us not say that this Service, with thousands of youths, should be dismantled because we fear to face the President (a precedent?). We must face the Minister and tell him, "For goodness' sake, improve the conditions, switch the service to another Ministry or get someone efficient, like Ngala-Abok, to take over."

This is what we want. We do not want to say, "Oh, abandon the whole thing." Why did Members come here? They came here to improve things, not to abandon Parliament, to abandon the military force, to abandon everything else in the country. They came here to improve what is wrong. I remember my youths telling me that they enjoy the whole thing except tribalism and also the salary is very little; they have nothing to send back home.

Of course, they have Sh. 12; call it salary or what you will, but that Sh. 12 is money.

Now what the youths want is improvement. They do not want to have very little work, very little enjoyment, and then being sent home at the end of a one-year period without knowing anything, without being useful to the country at large. This they do not want. But if the Minister could now tell us the steps he is taking to improve the whole thing, because he is a new Minister and a new broom sweeps clean, if he could now tell us what he is going to do as a new Minister, it would be a good thing.

I would like to appeal to Members to see to it that good sense prevails, and emotionalism, tribalism, sectionalism, individualism, are not given room. We want to see improvement in every part of the services rendered to this country; and improvement should be the slogan of this House. So I appeal to Members to ask for improvements rather than wanting to dismantle things.

Mr. Jahazi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I wish to disagree with this Motion. Although there may be some truth in the Members' feeling that something should be done, I think the thing is not [Mr. Jahazi] Example: the Service but to repair whatever damage might have been done in the whole organization.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I, for one, supported the formation of the National Youth Service very strongly, and I have been following the activities and the progress of this organization. I see that it has a very good future, for both our youths and our girls. Mr. Speaker, this Motion has come at the time when the National Youth Service has been branching into another branch of our youth, that is, the girls; and, in fact, Sir, we, as Members here, will do a better job if we put our protests and suggestions forward, and on these build a National Youth Service which will be a better organization and which will live up to our expectations.

Sir, I think the mistake originally came about at the beginning. Although the intention was very good, and still is very good, the Government actually did not have time or enough experience in the running of such service, so that they had very little time in which to organize this big service and, at the same time, show that it had to function as if we had already 20 years' experience of running youth organizations.

However, so far, I think there is cause to believe that, given the help of this House and of the whole country, this National Youth Service could still grow into the big and clear organization we all wish to see. All is not well, as we see many of our youths coming back home empty-handed, except for a certificate showing that they have been trained in grass-cutting, road-clearing or sweeping, and this and that. But we cannot actually call this training. I sympathize with the Service because, when it was started, they did not have teachers or equipment or a school, they did not have even a proper camp. They still do not have a camp as such at the present time; I have seen the camp and I do not think it is worth the name.

But, given time, we can say that this camp should be improved and we want to see new plans as to how the Minister and the Government are going to improve on this. We know that the time for beginning has long passed. They began, yes, but we want to see the improvements. What plans have they for improving this Service?

This question of dismantling the Service is wasting our time, wasting our money, because, if you dismantle it today, you will be faced with the problem of all those youths who are trying to get in now, and those who have already been in and who are expecting to be placed in jobs somewhere. Then the whole thing, instead of bringing peace of mind to us, as Members, will turn into complete chaos.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I do not propose to support this Motion of dismantling the Service completely, but, at the same time, I would like the Minister to come up with new proposals, new proposals for training, new proposals for better facilities, new proposals to eradicate the tribalism which we hear exists and which we see. So many youths left Mombasa, Mr. Speaker, but I see a stream of them coming back and worrying me and every other Member because they want jobs. Some of them I blame; I say, "Why did you leave; at least it would have been better to stay on in the National Youth Service, and be fed there and be clothed, however poorly, rather than coming on to the streets and begging." We want to be strengthened so that when we give them advice to stay on and persevere, they know they are staying on for something, not just staying on to get further training in grass-cutting or digging trenches in the national park.

We want to know what plans, real plans, not only paper plans, the Government has—it is full of paper plans—but what effective plans there are which will start immediately; we want to know if there are any plans which have already been put into effect so that we can strongly advise these people who want to resign or who have already resigned to go back and wait for better jobs, rather than leaving. Although we support this Government, we find it a bit difficult because, up to now, we have not been taken into Government's confidence, to be told specifically what it is trying to do for the youths.

Sir, these youths did not join the Service to be taught grass-cutting or to be taught how to dig trenches; they can do that better at home. They never joined just to march with spades in their hands and parade on Kenyatta Day or Madamaka Day. That is not training. Holding spades is childish; let them hold guns or something better than guns. There is no need to be afraid of them. They are the first-class nationalists, these youths; some of them have suffered, some of them have shown that they are ready to shed their blood in defence of their motherland. But if you treat them cheaply like that, just giving them shovels, with some unfitting big trousers and all that, so that they look shabby, I do not think you are doing them a credit. The best thing is to treat them with the respect they deserve. They joined the National Youth Service freely, of their own free will, with energy, to serve the country, do not play with them. The Government should not play with them by giving them childish jobs. They are serious people and should be treated seriously.

Mr. Makokha: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, this Motion is in three parts. Now the first part is about failure and I am going to cite three examples where I feel the National Youth Service has failed in the aims behind its establishment.

First, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, this was a type of political service, in other words, it was politicians who were asked to choose those youths who had served both Kanu and Kadu or APP to come into the National Youth Service. Now, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, this has failed because now the selection has gone back to the civil servant and there is frustration in the country, because those youths who served the parties, that is Kanu, Kadu and APP and any other party that might have been there, are being left behind and that is one failure. Mr. Deputy Speaker.

Secondly, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, we were told that these youths were going to be given some kind of training and even some education, that is vocational training, so that a youth winger who joined the National Youth Service without knowing how to read or write would leave it with the knowledge of reading and writing, but this does not seem to be happening. Mr. Deputy Speaker.

The third failure, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, is that we were assured that Harambee farms were going to be established in all the provinces. Up to now we do not have any Harambee farm in the Western Province or in the North Eastern Region or Province and Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I challenge the Government to tell us the reason why we cannot have these Harambee farms in all the provinces, because it is very difficult to convince anybody in the Western Province that the National Youth Service is there for nation building all over Kenya.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, the other day we had a Motion here which showed that there is discrimination in the selection of youths to go to various departments of this country and from what happened on that Friday morning, it is obvious to everyone in this House and even to the Members of the Cabinet, that there is something seriously wrong with the National Youth Service. For these reasons, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I feel that we should dismantle this Service in its present form and have it in a different form, because, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, we, as the advisers of the Government, although I believe it is the Ministers who sit in the Holy of Holies who are supposed to advise the President, but on the other hand we as the Elected Members from the various constituencies, are also advisers of the Government and the President and having gone round and met some members of the National Youth Service, having met our electors, we are quite sure that this Service has failed and should be dismantled. Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, at the moment there is confusion between other youth organizations such as the Young Men's Christian Association, the Young Women's Christian Association, all the youth centres, such as the one at Starehe for boys and this one, the National Youth Service. We must draw a line between the ones I cited first and the National Youth Service. The National Youth Service should be some kind of a fighting force, not only to fight ignorance but also to fight our enemies if need be.

[The Speaker (Mr. Slade) took the Chair]

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, for these reasons I feel that thirdly, as the Motion calls the Government to do, this National Youth Service should be replaced by military service.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, as the Motion says, those at present in the National Youth Service should have priority.

After dismantling this service, all those in the National Youth Service should revert and form part of our army in this country. Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is obvious to everybody in this country that our army is, not big enough. It is also obvious, Mr. Speaker, that for this reason we are not able to oppose certain nations that are provoking us as strongly as we should be doing. Mr. Speaker, I remember last year when Uganda was attacked by the Congolese; the Prime Minister of Uganda appealed to this country for help, but, Mr. Speaker, Sir, because our army is such a small one, we were unable to give Uganda any help, except by word of mouth. I see one Assistant Minister shaking his head. If he can prove to me that we sent even one askari to Uganda, to help Uganda—

The Assistant Minister for Health (Mr. Moss): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, can the hon. Member speaking now substantiate that the Uganda Government did request help from the Kenya Government and we failed to give it?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): On what grounds do you say that, Mr. Makokha?

Mr. Makokha: Mr. Speaker, Sir, probably the Assistant Minister did not attend the particular Parliamentary Group meeting where the President of Kanu and the President of this country read a certain letter to us from Prime Minister Obote, signed by Mr. Obote himself, requesting askaris to go and help him, but the [Mr. Makokha] President told us that, because we were occupied in the North-Eastern Province, we were unable to do it. That, I believe, is enough.

Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I know the Government is going to say, "But where is the money to enlarge our army?", and so on and so forth. My contention, Mr. Speaker, Sir, is that the National Youth Service should be part of the army. They should be trained in fighting and, at the same time, be trained in nation-building, to carry on self-help work, food distribution and such other work. This, Mr. Speaker, Sir, will help, so that any young man who joins the National Youth Service knows exactly what he is joining to do. At the moment, there is complete confusion. These young men do not know their future. They may be told that one day they will be bus conductors or tribal policemen or policemen or that they may join the army, but that is not enough. Mr. Speaker, Sir, because these fields only take a very small percentage of the young men in the National Youth Service, but if they joined knowing that they are forming part of the Kenya army, all of them would have one goal, one aim, and we would not have confusion in the service.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, with these few words, I sit down believing that the Government will accept this Motion as a very sensible Motion, so that our young men in the National Youth Service from now on will remain in the service, knowing that they have a future, not only as a means of employment but that at any one time, if we are attacked by any enemies, they will be there to fight and defend the country.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to support.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, Sir, at the very beginning when I read this Motion, I felt that I should support it, but I am sorry to say that I am opposing the Motion and I am doing so, not because I want to lose sight of the facts which have been put forward by my two colleagues who have spoken but because it is better, all the time, not to be drawn by emotion and tribalism. Tribalism and emotion are very prevalent these days in this country. There are good reasons for tribalism and for emotion and for individual views to be expressed, but equally true, Mr. Speaker, there are good reasons also to be a bit careful in what we are aiming to do and what we are advocating.

In fact, if we replace the National Youth Service by a purely military service, then it means that we are going to have a group of people kept, getting a lot of money from Government, using a lot of taxpayers' money and not being engaged in any particular national service, except during emergency conditions. The entire military force now, Mr. Speaker, apart from in the North-Eastern Province, do not have any specific duties at the moment. In fact, they are on guard, they are waiting to protect the nation, and this is a useful form of waiting. But, at the same time, we want a group of people who are engaged on national duties. What we should fight for is efficiency, non-tribalism and effectiveness of the present National Youth Service and better pay. In fact, we should actually fight for the National Youth Service to be improved, rather than saying that it should be abandoned and the present youths should be absorbed into the military services. This is wrong.

I am opposing this Motion just because what the Motion wants us to do is wrong, basically. We cannot dismantle the National Youth Service, but the Government must have the sense to improve what is wrong. As regards one part of it—the selection for promotion purposes—this House has already passed a Motion here that a group of Members were going to be appointed to look into the selection of people to be absorbed in permanent jobs. The Motion on that particular part has already been passed in this House and we should now be calling upon the Government to explain what action has been taken, but merely to say that this should be abolished is wrong because, already, there are a vast number of youths in the National Youth Service who do not want to go back home, or who do not want to enter into purely military services; they want to be used usefully and to get proper pay, to get improved conditions; they should have recreation halls, they should have better care from the Government.

In many African countries there are National Youth Services, Mr. Speaker. There are some in Malawi, there is one in Tanzania, and nearly every African country has a National Youth Service, apart from the military services, apart from the police force. What I want to see here is the Government to amend the Motion to read that the Government is already taking measures to improve the conditions, to increase the salary and to see that the National Youth Service is serving the purpose for which it was started. In fact, we were told that they were going to be taught different trades, they were going to leave the National Youth Service as very useful people. We were told they were going to be engaged on Harambee farms. These are the things which we want the Government

SUBSTANTIATION OF SPECIFIC ALLEGATIONS

Mr. Gichoza: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I need your guidance on this. The hon. Member for Embu North did make it as a kind of approach to his question that if a Kikuyu is at the top, he was talking in terms of examples, and he mentioned a Kikuyu and a Jalo, as a good illustrative example. Does it mean, Mr. Deputy Speaker, that when one gives an example of that kind, it is necessary just to be geared up for one particular tribe and not putting it as a general case?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): No, No. You see one cannot make a general allegation unless one is willing to back it up with specific allegation, because you cannot make an allegation to say that if a Kikuyu is on top, all are Kikuyus or all the leaders are Kikuyus and if a Luo is on top all the Luos are leaders, unless you are in a position to give examples both of Kikuyus and Luos. I asked the hon. Member to be more specific and to substantiate his allegation, he chose to substantiate it only on the basis of one particular tribe, perhaps he has got other instances where other tribes are involved, if he has he should state it, if he does not state it the implication is that he cannot substantiate it as far as anybody else is concerned, but only one particular case is concerned. It is not enough for him to say "I am going to give one example" with the assumption and the implication that there are hundreds of other examples going around, and he does not want to trouble the House with all the details, because these are very important allegations and if he can substantiate it more specifically than he has done already, then I think it is fair and correct that he should in fact do so.

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Deputy Speaker, I am quite sure that my example is enough and I will not waste any more time on that one.

On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, what light is that?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Well, I think your time is running very fast, but I think we will give you another three minutes if you wish.

Mr. Mbogoh: This has been done deliberately. Mr. Deputy Speaker, so I will claim another three minutes.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): All right, but carry on now.

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Deputy Speaker, I will go very fast now. When the selection for employment of these youth wingers is done it is also done on a tribal basis. There are some of them who went to join the Tribal Police and the General Service Unit, they had been employed in commercial firms, but you will find that none of the tribes that do not command the Youth Service are selected for these jobs. You will find that if I sent my twenty-seven youth wingers to join the service, all twenty-seven of them would be spread about the country doing nothing after having done one year's service. I have seen that many Tribal Police have been taken to Gatundu and to such and such a place and so many youth wingers have been employed by the bus company but if there is no tribalism why has there not been one from Embu or one from Meru or for that matter one from Kisii, except those who are Kikuyus or Luos? Mr. Deputy Speaker, when these youths go back home they form gangs; I have seen one of the youth wingers from Fort Hall coming to collect money from Embu because he cannot live in his own home as he cannot get anything there, but they come at night and form gangs and they start harassing people by forming illegal societies and these groupings are now going to be dangerous to this country, Mr. Deputy Speaker, and I am sure that they will be dangerous and whether the Government wants it or not they will find it better to control these youths rather than leave them in the country like that without anything to do.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, when these youths go out they are always told that they cannot go out wearing shoes, therefore they leave their shoes there and walk barefooted, and yet they are people who have been used to wearing shoes and to walking very smartly and now when they go home they have naked feet. That is prison again, Mr. Deputy Speaker. I do not think that this is the way that these people should be treated as this is a terrible way of treating them. The result is that they will go back and lead a dangerous life of crime.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, the Youth Service as it is today, is not exactly a Youth Service. You will go there and find that the present deputy director, who was the leader of Mau Mau, is the great man at the top, but are we training Mau Mau or are we training youths? Is this training for Mau Mau guerrillas or is it the training of youth wingers? Mr. Deputy Speaker, no one will approve of that whatsoever. Mau Mau tactics were for fighting in the forest and these are not the same as the youth wingers. Their training must be done properly and not be given to someone who is illiterate and who cannot even follow the chain of command. I understand, from very reliable sources, Mr. Deputy Speaker, that—

The Minister for Labour (Dr. Kiano): On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, is the hon. Member implying that Mr. Itoti Waruhii is illiterate?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): I do not know whether he said that.

The Minister for Labour (Dr. Kiano): That is the director that he is referring to.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Well, if you are referring to that and he is not illiterate, you must withdraw it, Mr. Mbogoh.

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Deputy Speaker, whether he is illiterate or not, I do not mind, but although I said he is illiterate, Mr. Deputy Speaker, even if he is literate I still contend that—

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Yes, if he now explains and says that he is literate that is a withdrawal.

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Deputy Speaker, the so-called deputy commander, or whatever he is—

The Minister for Labour (Dr. Kiano): He is an assistant director.

Mr. Mbogoh: He is an assistant director, Mr. Deputy Speaker, and I am sure the methods that he is using to train the youths are not the methods that he is expected to use for their training, because the youths are there to build the country, but not simply to be trained for somebody to stand up there and look very big with a lot of things on the shoulders, while he does not know exactly what methods to use for training the youths. When it comes to the recruitment of these youths, previously the Members of Parliament were given a chance to recruit them but when somebody thought that the Members were too busy helping the people to choose the proper persons, I do not know what happened, it was changed and it has now come to the point where other people are recruiting them without the knowledge of Members of Parliament in that area. Mr. Deputy Speaker, today I hear that there is a very senior officer there called Mr. Griffin who is the director, but when you hear that there is a very great man called the hon. Kariuki who was given that job, I am sure he does not know exactly what he is doing in that organization. He is only there as a symbol and even if he says he knows, it is only because he is told what he should know, but not that he has got into the organization. It is so rotten inside, Mr. Deputy Speaker, that it is impossible for anyone, even the Minister himself, who is shouting, to know what is happening and he does not know what is happening because he might be one of those who is sending people through the back door and then he comes and shouts that there is no tribalism. Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, when some of these people take their own people there you find that many are taken there on the basis of tribalism and you will also find that many of them have got there through the back door and not through the main gate where everybody is expected to go. Mr. Deputy Speaker, today I am going to say this and if the Minister does not investigate this properly, because he wants competition between him and me, I am sure it is because he does not understand this organization and if he goes into it he will find that the Kikuyus are there 100 per cent or 99 per cent or whatever it is, and then if he finds that they are there 99 per cent—he might say that they are only 50 per cent—but how they get there and are enrolled the Minister does not know. Mr. Deputy Speaker, I am not going to allege this one because if I am asked to substantiate it, I am sure I will embarrass somebody. I would like a thorough investigation today so that when the Minister replies, he should not just come and give us a very funny picture of the National Youth Service. What the National Youth Service are doing is very important and they work very hard, only to find that most of their hard-earned earnings is not exactly what they deserve and we should give these chaps at least a chance to have some enjoyment for themselves, even if they are serving the nation. It is not right that someone who is serving the nation should be mistreated, they ought to be given a chance to get some benefit from their service to the nation, not simply to fungu his belt and serve the nation.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, here I would like to urge that while this Youth Service is very important these young men could be made use of if this was turned into a military service which would allow them to practise their own way of life. Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I beg to move.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Mr. Mbogoh, I do want to draw your attention to the fact that you have spoken for twenty minutes, but you have not moved any resolution. If you do want to move it now I think you can do so, in fact your time is up, but I will give you another minute to do so.

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I beg to move:—

THAT in view of the fact that the Kenya National Youth Service is not achieving the aims behind its establishment, this House urges the Government to dismantle it completely and replace it by military service for all youths of this country with the priority given to those who are already in the National Youth Service.

[Mr. Mbogoh] will be", then there is "what kind of work the men of the National Youth Service do" on page 8. Mr. Speaker, on page 8 they say "the National Youth Service will do irrigation, dam building, national park and game reserve preservation and development, road building and house projects, forest station and forest development," plus other things which I need not mention at present because I know that all the Members had this booklet.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Youth Service as it was started was to deal with projects of nation building, but when publicity of this service was given to the country, it was given in such a way that it almost induced the youth of this country to go to a service which they did not understand. When these youths entered the National Youth Service, they were not told within certain terms that "you are not coming here for pay", or "you are not coming here to further your knowledge, you are coming to uproot trees and to live under conditions which are more difficult than what you are used to". In fact, if they had been told that some of those who left the jobs they were doing would not have left these jobs. They would have liked to continue with the jobs they were doing, at let us say, the rate of Sh. 40 per month, instead of going to get Sh. 20 per month and dissatisfaction. Mr. Deputy Speaker, when these people went to the National Youth Service, the first thing they were given was a very unqualified and very illiterate lot of people to guide them and keep them in the camps as though they were convicts. It is no wonder to hear that some of the released convicts are locked with the youth wingers in some places which I know of even today.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, the pay of the youth wingers is so little that it will not give them a chance to feel like people who are building a nation. For example, Mr. Deputy Speaker, it was stated that some of them were going to learn driving, mechanics, etc. Some of us went to those men who were already being trained as mechanics in the local garages who were youth wingers before, and told them, "Look, you can go and be trained in the National Youth Service where you get a good certificate and you can come and work instead of being trained by these Asians behind the garage". They left only to find that no training is available for any mechanic except for a selected few who satisfied the illiterate bosses that they could either be their "yes" men or their henchmen, and then be taken into training. Mr. Deputy Speaker, when some of them were taken to be trained as drivers you find that if one fails an examination he is sent out instead of being given a second chance to try, so that he can go out as a man who can work, or as a man who can do any job for the country. They just release him saying if you have failed that examination there is no more, and you can go and find your own money. There is this Sh. 12 which is given to them which is not satisfactory and cannot pay for Sh. 25 to pay for a test. There is the other Sh. 8 which is saved for them so that when they leave at the end of the year they have Sh. 96. If anybody asks that he be given Sh. 25 from that fund he is told, "No, you must either go out and get this money, or go home and bring Sh. 25 to have your test".

Mr. Deputy Speaker, there is a great deal of tribalism in this Youth Service, and you will find that if you go there today there is a special class of people, or a group, which is kept there simply because So-and-so is a leader of the National Youth Service, and he belongs to such and such a tribe, that the chain of command from the top to a certain level belongs to that tribe and that tribe only. If you go to a certain camp you will find that if there is a Kikuyu in command of that camp, and you will also find that Kikuyus are in command throughout. If there is a Luo in command, you will find that all the Luos in that camp are enjoying themselves and having all the command and being very important in that camp. This service was made for the youth of the—

The Minister for Labour (Dr. Kiano): On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I do not want to interject in the debate, but could I ask the hon. Member to substantiate that if there is a Luo commander in a particular section, all the Luos in that particular camp are enjoying life? That is a very serious allegation.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! I think, Mr. Mbogoh, you must substantiate and state first in which particular camp you are referring to that this happens, and secondly state on what evidence, whether you have seen it for yourself, who has told you, how you know about it.

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Deputy Speaker, I will do that very easily. One time I visited a camp in Gilgil, where there was a Luo commandant, and I managed to find out that from him downwards that Luos were in command, and from there any person from any other tribe who tried to do anything wrong, was punished heavily and locked in the cells, but if Luos did anything wrong they were not locked up. So they were enjoying themselves in that camp.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): I think that I might as well explain what substantiation means, it is a bit difficult sometimes, and I know some hon. Members are not always happy about what substantiation means. Substantiation means the evidence on which, or the reasons for which you make such an allegation, now Mr. Mbogoh has said that he personally went to a camp and saw this. Yes, he went to the camp and he was told by the commandant. This is all right. He has now stated the evidence on which he based his allegation. That evidence may be very flimsy, and the House may consider it not worth while accepting it. So long as he has stated the basis on which he makes the allegation, then I think it is open to the Minister or the Government, to deny this particular allegation. He has stated that he has been to a camp in Gilgil. I do not know if there is more than one camp in Gilgil. If there is more than one camp then I think he should be more specific and state exactly which camp it is he went to, so that the Minister can then refute, if he wants to refute, the particular allegation. Is there more than one camp?

The Minister for Labour (Dr. Kiano): Mr. Deputy Speaker, am I to understand, therefore, that he got this information from this specific commandant at the Gilgil camp? If so, then I take it that the responsibility belongs to the commandant as far as this information is concerned? I just want to get that clear, that is all.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Is that correct, Mr. Mbogoh?

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Deputy Speaker, since I found this out for myself, and you can expect no other person to have told me, I was there, and it does not matter if I got it from the person himself, but I found it out myself—

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Mr. Mbogoh, when you say you found it for yourself, do you mean to say that you went and met every single person from this camp? Or, were you told this? I think you said earlier that you met the commandant, and you were told. I think this is what I understood you to say. I may be wrong, but that is what I understood you to say.

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Deputy Speaker, I do not think that is very material, because what I said is that I went there and found out from the people themselves in that camp. It does not matter whether it is the commandant or the youth wingers themselves. That is the basis of my argument.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Are you saying that you actually saw these people yourself? You did?

Mr. Mbogoh: I spoke to them myself.

Mr. Ngũgĩ-Abok: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, this must be well substantiated.

The speaker says that it happens that a Luo commandant was in charge of that camp, and he says that the chain of command was actually in the hands of the Luos. Can he tell us which posts were manned by Luos? That would be a better substantiation than being told—

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! Order! I do not think he needs to specify which particular commandant. He has said that all the particular persons who were in charge of this camp were of a particular tribe. They were all Luos. This is what he has said. Whether it is right or not it is for the Government then, which will naturally have the evidence of that particular camp, to state who are the persons of that particular camp, and what tribe they belong to. I do not think one can go further than that in substantiation. It would be impossible to make such an allegation.

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I am not alleging that it is on Luo basis only, I gave that as an example, to substantiate but there are many other cases which I could quote, but that is immaterial.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, when the youth wingers were promised courses, which never materialized, they were sent to the service to stay there for one year and be trained, and then go back home. After one year you find that none of them have been trained to do anything, they are only given a certificate of discharge.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onyko): On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I think we should bring this matter up again, because I am just wondering if at all, when the Minister for Labour comes to answer, and then the allegation by the hon. Member is found to be untrue, then will the House be entitled to demand an apology from the Member?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Yes. I think we have already experience as to what happens when a Member makes what could be—if it is I do not know—an unfounded allegation. The House knows what action is open to it. Of course, one must not jump the gun as it were, but let the Minister first state whether the allegation is correct or not. If it is not correct, why he says that it is not correct. The House can then decide and ask Mr. Mbogoh to apologize, if, as I say he is wrong, I am not trying to prejudice the issue. I have not the slightest idea. But if Mr. Mbogoh is wrong, then I am sure he will apologize if he is given the full facts. If he is not wrong, then the House will draw its own conclusions. I have no idea.

[Mr. Mwanzandi] which is surprising. Sir, is that the said committee was going to meet today. This Motion. Mr. Speaker, was tabled in the House four months ago, and I am sure it might be the same Motion which has awakened the Cabinet so that they formed the Ministerial Committee which is meeting today.

The Assistant Minister, Mr. Speaker, advised me to withdraw my Motion, but I have decided not to withdraw it because, for a long time, the Government had done nothing—

The Assistant Minister for Lands and Settlement (Mr. Gachago): Is it in order, Mr. Speaker, for this House to continue debating a Motion asking the Government to do something it has already done?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, it is in order.

Mr. Mwanzandi: Mr. Speaker, I am not going to withdraw my Motion because I have, in fact, awakened the Government, and the Assistant Minister said that the Government was doing something about it now.

Mr. Speaker, the land problem at the Coast is something which troubles the public, mainly because the Arabs and Indians are occupying the land. Up-country we have seen the Minister for Lands and Settlement, the Minister for Agriculture and the Minister for Finance, Sir, going to the British Government for money to compensate the Europeans who owned the African land. Why can this same thing not happen at the Coast where we have Arabs? We could go to Zanzibar and ask for compensation; I know that the Sultan is not there but President Nyerere has taken over Zanzibar and he can compensate his people. We can go to India, Mr. Speaker, and see Mrs. Gandhi who might be able as well to compensate her people so that we could own our own land. This is a fact, Mr. Speaker. Whether or not the Government will compensate the landlords, we want the land. We are not interested in compensation. Mr. Speaker, during the colonial régime these landlords have been victimizing the poor people; they have left the squatters on the land, they have neglected them. The British Government paid no heed. But today, Mr. Speaker, we have our own Government bothering these people, calling them illegal squatters—they have now taken out the word "illegal"—and, to make it worse, Sir, our people are not allowed to reap their own trees, coconuts and cashew nuts are reaped by the landlords.

I wanted this assurance yesterday, just before I replied I would have withdrawn my Motion. I asked the Assistant Minister to confirm to this House that the squatters were going to be left to reap their crops, but he did not give this assurance, or the assurance that squatters would not be disturbed, Sir, until this Ministerial Committee had given its ruling. He has never done this. And these same people, Mr. Speaker—

The Assistant Minister for Lands and Settlement (Mr. Gachago): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, is the hon. Member in order to misrepresent me again in saying that I did not give that assurance when I said that I would give that assurance that the Government would be looking into the matter. I gave that assurance, and it is in HANSARD, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, quite. That is what you said, but an assurance of looking into is not the same as an assurance of a thing happening, and that is what Mr. Mwanzandi is on, I think.

Mr. Mwanzandi: Mr. Speaker, I went through the HANSARD today, he said "I can give that assurance". What does the word "can" mean? I can. He should have said "I give assurance", he said "I can give assurance".

Mr. Speaker, what we want is that the Government should go into this land problem. A lot has been said, that it would be too late should it take the next six months, Mr. Speaker, it would be too late. The public today is not to be told what to do, the public knows exactly what it wants. It has no confidence, Mr. Speaker, in Members themselves because of the Coast Province. The public does not even have confidence in the Government itself. I am sure that if the land problem is not settled in time, these people will not promote any General Election whatsoever. I wonder what would happen. We have been voted in to come and find them land, to come and find them jobs which we all say should be Africanized, not merely to be a Government rubber stamp. The Indians and Arabs have enjoyed the colonial régime, which they are still enjoying in this African Government, and the President seems to do almost nothing. When he comes to the Coast, Mr. Speaker, he says, "Go to the land", to what land shall we go? We are all squatters. "Go to the land, go to the land", and when we go to the land his policemen take the public to goal. Now, where is this land he is always talking about? If there is land in State House we can go there, but I am sure there is no land, so that phrase "Go to the land" is not sufficient until we are given the land.

Mr. Speaker, I do not know what is happening now. We have Mr. Chemzeru's Commission and there is another commission now. Does it mean that the Government has already ruled out that that is not enough? I could not tell whether they have found that gentlemen unfit and they have formed another commission. What we want is not that these few people should discuss the land problem, we want the land problem to be discussed in this House. We would like it to be discussed in this House and so find out what the Members would have to say about it. You know what Members would say, Mr. Speaker. Members are really sympathetic with their own people, but with our Ministers—whenever we tell them of this—they say "Constitution, Constitution". This Constitution is flexible, it can be amended. Where is Zanzibar's constitution today? It is not there. We might have another revolution like in Nigeria, whose old constitution is no longer there. So, let us amend ours peacefully for our own people before we get another leader who can convince them and create trouble in this independent Kenya. We have not voted for this country to protect Indians' land. This is not Indian land, this is Kenya land, and whatever land was obtained by these people should have been acquired through the proper channels, not by false pretences, Sir. Some of these landlords could, I am sure, be taken to court for fraudulently obtaining this land without right. Yet the Minister here says that we cannot do anything. Tell the Cabinet you have chosen to go ahead, Mr. Speaker. The Assistant Minister should go ahead.

There is no use in always coming to the Coast. The President and Ministers, Mr. Speaker, will not see ngomas until they give us land. We are not there to have another wrong, where we are going to entertain the rulers as if they are looking at gladiators. No, we want business now, Sir.

We want to see business of land, and business of employment, and then we will be able to see that we are independent, but not to go into an office and see Europeans and Indians, as the big bosses who go to the land. What is this independence for? We are not independent.

With those few remarks, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move:—

THAT in view of the fact that Africans in the former Coastal Strip are all described as "squatters", as if the Asian and Arab land-owners were more African than the Africans themselves, this House urges the Government to form a special commission to investigate the historical background of how the Arabs and Asians got these lands and to bring the findings to this House for discussion.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, that is not a point of order in this House, Mr. Muliro; outside, of course, representations of that kind can be made.

MOTION

DISBANDMENT OF KENYA NATIONAL YOUTH SERVICE

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move

THAT in view of the fact that Kenya National Youth Service is not achieving the aims behind its establishment, this House urges the Government to dismantle it completely and replace it by military service for all youths of this country with the priority given to those who are already in the National Youth Service.

[The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza) took the Chair]

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, before I come to give my reasons for making this suggestion, I would like to quote a few paragraphs from this beautiful book called "The National Youth Service", as it was in October 1964. Mr. Speaker, when we come to this booklet we start with page 4. "What is the National Youth Service?" then "what life in the National Youth Service

MOTION

INQUIRY INTO NON-AFRICAN OWNERSHIP OF COASTAL LAND

THAT in view of the fact that Africans in the former Coastal Strip are all described as "squatters", as if the Asian and Arab land-owners were more African than the Africans themselves, this House urges the Government to form a special commission to investigate the historical background of how the Arabs and the Asians got these lands and to bring the findings to this House for discussion.

(Mr. Mwanzandi on 4th February 1966)

(Resumption of debate interrupted on 9th February 1966)

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Hon. Members will recall that this debate was resumed yesterday and then interrupted by an adjournment of the House. There now remain twenty minutes; I will call on the Mover to reply in ten minutes' time.

Mr. Gichoya?

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, Sir, on a point of order, when this Motion was being discussed, Mr. Kase was speaking and I think he had five minutes more to complete his speech. Now, in his absence, can any Member—can I speak?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): If you catch my eye and there is still time. Mr. Gichoya got in ahead of you.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Speaker, I stand to support this Motion on the simple basis that we have accepted, as part of our cardinal principles of African Socialism, the principle of land. The very unfortunate part of it, Mr. Speaker, so far as the Coast area is concerned, is that most of the land in Mombasa, which is the one I know properly, is owned by the Arabs. It is very unfortunate that the Arabs did get this land in the Coastal area on the basis of racial superiority, as it used to be, namely, that the Africans were to be made slaves and the Arabs were to be masters. This is part of the historical background of this country. We had the British East Africa Trading Corporation which did play a very important role in preventing the Arabs from enslaving the Africans.

Now, this being the case, Sir, it is the duty of our Republic to see to it that the wrongs done in the past as far as possible should be corrected. It is not a question of forgetting that the wrongs were done and accepting the fact that these wrongs must be perpetuated. When we say, "Back to the land", Mr. Speaker, it means that we do not go to grab the land that is owned by So-and-so but we are going to till the land which we believe honestly is our own land. And in the Coastal Strip, that area is in defector ownership owned by the black people, but not the Arabs. If these facts are to be established properly, Sir, and in order to be fair to international feelings, we need a commission to investigate exactly whether these Arabs really acquired this land by grabbing it because they had their swords and weapons, and the Africans were unable to fight them, or whether it was given to them as a gift by the Africans.

If it can be proved that they got it as a gift and not by mere robbery, then they could maintain it. But in the eyes of the Africans, Sir, who apparently are the owners of this country, they feel that this land is their own.

An hon. Member: Apparently?

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Speaker, it is in actual fact—the Arabs are the real owners of this country; the land belongs to them. If we are to be fair—even if it means compensation, compensation arrangements could be made—we cannot tolerate seeing a vast area owned by a lazy person who is sleeping while he waits to get money from the Africans whom he calls squatters. These are the things that even make our own Republic look to a certain degree like a semi-republic, not a

(Mr. Gichoya) comprehensive one. Our own sovereignty should not be curtailed by certain forces; it must be a whole. And if it is to be whole in the Coast, then I can never tolerate the Coastal Strip.

Mr. Speaker, there was a time that our President wisely managed to manoeuvre—this was a wise decision—the Colonial Government and agreed to pay compensation to the Arabs in the Coastal area or the Sultan of Zanzibar, for that matter, who claimed that part as his own.

But, graciously again, Mr. Speaker, these bad people managed to overthrow the monarch, consequently the Africans were left with no claim to the land and our Government has no claim to pay any compensation to anybody for that part of Kenya.

Now, this part of Kenya—the Coastal Strip—which was formerly African owned, and which is now occupied by Arabs, ought to be returned to the Africans. In order to assess a fair compensation we need a commission. It is not the question of historical background, the historical background, Mr. Speaker, is well known: any child who has gone to school knows exactly that there was a Sultan of Zanzibar with a part of his kingdom in Kenya, a kingdom which he never obtained by the will of the people but by conquest, by slavery. Now that we are free and that part of the country is our own part, it is our duty to see to it that the Africans get their own land back. This, again, Mr. Speaker, would make the phrase "Back to the land" meaningful.

With these few words, Mr. Speaker, I beg to support.

Mr. Kaggia: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to support this Motion very strongly. Before I give my points, Sir, I would like to draw the attention of the House to the fact that for a long time we have said in this House that the Government of Kenya needs a land policy. I, personally, have said that we do not have a land policy. That is why, now, after two years of independence, the Government has not been able to solve this question of the land problem.

It is a great shame, Mr. Speaker, for Africans of the Coast Province to continue to be called squatters in their own land while the land which belonged to them is owned by foreigners, either Arabs or Asians. It is also a fact, Sir, that the Coastal Strip is part and parcel of the Republic, and yet the citizens of this country are termed as squatters in this particular area.

Mr. Speaker, I was surprised to hear the Assistant Minister who was replying to this Motion, saying that there is nothing that the Government can do because these people are protected by the Constitution. I think, Sir, that this is a great shame. The Constitution is made for the people and we are not prepared to be told by the Government that Asians are protected by the Constitution and there is nothing the Government of the African people can do to protect the Africans. The Constitution can always be changed. This House is capable of changing the Constitution, and if the Constitution protects the Arabs and it is now revealed that it does not protect Africans at the Coast it is high time that the Minister initiated amendments of the Constitution instead of telling us that there is nothing that can be done. Mr. Speaker, it is well known that the Coastal Strip was somehow sold to the British Government by the Sultan.

The Assistant Minister for Lands and Settlement (Mr. Gachago): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, the hon. Member is alleging that the Minister said that we can do nothing. I was replying to this Motion and I do not remember saying that we can do nothing. Is the hon. Member not misrepresenting what I said?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): To that extent I think the hon. Member is misrepresenting what you said. I do not think you ever said you could do nothing. You did say there were certain things you could not do because of the Constitution.

Mr. Kaggia: Mr. Speaker, I was not misrepresenting the Minister at all. What I said was that he said that he cannot do anything, and he put the responsibility of using ways and means of changing the Constitution to the Mover of this Motion. But, I would expect—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! Mr. Kaggia, you are misrepresenting him completely. In the first place the Minister did not say that they could do nothing, he said what they were trying to do. In the second place they did not throw the whole responsibility on the Mover. You must not misrepresent what other hon. Members say.

Mr. Kaggia: Mr. Speaker, that is what—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I am afraid that it is now time for the Mover to reply. Sorry.

Mr. Mwanzandi: Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker.

It is surprising, Mr. Speaker, that this problem has been continuing at the Coast for the last three years. Nothing has been done one except that yesterday when the Assistant Minister was replying he said that the Government had gone into it and had gone even further. But one thing

Mr. Sagini: Mr. Speaker, Sir, this is another question altogether.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes.

Mr. Khalif: Mr. Speaker, Sir, perhaps the Minister did not hear very well. Let me be specific with regard to this particular question. It is this: is there any reason why the Minister should not agree that the District Commissioner, Isiolo, has used his powers as district commissioner to grant a contract to put up several buildings in Isiolo without any recommendation from the Isiolo County Council?

Mr. Sagini: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think we will stick to the question, and the question in this connexion—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I do not think you need trouble, Mr. Sagini. If Mr. Khalif is referring to other contracts, it was not relevant to this question. If he is referring to this particular contract, the Minister has already said it was done with the authority of the council and that is the end of that.

QUESTION BY PRIVATE NOTICE

INCIDENTS AT MANYATTA POLICE STATION

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think you have a question by private notice, Mr. Mbogoh.

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Speaker, I beg to ask the following question by private notice.

What action is Government taking with regard to

(a) an incident at Manyatta Police Station on the 30th January 1966 when police officers there are alleged to have beaten Njeru Njuruitha so badly that he died; and

(b) an incident at the same police station on the 4th February 1966 when police officers there are alleged to have beaten Munyi Ismail and knocked out two of his teeth?

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like hon. Members to ascertain allegations and also facts. I would like to present the situation as it is, and I hope the hon. Member will listen very calmly and soberly.

(a) Mr. Speaker, Sir, the police patrol found a man, subsequently identified as Njeru Njuruitha, unconscious on the road. He was taken back to Manyatta Police Station and it was considered that he was drunk and incapable. From the police station, he was taken to hospital where he died. The post-mortem report stated that he died of alcoholic poisoning, that is, natural causes.

(b) Mr. Speaker, two police constables were in a bar after duty at 5.15 p.m.: Mr. Munyi Ismail was in the bar in a drunken state. Apparently there was a disagreement between Mr. Munyi and one of the constables. Mr. Munyi slapped the constable who hit him back and he lost two teeth. Both are being charged before the court with affray.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I would point out, Mr. Mbogoh, that obviously the second incident is sub judice so we will have to leave that.

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I will direct my question to part (a). Is the Minister aware that the information he has received is just a lie—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! No. Use some other language. Just say "untrue", that would be all right.

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Speaker, is the Minister aware that he was misinformed, in view of the fact that the same police officers had arrested me during the day on Sunday, 30th January, and they had mistreated me, because they were too drunk and that after that they went to look for those people who were defking in their houses and Mr. Njeru Njuruitha was found in his house drinking and then, after that, he was arrested and beaten and taken to the police station?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, the hon. Member did say before that this was "alleged". Now he is suggesting that I am giving him false information. I asked the hon. Members to be calm. If the hon. Member would like to know more of this, I have given him the full facts, as he requested, and when the hon. Member asked me yesterday, I speedily acquired the information as it is. Therefore, if the hon. Member wishes to know more, he should come and see me; but the facts are as they stand.

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Speaker, is the Minister aware that this is not the first time that such an incident has occurred in that area, and that the police officer there cannot discipline his men because he is below the rank of a proper police officer, and they do not even obey him, and that is why they continue to mistreat people all the time at that police station?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, I am not aware of incidents of this nature, but definitely the intention of the police force is to protect innocent people and citizens, and should any police officer or policeman behave contrary to the code of discipline, as far as the police force is concerned, he is dealt with. Matters of that nature will be investigated; and if there is any discrepancy it will be rectified.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from one of the Minister's replies, that the deceased was unconscious and sent into police custody, is it the routine of the police to send somebody who is unconscious into police custody or the hospital for treatment first?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, if the hon. Member was listening properly, he would have heard me say that he was taken back to Manyatta Police Station and it was considered that he was drunk and incapable. From the police station, he was taken to hospital where he died. I would like to assure the Members that the post-mortem report stated that he died of alcoholic poisoning. Therefore, if the hon. Members doubt the wisdom of the police action, then, further, they should query the report of the medical officer or hospital which gave this report. If there was any beating, it would have been reported.

Mr. Odiny: Mr. Speaker, Sir, on a point of order, I do not know whether I am right, but I seek your guidance on this. The Minister has just said if the Members doubt the reply he is giving, they should query the medical officer. According to our own Standing Orders, is there any section which allows a Member here to make a direct contact with the hospital without going through the Minister concerned?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No. I do not understand quite what you are saying, Mr. Odiny, but I cannot see a point of order anyhow.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, where he said that, after finding the deceased on the road unconscious, they took him to the police station, could the Minister tell us which was nearer, the police station or the hospital? And, if so, is it in accordance with police regulations that unconscious persons are sent to the police stations where there are no doctors? Might it not be because of the delay at the police station that this man died?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, if the hon. Member was listening properly, he would know that I stated that when the police were out on patrol they picked up this man when he was found on the road unconscious. And it was considered that he was a drunkard. Therefore, on reaching Manyatta Police Station, he was taken to the hospital where he died. And the post-mortem showed that he had died of natural causes.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): We must go on now. Mr. Mbogoh: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that this man had eleven children and they have been left, suppose

I wanted to raise this matter as being one of national importance under Standing Order 14, what would be the position?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): The usual procedure under an hon. Member wishes to raise a matter under Standing Order 14 is to come and consult the Speaker on the matter before the House sits, but I see very little prospect of this matter being found suitable under Standing Order 14. You can raise it on adjournment in the ordinary way.

NOTICE OF MOTION FOR THE ADJOURNMENT

UNSATISFACTORY REPLY TO QUESTION BY PRIVATE NOTICE: INCIDENTS AT MANYATTA POLICE STATION

Mr. Mbogoh: Am I allowed to raise it on adjournment at the first time there is available?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Well, I cannot guarantee quite when, but if you give me notice of that, I will bear it in mind, Mr. Mbogoh.

REPORT AND THIRD READING

THE TRAFFIC (VEHICLE LICENCES) (DURATION, FEES AND REFUND) (AMENDMENT) (RULES) (VALIDATION) BILL

Dr. De Souza: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am directed by a Committee of the whole House to report its consideration of the Traffic (Vehicle Licences)

The Minister of State, President's Office (Mr. Nyamweya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. The police are charged with the responsibility of the personal security of His Excellency the President. Therefore, any temporary closure of any road in the Republic when His Excellency is passing through it, facilitates maximum security and ease of movement.

During such temporary closures of the roads, the police are instructed to cause minimum inconvenience to the public. Normally, these closures are effected during ceremonial occasions and the Government is not aware of any undue prolonged hold-up of traffic. Hon. Members would agree, I hope, that it is essential and courteous to allow the President the maximum convenience to travel. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I may add that it would be unfair for the hon. Members of this House to claim privileges over and above other drivers on the Kenya roads.

Mr. Kerich: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Minister aware that we have been obstructed several times coming to attend the deliberations of this House and in that case, Mr. Speaker, Sir, he should instruct the policemen to have some manners.

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the hon. Members of the National Assembly, including the Ministers, at any time when they are on the road, are treated as any other persons.

Mr. Kerich: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Minister implying that when we meet the President as Members of this House, we are so dangerous to him on the roads?

Mr. Muliro: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I had not called you yet, Mr. Muliro.

Mr. Mbojoh: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, is it not true that sometimes the police close the road two hours before the President leaves his house, and it causes inconvenience to everybody and nobody can travel within those two hours along that road?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, most Members in this House are believed to be socialists who do not believe in privileges. Here, today, we are asked to create privileges—

Hon. Members: Question, question.

Mr. Nyamweya: We are asked to create privileges for Members of the National Assembly.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I do not think you realize, Mr. Nyamweya, the question that was asked of you. It was something quite different. Order! Order!

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I cannot answer while the House is so rowdy.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Quite so. The question that Mr. Mbojoh asked—and I think you must have missed it altogether—was: is it not a fact that the roads are closed two hours before the President travels, causing inconvenience to everybody? It was not any question of privileges of Members.

Mr. Nyamweya: With due respect, Mr. Speaker, Sir, the question refers to Members.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I am referring to that last supplementary question, though.

Mr. Nyamweya: It is not true. If I may add, Mr. Speaker, Sir, always when the President is to travel, the police make sure that there is a public announcement in the Press and on the radio about the roads which are bound to be temporarily stopped for members of the public, including—

Mr. Masinde: Closed.

Mr. Nyamweya:—closed, if you want the word, closed for a particular period when the President is passing by.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): We will now go back to your questions, Mr. Shikuku.

NAKURU ACCIDENT PILE-UP

Mr. Shikuku asked the Minister for Home Affairs what had caused the recent road accident at Nakuru, near the railway bridge on 30th December 1965, when seven vehicles had been involved in a pile-up.

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. An Asian driver has been charged in connection with this particular accident with: (1) Careless driving, and (2) Driving an unroadworthy vehicle.

He has pleaded guilty on the second count and not guilty on the first one. The first count is therefore sub judice.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think if it is sub judice, we cannot get any further, can we, Mr. Shikuku?

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, Sir, he has just told us about the Asian, but I am not interested in that. The supplementary I wanted to ask is about the situation in which the accident was caused. I remember having gone to the scene: it was round about the corner. Is the Minister aware that it was due to this corner that the police lanterns could not be seen from afar?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I realize, Mr. Shikuku, you are not concerned directly with the guilt or innocence of an individual, but if the circumstances matter is sub judice, all these circumstances which might or might not provide justification or extenuation are relevant to the trial and I think we have to leave it alone until the trial is over.

Mr. Khalif: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, the Minister had two answers—(a) and (b)—and he said that the first part of the answer was sub judice. Therefore, is it not in order for the part which is not sub judice to be the subject of supplementary questions?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No. Next question.

FALLOW LAND AT TURBO

Mr. Shikuku asked the Minister for Natural Resources and Tourism if he was aware that over 50,000 acres which had been set aside for afforestation in the Turbo area, was one of the most fertile areas in the whole country, within the rain belt, but which had been lying idle without being utilised to grow maize, sugar-cane etc. Could the Minister tell the House how long he intended to see this land lying fallow in view of the great shortage of foodstuff.

The Minister for Natural Resources and Tourism (Mr. Ayodo): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. It is rather misleading for the hon. Member to imply that 50,000 acres of usable land in Turbo area is lying fallow. A large part of the area belongs to the East African Tanning Co. Ltd. and as far as we know, it is being fully utilized. Arrangements are being made to purchase this land as the needs arise. Approximately 9,000 acres belong to various farmers. There is, therefore, only about 20,000 acres to which this question might apply.

In discussing the land in Turbo area, we must not forget that our primary objective is to grow trees to feed a pulp mill at Broderick Falls. In the course of doing this, however, my Ministry, in collaboration with the Ministry of Agriculture and Animal Husbandry, intends to make the best use of the area possible.

With regard to the 20,000 acres, various measures have been instituted to bring the area into full production. Acting as the Government's representative on the Agricultural aspects of afforestation, the Agricultural Development Corporation (A.D.C.) has already engaged a manager with the special responsibility over the 20,000 acres. In addition, the A.D.C. is arranging to take over from the Department of Veterinary Services some 4,000 head of ALMO stocks and are now making financial arrangements in regard to the purchase thereof. Approximately 1,000 acres will be developed as a national farm for production of food as found fit by the representatives of the Ministry of Agriculture. In subsequent years, there will be an increase in the agricultural use of this land.

I must emphasize, however, that with regard to the agricultural use of this land, it is the normal practice of my Ministry to allow land for afforestation initially to be used for production of food by the forestry worker before it is planted with trees, but that the agricultural use of land in this area is a secondary objective. The establishment of a paper mill will, undoubtedly, have a greater effect on the economy of this country than would be the growing of food crops. The Government, therefore, considers it very important to grow timber to feed the proposed multi-million pound pulp and paper mill at Broderick Falls.

ISILO COUNTY COUNCIL CONTRACTS

Mr. Aremam, on behalf of Mr. Bonaya, asked the Minister for Local Government if he was aware that a contract to build several buildings for the Isiolo County Council had been given to Ahmed Osman without the knowledge or recommendations of the members of the county council.

The Minister for Local Government (Mr. Sagini): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. The contract agreement in question was concluded by the Isiolo County Council Commission on 11th January 1965.

The county council commission functioned until the 30th June 1965, when it was dissolved.

All the contract agreement documents have been properly executed.

Mr. Khalif: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Minister says that the county council was dissolved in June 1965. Is there any reason or reasons why the Minister should not agree with me to the effect that district commissioners have, to a very large extent, in all districts, formerly known as Northern Frontier District, used their powers as district commissioners to grant contracts to various contractors without the knowledge or recommendations, for that matter, of the county councils?

[The Minister for Home Affairs] district commissioner. This does not mean, however, that the district officer must be confined at his desk throughout the week waiting for passport applicants. He may have more important duties to perform outside the office, in which case, the passport applicants would, naturally, not find him there. In any case, the onus should be on the applicant to make an appointment with the district officer to deal with his application.

Mr. Bala: Arising from the Minister's reply, Sir, could the Minister tell the House when they changed the system so that the district officer could now deputise for the district commissioner, since we know that it is the district commissioner who is to testify the sureties and not the district officer?

Mr. arap Moi: I have stated, Mr. Speaker, that when applicants come to the district commissioner's office and they do not find the district commissioner, a district officer is normally in the office to help the applicants. If the district officer can make arrangements, sign and see that whoever signs the sureties can make arrangements for the applicant, then everything can be arranged in a way which will satisfy the Immigration Department.

Mr. Gatuguta: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply in which he said that some sureties did not have resources, could he tell the House what the income of a person has to be for him to be considered a proper surety?

Mr. arap Moi: Normally, I think the hon. Members are knowledgeable because some of them have signed bonds and sureties, some up to Sh. 30,000 and I hope they will not be surprised when bills are sent to them should anyone overseas whose bond has been signed by an hon. Member, or anyone outside this House would have to pay the bill. The amount which is required by any person depends on the distance from Kenya to the country to which the student or person went; if he happens to be in New York then the amount which would be payable will be within the region of Sh. 5,000.

Mr. Gatuguta: Mr. Speaker, Sir, could the Minister tell this House whether there is any special need for two sureties? Why not one, if the one has enough money to give the security?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, a person is considered on his own merit. If he happens to have sufficient funds to enable the Government to secure that money, the Government would not be worried about a second surety.

Dr. De Souza: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Minister consider that those people who have sufficient funds to meet any such contingency, namely if they pay income tax or they have property or businesses, would not need any security whatsoever?

Mr. arap Moi: That one I will note.

Mr. Bahala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, can the Minister tell this House whether there is any limit to the number of security forms which an hon. Member of this House can sign?

Mr. arap Moi: Definitely. My Ministry traces—if, for example, Mr. Speaker, an hon. Member signs a security of a certain student, my Ministry will have to trace how many sureties he has signed, or how many people he has sponsored to go overseas. If it happens to be ten or so, the sureties are reduced, depending on his resources.

Mr. Oselu-Nylick: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, could he tell the House why it is not expedient to have passport offices opened in Mombasa, Kisumu, Nakuru and Eldoret to cater for the people in these areas?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the hon. Member ought to acquaint himself with facts, and I think the best thing for him to do is to visit Mombasa and he will find that there is a passport office and an immigration office in Mombasa. Similarly, I have indicated that district commissioners' offices in other areas deal with these matters.

Mr. Makone: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that many Kenya students went abroad to study before we were independent, what arrangements is the Minister making to provide these students with passports when they come back home?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): That is another question, I think.

Mr. Bahala: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, the question of limitation of security bonds for hon. Members has not been answered by the Minister, would it be in order for me to press him to answer the question?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Not as a point of order, I am afraid.

Next question.

Question No. 266

POLICE POST FOR NYABASI TRADING CENTRE

Mr. Malsori-Itumbo asked: The Minister for Home Affairs if he could tell the house when he was going to fulfil the promise of building a police post at Nyabasi Trading Centre.

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. I am not considering the building of a police post at Nyabasi at present because of the lack of funds but I intend, when funds become available, to establish a frontier patrol check point at this place.

In the meantime, I am satisfied that Nyabasi is adequately policed by personnel from Kibancha Police Station which is strategically about twelve miles away.

My information shows that criminal activity in the Nyabasi area is not unduly high. In 1965, only six cases of crime were reported to the police.

Mr. Malsori-Itumbo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, could he tell us how many people, since 1963 to date have been beaten to death? Also, Mr. Speaker, Sir, could he tell us how many people have been deprived of their properties from that time up to this moment by the Tanzania people, because this trading centre is on the border of Kenya and Tanzania? Also, Sir, the Minister must assure this House of how many cases, not merely inform us of six cases.

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not know whether the hon. Member is confusing the two points. I did mention, Mr. Speaker, Sir, that when funds become available, we will establish a frontier patrol check point which means that the frontier or the boundary between Kenya and Tanzania will be looked after by police patrol, and the question which he asked with regard to the people being beaten to death, since 1963, then I think that is another question which should be asked separately.

Mr. Malsori-Itumbo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, since this case is a chronic case, in fact, the trading centre has been in a chronic situation and every Member is aware of the trouble in this particular place, would the Minister investigate and have a full report made from this particular area before he gives the House false information?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I must protest, and ask the hon. Member to be sane and talk sense.

Mr. Malsori-Itumbo: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, since the word insane is a criminal and unlawful word, would the Minister assure the House that I am not insane?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! No, insanity is not itself a crime. On the other hand, it is out of order to impute insanity to an hon. Member, so I will withdraw that imputation, Mr. arap Moi, I am sure?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I did not say insane, I said sane—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! You make it quite clear—

Mr. arap Moi: I withdraw that one. I would like, Mr. Speaker, Sir, to say that the Member suggesting that I give false information—

Mr. Masinder: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, with due respect to the hon. Minister, would it be in order for the hon. Minister to address any hon. Member here as a Member, but not using the actual qualifications of the Member which is hon. Member.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You will remember that, Mr. arap Moi.

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, as I said the hon. Member keeps on saying that I give false information. The other day, not long ago, about four days ago, when he had made a false allegation in this House, we flew over his area—

Mr. Malsori-Itumbo: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, what I want is the answer to my question. I am not prepared to—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! You cannot rise on a point of order like that. Sit down, Mr. Malsori-Itumbo.

Mr. Khalif: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, when the Minister is answering a specific question on the Order Paper, is it in order, Sir, that the Minister should refer the House to a question, or a discussion, which a Member has brought to this House some time ago? Is it in order, Sir?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): So long as it is relevant, I think, in this case, it is. Continue, Mr. arap Moi.

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, if the hon. Member wants to know about something, then he must accept the information given. I did mention that in the whole of 1965, there were only six cases reported to the police, and therefore, there was no need at all to build a police post at Nyabasi.

Question No. 234

TRAFFIC PRIVILEGES FOR MEMBERS

Mr. Kerich asked the President if he would tell the House what privileges were available to Members, who were occasionally obstructed or delayed by the police when coming to attend the deliberations of the House, when the President happened to be going on tour out of Nairobi and the roads he was supposed to travel along were cleared of traffic and the Members travelling along such roads were affected.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! No, what I said was that if you want to criticize the Chair, you must do that.

Mr. Gichoya: No, Mr. Speaker. I am not talking about the point of the Chair but about the Minister—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Well, I think you misunderstood me; I was referring to criticism of the Chair.

Mr. Gichoya: You did put it previously, Sir, before the hon. Mr. Oduya talked about his own dissatisfaction; I am referring to your previous ruling which stated that if we wanted to discuss anything to do with a failure on the part of a Minister, it must be done on a substantive Motion—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No. I must ask hon. Members to listen to what I say. If they have not heard, they will have to be content to read it in HANSARD afterwards, instead of asking the same question again. What I told Mr. Muliro was that if hon. Members are dissatisfied with the conduct of Government, they have a variety of procedures open to them, a substantive Motion being one of them, raising the matter on an adjournment another, questions another, and reaction to question yet another. There are all those different procedures. I do not want, after I have said all that, an hon. Member to get up and say I said something else, please. We are wasting a lot of time that way.

Mr. Ogile: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, we are continually reminded that Ministers are at complete liberty to decide whether they will reply to a question or not. In the Ministry of Education, we have the Minister and two Assistant Ministers, and the fact being that the Assistant Minister, who was trying to reply to this question, is always, more or less, inefficient—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Where is your point of order?

Mr. Ogile: I would like to know, Mr. Speaker, whether it is in order for us to decide that this question should be answered by another Assistant Minister in the same Ministry.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No.

Mr. Khalif, On a point of order, Sir—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, Mr. Oloitiptip, Mr. Khalif is now on a point of order. We get these, spates sometimes; we have to be patient.

Mr. Khalif: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am very serious about this. Is it not within our Standing Orders that when an hon. Member of this Chamber, whether he is a Minister or a Back-bencher, does want to move that the House do adjourn, with the necessary support of other Members, he can do so without getting the opinion or the approval of the Speaker?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think you had better study your Standing Orders, Mr. Khalif, if you are not satisfied with what I have told you about them.

POINT OF ORDER

RULING ON POINTS OF ORDER

The Assistant Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Oloitiptip): Mr. Speaker, you will excuse me because my voice is not very good today. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is this. It appears that this afternoon this question has delayed us in carrying out the rest of the business of the day, and the Members have kept on raising points of order all the time. You, Mr. Speaker, as the Speaker of the House, have ruled and have given enough replies to the Members. Is it not in order for you, as Speaker, to rule that we move to the next Order so that we do not just come here and sit and waste taxpayers' money for nothing and—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Will hon. Members preserve order, if they want to continue business at all this afternoon? I think you have made your point, Mr. Oloitiptip.

Order! I do not know what has come over the House this afternoon.

The answer, Mr. Oloitiptip, is that however dull it may be—and sometimes wasteful of time—the Speaker must go on hearing any points of order which are raised. We do sometimes get, as I say, these spates of points of order; it seems to be infectious. But he must go on hearing them unless he thinks that they are fraudulent or frivolous. We are not far off the frivolous now, I think.

POINT OF ORDER

RULING ON GIVING NOTICE OF MOTION ON ADJOURNMENT IN ORDER TO EXPRESS DISSATISFACTION AT ABSENCE OF MINISTER

Mr. Muliro: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, in view of the dissatisfaction of the Members in connexion with this particular Minister, who is incapacitated from doing his work, would I be in order to move a Motion on adjournment about the behaviour of the Minister in question?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, if you gave written notice, you could do that.

Can we go on now?

Several hon. Members: Yes!

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

NYANDU ROADS: IMPROVEMENT

Mr. Bala asked the Minister for Works, Communications and Power if he was aware that the following roads were very poorly maintained and required immediate improvement before the long rains in March, 1966; Katito to Kusa, Ramula to Kibigori; Sonda to Nyabondo; and Kisian to Bondo.

The Assistant Minister for Works, Communications and Power (Mr. Bomett): I am aware and am very concerned that the standard of maintenance of certain roads in the Kisumu County Council area require improvement, and the provincial engineer of my Ministry is already investigating and advising the county council on the matter.

However, all the roads mentioned by the hon. Member, with the exception of the Paponditi-Kusa section of the Katito-Kusa Road and the Sonda-Nyabondo Road, are secondary roads which attract Government maintenance grants from my Ministry totalling £5,390, including approximately, £950 for administration charges in the present financial year.

If these grants are spent efficiently, there is no reason why the roads should be poorly maintained.

The Sonda-Nyabondo Road and the Paponditi-Kusa section of the Katito-Kusa Road, are minor roads, which must be maintained by the Kisumu County Council from its own revenue, such as from Graduated Personal Tax.

Mr. Bala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, and in view of the fact that the road from Kisian to Bondo goes as far as the Vice-President's home, could the Assistant Minister consider tarmacking this road so as to dignify it?

Mr. Bomett: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the tarmacking or improvement of any road is done depending on the estimates and depending on priorities given by a particular province; and I am not aware, Sir, that the Nyanza Provincial Council has earmarked the particular road in question for tarmacking. If it does, and we have funds, it will be done.

Mr. Kall: Mr. Speaker, can the Assistant Minister assure this House that all the public services cannot, and will never, be performed according to somebody's position in public?

Mr. Bomett: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I can give that assurance and I hope that nobody will press for public services as a result of his own Government status.

Mr. Khassakbala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, is he aware that as the vehicle owners operating on these roads pay the same amount as other people who run on tarmac roads, and they are not making use of their vehicles on these particular roads, special rates and licences should be considered for these people who cannot use their vehicles because of the bad roads?

Mr. Bomett: Mr. Speaker, Sir, no. It is the view of this Government that all roads will eventually be improved and we are expanding slowly.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Next question. Mr. Shikuku? Mr. Shikuku?

I called your name twice, Mr. Shikuku. We have gone on now to Mr. Bala's question.

Question No. 258

HARDSHIPS ENDURED BY PASSPORT APPLICANTS

Mr. Bala asked the Minister for Home Affairs whether he was aware of the hardships experienced by applicants for new passports in that:

- a district commissioner required before him two sureties and three witnesses, in addition to the presence of the applicant, before he signed the necessary certificate;
- and that there was no officer on duty at district headquarters to handle this work throughout the week days.

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. (a) The Government has spent almost Sh. 200,000 on repatriation of Kenya nationals from abroad and when the issue was examined, it was found that some of the sureties who were signatories to the bond were not men of resources. The Government decided that in order to save the public money, a Government representative in the field should certify that sureties are men of resources, and that is why the D.C. has to make sure that whoever signs as a surety fulfils the conditions required by the Government. The Government only requires two sureties and if they are able to satisfy the D.C. that they are men of resources, then they sign the bond.

(b) The allegation that duty officers at district headquarters are not usually available to deal with passport applicants cannot be accepted. I am informed by the President's Office that there is generally a district officer at district headquarters who deals, among other matters, with applications for passports in the absence of the

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, that particular Motion would not be within the purpose or meaning of Standing Order 14.

Mr. Masinde: Mr. Speaker, Sir, on a point of order, as a matter of national importance, that the whole House and the nation at large has no confidence in this Minister, is it not in Standing Order 14 as a matter of national importance?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! I have already said no, but if you want further reasons, the main reason is that the only thing you can raise under Standing Order 14 is a matter of administration, and that does not include your own lack of confidence in a Minister.

Mr. Khalif: Mr. Speaker, Sir, on a point of order, and in view of the fact that the majority of Members of this House have indicated today that no answer at all has been put up by the Ministry of Education in respect of this particular question, would it be in order, Sir, to request you to order the Ministry concerned to answer this question at a later date when they have all the information?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! I gather the Minister has in effect said that he will answer it at a later date. He might, perhaps, be prepared to say how soon.

Mr. Masinde: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, —

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I am dealing with a point of order now. Will you sit down, Mr. Masinde.

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I will be able to give the required answer next week.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Before we take your point of order, Mr. Masinde, I would point out that in view of the nature of the required reply as described by the Minister, it should be a written reply and not an oral reply. But, in a week's time.

POINT OF ORDER

RULING ON SUSPENSION OF BUSINESS

Mr. Masinde: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that this House is not interested in the answer from the Assistant Minister whom we have heard several times, would I be in order to move that we suspend the business of the day to enable the Minister to come at six o'clock, from wherever he may be in the country, so that he can answer?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It is in order for an hon. Member to move not the suspension of business but to move the adjournment of the House, but the House only entertains that Motion if the Speaker thinks it's proper it should be entertained. We have dealt at length with the right way of handling questions, particularly this question, and it is not justifiable to insist on the Minister providing, in four hours, information which he says he does not have. He has promised a written reply within a week and that is perfectly reasonable.

POINT OF ORDER

RULING ON WRITTEN REPLIES

Mr. Gichoya: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, how shall we get a written answer to this question because, apparently, some of us are prepared to raise it on an adjournment. Are we going to get a copy of the answer so that we could, at a later stage, raise the issue if we are not satisfied?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think hon. Members are aware by now that written replies, just like oral replies, are published in HANSARD. Hon. Members can see them there, and there is always the right to raise a matter of administration on an adjournment by notice to the Speaker.

METHODS OF EXPRESSING DISSATISFACTION AT ABSENCE OF MINISTERS

Mr. Muliro: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to seek your guidance on how best this House could conduct itself in order to get the best possible answer from the Ministers who are paid a salary and not from the Assistant Ministers. It is becoming a custom, Mr. Speaker, Sir, for the Ministers to absent themselves continuously from the House.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I am always prepared to advise hon. Members on procedure though, I think, it is usually better outside the Chamber than in the Chamber, in the course of business. There are so many different procedures open to hon. Members whereby they can express their dissatisfaction. They do it at the time of question very often, as they are doing today. They can do it by raising a matter on an adjournment. They can do it by substantive motion. They have all those opportunities of expressing their dissatisfaction with Government or any particular Minister in the Government. I would recommend any one of those ways.

Mr. Masinde: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that this House has tried to pursue the line that the Minister be recalled to answer the question and the Speaker continues to rule it out, under which Standing Order of this House can we get the answer from the Speaker to enable this House to discuss the matter in question: the particular Minister? It is not a question of the Government, it is the particular, given Minister.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): If you did not hear or understand my answer to Mr. Muliro, I am sorry.

POINT OF ORDER

RULING ON ADJOURNMENT OF THE HOUSE

Mr. Khalif: On a point of order, Sir, supposing that the majority of Members present in this Chamber now resolve that they would like to discuss this matter and would like to adjourn the House to discuss it, what would be the position, Sir?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): If the hon. Member is proposing a substantive Motion for the adjournment of the House, I have explained that it can only come for decision of a majority if the Speaker allows it. You will find it in Standing Orders. If the hon. Member is suggesting a Motion for the adjournment of the House under Standing Order 14, that again can only come if the Speaker rules that it is a definite matter of urgent public importance, and it has to be a matter of administration, and it has to be supported by at least ten Members.

Mr. Khalif: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, following your ruling, Sir, in respect of Standing Order 14, in which ten Members have to support a matter being a definite matter of national importance, would it be in order for me to suggest that we discuss this matter under that Standing Order by having at least ten Members on their feet?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): What particular matter do you want to discuss under that Standing Order, Mr. Khalif?

Mr. Khalif: The matter which I would like to be discussed under Standing Order 14 is the administration of the Ministry of Education, the continued absence of the Minister.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, I have to rule that that particular matter is not sufficiently definite or urgent for Standing Order 14 to be applied.

POINT OF ORDER

HOW TO EXPRESS DISSATISFACTION OF THE CHAIR

Mr. Oduya: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I seek your ruling or guidance on this issue. What other chances are left to the Members of this House if they decide that possibly the Chair might be sort of trying to defend the Government machinery, the Government or the Minister? How will the Members express their dissatisfaction of the Chair?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Dissatisfaction with what, Mr. Oduya?

Mr. Oduya: No, I mean when the Members are —

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No. Order! Order! You were saying you wanted some way of expressing your dissatisfaction of the Chair. I want to know dissatisfaction with what.

Mr. Oduya: I think I had better repeat the whole thing.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I should not think you need to do that, no. Are you asking how you can express dissatisfaction with the Speaker's ruling?

Mr. Oduya: Supposing the Members felt that possibly the Chair is trying to help cover up the Government's mistakes what chances are left to us if the Members feel they are really dissatisfied with the ruling of the Chair? How do they express their dissatisfaction?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, I will answer that question. I think I have told you the answer to this one before. Hon. Members are always free to come and speak to the Speaker privately, expressing their dissatisfaction; and they have on certain occasions. In the House, your only way of expressing dissatisfaction is by a substantive Motion. If you want to criticize the conduct of the Speaker, you have to move a substantive Motion expressly for that purpose, which you are entitled to do. You can even move that his services be dispensed with, but you would need a three-quarters majority to carry it through.

Mr. Kalli: Mr. Speaker, I would like to repeat some comments I made when we were in the other side of the building, namely, that I feel —

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): This is a point of order, is it?

Mr. Kalli: Yes, I feel our Standing Orders are very strict, and you find that even in the House of Commons, a topical matter can be discussed on the same day as it is happening. So in our case, Sir, I think the Orders we have made for ourselves are very strict and we ought to reconsider them.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): That is hardly a point of order. It is up to the House to amend Standing Orders by resolution at any time.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Speaker, on a point of order, you have stated clearly that if we want to have anything discussed on the side of the Government, it should come in terms of a substantive Motion, and we have already —

Question No. 235

TEA FACTORY IN BELGUT

Mr. Kerich asked the Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry if he would tell the House when the Kenya Tea Authority was going to build a tea factory in Belgut to serve the people growing tea in that area.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. The first factory in Kericho will open in March. This factory should be able to process all the tea grown in the Kericho area until around 1970. But, if it cannot cope with the crop, the hon. Member need have no fear as the second factory will probably be put up by 1970.

Mr. Kerich: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Assistant Minister aware that the said factory is about fifty miles from my constituency?

An hon. Member: So what?

Mr. Kerich: In that case, we need a factory as soon as possible.

Mr. Osogo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, factories are put up to process the available tea leaves, and the factory that is going to be opened in March will be able to process all the leaf that is grown at present in Kericho, including the hon. Member's constituency.

Question No. 220

PUPILS EXPELLED FROM SECONDARY SCHOOLS

Mr. Godia asked the Minister for Education if he would tell the House the number of pupils who had been expelled from secondary schools in the year 1964/1965 and the circumstances that had led to such an action.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. It is not the policy of my Ministry to expel any pupils from school, but from time to time, it becomes necessary to do so for disciplinary reasons. No statistics are compiled in my Ministry for such depressing cases, and therefore, Sir, such information would necessarily take a long time to complete, but action has already been initiated to obtain the necessary information.

Mr. Godia: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising out of the Assistant Minister's reply, does he mean to tell the House that the secondary school headmasters do not give the information when they expel pupils from their schools?

Mr. Mutiso: Sir, what happens is that when a certain school decides to expel some pupils, before that action is taken, we are informed of the intention of the school to expel these pupils. Although we also give some directions, the whole responsibility lies with the board of governors.

Mr. Omweri: Mr. Speaker, Sir, since the Education Ordinance requires an expelled pupil to be reported to the education officer and thereby the Ministry of Education is informed, would the Assistant Minister assure this House that, in future, his Ministry will take action and compile a list of the pupils so expelled, so that this House is informed when it requires to be so?

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I did not say that there is no list which can be found. I said that this process will take a long time, going through many files of different schools, so as to know and obtain the number of pupils who have been dismissed. Therefore, Sir, if the hon. Member wishes to get this information, I can definitely supply it, but it will take a long time.

Mr. Malsuri-Itumbo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, could he tell the House any number which is available, because the question has been in his Ministry for more than ten days?

Mr. Mutiso: As I said earlier, Sir, this requires a lot of time and ten days are not enough, bearing in mind the number of secondary schools throughout the country and also the difficulty of communications in various parts of the country. Therefore, if the hon. Member or the House requires a compiled list of the pupils who have been dismissed, as I have assured the House, I will give this at a later date.

Mr. Tuwel: Mr. Speaker, Sir, what is the future of the pupils expelled from schools as regards employment?

Mr. Mutiso: This is not the business of my Ministry, Sir.

Mr. Gichoya: In view of the fact that the Assistant Minister has explained to the House that the Government does not have a list whereby they know the number of students expelled from each school, is the Assistant Minister prepared, from today, to put this as a principle, that in every secondary school, whether Harambee or otherwise, the list of expelled students and the [Mr. Gichoya] reasons behind the expulsion should be submitted to the Ministry, so that this House does not face the same problem of failing to get the facts?

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, Sir, as I said earlier, there are lists of the expelled pupils already in the different schools. If the hon. Member wants the Ministry to make it a policy of compiling a list of those who have been expelled, this, first of all, has to be discussed with the board of governors of the various schools.

POINT OF ORDER

TIME FOR PREPARING ORAL REPLY

Mr. Ngala: On a point of order Mr. Speaker, I am querying the right of the Minister to have ten days of warning that the question was coming on the Order Paper. I also presume that when a question comes on the Order Paper, the Minister has been well informed and has signified his readiness to give a reply. Now, when a question like this comes up asking for the numbers of expelled children from the various secondary schools, which requires telephone calls to get the information, is the Minister right in saying that he is not prepared to answer this question when he was given ample time to get this information, and allow it to come on the Order Paper?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): The purpose of our Standing Order, which requires a question for oral reply to appear on the Order Paper within ten days, is to ensure that the House hears from the Minister what answer, if any, he is prepared to give, and he cannot delay that answer indefinitely. Yet there may be times when ten days is not enough to provide the information required, and it is always open to a Minister to come here when the question appears on the Order Paper and say that he has not had enough time to do the research required. Whether the House accepts that answer or not, is entirely a matter for the House, just as it is a matter for the House always how far they are satisfied with any answer given by the Minister. But, as I have said many times, there is no order whereby the Minister can be required to give a particularly specific answer or even an answer at all. It always comes back to the question of how far the House is satisfied with what he has said. That I have to leave the House to judge.

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, Sir, since the question is specifically asking for those boys who were expelled in 1964 and in 1965, and since there is a list at all provincial headquarters of such boys, will the Assistant Minister tell the House what he did, in his efforts to answer this question, as far as contacting the provincial education officers so that they could supply him with the lists which they hold in their offices? This would enable him to answer the question half-way.

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I said earlier that the time which was available in which to get the necessary information on this question was not enough, and I said, Sir, that this required a lot of research in many schools where—

Hon. Members: Sit down.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order!

Mr. Mutiso: I did indicate, Sir, to the House that should it be necessary for the Members to know the number of pupils who have been dismissed, I promised the House that I would be able to supply the list at a later date.

POINT OF ORDER

STANDING ORDERS: WHETHER QUESTION CAN BE DELAYED

Mr. Ngala-Abok: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, since our Standing Order requires that any Ministry must be prepared to answer a question within ten days after receiving a Member's question, is there any means by which the Ministry might ask the Speaker to have the answer delayed while that Ministry is still collecting more information? Or, must answers be given, even if they are going to be unsatisfactory, within ten days? Is there any clause in our Standing Orders which can allow a Ministry to delay answering a question when it is still investigating or still seeking more information?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes. As I said, the question has to appear on the Order Paper within ten days, but it would be in order for a Minister to come to the House, as Mr. Mutiso has done today, at the end of ten days and say he has not had time to gather all information required and he proposes to answer it at a later date. That would be in order.

NO CONFIDENCE IN MINISTER

Mr. Masinde: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that this House has demanded, more than twenty times, that the Minister himself should be present to answer some of these questions, is it in order for me to move—as a matter of national importance—a Motion of no confidence in the Minister?

[The Minister for Economic Planning and Development]

our job becomes very difficult when all we are being faced with is a set or series of generalizations devoid of facts.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the hon. Member for Buret has spoken, and I am sure that the public and the Press listening here would be led to think that in this country, and the Government, there is no place for people of his tribe. Mr. Speaker, Sir, the position is this, and I would like him to listen and also the House to note this.

I will give only very few examples to disprove the impression that is being conveyed, that people from his own area have been completely ignored in this Government and since independence. Mr. Speaker, our ambassador to Peking is none other than Mr. Koske, from this gentleman's district. Mr. Speaker, the District Commissioner of Nairobi is from his area. The District Commissioner, Mombasa, is from his area. The District Commissioner, Lodwar, is from that area. The District Commissioner, Kirinyaga, is from that area. The District Commissioner, Machakos, is from that area. The District Commissioner, Kisumu, is from that area. These are the people who are being ignored! This is the Kalenjin tribe which, we are being told, is being ignored!

Mr. Speaker, the hon. Member wanted to make a case here that in education the Kalenjin in the Rift Valley are being ignored because people of other tribes are sitting on top of them. Mr. Speaker, the Provincial Education Officer, Rift Valley, is a Kalenjin from his district, from Nandi. The District Education Officer, Kipsigis, from the area represented by this gentleman, is a Kipsigis. Now, Mr. Speaker, where are these mysterious Kikuyu and Luo sitting on top of the Kipsigis in education in his district? Mr. Speaker, the hon. Member is suffering from a figment of his imagination.

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, is the Minister in order to infer that the hon. Member is suffering from whatever he calls it?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! The hon. Member did not allege any unpleasant disease; he alleged a figment of the imagination. That is not an offensive expression of opinion. Most of us do it some time.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Speaker, I have the greatest respect for the hon. Member, but when he gets up here with the support of the hon. Member for Butere, who has become a professional Seconded of Motions, to try and mislead the House, then, Sir, something is wrong.

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order!

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): I withdraw that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, will he apologize?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): He has withdrawn it.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Speaker, I could go on mentioning many other people of this area and tribal group who are holding very responsible positions. The Director of the Broadcasting Services is from his area; the man who is in charge of our police training at Kiganjo College is from his area. I mean, there are so many of these people all over the place. Mr. Speaker, what is even more, the hon. Member is himself here.

Mr. arap Biy: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, is the Minister in order to refer to me as having been brought here by the Government and not by my own people?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You are quite right. Mr. arap Biy, it is no mark of credit to the Government that your constituents elected you.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): But, Mr. Speaker, what I was really saying was that the Government enabled him to be so educated as to come here.

Mr. Speaker, let me also repeat one thing, because suggestions have been made that the Government selects students from certain tribes and does not give opportunities to others. The position is this. The Government, since internal self-government, decided that the fairest way to ensure that all parts of Kenya are considered in the selection of students, is to place selection in the hands of an impartial body, comprising persons elected by the people from those areas, and this is the committee now which selects the students to go overseas. It consists of the following members: the hon. Masinde Muliro, from the area which the hon. Member for Butere was speaking for, or the tribal group and he is the leader of the tribe—

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, is the Minister in order to tell the House or to mislead the House that the hon. Mr. Masinde Muliro comes from Western Kenya when he comes from the Rift Valley, constitutionally, and the Constitution has not been amended? Read your geography.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Speaker, I will go even further and tell the House that the hon. Martin Shikuku is on the committee—

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I have just questioned a statement by the Minister, that Mr. Muliro comes from Western Province, when he does not. Is the Minister in order to mislead the House?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Hon. Members must be correct in their description of the constituents.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): I am quite correct, Mr. Speaker. I said the hon. Mr. Masinde Muliro comes from the tribe for which the hon. Member, Mr. Martin Shikuku, was speaking:

the Abaluhya tribe. He is the elected leader of the Abaluhya people, under whom the hon. gentleman serves.

Mr. Speaker, the other members of the committee are Mr. Robert Matano from the Coast, Mr. ole Tipis from the Rift Valley, Mr. J. Njeru, hon. C. H. Wariithi, hon. W. K. Chirchir, hon. M. Shikuku, hon. A. Khalif and hon. Odero-Jowi. Mr. Speaker, it can be seen that every area of Kenya is represented. If we tried to have a committee representative of every tribe, it would be larger than this Assembly; it would be an impossible assembly.

ADJOURNMENT

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): That is the end of our half-hour. The House is adjourned until tomorrow, Thursday, 10th February, at 2.30 p.m.

The House rose at Seven o'clock.

[The Minister for Economic Planning and Development]

When a Minister—in this case, the Assistant Minister—states in this House that the selections are done by headmasters, and some Members persist in questioning that statement, what position does the House take to ascertain the facts and the truth?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): As I have explained many times, this House cannot actually sit as a jury on fact. What can be done, and what is done, is to ask a Member for substantiation of the fact that he alleges, which is simply to ask on what grounds; it is not asking for proof, it is asking on what grounds he said it. I have no doubt that, if asked to substantiate on this particular occasion, the Assistant Minister would say, "Because those are the directions that go from my Ministry." And there is the substantiation. That is all it amounts to.

What does happen, as I have said again on other occasions, is that if, after substantiating giving reasons for his statement, a Member—Minister or otherwise—is proved untrue, he is required to come to this House and acknowledge that it was untrue. That comes afterwards.

POINT OF ORDER*PROOF OF STATEMENTS

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I think we will be running into difficulties when, in fact, some Members in the House virtually shout that the Assistant Minister is telling a lie in this House. I would have thought that that was a serious allegation and those Members should either substantiate the position or else the House, I would have thought, should require that the issue is clarified, because, in the interests of the public and of the functioning of the Government, this kind of issue does create difficulties.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! Statements by Members, including Ministers, are very often questioned by other Members in this House, and this is one of the privileges of Members, to question the veracity of what is said. The words "liar" or "lies" are unparliamentary words which must not be used in this House, but I say that the right to shout "Question" or otherwise doubt the veracity of what is said must remain in this House.

Several hon. Members: Point of order, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): There is only one minute left in which to hear the Minister, if you want any more points of order—

Mr. Anyien: On a point of order, the point I want to raise is this, Sir. Some Members here are contending that what they are saying is correct and the Minister here is contending that what he is saying is correct. In that case, is it not fair that, when things are at that stage, before they are proved any further, everyone should stick to his own guns?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): That is what happens; that is exactly what happens. Let us get on with it.

Mr. Makone: Point of order, Mr. Speaker. This point arises from the point of order raised by the hon. Minister, Mr. Mboya. Mr. Speaker, without doubting the ability of the Assistant Minister—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): That does not come into it.

POINT OF ORDER*ATTENDANCE OF MEMBERS AND MINISTERS

Mr. Makone:—what shall we do when we get into a situation where we get replies from time to time from the Assistant Minister and the Minister himself does not appear in Parliament? What powers do we have to bring him to Parliament and ask him questions? What powers have we to force him to come to Parliament?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Hon. Members will persist in raising the same question over and over again. I have told the House so often that no one can force any Member—Minister or otherwise—to attend this House, apart from any amendment to the Constitution which will penalize absentee Members. But the House has that ultimate sanction of registering disapproval, and finally, if the disapproval becomes so great and so unanimous, it can amount to a vote of no confidence. That is the ultimate power of the House; but it is not a power to bring one particular Member to this House. It is now time for the interruption of business.

MOTION FOR THE ADJOURNMENT*TRAINING FOR "HIGH-LEVEL" MANPOWER

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I will now call on the Minister to move that the House do now adjourn.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move that the House do now adjourn.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Oneko) seconded.

Mr. arap Bly: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move the following Motion on adjournment as regards the unsatisfactory reply to Question No. 58 which asked the Minister for Economic Planning and

(Mr. arap Bly)

Development what his Ministry was doing to correct the imbalance which existed now in training high-level manpower, both at home and abroad between the former follower tribes of Kisan and Kadu. The question, Sir, was answered by the Assistant Minister for Education and his answer, was not satisfactory, because, as far as my own constituency stands, there is not even a single student who has been given any place abroad to further his education in order to have a good position in this Government, to work, either tomorrow or in some years to come.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Assistant Minister for Education, in his reply, gave information to the House that the 5,000 young Kenyans who were studying overseas for high-level manpower were mainly from various corners of this country, and he failed to tell us exactly what the tribal breakdown of the students was and of their places of origin. When the Assistant Minister comes to reply today, I hope he will tell us exactly where these 5,000 students who are studying abroad come from, and what their places of origin are and, also, their tribal breakdown, because some tribes of this country are completely neglected. I want say, Sir, before I go any further than that, that I fully and loyally support the Government and I usually work to see to it that this Government of ours goes ahead with its work and meets with success in its deliberations, and I am not, with this point, Mr. Speaker, trying to quarrel with the Government. But it is a matter of asking the Government to adjust and correct its own way of implementing its policies, mainly the policy of training this high-level manpower.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, when we look around and see various Ministries today, let us take for example the Ministry of Education, I could question very highly, Sir, whether there was any—I should refer to my own tribe—Kipsigis promoted to be provincial education officer? Where is a Kipsigis education officer anywhere in the Ministry of Education? There is nobody like that, and this, Mr. Speaker, shows us that there must be something wrong somewhere. Not only the Kipsigis, I should take Kalenjin as a whole, and this group belonged mainly to Kadu and they were strong Kadu supporters. I am not trying to say, Sir, that since we were Kadu supporters we still have that mentality of supporting Kadu and not the Government. No, we are supporting the Government and we are even more—I should assure this House as a matter of national importance—stronger in the support that we give to the Government than even the original Kisan tribes. There is something that should be corrected, Mr. Speaker.

Furthermore, Mr. Speaker, I must mention to the Minister concerned that Kadu as well—which was not a party alone, it was a party of enthusiastic people in it—was very strongly fighting for the Uhuru of this country, which, indeed, Mr. Speaker, was achieved successfully. And now, Mr. Speaker, it is very unfortunate that our own Government, which we fought for, is now being dominated by a few tribes, and this should be corrected before it goes too far. These tribes, Mr. Speaker, I could quote and say that they are the Kikuyu brothers of ours and also the Luos. They dominate every Ministry, every department in this country. Furthermore, an hon. friend of mine suggested that it is because they had higher educational attainments, which I do not refute at all. Now then, what about those who were left behind? Could they not be given chances to further their education, Sir? What this House is now asking is that the Government should do something about these people who are forgotten, and I do not think this Government is doing anything to correct that imbalance.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I must honestly say this again, and repeat it openly, that even our own local training colleges such as Kericho Teachers College when we talk of local training institutes, we have at the moment no Kipsigis P.1 teacher being trained, and it is the fault of the Ministry, it is not the fault of the Kipsigis students. They applied in thousands and none of them was taken and this is because that college is being run by an expatriate and some non-Kalenjin tutors who are biased and they want to further this suppression. They want to keep on doing that. This, Mr. Speaker, should be stamped out immediately, otherwise this will bring a lot of bitter repercussions in the future.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am not trying to ask too much from the Government, but it is the duty of the Government to correct such imbalances.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, when I go to the question of in-service training, such as that which usually takes place in the Kenya Institute of Administration, few Kalenjin are taken. We regret to see only one or two from such a large grouping of tribes. Now, what is going on there? Our people should be given chances and we are denied this right, Sir, simply because we were strong Kadu followers. I must say this even when the hon. Minister for Home Affairs who is from the Kalenjin tribe, the forgotten tribe, and I must assure him that we are very strongly backing the Government and trying to see that our Government works successfully but that they must correct this imbalance. We are tired of saying, "Ndio Bwana."

[Mr. Anyieni]

Mr. Deputy Speaker, I do not see why anybody should try to whitewash this. The Government should accept that if this is true, we are going to consider giving the parents around Nimagwa some five or six chances to encourage Harambee, instead of trying to whitewash this.

With those few words, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I beg to support.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir—

Mr. Omar: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I am rising to seek your guidance. This is a national issue and a Member from Western Province has stated the problems he is having in this matter, and a Member from Nyanza has also done so, but no Member from the Coast Province has spoken. I want to know if a Member from the Coast can speak on this matter before the Assistant Minister replies.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! I see your point, Mr. Omar, and I sympathize with you, but if there are seven or eight provinces and we have only one speaker between the proposer and seconder and the Government repplier, I am afraid it is little difficult to get all the provinces in.

Mr. Omweri: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, when notice was given this afternoon, it was Members from the areas affected who stood to support the Motion, and Members from the Coast were not among them. In this case, would it not be in order and fair if we were given a chance to speak.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Carry on, Mr. Mutiso.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, if the hon. Members regard this as a matter of national importance, I am sure they will be silent and listen to the reply I am going to give.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, this afternoon when notice was given of this Motion, the Government did raise some objection to the fact that there was not adequate time in which we could get material in order to reply to this Motion. The Members insisted that the Motion should be discussed. However, I would like to say this. The hon. Member who moved the Motion, Mr. Masinde, said that after he gave notice of this Motion, he went to the Ministry of Education and obtained the information that all the headmasters have submitted their selection reports to the Ministry and that there were no children selected from his own constituency. Now, Sir, it is difficult to believe such a statement.

I, as an Assistant Minister in that Ministry, saw, Mr. Deputy Speaker, immediately walked out of this Chamber. I tried to get in touch with the Provincial Education Officer in Western Province, but I was unable to get through to him. Mr. Deputy Speaker, the hon. Members may shout that it is inefficient, but it is a well-known fact that in Kakamega there is not sufficient accommodation for Government officials to live in and, as a result, our provincial education officer lives away from the Kakamega headquarters. Therefore, he—

Hon. Members: Whose fault is that?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! Order!

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): Now, Sir, the Members may say it is the Government's fault. It may be so, but anyway, Sir, let me say this. The position is this. The allegation that the whole of the Western Province has been penalized by the Ministry is unfounded. I am sure I will, at a later date, be able to verify this statement when I get a report from the Provincial Education Officer in Western Province, but so far, Sir, as the Member said—

Mr. Maisori-Itumbo: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, in view of the fact that the Assistant Minister has no material, is it not in order to give another Member a chance to speak, instead of him?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! Order! Mr. Maisori, you have been in the House long enough to know that this is not a point of order. Please do not interrupt a Minister or anybody speaking. Whether you think he is speaking to your satisfaction or not is totally irrelevant. The question is that he is speaking, he is entitled to speak, and he will continue to speak.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): Mr. Deputy Speaker, as you have rightly ruled, it is wrong for the hon. Member to say that I do not have material on this Motion. I have a lot to say. Further, I will proceed by proving that I have material on this Motion.

First of all, Sir, let me say this. In the whole of Western Province, in the thirteen national schools, this is how the pupils have been placed.

[The Speaker (Mr. Slade) resumed the Chair]

Mr. Speaker, out of forty-one applicants in Busia District, three pupils have been admitted in national schools. In Bungoma, Sir, out of ninety-six applicants, five have been placed in national

[The Assistant Minister for Education] schools. Mr. Speaker, in Kakamega alone, where the hon. Member, the Mover of this Motion—when he was moving this Motion, he did say that in Kakamega there were only six pupils who had been admitted. Mr. Speaker, Sir, in Kakamega alone there have been 120 pupils placed in the national schools, out of 394.

Now it is clear that when I get the report from the Provincial Education Officer, Western Province, the figures whereby the hon. Member tried to prove to the House that there were no admissions in Lurambi or Bungoma or Busia or wherever it might be, will be shown to be completely false, because, so far in the national schools, there have been 128 places from the whole of Western Province. This is exclusive of the local placings. As I said earlier, it was not possible to get in touch with my Provincial Education Officer in the Western Province because it was too late, but I am sure that when I get in touch with him tomorrow I will get a report on the local schools, how the placings have gone on.

Sir, it is not enough for us to come to this House and allege that the Ministry of Education or the Government, for that matter, has—

Mr. Oduya: On a point of information—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Point of information?

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): No, Sir.

Mr. Oduya: Point of order, then.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Not even the hon. Member for Teso can convert a point of information into a point of order!

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): I was saying, Sir, that it is not enough for us to come here and allege something which eventually will be disproved. Sir, it is true that there are a lot of difficulties facing the Ministry of Education as far as secondary school places for Kenya Preliminary Examination pupils are concerned, but, Sir, the hon. Members are also well aware of the fact that, since this Government took over, the number of the children who sit the Kenya Preliminary Examination has risen to such a size that even the hon. Members, if they were fair, will see that this is something which is really very difficult for us to cope with. We are doing our best—

Mr. Oduya: Point of order.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Is it really a point of order this time, Mr. Oduya?

Mr. Oduya: Yes Mr. Speaker. My point of order is this. I rise to seek your guidance because the Motion wanted the Government to clarify the telegram from the headmasters who protested, who are employed by the Government and paid, so would you—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I do not think you have a good point of order there. The Minister is giving a direct answer to the points raised in this Motion and you have no good point of order there.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): Mr. Speaker, if I may even comment on that telegram, that telegram was talking about the Kenya Preliminary Examination results; it had nothing to do with the selection of candidates.

I am sure that the hon. Member for Lurambi had made an allegation that we were dictating the selection of candidates and another Member—I think it was the hon. Mr. Anyieni—also alleged that the provincial education officer made the selection of pupils. But, Sir, the fact of the matter is that the selection of pupils to go to secondary schools is not done either by my Ministry or the provincial education officers; it is done by the headmasters of the various schools.

Several hon. Members: No! Shame!

Mr. Omar: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker. I rise to seek your guidance because of the misleading statement made by the Assistant Minister that the selection of Kenya Preliminary Examination candidates for secondary schools is made by the headmasters, whereas the instruction comes from the—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! You had better be sure you are on a point of order, Mr. Omar. You are not yet. If you are asking for substantiation of something that is alleged, you are, but not otherwise. You do not have to make a speech about that.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, the emotional reaction to this point is understandable, but the point I want to make is this—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It is a point of order?

POINT OF ORDER

SUBSTANTIATION OF ALLEGATIONS

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Yes. When a Member makes a statement, we often ask him to substantiate it.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Mr. Muliro, I am sorry I do not like interrupting you, I do not like interrupting any Member, but I have been instructed by the Speaker, and I think quite rightly so, to confine this debate very strictly to the question on which the adjournment Motion was moved, namely the fact that in some areas no students at all have been admitted for secondary education. Not to go into the whole gamut of the educational system or leakages or anything like that. I am sorry I do not like interrupting you but do restrict yourself to this point.

Mr. Muliro: That is all right, Mr. Deputy Speaker, that is your work to put me back on my rails.

Mr. Deputy Speaker: I am submitting that the Government must re-examine the whole basis on which they have selected the pupils, because in all these areas, if you take a huge area like the Lurambi division, with no children going to secondary schools, then this must be examined by Government. If you take the whole of Bungoma District not having enough children with four secondary schools and all the headmasters agreeing that there was definitely something wrong, this was below the standard that we expected in this area, then Government must do something or else I think we are treading on very dangerous ground.

With these few remarks, Sir, I beg to second the Motion.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Deputy Speaker, thank you very much for giving me this opportunity to give instances where I think the Government should reconsider its stand. Mr. Deputy Speaker, when I was in my constituency last week and the beginning of this week I discovered that there were some boys from my constituency who had got five points and some who had got four points and all places had been filled in the area, that is in the secondary schools and these boys had not been taken. I also discovered that from some other areas there were boys who had got seven points and six points and they had got a chance to go to a secondary school. Now, Mr. Deputy Speaker, this shows that there is a certain amount of favouritism which the Government must look into.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Mr. Anyieni, I am sorry I think you did hear what I said to Mr. Muliro just now, that we are not going in this particular case into an examination of the whole principle of examinations, either as a general principle or as far as Kenya is concerned on this particular examination. We are only discussing this one point, please understand this: that is whether, in some areas, students of that area have been denied access or admission to secondary schools. I want this to be quite clear. I realize that it is confining this to a very small topic, but that is the only ground on which this is admitted as a Motion which is urgent and of definite public importance. One cannot, under such a Motion, bring in the matters of general administration. Please understand that.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onyko): On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I would like to know categorically what the hon. Member is referring to when he speaks of points.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! Order! Mr. Onyko, I have already ruled him out of order on that particular point. If I now ask him to elaborate that, I am afraid he will be speaking on something that I have already said he should not speak on. So I think he had better confine himself to the Motion.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Deputy Speaker, you should have allowed me to inform the Minister for Information.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): No, no. You can inform him outside.

Mr. Anyieni: Thank you very much, Mr. Deputy Speaker. The reason why I was quoting this is because this led to the exclusion of some students from my constituency who had rightly qualified to go to a secondary school. I thought that the point of this Motion was to discuss and find out why some areas had been rejected.

Another thing, Mr. Deputy Speaker, which I wanted to say was that in my constituency there is one school which is partly Government and partly Harambee: that is, the Government has given money, provided salaries for the teachers, and built teachers' houses. But this is intended to be a day school. The people around this area—the people of Bassi Location—have built three dormitories. Their children did pass the examination, and they are some of the children I was speaking about here. Of these parents who put up the dormitories so that the school is now a boarding school, not one child was admitted into this school, and there were only three children from this area who were given places elsewhere. The parents in this area know very well that some of their children had an A, B, A. The Minister for Information knows that A means one and if it is one, it is very good. He also knows that B means two, and so on.

Mr. Deputy Speaker: when a thing like this happens, it is very discouraging. When I was there I heard parents say, "If they do not admit our children into this school, we're going to go there and with the same Harambee spirit which we used to put up these buildings, we shall pull down these buildings." If these buildings are pulled down, Mr. Deputy Speaker, this school will not be able to run and as such—

An hon. Member: Threats, threats.

Mr. Anyieni: I hear one Member saying, "Threats, threats", but he does not understand what he is talking about. I am talking about an area where the Member has never been, and it is my duty to present this case. If he wants to present a case—

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, this is a rather difficult matter. I was going to ask the hon. Member for Majogo-Bassi to substantiate the statement that a self-help secondary school built in his area has rejected all students from that area. The point is that the selection is done by headmasters in that particular school, and the suggestion by the hon. Member, after the ruling you made, in order to sustain his argument, is that a school in his area has not accepted a single child from that area. Now, how do we get substantiation of this? If we find that the Member was merely speaking to comply with your ruling but without foundation, how do we deal with the matter?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! The answer, of course, is that Mr. Anyieni was, I think, following up my ruling that he must only refer to those areas where children have been denied access to secondary schools in toto. I think as you have now stated this fact, Mr. Anyieni, you might be able to tell us which school you are referring to and on what evidence you base your statement.

Mr. Anyieni: May be, Mr. Deputy Speaker, because this gentleman is from the Luo tribe he does not understand—

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, when there will be a Parliament in the Kisii language, I will not belong to it. The hon. gentleman was speaking in English; I hope he understands what that means. All we want is for him to tell us the name of the school. The Government is being accused of not having exercised its authority and responsibility. We are entitled to know which school he is referring to, so that the House can be assured of the facts.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Mr. Anyieni, I do want at least to stress this, that I think when you are asked to substantiate a fact or an allegation made by you, it is quite unnecessary and irrelevant for you to refer to the tribe of a particular Member who may ask you to substantiate. It is quite unnecessary in this Parliament.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Deputy Speaker, the reason why I said that this gentleman comes from a different tribe from me is that I said the name of the school is Nimagwa—and I said here—but Nimagwa is not like Kisumu, it is not like Homa Bay; he could not hear it. Mr. Deputy Speaker, the school I was talking about is situated in Bassi Location, it is Nimagwa Secondary School. I made it very clear that it is Government-aided and is supposed to be a day secondary school. In this school, Mr. Deputy Speaker, the people of the area have put up three dormitories which has enabled the school to become a boarding school. The parents who put up the dormitories have been denied the opportunity of sending their children there who have made the grade. This is the point I was making and I do not see why my friend, the Minister for Economic Planning is trying to chase me on this. I thought I was putting the case of the people of this area.

Mr. Deputy Speaker: I believe very many Members would like to speak on this. I feel that in order to encourage this Harambee spirit, if the people themselves have contributed something—some Sh. 30, some Sh. 50, and they want to work there—surely, in the spirit of Harambee the children of these parents should have been taken into account.

Also the Minister who interrupted me is out of date. He does not know very much about what is going on. The fact is that the Provincial Education Officer, Nyanza, was the person who selected the students and gave the list to the headmasters. The headmasters had no say at all. I remember in this particular place, Mr. Deputy Speaker, very many parents came to Nimagwa and said, "If you do not take any of our children who have the grades"—Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, in this respect, some children who obtained five points—that would mean A, B, B—were refused admission, and some children who obtained seven points, which is worse, were given admission. Now, when the headmaster was given this information, he rejected the list given to him by the provincial education officer and, as a result, he came to Nairobi to see the Ministry. I came to look for him, but I did not find him here. Maybe he went to Kisumu, and he has now maybe gone back to Kisii. I am going there this weekend and I will get more information to bring here.

Mr. Masinde: Mr. Speaker, coming to the actual point, as I have said it is very true that in the selection for the 1966 intake, headmasters were faced with the problem, and they had to carry out the instructions from the Ministry of Education, particularly in the Western Province, that pupils who appeared on the list from No. 1 to No. 1,300 were the only pupils to take places in Form I classes throughout the Western Province, and even, possibly those who could get places in some other national schools. Now, Sir, with this order of the Ministry it was that not a single school, for instance, in Bungoma District if I can use that, could get one boy or girl into a secondary school. Because of this, the headmasters of these secondary schools saw fit to write and send telegrams to the Minister for Education protesting against the idea and the plan which the Ministry of Education is pursuing in selecting pupils for Form I.

Sir, here are telegrams, and if you can allow me to quote the exact wording of the headmasters, for me as a layman in the country, I suppose that headmasters of schools in this country, they have to work, and possibly they are the immediate advisers of the Ministry of Education. But here in the case of selection they were not even advised. Because of that, headmasters decided not to take the instructions of the Minister for Education and they say that the Ministry of Education was very wrong. The headmasters of schools tell even the parents "It is upon your Government, that it is upon your Members of Parliament that now you are faced with this problem, I cannot do anything, I am told to carry out instructions." Sir, here they wrote to the Minister.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! Please keep quiet, Mr. Oduya.

Mr. Masinde: If I can read one paragraph which says, "We wish to protest unanimously about the results of the Kenya Preliminary Examination 1965, Bungoma District. We are concerned at the low percentage of passes revealed by the pass list issued for the selection of Form I. The result bears little relation to the known standard of primary education as also revealed in our own testing and interviews. The most important thing is that the headmasters of secondary schools went around and tested and interviewed people and they knew the right pupils who could qualify for Form I, but after the results it proved that none of them who could be suitable at the secondary education level would be admitted to the Form I classes." Sir, here they signed. Some of them went even further to select pupils without following the order of the Ministry of Education. Now, Mr. Speaker, here is possibly one district which was fortunate enough to have a number of schools in a given district, therefore they decided to help that particular district. But the worst thing is—like in my constituency—which happens to be the Kakamega District, that we do not have those headmasters that acted in the same way as they did in the case of Bungoma District. Pupils who appeared for the Kenya Preliminary Examination were 6,781 and, out of those, 4,000 passed the Kenya Preliminary Examination, and out of those 4,000 who passed the Kenya Preliminary Examination, only six have been admitted to secondary schools. What can we do with 4,000, unless the Minister decides to do something now, what is going to happen to the future of these children? For us to be told that the selection is not yet completed, here is a list of one of the secondary schools already in the office of the Ministry of Education—

An hon. Member: Where did you get it?

Mr. Masinde: That is my job. Mr. Speaker, Sir, if hon. Members are interested to know how I got it, I am an Elected Member and my job is to represent my people and that is why I got it. I have a right to get it and all of you have a right to get it. That is why we have our offices there.

Mr. Speaker, this is the only thing that I am questioning—

Mr. Komora: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, you are hearing Members of Parliament shouting "You don't have a constituency", is that not a serious insult to the Specially Elected Members and does not the hon. Member need to withdraw that remark.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! No, it is perfectly true. Order! I would not say that it is offensive to point out that some hon. Members are Specially Elected Members, but in any case hon. Members who interject are liable to get something offensive sometimes.

Mr. Masinde: Mr. Speaker, since this matter is a straightforward one that I have placed before the Government, Government has to find a solution very quickly, otherwise we cannot go on, and I do not think that there is anybody alive today who can agree to say that a given area and a given population of such young men and women must fail to get their opportunity just because the Ministry of Education is inefficient, confused and they do not even obtain advice from the headmasters of schools. They are prepared and they say "We are prepared, if the Ministry of Education will only consult us as to how we can tackle this educational problem with the limited places that we have in Kenya today, we can help", but instead a few people sitting in Gill House do not have any idea about the problems in Kenya are mounting up, particularly in the educational field. Sir, we want the Ministry of Education, and the Minister is particularly—unfortunately the hon. Minister is somewhere in the office—in this issue for me to be told and to be assured of what is going to happen to those pupils who passed their examination and yet there are no places for them to go to. This is not their mistake at all, it is the mistake of the Ministry of Education.

The other thing, Sir, that I would like to mention, is that I have here a list of a number of schools whose pupils sat for the Kenya Preliminary Examination and you will find that in a given school there are seven or eight names of pupils missing. Where do these names disappear to? What happens to the files of the Ministry of Education? Who handles these papers right from school level up to where they sit for the examination in examination centres? Is this not real inefficiency on the part of the Ministry of Education? Are we going to allow this inefficiency to go on, mishandling our future, because the future of this country depends upon the young men and women of this country, and are we going to allow possibly someone who is old and finished who has had his time, to mess about with the future of our children? Because they are the future of this country.

Mr. Speaker, I do not want to pursue this straightforward case too much, but what we want is a straightforward answer as to what is going to happen to these children. Mr. Speaker, I beg to move.

Mr. Muliro: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I find that this is a very serious issue, bearing in mind the ages of the children this year who do the Kenya Preliminary Examination. The children who write the examination, Sir, are in the region of twelve or thirteen years of age. Now a child of twelve or thirteen being thrown onto the streets of Nairobi or being thrown into the bush is completely lost, he cannot get anywhere else. As far as the story goes, Sir, it was rumoured that some schools had examination papers with them. The story goes that Nyert was one of the places which had the examination papers, then it came that somewhere in the Rift Valley they had the examination papers, and then it dawned—

An hon. Member: Where?

Mr. Muliro: Well, one of those places in the Rift Valley, Eldoret possibly. Then it came out that in the Western Province the examination papers were discovered in one of the schools in the Bungoma District. Now, what makes things more serious is the decision of the Ministry of Education to down-grade all the schools in the Bungoma District. All the schools in the Bungoma District were down-graded, as a result of that they have hardly any children going to a secondary school. This, Sir, is a very serious issue. In the whole province to find out of 31,000 children who wrote the examination, only a miserable 1,300 are going to secondary school, this is a case that cannot be defended by the Ministry of Education.

Sir, it would be much better to institute an inquiry into the whole affair of the business that is going on in the Western Province at least, if other areas are happy about it. When the hon. Member for Lurambi gave notice of this adjournment Motion earlier on, one Minister said—the Minister for Health in particular said—this might be, this is a Government policy. I want to find out from the Minister—Assistant Minister—the Minister himself is not here or another Minister in charge of the whole issue, the reason why the Minister for Health, which is on record in this House today, said here that this is the policy of Government, that the whole examination selections was Government policy which affects the Western Province. If, out of 31,000 children in the Western Province it was Government policy to take only 1,300—

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! Order! Mr. Muliro, I was here present when Mr. Otieno made this interjection on a point of order. What he did say, if I remember rightly, is that this is a question of examining the whole Government policy and as such it should be moved by a substantive Motion. He did not say it was Government policy that only 1,300 people should be promoted.

Mr. Muliro: Thank you, very much, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I accept your correction. When Members are making a lot of noise, sometimes one mishears something.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, my point is this, I would like to find out why the whole district was penalized because of the leakage of the examination papers. When those papers, Sir, were printed in London, these papers were printed in the United Kingdom, they came here with every secrecy and yet they say there was leakage. This discloses terrible inefficiency in the Ministry of Education. These schools—

[The Assistant Minister for Lands and Settlement] over 70,000 acres is outside the Coastal Strip. That means, Mr. Speaker, Sir, that out of the 400,000 Africans, about 70,000 Africans are from outside the Coastal Strip and it has been found that those people who form a good number of the people who are supposed to be squatters come from outside the Coast and they have land in their own provinces. Mr. Speaker, Sir, the total area of the Coastal Strip is approximately 2,116 square miles of which nearly 800 square miles is trust land where the people either have title deeds or rights to the land and therefore cannot be classified as squatters. This is why, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I say that all people who squat on some land at the Coast cannot be classified as squatters. There are approximately 200 square miles of leasehold land, about 150 square miles of freehold land and about 890 square miles of State land.

The State land includes 170 square miles of forest and 83 square miles of land reserved for a holding ground and an experimental station. Mr. Speaker, Sir, the squatters are mainly located on the freehold land and reserved State land lying to the south of Malindi and to a lesser degree on a certain proportion of the leasehold land. Asian and Arab landowners are mainly located on freehold land which was largely in private ownership when the British Government concluded its agreement with the Sultan of Zanzibar back in 1895.

Now, Mr. Speaker, this is where I said there is a constitutional implication, because if hon. Ngala remembers very well, during the Constitutional Conference in London—it was not necessary for me to be there—there were assurances given to the Sultan of Zanzibar. Mr. Speaker, they were not given about the Sultan himself, these assurances were given on the people of the Coastal Strip who were actually governed by the Sultan. These assurances, Mr. Speaker, included undertakings by the Government of Kenya in relation to freedom of worship, which I am sure the hon. Members do not dispute, and also, Mr. Speaker, included the titles to the land of all the people who were the subjects of the Sultan of Zanzibar. Mr. Speaker, the hon. Member will appreciate that it is not in the jurisdiction of my Ministry to alter the Constitution. If the Constitution was to be altered or amended to eliminate these assurances, then, Mr. Speaker, the hon. Members know the ways and means of amending the Constitution. As I mentioned, Mr. Speaker, these assurances were embodied as far as land was concerned and entrenched in clause, section 203 of the Independence Constitution, Kenya, in December 1963, and contained in Legal Notice 718, and this guarantee in respect of titles and claims of land was confirmed in the Constitution of Kenya Amendment Act No. 28 of 1964. This means, Mr. Speaker, before the Government can do anything on the land in question some investigations have to be carried out, and the Government has to be equipped with a number of facts before the Government can even think of amending the Constitution to suit the claims of the Motion. Mr. Speaker, the most important part of my reply is that the Government has already done what is actually necessary to meet the land problem at the Coast. I am sure the hon. Members will agree with me that the best thing is that instead of passing a Motion moving that the Government will not go back and start again, is to accept the steps already taken by the Government, so that when the Government reports to this House, then if the House is not satisfied, Mr. Speaker, a Motion like this could be tabled, but at the moment, what I am trying to say is that this Motion will not help in anything if it is passed in this House. I appeal to hon. Members to see, that if this Motion seeks to help the people of the Coast, the Government has gone miles and miles towards helping the people of the Coast, and I do hope that the hon. Members will see this for themselves.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not wish to force the opposition of this, but the Government cannot accept something that it is not going to do. Government cannot accept that it will go on doing something that it has already done. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I do hope that the hon. Member of the Motion will find his way to keeping to our arrangement to withdraw this Motion, so as to give the Government the opportunity for doing what is beneficial to the country and to the people of the Coast.

Mr. Kase: Mr. Speaker, I want the Assistant Minister to know this. People who go to seduce girls to marry, talk a lot of sweet talk. When the lady finds out that the man is talking lies, then that woman will run away.

Mr. Speaker, the Assistant Minister has said the hon. Member should think of withdrawing the Motion and he will look into it. Is this an assurance, Mr. Speaker? I remember, Mr. Speaker, the former Prime Minister of this country—he is now President—promised the people of the Coast he was going to look into the matter. The Minister for 1964 promised that he was going to look into the matter. In 1965 the Minister for Economic Planning promised that he would look into the matter, and now the Assistant Minister is telling us the same thing. Who is going to agree with this rubbish? Mr. Speaker, we must tell this [Mr. Kase] Government in no uncertain terms that the Coast people have decided to wake up, and wake up in the proper sense. We shall pursue the land problem, Mr. Speaker, even if by force. The Arabs are not as many as the Africans.

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): Mr. Speaker, on a point of order, Sir, a few days ago police officers, constables and so on, were injured on the same problem when the Government wanted to solve the problem. Is the hon. Member suggesting that the Coast people are going to pursue their problems by violent means?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order!

I think the point of order that the Minister intends to make is whether it is in order for hon. Members to suggest unconstitutional action as part of the activities which they favour. I would say most definitely it is out of order for any Member of this Constitutional Parliament to propose any unconstitutional activity whatsoever. It is in order for hon. Members to warn the House that in certain circumstances there is a danger of other people doing so, but that is quite different from hon. Members themselves, in this House suggesting that they favour breach of the law.

Mr. Kase: Mr. Speaker, it might be unfortunate that this statement is being made in this House, but I warn the Government, Mr. Speaker, constitutions come and go. Mr. Speaker, we know that when you pursue a matter peacefully, you think that if you use force you will get it out, we shall try, Mr. Speaker, there is nothing wrong about it.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think I must intervene to get things quite clear. Order! It is true enough to say that constitutions come and go, but so far as hon. Members are concerned they come and go only by constitutional means.

Mr. Kase: Now, Mr. Speaker, what we are trying to tell this House is empty promises, we have swallowed too many empty promises. We are not prepared to swallow any more. The Assistant Minister has not told us about the setting up of a Ministerial subcommittee, but the Ministers who have been to the Coast since 1963, up to now, are the same ones he has selected again. This is a delaying tactic. He has not told us when this report is coming to this House. The word "soon", Mr. Speaker, is a very awkward word. When I was a teacher I was told do not always tell your children "soon, soon", because soon does not specify time, it can mean 1991. It does not mean tomorrow. The land problem is most urgent. If possible we want the report—

MOTION FOR THE ADJOURNMENT UNDER STANDING ORDER 14

KENYA PRELIMINARY EXAMINATIONS SELECTIONS FOR SECONDARY SCHOOLS

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I am afraid I have to interrupt you, Mr. Kase. You will have another five minutes in which to speak when the debate is resumed, but I must now call on Mr. Masinde to move the adjournment of this House.

Mr. Masinde: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move that the House do now adjourn to allow me to move the Motion which deals with the matter of the areas from which not one successful Kenya Preliminary Examination candidate has been selected for a secondary school, and the urgent need of finding places for some of these students.

Sir, this afternoon when I rose in this House to mention that I intended to move this Motion, we had some objections from hon. Ministers, I suppose they are here, that the matter of the selection of students for Form I classes in 1966 is not yet finalized. Immediately I rushed to the Ministry of Education and the truth is that they have selected all the people to join Form I class in 1966. The provincial education officers have now submitted complete lists for all secondary schools for whom they have suggested that such and such pupils are going to go in Form I. Whether the Ministers were suggesting that they have not announced this publicly, or the letters have not reached the particular pupils who are to join Form I, that is a different matter. The principle is this: and it is what I intend to pursue in this House, and I hope is what all hon. Members will see fit to support me, because it is a very alarming issue in the country. We have been told from time to time, even in our Sessional Paper No. 10, the way to approach our development programme in this country, we are told that by 1970, there will be places for up to 70 per cent of our young men and women going to secondary schools. It is now 1966, and in the whole of the Western Province where 31,000 pupils sat for the Kenya Preliminary Examination only 1,300 can qualify for places. What is going to happen to the remaining 29,700? This is not even 2 per cent.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Mr. Masinde, it was not on that point that I allowed this procedure. That is a matter for debate at any time. The point of urgency, the definite point of urgency on which I allowed you to move the adjournment, was that some districts and areas had been completely left out of any selection of people to go forward to secondary schools this year. You must keep to that point.

[Mr. Jahazi]

We cannot go back to the land because we have no land to go to, and we want to be obedient to Azeze's call and go to the land cultivate it. But if there is no land to go to, we have to take the land back and then go back to it, otherwise there is no land at the moment.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, Sir, we do not want to be abusive, we do not want to appear subversive, we do not want to speak as if we want to cut somebody's throat, but the Government cannot blame us for being what we are at the moment because despite having told them of all these problems they are sitting on these problems and they are doing nothing about them. We cannot go on like that, and even the landlords are not to blame because the Government has not approached them with anything, they are just left there and recognised as landlords and we as squatters. This cannot go on under the free, independent Government of Kenya. We are going to act if the Government does not act for us, because this is a place where we can tell the Government our problems truly and sincerely without hiding anything, so that they know how burning the issue is. If we do not tell them that, and we just show them our fears as if the problem is not big they will not actually take us seriously.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I want to request the Government, and pray to the Government, that the problem is reaching a climax now. We can no longer wait and be squatters in Kenya. If we are squatters in Kenya, what about in England, India and where, what would we be. We would be rightly squatters there, but not in our homeland. You cannot even build a hut near the sea because all the sea from Vanga to Lamu, all their lordships have settled around there and we have been pushed inland. You cannot build there because the plots there are so valuable and cost so much that only the privileged few are allowed to have land empty, and yet they will not allow anybody to settle on this land. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, the problem of how to get the land is not ours, all we want is the land, and whether the Government will grab it, that is their problem, whether they pay compensation, that is their problem. All we want is the land. Land by all means. We are not going to tell the Government how they are going to solve it. If they are going to tell the British Government or the Sultan of Zanzibar to give some of the money received to buy out these people, and they are ready to be bought out, Sir, and to be bought out very, very cheaply, they are not expensive landlords. You can buy them anything. Therefore, the Government must wake up to this problem which is truly facing us.

The Assistant Minister for Economic Planning is here, and he will not be planning anything if he does not plan about buying out these people. The Minister for Land Settlement will not be settling anything if he is not going to settle people on this land. Otherwise, the Minister can remain in Nairobi and we will appoint our own Minister for Settlement there and settle.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Gachago, you speak for Government and claim twenty minutes, do you not?

The Assistant Minister for Lands and Settlement (Mr. Gachago): Yes, Sir.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, when this Motion first appeared on the Order Paper, I was rather perturbed because I, in the first instance, did not want to oppose the Motion, but on the other hand, the Motion called upon the Government to do something that the Government has already done and it has gone a long way towards the solution of the land problem in the Coast.

The only difference is that the steps taken by the Government so far have not been made public and I am not, therefore, surprised that the hon. Members are questioning this. In the first instance, Sir, the Motion asks the Government to appoint a special commission to investigate the historical background of the Arabs and Asians who have land, and how they acquired this land in the Coast.

Now, Mr. Speaker, the Government has already — In actual fact when the debate on this Motion started, my Ministry had already submitted to the Government a Paper about the land problems at the Coast and the Government at the time was studying this Paper and today, Sir, I am glad to report to the House that the Government has already appointed a Ministerial subcommittee to go into the whole question of land—

An hon. Member: Why not let us do it?

The Assistant Minister for Lands and Settlement (Mr. Gachago): Mr. Speaker, if only the hon. Members would give me a chance! This information is not only in the best interests of the Members of this House but also in the best interests of the people at the Coast, who this Motion is supposed to help.

The hon. Members would like to know that the Government has already appointed a subcommittee consisting of the Minister for Lands and Settlement as the chairman, the Minister for Finance, the Minister for Economic Planning and Development, the Minister for Agriculture, the Attorney-General and the Minister of State to the President's Office, and the Minister for Labour

[The Assistant Minister for Lands and Settlement] and Youth Services, and their first meeting to consider the land issue, which is very complex at the Coast, will take place tomorrow.

Not only that, but it is expected that after meeting the subcommittee will visit the Coast and spend as much time as possible investigating all the problems of the land there, and also the subcommittee is expected to report to the Government as soon as possible so that the Government may implement the findings of this subcommittee as quickly as possible.

Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, returning to the Motion—it is all right for Members to shout an allegation that it is a delaying tactic, but I feel, and I am confident, that the Government has done the best it can under the circumstances, and, in fact, if the Government were merely to accept this Motion, for instance, if I just say, "We accept this Motion", then the Government would be promising, in accepting this Motion, to do what it has already done, and I feel, Sir, that is not necessary. I can promise the House now that what has been done by the Government— Sir, what the Motion is asking the Government to do is to appoint a commission, which has already been appointed, to find out how the Arabs and the Asians obtained this land and bring the findings to the House, but, Sir, the Government has already looked into this, and we have already investigated. We know how the land was acquired. There are constitutional implications involved.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, if the hon. Members want information, then I can give them information, but if they are only interested in shouting me down, then I will give them a chance to do so. However, Sir, I will continue to give this House the information which is good in the interest of the House and the country.

So, Mr. Speaker, Sir, what the Motion has asked the Government to do has already been done. We know how the Asians and the Arabs acquired land at the Coast, and at the moment, Mr. Speaker, Sir, we already have a senior African Government officer who is adjudicating over some land claims—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! If the hon. Members want to debate seriously, then they must not interrupt so much that the hon. Member on his feet cannot be heard. The whole point of the debate is gone if you go that far. Please restrain yourselves.

The Assistant Minister for Lands and Settlement (Mr. Gachago): In fact, Sir, I know that the House is disturbed because they do not know the facts, but I have communicated the facts, since the beginning of this Motion, of what the Government has done, to the Mover of this Motion who has seen the truth and has honourably, privately, promised me, with the approval of the House, that if I can assure him that the Government will continue in this step, he is prepared to withdraw this Motion. If the hon. Member changes his mind, I will not mind, but I can assure the House—

Mr. Mwanuzandi: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, in spite of all the facts that the Assistant Minister has given me, I told him that I could withdraw my Motion, if I had the following assurances. Firstly—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I think it would be better if you waited and heard what the Assistant Minister is prepared to assure, and then tell the House if you are prepared to withdraw the Motion.

The Assistant Minister for Lands and Settlement (Mr. Gachago): Mr. Speaker, Sir, in fact, after communicating the facts and the truth to him, all the hon. Member wanted me to assure this House is that squatters who are being prevented from harvesting their crop on some of the land they are supposed to be squatting on, that the Government will look into this question, and I am prepared to give that assurance. Therefore, Sir, what I am trying to tell the House is that this Motion, and, in fact, I am prepared to accept this Motion, although this Motion will not add anything new, nor will it take the Government to do any job, because the Government has already done it and it has also gone miles and miles from what this Motion is asking the Government to do, and this is exactly what I am trying to tell the House. Mr. Speaker, Sir, if the House feels that it will be an advantage if they accept this Motion, then, Sir, let me tell the Members that I find no difficulty in accepting this Motion but, Sir, I can assure the House that if what the Motion aims at is helping the people of the Coast, then the Government has gone a long way, and the substance of this Motion will not help the people of the Coast at all.

Now, Sir, to go to some of the facts of appreciation of the matter. In the first instance, the Motion describes the people of the Coast as being all landless and described as squatters. It is not true that all people at the Coast are squatters. Mr. Speaker, Sir, the truth of the fact is that it is estimated that approximately 20,000 Africans representing approximately 100,000 people are occupying land to which they have no legal title. It also is estimated that there are about 400,000 Africans living in the Coastal Strip on which the British of the East Africa Corporation. Now all these visitors were foreigners in the former Coastal Strip, and when they came there they knew very well that the land belonged to nobody but the Coast Africans themselves. They played a trick. In the early days, when the British Government was ruling the country, it asked the people to go to the land office and register the land. Now the Coast Africans were illiterate and ignorant and never bothered to go to the land office to register the land because they knew very well that it belonged to them. But the Arabs and Indians, who were very clever, went and registered the land, and this was accepted and recognized by the Government. After this registration, all the Coast Africans became squatters.

At that time, the land value was not so great, and therefore the Indian and Arab landlords never bothered to ask a plot rent from the African squatters. Three-quarters of the coastal Africans today are supposed to pay plot rent to the Arab and Indian landlords.

Now, because the Africans did not know that the Indians and Arabs had registered the land, they worked on this land, developed it, planted permanent crops, such as coconut trees, cashew nuts and mango trees, and so on; and when these permanent trees were yielding cash crops, the Indian and the Arab landlords came in and demanded plot rents, therefore causing inconvenience and misunderstanding among the coastal people. It was most unfortunate that the Coast Africans never bothered to register the land, so all the Coast Africans, in Kilifi District, Mombasa District, Kwale District, Tana River District, Lamu District and Malindi District, all the Africans living on such land were squatters, supposed to pay their plot rents to the Arab and Indian landlords.

Now the Africans fought for independence, thinking that once independence was achieved this problem would no longer exist in the Coastal Strip. We fought for our independence and both Kanu and Kadu, which were fighting for independence, promised that once it was achieved the problem of squatters along the Coastal Strip would come to an end. Independence was achieved in 1963, and representations have been made to the local authorities, to the Ministry of Lands, so that a solution to this problem can be found. But from then until now, Sir, no solution to this problem has been found. In fact this problem is now becoming greater every day. So there is really no peace or stability in the former Coastal Strip because the African squatters are always bothered by the so-called Indian landlords and Arab landlords. These people never brought the soil from India or from Arabia. The soil was found there and it belongs to no one but the Africans.

Now our Government here seems to recognize that the land belongs to the Arabs and the Indians because it is pursuing the same policy as that pursued by the British Government and the Sultan of Zanzibar. If they did not pursue that policy, they would agree to appoint a special commission, as requested by this Motion, to make investigations as to how this land was owned by the Indian and Arab landlords.

The facts are that the Africans knew that the land belonged to them and so they did not bother to go to register it. So what is important now is this, Sir. We Coast Africans are good people, humble people, but we cannot tolerate such conditions; we cannot tolerate paying plot rents to the landlords every month or every year; we cannot tolerate seeing that the soil of the former Coastal Strip is not in the hands of the Africans themselves. In fact, now, Sir, if one goes to Mombasa one sees that the chief problem is that people there are complaining that they are paying very high rents to the landlords; if a man does not pay the rent, he is taken to a magistrate by an Indian advocate and, because the present Government's policy is just the same as the Sultan of Zanzibar's policy and British colonial policy, the Indian landlords and Arab landlords are given the rights. Now we do not want such a thing, Mr. Speaker, because we do not advocate trouble, but if the Government is not going to appoint a commission of inquiry, it will mean that the Coast Africans will be at liberty to take the law into their own hands. They are fed up with the conditions there and it is high time the Government did something about this. We had two incidents recently, Sir. One was that which happened at Ukunda and the other one happened at Ramisi, where a dam belonging to the Ramisi Sugar Estate was damaged by the local people. This is an indication that the people are not satisfied with the present Government policy on the former Coastal Strip land.

We would like this commission to be appointed so as to make enquiries as to how these foreigners acquired this land. The Europeans, who were also colonialists, never bothered very much. Of course, there are Europeans who are landlords, but they are not as bad as Indian and Arab landlords. Speaking without any prejudice, I can say that the European landlords in the Coastal Strip are much better, they are more co-operative, more friendly with the Africans there than the Indians and the Arab landlords. When we ask the Indian and Arab landlords to be as co-operative as the European landlords are, they say that, "Oh, the Government respects the constitutions of the country". This is true, but by respecting the constitutions the Africans are suffering, they are the victims of the Indian and Arab landlords. So, I think this Motion is very straightforward and it should be accepted by the Government by appointing this commission to go into the matter.

Mr. Speaker, we will remember that even the Vice-President, when he visited the Coast Province last November, he was reported in the Press and it was mentioned in this House that at one of the meetings in Kwale District he said that the Coast people should defend themselves and that the Arab and Indian landlords should be co-operative so that such a situation as occurred in Zanzibar should not be repeated in Mombasa.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): That is the end of your time, Mr. Omar.

Mr. Jahazi: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I would very much like to support the Motion very, very strongly and, in fact, I would go further to say that what is going on in the Coast—I do not know whether the Government is deliberately trying to make things worse so that something could happen, or what, I do not know, because people, leaders and everybody have tried to be co-operative in approaching the Government and to use all means at their disposal to tell the Government about the problem of the land at the Coast. They have moved Motions in this House. Every Minister who has visited there has been told about this land hunger there. But all that they do is to nod their heads, pretend to understand and appreciate the situation, but when they come back here everything is forgotten.

Now, we wonder as to whether the Ministers come there for a holiday or what, or whether they appreciate what we tell them—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Mr. Malu, you are forgetting the rule that hon. Members do not walk past the Member who is speaking, between him and the Chair, without bending low down.

Mr. Jahazi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the problem is not too big for the Government to solve. If Government could solve the problem of land in the Central Province, I do not see why they could not solve the problem at the Coast. I say this, Mr. Speaker, because the cost per acre at the Coast is not as high as the cost per acre here in the highlands. Land is very cheap and of the people who are occupying this land you will find very few who will come and say that they bought this land from Alderman So-and-so who sold it to me. All of them give fictitious land titles which anyone can contest everywhere in court, but the Coast people, being good as they are, and having lived with these people for a very long time, and these people being so unco-operative that they grabbed everything that they had under the protection of the Colonial Government who only favoured these races, so they could own everything shamelessly, we expected that when the African Government came, at least they would understand. All right, the Government is very shy about taking the land by force. O.K., let them pay something to these people. I know a landlord who owns 800 acres in Malindi, he bought this land thirty years ago, he has never even been to the land. He does not know where it is, he confessed to me, and he said, "Really this trouble over land I hear a Member talk about is real, you know, Jahazi, because I own 800 acres in Malindi, I bought it thirty years ago and I have never even been to the land. But, if the Government come out with a proposal, we are ready to sell". This means that Government has never gone there with a proposal, because there was no difference between the conditions in Zanzibar and the conditions on the Coastal Strip before the Zanzibar revolution. If it was not for the Kenya Government having taken over this strip or the ten-mile strip, the revolution would have spread to the ten-mile strip. That is true, because that was the Sultan's land, the Sultan's people, the Sultan's land, and I do not see who would have prevented the revolution from spreading to the Coastal Strip. We used to have that funny red flag flying at the Coast, the Sultan's flag, and now it is no longer there. But the conditions are still there, the flag has left, and the problems, Sir, are not so great to solve because so many landlords are ready to surrender, they are not using the land, they only wait until squatters start cultivating and growing something, and then the next day from nowhere you will see somebody coming with a turban dhothi and claiming that place as his and requesting you to move because he has seen you already developing the land. The so-called squatters are under fear, they cannot cultivate big acreages because they know that at any time from the blue someone will come to claim the land, and the crops. Therefore, Sir, that is why we are short of food and the land is there and it is plentiful, and, Sir, we do not see what our Government is doing. Does the Government want us to solve the problem, because it would not take one day before we had solved it? If that is the way, we want to go ahead and say that if that is what they want, O.K.

(1) Subject to subsections (2) and (3) of this section, the guarantees given by the Government before the passing of this Act that are specified in the Schedule to this Act shall be deemed for the purposes of this Act to be guarantees under this Act, and to have been approved, given and executed within the powers conferred by, and in accordance with the provisions of, this Act.

The whole thing here is to remove the possible doubts as to the legal validity of charging to the Consolidated Fund any moneys required under the guarantee listed in the Schedule.

Mr. Warilthi: Mr. Chairman, I am just more or less seeking for information here. The Schedule as laid out does not show any county council or local authority except the City Council of Nairobi. There are a number of other bodies. What I would like to know is why it is that there is no local authority except the City Council of Nairobi. Is it that none came forward to apply for a guarantee, or did some apply and were found not suitable to be given the guarantee?

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): There is a Local Authority Loans Board and the reason why this is left out is because the board has the money and if any local authority or area council could justify and show from its own performance that it could pay the Loan Authority Board will lend them money. That is why they are not in this particular Schedule.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Mr. Chairman, I beg to move:—

MOTION*INQUIRY INTO NON-AFRICAN OWNERSHIP OF COASTAL LAND

THAT in view of the fact that Africans in the former Coastal Strip are all described as "squatters", as if the Asian and Arab landowners were more African than the Africans themselves, this House urges the Government to form a special commission to investigate the historical background of how the Arabs and the Asians got these lands and to bring the findings to this House for discussion.

Mr. Omar: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I rise to support this Motion because it is of great importance as far as the Coast people are concerned. Sir, we read in history that the former Coastal Strip was visited by the Portuguese, the Indians and the Arabs a long time ago, and afterwards by Malinda said that he wanted more clerks employed in order to check these licences. I would like to appeal to the public that when they renew their licences they should give the right information to the present clerks, who are doing a very good job, and the right licences will be issued to them.

THE LOANS (GUARANTEES) BILL*Clause 2

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): Mr. Chairman, I beg to move:—

THAT the definition of "local authority" in clause 2 of the Bill be amended by—

- (a) deleting the word "or" after the words "municipal council" and inserting in place thereof the expression "and"; and
- (b) inserting after the words "a county council" the words "or an area council".

Mr. Chairman, this is the definition of local authority that the Government or the Minister would guarantee loans too. I feel very strongly that area councils which are actually the councils which touch people, the taxpayers of this country, should also have their loans guaranteed by the Government. It may be that the Minister will tell us that some of the area councils are very unstable financially, which is true. This would be covered in section 3 where "the Government may guarantee in such manner and upon such conditions as it may think fit the due performance of any covenants on the part of a local authority".

Here the Government may guarantee if it is satisfied that an area council could repay the loan the Government is going to guarantee. I do not see the reason, Mr. Chairman, why a club like the United Kenya Club could have this privilege of having its loans being guaranteed by the Government. The Jockey Club of Kenya can also have its loans guaranteed in the Schedule Part I. I do not see how these organizations can have their loans guaranteed by the Government, and not an area council. An area council which is always, as far as we are concerned, in difficulties for building their school, in difficulties for building or assisting in Harambee health centres, and also in difficulty in carrying out their social services in the locations. I hope, Mr. Chairman, that the Minister will find this amendment reasonable because if he only guarantees the local government which are county councils as far as I am concerned from the reserves, he should also be in a position to guarantee loans for area councils, who I am sure will not be applying for loans as big as those shown now in the Schedules that are covered by this Bill.

With these few remarks, Mr. Chairman, I beg to move the amendment.

Mr. Ngula-Abok: Mr. Chairman, I stand to support the amendment and I have very little to say, in fact, but seeing that area councils are so important and so engaged on development, I feel that Members will find it reasonable to support that particular amendment, because, Mr. Chairman, the Ministers who have answered questions in this House are stating, when you ask whether a health centre could be taken over by a county council, or whether a Harambee primary school could be assisted, Ministers have always replied that if your county council has approved the Harambee secondary school or the health centre concerned, then the Government is prepared to give some aid or subsidy to the county council concerned and in the majority of cases when you go back to the county councils to try and convince them that they should approve of the Harambee project concerned, you may be told that there is no money, but if area councils are entitled to this guarantee then they could turn to the Government to guarantee loans, so that the area councils could assist the county council in the matter of the approval and also in allocating some funds, which have been guaranteed by Government, so that the health centre or the project concerned can get going. I think, therefore, that if this amendment is accepted I would be the first to come to this House next week with a good number of projects and ask Government to give guarantees to my area council and I think this would assist development almost immediately.

Mr. Chairman, I am sure the Minister for Finance is convinced if a club—for example, if I started a club tomorrow and it was well organized—a loan would be guaranteed under this particular Bill, then I do not see why the—

An hon. Member: Night club?

Mr. Ngula-Abok: Night club or any club, provided that it is a club with some progress.

Now I do not see why an area council should not be accepted to be subject also to this guarantee. So Mr. Chairman, I support this one.

(Clause 2 agreed to)

Clause 3

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Mr. Chairman, I beg to move:—

THAT clause 3 of the Bill be amended in subsection (1) thereof, by inserting immediately after the words "The Government may" the words "with the prior approval of the House of Representatives signified by resolution."

(Question of the amendment proposed)

(Question that the words to be inserted be inserted put and agreed to)

(Clause 3 as amended agreed to)

(Clauses 4 and 5 agreed to)

Clause 6

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Mr. Chairman, I beg to move:—

THAT clause 6 of the Bill be amended by renumbering subsection: (1) thereof and by inserting at the end thereof the following subsection—

- (2) Where any moneys are paid out of the Consolidated Fund in pursuance of this Act the Minister shall lay before the National Assembly a report on the payment specifying the guarantee in respect of which the payment was made and the circumstances giving rise to the payment and such further information as he considers appropriate.

I wonder if I could say a few words on it?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Yes.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): The reason for this is the moneys that would be spent in this manner will have been approved and, therefore, at the moment I have in mind, as I said yesterday, that most likely I may be called upon to honour the guarantee on the question of the Mombasa Pipeline which amounts to about £1 million. We had borrowed this money from the Uganda Government and we have been doing our very best to try and get them to extend the time; they are reluctant to do so, so I may be called upon to honour the guarantee and in those circumstances, if Parliament is not sitting, I would honour the guarantee and report thereafter. If, on the other hand, the House is sitting, I would definitely inform the House, but the money will have been agreed to under clause 3, so no new money would be spent without the knowledge of the House.

Mr. Malinda: I have no quarrel with the insertion of the words, but there is only one small point that I would like to have cleared. I raised it in the general debate, but I do not know what the Minister said.

Now, Mr. Chairman, when the Minister for Finance is called upon to honour the guarantee that the Government has given, he does not stipulate what relief the Government will have in recovering the money from whoever the money was being paid in respect of. For instance, Mr. Chairman, if this £1 million happens to be paid out of the Consolidated Fund instead of being paid out of the Mombasa Pipeline Board, then it will mean that a guarantee which the Government stood for is called upon to make good. Now, what provision is there for the Government to recover the money so paid to the Uganda Government from the Mombasa Pipeline Board. That, Mr. Chairman, is the only query that I have in respect of this subsection.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Mr. Chairman, Sir, if anybody looks at the number of guarantees that have been given, they have been looked upon and it is known that they are all viable and therefore if the Government was called upon to honour its guarantee on the question, say, of the Mombasa Pipeline—I am taking that as an example—Mombasa Board still has the obligation to pay out that money, it does not mean that if the Central Government honours its pledge that the board goes scot-free, as they say, they will still have to pay.

An hon. Member: What if they don't pay up?

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Well, that would be just too bad. But I mean Mombasa at the moment, and there are some Mombasa people who will tell you that Mombasa is thriving, doing very well, and that is [Mr. Shikuku] to misrepresent what I said? I reserved my decision on this Bill, but is he in order to say that I objected when I did not?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order. I think Mr. Kibuga is misrepresenting what Mr. Shikuku said. I understood, but I may be wrong, that it did not seem to me that he objected to the principle of the tax, he just objected to the belated introduction of the law to justify something which, according to him, had been done already. It is a different thing.

Mr. Kibuga: Mr. Speaker, Sir, if that is the objection which the hon. Member was objecting to, then I would like to support him, because we are now in the middle of February, and the whole of January has finished, but the hon. Minister for Finance said that from January up to this time no money has been collected and this is most unfortunate, because his appeal is to collect money from the people who have cars, and therefore he should collect from every individual. Now, Sir, we see that because the Bill was not here in time, no taxes have yet been collected. If it was collected, then it was collected illegally. I think, Sir, that in the future we should be very, very strict when a Minister fails to bring a Bill at the proper time, then he should be charged something so that it makes a difference on him.

Apart from that, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I support the idea that we should have to pay for the cars. It is true that most of the hon. Members own cars here and even people outside, but they are not very rich, but yet, Sir, who are the rich persons and who are the poor persons? If we compare a person who is not employed, who does not have any land and no means of livelihood, then that is a poor man. An hon. Member of Parliament earning a few days' salary is probably quite poor, but compared to a poor man who has no land, no job and no means of livelihood, then he appears quite rich. So, Sir, although it is painful to pay taxes, we should realize that now we are independent we should pay our taxes willingly.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, all that I am asking is that in the future we hope that such a Bill will come at the proper time. It is rather unfair to the people who are going to buy cars after we have passed this Bill, because the people who should have paid for the licences should have been the owners of the cars before we passed this Bill. The Bill seems to be in favour of them.

Apart from that, Sir, I do not wish to say much more, except that I support the Bill very much.

Mr. Omar: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I rise to support this Bill and in doing this I will probably repeat what other Members have already said, that in future the Minister should bring this Bill in advance so that it can be debated before it is applied.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I would like to have seen a provision in this Bill whereby those motorists who did not pay their licence fees for their vehicles should go and pay it even before the renewal time is due, because if there was such a provision in this Bill then it would have given the motorists time to go there at any time and pay the difference between the fees that one is supposed to pay even before the paying time of his licence fees. Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I am saying this for the sake of those people who are going to buy cars and then after some time will be told to pay the difference in the fees, which during that time was used by somebody else.

So, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, with these few words, I support this Bill, because I believe that if we do not approve of this Bill our revenue will be less £100,000, which is a great loss. From time to time we have asked the Ministers here to improve the roads, build bridges and make all-weather roads, and so if we lose this big amount of money, then the Minister will not get this money in order that improvements can be made to our roads.

So, Sir, with these few words, I beg to support this Bill very, very strongly.

Mr. Mallada: I think Mr. Deputy Speaker, there is no one who has any substantial quarrel with this Bill, because it is quite clear that those who have should contribute to the development of this country. Amongst those who have are the motor vehicle owners. I should like, Mr. Deputy Speaker, to reiterate what my hon. friend Mr. Ochwada said that it seems rather procrastinating too much for the Government to have to wait until a person goes to renew the licence of the vehicle to be asked to pay the difference of the licence. Here, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I would like to make a suggestion to the Minister which, if it is implemented, would have this money accruing to Government much faster and much earlier than hitherto provided in this Bill.

Sir, I remember once that I bought a new car for which the licence fee was, let us say, Sh. 180 per annum, and I paid a full year's licence fee. When the particulars of the car were scrutinized in the motor vehicle department, it was [Mr. Mallada] found that the licence fee I paid was less than should have been charged for a car of that class. Before the end of the first two months I received a bill from the motor vehicle office saying that there was a difference of so much, which had to be paid. Mr. Deputy Speaker, I wonder why it is not possible for the Ministry to employ that system, that those people who had paid a certain fee, and consequential to the Budget speech the fees went up Sh. 20 or Sh. 30, to be sent bills saying that the difference in fees is so much please go to have it. That, Mr. Deputy Speaker, will have the money coming in much faster than it would if we wait for this to come through. Maybe, Mr. Deputy Speaker, the Minister might say that it is going to involve a lot of expenditure or a lot of clerical work, but, Mr. Deputy Speaker, what expenditure is that compared to the money which is going to come? It is a matter of economics, you employ a few people, or even the staff who are there, one clerk can be put on to sending bills because, after all, they have all the records of the vehicles, they have all the licence fees that should be paid in respect of these vehicles, and what is needed is a printed form to be filled in with the name of the person and the registration number of the vehicle and the amount of fees which it is necessary to pay to cover what is outstanding. Therefore, Mr. Deputy Speaker, it would come in much faster because if for instance, a person took out a licence for twelve months in October last year, he is not due to renew that licence until the end of September this year. Therefore, during this time the money will be lying idle, will not be coming to the Government for the purposes for which we want it to be spent.

With those few remarks, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I think the Minister has heard and he will be able to tell us whether it is possible for this method to be employed so that we can get this money quicker, for the benefit of this country.

With those few remarks, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I support the Bill.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): If no hon. Member wishes to speak I will call on the Mover to reply.

The Minister for Works, Communications and Power (Mr. Mwangyumba): Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I am grateful to those Members who have contributed to this debate and who have shown their willingness to support the Bill.

I will like to mention one thing that the Bill might have been late but it is not because it was anyone's fault. The Legal Department, the Attorney-General's Chambers are very busy drafting many Bills and, unfortunately, this was one of the Bills which took a long time to be drafted. My Ministry did what it could to speed it up and this was the earliest we could bring it to the House.

I would like to tell the House also that it is fair that everybody should be taxed the same. If we are to ask for motor vehicle owners to pay their licences differently then it is not fair. What we are asking the House to do is to implement what the Minister for Finance said when he was giving his Budget speech, that he wanted £100,000 from motor vehicle licences. He said that new rates for motor vehicle licences would begin in January this year. We are informed that already the new rates are in operation, what we are only asking the House to approve is the arrears of licences by a few people who had bought their licences in mid-1965. Arrangements have already been made that when such a person goes to renew his licence, for example this year, any time this year, he has to pay for the difference between the new licence and the old one. There is no difficulty at all in implementing this. As I said earlier, the sum of money which is involved in this exercise will amount to something like £22,000 in arrears.

Hon. Members who spoke, some said, for example, hon. Mr. Kamau, he said that we are charging the poor. We are not charging the poor. If someone has a motor vehicle surely he is not a poor person. We are charging these new licence fees in order to help the poor, and we are trying to charge it from the relatively better placed people in this country who can afford to own a car, or a motor-cycle, or a lorry, a bus, or something like that. The hon. Mr. Shikuku blamed the Ministry for being lazy, and, in fact, said that I am lazy. I would like to assure him that he is quite mistaken, because if my Ministry was lazy we would not be doing what we are doing in his constituency now. We would not be doing the work in his district. He should be grateful for that. The money which is doing that work in his district is coming from these very licences, which I am sure he is going to support. The hon. Mr. Ochwada said that we are trying to rob the public. I was very surprised at an hon. Member saying that the Government is robbing the public. In fact it is not true. We are taxing the public, I agree, but it is for the benefit of the public in Kenya that we are doing this, because without it there are some social services which will have to be closed down. I was glad that the hon. Mr. Gatuguta supported the Bill, and also the hon. Mr. Omar who did the same. The hon. Mr.

enough and very smart, and quick enough, he should have had this Bill in this House by August so that we should at least not have had to wait all this time and then chase these people round again.

Mr. Speaker, I find that it would be unfair, in my opinion, because of the laziness or because of the apparent laziness of the Ministry for all people to be punished and pushed around because the Minister was late in getting this thing. I might as well suggest, Mr. Speaker, which is perhaps not a very reasonable suggestion, that perhaps because of the laziness and slowness of the Minister, that these people should only pay for this year so as to penalize the Ministry concerned—because of its laziness—it should be penalized for being late.

The Minister for Works, Communications and Power (Mr. Mwanyumba): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, is it in order for the hon. Member to call a Minister lazy when he is not lazy?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): If an hon. Member gives his reason for thinking that a Minister, or anyone else, has been lazy, I think it is in order for him to do so. The epithet lazy is not so terribly offensive.

Mr. Shikuku: I know, the hon. Minister is a friend of mine but he realizes my feelings and that I tend to feel that he is lazy, because, Sir, we are told that the Financial Statement is top secret and is top secret to the public and to the Members of Parliament until it is read by the Minister in this House. The Minister for Communications is a member of the Cabinet, and surely the Minister should have been informed—we are told that we have what is called collective responsibility—that this was going to be the position and he should have drafted the Bill so that it could have gone out immediately after the Minister had announced this. But he just did not do anything, and now we are being asked to get this Bill through in order to enable the Minister to recover the money which—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I am sorry to interrupt you, Mr. Shikuku, but I must ask Mr. Osogo whether that publication is connected with some business he has in the House, otherwise it is out of order even to bring it into the Chamber. Would you put it right out of sight, Mr. Osogo, please?

Mr. Shikuku: Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker, for your ruling. The hon. Member is old enough to know—

Mr. Speaker, I wish only—because this concerns the raising of the revenue of this country—to warn the Minister that in future we are not going to have Ministers bringing Bills which have already been put into action.

With these few remarks, Mr. Speaker, I beg to reserve my comment.

Mr. Ochwada: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Minister being a good friend of mine, I therefore do not intend to challenge him too much, but I would like to support my two hon. friends who have spoken before me, in that in future we do not want Bills brought to this House after the intended intentions of the Bill have already been implemented. I am quite sure, Mr. Speaker, Sir, that in future you will also come to our aid when we reject such Bills and send them back to the Ministers.

Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, in this Bill it is suggested that the difference between Sh. 160 and Sh. 200 for any vehicle which was registered last year, or whatever the fee might have been, will be paid by the registered owner of the vehicle this year. But, Sir, I would like to know from the Minister as to whether there has been any effort on the part of the Minister to inform the public, because, for example, Sir, one might have registered his vehicle towards the end of October last year for a full year and he sells it to someone else on the 30th August, this year, that means that the person who has purchased the vehicle from the person who has used it for eight months of this year will be asked to pay the difference—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Mr. Gachago, you are forgetting the rule of walking in front of hon. Members when they are speaking.

Mr. Ochwada: They will be asked to pay the difference between the fee for last year and the fee for this year. What justification is there in penalizing the person who never used the vehicle? Why did the Ministry not devise a measure whereby a person who owns a vehicle as from the first of this year and registered it either in July last year or August, September, or even in November, for that matter, to pay the difference between the licence for last year and the remaining part of this year, after the expiry of the licence this year?

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I notice that apart from the fact that the Minister is acting illegally by taxing us under the new proposed Bill, it is not only that he is doing that, but he is also trying to penalize some innocent person who might want to purchase a vehicle from somebody else and be forced to pay money for which they have not enjoyed the privilege. I would like to suggest to the Minister that from now on some measure be introduced whereby the difference between the fee for last year and the new fee which was introduced this year should be collected immediately from the owners of the vehicle who are using them now, rather than wait until a person sells the vehicle to someone else and then penalize the person who is purchasing the vehicle.

Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have no other quarrel with the Bill, apart from that and apart from the fact that in the future we do not want to be robbed of our money by Ministries before the law is passed in this House.

With those few remarks, Sir, I beg to support the Bill.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I only rise to remind the hon. Members that in my Budget Speech I did indicate that it would be necessary to find additional revenue of some £3.58 million, and I said that that £3.58 million would come from changes in the customs duty, and £100,000 would come from motor vehicle licences. I did indicate that the motor vehicle licences tax would come at the beginning of the year. My speech was debated here and my hon. friend was there, and he accepted and supported it. All we are now trying to do is to get the authority. He said that the money which is collected now is illegal and that is quite true, and therefore all we are trying to do is to legalize that position. I mean, the decision was taken and we cannot go back on it.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, might I add that the money is not being collected until this Bill goes through, and, as I said yesterday, this is a measure to raise £100,000 between now and June. If we do not get this £100,000 it simply means that somebody is going to run short of £100,000.

Mr. Gatuguta: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not think there is much quarrel with this Bill even from the point of view of the speakers who have spoken before me. There is one misunderstanding and that is with regard to the collection of the fees.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, in section 3 (2), it says, "A Licensing officer shall not issue any licence on or after 1st January . . ." without having collected the difference. This really means that no money can be collected until this Bill is passed.

The other point I would like to raise, Sir, is one which has been raised by other hon. Members here and that is with regard to the person who purchases the vehicle who will be required to pay the difference. Of course, Sir, that must be the case, because if you do not do that, then how can you possibly expect to collect the difference once the vehicle has been sold? If you insist on collecting the difference from the original owner, then how will you be able to trace him? Surely, Sir, if you want to collect the money for the State, you must go about it the right way and the only way of getting the money—

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that the hon. Member who is now speaking is the Chairman of the Licensing Board and he seems to be very conversant with the subject, may we know if he is speaking on behalf of the Licensing Board?

Mr. Gatuguta: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Members of the House do not see the difference. I am the Chairman of the Transport Licensing Board which has nothing to do with this particular department. This Bill deals with the traffic section.

As I was saying, Sir, that when we were debating this Budget we did agree that we were going to raise so much money, and that this £100,000 is included in this figure. Now, Sir, if we do not collect this £100,000 we are definitely going to reduce our Budget for this year. Sir, the other thing that the Members should remember is this. The majority of the motor vehicle people renew their licences at the beginning of each year, that is, with effect from the 1st January, so this Bill is going to affect very few people, those who obtained their licences in July last year instead of January this year. The amount is not very big as far as I know, and if you compare them there would be very many people with the total number of motor vehicles in this country.

So, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I support this Bill, and I do not see any difficulties about it at all. If some motor vehicle people are going to pay full licences this year, then why should we allow some other people not to pay full licences? I think it is fair that all people should be treated on the same level, and this legislation is trying to bring this section of the people into the same category.

Mr. Kibuga: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I wish to support this Bill because it is necessary to get the money that we want for the development of this country. I am surprised about one thing, Sir, and that is the objection of the president—as he calls himself, the president of the poor people—because, Sir, the hon. Shikuku is the president of the poor people. Mr. Speaker, Sir, we want to raise money from the rich people to help the poor people, but the hon. president says—

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, the hon. Member has just stated that I objected, when I did not object. Is he in order

[The Minister for Works, Communications and Power]

Mr. Speaker, hon. Members will remember that on 10th June 1965, the Minister for Finance announced that certain motor vehicle licences would be increased with effect from 1st January this year. These increases were published in Legal Notice No. 292 of 12th November 1965, and as those of you who have taken out licences this year know, you have paid more for your car licence at the new rate. For example, if you paid an annual fee of Sh. 160 last year, you are required this year to pay Sh. 200. And if you took out a licence for four months for Sh. 64 last year, this year you are required to pay Sh. 80 for the same licence.

The House is not being asked, in this Bill, to say whether or not the new rates contained in Legal Notice No. 292 should be approved. The new rates have already been approved by the under section 119 of the Traffic Act. All that the House is required to approve is a Bill which will enable the Government to collect arrears of motor vehicle fees from motor vehicle owners who, having learned that motor vehicle licence fees would be increased from 1st January this year, took out licences in 1965 for twelve months or four months, avoiding the payment of the additional fees introduced from 1st January this year.

The Bill will not affect any motor vehicle owner who took out his licence before the Budget announcement on 10th June last year, nor will it affect those who took out or renewed their licences in 1965 and whose licences expired on 31st December 1965. It will, however, affect those who took out licences in 1965, after July 1st, and whose licences were to expire some time in 1966, that is, this year. Since it is the intention of the Government that all those who took out licences this year should pay at the same rate, I am sure the House will agree that it is only fair that those who took out licences last year for this year should pay at the same rate. If this Bill is passed it will mean that Government will collect a revenue of some £100,000; and, in fact, the arrears which the Government want to collect from motor vehicle fees will amount to something like £22,000.

Mr. Speaker, this is a straightforward Bill and a very short one. I hope Members will agree with me and pass this Bill so that we adjust the licence fees. Mr. Speaker, I beg to move.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya) seconded.

Mr. Kamau: Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is actually very interesting to find that we Members of Parliament are always brought Bills and as the Minister has already stated, this Bill has been passed and executed. He has stated that when the Minister for Finance decided to increase the fees on vehicles, this was approved by the Minister for Works and Communications, and it has now worked. Now, Sir, from the psychological point of view I do not see how, after killing a person, you come to ask permission to kill him.

Mr. Mwanuzandi: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, could we have this matter of Bills explained to us, because it seems that the hon. Member is out of order. When a Bill is published it becomes effective immediately. Is this the procedural way, or is it not the right way? What I would like to be told now is whether this is how a Bill works? In talking as the hon. Member is talking, it is as if we are not aware of how Bills work, and that is the way in which we know they work.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): A Bill does not become law until it has passed the Third Reading of this House and the Third Reading in the Senate and has received the President's assent. When it is published that is merely notice to the public of Government's intention to ask Parliament to pass that law. So the hon. Member is quite right if he is saying that this law is asking us to ratify something which Government has done already.

Mr. Kamau: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would sympathize with my hon. friend here who tried to establish his ignorance of the procedure of this House, and I think he cannot be blamed because he is a new Member in the House—

Mr. Mwanuzandi: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I wonder whether the hon. old gentleman is in order in saying that I am exposing my ignorance?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Well, I think he was just speaking the truth on this particular matter. He is only referring to your ignorance on this particular matter on which you asked information and found that you had the wrong impression. He is entitled to say that you are ignorant on this matter.

Mr. Kamau: Mr. Speaker, Sir, what I am trying to say is that it is clearly known that Members of this Parliament are supreme in passing any law which affects this country. But it has come to be a tendency or a practice that we are always informed of Bills after they have been considered and executed by the Ministers, and it is our that we are here to represent the strong feeling that we are here to represent the public outside. I think this is the opinion of the hon. Members that before any Bill is brought to this House such drafted Bill should go to the Parliamentary Group, where we should exchange views with the Ministers. I say this because, Sir, it is my right to say that a Minister was elected by people like myself and when we came to this Parliament we gave power to the President to appoint some Ministers to assist him. To assist him does not mean to execute and decide before they bring any case to this Parliament.

Now, on this Bill dealing with motor vehicles, Sir, we know how much this has hurt many people. I know that when the Minister comes to reply he will say that no poor man can buy a motor car. We know very well that most of the motor cars here are bought on a hire purchase basis and, therefore, there is no question of coming to try to say that people are rich. This should have received the approval of this House.

Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, as the Minister has stated already that under a certain Legal Notice number he has approved this and it has gone through, I have seen many Bills which have come to this House, and if the Members of this House reject them, then Government redrafts them. At this stage, Sir, I should tell the Minister that this vehicle licence tax is very high, and that it has hurt many people tremendously. He has now asked whether this House would approve that the same fees should be charged this year as were charged last year. In my opinion, Sir, I think that had the Minister asked us before he approved this Bill we should have given him directions and assistance, but, because there are so many hon. Members who will probably wish to speak on this, I would only request the Minister that in future before any Minister goes to the extent of giving any Bill power, he should bring the Bill to this House so as to hear the views of the Members. We know that the Government wants money for various social services, and it is also our intention to assist the Government in getting this money, but we should also give our views before any Bill affecting money, or any law of this country, is executed, we should be consulted.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, because there are so many people who will want to speak on this Bill, I would reserve my decision and I will give my decision at a later stage.

Mr. Shikuku: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I do not really have much to quarrel with the Minister about, he is a friend of mine, but I have one or two observations to make.

One is that whereas we appreciate the fact that we must have good roads in this country so that the cars for which we are going to pay licences can last longer and so become economical, I think the Minister must consider very seriously that this House is the only supreme authority, and that there is not any other House, not even the Cabinet under which he serves is greater than we who are here in this House. Therefore, I would like him and his colleagues to note that this House is the only supreme authority and we are not going to become rubber stamps, where the Cabinet decides, executes and comes here to receive an O.K.

Mr. Speaker, the Ministers seem to be becoming too big for their boots, and when they get too big for their boots they need a bit of thinning, and probably one day when they bring such Bills before us, we will—to teach them a lesson or to show them that they are not the only big fellows in this country by refusing to pass the Bills which would not be in the interests of the country, but it would be because of their own sleepiness, that they are too tired to act on time. The hon. Ministers, Mr. Speaker, are, I think, overworked. Since independence they have been working very hard and they require a holiday, and therefore a reshuffle would probably help so as to wake these Ministers up.

Mr. Speaker, the Minister has just stated that he requires this money and those people who paid in 1965, let us say even those who renewed their licences on the 31st December 1965, will be required to pay a sum of Sh. 40 I think, more. I stand for correction on this and if the Minister could inform me of the correct figure I will give way to him.

The Minister for Works, Communications and Power (Mr. Mwanuzandi): It is in order that I should do that, Sir. What I have said is this: last year, 1965, if somebody paid a full licence for a car he paid Sh. 160 for a year, but this year, in 1966, he will be required to pay Sh. 200 for a year. The Government is making arrangements as to what somebody will be asked to pay if he paid his licence from 1st July last year, which ends some time this year.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, Sir, if the argument is that those who paid in July last year for this year, what about those people who paid on 31st December 1965, and this will expire in 1966? The same thing will happen. You can see the inconvenience the people will have, where a lot of people will be stopped on the road, and so forth. If the Minister had found it reasonable, in order to comply with the Minister of Finance's statement, if he had only been keen

[The Speaker] express the thanks of the House. The fact is that the Speaker will always make any representation elsewhere, to the President or to anyone else, by resolution of the House that he should do so; but he has no authority to do that except by resolution of the House, except when he acts in his other capacity as custodian of the rights of hon. Members and sometimes takes action on his own account on behalf of the House.

NOTICE OF MOTION FOR THE ADJOURNMENT UNDER STANDING ORDER 14

KENYA PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION SELECTIONS FOR SECONDARY SCHOOLS

Mr. Masinde: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I was wondering whether I would be in order at this stage to raise a matter of national importance under section 14 of our Standing Orders, a matter which deals with areas from which not one successful Kenya Preliminary Examination candidate has been selected for secondary school and the urgent need for finding places for some of these students.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Now, as hon. Members know, I am very chary of allowing this procedure to be used, but it has to be allowed where, in the opinion of the Speaker, the matter is both definite and urgent, that is to say, calling for some urgent action, and is of such public importance as to invite ten Members to signify their view that the matter should be ventilated then and there.

Now this is definite and it is urgent, if places are to be found in schools; and it seems to me to be of some public importance, if ten hon. Members support, I will allow this Motion.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, there is no doubt as to the importance of this matter but, with due diffidence, I would like to have your guidance as to the definiteness of the matter, in that the selection of students is currently taking place. It is still going on, and will do so until the 16th, all over the country. Could we have your guidance, Sir, as to whether, in the circumstances, a debate would not be influencing the selection and prejudicing it, rather than pronouncing on the results?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I see that the allegation by Mr. Masinde is that the selection is finished, and that it has resulted in some districts being left without any pupils going into secondary schools. Now he must be allowed to bring this allegation by this procedure if more than ten Members want him to do so. He may well receive the answer which Mr. Mboya has given, but that will be in the course of the discussion.

Now I want to know whether ten Members or more support this matter being raised.

(A number of hon. Members stood in their places)

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! There are eleven hon. Members who wish to see this matter ventilated so I will allow Mr. Masinde to move the adjournment of the House at a quarter to six, or at any earlier time when we finish the business on the Order Paper. I would warn the hon. Member and the Minister concerned that we might run out of business before a quarter to six and they should be ready for this matter to come straight on at that point.

POINT OF ORDER

MATTERS WHICH HAVE NOT BEEN RESOLVED MAY BE BROUGHT UP AGAIN IN THE HOUSE

Mr. Anyleni: Mr. Speaker, while this has been decided upon I want to find out from you, Mr. Speaker, as to whether next week, when we know more facts about this matter, if there are new complaints and facts, shall we again be allowed to raise this matter in the House, or will this block it?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I am afraid I am not prepared to answer hypothetical questions of that kind. We have to wait and see what happens and then you will get an answer.

I cannot answer hypothetical questions, I am afraid.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, is it hypothetical? I thought that the point which the hon. Member for Majengo-Bassi was raising was that, under Standing Orders, a matter which has been debated may not be raised again for a set period. Does that part of the Standing Orders apply in a case such as this?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Oh, that could not possibly apply, because, when you have a matter discussed on an adjournment, you do not reach a resolution of the House, and it is only matters on which the House has resolved that cannot be brought again, without the leave of the Speaker, within a certain period. So what is raised in an adjournment debate, with no conclusive result, can be the matter of further discussion under various kinds of procedure, according to the nature of the matter. But until one knows exactly

[The Speaker] the nature of the matter and the circumstances, what can be done or not be done, I am not prepared to say.

Mr. Gatuguta: Mr. Speaker, Sir, if this Motion is being raised on the assumption that the Kenya Preliminary Examination results are over, and yet the Minister has just told us here the the selection is not yet over, then where do we stand in this case?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I have said, Mr. Gatuguta, that that will be brought out in the discussion, if it is known.

I would remind hon. Members that on the interruption of business today, which will be after this Motion of Mr. Masinde's has been dealt with, there is a matter to be dealt with on the adjournment in the ordinary way which is to be raised by Mr. arap Biy. That is on the Order Paper.

POINT OF ORDER

TIME FOR GOVERNMENT TO PREPARE REPLY TOO SHORT—RULING

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Oneko): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, is it not unfair to the Government and especially the Ministry of Education, which is going to deal with this particular matter, to be given only one hour in which to prepare their case? So far, this Motion has been allowed because the matter is of national importance; but if it is of national importance, the Minister must be given time to prepare and answer adequately.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Whenever you get a case to which Standing Order 14 can be applied, it is only because it is so urgent that the House must have a chance of discussing it immediately. Naturally, there are occasions when the Minister cannot prepare very fully for the discussion, but still it is so urgent that he must hear the views of the House and give whatever answer he can give. I do not really know on this occasion how difficult it will be for the Minister to answer, but if it is difficult the House will, of course, excuse him.

The Minister for Health (Mr. Otieno): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, with due respect to all that has been said, is it not right that the matter under discussion is a matter of policy, and whatever has been done by the Ministry of Education has been done according to a certain policy? Therefore, would it not serve this House better if this matter were made the subject of a substantive Motion to be discussed fully rather than being brought under this Standing Order 14 about matters of urgent national importance?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Every Member is entitled to his own opinion as to what procedure would be best, but if an hon. Member seeks to raise, under Standing Order 14, a definite matter which is quite clearly a matter of urgency—and, without question, the matter of placing children in secondary schools this year is a matter of urgency—then he is entitled to ventilate it by this particular procedure if he is supported by ten Members. He is so supported and there we are.

Next Order.

CONSIDERATION OF REPORT AND THIRD READING

THE PIG INDUSTRY BILL

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Hon. Members will recall that this Bill was reported from the Committee of the whole House as having been agreed with amendment, so consideration of the Report was deferred until today.

The Minister of State, President's Office (Mr. Nyamweya) seconded.

(Question proposed)

(Question put and agreed to)

The Minister of State, President's Office (Mr. Nyamweya) seconded.

(Question proposed)

(Question put and agreed to)

(The Bill was accordingly read the Third Time and passed)

Second Reading

THE TRAFFIC (VEHICLE LICENCES) (DURATION, FEES AND REFUND) (AMENDMENT) (RULES) (VALIDATION) BILL

The Minister for Works, Communications and Power (Mr. Mwanumbwa): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move that the Traffic (Vehicle Licences) (Duration, Fees and Refund) (Amendment) (Rules) (Validation) Bill, 1966, be read a Second Time.

[Mr. Kall] and in view of the fact, Mr. Speaker, that the taxpayers' money has been squandered on—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! We cannot have a long speech. Are you wanting to raise it on the adjournment?

Mr. Kall: I want to raise it on an adjournment.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): That is all right. You will remember to give me written notice, Mr. Kall?

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

RESIDENT MAGISTRATE'S COURT FOR KEHANCHA DIVISION

Mr. Malsori-Itumbo asked the Attorney-General when he would allow the resident magistrate to hold a court in Kehancha Division when statistics showed that there were over 300 cases per month in that area.

The Attorney-General (Mr. Njonjo): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply.

The nearest resident magistrate to Kehancha is at Kisii and he is so heavily engaged with criminal work there that he cannot go to Kehancha. I hope that it may be possible to arrange for a resident magistrate to visit Kehancha when the establishment of resident magistrates is up to full strength, but at the moment I cannot say what that will be.

I would like to add this, Mr. Speaker. Only very recently, the Member for Majoge-Bassi did ask me a question relating to the Government's assistance to newly-qualified lawyers. My rejoinder to that is this, on which I would like the support of the hon. Members. Please encourage Africans who have recently qualified as lawyers to join Government service as magistrates, and we will be able to establish more resident magistrates.

Mr. Malsori-Itumbo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, while thanking the Attorney-General for his satisfactory answer to the House, is he aware that about 75 per cent of these criminals who are crowding the magistrate at Kisii, most of them are from Kuria?

Mr. Njonjo: Mr. Speaker, I am most grateful to the hon. Member for giving me that piece of information.

Mr. Malsori-Itumbo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is he also aware that the distance between Kisii and Kuria is over 99 miles and communication between my constituency and Kisii is very difficult, so that some of these people are being convicted before reaching the magistrate because they are late? What steps is he taking so as to alleviate the difficulties my people are getting right now, and how soon?

Mr. Njonjo: Mr. Speaker, of course, I am aware of the distance between that area and Kisii, and, in fact, I am surprised that these people travel such distances to go and commit offences in Kisii, but what I said earlier on is that we are trying to do our best and, as soon as we get Africans to—

Mr. Malsori-Itumbo: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, do I understand that the Attorney-General is trying to allege that my people travel to go and commit crimes in Kisii?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I do not know what the Attorney-General was alleging, but it was not a point of order.

Mr. Njonjo: Mr. Speaker, I apologize: that is the impression I had when the hon. Member spoke, but I apologize; I misunderstood him.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Will hon. Members stay seated, please.

Mr. Njonjo: My answer Mr. Speaker, is this, and I will repeat it. As soon as we get more Africans taking up judicial work—and there are some hon. Members in this House who could be very good magistrates—we will put one in your area.

MUKOGONDO A SPECIAL AREA

Mr. G. G. Karinki asked the President if he would tell the House why Mukogondo area in Laikipia District was still a special area and when the Government was considering allowing people from other parts of the district to move freely without permits.

The Minister of State, President's Office (Mr. Nyamweya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. This place—Mukogondo—is still a closed area under the Special Districts (Administration) Act. The Government has already explained, in details, the purpose and application of the Special Districts (Administration) Act in reply to Question No. 149 tabled in this House by the Member for Majoge-Bassi to my learned friend, the hon. Attorney-General. Mr. Speaker, I would like to reassure the House that the operation of the Act is constantly under review, and that necessary amendments to the Act will be effected as soon as the Government is satisfied that the Act no longer serves any useful purpose to the area of Mukogondo.

Mr. G. G. Karinki: Mr. Speaker, is the Minister aware that even a Member who represents that area is not allowed to visit his voters without a permit from the district commissioner?

Mr. Nyamweya: It may be serious. Mr. Speaker, as the hon. Members are alleging, but it would be serious if the Government did not guarantee the security of the hon. Member for that area.

Mr. Areman: Mr. Speaker, may we know from the Minister whether Mukogondo is a separate district from Nanyuki?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am not taking geography lessons here.

Mr. Kagga: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, saying that this Act is for the protection of the people, and in view of the fact that during the whole time we were struggling for freedom we were fighting against these restrictions, would the Minister tell the House whether the Government policy is to maintain this colonial legacy or whether it has changed from that policy which we have suffered from all the years when we were fighting against these restrictions?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, I am most obliged to the hon. Member for Kandara for his question. The Government intends to abolish all the colonial legacies, including that one which deals with the Special Districts (Administration) Act, but the hon. Members should be patient, particularly as to this one. I have assured the House that the matter is receiving attention and when the Government is satisfied that the question of security involving these areas where this Act applies is no longer necessary, the Bill to amend such an Act will be brought to this House.

Mr. Kamau: Mr. Speaker, on a point of order, I wonder if the Minister is in order in replying, in one of his answers, to the Member that he is not here to teach a geography lesson, instead of replying properly, that he does not know the geography of the area or otherwise.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, he is in order. We will move on now. I think you have a statement to make, Mr. Nyamweya.

Mr. G. G. Karinki: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I would like to raise this on adjournment.

MINISTERIAL STATEMENT

THE MAYORAL ROLLS-ROYCE CAR

The Minister of State, President's Office (Mr. Nyamweya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, His Excellency the President wishes it to be known that on 4th February 1966, the Minister for Local Government, the hon. Mr. Sagin, appealed to His Excellency the President to stop the importation of a Rolls-Royce car ordered by the Nairobi City Council.

In considering all the circumstances connected with this matter, His Excellency the President has stopped delivery of the car to Kenya.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that we understand that this car had been shipped and was almost in Mombasa, would the Minister give us an assurance that the ratepayers' money will not be used in the expenses which will be incurred in the returning of this car? Would the Minister assure this House that the culprits or the people will be the only people to—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! No, a Ministerial Statement is not an opportunity for hon. Members to follow up by expressing their opinion on what should happen. It is only an opportunity for Members to ask further questions for sheer information, questions of fact. Now if Mr. Anyieni was merely to ask who will bear any wasted expenditure, that would be in order.

The Minister of State, President's Office (Mr. Nyamweya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Government is informed that the car is not in Kenya and that the order has been cancelled.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, I rise to seek your guidance, not so much to ask a question. I was wondering whether it would be in order for the Speaker of the House of Representatives to thank the President, on behalf of hon. Members, for the action he has taken.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It would not be correct for the Speaker of the House to express the opinion of hon. Members in a matter of that kind, but it is in order, on an occasion like this, for hon. Members to express their thanks. And I think Mr. Shikuku is speaking for quite a number of Members in this House in doing so.

Mr. Shikuku: Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker, for giving me this chance. I wish wholeheartedly to thank the President of the Republic of Kenya for having taken such a timely step to stop this terrible extravagance by the City Council. And I wish also, Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the poor people in Kenya, to extend their thanks to the President; we wish him the best of luck in his job and we shall always be behind him democratically.

CONSIDERED RULING

POSITION OF SPEAKER AS HOUSE'S REPRESENTATIVE

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think it would be useful if I went a little further in answer to Mr. Shikuku's suggestion that the Speaker should

Mr. Muliro: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Sit down please, Mr. Maisori-Itumbo.

Mr. Maisori-Itumbo: No, I will not sit down.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): When I am hearing a point of order, all hon. Members will sit down please and be silent. You will have your chance afterwards.

UNSATISFACTORY REPLY TO QUESTION No. 265: INSPECTORATE RANK FOR KURIA POLICEMEN

Mr. Muliro: Mr. Speaker, as I was saying, in view of the most unsatisfactory reply from the Minister, which has shown his inability to answer the question, could I move a Motion on the adjournment with the permission of the Member for Kuria?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! I think, Mr. Maisori, you want to raise this on the adjournment?

Mr. Maisori-Itumbo: Yes, Mr. Speaker, and the hon. Muliro can second it.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Very well.

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Question No. 233

KENYA DELEGATION TO O.A.U. MINISTERIAL COUNCIL

Mr. Obok asked the President if he could tell the House if it was correct that the Kenya delegation at the recent Ministerial Council of O.A.U. had Government authority to commit the Republic to any resolution of that council, including the resolution on Rhodesia.

The Minister of State, President's Office (Mr. Nyamweya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. The mandate of the Kenya delegates to a recent Organization for African Unity Conference was to represent Kenya and speak on behalf of the Republic of Kenya and its Government. The delegation could even vote on the resolutions but always on the understanding that the resolutions passed there were still subject to the approval of the Kenya Government.

Mr. Obok: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, since the delegation had the authority of the Government to commit the Republic to any resolution passed there, would the Minister tell the House why the Republic has not broken off diplomatic relations with Wilson's Government?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, may be my friend the hon. Member for Alego did not understand what I said.

The delegates of Kenya in the Conference had the mandate to speak and even to vote on behalf of the Government of the Republic of Kenya and its people, on the understanding that that was still subject to the approval here. This is simple and is the common procedure in international matters.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, is he aware that this conference did take place after Members, including the Ministers, who dominated the whole debate on Rhodesia having expressed their strong views about Rhodesia and that these people took this into account and voted? Therefore, it is a complete shame on this Government to have failed to acknowledge the feelings of this House. It is useless.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Mr. Shikuku, be careful of your language.

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, with due respect, the question asks, "is it correct that the Kenya delegation at the recent Ministerial Council of Organization for African Unity had Government authority to commit the Republic to any resolution..." Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have replied, and I have not said that the question of commitment is there. What I have said in my reply is that at any international conference, the delegates have a mandate to vote for certain resolutions, and they do so and it is not only in Kenya, Sir. Everywhere in the world it is done, it is universally done in international affairs, that the country which is represented at an international conference will have to ratify the decisions of such conferences.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, on such an important matter which entails the breaking off of diplomatic relations with a friendly country, would the Minister deny that the Minister of the delegation, which was sent there was not in constant touch with the Kenya Government before they decided to vote on such a serious resolution?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I deprecate the pushing of the wedge into the Government machinery in some of these conferences. It is understood that Ministers, not only in Kenya, are in constant touch with their Government when representing their Government abroad, and this was done in this case.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, if this was done, and the Minister agrees that the head of the delegation was in constant touch with the Kenya

[Mr. Anyieni] Government, how is it that Kenya voted with the other countries in connexion with breaking off of diplomatic relations with Britain, and if the Minister returned here, nothing was done? Why did the Kenya Government not instruct the Foreign Minister or the Minister for External Affairs to reserve his vote, rather than expose Kenya to the charge of insincerity?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, that question of implying that our Minister exposed Kenya to the charge of insincerity, as a matter of fact, Sir, it exposes the questioner's insincerity. What I want to say in this respect, Mr. Speaker, Sir, is that the question deals specifically with the question of committing the Government of Kenya to some of these resolutions. If the hon. Member for Bassi-Majoge wants to pursue the question of Rhodesia—

Mr. Anyieni: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, the hon. Minister is referring to me as the hon. Member for Bassi-Majoge. I am the Member for Majoge-Bassi Constituency.

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I stand corrected in that very minor, trivial correction.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the question of the breaking off of diplomatic relations between Kenya and Britain is a separate matter, and if any Member is interested to pursue that point, he will have to give notice to the Minister for Foreign Affairs.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): If, Mr. Nyamweya, you are suggesting that these supplementary questions coming from Mr. Anyieni are different questions from what is before the House now, that is not so. The question here is quite clearly relating to the authority of the Minister to commit the Government and all these questions are relevant to that. You may not want to answer them.

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I did not get the question.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Would you repeat your last question, Mr. Anyieni?

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have forgotten what I said.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think I asked that in view of the fact the Minister has said, the Minister replying to the question, that the delegation was in constant touch with the Kenya Government and when they took the decision to vote in favour of breaking off diplomatic relations with Britain, they were doing this with the full mandate of the Government. How is it then that when the head of the delegation returned here the Kenya Government was not able to break off diplomatic relations, thereby exposing us to the charge of insincerity?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, on the 10th December 1965, His Excellency the President gave reasons for rejecting the resolution to this House. I have no intention of repeating the reasons given by His Excellency to this House and I advise the hon. Member for Majoge-Bassi to do a bit of homework.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Minister aware that in this House, when this matter of Rhodesia was debated, from the Ministers up to the Back-benchers, we were all unanimous that very strong measures should be taken? Since we were all unanimous about these strong measures, is the Minister aware that failing to take these—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! We are getting away from the point now. The merits of the decision on Rhodesia are not the point of this question; the point of this question is the authority of a delegate at a conference, the extent to which he was in touch with the Government here; and the question of how Government came to repudiate his action if they were in close touch. That is all relevant, but not the merits of the Rhodesian decision.

Mr. Ngala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, since a Minister attended this meeting and voted for the resolution, and since this has caused a bit of confusion and reflected badly on Kenya as a whole, would the Minister arrange for future conferences or meetings, so that a Minister does not appear to commit the Government before a resolution is passed? What assurance can the Minister give?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to say this in reply to the question of the hon. Member. A resolution passed at any ministerial conference of the Organization for African Unity or for that matter, any other international conference is a recommendation and a recommendation to be approved by the countries and the governments of States participating in that conference. I have said a little earlier that such resolutions which are, in short, recommendations to the respective governments which are participating in that kind of conference are always subjects to the approval of these governments.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Next question.

NOTICE OF MOTION FOR THE ADJOURNMENT

UNSATISFACTORY REPLY TO QUESTION No. 233: KENYA DELEGATION TO O.A.U. MINISTERIAL COUNCIL

Mr. Kall: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that this is one of the most serious subjects which concern our foreign policy,

Mr. Gachago: Mr. Speaker, Sir, such an assurance is completely unnecessary since the reply is self-explanatory.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, Sir, since it is possible that the people of Busia did not have proper advertisements and were not invited in a manner which would make them avail themselves of the plots, would the Assistant Minister tell the House what they did to make sure that the people knew about the availability of these plots, which they did not avail themselves of?

Mr. Gachago: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the method adopted to call those who came up for their plots was the same as the method adopted to call those who failed to come up. Therefore, there is no variation and no one can complain that there was a difference in the method of advertising these plots.

Mr. Masinde: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, is he aware that up to date we have fifty-six people in Busia who have been selected for the allocation of plots and who have not yet been given them?

Mr. Gachago: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the allocation of these plots is in the hands of the district administration, assisted by the various district selection committees. There are different factors in different districts which govern the allocation and also the selection of the settlers. Unless I am informed of the reasons for such a thing, I cannot tell the hon. Member; but if this is happening, Sir, we would like to investigate it and find out why such plots, when selection has been made, are not being allocated.

Mr. Masinde: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Assistant Minister assure this House that Busia District will get its quota which it should have had in the first phase of settlement, and also in the future phases of settlement?

Mr. Gachago: Mr. Speaker, Sir, there is no quota system in the allocation of plots.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, arising from the Assistant Minister's last reply, is he aware that the district commissioners in the districts in the Western Region, particularly the Busia District Commissioner, have a lot of problems? Despite the fact that they inform the people about coming and taking the plots, the people do not come. Are those plots going to wait?

Mr. Gachago: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think the hon. Member appreciates that in the job of administration, more than in any other kind of job, there are problems. We do appreciate the problems and we do help the administration in solving these problems when we are called upon to do so.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Next question.

Question No. 265

INSPECTORATE RANK FOR KURIA POLICEMEN

Mr. Malsori-Itumbo asked the Minister for Home Affairs if he would tell the House how many Kuria policemen there were in the Inspectorate rank.

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. The hon. questioner comes from that part of the Republic of Kenya known as Bukuria; he is, therefore, a Kenyan. It is the imperative duty of every hon. Member here to help build one strong Kenya nation and, as the residents of Kuria are all Kenyans, I consider that to give such information as the hon. Member requires, which is based purely on tribal considerations, is wrong in principle, and that the hon. Member should accept the fact that promotion in the Kenya Police Force is on merit and merit alone. The question of tribes does not come into it. If there is an officer serving in the force whose home is in Kuria, and he proves worthy of promotion to any rank, leave alone the rank of Inspector, his case is considered along with those of his fellow officers, and this has actually been done.

Mr. Malsori-Itumbo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the very crooked answer—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, Mr. Malsori, you do not use language like that about other hon. Members of this House. Use another adjective.

Mr. Malsori-Itumbo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I said so, Sir, because the Minister did not follow the question.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Do not say it, use another adjective, not such an offensive one.

Mr. Malsori-Itumbo: I am now asking, Mr. Speaker, Sir—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Call it an unsatisfactory answer.

Mr. Malsori-Itumbo: Mr. Speaker, arising from the unsatisfactory reply from the Minister, I would like to know—and in view of the fact that Kuria men do form a very reasonable percentage in the police force—how many Kuria policemen there are at the rank of inspector? Yet, he cannot give a substantial reply to the House. Would he now tell the House the number of Kuria policemen who are in the Inspectorate rank?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I said that it was wrong in principle to give such information purely on a tribal consideration.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, knowing that the Member is legally the Member for Kuria as a tribe and he is the only Member representing that Kuria tribe, is it not in order that the Minister should give the information concerning his constituency which is—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! This is a false point of order.

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I said before that it is wrong to give information on a matter which gives consideration merely on a tribal basis, and furthermore, Sir, the hon. Member said that the answer was unsatisfactory. It was unsatisfactory from the hon. Member's own thinking. Once a person—

Mr. Malsori-Itumbo: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I would like to seek your guidance as to whether the Minister can substantiate that any Member in the House here raising questions like the one I brought, is purely asking questions on a tribal basis. Can he substantiate that I brought this question on a tribal basis?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! Hon. Members sometimes get confused as to what can be a matter for substantiation, and what cannot be. Allegations of fact, something which has happened, can require substantiation, because an hon. Member can say on what grounds he said that this had happened. But when hon. Members are obviously expressing an opinion—as to the nature of a remark in this House; it is a matter of opinion which cannot be substantiated; you just agree with it or you do not agree with it, that is all.

Mr. Anyeni: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, is it in order for the Minister for Home Affairs to misrepresent the question of the hon. Member? The hon. Member here, Mr. Speaker, is not referring to the Kuria tribe, he is asking about Kuria policemen, and there is a place called Kuria which is a constituency.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I would not call this misrepresentation of the question. He sees a tribal implication in this question.

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, looking at the question, if the Minister understands it as being tribal, I wonder whether it was not in order for him, before he came to this House, to try and have the question taken off the Order Paper? Since it is on the Order Paper, is it not in order for the Minister to give the tribal answer to the question?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You cannot raise that as a point of order.

I do not know whether you have finished speaking yet, Mr. arap Moi?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, when the hon. Member interrupted I indicated that once a policeman was recruited and brought in for training, he ceased to be tribal but he becomes a part of the Kenya Police tribe. Therefore, each individual policeman is considered on his own merits, irrespective of whether he came from Kuria, or Bungoma, or Tugen, or Masai or from any other tribe. If he can serve the country loyally, he is promoted.

Mr. Ngala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from one of the replies, could the Minister tell us the number of policemen initially recruited from Kuria Division who have reached the stage of inspector?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, there is nothing like Kuria Division.

Mr. Omweri: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply earlier on, is he not aware that recruitment in these days from his Ministry is done on a tribal basis? He sends his recruiting team outside to tribal headquarters and he recruits from there and, in this case, the tribes are entitled to know how many were recruited, how many were promoted and to what ranks they were promoted.

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the hon. Member has stated that we recruit people tribally. In fact, I would have demanded substantiation, Sir, in figures. But I would like to say this; that in recent months the Government has stated that it should give priority to the members of the National Youth Service. If this is so, it is not my Ministry which goes to pick the people; we pick up people who are capable of doing the job, and people who are young men, who are devoted. Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Members seem not to be interested in the nation, but in tribal matters. Therefore, Sir, we have not recruited police officers on a tribal basis.

Mr. Jahazi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is it not true that the Minister cannot give a single name of any Kuria officer because there are not any in the police?

Mr. arap Moi: I have said once that an individual young man is recruited from Kuria, and when he joins the Kenya Police he ceases to be a Kuria man, but he becomes part of the Kenya Police tribe.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Hon. Members will get no further on this question.

Mr. Bala: Yes, Sir.

Mr. Otende: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. This Ministry very much appreciates the noble work rendered by the Roman Catholic Missionary Hospital at Nyabondo and has stretched its limited finances to its fullest extent. We are also very thankful to the other missionaries who have built hospitals in this country and who are doing admirable work on our behalf. In 1962-1963, a capital grant of Sh. 60,000 was given to Nyabondo Hospital to build new wards and, at present, it receives a recurrent grant from my Ministry of Sh. 38,120 per year. At present, we are not in any position to increase our grants due to very limited finance.

Mr. Bala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, would the Minister consider giving Nyabondo further aid because of the announcement by the President that the people of Kenya should be given free medical services, and also that the people in the remote areas should be given further aid so as to give people more free treatment?

Mr. Otende: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the question of free medical treatment is being looked into separately, both as regards our own institutions and also vis-à-vis the missionary hospitals and other voluntary agencies. I cannot commit the Government at present, but I can only tell the House that when we have completed our deliberations and have embarked on free medical treatment, no part of Kenya will be given less privileges than any other part and if Nyabondo falls within that area, then we shall give as much support as we give to any other area in Kenya.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, does the Minister agree with me that the spirit of Harambee becomes meaningless when the missionaries endeavour and spend their money, when they are not much richer than the Government, and put up a hospital for the people and the Government does not give them anything? Is this not a discouragement of the missionaries?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! We cannot have a speech, Mr. Anyieni, I am afraid.

Mr. Otende: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not think the hon. Member is right in saying that the Government gives nothing. I have just read out here that for a particular hospital how much we have given by way of capital grant and how much we have given by way of recurrent grant. I must emphasize that in all mission hospitals, Government gives both capital grants and also grants for recurrent expenditure.

Question No. 254

LAND CONGESTION, VIHIGA

Mr. Godia asked the Minister for Lands and Settlement to tell the House what the Government was doing to enable immediate development in agriculture, by relieving the bad land congestion in Vihiga Division in Kakamega District which existed there.

The Assistant Minister for Lands and Settlement (Mr. Gachago): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. While my Ministry appreciates that there may be land congestion on land in Vihiga Division, it is not the policy of the Government to establish a settlement scheme for people of any particular area. It would, therefore not be consistent with this set policy to establish a scheme for the people of Vihiga Division. Such people who are landless should submit their applications for plots on settlement schemes to the Kakamega District Selection Committee, and their applications will be considered in the normal way.

Mr. Godia: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Assistant Minister not aware that thousands of Africans have applied for places on settlement schemes from Vihiga Division but they have not been able to get plots.

Mr. Gachago: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am aware of this and this does not only apply to Vihiga alone. So many applications have been sent from all over the country and not every applicant has been allocated with a plot. So, Mr. Speaker, this is not a monopoly of Vihiga District alone.

Mr. Kall: Mr. Speaker, Sir, will the Assistant Minister agree with me that to bring this question of Kanu chairmen to be allocated with pieces of land—

An hon. Member: We are not on that one yet.

Mr. Kall: I am sorry.

Mr. Aremam: Mr. Speaker, Sir, may we know from the Assistant Minister the Africans who were accepted in Vihiga Location or District, or something of the sort, in this settlement scheme?

Mr. Gachago: Mr. Speaker, although I believe this is a different question, I would like to add that if the hon. Member wishes to know the numbers, I think this is a question which requires notice.

Mr. Choge: Mr. Speaker, is the Assistant Minister aware that the people who usually get land from Vihiga Division are the rich people and not the poor and landless people—they remain as they were before—and what is he doing about it?

Mr. Gachago: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the answer is no, Sir, and since it is no, then there is nothing which can be done about something that does not exist.

Mr. Ochwada: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Assistant Minister tell the House whether the policy of Government to introduce land settlement was to relieve the congested areas or was it to give land to any landless person, regardless of where he comes from?

Mr. Gachago: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have just outlined the policy, and that is: applications are invited from landless people in any district and such applications are considered individually. They are not considered collectively and, therefore, I think the hon. Member understands what I mean by that.

UNSATISFACTORY REPLY TO QUESTION NO. 254: LAND CONGESTION, VIHIGA

Mr. Godia: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the unsatisfactory reply to this question, I would like to raise it as a matter on adjournment.

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

LAND ALLOCATIONS TO KANU CHAIRMEN

Mr. Godia asked the Minister for Lands and Settlement whether the Government would consider allocating land to all local chairmen of Kanu, who had worked so hard to return the Kanu Government to power during the last elections.

The Assistant Minister for Lands and Settlement (Mr. Gachago): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. My Ministry does not hold the belief that people who worked hard to return the Kanu Government during the last elections—and there were many others, in fact thousands of voters, not only the local chairmen of the party—did so in anticipation of being rewarded later by the Government with pieces of land for their labour.

As not all local chairmen of Kanu are landless or deserving on other grounds, any such chairman or any other person who is landless, is invited to submit his application for a plot to the selection committee of his area, and his application will be considered in the normal way.

Let me add, however, that the Government and people of Kenya owe gratitude to those who worked so diligently to bring about our independence, and this includes the local Kanu chairmen.

Mr. Godia: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising out of the Assistant Minister's reply, would he assure the House that if any local Kanu chairmen applied for a piece of land, they would receive priority over the other applicants?

Mr. Gachago: Mr. Speaker, a Kanu chairman or any other person will not necessarily be given priority unless he meets the demands, the regulations and standards required by the usual policy of selection of settlers. No person will be given any preference or any privileges on the grounds that he is a Kanu chairman alone.

Mr. Kall: Mr. Speaker, will the Assistant Minister agree with me that this kind of question is a sort of provocation to so many thousands of people who suffered even more and who are keeping quiet, and that first priority will only be given to the most destitute citizens of the country?

Mr. Gachago: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I very much appreciate the views of the hon. Member.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Next question.

PLOT ALLOCATIONS ON SETTLEMENT SCHEMES IN BUSIA DISTRICT

Mr. Shikuku asked the Minister for Lands and Settlement if it was a fact that plot allocations made to the people of Busia District in Kiminiini and Ndalu Settlement Schemes had, up to that moment, not been filled up; and, if so, what did he intend to do with these plots in view of the great number of people in the Western Region or Province who needed to be settled.

The Assistant Minister for Lands and Settlement (Mr. Gachago): Mr. Speaker, Sir, thirty plots were allocated by the provincial commissioner to people from Busia District, but they did not turn up to take over the plots, for reasons best known to themselves. On a request to the provincial commissioner from the senior settlement officer, the plots were reallocated to persons from Kakamega District, who have now taken them up.

Mr. Shikuku: Arising from that reply, could the Assistant Minister also assure the House that in future any land in the western part of Kenya allocated to people who fail to take it up will be reallocated to other people in the province without delay?

Mr. Osoyo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, just as I have said in my original reply, steps are being taken and the Government is looking into ways and means of how to settle these squatters, but the question of where they are going to be settled lies with the Government, because the Government is going to look for land where these people are going to be settled.

Mr. Kerich: Mr. Speaker, Sir, will the Assistant Minister assure this House that when these people are going to be settled, they will not be settled in Kalenjin land?

Mr. Osoyo: No, Sir. These people will be settled in land in Kenya.

Mr. Gatugui: Mr. Speaker, Sir, since this question of squatters is a very important one, could the Assistant Minister give an indication as to how soon the settlement for them could start?

Mr. Osoyo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am pleased to note that the hon. Member for Kikuyu is very much concerned with this problem, just as the Government is. The Government is going to start settling these people; in fact, it has started settling some and the settlement is actually going on even at this time.

Mr. Kamure: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, where he said the Government is going to settle these people, could he tell this House where the present illegal squatters are being settled?

Mr. Osoyo: There are no illegal squatters, Mr. Speaker. The term "illegal" does not apply at this time. These are squatters and they are going to be settled wherever the Government finds there is land to settle them.

Mr. arap Soi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Minister state whether the Government will settle these people where they are found and not transfer them from the present farms to other places?

Mr. Osoyo: Not necessarily, Sir.

Question No. 225

TEA ACREAGE, SOUTH IMENTI

Mr. Mate asked the Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry how many acres of tea had been planted to date in South Imenti, and what was the quality of the tea in the experimental plots so far planted in the Nithi Division of Meru. If the quality of the tea was good what was Government doing to encourage more tea planting in that area.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Murgor): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. The answer to the first part of the question is 615 acres, and to the second, satisfactory. However, last year, I appointed an expert to look into the possibility of extension of tea planting throughout the country and it is likely that he will recommend extension of tea planting to Nithi Division. However, I cannot commit myself until the Ministry have studied this exceptionally good technical report.

Mr. Mate: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that the quality of the tea is good, and that Government earlier gave an assurance to the Nithi Division that they would plant tea and later postponed it, what is holding things back now that everything is ready?

Mr. Murgor: Mr. Speaker, Sir, Meru has so far planted, 1,447 acres. Other areas, excluding South Imenti and North Imenti 88 acres, Uruku 474 acres. There is, however, an accumulated shortfall of 176 acres which it is hoped will be planted in April.

Mr. Mate: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Assistant Minister aware that the reason for this shortfall is that one of the areas, Uruku, that is above Nkubu has very poor soil and the Ministry recommended it when the soil was poor, so it is not the Meru people's fault.

Mr. Murgor: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not agree with the hon. Member.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Assistant Minister tell the House that when the soil is appropriate, and the climate and everything is appropriate, why is it that the people of this area are not given tea to plant? Is it because there is a shortage of tea stumps and if there is a shortage of tea stumps, what is the Government doing to remedy the situation?

Mr. Murgor: Mr. Speaker, as I said in my first reply, I have appointed an expert to look into the possibility of extension of tea planting throughout the country and if it is likely that he will recommend extension of tea planting to Nithi Division. However, as soon as we get this report and when we have studied it no doubt we will do our best.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think you missed the question, Mr. Murgor. It was, is the shortage of planting material any cause for the delay in development?

Mr. Murgor: No, Sir,

Mr. Mate: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Assistant Minister assure this House that when this extension is approved, that that bit of the forest in Chuka will be included, and this would be very right?

Mr. Murgor: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I cannot say about the forest, but as soon as this report comes, we will study it and if this is favourable we will attend to the Nithi Division.

Question No. 261

HIGHER SCHOOL CERTIFICATE CLASSES FOR KERICHO SECONDARY SCHOOL

Mr. Kerich asked the Minister for Education whether the Government intended to introduce Higher School Certificate classes at Kericho Secondary School in 1967.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. No, Sir, it is not Government's intention to introduce Higher School Certificate classes at Kericho Secondary School in 1967.

Mr. Kerich: Mr. Speaker, Sir, can the Assistant Minister agree with me that it is the wish of this House that that school should have Higher School Certificate in 1967.

Mr. Mutiso: No, Sir, I would not agree.

Mr. Omar: Mr. Speaker, Sir, can the Assistant Minister tell the House whether the Kericho Secondary School should get a Higher School Certificate class in 1968 instead of 1967?

Mr. Mutiso: No, Sir, because that is not the policy of the Government. The Government, so far, Mr. Speaker, has proposed to establish Higher School Certificate classes in 1967, thereafter, at existing institutions which can be wholly converted to Form V and Form VI or at such new junior colleges as can be founded, and to discontinue the former practice, which was a colonial practice, of adding Forms V and VI to schools with Forms I-IV. It is also not envisaged, Mr. Speaker, Sir, that in the foreseeable future any Form V or VI will be removed or transferred from the places where they are at the moment.

Mr. Mate: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Assistant Minister distinguish for this House what he means by colonial practice in having a Form V and Form VI in a school with Form I to IV, and also tell us what his new practice is?

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I said the present Government had its own plan, that is to pursue its own policy of—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I must again say that when hon. Members wish to cross the floor, they are expected to do so at the Bar of the House or near it. Sorry for interrupting you, Mr. Mutiso.

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think I ought to explain this. Prior to 1960, only eleven secondary schools offered Higher School Certificate courses, which were normally in the schools where no Africans were allowed to go to. During the first five years, Sir, Higher School Certificate classes have been founded at twenty-one more schools, sixteen of which are former African schools, therefore it can be easily found out that in the former days, during the colonial time, there were no Higher School Certificate classes in the African schools.

Mr. arap Soi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, there are some very good facilities in the Kericho Secondary School, therefore would the Assistant Minister tell the House what problem they face in refusing to establish Higher School Certificate classes in 1967?

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in Kericho, as any other part of Kenya, there are facilities, but it is the plan of the Government not to add the Form V and VI in the existing schools but rather to expand the places where there are already Higher School Certificate classes to more streams or convert them into colleges.

Mr. Masinde: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, could the Assistant Minister assure this House that there are now facilities for Higher School Certificate pupils in Kericho District, so that they do not suffer as a result of having no Higher School Certificate classes?

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Higher School Certificate classes are normally held in national schools and there is no question of the Kericho people failing to secure places in the national schools. They are catered for like any other part of Kenya.

ASSISTANCE FOR NYABONDO HOSPITAL

Mr. Bala asked the Minister for Health, whether in view of the very useful job done by the Roman Catholic Missionary Hospital at Nyabondo and the fact that Nyabondo was very far from Kisumu, the Government would give assistance to this hospital.

The Minister for Health (Mr. Otiende): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply.

Mr. Ngala-Abak: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, was this question not replied to yesterday?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I am sorry, I should have pointed out that Question No. 256 on the Order Paper has been answered already, and I think that this was No. 257, was it not, Mr. Bala?

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru):
(a) As at Independence Day, 12th December 1963, the amount of debts were as follows:—

Central Government	86,840,966	Central Government	9,840,939
Nairobi City Council (Independent Borrowing)	8,522,000	Nairobi City Council (Independent Borrowing)	140,000
Local Authorities borrowing from Central Housing Board and Local Government Loans Authority	11,789,000	Local Authorities borrowing from Central Housing Board and Local Government Loans Authority	1,239,000
	£107,142,966		£11,219,939

(b) Debts repaid to date are:—
Central Government	6,046,255
Nairobi City Council (Independent Borrowing)	607,000
Local Authorities borrowing from Central Housing Board and Local Government Loans Authority	678,000
	£7,331,255

(c) Debts borrowed since independence are:—

Central Government	9,840,939
Nairobi City Council (Independent Borrowing)	140,000
Local Authorities borrowing from Central Housing Board and Local Government Loans Authority	1,239,000
	£11,219,939

The totals given above include an element of duplication in that borrowings by local authorities from the Local Government Loans Authority and the Central Housing Board are largely from funds which the Government itself borrowed in the first place.

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Question No. 207

REGISTERED ILLEGAL SQUATTERS IN SOTIK

Mr. Nyaberi asked the Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry who the illegal squatters being registered in Sotik were. What was the Government going to do with them as far as settlement schemes were concerned.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. The list of names is very long and I am getting this done for the hon. Member. Therefore, Sir, under your ruling, because of the length of the reply to this question, I will be giving it to the hon. Member in writing.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I would remind the hon. Member of what I said on another occasion recently, that that is quite the right procedure if the reply is likely to be so long, only the decision should be made and communicated to the Clerk and to the Member concerned before the question appears on the Order Paper. It ousts another question for oral reply by doing so.

Mr. arap Sol: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Minister state whether the illegal squatters who have already been registered—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I am sorry; Mr. arap Sol; once it is decided that a question shall receive a written reply, there is no scope for supplementary questions in the House until this reply is received, when it can give rise to a further question for oral reply. But, at the same moment, there is nothing more to be said on this question.

Next question.

Question No. 209

REGISTERED SQUATTERS IN LAIKIPIA

Mr. G. G. Karinki asked the Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry how many squatters were already registered in Laikipia District, and what was the Government plan after registration.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. The answer to the first part of the question is 2,080 families, but investigations for possible further registration is going ahead.

The answer to the second part is that the major task was to register the squatters. The Government is actively considering what will be done with the registered squatters not only in Laikipia but throughout the country. When details have been finalized, they will be released.

Mr. Kerich: Mr. Speaker, Sir, may I know, when these squatters are registered, where are they going to be settled?

[The Vice-President]

Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to tell the hon. Members that we are in a better position than the old Colonial Government; they were not an elected Government, but, Sir, we are an elected Government.

As such, Mr. Speaker, we expect that nearly everybody, from all corners, wants to see us in our offices; there is a list of people who want to see us. When you have a Member of Parliament coming to your office and he wants to take one or two hours, and you have other people waiting outside, these people sometimes also complain that we give far too much time to Members of Parliament and do not attend to them. Where are we going to be? We get complaints everywhere. Mr. Speaker.

Therefore, I hope the hon. Members will know that we will take what they say, but, at the same time, they must know that our position is very difficult indeed. Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think the first thing to say is that this sort of subject would be best dealt with in our Parliamentary Group. I think it is unfortunate that we, as Members of Parliament, all of us committed to strive for the same things, all of us trying to achieve the same things, should come to discuss this kind of subject in such a manner as might give the false impression to the public that there was some very grave disagreement between the Ministers, the Government and their representatives; because I should like to make the point here and now that, in fact, such an impression would be entirely false.

There are many Members of Parliament in this House who work very closely with a number of Ministers on very many subjects. There are very many Members of Parliament in this House who have taken many Ministers to their constituencies to discuss problems on the spot, to meet their people, to agree on how best certain things in their areas can be done. There are many Members of Parliament in this House who have been taken out to see various development programmes by Ministers, and who have come back and discussed these programmes and reached agreement on what should be done on very many things. There are many meetings which have taken place in Ministers' offices and this building between Members of Parliament and Ministers, in which many important matters affecting the development of this country are constantly discussed.

Equally, Mr. Speaker, there are many boards and committees that meet regularly on a monthly basis in this country at which Members of Parliament, representing different interests, and Ministers come together and discuss many important questions affecting constituencies and affecting the country. I think, therefore, in fairness to the Members, the Ministers and to the public of this country, when one decides that an incident has occurred which requires correction, one must not over-generalize these issues and create unnecessary tension and emotion in matters where this tension or emotion does not really exist.

I listened carefully to the Mover of this Motion and he has brought up a point which requires definite action. He has given us a clear incident where, in his opinion, a secretary misbehaved towards him; Mr. Speaker, a secretary, not a Minister. Now, Sir, it is also true that the Mover of this Motion has said that he saw the Minister concerned and that he was assured by the Minister that appropriate action would be taken. He appeared to me, as he spoke, to have accepted the assurances of the Minister and to believe that the Minister was going to act in this matter. Now, Mr. Speaker, this is the grown-up way to do things. It is no use the Member for Nandi South shouting back here and saying he was instructed by the Minister, because the Member does not know even who did it. The Member does not know who did it, and the Member is in no position to say that the Minister instructed him, except on some prejudice.

Mr. Choge: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, shall I have a chance of replying to what the Minister has said?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It depends on what time is left and who I call. I just cannot guarantee anything, Mr. Choge. We have five minutes left; that is all.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am sorry if I lose my temper on the basis of what the Member here interrupted with, because I think if we want, on both sides, to resolve these unnecessary pinpricks, then we must all be grown up.

It is not a question of the Minister respecting the Member, it is also a question of the Member respecting the Minister. We respect each other and we do not just respect Members of Parliament, we respect members of the public; we respect the humblest man in this country. That is our responsibility as grown-up people who have been given responsibility in this country; it is not

[The Minister for Economic Planning and Development]

Of course, the Member of Parliament has a status; of course, the Member of Parliament has a responsibility; the Member of Parliament is the spokesman for a group of people and, therefore, deserves to be given a certain responsibility over and above what someone else might get. Everybody recognizes this, everybody wants to give this respect. But, Mr. Speaker, respect is something which you can never buy; respect is something which you may deserve, because people see the way you speak, the way you behave, the way you talk to them, they will respect you. If people have a feeling that a certain Member of Parliament, when he goes to a Minister's office, is merely going to misbehave to everybody around, even the little man in that office, including the office messenger, will detest such a Member, and when he sees him, he will behave rudely because of experiences that he may have had. But when a Member carries himself as a Member and deserves the title "honourable", even the office messengers will make every effort to make sure that this Member is properly treated when he goes—

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, we have had two Ministers speaking. Sir, and I was wondering whether the hon. Member speaking is replying or the Vice-President has replied?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Oh, no. Neither Government nor Back-benchers have a monopoly of these half-hours. Actually, you will find it works out, if Mr. Mboya continues to seven o'clock, that Back-benchers have had exactly quarter of an hour and Ministers have had exactly quarter of an hour.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Speaker, I am just trying to be fair on this occasion; that we both share the time equally, it is quite all right.

As I was going to say, there is no use thinking that we should always be under fire because we are all human beings. Mr. Speaker, I have two more points to make. The next point I want to make is this. We are all human beings. Some people have a temperament of their own. I cannot behave like hon. Mr. Shikuku, even if I want to; I am not made that way. The hon. Mr. Shikuku can never behave as Mboya, even if he wants to; he is not made that way. We are two different people, and it is necessary for us to understand that in some of these things you cannot lay down a strict rule, you have to treat human nature as you find it.

Lastly, Mr. Speaker, Members have mentioned about our houses, our homes, and so on. Mr. Speaker, from six in the evening to six in the morning we have a guard, yes. The reason for it is very simple. We go out more often than not; we travel and tour. Our families or our properties have to be protected. There have been many cases where robberies have occurred and it is only fair that as we go travelling, doing the people's work, the people also look after us. Mr. Speaker, if I made a practice of going to look for the hon. Mr. Shikuku's house, every evening or every lunch-time, he would be the first to protest and ask, "What do you want here all the time?" Now, Mr. Speaker—

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, can the hon. Minister substantiate that I would protest if a lot of people came to my house?

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, in fairness to the hon. Member, I know a lot about his generosity, but I also know that he might feel embarrassed if we brought to him twenty guests accompanying a Minister at any time in the twenty-hour hours of a day. Some Members may not have a house at the moment to go to and it might be embarrassing. All these things have to be taken into account.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to support.

ADJOURNMENT

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): That is the end of our half-hour. The House is adjourned now until tomorrow, Wednesday, 9th February, at 2.30 p.m.

— The House rose at Seven o'clock.

WRITTEN REPLY TO QUESTION

Question No. 203

DEBTS OF CENTRAL AND LOCAL AUTHORITIES

Mr. Bala asked the Minister for Finance:—

- What the debts of central and local authorities were as at Independence Day.
- How much of this money had been repaid to date.
- How much money had been borrowed since independence by central and local authorities.

[Mr. G. G. Kariuki] Assembly and the members of the public. It is these hon. Members of this House who know the problems of this country, and also the elected Ministers know the problems, but they can only get to know the problem of this country if they meet more regularly. We know that they have duties to perform, but we also have to add more tasks to their duties, because when we go back to our constituencies, we bring back a lot of information which, in most cases, is very useful to the people in the high offices.

Mr. Speaker, I challenge the Minister to tell us today, in no uncertain terms, and we want to know why these activities go on. If a country is a socialist country, why should we have people sitting in offices like King Farouk? We would like to know our position, Mr. Speaker. It is very serious for Members of Parliament to complain that certain secretaries refuse to allow them to see the Ministers. It is really very bad, because you could not expect a Member of Parliament to stand and say how he is being mistreated by simple secretaries sitting in the offices.

Mr. Speaker, so as to allow hon. Members to express themselves, I wish to move and also ask the hon. Masinde to second this Motion.

Mr. Masinde: Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker.

I do not have much to say on this, but while seconding the very important Motion, there are a number of things that we have mentioned privately in our own Parliamentary Group. But it appears that after Parliamentary Group meetings, no instructions have been taken to various officers to take what the hon. President said and put it into practice.

Sir, it is because of this that we, as Members, come to the point of complaining, and if we come to the point of complaining, then the ordinary man must be really frustrated. Today, in the countryside, you get ordinary men saying that previously they could see the district commissioner, but that now, even the askaris who used to stand before the door, are not there and no secretary can allow anybody to see him. First of all, they judge a person by how he is dressed, if somebody is properly dressed, then he is allowed to see the district commissioner. If a poor farmer wants to complain about something, then he is told that he cannot see the district commissioner. Sir, we fought for this Government, and it is us who have allowed some of these people to enjoy the privileges that they are now enjoying, and while we were doing this, most of them did nothing at all. But we want them to show that we have a proper African Government, and any African should be allowed to appear before them, and sit down on the chair, then we will be satisfied. Whatever someone is asking for, even if he does not get it, he will be satisfied that previously when the mwingu was the district commissioner, or the provincial commissioner, he could not enter such offices. But today it is very different; delegations have been to various places but they are always sitting outside in the shade of the trees instead of going into the offices.

Why do we have these offices? Is it not for the people, for interviewing these people, and therefore, Sir, if they are not going to do that, then we are going to have a Government which is run by nothing but files which go from office to office but without getting in touch with the people. These are a few of the number of things that we have to change.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): The real matter raised by Mr. Kariuki is access by Members of this House or Members of the National Assembly, rather than the general public. You should not dwell very long on that.

Mr. Masinde: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I was quoting as an example that if we Members of this House can complain of not having access to the civil servants or the Ministers, then what about the people who come from the constituencies? That is why I felt it necessary to enlighten the Minister.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is well known that today we have our Government which is supposed to be a popularly elected Government. There is no point where we should have askaris at the gates of offices or at the gates of the Ministers' houses. But, Sir, if there is something happening of which we are not aware, then we should be told, because, during the Emergency time, I know the European Ministers who used to be the Ministers in this country during the colonial time, did not have any askaris at their gates or bodyguards, but once we reach a stage where we suspect ourselves, as if we were criminals, then there is something wrong somewhere, and it is because of this fear that we possibly have; I do not say that we have, but possibly the Ministers have managed to tell their secretaries and their senior officers that we must not have access to the Ministers. But, Sir, whilst this becomes general knowledge and the situation remains like that, it is going to get worse. We want this Government to be the Government of the people. When I have an appointment with a Minister, it might or might not be urgent, it is quite easy for any secretary to turn round and say that the Minister is not available, but try again on such-and-such a date. But, Sir, when a secretary says that you cannot possibly see him then and she does not say when you can get in touch with him later on, then what do I do if I have a problem, in my constituency, which is very alarming? How do I report it to that particular Minister? It is on these lines that our Government has to think of how to conduct their affairs properly with the Members of the National

[Mr. Masinde] Assembly and the members of the public. It is these hon. Members of this House who know the problems of this country, and also the elected Ministers know the problems, but they can only get to know the problem of this country if they meet more regularly. We know that they have duties to perform, but we also have to add more tasks to their duties, because when we go back to our constituencies, we bring back a lot of information which, in most cases, is very useful to the people in the high offices.

With those few remarks, Sir, I beg to support.

The Vice-President (Mr. Odinga): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I should say that I think this is the second time that this, or one similar to it, kind of a Motion has come to the House, and I must say that it is a very sorry state indeed that the Members do feel that they do not get good enough treatment in the Ministries. But, Sir, I would like to say this, that it should not be taken that this is a one-way traffic. You must also understand, and I feel that I have to put this across very clearly, Mr. Speaker, Sir, Mr. Speaker, Sir, there are problems on both sides. When you are on your side, you see very clearly the mistakes of the other side, but when you cross that floor and go to the other side, other people will then see your mistakes, because if we could all be able to see one, another's problems and difficulties and realize them, then you will find that we eventually get on to common ground where we can all meet.

For example, Sir, the Mover of this Motion has mentioned that whenever he goes to a Ministry, he is asked the reason why he wanted to actually see the Minister. Well, Sir, sometimes the man who requests the subject of what you want to speak about to the Minister, does not actually request to know for the simple reason of knowing why you want to speak to the Minister, he merely wants to know for the reason that when you do see the Minister all the answers will be there and the relevant files will also be there for quick reference. This is why he wants to know the reason, not because he wants to embarrass you, but because he wants to have everything ready for you so that all the answers would be there. He is only doing his duty, which you also, when in that position of responsibility in that particular Ministry, will require other people to get for you. Sir, the Minister is a person who is there, but he has various officers who are dealing with various subjects and, as such, if a Member goes into his office, he would like to consult his officers and get all the information which is necessary, so that when the Member comes, he has all the necessary information which he wants.

Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am sorry, and I hope the hon. Mover will excuse me, because when he was speaking I was very quiet and attentive, and I was also listening very attentively. I think, Sir, that it is the honourable way of getting on with it.

Now, Sir, let me say, as he was putting it that he was told that even if it was the President, he couldn't see him. Probably this lady told him very politely over the telephone that at this time, even if it was the President who had come to see him, he would not be able to see the Manager of the Land Bank, and that might have been because the Manager of the Land Bank was dealing with something very important at that time. There are such things over which he must not be interrupted, which are very important at that time. Even if I wanted to see him, I would not force my way in if I was told that he was busy. I would actually refrain from doing so. Simply because you are a Member of Parliament, you expect people to drop things when, say, you pick up the phone, and attend to you. I think this is asking a little bit too much. You must understand that.

Now, when I say all these things I am not trying to defend the civil servants. I will not say that they are all angels, and that they do not make mistakes. Mistakes are made on both sides. There are some of them who are very offensive indeed, but as you know, that human nature is human nature as it comes and that people also may not understand what a hurry you are in, just as you also may not understand the job they are doing.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Odinga, will you remember to address the Chair?

The Vice-President (Mr. Odinga): All the same, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to say that these are some of the problems which confront us, but we must enlarge our hearts to accommodate them, and we know that we shall be able to correct each and every problem as we go along. I do not think that it should all be blamed on the Government, nor should it be said that our Government is worse than the Colonial Government, because some of you did not deal with the Colonial Government like I did. I dealt with them and I know, perhaps much better than most of you—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Odinga, address the Chair, please. Addressing an hon. Member direct is out of order.

The Vice-President (Mr. Odinga): Thank you, Mr. Speaker, I will try to remember that.

Mr. Shikuku: Thank you, Mr. Speaker, I will lower my voice.

Now the second point, Sir, is that we have now learned from the hon. Member that we have a debt, not the City Council of Nairobi, of Sh. 161 million. Mr. Speaker, if this is what one can call dignity then I do not know the meaning of the word. We are not going to have this going on, and therefore, Sir, I make three suggestions.

Firstly, because the Mayor and the councillors have, in our opinion, forgotten the feelings of the poor people in this country, some of whom sleep out in the roadsides because they have nowhere to sleep—if you go round about, at night, near the Mincing Lane Market, you find them sleeping out, without a blanket, Mr. Speaker. I feel that the Mayor, plus all the councillors and aldermen, must resign. We have, as taxpayers, to get rid of all these people, so that we put in new men who are conscious of the difficulties of the people.

Secondly, Sir, since here we have the authority of the country, the Government must give an undertaking—rather than reading a small statement by the very culprit—the Government must today, in no uncertain terms, tell this House, which is the final authority of the country, that the car which has certainly not been received in Kenya will never be received in Kenya.

Several hon. Members: It is already here.

Mr. Shikuku: The Attorney-General is shaking his head; it is not here. If the car is not here, it should not be allowed into this country. And if it going to be allowed in this country—in other words, the Government will be violating the feelings of the people of this country—then you know the fruits of the violation of the feelings of the people of this country. We are the people, and if you violate our feelings, you will get trouble, and you might find your heads cut off.

From this, Mr. Speaker, anybody can now learn what is cooking in the City Council, because if this can be passed without opposition, then there must be something wrong with the council, and the Government must institute an independent commission of inquiry to look into the activities of the whole of the City Council. Then we will know where we are.

With these remarks, Mr. Speaker, I hope the Government will act accordingly, in the name of the poor people of Kenya.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Omolo-Agar? There are three minutes to go. I hope hon. Members will give the Member a chance.

Mr. Omolo-Agar: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I only want to make three points. The people of Kenya have discovered something and they have shown that they are capable of maintaining a democratic society. And this Government, if it claims also to maintain the principles of a democratic society, must respect the decision of this House and also the feelings of the people outside. We want a categorical statement from the Government today that they have discredited all that the council has discussed, concerning this car and the six motor cycles. We in this House will pursue further the circumstances which led a Minister to approve this outrageous expenditure of poor people's money.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, when we were discussing Members' salaries in this House, the Members who drive day and night advising people and who being killed by cars on the roads, trying to work as hard as they could, when we asked that their families should be compensated, we were told that there was no money. Now we hear that one man in Nairobi, where people are sleeping in the streets, where people are roaming about without employment, wants dignity. Mr. Speaker, in the name of the people of Kenya, we condemn these activities. I repeat that the Mayor must resign and the council that approved this expenditure must be dissolved.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Minister who approved this must tell us that he has failed in his duty, and we know that if we have somebody who is going to give a ruling on such things to do with local government he must be a strong man, with some backbone. Otherwise, we will request the President to do something about it, or else the Minister must resign from that post. We are not courting revolution. We do not want to do that. We have seen with our own eyes revolutions in other countries, and we know what it costs and how long it takes to recover from a revolution. The Kenya people are peaceful; they want to work hard and improve the country. But this Government, by doing this kind of thing, is courting revolution, and it will not matter how big the Special Branch or the Criminal Investigation Department or the police force is, if you have such things repeated, you will have bloodshed in this country.

Mr. Speaker, Ministers have taken up residence in former European areas and they have not taken the trouble to see how their fellow countrymen are suffering in the former African locations. Sir, even the Governor used to go into the European homes and in their clubs, but now if we go to the Ministers' gates, the police prevent us from going inside.

[Mr. Omolo-Agar]
Mr. Speaker, in the name of Kenya, in the name of peace, in the name of democracy, let the Government withdraw everything that has been done about this Rolls-Royce.

MOTION FOR THE ADJOURNMENT

ACCESS OF MEMBERS TO MINISTERS AND CIVIL SERVANTS

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It is now time for the interruption of business. There is another matter to be raised on the adjournment in the ordinary way so I will call upon a Minister to move that the House do now adjourn.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Speaker, I beg to move that the House do now adjourn.

The Attorney-General (Mr. Njonjo) seconded.

(Question proposed)

Mr. G. G. Kariki: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to raise on the adjournment the matter of the difficulties—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! Would hon. Members please leave quietly if they want to leave.

Mr. G. G. Kariki: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I wish to raise on the adjournment the matter of difficulties of access for Members of Parliament to Ministers and others in high office and the disrespect which they suffer from subordinate officers when seeking such access.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I wish to remind the hon. Members that this problem started immediately after the elections and Members have more than once complained, in the Parliamentary Group and in other places, but the Government has not at any time attempted to solve this problem.

Mr. Speaker, for example, if a Member wants to meet any senior officer today, as you know, senior officers have their secretaries and before a secretary allows you to speak to the senior officer or a Minister, they try to interfere with what sort of things you want to discuss with the Minister. They ask you what sort of things you want to see the Minister for, the Manager or anybody else, for that matter. Now, Sir, this has been humiliating Members of this Parliament. We have tried more than once to see that we should be allowed to meet the Ministers and other senior officers at any time that we require to meet them. But this has been quite impossible. For example, on the 25th of last month, Sir, I tried to meet the Manager of the Land Bank on the question of some co-operative societies in my area. But the secretary—the voice which replied to the telephone was a woman's voice, I do not know what sort of a woman she was—said that I could not see the Manager of the Land Bank, and when I insisted that she should allow me to speak to the Manager on the telephone, because I did not want to waste his time and I just wanted to say a word to him on the telephone on a matter which he, in fact, knew about, the secretary said that even if I were the President—and she meant the President Kenyatta—I would not be allowed to see the Manager of the Land Bank. She insisted. I asked her why she had to mention the name of the President in such a simple matter, she said that she had to tell me that so that I should know that I should not be allowed at that time to talk to him or to meet him.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I became annoyed but—of course—I did not abuse this woman because it was on the telephone and I did not know what kind of woman she was. I thought it was quite in order for me to try and seek an appointment with the Minister for Agriculture who is in charge of this Land Bank. But, Mr. Speaker, and for the information of the hon. Members, the Minister for Agriculture was very helpful when he heard this and he promised to take action. Now, I still wait for this to be cleared because it is something which would make anyone annoyed. If even Members of this House can be mistreated, what do you expect would happen to the ordinary members of the public? There are a lot of complaints outside, not only from Members of Parliament, that we even suspect that probably Ministers have instructed their secretaries to misbehave, of whatever they want.

I wish to warn the secretaries and the Ministers that when such things go on, they will not help this country at all. Members of Parliament must be allowed to see anybody.

During the times of the Colonial Government, Mr. Speaker, any simple man could send a delegation to State House and meet the Governor-General.

Hon. Members: Hear, hear.

Mr. G. G. Kariki: At this time, Mr. Speaker, there is somebody in the President's Office—I do not know who he is—who is in charge of the President's tours and other things, and that is probably the Permanent Secretary. If a Member of Parliament writes a letter, they do not reply, and I challenge the Minister, who is here, and many times we have written letters and we cannot get replies from the people sitting in the President's Office. Why do we pay them? These people who sit in the President's Office think that Mr. Ngala: If this car, Mr. Deputy Speaker, arrives here, it will be stopped. This car will only travel between the Mayor's house and his office during the duty hours. He travels only two miles a day.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Government is sparking off a very dangerous precedent, and I would like to warn, particularly, the Minister for Finance, that this is a very dangerous precedent that you are sparking off in the country.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I understand that a special driver has been flown to London at a cost of Sh. 30,000 to learn the mechanics of driving. He should be called back. This is daylight robbery of the taxpayers' money. Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, this is a sure way of losing the confidence of our own people in the country, particularly in Nairobi. This is a real, imperialistic way of giving false and imaginary dignity.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, when we comment and when the Press comments, we are told that the views of Members of Parliament should not interfere. We are people of this country, we are Members of Parliament; we have to interfere in every affair. Furthermore, Mr. Deputy Speaker, we are taxpayers. I pay Sh. 50 every month as tax to Nairobi, Sh. 600 every year. Mr. Deputy Speaker, I have every right to comment as a taxpayer; and so do all the Members here. I would like the decision to be rescinded immediately. I would like the car to be dropped and returned to where it came from; we do not want it here.

With these few words, Sir, I would like to say that it is an appalling situation, and it is also appalling that, in spite of all the public comment from the Press, from important people, people are going on ruining the country. This is a sure way of planting the seed for an overthrow.

Mr. Kase: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I think the hon. Mover of this Motion has clearly indicated—

Hon. Members: Speak up, speak up.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! Order! If hon. Members would be silent, we could hear him.

Mr. Kase:—that buying this car is completely out of place, it is completely against the wish of this House and completely against the wish of the public of this country. Therefore, the only alternative for the Mayor to do is to return the car, which I hear he has already bought. Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, half of the Sh. 600 tax which is deducted from me remains in Nairobi. I can side with any group to get rid of that car, even if it means stoning the car.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, it is known that only the President of this country has a Rolls-Royce. Do we want the Mayor of a town to compete with the President of this country? Do we want the Mayor of this country to have piki-pikis like the President? Even the President, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I notice, when he is not on official functions, has only three piki-pikis; why should the Mayor have six? Why should he have a Rolls-Royce, for that matter? Who is the Mayor of this country? Just a councillor like any other councillor.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, ambassadors of foreign countries in this country do not have as expensive cars as a Rolls-Royce, and yet we know, Mr. Deputy Speaker, an ambassador is a man to maintain the dignity of his country. Even the President of the United States does not have a Rolls-Royce. Why should the Mayor of Nairobi have a Rolls-Royce? Mr. Deputy Speaker, is this in the interest of the poor people of the country? I say no.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, I will now quote in Swahili. The Minister said, "Ilikuwa shida Kuniwa Kikombe chachai bila Kijiwa na dirivat Kumishawish fyi ya motorcaa ya Mayor." The Minister could not even take a cup of tea before a councillor came to him to talk to him about the Mayor's car. Mr. Deputy Speaker, is the Minister being ruled by some councillors, elected by voters of this country, or is the Minister ruling this country? Is the Minister for Local Government above the City Council of Nairobi, or is the City Council above the Minister for Local Government? We want to know. Mr. Deputy Speaker, this is unacceptable to this House. We want the Minister to resign forthwith.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, I want to tell the Minister in charge that playing about with this issue is wasting time; he is sitting on some very serious fire which he will never cure for ever and ever. Amen.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, we know of Ministers of foreign countries who have acted like this. For example, Mr. Deputy Speaker, if I may quote, the late Minister for Finance in Nigeria was in the same circumstances, and if our Minister does not want to suffer in the same circumstances, let him withdraw this car altogether. Mr. Deputy Speaker, we are known in this country to be very poor and we are not going to keep up our dignity at the expense of the masses of this country.

Let us maintain our dignity, but, as an hon. Member has mentioned, a Peugeot 404 is good enough. Mr. Deputy Speaker, we cannot agree [Mr. Kase] to a Rolls-Royce being bought. That money could build a complete full primary school; that money could build a health centre; that money could build anything small in this country which people would benefit from. Mr. Deputy Speaker, we suggest a Peugeot 404 for the Mayor, nothing more.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, if I may go further, internationally, our Ministers are known better than the Mayor of Nairobi. I note our Ministers all have Mercedes-Benz. The Mayor of Nairobi, who is he?

[The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza) left the Chair]

[The Speaker (Mr. Slade) resumed the Chair]

Mr. Speaker, I want to finish by saying that we understand the Mayor of Nairobi comes from Kiambu, where the President comes from.

Hon. Members: No, no.

Mr. Kase: I am ready for correction on this. If this is true, because a Rolls—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order!

Mr. Kase: If it is true that the President comes from Kiambu and, therefore, the Mayor also wants to go in a Rolls-Royce to Kiambu, this is a very false idea.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Mr. Kase, for this very short point, I think it is quite irrelevant where the Mayor comes from. We do not have much time, do not let us waste it on irrelevancies.

Mr. Kase: I think all I have said is enough. We want the Mayor to have a Peugeot 404. We do not want the Mayor to have anything at the expense of the public of this country and we do not want to see the Mayor with piki-pikis. This has no dignity when we go to Sophiatown. Mr. Speaker, when we go to Sophiatown and other places, those places are so bad. Now, we want that money to go for the development of Sophiatown and any other places, but not for the dignity of a man while people are dying of hunger in this country. Mr. Speaker. The Minister should withdraw this car immediately, otherwise a revolution will be no surprise.

The Attorney-General (Mr. Njonjo): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am not counsel for the defence in this case and I hope that the hon. Members will not read a great deal in what I am about to say, which is this.

I know that the President met the Mayor this morning and, as a result of the discussion which the Mayor had with the President, the Mayor has this afternoon, as we are speaking, issued the following statement: "In view of the many expressions of public concern on the council's intention to purchase a Rolls-Royce, as Mayor of this City, I have decided to intervene in the matter. A special council meeting to discuss the affair has been arranged and the decision of the council will be announced as soon as it has been made." On behalf—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I warn hon. Members that if you want this discussion to continue, you will preserve order; otherwise, I shall suspend the business of the House until the ordinary time for the interruption of business.

The Attorney-General (Mr. Njonjo): I was merely going to say, as my last sentence, Mr. Speaker, that if hon. Members will bear with this statement and wait, I am sure they will all be satisfied with the decision that is going to be made.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I thank you for giving me this chance, but I would like to get on straight away with the business in hand. The business at issue, Mr. Speaker, with all due respect, is—I speak as the president of the poor people, and I wish to make it known in this House, Sir, that I did raise this question for a Motion on the adjournment but since it has been moved by the hon. Mover—who has ably put the case and covered all my points—I have only three things to say to the Minister or to the Attorney-General, who has just read that statement.

In my opinion, Mr. Speaker, the statement is completely irrelevant and has nothing to do with us at all, because it was these very councillors, this very mayor, who advocated the Rolls-Royce. So we do not take anything they tell us; and we are going to dictate to him today. We are dictating in the name of Kenya. In the name of Kenya and in the name of the poor people we are dictating to the Mayor of Nairobi and all the councillors that the car must be got rid of.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I am sorry to interrupt you, Mr. Shikuku, but, you know, we are used to rather a different style in this House from that used at Hyde Park Corner or in great barazas. This is a Parliament.

Mr. Shikuku: Thank you, Mr. Speaker, there is a lot of noise and I thought I had to speak loudly—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You were whipping it up.

[The Minister for Finance]

feel have plenty of money, or who appear suddenly to have plenty of money, and they cannot account how they earned it, it is necessary therefore sometimes to raid these people and find out why they did not declare that they had this money the year before. Therefore they were liable for income tax.

The question of the Corporation Tax, which Mr. Kibaki brought up very well, was referred to in my original speech in June, because there was a feeling that some clever people will try various devices to avoid-tax and I did say then that the Commissioner for Income Tax will be given the power to counter this and other types of avoidance, and also to ensure that the Income Tax Department does not harass everybody, I did, right at the end, say that an independent tribunal will be set up to reach any company aggrieved by an order of the commissioner, and who will be able to appeal. So the whole thing is fair. The commissioner has power to make inquiries and if the company or any particular individual—as far as Corporation Tax is concerned—are not satisfied there is the opportunity to make this appeal and we have, too, made quite sure that this tribunal will not cost very much and the Appeal Commission will not cost as much as the whole thing would cost if the individual was left to go to appeal in a court of law. It would be expensive. So that is being taken care of. What is happening is that, for instance, the Africans who have got property and buses and things like that, income tax assessment papers are sent to them and they have got to prove, it is for them to show, the reason why they cannot pay income tax.

That is another question that is exercising the mind of the Commissioner for Income Tax, people who keep three books. One for the Income Tax, one for the company and one for the person who is doing the business and who knows how much he has put aside.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, with that I beg to move.

(Question put and agreed to)

(The Bill was read a Second Time and committed to a committee of the whole House tomorrow)

MOTION FOR THE ADJOURNMENT UNDER STANDING ORDER 14

NAIROBI MAYOR'S CAR

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): That concludes the business on the Order Paper, so I will now call on Mr. Ngala to move that the House do now adjourn.

Mr. Ngala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move that this House do now adjourn.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to make it quite clear from the beginning that in moving this Motion I am not, in any way, motivated by a personal grudge against the Mayor of Nairobi, Alderman Charles Rubia, or any councillor within that council. I must say that, as a taxpayer of the Nairobi City Council, I am thoroughly fed up and disgusted with the decision taken by the Nairobi City Council and the Government on these matters.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the decision of the Nairobi City Council to buy a Sh. 217,000 Mayoral Rolls-Royce has angered every taxpayer in Kenya. This expenditure is a gross, careless squandering of public money. The City Council is in a serious financial difficulty even now. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to enlarge a bit on the borrowing of the City Council before independence. Before independence, the City Council borrowed £8,522,000 and up until independence, they had only returned to whoever they had borrowed this money from, £607,000. That is before independence they had a debit balance of £7,009,015. Now, since independence, Sir, the Nairobi City Council has borrowed £140,000. They have not paid back any figure since independence, so the debt balance after independence is £140,000. Now the total debt remaining with the City Council is, Mr. Speaker, Sir, £8,055,000. Mr. Speaker, Sir, this is excluding—excluding—the outstanding debts of the Nairobi City Council against the Central Housing Board and the Local Government Loans Authority.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think it is very shameful for any person to talk of dignity when there is a financial position of this type. We talk of dignity for the Mayor of Nairobi, talking of the office, the dignity of Nairobi, the outstanding debt now is Sh. 161 million. Mr. Speaker, Sir, the overseas investors who lend money to underdeveloped African countries, what will they say when they see all this stupidity in expenditure? To spend such money when you have such a big debt, to spend such money before we meet the demand for community development halls, for example, in many areas, I am sure even the Members here of Nairobi support me that in many areas we require community development halls very urgently.

[The Speaker (Mr. Slade) left the Chair]

[The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza) took the Chair]

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, in many areas we require cheap, reasonable markets; I can see a prosperous city than many other cities that I have seen in the world, and yet I never saw this sort of nonsense there.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, we talk of—

Mr. Ngala-Abok: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, since the matter has been raised as a matter of national importance and the Minister who authorized this extravagant sum is not here, is it serving us any purpose when the Minister is absent?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): No, no. Order! Order! I am afraid that is not a point of order, Mr. Ngala-Abok, you know that by now. It is up to the Minister to be present or not.

Mr. Ngala: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I pointed out that this money could build nursery schools, could build primary schools, could give a rise in salaries to the Nairobi City Council workers. So to spend such money in such a way, when the country has a famine and serious unemployment in Nairobi itself, I think, is a serious scandal.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, why did the Minister make this decision in spite of the facts I have pointed out? We are told because he was pressed; there was pressure.

Hon. Members: Shame, Shame.

Mr. Ngala: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I would advise Alderman Rubia to read and study Roman history including the story of Emperor Nero and Julius Caesar. These people wanted material happiness, and used threats and misused public funds. In so doing, they destroyed their own empires.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, the position to us is what about the other mayors in the world, countries which are more prosperous, cities that are more prosperous? The Mayor of Moscow—we have been to these countries—they ride in small cars with their chauffeurs and they sit at the back. The Mayor of Berlin, a very prosperous country where there is no unemployment, the people are prosperous and the Mayor has a small Mercedes with a chauffeur and he sits at the back. A Mercedes costs less than Sh. 40,000 and here we are talking of over Sh. 200,000 for one car. Take the Lord Mayor of London, even he sits in a very humble car and London is a prosperous city from where we obtain our loans. If the Mayor of London, from where we get our loans, is not so pompous and wasteful, how dare you allow this?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! Order!

Mr. Ngala: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I have just come back from New Zealand, where you have the Mayor of Wellington, and this a more prosperous city than many other cities that I have seen in the world, and yet I never saw this sort of nonsense there.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, we talk of—

Mr. Ngala-Abok: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, since the matter has been raised as a matter of national importance and the Minister who authorized this extravagant sum is not here, is it serving us any purpose when the Minister is absent?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): No, no. Order! Order! I am afraid that is not a point of order, Mr. Ngala-Abok, you know that by now. It is up to the Minister to be present or not.

Mr. Ngala: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I pointed out that this money could build nursery schools, could build primary schools, could give a rise in salaries to the Nairobi City Council workers. So to spend such money in such a way, when the country has a famine and serious unemployment in Nairobi itself, I think, is a serious scandal.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, why did the Minister make this decision in spite of the facts I have pointed out? We are told because he was pressed; there was pressure.

Hon. Members: Shame, shame.

Mr. Ngala: Who put on this pressure? Who is ruling who? Is the Minister being ruled by the Mayor? It is high time the Minister was here. I challenge him to resign if he was pressed against his will, either by the Mayor or the President of Kenya. He took the pen himself and signed the document. Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I understand even now that this was personal pressure. I understand that the Mayor has asked for a direct telephone link with the Office of the President, Mr. Deputy Speaker, more serious, I understand that the Mayor has asked for a motor-cycle escort, six of them. Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I understand also that the Mayor pressed for the Rolls-Royce himself, and I challenge the Minister to read the letter that was written by the City Council of Nairobi, signed by the Mayor, on this issue. Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, we are told that there was a tug-of-war between the Minister and the Mayor. This is funny. How can there be a tug-of-war when the situation is so bad, when the Minister is given power? We blame the Minister for taking the decision.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, we are told we are paying money so that the car has a television, bathroom and—

Hon. Members: Shame, shame.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! Order!

[Mr. Ngala-Abok] company start in Nairobi and then tomorrow a branch is opened in Kisumu, another branch is opened in Mombasa and whatever income is available for this company, it is ploughed into business, it is used for opening another branch so that at the end of the year there is no profit made, although the business is going on there is no real income that the Minister can tax. It is important that the Minister will look into this, because by merely checking the receipts of income and expenditure, one would arrive at a very big figure. When you look for this money, you find that it is not there because there is no well-organized system of banking the profit, I mean banking what is remaining and then using the profit for further development. With such business, of course, we shall need a proper method of assessing their income. I do not agree with the hon. Members who tend to think that at the moment when discussing the Income Tax Bill it is the time when we should discuss nationalization, we should discuss Africanization, discuss land settlement and so on. In fact, this Bill is only talking of one source of tapping revenue. It is discussing income tax, and here what we shall make by this will be £1 million, and so I think it is better to appreciate this effort to get the £1 million.

What I would like the Government not to deny is this, a large number of Asians and Europeans, companies and individuals, are already paying income tax. A good number of Africans are not yet paying it, and in fact the Member for Majoge-Bassi was right in saying that many of the Members of Parliament are not paying income tax. I think the aim at the moment, and this Bill in actual fact, is aimed at bringing these Africans into income tax groups, into paying income tax. Otherwise, I do not see any reason why a Minister should convince me that the aim is to tax those Asians and Europeans, or big companies, that are making a lot of money. They are already paying income tax now, but the reduction in allowance is to make sure that an African, a permanent secretary, who has just gone into this field, who is beginning to make a little money is again confronted with paying income tax. I think we must be realistic in what we are trying to do. This is not because we want to tax the companies that are already rich, they are already being taxed. This is to bring Members like Ngala-Abok into paying income tax, and I think that I will have to support it because I would like to see that the little I get I share with my friends. The Government must not be blind in seeing that merely because I am getting a little I should give to feed my friends. The Government is going to fail to take major steps to bring revenue to this country which would help more in employment as some Ministers have been alleging. There are many ways of bringing money to the Government, but if the Government is still being controlled by capitalists who would like to see that whenever they have Members of Parliament, or when we have this chance of Africanization, we must be taxed immediately, so that we are rowing in the same boat with them. This is wrong. We must see that there is indirect taxation, that these capitalists are heavily indirectly taxed, and then we will have a valid case that a Bill which is intended to bring me into the field of income tax, whereas I have not earned this amount for the last five years, this is completely ridiculous.

Now I support this one, but of course the Government must be careful with the capitalist advisers, who are trying to devise some indirect means of taxation for us.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, although I do not want repetition, I think the question of increasing allowances for polygamy does not come in, because here the term is general, marriage allowance. If one wants to divide it between his five wives for example, he would find as with the children here, that for each wife there will be £120. In which case if you calculate you will find that if you have five wives, every wife will have an allowance of £120. What if the Government approached us in that manner? In the case of children you find that each child has an allowance of £120. What about if you put it the other way round? That with one wife you get an allowance of £120? You will find that you should have five wives. Each wife having £120 allowance relief. There is no point here in obtaining a large sum for one wife, and then claiming another one. In which case, for example, a European may say that he has two wives. One is working in Nakuru, who is probably a friend. It is very easy to say so. What will the Government do? At the moment nearly all of them are not practising African Socialism. In fact, one would allege that to avoid income tax, that he has two or three wives. One is working at Naivasha, one is working in Nairobi. You cannot prove that she is not his wife. Moreover, there are so many unmarried European ladies, one can just attach herself to a European man and say that he is my husband. We do not want to claim things which can be detrimental when we consider them.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, since I do not want repetition I appeal to Members not to speak loud-mouthed on adjournment when they are invited to listen to reasons, they do not support the Bill.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, in view of the exhaustive debate on this Bill, I wish to move that the Mover be called upon to reply.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I had intended to give every hon. Member a chance of speaking but we are getting so much repetition now, I think I have heard nothing new in the last hour or more. So I will allow the House to entertain the closure.

(Question, that the Mover be now called upon to reply, put and agreed to)

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuro) Mr. Speaker, Sir, I must say thank you very much to all the hon. Members for the very keen interest they have taken in this debate. It is true that it is important, and I am glad that it has been given the interest that it really does deserve.

I am not going to try and reply to all the points that have been raised, but I will pick on those that I feel do require clarification.

I should perhaps begin by dealing with the legal point of the jurisdiction of this House, and the jurisdiction of the Central Legislative Assembly on income tax matters. I am quite sure that all the hon. Members know that income tax and customs and excise are both administered and collected by the East African Common Services Organization. The administration arrangements governing income tax are set out in the Income Tax Management Act. As I said in my opening remarks, the amendments went through the last Central Legislative Assembly meeting in Kampala.

On the question of allowances and the whole aspect of this tax is to obtain money. The Government is trying to raise funds for the very many things—for schools, and for all the other social services that we need so very much. Therefore, to lay emphasis on the amount of allowances that would be given without working out the total arithmetic of what it means, is not particularly wise if you are looking for ways and means of raising funds. You will note that the person who pays income tax is the person who is fortunate enough to earn more than £1,000. Even then, if he is married and has four children he gets the allowances that total £1,080. Therefore, he does not pay income tax. It is true that there has been a lowering of some of the allowances, and this again is because that in the past the burden fell on the Europeans, the many farmers, the Indians and so on. Our turn has come, for us to make a contribution. Therefore, there has been this little reduction of allowances to enable many more people to be netted into the income tax paying group. I understand, someone told me that in one country, each local authority area hangs a list of people who contribute most in that particular local authority. It might be interesting if we were to start putting up a list on our notice board here to show how much money each one of us contributes towards assisting the development of this country. I understand that in this particular country for your name to appear on that list, maybe they do not show the actual figures you produce, but for your name to appear there is a great honour. Although I entirely agree that nobody pays his tax with a smile, including myself, I am in the process of filling in my income tax forms and it is particularly worrying. Sometimes I forget and I am assessed excessively.

An hon. Member: You have too much money.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuro) Yes, I work.

Some people try to make play out of Sessional Paper No. 10, and are trying to misdirect the others. The piece that I was going to quote has already been quoted. There is another nice one and it reads like this, I quote—"the tax structure must be a major means for effecting a more equitable distribution of income and wealth. Those with high income and wealth must accept a greater responsibility to pay tax". That is Sessional Paper No. 10. Those who claim on the question of women and children, those who want to get married, we all know it is those who have the money, those who feel they can manage, those who want wives to help them to cultivate the shamba because it is big, they want more boys to look after the goats, there are plenty of them. The poor fellow who has only two or three goats, has one wife, and particularly no shamba and so on. Since the whole idea of this Bill is to raise funds for development of our own country, it would be wrong to argue that there should be these multiple allowances which would work these wrong way round. They would minimise, they would lessen the amount of money we are likely to obtain through the income tax. As I said in my speech in June, we are going to introduce by the beginning of July, the Pay As You Earn System, and this has necessitated the adjustment of the figures, for instance, the young men, unmarried men have been reduced to £216. One good reason is that you can divide that by twelve so as to enable the employer to deduct from the pay each month without difficulty. I think a few other questions that have been raised this afternoon are quite interesting.

There is the whole question of trying to find a system whereby occasionally the Income Tax Department could raid certain people who they

[Mr. Anyien] the Bill has been re-introduced, are the Members who spoke at that time free now to speak, or can they not speak again?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, it is one continuous debate, so hon. Members who have spoken in the previous debate cannot speak again today. That does not apply to hon. Members who spoke merely on the Motion for adjournment of the debate, they kept to the subject of the adjournment and they are entitled to speak again on the main debate. The position of the hon. Member who actually moved the adjournment of the debate, and moved it successfully, is something which I have not explained to the House for some time past.

As hon. Members know, and as I did explain recently, adjournment of the debate can only be moved in the course of debate and not as a point of order; it can only be moved by an hon. Member who has claimed the Floor in the ordinary course. He can then, after speaking as long as he likes, move the adjournment of the debate. If he is unsuccessful in his Motion for the adjournment of the debate, that is the end of his speech and that is the end of his opportunity to speak again in the debate. If he is successful, he should continue his speech, if he wants to, immediately on resumption of the debate, on the next occasion. So you should actually have spoken, if you wanted to, at the start of this afternoon; but I do not blame you for not understanding that, and I think you should be allowed an opportunity of finishing what you had to say now, on this particular occasion, if you want to.

Mr. Anyien: Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, I was one of the people who very strongly opposed this Bill and the reasons why I opposed it were the reasons which have been stated by very many Members. But I must thank the Minister for Finance who convened the Parliamentary Group meeting this morning, which all the Members of Parliament were invited to attend, and where we discussed the matter. We did not agree on all points, but on some points the Minister managed to convince us that this was for the interests of the majority of the people and not for their disinterest.

Therefore, Sir, while I have only one objection that is in connexion with the people who are willing to sympathize, and who have a little bit more love to give to more than one woman, I think, Sir, that the person who is willing to marry more than one wife, should be exempted. This,

Sir, I feel should be taken into account, because some people try to save money by marrying only one wife, and thereby letting very many other women roam the streets and becoming prostitutes. So, Sir, the person who volunteers, I think, is doing very good work and the Government should appreciate this. I also feel, Sir, that the bachelors should be made to pay more tax, because they are making way for more prostitutes by not marrying these girls.

But, then, Sir, there is another point which I would like to raise, and that is the question of children. Mr. Speaker, after having had discussions with the Minister I think we should realize that if we take a constituency, for example, Majoge Bassi, there is not one man there who is paying income tax. I, myself, am not paying any income tax, and if this was done, Sir, I think that we would be exempting the rich people in Nairobi who own all the big buildings and the bus companies, and I think that these people should be given a chance to pay. If the hon. Members will try and think quietly without displaying any emotion, and find out who these people are and if they have children. Sometimes, Sir, when we talk like this I think of some of the people in my constituency who have five wives, but then those people who have five wives are not going to be asked to pay any income tax, because they have children who they cannot send to school because they are poor. But then, Sir, if we want to help these people, then maybe we can help them by paying Personal Tax, but, Sir, with regard to income tax, I think that this deals mostly with those rich people who have inherited money and positions from the colonial days, where they were given more opportunities than the African people and who might continue to support the economy of the country.

Now, Sir, with regard to the future, Sir, it must be realized that the Asians and the Europeans are only in the country for a short time, and I agree that they are only in this country for a short time. But, Sir, I believe that the economic set-up of our country should not be such that would allow some people to become very rich. I believe, Sir, as a socialist, that we must move to a time when there will not be these rich people, but everyone will be the same. The whole thing is a capitalist set-up and it is a mistake which may exist as long as the present régime exists. I also believe, Sir, that after this present régime, when another régime comes—

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onyok): Which different régime?

Mr. Anyien: I see one of the Ministers asking me which different régime. But, Sir, the hon. Minister knows that this régime allows some [Mr. Anyien] to be rich and not taxed, but when the people to be rich comes—but, Sir, he knows that in about twenty years, when Anyien comes to power, he will never allow people to become rich like this. He knows this very well.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): We are only dealing with tax allowances and rates for the current year, Mr. Anyien, and not twenty years hence.

Mr. Anyien: Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker. I think that there is no argument in the Bill, but for the time being, and I know this may affect some Members of Parliament including myself, but I think this Bill is good enough if he allows £600 for the first wife, then he should be able to allow £300 for the second wife. This, Sir, will help, because Kenya is empty and we want more and more people in order to fill the country, and to do this we cannot allow people like the hon. Gichuru only to have one wife, they should have more wives so that they can share the burden. Mr. Speaker, Sir, having only one wife is very unfair, and it is also an indirect way of encouraging prostitution, because there is no employment.

Therefore, Sir, I hope that with these few words the Members will put forward a few amendments to this and not actually pass the Bill, because, Sir, I believe that if, for example, the Bill is to cater for the bulk of our rich people, are not people from Muranga. For example, Sir, if the Member for Muranga speaks the truth you will find that there are about two or three people who pay tax from his area. What will it help? It may help the rich Indians, the rich Europeans and the rich Africans, but then as a socialist, I believe that they should try and see the point so that we can support the Bill with little amendment.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, with those few words, I beg to support.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Now, hon. Members I would not allow the closure of this debate to be moved earlier, because I do feel that, in a debate of this kind, every hon. Member should have an opportunity of speaking. But that does not mean to say that we can have endless repetition of what other hon. Members have said. We are getting pretty much the same arguments over again now, so I would ask hon. Members to be economic in what they have still to say.

Mr. Ngũgĩ-Aboko: Mr. Speaker, Sir, before I speak on this Bill which is very important, I have about three or four points to make and two of them refer to the Members directly.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, when the Members were called to attend a committee, or to gather as a parliamentary group to discuss the Dairy Industry Bill only about twelve Members attended, but the majority of the Members were not there. Also, when the Members were called to listen to the Minister for Finance giving us explanations regarding this allowance release, regarding the Loan Guarantee Bill and also this Income Tax Bill, the Members that attended were very few indeed, and it is very shameful to see Members asking for an adjournment on Bills which they think they need further explanation about, but when it comes to the time of explaining this the Members are not there. So, Sir, we fail to see what the idea is of pleasing the gallery and asking for an adjournment with the excuse that you are seeking more knowledge about this Bill, but when it comes to the time of explanation in order that you are told the Government's point of view and so that you can understand this point of view no Member is present. This is very, very shameful indeed.

The same applies, Mr. Speaker, Sir, with the Dairy Industry Bill which is going to introduce the Africans into the milk industry. There were very few Members who attended and yet there are plenty of Africans shouting that it is the Europeans who are monopolizing the milk industry. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not want to labour on this point, but I feel that the Members must realise that when they do not understand a Bill and they ask for an adjournment and the Minister is available and explains, then they must attend such meetings so as to show their responsibility.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would now like to speak on this Bill, and in doing so I would like to draw the attention of the Minister for Finance to the question of assessment. Many companies carrying out writing receipts in their own language, for example, the Asians. I have information that some Asians have two books; one to show to the assessment group, the income tax assessment team and the other one to show to the organization or the company as such. So, you never arrive at the true profit made by Sir, you never arrive at the true profit made by one company so that you can base your income tax on the real gain which the company has made. So, Sir, I feel that it is important that the Minister finds ways and means by which the real true income of this company can be assessed and found, so that there is no loophole in the assessment whatsoever.

Also, Mr. Speaker, Sir, there are some African companies now that have been started. Some of these companies are anxious to establish their branches all over Kenya. You will find a taxed. There are progressive farmers, both large-scale and small farmers, who, I am certain, qualify to pay income tax, even surtax, but these people, or most of them, are not taxed.

So on top of these measures, I would expect the Minister to put forward a proposal, a programme, whereby he would be able to go far enough and reach all those whose income is high enough for them to be eligible to pay income tax. I know certain people in my own area, my own constituency, who probably enjoy a larger income than I do; I pay income tax, they do not. There have, in fact, been complaints from people who are employed, salaried people, teachers, civil servants and the like, and maybe a few professional and business people, whose income can be assessed, and who complain that the Government has failed in not going far enough and taxing that other large section of the community which is in a position to pay income tax.

Now the other point I would like to raise—and maybe the Minister may touch on this in his reply—is to ask him to explain why it has been found suitable or necessary to reduce allowances. I remember that during the Budget debate the main reason that was put forward was to make it easier to calculate when we pay your income tax as we earn. Take the education allowance: that has gone down from £180 to £120. I do not know whether this is related to the cost of education, whether that has gone down, or whether there is perhaps going to be free education in the future. I do not know how these are related. There is also a reduction from £720 to £600, even from £225 to £216. I have not heard any satisfactory explanation as to why this has been found necessary.

I would just like to say that the reason why most Members are dissatisfied with this Bill is not that we oppose it in principle, but if it were related to other measures, Government programmes, which would indicate that the tendency is to make the rich become poorer, then we would be quite happy. But when you look around, there is no such tendency, except for this Bill. One would be quite happy if this was related to other sources of revenue, salaries, posts, boards and things like that; but when you only have income tax and there is no other sign anywhere in the field that the move is towards what we have been told is socialism, one is quite unhappy with it.

So, Sir, I do not want to repeat what has been said, and with these few words I reserve my judgment.

Mr. Mairori-Itumbo: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, because of the privileges Members have in this House, I rise to express my feelings or to record my feelings before the public. Sir, I feel that I have to defend the polygamists in this country. We believe in the African way of living, in accordance with African Socialism, which, of course, does support marriage of more than one wife. Also, Sir, with regard to the allowance given to children, we are not told which should be the first to be considered, the children of which wife.

Now, Sir, what happens if a person has many wives? I know one man, for example, in South Nyanza, namely, Mr. Akuku Dangu, who has more than thirty-three wives. That man, in my opinion, is not rich; he is suffering, he is the person feeding all these souls surrounding his village. He is feeding women and feeding children; he has so far eighty-something children. Now, Sir, this man is not rich. Some of these women are walking about naked; some of them are not well fed. Now do you mean to tell me that such a man is rich and yet he cannot even finance his own wives in the village, and cannot even take care of some of the children, who are not even educated?

Mr. Deputy Speaker, I would like to know if we believe in African Socialism. I read the Bill, Sir, but unfortunately I do not have it here with me. However, I read that only four children were to be given allowances. Now some of us would like to be told: children from which house? Whether it is the second wife or the first wife, because it is only fair to tell us. This will create enmity in the home. If you have ten wives who is going to be who, with regard to allowances?

Mr. Deputy Speaker, this is why I felt I must defend those who bear the burden of souls to feed around the houses or the villages, because we do not consider these people as rich. When other Members are speaking, and referring to this Bill as taxing these Asians, I feel that these Asians are merely visitors living with us until such time when they see politics changing; tomorrow you will find them packing up and going. You cannot just pass a Bill simply because you think that you are punishing someone, and yet you do not know whether he is a citizen or not. Tomorrow you may not have him here. He may go, and then the Bill you have made will turn round and it will be your grave. You will be buried in the same grave.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, I do not agree with this idea of making Bills simply because you have Europeans and Asians in Kenya, and so you feel that you can now make Bills to punish them in a way. This is silly and it is unwise.

So, I beg to oppose the Bill.
[The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza) left the Chair]

[The Speaker (Mr. Slade) resumed the Chair]
Mr. Masinde: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I will speak on this very, very quickly, as I do not have much to say.

The most important thing in this is that the Minister for Finance, I think, should see fit to impose more and more indirect tax instead of going straight for this direct taxation. I say this because we have very few Africans now who are enjoying big salaries and things like that, but, at the same time, we know that this is the very class which spends more because they earn more and they buy a lot of things. If we could impose more indirect taxation then we would be doing a lot more towards getting revenue for the Kenya Government. But this direct taxation, when it ends up, will mean that we are going to tell our people, indirectly, that we are now educating them to control birth and things like that. Let us face it straight away, with this Bill, it means that we do not want our people to have more children. We will have to tell our people that they must limit the number of children they are going to have, because of this.

The system is straightforward, but, at I see it, it would be all wrong for us to pretend here that it is only the rich who are going to be taxed. Who knows whether "So-and-So" tomorrow is going to be rich? On the other hand, whatever we imposed in the way of indirect taxation, whatever penny was spent, if you bought, say, five cups of tea, then there would be a tax on that; and we would know that the more money you spend the more tax you are paying, instead of having someone spending money without knowing and, at the end of the year, finding a big bill saying, "You earned so much and therefore you have to pay Sh. 12,000 or Sh. 20,000 in tax." This has caused confusion; there are a number of Africans now who do not know where they are. Because of that, a number of them now have even failed to purchase their homes, because they have had to use their savings; the money they have saved without even knowing how much they were going to have to pay.

Mr. Speaker, it is on this principle that I think the Minister—although I may try to help him here—has to decide differently instead of taxing people directly.

Mr. Speaker, on the same point, even if we rely on this income tax, there are very few people who are going to qualify to pay income tax, and since there are very few people it is not the only source of revenue that we rely on. But if we say we will get tax from, say, a cup of tea or a lb. of sugar, then we are getting money from the Indians. You have to tax everybody, because taxation means everybody. But the hon. Member who has just said, "Taxing the poor" does not know how many poor people cannot buy a cup of tea. There are very few who do so. Mr. Speaker, Sir, with due respect, hon. Members, particularly those who represent urban areas, are so confused that they do not know that a man who comes from Turkana does not buy sugar. There is so much confusion and they are limited in Nairobi.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I insist that taxation be indirect. Tax my tie, tax my shirt, tax my shorts and tax my shoes. This is the way you can tax even the rich. But when you say that we have to have direct taxation, then we are going to land in trouble. We have had people, including the clever ones, such as economists, even trying to cheat the Government. They can print any type of figure, saying that a man has so much and has therefore to pay so much, and they get away with it. This is not going to give us exactly what we want from the people of this country.

To go further, Sir, we thought that in this country there should be limitation of the population, because the area or size of this country is really big. We are worried about money, but this is not the only way we can get money. Of course, even if we say that indirect taxation is going to help, possibly, the Asians, which the Government help, or the Ministers are interested in penalizing, it is not that community which is going to suffer. The majority of the people of this country are going to be Africans and, whether we like it or not, they are going to continue to be Africans. These are the people who, at last, are going to be the rich people and who are going to own Government Road and River Road in future.

Whatever Act of Parliament we pass here is going to affect those people who have no alternative home anywhere else in the world, and it is not a question that we are pressing the rich.

Coming to the last point, Sir, as I finish, this is that here some hon. Members have tried to mislead the House by comparing the figures of child allowances with the Uganda Government. But although the Uganda Government have allowed up to six children, the aggregate comes to the same, £480, which means that the Uganda Government deceives the population at large. I do not want to quarrel with that, and since it is because of their failure to find schools for their children: food is running short. How does income tax come to rectify such problems? How does this Bill come to rectify such problems? This is a challenge to Economic Planner and his Finance Minister. That has nothing to do with us as Members of the Chamber and, as Member for Teso, I think I have said my bit and I think I will continue to tell it, even if I am called to Kamukunji, I will emphasize my side.

Mr. Gatunga: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I have very little to say about this Bill, except to say, in the first place, that I support it. Now, secondly, I would like to add to some of the arguments, which have been dealt with very fully by the Minister for Economic Development and I think by the Minister for Finance when he was introducing the Bill.

If I remember correctly, some of these hon. Members who are opposing this Bill, Sir, at one stage in this House said that this is a Government of the rich, implying thereby that the Government is only helping the rich and they are doing nothing about the poor and now when the time comes for the Government to try and reduce the wealth of these rich people and make use of it for the poor, then these people make complaints. The same hon. Members, Mr. Deputy Speaker, who are opposing this Bill say that we are developing more on the capitalist side rather than on the socialist side. Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, when the Minister brings a Bill and tries to change our direction to the socialist side it means really that he is trying to help the poor, and still they oppose the Bill. This shows, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, that we have no clear thinking in our minds as to what we are trying to do, unless we say that we oppose the Bill for the sake of opposing it, without really trying to find out the logic of it.

If you look at the questions that come into this House from the Members, they ask "Oh! What is the Government doing about the development of my area? What is the Government doing about the building of dispensaries? What is the Government doing about water projects?" These are the general questions that we get in this House from the hon. Members. Surely, these hon. Members expect the Government to raise revenue to provide for these development projects and I think very sincerely that these are some of the projects. Nobody should think in terms of his own personal interest, or that if I have ten children, this Bill is going to affect me adversely because I can only obtain allowances for four children. Well, you have to look at the country as a whole, the welfare of the people which is there; it is written on the door there. We are thinking in terms of providing money for development. Nobody has suggested in this House, and I do not think that anybody will do so, that by raising one million pounds from this taxation, we shall eliminate unemployment tomorrow, this is not possible, neither can we say that we will do away with poverty in this country in the next few years, but we will have to develop by stages. This is what we are doing. No doubt this Bill is going to affect certain Members in the House, but we should not oppose it merely because it is going to affect your pockets. You must think of the people that elected you to this House.

Now, you talk of wives. Somebody has suggested here that a loan should be given to wives instead of children. Now, we agree that we are living in an African State and we follow African Socialism, but tell me how many Africans, who are going to be affected by this Bill, have more than one wife? How many education officers have two wives? How many teachers, Members of Parliament here, permanent secretaries, all these people have only one wife. Five per cent or one per cent may have two wives. The majority definitely will have very few wives. Now, if you come to the children and if you limit them to four you are going to help more Asians than Africans. I say that one Asian will have twelve children, sometimes twenty, but there are very few Africans with even more than six, sometimes ten, so when you talk of the logic of four children, then say that you are not interested in African welfare, you are interested in the welfare of some other people, the majority of whom may not even be citizens of this country.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I think it is unfair to continue debating on an issue such as this which is very straightforward. The issue came to us in this House during the Budget Speech, we debated on it, the pros and cons, and there is nothing new in this Bill. We already know what it is and in fact it has already started operating. It was only a question, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, of approving the Bill if we want to make any progress in this country and if we want to help our people.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Murgor): On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, would I be in order to move that the Mover be called on to reply?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! Order! I have consulted with Mr. Speaker when I came in and he suggested that as there is so much interest in this debate one should not accept a closure so soon.

Mr. Kall: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I am not going to take long, but I only want to point out one fact, which we are trying to ignore. As every Member speaks he says that he speaks on behalf of the African, that is all right; but then when you come to the question of the African you will find that the majority of the Africans cannot even get the so-called 4080, their own income, their yearly income. That means that if you say that you are opposed to this Bill, then you will be helping the rich to be richer. Another point is that I will come again to the African, when you talk about two or more wives, even according to our own custom it was only the rich people who used to have more than one wife, because we do not obtain wives free, we buy them, whether you like it or not, so I do not see the point in trying to oppose this Bill and I support.

The Assistant Minister for Lands and Settlement (Mr. Gachago): Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I rise to support the Bill and I intend to speak very briefly, because I feel that the substance of this Bill has been made very clear and especially by the last hon. Speaker who has posed this question so eloquently I think with the approval of this House.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, before doing anything else I think we have cause here to congratulate the Minister, because since the Bill was first introduced the hon. Minister has gone a long way to meet the requirements or the demands of hon. Members, in that he has done the best that he could to amend the Bill to suit the requirements of many hon. Members, and whatever he has done I think, Mr. Deputy Speaker, we should appreciate the action of the Minister. Besides, when we talk of taxation we mean income tax and we mean taxation of those who have an income. We cannot, Mr. Deputy Speaker, have our cake and eat it. We cannot stand here and say—because we have done that—we have stood in this Chamber and said that we are going to advocate less taxation for the poor and more taxation for the rich. But, Mr. Deputy Speaker, we can only milk those cows who have the milk and this is what the hon. Minister for Finance is trying to do, to get the country to milk only those cows which have the milk and those cows who have the milk are the people who have the money, and the people who have the income and these are the people the hon. Minister is requesting us to milk and we are justified in milking them even more and if any hon. Member of this House has the money, I think it is fair that he should give it to the country, in the interests of the poor people.

Now, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I have always had the impression that some hon. Members of this House, when they speak, they try to give the impression to the countryside that they are advocates of the poor. Being advocates of the poor, and any person who calls himself an advocate of the poor, cannot in his right senses, stand in this House to oppose this Bill.

An hon. Member: But we don't.

The Assistant Minister for Lands and Settlement (Mr. Gachago): Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, the hon. Member waits until the whole case is over and then comes to help me here. It is all over. Mr. Deputy Speaker, my hon. Member, in his right senses and in his right way of thinking and all those who tend to think of themselves as an advocate of the poor people, cannot with any justification stand and oppose this Bill, because the main theme of the Bill is to be able to obtain more from the rich to help the poor.

Therefore, Mr. Deputy Speaker, this is the reason why every hon. Member in this House who has the interests of the poor in his mind should support this Bill, and this is why I, for one, support it, and support it very strongly.

Mr. Warlithi: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I very much hate the view being put across that anybody who opposes this Bill is against the development of this country. I believe, Sir, that there are many ways—and this may be one of them—by which we can raise money for development. As has been said, maybe there are very few Members here who pay income tax, and those who do pay do know how painful it is.

Now it is quite fair that this Bill should be brought forward for the purpose of raising this money, about £1 million, but my only warning to the Minister is that the people who have been paying income tax have been complaining and are still doing so; this is going to make them complain even more.

The last speaker, Sir, said that you milk the cow if the milk is there to be taken. But there is a limit up to which you can go on milking that cow, and a time may come when it cannot produce any more milk.

Anyway, the point I want to put across here is this, Sir, that if the Government is serious and wants to raise sufficient funds for the purpose of development, I would say that here they are taxing only those who are employed or whose income is known. There are many people in this country, businessmen, Africans, Asians and the like, who are in groups within which they should pay income tax and yet they are not

[Mr. Oduya] Minister should formulate a policy whereby we can control the export and import machinery of this country, instead of allowing it to be controlled by individual companies. Thereby we will be able to save more money for the development of Kenya which the Minister is looking for because he is advising this Parliament that money will come out of this tax. However, I also am telling him how money should be controlled so that he will be able to get more money.

Another thing, the third point, of controlling money—and we need to save more money—is to encourage savings, because today you have some people saving money because they get £10,000 salary per year; that is equivalent to the Mayor's Rolls-Royce, which is going to be bought. This money is coming from the Kenya Government. For example, the General Manager of the Agricultural Development Corporation earns £10,000. If we reduce this amount to £2,000 a year, the rest of the money—

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I do not want to interfere, but when an hon. Member stands in this House and says the General Manager of the Agricultural Development Corporation receives £10,000, can the hon. Member substantiate that this is, in fact, being done.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): What is your reason for saying that, Mr. Oduya?

Mr. Oduya: I saw this figure somewhere in a paper, Mr. Speaker, but for the moment I withdraw. I promise to bring the paper later on, the one from where I obtained the argument.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I am sorry, Mr. Oduya, we cannot allow that, you know. You cannot withdraw a statement and say you are going to prove it another day. You withdraw it, and that is that.

Mr. Oduya: I withdraw. There is no need for an apology because I have not offended anyone.

Mr. Speaker, I go further and say that if we want sacrifices from the people who are in the field, from the President right to the bottom man, we must reduce the salaries. That is the only way of getting money. The President's salary must be taxed, and not be free of tax. Just because recently we passed here that he should be exempt from income tax. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to say that the President's salary should be taxed if we want to sacrifice Sh. 5,000 a month. The President's salary and Ministers' salaries should be taxed. The rest should be put into an account to help with the question of unemployment about which we have been complaining. In this I will get the support of the former Minister for Labour, who is now the Minister for Commerce and Industry. I will get his full support on this suggestion.

Another suggestion I have to make, and the fifth, is the question of reducing the Ministries to twelve. If the Ministers are out to make money and not just tell the people that the Kenya Government will be able to make money and only by taxing a few people the Kenya Government will make money to eradicate unemployment and also to provide essential services for other institutions, but what I am suggesting is that—I am only answering the Minister for Economic Planning who suggested that if our money is taxed—the money of the Members of Parliament—the unemployment problem would disappear tomorrow from the streets.

If the Minister for Labour was also here, we should hear from him whether he supports this, that once Parliament approves this Bill, unemployment will disappear tomorrow. If this is guaranteed now by any Minister—Finance or Economic Planning—we will be very happy, particularly those people who have no jobs.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, in order to give a chance to my friends who have not spoken, all I want to say—the Minister says how can we balance our Budget? But how will we balance our Budget if, for example, we squander away £1 million. I have no quarrel with the income tax but how will we balance our Budget of £16 millions, when the Tanzania Government has banned our goods?

I want to end my speech, Mr. Speaker, by saying that the Africans need to solve their problems. We have this paper on African Socialism. Now, in Africa, socialism, although things have not been worked out in detail, when we passed this Paper we had in mind what an African's life is. One of the things of African Socialism is how many wives one is entitled to marry. Now, all these wives are legally your wives. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am not going to say how many wives I have because here I am not speaking for myself alone, I am speaking for everybody; I am also speaking for people who are here and outside, who are not Members of this Parliament. Some of our people have married more than one wife; they have a number of children. A person from a family cannot support all the children of one wife and leave the rest. Are these wives and children to be declared illegal? If they are legal, then the Bill which

[Mr. Oduya] we want to pass, must also provide the allowances for all the wives that one has. If the argument is going to be how about Indians, one man can have ten or twenty children. The argument will be on the part of Africans that we should give more allowance to women, because an African naturally will have not less than one wife, he will always have more. Less than one, you know what I mean. For example, His Excellency the President of the Republic, and His Excellency the Vice-President, both of these gentlemen have more than one. Yes, that is true, and I stand for correction if—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Point of order, Mr. Bala.

Mr. Bala: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, could the hon. Member substantiate the fact that the President and the Vice-President have more than one wife?

Mr. Oduya: They have very little ones.

For example His Excellency, if you want to elaborate, I find it very difficult, Mr. Speaker, to elaborate about a family affair. Anyway, I have been asked so I will go ahead. His Excellency the President, by his first wife, had some children, whom today he has not rejected. Margaret Kenyatta is there. He has not rejected her by saying that she is not his daughter. The mother of Margaret is still living. She is literally the President's wife. Another one, Peter's mother included. Legally she is his wife. I think I have finished.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, if the hon. Member cannot substantiate that the Vice-President has two wives, can he withdraw that part?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You are required to substantiate that statement also, Mr. Oduya.

Mr. Oduya: The Vice-President has more than one wife.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! When an hon. Member is required to substantiate it means that he is required to say how he knows what he is saying. How do you know it, Mr. Oduya?

Mr. Oduya: I would request the Vice-President to help us in this case.

The Speaker: Order! No, as I have said to hon. Members you cannot substantiate matters by asking somebody else to prove your case. If you cannot say why you say it you must withdraw it, Mr. Oduya.

Mr. Oduya: I will then in future do that. Meanwhile for His Excellency the Vice-President only, I beg to withdraw that one.

But I think that in the first one, I put it clearly, but what is important is that the Head of State and the Head of the Government is already showing us an example and all that I wanted to draw the attention of the Minister for Economic Planning and Finance to was for him to know that the problem of an African has still got to be taken into account, according to our own Paper. That is my argument. It is not necessarily an argument merely about this and that, but I am testing the argument on our Paper, because I remember once the President said "You people are just grumbling about nothing." But you must see the point, the African socialists, if one can marry, let us say, six or seven wives, then that is the man, even in the old days, who was respected, and who is truly discharging African Socialism.

[The Speaker (Mr. Slade) left the Chair]

If that is accepted as a principle of African Socialism, then this is my question. What are we going to do with the rest of the wives if we recognize, as per the Bill, only one wife? Only one wife is given an allowance. What will happen to the other wives with their children? That is the thing and that is why the Members of the House here have a valid argument, whether in this Chamber or outside this Chamber the Minister must accept that, if the Members are prepared to face a challenge, here is a challenge for them if they do not vote for the Bill.

If that is the case, I also say if the Minister is truly prepared we should be accorded, as Members of this House, free chances without any threats from any circles, to share with any Government officer a platform anywhere, in any part of Kenya, including Kamukunji of Nairobi and we will be prepared to give the true picture of Kenya's economy, how it is being run and what is required and the people should know who is mistaken. You cannot really say Members of Parliament, just because of this Bill, this is not going to be a qualification at all, because our problems of unemployment and the lack of services in the country, Mr. Deputy Speaker, is not an income tax question and the qualification of £600, which the Minister alleges to be really firm and which will help Kenya, will not be the qualification to enable the Kenya Government to solve all the problems which prevail today.

Now, we are running short of schools and even this year or next year, we do not know, what will happen with the Members here? The people want to exterminate some of them today, of us might even be poor, completely poor and perhaps having to go without shoes. Therefore, Sir, unless we do something towards the schools for them to be established for the poor fellows, then we may find ourselves in difficulty when we leave this House. So, Sir, we may be digging our own graves without knowing it.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, all that I am trying to say, is let us try and be reasonable about this. Sir, today my words are not convincing, but tomorrow they will be. Mr. Speaker, Sir, if the Members are trying to convince this House and other people that they are fighting for the poor, in order that they can have education and dispensaries, then let us protect them here, because, Sir, this is exactly what is happening. Everybody is trying to work out how much money they will receive in their House, and then when this Bill is passed, they are working out how much they will receive. Mr. Speaker, Sir, the moment we forget ourselves, and think of others, the better.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to support.

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Speaker, Sir, it seems that some of the people who are raising the arguments on this Bill do not go as far as they should with regard to this Bill. Mr. Speaker, Sir, unless the hon. Members have read the Bill, then they would have thought twice before shouting about the Bill and opposing it. Mr. Speaker, Sir, this Bill gives us a chance to exploit the exploiter. If we lose this chance, then we will find that we are late. This Bill, Sir, does not affect the ordinary man in the street. It affects the top class people with a lot of money who should be taxed heavily. Mr. Speaker, Sir, this is very simple arithmetic, and the Members should be able to calculate simple mathematics.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, when somebody speaks about children, it is quite true that many Members have two, three, four or five children. In this Bill you will find that in Tanzania and Uganda they allow for people to have six children, but it is the same amount and it is up to you to calculate, if you have six children, whether one child will take £180 or £10 or whatever it is. Mr. Speaker, Sir, some Members are arguing here with regard to the question of wives, and how many wives they want to marry. But, Sir, this depends on the person concerned. If a person wants to marry two wives, then it is his own business and he divides his allowance between ten wives.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I wonder how many Members in this House are paying income tax. I am sure that very few, if any, are paying income tax, because they have always been arguing as the champions of the people, but when it comes to the actual paying. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I wonder how a Member copes, when he goes back to his constituency and is challenged about income tax and has to answer questions on it. How does he manage to represent them when he himself does not pay income tax, and they ask him about it?

AN hon. Member: Are you married?

Mr. Mbogoh (Mr. Speaker, Sir, whether somebody is married or not—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! There is too much noise going on everywhere. Hon. Members must give him a chance. Will you carry on, Mr. Mbogoh?

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Speaker, Sir, what I was saying is that it seems that some of the Members sit down somewhere and then come to argue or appeal when they have learnt from another hon. Member that he is going to oppose the Bill. But, Sir, it is sensible that an hon. Member speaks when he has read the Bill and understood the contents of the Bill, because then he can argue about the contents of the Bill.

Several hon. Members: Are you married?

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Speaker, Sir, several hon. Members want me to declare my interests about marriage. I am a very much married man, and I could be a polygamist too if need be. So, Sir, I qualify to speak on that Bill.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not want to labour on this point, but I believe that when we have this Bill passed, then most of our constituents who do not pay income tax at the present will appreciate it, because I am sure that if I go to Embu today and try to count all those who pay income tax, I will find that either two or three people pay income tax, and when somebody comes here and shouts, saying that it will affect the ordinary people, I think it is wrong, because it will affect those people who the hon. Members are saying it will not affect. I am sure that this Bill will be for the good of the people in this country. This Bill was brought about in order to make it possible for us to collect the revenue for the country, but, Sir, if we do not have it passed, then it means that we are letting those rich fellows escape with our money, which should go towards our development. How long are we going to be importing maize from America instead of developing our own agriculture?

So, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to support the Bill.

Mr. Oduya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think my argument will be with the House, because I do not want to argue with individual Members.

[Mr. Oduya]

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I also stand to say a few things on the Bill which I understand was here a few days back. The Members advised the Minister to withdraw the Bill, and he dropped it. But, Sir, because the Minister for Finance went and consulted his expert, the Minister for Economic Planning and Development who is very good with regard to propaganda purposes, the Bill has been brought back to the House exactly as it was before. So, Sir, with the view that the Minister for Economic Planning and Development will put everything right, and—

Mr. Khasakhala: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, could the hon. Member substantiate that the Minister for Finance consulted the other Minister not to change this Bill?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, I do not think that is a matter for substantiation. The hon. Member is merely expressing an opinion which he bases upon what he saw happen today. It is purely an opinion.

Mr. Oduya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, thank you very much. The hon. Member is defending his friend, which is not bad.

Now, Sir, I would like to go further. The Minister for Economic Planning and Development has just emphasized the reasons why the Bill should be passed as it is. He has alleged that by passing this Bill as it is the Kenya Government, I assume, will be able to get money to eradicate the unemployment problem in the country. That, Sir, is one reason which was given which is actually very valid, but for how long have we been paying this income tax up to date, and the unemployment problem has not yet been solved?

So, if the Minister wanted a valid argument because he wants more money, could I be excused if I make suggestions in my speech, which, of course, will help the Minister? He is the Minister for Economic Planning, and he should plan well to find more money instead of continuing taxing individuals who, possibly, may be in a position to earn very little. With a number of children and with a high standard of education, at the Prince of Wales where you pay Sh. 3,000 a year—I am just giving an example, because there are a few African officers who I know were just recently employed and the Minister has mentioned the growth of the Kenya population, with a lot of people all wanting to earn money while there is not enough work for all.

What I would say is, first of all, is that, if the Government wanted to find money for eradicating unemployment and provide other very efficient services, then the Minister for Economic Planning must find a solution. If he has no other solution, we, some of us, even if we are bush-economists, can find a solution and give it to him: Just to try and bring up the question of income tax as a major issue, by which means the Government of Kenya is trying to mislead the country that that is the only source of raising funds. I do not think it a good idea, because the Minister for Commerce has given an example, saying that we need money for running schools and so on. I think even if we have money from income tax, I do not think that money is enough to cater for the Kenya Government services, and at the same time for the Common Services. Therefore, the only solution is to find a means of taxing the companies which are making a lot of money in this country and keep sending it outside. In this way, the Bill does not actually mention anything about the company taxation, for example, the breweries, tobacco and so on. What I think is, that the Government should nationalize all the milling machines, all the electricity, hotels, tobacco, breweries, insurances, nationalize these companies to become State-owned properties, because the people who are going to work in these industries are the Kenyans. The money will come into the Kenya Government's pocket and then the Kenya Government will say, "all right, in Busia we need such and such an industry which will employ so many thousands of people. In Galole we need such and such industry," because there is already money, instead of depending on income tax which is a Common Services business. If we have a little money that is also divided for other projects, which are already scheduled for that particular district. So what I would ask the Government is for the Minister for Economic Planning to come forward and consider this matter because the Parliament here has demanded, every now and then, to see that at least certain industries belong to the State so that we will be able to accumulate money. This money will accumulate, but if the Members argue on that, then it shows that we are not out to meet the argument of the Minister for Economic Planning, where he has said he cannot accept a few people—

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, am I in order to ask whether this is the testimony of a bush economist?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, you are not. The hon. Member is completely out of order.

Mr. Oduya: I do not need your machine, I am capable of arguing with the Minister anywhere. Another thing I would like to say is that the

[The Minister for Economic Planning and Development]

Mr. Speaker, the second measure which the Government is taking is the measure regarding the tax structure. In so far as this is concerned this Government intends that the poorer people of this country should not be burdened by paying more taxation, but rather that the wealthier people in this country, we in this House included, and others in Government and in business, those among the farming community, those who enjoy a high income, an income higher than £600 per year, should be able to pay a little more for the development and the running of this country.

Mr. Speaker, under African Socialism there is nothing wrong and nothing in conflict with this approach to our tax structure.

The second paragraph which is relevant in this case, paragraph 22, states as follows: "Direct taxation on people with extremely low incomes will be progressively abolished and the revenue sacrificed replaced by property taxes." Now, Sir, we have started on the road towards this reconstruction. We would like to feel that in the next few years the Minister for Finance can tell the House and the country that people with incomes below, say £120 a year, or some such income, will be excluded from paying direct taxation. That is what we would like to hope, but if we are going to remove the unemployed, if we are going to remove the low-income group people from paying taxation, then the higher-income group people must accept more responsibility. I say this, Mr. Speaker, because unless we do this, the poor will always remain poor and they will become poorer while the rich will become richer, and the gap between the "haves" and the "have nots" will be extending, rather than narrowing.

An hon. Member: It is going on now.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Speaker, it is going on now and that is why we are taking these measures to arrest it. But we cannot arrest it by shouting "No". It is comfortable for the hon. Member who is earning more than £600 to say "No", but what about those people who earn nil, who have nothing to sacrifice? Mr. Speaker, the public of this country will be highly perplexed to hear the hon. Member shouting "No". I am sure, Sir, he would not like to shout "No" at a public meeting in his home town.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order, Mr. Oduya. You will have an opportunity of speaking in the debate.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Speaker, when the hon. Member for Teso speaks it will be very interesting to hear the arguments with which he defends the idea that we should not tax those who have money and should only continue to tax those who are poor and who are without money. It will be very interesting to hear the arguments.

Mr. Speaker, unless we raise our revenue through income tax, the alternative is this; that we increase the degree or the rate of indirect taxation, that we try to raise the prices of basic commodities like foodstuffs and clothing and things like that. It is the only alternative. But, Mr. Speaker, it would be the wrong alternative, it would be the wrong policy and it would be inconsistent with our commitments in Sessional Paper No. 10, because in this Sessional Paper we have unanimously agreed in this House that the burden of direct taxation shall move from the lower-income groups to the higher-income groups.

Mr. Speaker, when we came to power we inherited a tax structure that was conceived for a society that was not a Kenyan society, it was for a society in passing and they called themselves "birds of passage"; it was at the time when income tax was especially paid by the European civil servants, Europeans resident in this country, Asian businessmen and others. The number of Africans who paid income tax was merely a handful. Since independence many Africans have come into the category of the higher-income groups, through executive jobs, businesses, civil service, this House of Parliament, Ministers and others. There is nothing immoral in Africans who begin earning higher incomes in paying more towards the responsibility of running this country, for one aspect of the fact of our independence is that we should be able to run our country. It would be a sad day if our Minister for Finance were to go overseas to borrow money for our recurrent expenditure. It is all right for us to borrow for development because in development we can service the loans, we can repay our debts, but if we begin to borrow for our recurrent Budget there is not a hope that we should be able to pay back, there is not a hope that we could ever become economically independent. Therefore, even when we shout that we are non-aligned, we should not be truly non-aligned for we should be fed in our recurrent Budget by other nations and nothing is more serious than that position.

Mr. Speaker, I do not want to labour the point too much, for I believe that it must by now be quite clear to this House that the Minister for Finance has been more than lenient. Those who suggest that these taxes, or the tax measures, are too high may care to study the tax structure in other countries, and they would find that in some other countries these measures become punitive measures instead of being purely and simply tax measures. We have said in Sessional Paper No. 10, again, that our tax structure, or tax measures, shall not be punitive measures. We want to have a structure that will facilitate development, that will enable people to have the incentive to save, the incentive to invest and the incentive to consume, and so the proposed tax measures are entirely fair in that they do not become a punitive tax structure.

I hope, Sir, that in this spirit Members will now see that however much we may dislike the fact that we have to pay taxes, that unless we do pay taxes, then all our hopes for development will be in vain. However much it may be distasteful, and although I speak so strongly for these measures, I assure the hon. Members, and the hon. Minister for Finance knows, that I too complain quite a lot when the time comes for me to pay my taxes. But I happen to understand that unless I do this it will not be possible for me, my children and for our people to realize the aspirations which we have so often spoken about.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, some Members said that these tax measures will interfere with people having the number of children they may wish to have. Mr. Speaker, Sir, nothing of the sort is going to happen. In fact, the child allowance which is referred to in these measures does not affect the children of people with incomes less than £600, and when some Members are pleading for more child allowance they are, in fact, not talking about the ordinary low-income group people, they are not talking about the unemployed people, they are not talking about the peasants in the rural areas, but they are talking about the high salaried people in these towns; the executive people, the business people. Now, Sir, is that the kind of people we are trying to defend, so that they may have more children, when the poorer people become poorer and when the poor man's children cannot even have something to eat, and Members say that we should allow them to have more children? Mr. Speaker, Sir, if a person wants more children, then let him be able to feed them. But, Sir, not at the expense of the unemployed people, the poor people and the peasants of this country. Our job and responsibility is to the masses, the poor people of this country, but not to the handful of Africans who have started working in executive positions, with high salaries; for example, Ministers, Members of Parliament, business men and their business friends.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I notice my friend the Member for Galole shooting up, and I hope he is shooting up in order to put the case of the poor people in Galole, and not the rich business men in the trading centres. We hope, Sir, that in this spirit the Members will now support the measures, so that we can get on with the job of building our nation.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): Mr. Speaker, Sir, in supporting this Bill, I would like to say this.

This Bill, Mr. Speaker, Sir, is talking about two groups of people; those who have and those who have not. My question, Sir, is, is the House here, and the hon. Members here, trying to help those who have or those who have not? That, Sir, is my question. The Bill intends to help those who have not, in the sense that the people who have, like myself and the Members here, should pay more tax in order that those who have not; the unfortunate chaps, the poor fellows, the people who elected these Members to come here and represent them will be provided with schools, dispensaries, etc. The Government should then have enough money to build the secondary schools for them, to make the roads, build dispensaries for them. Mr. Speaker, Sir, there is no country in this world which does not base its economic development on the money paid by whoever are the inhabitants of that country in the form of taxes.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, we have known countries like the United Kingdom where people are very highly taxed for the development of the country, and, again, in America, every single thing you eat, like an egg, or even a tie, is taxed about three per cent which goes into the Government kitty, yet towards the development of the country. Are we going to be a peculiar country, which gets money from Heaven or anywhere else, and then we stand here and say that we want development. Mr. Speaker, Sir, is it not out of order for a Member in this House to fail to support this Bill and at the same time, to move a motion here because the Government has failed to establish a secondary school in his constituency?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It is in order, but not logic perhaps.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): There is no logic, Sir, no logic whatsoever. Therefore, Sir, I would like to say this, and also like the hon. Members to take note of this, that today we are Members of Parliament, but who knows what might happen tomorrow? Tomorrow, we might not be Members of Parliament, some

[Mr. Khasakhala]

Sir, when this Bill was adjourned, there were a few points raised by hon. Members concerning various things, which I think perhaps I would like to touch on briefly. The Income Tax Bill is actually a Bill which involves two other countries, that is, Uganda and Tanzania. Now on the question of children's allowance, as raised by hon. Members, what I would like to remind my friends and colleagues in this House is that those people who pay income tax are not the ordinary people in the country who are unable to pay. In fact, this Bill is in actual fact asking the highly paid people, the people who have the money, to pay towards the welfare of the poor people in the country. And if the poor people are protected by those people with money, and we want to change the Bill so that we tax the poor people, then we are making a grave mistake.

Sir, income tax is intended for those people with a higher income, the man who earns a high salary, like the Ministers, like the hon. Members who have other sources of income, whose income is higher. It does not affect the man in the street, the ordinary man in the country. This is really affecting the rich men, the businessmen in Nairobi, like the Asians who have big shops, who earn a lot of interest from the poor man in the street. These are the people, in fact, who are to be taxed by way of income tax. Therefore, if we go on protecting the rich man, and let the poor man in the street suffer this tax, I think we are being very unfair to the country.

I would say, Sir, that the hon. Members should reconsider their argument. Even if we talk about African Socialism, and mean that if a man has so many wives he should be given an extra allowance, an African, Sir, who marries six wives is a rich man. A poor man cannot marry six wives. In fact, it is a rich man who marries more than one wife because he can afford to keep them. If he cannot afford to keep them, why would he marry more than one?

Therefore, I do not see the reason why we should argue on this Bill. First of all, we should consider the poor man. The poor man in the street pays his Graduated Personal Tax; he is not taxed directly, by way of income tax, as is the rich man. Now if you want a rich man not to pay for the welfare and the development of the country, what will we do to this country? How do we expect development in the country? This Bill is not protecting our workers even, if we do that.

Mr. Speaker, in my own constituency perhaps there is only one African who pays income tax, one African in the whole constituency. Why should I protect that person, who has the money to assist in the welfare of the country? Mr. Speaker, I strongly feel that this Bill should be supported, and I think we should let it go through its Second Reading.

Secondly, we know very well that the Bill has also provided for married people; and if you are married you have an allowance of £600. Now, if we allow £600 per wife, well, it is even going to make Europeans, who do not practise polygamy, take on widows in Nairobi and call them their wives, so that they can have the same allowance. It will cause even some Asians to take some people, relatives, and call them wives, so that—

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Mr. Speaker, Sir, on a point of correction—

Mr. Khasakhala: Is that a point of order or of information?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Correction, I understand.

Mr. Khasakhala: Very well.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Mr. Speaker, I would like to correct this, to the effect that £600 is for a married man; it is not £600 for every wife.

Mr. Khasakhala: That was not a correction, Sir, because what I was saying was that if £600 allowance was given per wife, as Members were wanting—that the Minister should give an allowance of £600 per wife—it would then encourage people to inherit some wives who were not there.

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, the hon. Member has just stated that Members have said that every wife should have £600. I was one of the speakers to the Motion, and I do not remember any Member having said that. Is he in order to insinuate, or, rather, to try to misrepresent what the hon. Members who spoke previously said?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, from what I remember of the debate, the hon. Member is not misrepresenting anything which was said. There was, of course, the claim that there should be unlimited allowance for children, however many, and I think there was a suggestion that Members should be encouraged to have as many wives as possible. I do not hear any misrepresentation of what was said.

Mr. Khasakhala: Mr. Speaker, I was only referring to the times hon. Members referred to African Socialism because, under African Socialism, you can marry as many wives as you like. So, that is what I was referring to in my speech.

[Mr. Khasakhala]

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I do not see actually the quarrel we could have against the Minister to this Bill because, even in the Bible it says, "To those who have it shall be added", and this means that those who have should pay for the poor man's welfare. It would only be unfair if income tax was extended to the ordinary man whose income is low, but if it remains as it is today, Mr. Speaker, I would say that it should receive the blessing of true African socialists because it is, in fact, protecting the ordinary man.

With these few remarks, Sir, I beg to support.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I promised the hon. Member for Teso that I would not quote the Bible.

Mr. Speaker, when the debate took place originally on this Bill I was not in the House. I have, however, been able to read some of the remarks made by Members. It is right that Members should be concerned about this kind of Bill, it is not unique that this concern is expressed here in Kenya or in this House. It is well known, and is universally the case, that whenever a money Bill, and especially a taxation measure, comes before parliament in any country it is scrutinized very carefully by Members. No one, in this country or in any other country, wishes to pay taxes if he can help it and I want to assure the House that Government considers very carefully the tax measures for, in this Sessional Paper No. 10 which has been unanimously approved by this House, we have agreed beforehand on the guide lines which Government must use in the formulation of our tax policy. It was quite clearly understood that development in this country will be dependent upon the revenues that we can raise within the country. Revenue measures inevitably include taxation. I would like to remind hon. Members that in the Memorandum of Objects and Reasons, which is published together with the Bill, the last paragraph states, "The proposed changes when fully implemented are estimated to produce an increase in revenue of over £1 million." If these changes are not implemented, then the Government's revenue measures will fall by £1 million. If our measures fall by £1 million, then the Budget must be reduced by £1 million. That also means inevitably that development must be reduced accordingly.

Now, Mr. Speaker, the theme of this House, and from what I can see over the past few months, the mood of this House and the mood of the country is one for development. In fact, throughout the country the mood is for accelerated development. A reduction would, therefore, be entirely against the will of the people, the will of this House and the mood of the country. I am, therefore, myself quite convinced that no Member in this House wishes to see a reduction in our expenditure, nor a reduction in our development programme.

We have, within the last two years, done just a few things to show and accelerate development. We have yet a lot of other things that need to be done. Mr. Speaker, Members know as well as we do in the Government that apart from our own revenue measures we can only rely on the generosity and, in many cases, the whims and sentiments of other people and other countries for our development. The poor people of this country, the unemployed, the peasants of this country are anxious and they urgently require to see development. It would be a sad day for Kenya and for this House if those hopes and expectations were to be stifled because the House refused to pass a measure such as this.

In the Sessional Paper, No. 10, and many Members speaking previously have referred to African Socialism in their defence of arguments against these measures—but I would like to remind the House, as especially to draw attention to page 53 of Sessional Paper No. 10 to recommendation 21 under the subtitle "Tax Structure" that this is what the Government said and this is what the House instructed the Government to do, "The tax structure", and I quote "will be reconstructed progressively with a view to raising the levels of Government revenue, domestic savings, and private investment in the economy; while also eliminating the outflow of funds through investment in foreign countries, modifying the distribution of income and wealth, and influencing the pattern and methods of productions and consumption."

Three distinct points have been made in that particular recommendation. First, that we should reconsider or review the tax structure. Secondly, that we should take steps to reduce the outflow of capital from this country, and thirdly that we should review the position of production and consumption methods. In the last year the Minister for Finance has taken steps in so far as the second part of the recommendation is concerned, namely the introduction of the Foreign Exchange Regulation. By this measure in the last few months we have been able to save in this country about £2 million per month of the money that used to go out of the country, which is now being held here.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Murgor); Mr. Chairman, Sir, I beg to move that the Committee do report to the House its consideration and approval of the Pig Industry Bill with amendments.

Dr. De Souza: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am directed by a Committee of the whole House to report its consideration of the Pig Industry Bill and its approval thereof with amendments.

First Reading

THE TRAFFIC (VEHICLE LICENCES) (DURATION, FEES AND REFUND) (AMENDMENT) (RULES) (VALIDATION) BILL

(Order for First Reading read—Read the First Time)

Mr. Khalif: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I beg to object to the Second Reading of this Bill today, Sir.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): That is all right. There cannot be two stages of the Bill taken today without the leave of the House, which means every Member consenting. If any hon. Member objects, he is entitled to say so and he does not have to give his reason. Mr. Khalif objects to the Second Reading being taken today, I understand, so it will have to be taken tomorrow.

I think, Mr. Njonjo, you were going to inform us of the President's consent?

The Attorney-General (Mr. Njonjo): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to inform the House that His Excellency the President, under Standing Order No. 134, has signified his consent.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Thank you. So we will take the Second Reading tomorrow.

(Ordered to be read the Second Time tomorrow)

First Reading

THE CONSTITUTION OF KENYA (AMENDMENT) BILL

(Order for First Reading read)

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think, before we proceed with the First Reading, the Attorney-General has something to say on this Bill.

MINISTERIAL STATEMENT

WITHDRAWAL OF BILL

The Attorney-General (Mr. Njonjo): Mr. Speaker, I am informed by the Minister for Finance that he is going to introduce amendments to the Loans Bill and it must follow that it will also be necessary to amend the Constitution Bill. Therefore I propose to withdraw the Constitution (Amendment) Bill and have it redrafted.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Hon. Members will understand that there is a peculiarity about Bills for the amendment of the Constitution in that they cannot themselves be amended after they have been introduced in the House. So it is not possible, in this case, to do what is normally done, that is, to introduce an amendment at the Committee stage. It is for that reason that the Attorney-General withdraws the Bill altogether, and he will have to publish it again. I have no doubt that, when it has been republished, the House will be disposed to shorten the time of publication before the Bill comes on the Order Paper.

BILL

Second Reading

THE LOANS (GUARANTEE) BILL

(Minister for Finance on 26th January 1966)

(Resumption of debate adjourned on 26th January 1966)

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Hon. Members will recall that this Second Reading has already been the subject of debate and the debate was adjourned on a Motion of Mr. Osogo. He is the person who now has first claim to continue speaking, if he is here, otherwise the debate is open to the House. If no other hon. Member wishes to speak, then I will call on the Minister to reply.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuro): Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the strong objections raised by hon. Members last week, I will be moving several amendments to the Bill during the Committee stage. These amendments appear on the Order Paper today.

The first amendment is to clause 3 and requires Government to obtain the prior approval of the House before entering into guarantees. This provision may cause delays in entering into guarantees, especially when the House is in recess, but I sympathize with the position taken by several hon. Members; and I will therefore move this amendment in Committee.

The second amendment, to clause 6, provides for Government to report to the House whenever it is necessary to pay out any moneys under a guarantee agreement. And, in this respect, I have the Mombasa Pipeline Board in mind. We have

[The Minister for Finance] done our very best to see if we could not get Uganda to agree to prolong the period of the loan, but they have indicated that they are not prepared to do so, so we may be called upon to honour our guarantee. This amendment fulfils the pledge I gave in my speech last week to report to the House whenever it became necessary to honour a guarantee.

The third amendment, to clause 8, is intended to remove possible doubts as to the legal validity of charging to the Consolidated Fund any moneys required under the guarantee listed in the Schedule. Someone has questioned that amendment and proposed that it more or less comes back as the original proposal that I had put forward; but the point to explain here is that clause 3 provides that there must be the approval of the House. Provision 2: if I was called upon to honour a guarantee that had been made, I would honour it because it had already been approved by the House, and then report back. It does not mean that there would be any more money involved in the exercise.

The fourth amendment deletes clause 9 as, on further consideration, it is not thought to be necessary.

During the debate last week, the hon. Mr. Malinda asked why the guarantee of the £4.3 million, the British aircraft loan to East African Airways, was not shared with Tanzania and Uganda. The reason for this is that we only guaranteed one-third of the total loan of £12.9 million made to the Airways. There is a similar situation in respect of the guarantee of the £140,000 loan from the National and Grindlays Bank to the East African Common Services Organization, because this loan, which was originally for £250,000, and is now being repaid, was to construct staff housing in Kenya. We therefore guaranteed it ourselves.

The Bill is of great importance to the nation. Many loans which require our guarantee will depend on this Bill, particularly the Railways loan, the loan for the Posts and Telecommunications Administration and the loan for the Tana River Scheme. These are very urgent and therefore I do need to have to guarantee them. Uganda and Tanzania have guaranteed the Railway and the Posts and Telecommunications loan and the World Bank will not let the General Manager, for example, of the Railways spend one cent of that money. He is very anxious to start doing so because he has, on the strength of the successful negotiations of the loan, placed some orders for rolling stock.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move.

(Question put and agreed to)

(The Bill was read a Second Time and committed to a Committee of the whole House tomorrow)

POINT OF ORDER

NOT MORE THAN ONE STAGE OF BILL ON ANY ONE DAY

Mr. Khasakhala: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, what would the position be if the Minister asked for the leave of the House, although it is not on the Order Paper—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No. That was a matter which was the subject of a Communication from the Chair only about a week ago. I explained to hon. Members that I cannot allow anything to be discussed in this House that has not been put on the Order Paper, by way of warning to hon. Members, even if, at the last moment, the House gives leave. The point is that all hon. Members must know that a matter is likely to come on the Order Paper, and that they are going to be asked for leave for it to proceed. So we cannot snap things through in this way.

BILL

Second Reading

THE INCOME TAX (ALLOWANCES, RELIEFS AND RATES) BILL

(Minister for Finance on 27th January 1966)

(Resumption of debate adjourned on 27th January 1966)

The Motion for adjournment was Mr. Anyieni's, so that if he were here to continue speaking, he would be entitled to do so. In his absence, the debate is open to any hon. Member who has not yet spoken.

Mr. Shikuku, you have spoken in the debate. I think.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, I thought Mr. Anyieni had moved that there were some illegal things happening. Are we not speaking on that Motion?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, we are speaking on the Income Tax (Allowances, Reliefs and Rates) Bill, Second Reading.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, I beg your pardon, I thought we had agreed in this House that the debate would be adjourned on this Graduated Personal Tax—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): But this is not the Graduated Personal Tax Bill.

Mr. Shikuku: Oh, I am sorry, this is Income Tax.

Mr. Khasakhala: Mr. Speaker, I would like to say a few words on this Bill.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! An hon. Member, if satisfied with the reply, will probably not wish to pursue it further. His reasons for wishing to pursue it on an adjournment is almost inevitably that he is not satisfied with the reply, however satisfied other Members may be.

Now let us get on. Is any other hon. Member authorized by Mr. Lorema to ask his question?

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Question No. 241

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT ASSISTANT FOR WEST POKOT

Mr. Aremam, on behalf of Mr Lorema, asked the Minister for Housing and Social Services if he could tell the House why there was no community development assistant (woman) in West Pokot District.

The Assistant Minister, Vice-President's Office (Dr. Waiyaki): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply on behalf of the Minister for Housing and Social Services. Community development is a combined operation between the Central Government and the local authority responsible for each area. As each area is ready for community development activities, my Ministry provides a community development officer or assistant community development officer, according to the state of readiness of the people and availability of staff, and the local authority provides the community development assistants, both men and women. The officers of Central Government and assistants of the local authority then work as a team to promote a community spirit and development activities.

My Ministry has, recently, posted an assistant community development officer to West Pokot, and this officer is now awaiting the appointment of assistants by the county council, as he cannot do his job properly until these are available. Any assistance the hon. Member can give by persuading the council to act quickly, would be most appreciated by me and my Ministry.

Mr. Khasakhala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from that reply, is the Assistant Minister aware that West Pokot was left behind in the colonial days and, as a result, much assistance should come from the Government to assist these people? What is he doing to encourage these people, especially in this particular area, who would like to develop, as any other parts of Kenya?

Dr. Waiyaki: I am aware that West Pokot was left behind, Mr. Speaker, Sir, but I think the hon. Member appreciates the fact that the Government is moving fast by providing an assistant community development officer already.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, could he tell the House whether there have been any applications from women who are interested in helping their own people, as the language is one of the problems?

Dr. Waiyaki: I pointed out, Mr. Speaker, Sir, that the assistants, either men or women, had to apply to their local authority. I am not aware that they have applied, because we are pressing the Member to try and assist in getting somebody appointed.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I would remind hon. Members that on the adjournment today, Mr. Kariuki is to raise the matter noted on the Order Paper.

NOTICE OF MOTION FOR THE ADJOURNMENT UNDER S.O. 14

NAIROBI MAYOR'S CAR

Mr. Ngala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, under Standing Order 14, I would like to raise on the adjournment the matter of the Nairobi Mayor's car as an urgent matter of national importance.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! That is undoubtedly a definite matter and urgent. I have to leave it to the House in those circumstances to say whether or not they regard it of sufficient public importance to justify this procedure—Order! Order! I therefore wait to see if ten or more hon. Members stand in support of the proposal.

(A number of hon. Members stood in their places)

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Very well. Then Mr. Ngala will move the adjournment of the House to discuss that matter at 6 p.m. this evening or such earlier time as we conclude the business on the Order Paper.

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I am just seeking your guidance on this because I do remember a question was brought in this House by the hon. Mr. Ndile and that I gave notice of my intention to raise this matter on a Motion for the adjournment. Is that now nullified? There was notice of a Motion for the adjournment on the issue of the Mayor's car.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, this particular Motion for adjournment of the House under Standing Order 14 does not interfere with an ordinary matter raised on the ordinary adjournment. So what happens is that if Mr. Ngala moves this Motion for adjournment at 6 p.m., it continues until 6.30, the ordinary time for the interruption of business, and then we have a Motion for the adjournment of the House for that other matter of Mr. Kariuki's to be raised.

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I think you did not understand me. I remember there was a time in this House when a question was put in connexion with the Mayor's car and I gave notice that I shall raise this matter on adjournment. Now that we are raising this under section 14 of the Standing Orders, does it mean that will not be raised again?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I am sorry. Yes, it would mean that it disposes of the question; we cannot have it over again on an ordinary adjournment. I am sorry, I missed the point.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onoko): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, do you not think that half an hour is too little for this particular issue?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, my opinion was that half an hour would be ample, and I think Mr. Ngala agreed with me.

Mr. Anyalen: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, if the Members of this House wish that this matter should be discussed for a little longer, is there any section in our Standing Orders which could allow Members to be given a little more time; maybe to say that it should start at 5.30 instead of 6?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): This does rest in the discretion of the Speaker. If I really thought that you needed more than half an hour for a matter of this kind, I would certainly give it, but it is a very straightforward issue one way or the other, and I do think that these discussions are better if they are fairly strictly limited in time. Besides, one has to bear in mind the other business we have to get through in the course of this afternoon. In my opinion, half an hour is sufficient for this particular matter to be discussed.

[Mr. Mbogoh] whether there are any difficulties faced by the people who are doing land consolidation in Meru?

Mr. Angalane: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think the people have a saying which says "money speaks". Well, unless the funds are made available, I cannot do anything without money.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, Sir, can the Minister outline his policy for obtaining money to extend the work of consolidation, which is a very pressing problem in our development?

Mr. Angalane: Mr. Speaker, Sir, although that is a different question, I think the hon. Member is aware that the three Kenya Government Ministers have been to Britain, Mr. Gichuru, Mr. McKenzie and myself, to look for money and the British Government has agreed to lend us some money for this purpose.

Question No. 248

STATE HOUSE AT KAKAMEGA

Mr. Godia asked the Minister of State in the President's Office whether he would tell the House what progress was being made with the plan for the establishment of a suitable State House in the provincial headquarters of the Western Province, Kakamega.

The Minister of State, President's Office (Mr. Nyamweya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. I am not aware of any plans by the Government to establish a State House at the provincial headquarters of the Western Province at the present moment.

Maybe, Mr. Speaker, the hon. Member may be referring to a Government house which used to be occupied by the chairman of the provincial council during the Mojimbo days. This house is being looked after and maintained by the Provincial Commissioner, Western Province. I cannot say whether this house will, in future, be made a State House or not, as this will depend on whether or not the Government would want to have a State House at Kakamega. Investigations, however, are being carried out into the possibility of establishing State Houses in all provinces. If Western Province proves a suitable place—and I sincerely hope it will—for the establishment of one, consideration will be given to the matter, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Godia: Mr. Speaker, Sir, will the Minister assure the House that he will give this question very immediate consideration, since the last visit by His Excellency to the Western Province was cut short due to the lack of suitable and comfortable accommodation in the province?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have two points to make. First of all there is a correction: The Government does not intend to establish State Houses. We have only one State House and that is up here. What I meant, Sir, was a State Lodge, and that is what the Government is looking into, the establishment of State Lodges at appropriate places.

The second point I want to make, Mr. Speaker, is that I was not aware that His Excellency, the President's tour was cut short in the Western Province because of lack of accommodation. We are aware that the President can always make use of the comfortable accommodation which is available in the district and, at some places, he has used the houses occupied by district commissioners. There is no question of trying to put up a luxurious place for this particular purpose.

Mr. Khasakhala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from that reply, is the Minister aware that Kakamega is a provincial headquarters, and yet there is no hotel to cater for His Excellency when he comes to visit? As a result of this, Kakamega should be given priority in this consideration.

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the district commissioner's house is sufficient to cater for the comfort of His Excellency, the President, the Ministers or any other politician. As a matter of fact, Sir, the moment we move to do what we are asked to do, we would get ourselves into trouble over the question of dignity and other things.

Mr. Masinde: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from a number of the Minister's replies, is the Minister aware that, up to date, there are provinces where there are big and beautiful hotels and in which have been established State Lodges, such as Kisumu and Mombasa, but in Kakamega, where there is not even a hotel, there is nothing and, as a result, the President has to tour across the border and sleep in a different country? For that reason, Kakamega should qualify for first priority.

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I was in Kakamega about a week ago. I agree that there is no hotel, but that is not a justification for building a State Lodge. Mr. Speaker, Sir, the President, the Vice-President, and any other Minister is prepared to be entertained and received in the houses of all these hon. Members.

I agree, Mr. Speaker, that Kakamega, as a provincial headquarters, lacks certain facilities for tourists and some people who would like to spend a weekend in Kakamega. This is a matter

[Mr. Nyamweya] for the tourist corporation to take up and own the hon. Members to build a hotel of their own.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the very amusing and almost arrogant reply by the Minister, is he aware that the—you look worse than kindergarten children.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, is he aware that Kakamega Province, as such, is also entitled to the dignity which the other provinces have, and it is also important that a lodge for the President should be established in Kakamega rather than him sleeping at the home of the district commissioner and interfering with the district commissioner's family?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I sincerely hope the hon. Member for Butere did not mean that I have been arrogant to the House. I would only like to suggest to the hon. Member, much as I deprecate the lack of facilities in Kakamega, that the construction of a State Lodge will not remedy the situation, because that will be preferred for some particular persons. What I am suggesting, Mr. Speaker, is for the hon. Members of this province to encourage the people of Western Province to build a hotel which can take the business.

Mr. Masinde: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, is it in order for the hon. Minister to stand in this House and divert the House from the actual question, because we have seen State Lodges established in various other places. Why is he trying to mislead the House that Kakamega is different?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I cannot see any valid point of order there.

Mr. Mbogoh: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, an hon. Member has just stated here that the other hon. Members are worse than kindergarten children, how parliamentary is that language, Mr. Speaker?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I am afraid I did not hear it because of the noise, but it is not parliamentary. Mr. Nyamweya, had you finished replying when you were interrupted?

Mr. Nyamweya: I had not actually, Mr. Speaker, Sir, but I was interrupted. The last thing I was going to say to the hon. Member for Butere was that the question of dignity should not be brought into the construction of a State Lodge. We must separate the construction of a State Lodge and hotel accommodation.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): We are going back now to Mr. Lorema's question.

NOTICE OF MOTION FOR THE ADJOURNMENT

UNSATISFACTORY REPLY TO QUESTION NO. 248: STATE HOUSE AT KAKAMEGA

Mr. Masinde: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that we have had a very unsatisfactory reply to this question, I would like to raise this matter on adjournment.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I would remind hon. Members that this is a point of order. You wish to raise it on adjournment, Mr. Masinde?

Mr. Masinde: Yes, Sir.

POINT OF ORDER

UNSATISFACTORY REPLIES TO QUESTIONS

The Assistant Minister for Lands and Settlement (Mr. Gachago): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, as this House actually determines whether an answer is satisfactory or not, and in this case the House has shouted its disapproval of what the hon. Member suggested, will you still allow it to be raised as a matter on adjournment?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes. Any hon. Member is entitled to give notice of his desire to raise on an adjournment any matter, whether in answer to a question or otherwise, which he regards as unsatisfactory. The matter will be tested further when it is raised.

Mr. Bataha: Mr. Speaker, Sir, on a point of order, what is the position if the questioner is objecting to this matter being raised on adjournment?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I do not like having to answer the same question over and over again. This particular one I have answered at least twice before. Any hon. Member is entitled to state his intention of pursuing a question on an adjournment, except that the Member who asked the original question has the first claim to do so. If he wishes to exercise that right, he is given priority. If he does not wish to exercise that right, he has no power to stop some other Member raising it. Do we have to keep going on with points of order?

The Assistant Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Kibaki): On a point of order, Sir, it is the habit of most Members to preface their intention to raise matters on adjournment by saying that the reply has been most unsatisfactory. Mr. Speaker, Sir, is this in order, would it not be sufficient for a Member to say he intends to raise the matter on adjournment, particularly in view of the fact that the question was most satisfactorily replied to?

Mr. Kuman: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am giving the reason, and you also will agree with me, that there are many medical assistants who are qualified sufficiently to be made doctors.

Mr. Speaker, the simple reason for my question is that we have seen that we have very able and capable medical assistants, and we have also discovered that in some of our hospitals they have some doctors who are not even qualified like these people.

Mr. Otiende: Mr. Speaker, Sir, with due respect to medical assistants and clinical assistants, I do not think they would like to be called doctors. But I am sure they are doing a useful job in their proper place now. There is no possibility of turning them into doctors unless they go out for further training and become fully qualified doctors. We have arranged courses for them and, if they go through those courses, maybe, eventually, they will become doctors.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Next question.

UNSATISFACTORY REPLY TO QUESTION No. 210: FULL-TIME MEDICAL OFFICER FOR THOMSON'S FALLS

Mr. G. G. Kariuki: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the very unsatisfactory answer to this question, I wish to raise the matter on adjournment.

Question No. 256

HOSPITAL STATUS FOR AHERO HEALTH CENTRE

Mr. Bala asked the Minister for Health whether, in view of the very heavy demands on accommodation for in-patients at the Ahero Health Centre, he would raise the status of the centre to that of a hospital.

The Minister for Health (Mr. Otiende): Mr. Speaker, Sir, we in the Ministry are always considering health centres with a view to promoting them to small hospitals, especially if they are in very remote areas where transportation is difficult. The Ahero Health Centre happens to be only fifteen miles from Kisumu on a beautiful tarmac road. We know that there is congestion there and we are considering, in future, when the time comes, giving Ahero priority in comparison with other health centres.

Mr. Bala: Mr. Speaker, arising from the Minister's reply, is he aware that this health centre is not catering for people from Kisumu but catering for people from places like Kusa, right at the lake shore, where there is no road, and places like Sidho East, and, therefore, the question of tarmac roads should not arise because this centre does not cater for Kisumu Township?

Mr. Otiende: Mr. Speaker, I have said that Ahero will be considered, along with other health centres, when the time comes, when this planning period is finished, for up-grading it to the status of cottage hospital.

Mr. Mbogohi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that Ahero is only fifteen miles from Kisumu, and since we are building a wonderful hospital at Kisumu, would the Minister think in terms of making Ahero a wing of the Kisumu Hospital instead of considering it separately?

Mr. Otiende: Mr. Speaker, when considering Ahero, I had in mind all the facilities which will be provided at Kisumu.

Mr. Omweri: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the hon. Minister's reply, concerning the distance, and the services that Kisumu Hospital gives, in connexion with Ahero Health Centre, is the Minister not aware that Kisumu is not merely a hospital for the area in the immediate vicinity but caters for a very large area indeed, including Western Province and as far down as the Homa Bay District, and therefore this should be given more consideration?

Mr. Otiende: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have said that I have considered all the circumstances of Kisumu being almost a general hospital for Western Kenya when considering Ahero Health Centre.

Mr. Anyleni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that Kisumu Hospital is a big hospital, and in view of the fact that the Russians are putting up another hospital near Kisumu, would the Minister consider providing free transport from Ahero to Kisumu for the patients who need to be detained in the hospital so that they can receive medical treatment at Kisumu instead of having so many hospitals in one place?

Mr. Otiende: Mr. Speaker, there is an ambulance service. Anybody who needs to be put into bed can always be rushed to Kisumu Hospital in a matter of minutes. The question that arises here is about those people who live in the inaccessible interior, both to the east and west of Ahero.

Mr. Ngala-Aboki: Mr. Speaker, Sir, when the Minister is considering turning this health centre into a cottage hospital, will he consider starting right now digging big trenches or holes for drainage around this place because it is usually flooded during the heavy rains?

Mr. Otiende: Mr. Speaker, that is one of the reasons why Ahero perhaps might remain a health centre longer than usual. As far as the question of geography is concerned, I am sorry that I cannot commit my Ministry unless I consult my colleague, the Minister for Works.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Next question.

Question No. 216

LAND CONSOLIDATION IN MURANG'A

Mr. Kagga: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, as part (ii) of my question has now been answered, I would only like to ask part (i).

Mr. Kagga asked the Minister for Lands and Settlement if, in view of many complaints in connexion with land consolidation which were given to the Minister when he visited Murang'a on 20th September 1965 and in view of the promise he made at Mugoiri on the same day, that he was going to visit Locations 3 and 13 to see for himself, he could tell the House what he intended to do to correct the mistakes which he did agree had been committed in Location 8.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Angaine, Mr. Kagga would like you to answer only the first part of the question, apparently.

The Minister for Lands and Settlement (Mr. Angaine): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. Investigations are being carried out on complaints which were lodged in Location 8 in connexion with land consolidation in the area; and the hon. Member for Kandara can rest assured that my Ministry will not hesitate to take action to rectify any mistakes that come to light.

Mr. Kagga: Mr. Speaker, Sir, while thanking the Minister for visiting Locations 3 and 13, would he tell me how long this investigation will take, because he must be aware that these complaints have been outstanding for a long time; and in view of the promise he gave when he visited the location, that as soon as he reached his office, he would consult his colleagues and would let us know what he was going to do, what has he done about it?

Mr. Angaine: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not know whether the hon. Member does roam around his constituency, but my officer is there now doing his duty.

Mr. Kagga: Mr. Speaker, Sir, whilst this location is not in my constituency, I should like to hear and know from the Minister how long this officer will take to carry out his investigation.

Mr. Angaine: Well, Sir, I cannot tell the hon. Member when the work will be completed, but as soon as my officer completes his job I will report to the hon. Member, if he wishes me to.

Mr. Kaman: Mr. Speaker, Sir, as there are so many similar complaints in the Central Province, will the Minister also investigate the whole of the Central Province—

The Speaker (Mr. Speaker): Oh no, Mr. Kaman, that is getting beyond the question. Next question.

Question No. 229

LAND CONSOLIDATION IN MERU

Mr. Mate asked the Minister for Lands and Settlement how many locations of Meru had so far completed land consolidation. Of the remaining locations, when did the Government consider that consolidation would be completed.

The Minister for Lands and Settlement (Mr. Angaine): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. There are three locations in Meru that have, so far, completed land consolidation: namely, Upper Abothunguchi, Kebirichia and Kiriua. Land consolidation started on the upper areas bordering the forest and is, gradually, extending down to the lower areas. There are twenty-two sub-locations in the remaining locations that have been demarcated, out of which, twelve are ready for the issue of title deeds. Nkueen and Abogeta Locations have got but six sub-locations to complete. Land consolidation teams are spread all over the district, except for Nyambene Division, which will be started as soon as funds are available. If more money was made available, it is possible to complete the entire district in five years, but, at the present rate, it may take up to ten years.

I believe, however, that the hon. Member for Meru Central is aware that there is a commission which is at present investigating how this work could be accelerated throughout the country.

Mr. Mate: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that Meru was left behind out of the other former Central Province districts, would the Minister make sure that some money is made available to ensure that Meru hurries up over getting title deeds, which means getting money from banks and other bodies which loan money?

Mr. Angaine: Yes, Sir.

Mr. Mbogohi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the very slow progress followed in Meru of land consolidation, can the Minister tell this House

Question No. 238

PROMOTION OF AFRICAN MUSIC

Mr. Kerich asked the Minister for Education to tell the House what Government was doing to promote African music and to have such music and songs written down and taught in schools.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. It is a well-known fact that singing is, and has been, a lively feature of all Kenya schools, the climax of which is evidenced by the colourful annual school festivals held here in Nairobi and subscribed to by children of all races.

It is also known that, during these festivals, children of all races are encouraged to demonstrate singing or dancing belonging to their cultural background. For instance, all African choirs must sing an African tribal song and very often these are composed by the schools themselves. This way a useful reservoir of songs has been accumulated and certain amount of writing of African music has been done.

A School of Music is in the process of being started and, all being well, it should start in the very near future at Kenyatta College, where teachers will get advanced and better training facilities. It is also hoped that when this school is well staffed, it will be able to do research and writing of African music.

Mr. Kerich: Mr. Speaker, Sir, could the Assistant Minister tell us the date when this School of Music is going to be started?

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, Sir, as soon as possible.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, will the Assistant Minister agree with me that the African music which he is talking about, is more tribal music because there is no centralization from where this music would be taught, where the teachers would be taught and, as such, would the Government consider establishing a centralized place where African music could be started, and learned, so that it could be made more or less uniform in the whole country?

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, Sir, this is exactly what I have said in my original reply. In my original reply, Sir, I said that a School of Music is in the process of being started and, as soon as this is started, then we shall centralize all this singing.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, when does the Assistant Minister and the Government intend to set up this centralized music school?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): The Assistant Minister has answered that question.

Mr. Anyieni: When?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): He said, as soon as possible, in answer to a previous question.

Question No. 217

ONE EMPLOYER FOR ALL TEACHERS

Mr. Godia asked the Minister for Education whether the Minister would tell the House who the one employer of the teachers was and the conditions under which the teachers work now being employed as a result of the recommendations of the recent Teachers' Commission.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. The commission referred to by the hon. Member was set up in November, to advise the Minister on various problems affecting the teaching service. This commission made no recommendation for the provision of one employer for teachers as that was not part of its mandate. The question of one employer for teachers is, at present, under active consideration by the Government and a decision is expected to be made shortly. In the meantime, Sir, there is no change in the employment of teachers.

Mr. Godia: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Assistant Minister not aware that the teachers want the Ministry of Education to be the one employer?

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, Sir, if that is the wish and want of the teachers, then it will not depend on the recommendations of the Government. As I said earlier, this is being reviewed and a decision will be made shortly by the Government.

Mr. Mate: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Assistant Minister agree with me that this confusion about teachers is one of the legacies of imperialism, and why can the Kenya Government not make up their minds and become the one employer?

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I cannot agree with the suggestion by the hon. Member, because the hon. Member has not told me where else in the world the teachers are employed by one particular Ministry of Government.

Mr. Omweri: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, where he says that one employer was not included in the terms of reference of this commission, does he not contradict what he told us last week, that Government had set up a commission to inquire into this position, and that it would report soon?

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, Sir, no, I am not contradicting myself. I think the hon. Member might be contradicting himself. What I said, Sir, and I think I had better explain in detail. The question has, perhaps, been confused about two separate bodies, namely the board of inquiry set up by the Minister for Labour to inquire into the dispute between the Kenya National Union of Teachers, and the Ministry of Education, and the Teachers Service Commission set up by the Minister for Education to advise the Ministry on all matters affecting the teaching service.

Mr. Omweri: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from that reply, is the Assistant Minister not aware that a teachers' service would not be complete unless one employer were considered and, in that case, the commission has to cover that part as well?

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not know how far I can go with this point, but I thought I did tell the House that the question of one employer is currently under Government consideration and until and unless a decision is reached by various Ministries on this particular point, my Ministry cannot make a decision alone.

UNSATISFACTORY REPLY TO QUESTION NO. 217:
ONE EMPLOYER FOR ALL TEACHERS

Mr. Masinde: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that we have had a very unsatisfactory reply from the Assistant Minister, I would like to raise this matter on adjournment.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It was Mr. Godia's question. Are you content that Mr. Masinde should raise it, Mr. Godia?

Mr. Godia: Yes, Sir.

Question No. 210

FULL-TIME MEDICAL OFFICER FOR THOMSON'S FALLS

Mr. G. G. Kuriki asked the Minister for Health why it had not been possible to provide Thomson's Fall Hospital with a full-time medical officer.

The Minister for Health (Mr. Otiende): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. My Ministry is actively considering posting a full-time medical officer of health at Thomson's Falls Hospital, despite the acute shortage of doctors. There is already a doctor at this hospital doing the work. It is only a question of designation.

Mr. G. G. Kuriki: Mr. Speaker, can the Minister tell the House the number of out-patients and in-patients during the last two years in Thomson's Falls Hospital?

Mr. Otiende: Mr. Speaker, I did not prepare myself, because the question did not ask the figures; I thought it only dealt with the doctor, but I will provide the figures to the Member if he wants them.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, Sir, will the Minister tell the House whether, in appointing a doctor to this hospital, he will look into the efficiency and experience of the doctor concerned, because many of these district hospitals are now manned by doctors who are very careless and inefficient?

Mr. Otiende: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to have examples from the hon. Member of any district hospital with a doctor who is inefficient. I am sure, as soon as it is pointed out, we will rectify the position.

However, in Thomson's Falls, it is a lucky thing that we have a very efficient doctor there, as everyone knows.

Mr. Gtchoya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from one of the Minister's replies, may we know what are the criteria which enables a medical officer of health, or a doctor to be designated as such?

Mr. Otiende: A medical officer of health, Sir, is merely a doctor, but he is called medical officer of health because he happens to be in charge of not only a hospital but of a district; it is merely a Government title. It is nothing to do with his profession as a doctor, because he is looking after a district. He must look after public health as well as the medical side; he is doing both the curative and preventive side of medicine.

Mr. Kamau: Mr. Speaker, could the Minister tell this House how soon he is going to post the doctor to that hospital, because it seems that he is greatly needed? Secondly—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): One question at a time, Mr. Kamau.

Mr. Otiende: I can say that the doctor is already there, Sir.

Mr. Kamau: Mr. Speaker, Sir, could the Minister tell this House when he is prepared to promote African hospital assistants, who are now known as medical assistants, to the position of doctor, for the simple reason—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order!

COMMUNICATION FROM THE CHAIR

SENATE AGREEMENT TO BILL

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Hon. Members, I have to inform the House of a message received from the Senate, that the Senate has agreed to the Board of Adult Education Bill without amendment, on Wednesday, 2nd February 1966.

NOTICES OF MOTIONS

PRICES FOR SETTLEMENT SCHEME LAND

Mr. G. G. Kariuki: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to give notice of the following Motion:—

THAT this House being aware of the serious need for the promotion of settlement schemes in this country and particularly in those most unfortunate districts where settlement schemes have not yet been introduced, and in view of the very high prices paid during the last purchasing period of the present scheme, this House urges the Government to make sure that no land obtained for settlement purposes costs the Government more than £10 an acre.

IMPLEMENTATION OF MOTIONS PASSED IN THE HOUSE

Mr. Kerich: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to give notice of the following Motion:—

THAT in view of the fact that so many Motions have been passed in this House and have not been implemented, this House requires the Government to state categorically whether it intends to rule by decree, using Parliament as a rubber-stamp and as a junior partner, or set up parliamentary committees to investigate ways and means and to advise the Government how to implement such Motions.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Omweri, are you ready to give notice of your Motion?—

Mr. Omweri: Yes, Sir.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Well, give it then.

BUSINESS PARTICIPATION BY AFRICANS

Mr. Omweri: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to give notice of the following Motion:—

THAT this House deprecates the conduct of certain Asian traders in Kisumu Town and elsewhere who engage themselves in persuading the members of co-operative societies to break away from their unions, and interfere in agencies which should have gone to African traders, and also undercut in prices other traders; and urges the Government to take steps to curb such activities, thereby enabling new African businessmen to participate beneficially in the country's economy.

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I regret, hon. Members, that there are two mistakes in the list of questions today. Question No. 203, which appears on the Order Paper first, was actually a question for a written reply, so it will not be answered in the House today. The last question, marked Question No. 208, is actually the same as Question No. 205, which appears second on the Order Paper.

Question No. 205

AFRICANIZATION: LIVESTOCK OFFICER, KERICHO

Mr. arap Sol asked the Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry:—

(a) When was the Livestock Officer, Kericho, going to be Africanized.

(b) How long had the officer holding the above post stayed in the district.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. The answer to the first part is: Immediately we get an African qualified livestock officer to replace him. The answer to the second part is that he has been there for two years.

Mr. arap Sol: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Minister tell the House how many Africans who completed such courses at Egerton College last year, came out and were not posted to Kericho?

Mr. Osogo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the House is well aware that my Ministry is short of livestock officers and, as such, those that come out are posted to places that need them badly. But I have not had any complaints about inefficiency of this officer. He does two jobs in that place. He is specialized in artificial insemination, which is starting in Kericho District, and we need him there for that purpose. However, in July this year, about sixteen Kenya students are coming out of Egerton College, who will be qualified livestock officers, and it may be possible to post one there, from the new lot.

Mr. arap Sol: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Minister take steps to see that the disease which is killing a very big number of cattle in Bomet Division is investigated? The livestock officer in [Mr. arap Sol] Kericho District should visit the area, and my complaint is that this officer is not visiting the area.

Mr. Osogo: I am glad, Mr. Speaker, that the hon. Member is not suggesting that this particular officer is the one who has caused this disease, but if a general complaint like the one which the hon. Member has raised, Mr. Speaker, comes to my Ministry, it is our duty to go there by using any fast means—including a jet—to get to the place.

Mr. Kerich: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Assistant Minister assure the House that he is going to instruct that officer to visit all the areas in question?

Mr. Osogo: In fact, Sir, we are sure this officer has been doing what the hon. Member is asking, but if he has not been doing this, I will instruct him tomorrow, by telephone to visit the hon. Member's home.

Question No. 214

NG'YA GIRLS' HIGH SCHOOL: DOUBLE STREAM

Mr. Obok asked the Minister for Education if he would disclose the reasons which had led him to eliminate Ng'ya Girls' High School from the priority list of development of double streams in 1966.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. Like many other schools, Ng'ya Girls' School was eliminated from the Ministry's development programme for 1966 because of a policy decision to expand a smaller number of schools to three-stream status, instead of developing a larger number to one and two-stream status, in order to attract a World Bank Loan.

Mr. Obok: Does this mean that we take dictation by the World Bank or any other loaning agency?

Mr. Mutiso: No, Sir, our Government is not going to be dictated to by the World Bank, but will pursue its own policy.

Mr. Muliro: Arising from that reply, Sir, if the Government of Kenya pursues its own policy, would the Assistant Minister tell us why Ng'ya School was eliminated from the development as a secondary school?

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, I thought I had answered that question, but I would like to inform the hon. Member that Ng'ya Girls' Secondary School, as with many other secondary schools, was to be considered for development with aid from the World Bank, and the World Bank has suggested that, in order to make use of their loan, it would be necessary to concentrate the loan in a given area. Ng'ya, like many other schools, was to be eliminated pending the Development Plan for the next year.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, Sir, will the Assistant Minister agree with me that the Government and the country is grateful to the World Bank for the work it is doing and for the help it is giving the country, and that Ng'ya Girls' School remains, just like any other schools remain, but this does not mean that the World Bank dictates to the country or eliminates some schools?

Mr. Mutiso: I totally agree with him, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Masinde: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, would the Minister agree with me that Ng'ya School was eliminated from the development programme of Nyanza Province as a result of the recommendations of the World Bank, which suggested helping some other places.

Mr. Mutiso: No, Sir.

Mr. Bala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, would the Assistant Minister inform the House what alternative resources, or alternative sources of loans, do the Kenya Government expect, apart from the World Bank?

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, I am sure the House is well aware of our financial position, but like any other development, the Government does look around and get some loans in order to facilitate development and, regarding the question posed by the hon. Member, the Government has various sources, of which it has its own plans which do not necessarily follow on the aid from the World Bank.

NOTICE OF MOTION FOR THE ADJOURNMENT

UNSATISFACTORY REPLY TO QUESTION NO. 214: NG'YA GIRLS' HIGH SCHOOL

Mr. Muliro: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, because of the most unsatisfactory reply from the Assistant Minister, I would like to raise this as a Motion on the adjournment.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes. You agree to this, Mr. Obok?

Mr. Obok: Yes, Sir.

[Mr. Mwamzandi] the Indians, have been telling us. Can any Coast Member deny that? It is a fact. If they are not pocketed, then why can they not show it now?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! No, I have said on other occasions that when an hon. Member is required to substantiate, it is no answer for him to say, let them prove the contrary. Your substantiation, I understand, is what you have heard from Arabs and Indians at the Coast?

Mr. Mwamzandi: Yes, Sir.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I must warn hon. Members that they must be careful about what they hear, particularly from self-confessed accomplices.

The Assistant Minister for Lands and Settlement (Mr. Gachago): Mr. Speaker, Sir, the allegation actually alleged that the Cabinet has been pocketed by the Arabs, it did refer to individual Ministers when they go down to the Coast, and so it gives the impression that the Cabinet is run by Arabs, which is not correct. Could the hon. Member substantiate, and tell this House, giving details, how the Cabinet is actually pocketed by the Arabs?

Mr. Mwamzandi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I did not say that the Cabinet was run by the Arabs, I said that the Cabinet, and when I say the Cabinet, I mean not necessarily all of them but it might be one, two or three of them, who are pocketed by these Arabs.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Well now you are being asked for particulars.

Mr. Mwamzandi: What particulars?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): We were talking about the Cabinet, or you were, were you not? Well now, Mr. Gachago, quite justifiably, is asking which Members of the Cabinet and exactly what the circumstances are. You know, when you make allegations, people are entitled to question you quite closely as to what you are alleging and why. So, you must tell us a bit more about it, Mr. Mwamzandi.

Mr. Mwamzandi: Well, Sir, I will not speak of particulars, but if the Assistant Ministers have several farms with Arabs on that area—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): If you will not give particulars when asked, you will have to withdraw.

Mr. Mwamzandi: I shall withdraw, because I will embarrass some of my Ministers.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Before you go on Mr. Mwamzandi, I would warn you and other Members that you must not make statements of this kind, such serious allegations, unless you are prepared to substantiate up to the hilt. You must keep calm on these things.

Mr. Mwamzandi: Mr. Speaker, what I really want to explain to the Minister who will answer this question is that land ownership at the Coast was attained very badly and not in the right form; we were all called squatters. We want the background of how this was obtained brought to the House. We know that we have a Commission of Squatters. Do you believe in that commission, and if you do, why cannot the Government work on the recommendations made by that commission? If the Government finds it difficult to recommend this, we want its findings to be brought into this House for discussion. I know, Sir, that the Minister who will answer will say that the Government has such officers at the Coast to look into the land, such officers to look into this, but we have never seen these officers, Sir, except this Commissioner for Squatters whose proposals are never effected.

Another thing, Mr. Speaker, if it should be difficult to bring the findings to this House why cannot this same Government, as I say, sit together and arbitrate between the Africans and the landlords? As I said, this should be done before it becomes worse for the squatters who will find a way of getting their own master plan to settle their own problems? I will repeat, Mr. Speaker, that yesterday we heard of the Ukunda problem. We do not know what will happen at Malindi tomorrow, so the Government must be careful on this point.

With those few remarks, Mr. Speaker, I beg to move.

Mr. Ngala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to support this Motion, because, if nothing is done on the land problem at the Coast, there is going to be an explosion which I think will be very difficult for the Government to contain afterwards. In fact, I would warn the Government so that, if they are careful, they could take action before things go bad.

The Motion, I think, is asking for an investigation, because the present landlords, the Arabs and the Asians, are foreigners. They are foreigners who conspired with the British Government during the colonial times to steal our land. Because they conspired in those days, when we did not know what was going on in the circles of the Sultan's régime and in the circles of the British Government, I think it is very fair that the method of acquiring this land in the past should be gone into and any unfairness should be redressed.

[Mr. Ngala]

Mr. Speaker, Sir, in 1895 there was an agreement between the Sultan's government with the British. Now, this agreement between foreigners gave powers to the British Government and also gave powers to the Sultan's government to take our land away. We do not understand this. Exactly as the Sultan has gone, all his agreement with this country should also go. Therefore, we do not understand why this country should obey these unnecessary agreements made by foreigners, particularly as now we have our sovereignty and we have our own African authority. I think we should use this sovereignty which we have to put right what has been wrongly done in the past. The requirement of the land at the Coast is one of the things that shows very clearly a gross injustice to the peoples on the Coast.

In 1908, Mr. Speaker, Sir about fifty-five years ago, the Arab régime then introduced what they called landlords. The landlords said that a person had the right to claim. Our people did not know how to read and write then. They did not read any official gazette, they had no chance at all to be told of anything, but these things were published (in darkness as far as our people were concerned) and afterwards the Arabs claimed the land and got the land. That is not fair. I am asking the Government to make sure that whatever laws were made in 1908 are deleted from the Laws of Kenya and they should re-open the whole matter so that the African should also have a chance of owning land.

Now, we are not just asking for settlement schemes in this Motion; we are asking that the whole issue of acquiring the land at the Coast should be re-examined, so that the present landlords, who then acquired it wrongly, should be replaced by the Africans who are the rightful owners. That is what the Motion is asking.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, in Marlborough House last year agreements were made. We feel that the land item on this agreement should be looked into again, even if it means amending the Constitution. I think the Government will see the need for doing this so that the Coast people can realise that there is Uhuru, and that there are fruits of Uhuru.

The other day I took Mr. Angaine, the Minister for Lands, to the Coast and everywhere we went we saw the squatters. I turned round to him and to his Land Commissioner, they both said that they did not know what to do with the colonial laws. These are the people in authority, they are the people with the sovereignty, they should repeal these laws.

The Vice-President went to Malindi and Kilifi the other day and he just said, "We do not know what to do." Now, if they do not know what to do, why are they holding the authority, why are they holding the sovereignty? It is time that they gave place to somebody else to run the country if they cannot do it.

Mr. Speaker, my interest is that we should govern the country well. That is my interest. We should make the changes that are required by the people. Our people feel that fact that they have been mistreated by the British Government in the past, and by the Sultan's Government and now the African Government is continuing on the same lines, and they feel very bitter about this. Now, it is because we like this Government that we are criticising it, Mr. Speaker, it is because we like it. We do not want to wait until somebody disturbs the Government seriously; we are warning them that this is the time for them to get to work.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to say that there is a need to amend the Constitution so that the land problems at the Coast can be put right. I would like to say that we have these problems and they must be put right. The Special Commission for Squatters is not enough, it is no good just trying to patch up this thing; it should be pulled down and there should be no patching up at all, so that it is put right from the beginning to the end.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to urge the Minister who will reply to make it quite clear in his mind that we are not asking for settlement schemes; we are asking for the injustice of the past to be put right so that the African owns his own land as elsewhere. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

ADJOURNMENT

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It is now time for the interruption of business. The House is adjourned until Tuesday, 8th February, at 2.30 p.m.

The House rose at thirty minutes past Twelve o'clock.

[Mr. Mwangandi] Speaker, I hope the Government will give thought to that and, in future, we will receive some attention, some services, from the Cabinet.

So, Mr. Speaker, Sir, with those few remarks, I beg to urge the Government once more to look into that and I agree with the amendment. I beg to move the amended Motion.

(Question of the Motion as amended put and agreed to)

Resolved accordingly:

THAT in view of the Harambee initiative employed by Kipsigis as far back as 1948 in building permanent and modern primary and intermediate schools, health-centres and water supplies without requesting the then Colonial Government for any grants, this House notes with appreciation the beautiful work done by the Kipsigis and urges the Government to continue promoting such projects as more secondary school streams, health centres, piped water supplies during the planning period 1964/70.

MOTION

NON-AFRICAN OWNERSHIP OF COASTAL LAND: INQUIRY

Mr. Mwangandi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move the following Motion:—

THAT in view of the fact that Africans in the former Coastal Strip are all described as "squatters", as if the Asian and Arab landowners were more African than the Africans themselves, this House urges the Government to form a special commission to investigate the historical background of how the Arab and Asians got this land and to bring the findings to this House for discussion.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I see that there is an alteration in the first line from what appears in the Order Paper. Instead of "Coast", you want to say "former Coastal Strip"?

Mr. Mwangandi: Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): That is all right.

Mr. Mwangandi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, this land problem in the former Coastal Strip is a problem that will make the Government unsettled. The situation at present is worse and that is why we come to this House to ask the Government to do something about this land problem.

Mr. Speaker, the land problem in the former Coastal Strip extends to the border of Kenya and Tanzania and then down to Mafua. The way this land at the Coast was acquired was not the right way in which land should be acquired generally. The Arabs and the Asians, who might be Indians or Goans, came to our land and generally, according to our custom, we were not hostile at the Coast and we invited them to stay with us. Unfortunately, these people whom we had invited, Mr. Speaker, knew how to read and write and they knew about the legalities of land and they sent claims to the land they were living on to the recorder of titles so as to get title deeds to the pieces of lands which belonged to us. That is why today we face such trouble over land.

For example, let me go down to Vanga, where we have an old Arab town. All the people with black skins, Mr. Speaker, are complete strangers; they live on Arab land. In most cases, we pay rent to these people. Formerly, Mr. Speaker, during the colonial régime, these same Arabs took very little interest in their land, and we established trees and houses on these pieces of land. But immediately we attained our independence, things became worse.

Let us consider why the squatter problem was not as big then as it is today. We might blame our own public officers, that perhaps they gave them much support to the land. At the same time, I know these landlords became worried and at the time of the Marlborough House Conference, they wanted assurances over this land. They began these troubles to test the Government and see if it really meant what it said. But, at the same time, the Government must see that it is the poor African, the man who voted for this Government, who will be suffering to benefit an Asian.

Take the trouble which you heard about yesterday, Mr. Speaker, from the question about the incidents at Ukunda, on Oberhauser's farm. It was an African policeman, African squatters and African district officer, perhaps with African surveyors, who were fighting, African against Africans, whereas Oberhauser is quietly and happily in Nakuru, enjoying freedom. The Africans were fighting each other to safeguard a European's farm, when the landlord himself was not present.

So, Sir, the Government must consider how to tackle this problem. Shall we leave the poor Africans to suffer? Can the Government agree to see the poor Africans suffer for the protection of one European? This is not the right way.

Take another example, that of the Kenya Sugar Company Ltd., which has over 41,000 acres which has never been made use of for a long time. Today, Sir, these poor people, who never knew that the land belonged to the Kenya Sugar Company, have, some of them, been forced to leave the area. We have taken the Commissioner for [Mr. Mwangandi] Squatters to that area. To speak the truth, Mr. Speaker, we see no fruits. Everything or every thing has come to the landlord. What is this Government doing? We did not stay on those pieces of land knowing that the land belonged to 12 Indian. We knew the land was ours.

Let the Government now arbitrate between the landlord and the squatters. Take, for example, the story of a dam which was broken last year. These people today have been forced to get off that land. The landlord said he could offer alternative land for these people. Our own administrative officers, district commissioners, came to a meeting and said that the Government had decided that the land must be built on and so the people would have to leave that area. What consideration was made of that poor African who had lived on that land and who might be landless soon? We must think of these people. And if the Government recognizes the Chemsori Commission, why does the Government not follow up the proposals made by that gentleman?

Mr. Speaker, Sir, some of the Ministers have said that it is costly and even the Vice-President has already commented that the Digos or the people at the Coast should talk together with the landlords and the Government and try to get some land for the Africans. They will not deny that his goal was good. The Coast people are lazy and they are asleep. We must, Sir, if the Government is not going to show that it can help the public, help ourselves. If the Africans up-country were lazy, then we would not have attained our independence, but when they find out that they were not happy in this world they formed the Mau Mau, and, with the help of other tribes, we have attained our independence. So, Sir, today I tell you that it is no good waiting until the Coast people have found a way of helping themselves, because it will be too late. It will be too late, Mr. Speaker. Do not wait, Sir. I feel that if the Government waits until the Coast draws up its master plan, then it will be bad. The Arabs and the Indians are not enough—it would not take a day if the Coast decided to act like Zanzibar, and I am sure that if the Government is not going to stand for it, then most people will act the same way.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have been with several landlords who have agreed to offer several pieces of land to these poor Africans, but the administrative officers or the Ministers, themselves, would not like to have this move taken. This move must be appreciated, because those Indians alone cannot occupy the whole Coast. In Mombasa, every small hut in Mombasa is placed on Arab land.

Were the Arabs born in this land? Were these Arabs born in Kenya? As soon as you leave Nyalí Bridge, it is Arab land right up until you get to Malindi. But, Sir, where are we and our Government? There you see Ministers sitting idle, not even showing any mercy to these poor Africans. Funnily enough, Mr. Speaker, Sir, these same Arabs and Asians are assured by our own Ministers, perhaps even by the President, when he goes down to the Coast. We have very little time to see them at the Coast. If we want to see the President, we go to Mr. Mathu and he tells us that there is no time for us to see the President, but these Arabs see the President or the Ministers any time they like. Why should this happen?

Mr. Somo: Because of the girls.

Mr. Mwangandi: But, Sir, these girls are married. Why should they behave like that, they are married? Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is very sad. This Commissioner of Squatters has written down how this land was acquired by the Arabs. It was acquired freely, but yet the Cabinet would not recommend anything, yet if they go forward to the landlords they could come to an agreement. If they do not recognise Chemsori's Commission, then let another Commission be formed, Mr. Speaker. Its findings, Sir, should be brought to this House, which would perhaps make people feel much more sympathetic towards the African rather than the Cabinet of twelve people, who are in the Arabs' pockets. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I will give you one example of a village which is a township. This example, Mr. Speaker, Sir, is at Gazi. It was formerly an Arab town. On the north-east of Gazi there is sea, no land, Mr. Speaker, west, north and south of Gazi there is Jaffer Ali Lalji. They have no land—

The Assistant Minister for Lands and Settlement (Mr. Gachago): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Mover of the Motion has made a rather serious allegation that the Cabinet has been "pocketed" by the Arabs, could he substantiate it?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, or explain what he means.

Mr. Mwangandi: This is a true fact, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I will substantiate. The Assistant Ministers when they come down to the Coast, we do not see them, they walk with the Arabs. At the same time, if a Minister comes to Nairobi, at the same Arab confirm to us and say, "What shall you do?" For example, the Assistant Minister himself, I am from Makdara Location, and what can he say? This is the true fact, Mr. Speaker, Sir, that the Arabs themselves, with [Mr. Mate] that in this particular Motion the Government should think of the Kipsigis District in a different way.

We have been told by one of the previous speakers, an Assistant Minister, that some areas have more water or less water than the other place. That is not the argument. The argument is, the Kipsigis country is made up of two parts. One part is that which is known as alienated land, which is tea estates, and the other side is the reserve where the Africans live. I have been there myself, and the African side of the district has been almost neglected. Government should concentrate upon that particular area and not look at the big tea estates and think that the Kipsigis country is all wonderful and beautiful. Precisely, I believe that is what the Member has in mind; that more attention should be given to the African side.

The other point, Mr. Speaker, is, that area has a great agricultural potential and if Kenya wants more wealth from the good areas of Kenya—not only Kipsigis but also other areas—then they should plough more development money into the Kipsigis country, according to what the Member is asking, by educating the people, giving them health centres and such other projects, in order to get more revenue and in order to get more money. Mr. Speaker, I feel that the Government should appreciate the argument of the Motion, that the Kipsigis want more development. They have the initiative, they are ready to do it, but they must have that extra help from Government.

Mr. Speaker, I feel there is a serious lack of balance in Kenya's whole development, because, as some other speaker pointed out before, Ministers, who are actually the Government, are not looking at Kenya in a balanced way. There are Ministers who think of Kenya in terms of their own constituencies, their own tribes and their own homes. I should appeal to the Ministers and their Assistants, and to the executive in the offices, to think of themselves as Kenya Ministers and to be able to survey Kenya as a whole and do what they ought to be doing.

Mr. Speaker, I want to stress this to the Government, especially those who come into this House—the Ministers—that we are not saying that they are not doing something, but we are saying they should do more and should study the geography of Kenya better, in order to be able to give us a balanced picture of development.

Mr. Speaker, with these remarks, I beg to support the Motion.

Mr. Malinda: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I want to speak very briefly.

I have no quarrel with the Mover of this Motion or the Motion itself and, as the Mover has pointed out, quite a bit has been done in his own district.

Mr. Speaker, we know that Kericho District is potentially rich in agriculture and other spheres. They have the most favourable climate in the country if the Member does not know. But, Mr. Speaker, having done all that the Government has done, I would like the Mover of the Motion to think back and accept the amendment that has been proposed, because the reason is that this Government is young. We hear every day that they have no funds, they do not have enough funds to do this or to do the other and, looking at the Kipsigis District, you find there is a lot that people can do themselves, whereas there are other places where the climate is very bad and the people only manage to subsist. It is such places which were neglected by the Colonial Government and which cannot move a step further than they have done, without Government backing. The Member should think of those other areas and not press the Government to treat the Kipsigis area with urgency. There is not much urgency in the Kipsigis District. There is need for the Government to keep on encouraging and appreciating what the people there are doing.

Mr. Speaker, another thing is this. Looking at the country as a whole, from an African socialist point of view, he should be prepared to let go a bit of what other people do not have, let those other people get something out of this Government, because if he compared his district with Machakos or Moyale or other dry areas, he would not bring in the question of piped water. He would, first of all, say that people there should at least get some water from boreholes, or at least get some boreholes dug for other people. This is the pursuance of African Socialism, Mr. Speaker.

Another point, Mr. Speaker, is that one of the speakers—I think it was the Secondor of this Motion—said that it was only last year that they could not fill seven dormitories of a school. They only had children to fill one dormitory and they had seven dormitories lying idle. Mr. Speaker, it was the Secondor of the Motion who said this. I was very surprised to find that the Secondor of the Motion was pointing out things like this, which should properly have been pointed out earlier last year. We could have filled these dormitories with children from other places, if the Member would have agreed. Mr. Speaker, Sir, for that reason, I urge the Mover of the Motion to accept the amendment, so that other areas in this country can get assistance, that assistance

[Mr. Malinda] which he wishes to go there, because his district is not in urgent need of anything more than what has already been done.

Mr. Speaker, with those few remarks, I wish to support the amendment.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It is almost time for the Mover to reply and we must dispose of the amendment. So I will put the question.

(Question of the second part of the amendment, that the words to be inserted in place thereof be inserted, proposed, put and agreed to)

(Question of the Motion as amended proposed)
It is now time for the Mover to reply.

Mr. arap Bily: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have to begin by thanking my hon. colleagues who contributed towards the promotion of this Motion which is of great urgency, as far as the district is concerned.

As the amendment stands, I have to accept it gently, but there is a little confusion somewhere, and that is as far as planning is concerned in 1964/70. I do not think we are talking any more of 1964/65 because those years have already gone. So if Kipsigis development was to be given a thought in 1964 or 1965, I think it should have been done, but since nothing of that nature was done, I don't want to mention that part of it, but on the whole, Mr. Speaker, I have not much quarrel as the amendment stands.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, when the Assistant Minister was replying on behalf of the Government, he told us that by 1960, Kericho Secondary School was the only secondary school in the district, which of course I do not refute. I have to say yes, it was the only school, but that was not done by the present Government. The present Government has done, I should say, practically nothing since Cheptenya—Tenwek, and Kaplong were not built by the Central Government. All that was done by the then regional government which was doing a lot for the district. The present Government—

An hon. Member: Where did the money come from?

Mr. arap Bily: The money came from the people themselves.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Assistant Minister does not know much about the district and about what the regional government did to develop the district particularly.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Assistant Minister mentioned a grant worth £50,000 for health and water development in the district. He would have done more by giving us particular places where this large sum of money was spent. He only told us that such an amount of money went to the district, but we do not know whether that money was really used for such purposes or not.

Furthermore, Mr. Speaker, he went as far as mentioning the £2,000 which went, again, for the same purpose last year. That was never done and I have never seen any small project which that money was used for. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am not really blaming the Assistant Minister very much because he has been doing a lot to give very genuine answers as far as the development of the district is concerned, but at times he gives us some answers which are not really in keeping with the work of the Kipsigis themselves.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I need not take a lot of time, but I must mention this before I move finally. The reason why we are asking our honourable elected Government to give more thought and planning to the development of the district is because our brothers who would have been given a chance of furthering their education at the secondary level were not given any room at all, since the schools we have there are far too few for them. As such, those of them who would have even gone higher than School Certificate did not have any chance because we have no Higher School Certificate class in the district, and when I look at Kenya at large, practically all the districts, except a few, have Higher School Certificate classes. As regards Kericho District which, as the Assistant Minister told us, is one of the advanced districts of Kenya today, I do not see why we should not have a Higher School Certificate class to cater for our School Certificate scholars who usually do very well year after year.

Furthermore, Mr. Speaker, I would like to request the Ministry to think very seriously about their negligence in their dealings with our scholars, particularly those who seek further studies abroad. They are never given any chance at all because when they come to these interviews, even those with Kenya Preliminary Examination—the United Arab Republic had a hundred places for these children and none from Kericho District was taken. Does it mean that that district had no capable Kenya Preliminary Examination scholars to enjoy such privileges?

An hon. Member: You do not have Muslims there.

Mr. arap Bily: I do not think it was Muslims alone, they had everybody. Mr. Speaker, even those who were non-Muslims. Anyway, Mr.

[The Assistant Minister for Education]

Further, Sir, in 1965, two more schools were begun, one for the girls at a former Government girls' intermediate boarding school and another one at Kabianga in a former teacher training college. These, Sir, are the facts.

An hon. Member: This was done by the regions.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mulo): Mr. Speaker, Sir, an hon. Member is saying that this was done by the regions, but, Sir, the regions were part and parcel of the present Government. Furthermore, Sir, in 1966, this year, the present year, the Kabianga school has obtained its second stream. I think, Sir, that it would have been quite fair if the hon. Members who have spoken had shown clearly these achievements which the Government have so far achieved in that particular area, without trying to show that the Government has been doing nothing, that the Government has completely ignored the Kipsigis people and so forth. Mr. Speaker, Sir, these are some of the few examples which I wanted to give to refresh the minds of the hon. Members who have not spoken so that they know that the present Government is quite aware, and is keen to see that the Kipsigis people really do enjoy, together with the other parts of the country, the fruits of independence.

Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, altogether there are six schools with eight streams situated in the district, as compared, Sir, with one school with stream which was there before this Government came into power. Now, Sir, this is a fact, and I think it would have been quite fair for the hon. Member who knows these things, to have told the House what has been taking place in that particular area.

Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, the hon. Members who have also spoken on this Motion have tried to point out that the health part of the country's development has been neglected or ignored in that particular area. But, Sir, let me also mention a few things. I am well informed by the Minister for Health that the Kipsigis County Council since 1948 has received a grant of £50,000 for development, particularly in health and also in water supplies. Furthermore, Sir, in the year 1965/66, we have already allocated a further £2,000 for the same purpose and this will go towards the development of water projects and health centres in that particular district. So, Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is quite clear that the Government is aware of the needs of the Kipsigis people and that there is no point in trying to imply that the Government is not anxious to help the people of Kipsigis. We quite appreciate the work which the people of Kipsigis have been able to do in the past, and this is why the Government is very keen to help them and encourage them to proceed, and continue in doing this kind of work.

So, Sir, I think the Government would be quite right in amending this Motion so that it can be in line with what the Government has been doing all this time. Therefore, Sir, I would like to amend this Motion by deleting all the words after the words, "this House", and that there be inserted in place thereof the words, "notes with appreciation the beautiful work done by the people of Kipsigis and urges the Government to continue promoting such projects, more secondary school streams, health centres and pipe water supplies during the planning period of 1964 to 1970".

Now, Sir, this is in line with what the Government is doing at the moment and there is no point in trying to show that the Kipsigis should be given preference over other provinces or other districts, because what this would mean, Sir, would be that the development plans in other districts would have to be curtailed and therefore we also would be blamed for ignoring other districts. So, all that Government wishes to do is to ask this House to accept the amendment so that we can be in a position to continue to do all that we have been doing during this planning period together with other parts of the country so that the country can be evenly developed, without having one particular area developed more than another. So, Sir, I think this is a fair amendment and I am sure the House will accept it so that it can give the Government time to proceed with the arrangements which have already been made for development in the Kipsigis District.

So, Mr. Speaker, I beg to move the amendment.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo) seconded.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I will propose the question of the amendment. The proposal is that all words after the word "House" in the fifth line be left out of the question with a view to substituting the words "notes with appreciation the beautiful work done by the people of Kipsigis and urges the Government to continue promoting such projects as more secondary school streams, health centres and piped water supplies during the planning period 1964/70".

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): We will continue debate on that with debate on the main question.

The Assistant Minister for Lands and Settlements (Mr. Gachago): Mr. Speaker, I rise to speak very briefly to support this amendment because, Sir, in this Motion the most important word is the urgency that is introduced by the Mover.

Now, Sir, every area in this country has to be developed, and if we can, we have to develop every area in this country with the same speed and with the same importance of attaching the same emphasis to every area. But, Sir, if we come today to this House and attach some urgency to Kipsigis area, tomorrow we will come and attach urgency to Kikuyu area, and come another day attach urgency to the other area, the Government will be at a loss as to where the real urgency lies. So, Mr. Speaker, the most important thing is to appreciate what the Government has already done and what the Government is actually doing, as we have heard from the hon. Assistant Minister for Education, and leave out this word urgency or urgent, because if we attach this word to every project then we shall be at a complete loss as to where the actual urgency lies. If we say that we attach special significance to the Kipsigis area then somebody will rise in this House, maybe tomorrow or the day after, or next Friday, from Machakos and say, now the urgency, or the importance, or the significance, should be attached to the development projects in Machakos, and perhaps, Sir, on the same day somebody will rise from Murang'a, perhaps the hon. Member for Kandara will do that in due course, and say that the significance in development projects should be attached to Murang'a. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, we have no alternative in this Motion but to accept the Government amendment in this Motion. All that it does is to recognize what the Government is doing, what the Government intends to do in this particular area, as it actually intends to do in all areas where such development projects are taking place. We cannot say that the need for water is more of a matter of urgency in the Kipsigis area than it is in the Ukamba area, as we know that there are some areas which are drier than Kipsigis and there are some areas which are drier than Kericho District. I happen to know Kericho District myself, and there is more water and more development there than in many other areas.

If we create this precedent by saying that we attach importance, or great importance or greater importance to the more developed areas than to the lesser developed areas, then we shall be making a mistake.

Mr. Speaker, some of the achievements which are really appreciated by the Government which have been attained by the people of Kericho District, namely, the Kipsigis, are because their district happened to be better developed. It is known that Kericho District is one of the places where one of the most lucrative commodities of this country comes from; namely, tea. We have plenty of tea in the area. This tea and other commodities have probably enabled Kericho District to develop more rapidly than other areas. I happen to know a bit of the results, Mr. Speaker, and I know the hon. Member's area, Buret. There is plenty of tea around there, and the wealth from this tea helps to develop the district as a whole, not the reserve or some special areas.

Therefore, I think the hon. Member should also think of other areas where development is also required and let us try all we can to develop the country as uniformly as possible, and since Government has said that it will continue its efforts in this particular area within the development project, then I think the hon. Mover of the Motion should also appreciate Government participation in the development so that the Government and the people we represent should go together and develop this area like other areas in Kenya.

With these few remarks, Mr. Speaker, I beg to support the amendment.

Mr. Muter: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I find it very difficult to differentiate between the substance of the first Motion and the amendment, but I would like to stress one or two things.

The Mover of the Motion did make it quite clear that he wanted some more allocation of funds for secondary schools, health centres and other projects. Mr. Speaker, I think this Motion has highlighted a very essential programme in Kenya today, and it is this; those who keep quiet get nothing, those who shout a lot get a lot. That is why I support the Mover of this Motion in bringing to the attention of the House and the Government the problems facing the Kipsigis District and, at the same time, he did say that Government had done something, but he wanted more to be done.

Mr. Speaker, the Mover was quite aware that something had been done, and as the Assistant Minister for Education said, schools had been built and something has been done.

But, that something is not enough, and I feel here, Mr. Speaker, that if Government could furnish the Member with plans and the programme they have for the district, it would be in what he is asking for. So, Mr. Speaker, I feel actually meeting him almost fully, because that were given money will not be happy, and others will not wonder and say, "What are we?" If there is any money set aside by Government to be given to the people, that money should be distributed equally to every district, but not to some particular districts.

[The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza) left the Chair]

[The Speaker (Mr. Slade) resumed the Chair]

The two Harambee schools, Sigor and Litein, Mr. Speaker, are very important in our own district at the moment. Why? Because we have sent there pupils who could not go to any other school in the whole country, pupils who passed the examinations but could not find a place because there were not enough secondary schools. We sent them there and are trying to educate them, but the Government is not coming forward and helping us. This is a serious thing which, in future, will really affect this Government. We people are questioning our confidence in this Government. It is a big question mark in the minds of the people and this Government will be disappointed in the not far distant future.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I want to touch on these other schools which are Government schools, such as Tenwek Secondary School and Kabianga Secondary School and Kaplong Secondary School. I am sure my colleagues have touched on them, but they are very good schools—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You have reached the end of your time, Mr. arap Soi, I am afraid.

Mr. arap Soi: Mr. Speaker, I beg to support the Motion.

Mr. Mairori-Itumbo: Mr. Speaker, I am particularly moved by a sentence in this Motion where the hon. Mover, Mr. arap Biy, "urges the Government to appreciate what the Kipsigis have done in putting up such magnificent projects and, by so doing, allocate more secondary school streams."

Mr. Speaker, we generally in Kenya, feel that our Ministers are trying to reduce their power, their Ministerial power, to a constituency capacity, whereby one may easily imagine them to be constituency Ministers. When the hon. Mr. Kerich was speaking, he told the House that only three Ministers have ever dared to visit Kericho District. The Ministers he mentioned were the Minister for Local Government, the Minister for Home Affairs and one more, whose name I forget. But it seems that as far as the Local Government Minister is concerned, that is the way to his home; he passes Kericho because it is on his way to Kisii. Also the Minister for Home Affairs is a Kalenjin and is a local Minister.

Therefore, Sir, I feel that the Government of the day must put Kenya on the map. Kenya is demarcated in such a way that we have several constituencies. We have to believe in our Constitution which says that we are going to uplift the less developed areas; and I believe that Kericho is one of these areas. When people pass through Kericho, they see tarmacked roads and the beautiful buildings which were put up sometimes by the settlers; but I believe that if you went over the district by air you would see most of these places, especially where the last speaker, the hon. Mr. arap Soi, comes from, near the Chabarungu River, and you will find that most of the area is still backward. I feel our Government does not have Kenya at heart, because how will the Minister for Education know the troubles or what is lacking in various constituencies unless he has been to such places? Mr. Speaker, I challenge the Minister for Education to tell the House how many times he has been out, visiting various constituencies in Kenya, if he is really working for the development of the country.

And even his Assistant Ministers, Mr. Speaker: when will they come to visit my area, Kuria, which is an undeveloped area, having no secondary school, nothing at all? Yet people are being encouraged by some politicians: "Help yourselves and afterwards the Government will take over such projects to lighten your hardships." I believe that it is high time that we were told the plan of the Government, because unless we are told about this plan we are not going to stand on the sidelines seeing how the Ministers are kicking a football to their own goals while we just stand as spectators, watching, seeing how they are kicking the ball to their own respective constituencies. Harambee schools, are being opened day after day, but there are particular areas where the Ministers do go and open these projects. They do not do it in other areas, as we know.

Mr. Speaker, I feel that the time has come for us to say something in this House when we come to decide whether we support the Government or not, because we were told that from 1963 to 1970 was the period when Government had planned development, agriculturally, educationally, socially and in every way. We should be now showing the country where we were going, but it seems that they are now developing certain areas repeatedly and not others, as I have already said. We can no longer stand aside and watch how these people are repeatedly developing their own areas but not certain areas like Turkana, Kuria, Masai, Kericho and others which are known.

Mr. Speaker, if a Minister is appointed to look after everyone in Kenya and see the development of his Ministry, we expect him to visit every constituency of every hon. Member in this House so as to know what is lacking and so as to be aware of what is the need in that particular constituency. Some of these Ministers, Sir, are not aware of what is going on in the country; they are being advised by permanent secretaries and under-secretaries and civil servants. Some of the tribes in Kenya, Sir, have not even an under-secretary or a district officer or a district commissioner or a provincial commissioner. How do you expect a tribal provincial commissioner or district officer or permanent secretary to think of the hon. Member from Pokot area? How on earth, if the Minister, who is such a big man and the head of a department, is unable to plan and visit various areas, will the permanent secretary who is a private man, and who wants to send all he can to his own respective area, advise the Minister as to the right way?

We believe that this Government is being run purely by politically minded people, which will dominate other areas, and we are not going to tolerate being asked in this House repeatedly to support the Government for nothing. How can I support the Government and yet I see nothing being given to my constituents? I am a politician, I am a representative of the people; if my people are not going to be given anything, how can they expect me to support the Government? I am not going to do it. Even if they plan to get rid of some of us, let them go ahead, Mr. Speaker, and do it but we are not going to support the Government merely for the sake of supporting the Government. We are not criticizing the President of the Republic, because the Government is being run from under cover, and these people are the ones who are dominating the country. I would say that it might have been better for the British people to stay here because now these people seem as if they are hungry. When they came into power, they ate food which was very nice and as sweet as sugar. Now they are eating rapidly, just looking around like dogs, not wanting to see anyone else hanging around. We are not going to tolerate seeing people eating and others suffering and starving.

With these few remarks, I beg to support the Motion and urge the Government to look into the problems we are now facing, otherwise a revolution will be necessary.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Unless you have business to discuss with the Minister I must ask you, Mr. Mairori, to find another seat.

Mr. Mairori: I am just leaving.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I rise to acquaint the hon. Members with the facts, the hon. Members who have spoken, the Mover and the Seconder of this Motion: They have tried to completely ignore what the Government has done in this area, having recognized what the people in this area have done.

Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, the hon. Mover did clearly indicate that the people of Kipsigis had done a lot of good jobs to help themselves and very deliberately tried to avoid mentioning what the Government has been able to do so far, after independence. It is clearly shown in this Motion, Mr. Speaker, Sir, that all that the Kipsigis people have done which they accomplished during the colonial period. It was not done during the time when this Government was in office. But, now, Sir, the Mover and his supporters have tried to criticize the Government as though it has done nothing since it came into power. But, Mr. Speaker, Sir, let me quote a few things which the Government, since internal self-government, has been able to do in this particular area. It is true that the Kipsigis people did put up good permanent buildings. They did build modern primary schools, intermediate schools, health centres and water supplies in the area, without the support of the former Colonial Government and this is quite understandable, Mr. Speaker, Sir, because, by then, the Central Government was not responsible for the promotion of these things since they were run by the African district councils or county councils, and this is why, even though it was a Colonial Government, a Central Government could not have assisted the Kipsigis people. But, Sir, immediately after this Government came into power, a lot of things took place:

Now, Sir, let me give a few examples. I am informed, Sir, that since 1960, there was only one secondary school with a single stream in the Kipsigis District, and this was at Kericho. This, as the hon. Members know very well, is as it was. Now, Sir, what has this Government done after that period? Now, Sir, in 1963, this Government opened a secondary school at a place known as Tenwek. As the Members from that particular area know very well if it were not for the help of this Government, that school could not have been opened. Again, Sir, following that, still in 1963, Kericho School obtained a second stream, and also a third stream was opened. A third school also was opened at Kablong. This is also some of the things which the Member for that particular area did not care to mention, but all that he said was that this Government had done nothing. Again, Sir, in 1964 a fourth school was started at a place called Cheptenya. This is a fact, Sir, and the hon. Members from the area know very well that this school is there.

are going to be granted in 1966/67 at any period. He should be given a map to show the district and each constituency inside the district; this map should show what the Government is intending to do for that particular district. That is precisely what the Motion is asking for. When the regional government died, all the powers of the regional government were placed in the Central Government with the hope of facilitating the easy running of the Government, and all things falling on one person in each Ministry. But we find that in this case, because some other people are in the office, they are using that opportunity to benefit the places where they come from; that is, their own districts. We are not going to accept, Mr. Deputy Speaker, this sort of arrangement of a Minister or a civil servant being in a certain position and using that position for the benefit of his own area, despite the necessities in other areas.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, it is true that necessity is the mother of invention. If there is any necessity for water supplies in this constituency, then the Member should be told what plans are there to increase the water supply in the area. If there are more tea factories needed, he should be told that there will be more in 1965/67; there will be more tea to be allocated. This is precisely what he is asking. If there is a need for more schools or secondary schools, he should be told there will be no more secondary schools until such-and-such a time, because his area is receiving attention for more water supplies.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, we are told today, for example, in Kisumu the headmasters of secondary schools are choosing the boys for Form I, and we are told that Kisii is given only one stream out of seven, and we are three districts. There were seven Form I's given to Nyanza. We are entitled to two Form I's, Central Nyanza two, South Nyanza two and Kisumu Municipality one, to make seven. We are told because somebody in Kisumu belongs to a particular tribe, therefore he gives Kisii only one Form I out of seven. Is this centralization of the powers?

An hon. Member: It is tribalism.

Mr. Makone: Is this not the highest degree of tribalism? The Kisii Members of Parliament will never support this.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, development is more or less the Bible of our country, to know that we are working from a given point to a definite destination, but here in our country nobody knows where we are going. If you go to the Ministry of Agriculture, nobody will tell you anything. If you go to the Ministry of Lands and Settlement—

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Keep yourself to this resolution and not generally on the government of the country.

Mr. Makone: Mr. Deputy Speaker, I thought I was speaking on development as it affects this—

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): As long as you confine yourself to this particular resolution. I think you are going a little too far now.

Mr. Makone: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, quite a lot of facts have been expressed by the Mover and Seconder of this Motion. What I want to put forward, in order to alert the Government, is that the Members are entitled to explain to their people what plans are in the Development Plan 1965/70 for every district and, where possible, in every province, so that we can tell our people which is receiving the first chance, second chance and third chance. By so doing our people will know how to adjust themselves for these coming years, so as to be ready for a particular development plan. To keep our people in darkness in the way we are doing in all Ministries means confusion. It means that as a Minister wakes up in the morning, he has to answer for things of which he himself was not even aware of yesterday.

Therefore, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I say with all sincerity—and I see only one Minister here, who is the Assistant Minister for Education; I do not know where his Minister goes every day—that we should be kept in the picture on the Development Plan in every district, and this Motion is the right one to bring us into the picture on this plan.

With this, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I beg to support the Motion.

Mr. arap Sol: Mr. Deputy Speaker, I am very glad to be able to stand and speak on this Motion, as it is a very important one. And I want to congratulate the Member who moved it in the first place.

Sir, it is an obvious thing that the Government has neglected many districts or many divisions in the country, as far as development is concerned. This is, Sir, I think, because of the appointment of Ministers or Assistant Ministers in this Government. I think many parts of the country are getting tired with the Ministerial appointments which mean that many districts are neglected. I think the Cabinet today is not really an African socialist one; it is based on a foreign set of appointments. If they mean socialism, they should really practice socialism where every district has a say in the Cabinet or in some part near the Cabinet.

[Mr. arap Sol]

Now, I am grateful for the Motion itself for water and schools and other important projects are thus emphasized. I want to touch on water first, in Kericho District. Most of the department of Government in that district usually assume that Kericho District has enough water, but it may be one of the backward places where water has not been developed. In Bomet Division, there is a location called Chepalungu where it is now very dry and people are lacking water. They have to travel between twenty and fifty miles to get some water for drinking and for their cattle. This is a serious case, Sir, and there was even an incident which took place recently in part of this location where the settlement department has property where there is a boundary, which is a river, between the former Kipsigis Location and the former Scheduled Area. This river nowadays is flowing but the former settlers used to refuse the African people, the Kipsigis, permission to water their cows in that river, the River Sosion. When the settlement department took over the farm, the people brought their cattle to drink water in this river, when it was so dry and there was no water anywhere else. The settlement department arrested the people, confiscated the cattle, took them away and took these people to the courts; and the judge—I do not know what happened—decided that all these cows and everything would be sold, but nothing was given to the owners of the cattle.

Now, imagine such a dry place and yet our Government treats its people in that manner. I want to bring to the attention of the Government that they should really go into every part of Kericho District. Some Minister from either Natural Resources or Planning should visit Kericho District and go round these backward areas where the need for water is very great.

Now I come to the so-called potential areas of Kericho District, where tea is grown, where there is a lot of maize and other things. These places still need a lot of water. They need piped water; they need water in their houses so that cattle and people can drink it at home, not travel from place to place. This is damaging development.

Now, Sir, I know that this Motion or such Motions are usually brought to the House but Ministers or, shall I say, the Government, neglect to come and listen and learn. They neglect to visit the areas and they do not come to listen to the Members elected by the people. When they want to know anything about a district, they simply call in the civil servants; and the civil servants are no longer travelling very much, as they used to in the colonial times. They are not travelling round the districts to see what is necessary; they simply give a report and say, "You know, Kericho is a high-potential area; there is no need for water, there is no need for such and such." This is a very serious mistake which is being made by civil servants in high positions and by Ministers who are lazy. I am sure the Ministers have been accused of only visiting some very nice places in some nice districts. This has happened in Kericho District, where there is the Tea Hotel, where the President himself goes frequently. But they never visit the inside of our district and see our people. The President passes Kericho when he goes to South Nyanza because there is the Tea Hotel, but he never goes to my own constituency, which is very poor. He has never appeared there. This is a serious thing.

Now the business of the President should really be to go and see the poor people in poor areas, not the rich places.

I would like to turn now to schools, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Harambee schools. There are several in Kericho District, but the people are not very happy about them. They have built them, they are running them now, but they are running short of money. When they started to build Harambee schools, they thought that the Government would come forward and help them, take over the Harambee schools and run them for the people, or, at least, contribute some money every year to run the schools. But what is happening is that the people have really done their best; most generous groups have contributed, but they cannot pay teachers, very clever teachers who demand over Sh.1,000. Now this is a serious case because people were encouraged to come along and build schools, and then the Government said it would come forward and help them.

Now there are so many contributions being given by Ministers, the President, of Government in different places where they make frequent visits. Some people in some districts, such as Kericho District, wonder and say, "Well, is that Government money? Is that personal money? Does the President give these gifts as the President? And if he does so, can he not come to our district? Is he not our President? Why does he not come and give us some money or send it by post if it is so difficult to come to Kericho?" This is a question in the minds of several people in several districts; I do not think it is just in Kericho District. This is a serious thing. It would be better if the President visited people and never gave them any money, so that some people who

Mr. Kerich: Thank you very much, Sir, for allowing me time to second this Motion.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, a lot of things which I was going to mention have been mentioned by the Mover, but I wish to make two remarks. It is well known by the Members of this House and the public at large, and perhaps by the angels in heaven, that Kericho District has been neglected by this Government. Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, the reason why I say this, that the Government has neglected the Kericho District, is because even today we have had our independence for almost three years. If I could count the Ministers who have visited Kericho District, there are no more than three and I wish to mention their names because the public should be informed. One of them, Mr. Speaker, is the Minister for Home Affairs, and Dr. Mungai when he was the Minister for Health and Housing, and, also, Mr. Ngei. How is it that these are the only Ministers to visit our district?

An hon. Member: Do you not think the President is a Minister?

Mr. Kerich: Yes, the President, of course, Mr. Deputy Speaker, we do not mention. Nevertheless, I would also suggest, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, the Minister for Economic Planning should have visited the area to receive complaints and to answer them.

I would like to start my first point on the Ministry of Education, Sir. Since we have had independence, we have had only secondary schools which were the products of the regions, and since then we have never had anything from the Central Government. And yet this Government was persuading us to destroy the regions and hand over the power, especially the educational powers, to the Central Government. So we now think that the Government was cheating us.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, Mr. Biy has mentioned the secondary schools we have in Kericho District and these secondary schools were approved by the regions, and since then I have mentioned that in the last three years there has been no secondary school sponsored by the Central Government.

An hon. Member: It is shame on them.

Mr. Kerich: I am very glad that one of my colleagues has said that it is shame on the Central Government for neglecting our district.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to mention one blunder made by the Central Government. When the regions existed, we were told that at Kabianga there was going to be a secondary school and that it was going to have a second stream in 1965; and thereafter the Central Government grabbed the powers of granting secondary schools, and it was transferred to the Central Government, and this Government—I mean the Ministry of Education—even removed one class from Kabianga in 1965 and took it to a new destination. I do not know whether it was still in the Central Region, whether in the Nyanza Region or whether it was taken to an unknown place, I really do not know. I trust that when the Minister for Education replies he will mention where this class was taken. And then we remained with only one class, and yet this school, Kabianga Secondary School, has a lot of buildings; there were at that time about thirteen empty classrooms, so you can imagine that of thirteen empty classrooms only one was used, and twelve were just empty. And there were about eight dormitories, and only one was used, so the remaining seven were empty.

An hon. Member: Because of lack of children?

Mr. Kerich: Yes, because of lack of children, but also because—

An hon. Member: But what do you want a school for if you do not have children?

Mr. Kerich: And, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, one of my colleagues is talking about the lack of children. At the time—at the beginning of 1965—I visited the school and at the time there were 75 students capable of being admitted to secondary schools and there were only 35 admitted. Those 75 were lost. So, when my friend says that there is a lack of boys he does not know the situation and he should not open his mouth. And, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, in this place we need—I wish to show appreciation of one point, and that is that in 1966 we have two classes per one stream, so congratulations should perhaps go to the Assistant Minister for Education because I mentioned this to him and he agreed and I am sure he should now be congratulated.

But, Mr. Deputy Speaker, the only thing which I hold against the Minister for Education is the fact that he has never appeared in this House. He has never visited Kericho, he does not know what it looks like.

My second point, Sir, is the question of the Presidential speech. I am sure that this Presidential Speech was approved by a representative Cabinet, and that is why it was not well framed. By that I mean that less developed areas were not given preference, those areas which were neglected by the Colonial Government. The [Mr. Kerich] Presidential Speech should have stated that preference should have been given to Kericho. I think this area, Sir, was neglected by the Colonial Government and they used to tell our people they were good, and people used to applaud them, but did nothing for them. This Government is following in the same shoes. We do not like to be neglected like that and yet we are supposed to be within the present Government.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I see that my time is going, so I would like to mention water supply. Dr. Mungai visited Kericho in 1964 and promised that ..... (Inaudible) ..... markets, and shops ..... secondary schools would have a water supply. Up to now, Mr. Deputy Speaker, nothing has been done. This shows that this Government is a government of words, not of action.

An hon. Member: Question.

Mr. Kerich: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, my third point is the question of Higher School Certificate. Mr. Biy mentioned that we wish to have Higher School Certificate in 1966/67. It was also not planned by this Government. The regions had proposed that the former European Primary School should cater for Higher School Certificate in 1965, and then and there the powers were transferred from the region to the Central Government and then it was stopped and they said that there were many Higher School Certificate schools in Kenya. Therefore, the former Kericho Primary School was not given the status of catering for the Higher School Certificate. So, Sir, I quite agree with the Members who have mentioned that the Cabinet needs to be reshuffled so that we have representatives from all parts of Kenya.

An hon. Member: Question.

Mr. Kerich: Some Members are saying "Question", I think I have the right to express my opinions here. I do not want anybody to catch hold of me here or to curtail my rights to express and expose the mistakes in this Government.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, my last point is the question of projects. We have raised so many questions and the Government usually says that our county councils should initiate these. Our county council has initiated so many projects and it is the responsibility of this Government to instruct the county councils to initiate any project because all county councils are responsible to the Ministry of Local Government. So, we do not want these tricks. The Ministry should also realize this. So, Sir, when we raise questions here, we should not be told that the county councils should start the projects, since the top Ministries—the Ministry of Local Government, the Ministry of Agriculture, the Ministry of Water and what—should instruct county councils to initiate any project which is needed by the people.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, my last point is the question of factories. As far as these factories are concerned in Kericho, we have only one tea factory in Buret, but this one is not enough. My constituency, especially, is suffering a great deal and we need a tea factory in Belgut also to cater for the farmers in that area, because when people in my constituency pluck the tea it takes them about thirty minutes to transport this tea to the factory, and by the time it reaches the factory it is already dry and is graded as third grade. Yet these people are required to repay the money which the Kenya Tea Authority loaned to plant the tea.

So, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I hope the Minister will take these remarks into account, and we want a constructive reply.

With these few remarks, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I beg to support this Motion.

(Question proposed)

Mr. Mankoo: Mr. Deputy Speaker, thank you for giving me this chance to support the Motion in question.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, the Member who has brought this Motion is entitled to know exactly what development plan, if any, there is in the 1965/70 Development Plan for his own district. It is a fair Motion, Mr. Deputy Speaker. He should be able to tell his people what sort of projects, if any, are receiving the first chance: whether water supplies or tea planting or the granting of more primary or intermediate schools. This is precisely what the Member is asking the Government to tell him, so that the people of his constituency will be in a position to know exactly which way the Government is moving.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, this Motion is most fitting because, although I was a supporter of the Central Government as opposed to regionalism, I find quite a lot of things are happening here which are not in the interest of the people with the greatest need, but because somebody is in the office there is, therefore, an interest in certain areas.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, if you will allow me to say this, the Member here, as I said before, should know exactly how many secondary schools

[Mr. Tuva] year, and, because of pressure, he promised us that he was going to apply this Order so that land would be available for squatters. But he was taking advantage of this Order to sell the land to people from outside the Coast Province. This has already been mentioned, Sir. I remember this Minister discussed this with us in the Mombasa Municipal Council Hall some time last year, and this was the Minister for Economic Planning and Development. This Order I regard as a very temporary measure in solving the squatter problem and, in fact, it is not being used to solve that problem, but is used only for the benefit of some Assistant Ministers and Ministers. Therefore, I ask the Government to change its attitude.

Mr. Speaker, the Government reply told us that there was special attention being paid to cotton growing at the Coast. You will find that it is only in the Tana River area where the cotton growers are not squatters. In the other areas still, the growers are under this sort of feudalism which has been going on for years. The growers have to pay ground rent before they grow cotton, and now they are going to have to buy cotton seeds. This, in fact, is going to discourage people from growing cotton. I do not think there will be anybody in the Coast Province who will be prepared to buy cotton seeds, when their opposite numbers in Nyanza will be able to cross the Uganda border to get free cotton seeds, without having to pay 25 cents per pound for them; and those in the southern part of Kenya will be able to cross to Tanzania to get free cotton seeds. But those in the Coast Province will have to buy them, and I am sure that these cotton growers are not prepared to buy cotton seeds.

In the Government reply, Sir, we heard of the Tana River Irrigation Scheme. I remember hearing of this since the time of the former Colonial Government. One Parliamentary Secretary—it was in the days of the Coalition Government—one Jeneby, mentioned that there was a Tana River Irrigation Scheme, and today it is still a myth.

The Assistant Minister for Works, Communications and Power (Mr. Bomett): On a point of information—

Mr. Tuva: No, I do not want the Assistant Minister to inform me. There is no dam being built there.

Mr. Speaker, I would ask the Government, since I have to speak on the amended Motion, to pay special attention to everything which is in the Development Plan, because my fear is that, by 1968, when we face the elections as Kanu, there will be nothing to tell the people, about what has been done. There was supposed to be a paper factory at Broderick Falls. I have been to that place and I know the people were promised that there would be a paper factory, but up to now nothing has been done.

The papers are there to bear witness to all these promises: the Development Plan, the paper on African Socialism, the President's speech and all the Budget speeches. They are there to prove that the Government has done nothing.

Mr. Speaker, I beg to move.

(Question put and agreed to)

Resolved accordingly:

THAT in view of the fact that the Coast Province is regarded as one of the backward areas in the country for development purposes, this House urges the Government to accord special consideration in the Development Plan to the Coast Province, along with all other areas of Kenya in similar economic conditions.

MOTION

INCREASED SERVICES FOR KIPSIGIS IN DEVELOPMENT PLAN

Mr. arap Biy: Mr. Speaker, Sir, before I move this Motion, I would like to point out that in place of the word "mechanical" I would like to put the word "piped".

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): "Piped"? That is the last line but two, substitute "piped" for "mechanical"? Yes.

Mr. arap Biy: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to move the following Motion:—

THAT in view of the Harambee initiative employed by Kipsigis as far back as 1948 in building permanent and modern primary and intermediate schools, health centres and water supplies without requesting the then Colonial Government for any grants, this House calls upon the Government as a matter of urgency to appreciate what the Kipsigis have done in putting up such magnificent projects and by so doing allocate more secondary schools streams, health centres and piped water supplies in the course of the implementation of the 1965/70 Development Plan.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, before I speak on this Motion, I would like to point out, particularly to the Assistant Minister for Labour, the hon. Mr. Odero-Jowi, that the Kipsigis are not Nandi. Nandi are Nandi. Kipsigis are Kipsigis, and it is very unfortunate that last time when the hon. Assistant Minister for Labour was talking about

537 Motion—Increased Services—

[Mr. arap Biy] the employment of youths on permanent terms the Government he mentioned that the Kipsigis and Nandi are treated as one and the same thing. This is very serious, Mr. Speaker, Sir, because the Kipsigis are over 500,000 people, whereas the Nandi are about 300,000 people. Mr. Speaker, Sir, when we come to the question of the Kallenjin as such, then they can be treated as one, but when we come to the entire question of grouping then the Kipsigis are included. Mr. Speaker, Sir, speaking on the substance of the Motion, I would like to say this.

The Kipsigis employed the spirit of Harambee a long long time ago, before it was brought to the notice of other tribes in this country. They contributed their cattle, their sheep and goats in order to convert into money to build schools, and such schools were built very magnificently without any assistance from the Government. This, Sir, shows us that these people knew exactly what at some time the Kenya Government would do at the same spirit of Harambee, and, Sir, in addition to that the Kipsigis used their time in contributing free labour in building these schools.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, these schools were built with stones and have corrugated iron roofs, which now, when one goes around, one will see that they were wonderfully built. They are very attractive and sited in very good places, where they can and should be expanded into secondary schools without any further cost. Sir, these schools have enough room for Form I, Form II, Form III and up to full secondary streams.

Now, Sir, to speak on the question of health centres, there are more than ten health centres which were built in the self-help spirit, such as the ones at Tebesonik, Kebeneti, Cheptalal, etc. These health centres were built with money which was contributed by the people of those areas. Also, Sir, water supplies were built by the same people who were contributing their money voluntarily without any force at all. All this, Sir, was done in the spirit of Harambee. The then local government was not approached at all to give us even a cent. Now, Sir, since all this has been done and carried out successfully we now request the Government to do something about the promotion and taking over of these various projects. So, to go back to the question of schools, because this Motion comes under the Ministry of Education, I would like to request the Minister for Education to take into account, and very seriously, too, the question of allocating more secondary streams in these schools. At present we have about eight streams in six schools which are not enough to cater for all the Kipsigis children who pass the Kenya Preliminary Examination very highly. Only about 300 children are taken into these schools, and the rest are left loitering about with their beautiful certificates which show that these children have been working extremely hard in their primary schools. So, Sir, it is a question of a real demand for more secondary schools to be expanded in those schools. For example, we have the Kericho Secondary School which is already a big school in the district and we would like to see this school being given a higher school certificate class to cater for those who qualify highly in their School Certificate Examination.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, we would, again, like to see such schools as Tenawek, Kaplong, Kabianga and Kipsigis Girls Secondary School given trebled streams so that they could cater for these children who pass in their Kenya Preliminary Examination with flying colours.

Sir, those secondary schools are national institutions, and we would also like to see that some Kipsigis students are taken into Kenyatta College, for example, because, at present, we have, in fact, only two out of about 500 who are taken into that college, which shows exactly that this tribe is not given any chance at all to enjoy the fruits of our uhuru in this country.

Also, Mr. Speaker, Sir, we would like to demand that some more technical schools be built in the district so that children who do not pass their Kenya Preliminary Examination could be trained to work in various fields. We also would like to see that those children who do not pass their Kenya Preliminary Examination are given a fair chance of repeating their respective classes, and also we would like to see some of the Kipsigis get into the teacher training college at Kericho so that they could teach in the primary and secondary schools in future.

I would also like, finally, to request the Minister for Health to give aid to build more health centres in the district. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have pointed out the reasons why that district needs such development to be carried out which should be implemented fairly soon. The plan, as I understand, does not include any reasonable project in the district.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not need to say much, and therefore I would like to give my hon. friend from the district time to speak and say more about this Motion.

[The Speaker (Mr. Slade) left the Chair]
[The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza) took the Chair]

So, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move.

[The Assistant Minister for Labour]

I would like to see my province advance, and I would not like to see my province being rated as second-rate in the matter of development. And even within my own province, I would like to see my district rated as first in development. I think that all of us, in all fairness, must agree that we want our own areas to develop and, consequently, the country as a whole. But, Mr. Speaker, Sir, this determination only underlines the fact that the Government must encourage balanced economic development all over the country.

The previous speaker, who made the amendment to the Motion, said that there are certain areas in Kenya which are really deserving, much more deserving in fact than the Coast Province. We know that the ten-mile strip in the Coast Province has received a lot of attention in previous years. We know that the hinterland, the area behind the ten-mile strip, has been neglected for a long time. Now, as a matter of fact, as I look at that area and compare it with the whole stretch from Kajiado to Kilgoris on the other side, are they not similar? Is it not true that these areas have been as much neglected as the others? Does that area not compare very favourably with the former Northern Frontier District? If there are any people representing the Northern Frontier District in this House, are they not as much entitled to put up a Motion like this in support of their area as the Members from the Coast Province are?

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think that the amendment to the Motion brings us back to what is only logical and fair, namely that the Government must look around and take development in all those parts of Kenya which have been neglected before. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am saying this, and I think it is the only logical development policy which this Government should embrace; anything else is going to create discontent. If there are certain areas which have had a fair deal and are likely to have an even fairer deal now because of the establishment of an economic infrastructure, the Government must revise these things and take development to where it is most needed, because we want this country to develop for the sake of the people, not for the sake of making money, not for the sake of making profits. I think this Government, as a socialist-oriented Government, has accepted that. We must develop the country for the sake of the people, not for the sake of prestige or anything else.

Therefore, the best thing, if we want to promote that, is to take development to those areas which have been neglected, so that every part of the country is raised equally. Mr. Speaker, Sir, this being the case, I think this House can do the Government a lot of good by accepting the Motion as amended because this represents what every part and every corner of this country want.

Mr. Speaker, the Coast Province, we have been told, has not had a fair deal. The other day I was travelling with the Member for Kilifi, the hon. Mr. Ngala, from Mombasa to Kilifi when we made a sharp bend, and he told me that the Minister for Works and Communications, the previous year, had promised that that road would be put right and that the construction of the road would be completed before the year. I know that that promise has not been kept, and I am sure the Member for Kilifi will bring up this. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I could also take him to my constituency and try to compare the roads in my district and, say, in my province, for example, with the roads in the Coast Province. The Coast Province, I think, has some tarmac roads, whereas Nyanza Province, I think, does not have any tarmac roads. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am saying this only to emphasize this, but let us be fair. If we concentrate too much on our own areas, neglecting other areas, we are not going to do this country any good and, in the long run, the economy of this country can improve only when every part of the country and every citizen in this country is contributing fairly to the task of developing the country. In order to promote that, in the first place, everybody must work hard, because we cannot expect any development when we do not go out and do the work ourselves. Secondly, the aid that the Government can afford to give, in order to help various parts of the country to develop their own areas, must be distributed fairly, so that all the efforts all over the country are given a fair chance of success.

This is why I think that the amendment to the Motion really represents the fairest policy line which this Government must take. Therefore, I support the Motion as amended, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): In the very short time left for debate—it is only four minutes, actually—debate on this amendment can be combined with the debate on the main Motion.

Mr. Ngala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I had not intended to speak on this Motion until the hon. Mr. Kibaki spoke.

I think the Government must understand that this Motion has been moved as a result of great frustration that the Coast people generally have because of the decisions and actions, in relation to the economy, concerning the province. It is no good for the Assistant Minister responsible for economic planning to stand here and admit, very clearly, that they have done nothing in the past for the Coast. All that he has given us is proposals. He has given us proposals for fisheries; he has given us proposals for ranching schemes in Lamu District and also in Tana River District. All these proposals, Mr. Speaker, Sir, are meaningless because, for example, the ranches are trodden over now by Shiffa, there is no livestock now; they are Shiffa ranches. He keeps on telling us of the irrigation scheme in the Tana River. This has been a song by Government ever since I came to Parliament in 1957, and have they implemented it? For the last ten years they have been singing this song, but they have not implemented it. Mr. Speaker, Sir, he has been telling us of—

[Mr. Ngala]

The Assistant Minister for Works, Communications and Power (Mr. Bonnett): On a point of information—

Mr. Ngala: No, not a point of information.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, therefore, what I would like to emphasize is that we are tired of the Coast being used as an experimental ground and a place where investigations are always carried out but where we do not have any results. When the Government are held up, they always set up a commission. They now have a special squatters' commission. Again, it is a tactic, it is a manoeuvre to keep the Coast Province backward. I would like to say definitely that we are doing a lot to help ourselves. For example, when you say, "plant cotton", I think the Coast is the second area in Kenya as regards the production of cotton. Since we are one party now, we should never be discriminated against, and the Government's attitude of ignoring the Coast should be dropped by the Minister for Economic Planning and his Ministry.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, as regards the co-operative milk scheme when the hon. Kibaki talks of milk he knows himself that in Mariakani the Government is stopping the people from developing because Government is taking over the milk plant instead of giving it to the co-operative society.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! It is time for the Mover to reply; we must dispose of the amendments first.

(Question of the second part of the amendment, that the words to be inserted in place thereof be inserted, proposed, put and agreed to)

(Question of the Motion as amended proposed)
It is time now for the Mover to reply.

Mr. Tuva: Mr. Speaker, what I can say is that the Assistant Minister has succeeded in showing us that the Government so far has done nothing. We have had promises in the past and today the Assistant Minister has fed us with some more promises.

Mr. Speaker, although this amendment has gone through, you will find that the Government has, in the past, tried to help at least the other backward areas. We were told last year that even people who had failed the Kenya Preliminary Examination in the North-Eastern Region were given places in secondary schools. This is a clear indication that the Government has been paying a lot of attention to that area. Children who had failed their examination were given places in secondary schools at the expense of other successful children elsewhere. Mr. Speaker, whenever any scholarships are advertised, the Ministry of Education allocates five to the Masai people; five scholarships are earmarked for the Masai people because they are backward. This is another indication that the Government is paying attention to Masai education.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, it stands to reason that the Coast is overlooked always in all development by the Government.

Mr. Speaker, the Government is urged to look into the land problem and the Government reply does not show what the Government is doing at the moment to solve this problem. Land has stopped some schools going up in some places, and in this I am particularly talking about the former Coastal Strip, where all the Africans, the entire African population, in this area are squatters. I remember some schools had to be pulled down because the landlords did not want the schools to be there.

The industrial estate at Malindi, which has been the theme song of the Minister for Commerce and Industry for years now, has not yet materialized. This is because of the ownership of the land. The landlords want their piece of land to form 51 per cent of all the shares so that they dominate the industrial estate; and the Government is aware of this. Yet they do not want to look into the matter.

The application of the Management Order on some mismanaged farms came about in the Coast because of a Minister who was down there last

[The Assistant Minister for Economic Planning and Development]

Ministry of Agriculture, that five of the Government ranches, indeed the only Government-sponsored ranches, will be in the Coast Province covering more than 700,000 acres. They will be in the Coast Province. Three of them will be near Lamu, and one each near Kurasa and Galana. Now, Sir, these are Government-initiated schemes. We have, in fact, a programme, and the hon. Member for Kilifi South knows it, to have thirty co-operative and group ranches in the Coast Province. Indeed, these ranches are the only ones today being sponsored by Government in the whole country, and yet we are told that we are doing nothing.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, we have a water survey programme in the Coast. It is true, Mr. Speaker, Sir, that we had certain water schemes in Kwale District, which the hon. Members ought to admit were left neglected and the pipes are now corroded to such an extent that they cannot be used. The Kwale District County Council failed to maintain that water scheme, and yet it has been installed.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the production of milk is higher with the Mariakani Scheme being expanded, with the loans being available, with more stock farms being started, and the hon. Member for Kilifi South was only recently at one of these field days. Mr. Speaker, Sir, these are things which are going on in the Coast. We are told that there are no factories, and that a Member wants a cashew nut factory, but it is a fact that this has been investigated and it is intended to start one in the Kilifi District, but then we want to ensure that the production will be economic for this factory. Whose fault is it if the people do not grow the cashew nuts? Must we really be expected to send a team from wherever they expect it from Nyanza or Central Province, I do not know, to plant the cashew nuts? What do they want us to do?

Mr. Speaker, Sir, we talked about the fishing industry. The largest proposed programme of fishing development will be at the Coast. Indeed, the hon. Members know that the Food and Agricultural Organization which has been investigating this programme has now issued a report, and the hon. Members know that negotiations are going on for the purpose of setting up this fish factory and also for the purpose of improving the marketing and freezing facilities at Mombasa, Shimoni and Lamu and improving the harbour facilities at Malindi.

So, if it happens—as the hon. Member for Tana River complains—that plenty of the energetic people who do the fishing come from Nyanza; now, Sir, what am I expected to do? Mr. Speaker, Sir, I hear the hon. Members shouting "officers", but we know indeed what the hon. Member meant, that the people who will be getting the money, and who are getting it now by this improved programme, happen to come from up-country, from Nyanza Province. These people do a lot of fishing on the lakes; if they are able to do plenty of fishing in the ocean, there are plenty of fish in the ocean; and they cannot finish them. Now, what is wrong with an African from Kenya participating in an industry which is located in Kenya? Mr. Speaker, let us drop the old tribalism.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, it has been stated that we are not helping Africans to initiate business in the Coast. I happen to know for a fact—and these hon. Members should make investigations before they make wild allegations—that the Industrial Commercial Development Corporation is, in fact, investigating, and has contact with the Coast people for the establishment of various small-scale industries. I say small-scale, because the hon. Member himself admits that our people do not have the know-how or the capital to start up on a large scale. These small-scale industries include fibres, salt, edible oils, jute bags, suitcases, shoes, plastic pipes, furniture, jewellery, as well as all these metal tanks. These are not experiments. We have, in fact, some African businessmen who have started on these and who are doing very well. We are not doing this everywhere because we are short of capital, we are short of manpower, and the fact that the Coast is getting this much priority and this much attention made us think that we should have been given a little credit for having given that attention.

Mr. Speaker, on the side of roads, the hon. Members are complaining. Of course they admit that we have already improved the Mombasa, Nairobi Road and it will be completed during the next year. Now, this should improve their tourist industry, and that is why I advise them not to despise the people who go to night clubs. The tourist industry may become one of their most important industries at the Coast. Sir, we have started a programme of improving the Mombasa, Malindi Road; the Malindi Airport itself has been improved, the Mombasa Airport is to be improved. Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Mombasa/Lunga Lunga Road also is on the plan for bituminization and the construction of the approach roads to the Mombasa Island itself and the road from Garsen to Lamu are being improved. Equally the road from Voi to Wandanyi, that most complicated and difficult road, is being improved. Now, this is a programme of road bituminization which is more than any other province is getting, and I would challenge the hon. Member to quote any other province. He is quoting Central Province. We have only—

[The Assistant Minister for Economic Planning and Development]

Mr. Kase: On a point of information—

The Assistant Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Kibaki): No, Mr. Speaker, I do not know this information on roads. I happen to know so much about these roads.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It is hardly fair to challenge an hon. Member and then not give him a chance of answering you.

The Assistant Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Kibaki): Mr. Speaker, the point is that the Central Province was mentioned. We have only one bituminized road running from Nairobi to Nyeri, and I think it ought to be stated—it would appear from what the hon. Member did say that we are giving priority to this road. This road was built even before we were independent and it is one road only. I have just mentioned five major roads in the Coast Province which will be done.

Mr. Speaker, we know that the Mombasa Hospital has already been expanded with the new mental ward.

On schools, I could give the whole list here of what schools are being expanded. But I want to emphasize equally, as the hon. Members talked about technical training for those people who do not get a chance for further education, that it is a fact—and the hon. Members know it—that the Mombasa Technical Institute is being upgraded and expanded, and within a short while it will become a fully fledged polytechnic, like the one we have in Nairobi. Now, this is a programme which is quite expensive.

Now, on the investigation of the minerals which we know to exist at the Coast, this—again—is going on, Sir. There are indications, but we have not proved the economic value of these finds, that there is lead, zinc, manganese, asbestos, kyanite and other minerals. The Government's own department, in collaboration with other agencies, is investigating these.

I would mention too, Mr. Speaker, that there is a proposed major programme of development of the Tana River Basin. Now, this again will affect the hon. Member's area and will be a very major development programme affecting the Coast.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have mentioned these few points merely to emphasize one point, that the Coast is getting today as much attention in development programming as is consistent with what we must do for other areas in Kenya which are in similar economic condition.

Mr. Speaker, I would therefore urge the hon. Members here not to raise a particular province as being in any way special. What is required is consideration of certain areas of Kenya that were for a long time left behind. It is futile and a waste of time to try and do a post-mortem as to who seems responsible for these areas having been left behind. What we are called upon to do now, Mr. Speaker, is to turn our attention to positive development in those areas.

It is for that reason, Mr. Speaker, that I would like to amend this Motion and I would like to amend it by deleting all the words after "accord" and substituting therefor the words "special consideration in the Development Plan to the Coast Province, along with all other areas of Kenya in similar economic condition". Now, the reason that I have deliberately left in the words "Coast Province", Mr. Speaker, is that I do not want to negate the intention of the hon. Member's Motion, because we agree that the Coast Province, not all of it—particularly the rural areas—contains Mombasa, which is our second industrial centre in Kenya. We must not be vague over this fact. Mombasa is the second most important industrial centre. But we accept that the rural areas of the Coast Province have a need for this special consideration in our development programme, but in agreeing to that, we agree too that there are other areas of Kenya—such as the whole of what used to be called the Northern Frontier District, and other parts which are well known—which require to be given a similar priority in our development programme. It is for that reason, therefore, that I am requesting the hon. Member to accept this minor amendment which would merely restore balance to our thinking in development and not try to establish a lop-sided kind of approach to development.

Mr. Speaker, therefore, I beg to move this amendment.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Who seconds the amendment?

The Assistant Minister for Labour (Mr. Odero-Jowi): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think the gusto with which the Members for the Coast Province have supported this Motion only shows that they are determined to have their province advanced. Now this determination I think is found in every Member who represents a constituency. I, for one, is not heard in the Cabinet where all the plans are made. So this is very important, and I would be glad if the Minister, when replying to this Motion, would mention something about the demand of the lower Coast people for their voice to be heard in the Cabinet. This is very important and we still demand that our voice be heard in the Cabinet.

Another point, Mr. Speaker, in the Coast Province, is about the Ministers. They have told us from time to time that we must help ourselves in the spirit of Harambee, so we do it, and sometimes we get Ministers down to the Coast to show them our self-help projects. When we do this, we expect them to make contributions. But when they come there, it is only the President himself who has made any contribution to self-help projects. Some of the Ministers, like the Vice-President, like other Ministers, come there, we show them the self-help projects; but they make no contributions to these projects. Therefore, they discourage the people of the Coast Province from pursuing these self-help projects. The Coast people feel that they are neglected by this Government, because when these Ministers go to other constituencies and are shown the self-help projects there, they make very big contributions to such projects. Therefore, the Coast people feel, "Well, this Government does not recognize us as Coast people; it is neglecting us." Perhaps, in a way, this makes some people feel that we are being punished simply because, during the Kanu and Kadu days, the Coast was a stronghold of Kadu and now the Government is probably punishing us for having opposed Kanu which is now in power. So if the Ministers and the Government want us to recognize them, they should make a contribution to our self-help projects, and also assist the boys and girls who are looking for scholarships.

We have quite a number of boys and girls with Cambridge School Certificate and others have passed Higher School Certificate. When they applied for scholarships which were published in the newspapers, and came for interview, very few of them were given scholarships, very few. You find that Kenya Preliminary Examination people from other provinces up-country here are given those scholarships and go abroad to study and so on. So in the field of education, the Government must give serious consideration to the Coast applicants.

Another thing concerns health, Sir, you find that in Kwale District, for instance, which has a very big population, they only have one hospital, and Kilifi District also there is only one hospital with very few beds, which cannot meet the requirements of all the people who fall sick.

So we think that there is a need for this Government to build more hospitals in Kwale District, Kilifi, Tana River, Lamu and all other districts in the Coast. But, looking at the Development Plan for 1964/70, which is being revised now, you find that in the Coast Province what they are going to do is only to introduce television. Well, television is, of course, needed but it is not important at this moment. The Government would spend this money more wisely if it was going to build more secondary schools and technical schools and health centres. We would prefer this, rather than getting television, which will only benefit people living in Mombasa and very few Africans will benefit because they are poor, they will not be able to buy television sets. So I think that is not important, and we would like to have more secondary schools, health centres and technical schools built in the Coast Province.

Now, Sir, coming to the Civil Service, it has already been pointed out and it is a fact, Mr. Speaker, Sir, that during the colonial days the Sultan of Zanzibar in the former Coastal Strip employed only Arabs as administrators and the Africans were not employed in the administration at all, as liwalis or district assistants and so on, and after we attained independence this Government of ours is pursuing the same policy of the Sultan of Zanzibar. They are giving preference to Arabs and neglecting the Africans in the Administration. We have about forty-one districts, but not in any of these districts will you find a district commissioner who comes from the Coast Province. I can challenge the Government to tell me the name of any Coast African who is now a district commissioner in this Republic of Kenya; there is none. You will find that the majority of them are either Jalu or Kikuyu district commissioners. This, Sir, is one of the things we do not want, and it is also one of the things that makes us feel that we are being neglected in this Government. You can hardly find a district officer from the Coast except those Arabs who were employed by the Sultan of Zanzibar, some of them today are district officers, but none of the Coast Africans are district commissioners or district officers.

So, Mr. Speaker, Sir, with these few remarks, I beg to support this Motion, and I hope the Government will realize the position is serious.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It is the end of your time, Mr. Omar.

KS Motion—

The Assistant Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Kibaki): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I will be brief.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am very pleased to see that the hon. Mr. Jabazi does say that the Coast needs to wake up, which seems to be an admission that there was something wrong before. Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, we clearly, in the Development Plan, do not want to think back over past history. We have been told so much history here, which we must all of us have learnt either in school or must have seen with our own eyes during our numerous visits to the Coast for various purposes. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would, therefore, urge the hon. Member to accept the spirit which was put forward by one of them, that what we want to do now is to look forward to the future, what is to be done from where we are now. Mr. Speaker, Sir, the point which first must be rejected outright is the assertion that the Coast Province, by some peculiar device, by some evil-minded people from up-country has been left behind. This is the kind of complex that we must get out of the minds of the Coast people, if we are to lead them forward to self-sufficiency, reliance and development. We cannot afford at this late hour of independence to continue to harp on this complex, that there is some sinister scheme for up-country people to have greater influence than the Coast; this is entirely false.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the point, therefore, that I want to emphasize, and I know that every hon. Member here knows it, is that the whole of Kenya, in fact, is underdeveloped and it is quite false for us to identify one area and say that it must be given very special consideration. Indeed, Mr. Speaker, if there is a place that needs very special consideration, then could we not say that it is Turkana, for example? Anybody who has been there, and I have been there many times, would agree that if we want to say that there is a place where the people are so destitute, that they require subsidies, then surely these areas can be identified. I would, therefore, Mr. Speaker, appeal in this Motion that we think of development in Kenya in all these areas. We accept in our development planning, and indeed we have said so in Sessional Paper No. 10 and also in our previous development plan, that it is right for an independent nation to aim at minimum level, a minimum standard, a minimum decent standard of living for all citizens of the country. And indeed, Sir, this is the only way you can lay a foundation for a proper nation. But then that is acceptance that the areas which require special consideration are not merely the Coast, Northern Frontier District, but many other areas. I have been to so many other areas which require special consideration.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, Sir, it will be my intention to amend the Motion slightly in a minute, but before I do so, I clearly want to point out once more that development starts and ends with the will of the people to develop themselves. It is absolutely wrong to build false hopes in the mind of the people, that some benevolent power from above will bestow development upon them. We have to take it from the President, take his example, take his word and take his teaching that development will start from the grass roots, from the hands of the people themselves. Now, Sir, that is the spirit we want to preach to the people, not the expectancy of everything from some benevolent power above. This is not to say that the Government does not have a positive role. We have a positive role. Indeed, Mr. Speaker, Sir, the hon. Members talked about agriculture in the Coast, but what is going on in the Coast about the development of agriculture? This was from the beginning of independence earmarked as one of our key areas for cotton growing. We started this campaign in the Coast Province, Western Province and Nyanza Province. It happens to be true that, for instance, in the Western Province which I have recently visited, the campaign has been taken very seriously. I understand that in some parts of Nyanza it has been taken equally seriously. Now, Sir, if, by the efforts of the people, the production of raw materials in one province will be so significant that we are forced to start the first industries for textiles in those parts, will this be the fault of the Government? No, Sir, I say no, Sir, and it is therefore false for the hon. Member here for Tana River to harp on the question of title deeds. This is absolutely wrong. He is clearly not informed. The fact of the matter right now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, is that the Government, through the Agricultural Finance Corporation, is giving loans even to farmers who do not have title deeds. Indeed, we have given lots of loans to Masai people for ranching.

Sir, here in Kajiado, ask the hon. Member for Kajiado, they have been given loans but they do not have title deeds. The hon. Member is shouting "where", but we have given more than 100 loans to farmers in the Bungoma District who do not have title deeds.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, in the field of agriculture, in the present plan, it is visualized, for instance, that the Coast Province will be the one area, if the hon. Member will listen, where the Government is going to undertake a large-scale programme of ranching. Indeed, I am told, by the

(Mr. Kase)

Schools, Sir, have been running privately and Government has not thought it fit even to take over some of them.

Now, Mr. Speaker, there is one mistaken thing. When a Minister goes to Mombasa he calls that the whole Coast. We want them to forget this idea completely. Mombasa is not the whole Coast. We always hear that the Coast has industries, but they are at Mombasa and Mombasa is not the whole of the Coast. It is like claiming that Kiambu has so many Ministers and, therefore, the whole Central Province has so many Ministers. Mr. Speaker, this is a mistaken idea. We want the Government to go out of its way to help the Coast people to come up in every walk of life.

Mr. Speaker, I beg to support.

Mr. Jahazi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, today I want to declare that the Coast giant is awake and is armed. We have been called very good people, very quiet, and it is said that there is no trouble there; we are always being patted on the shoulder by both the colonialists and this Government, in which we placed all our trust, and we have been told that being very good-tempered, sane people, we will benefit from that. But now we see that the quieter you are these days, the more you suffer; the more you are called a good man, good boy, good province, the more you suffer. You reap no benefit whatsoever from that and now I think in the Coast we are going to desert that pattern and try the other way and see where it will take us. Therefore, we are going to speak with an open mind and with all the frankness we have to spare and tell the Government that we want developments which are our right, like all other provinces.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Mover and the Seconder have said a lot of things here which are all true, and I would like to add that the question of land in the Coast, I think, is far worse than even in the Central Province, because in the Central Province you will find twenty people at least coming with title deeds, even in this House here; twenty Central Province Members of Parliament will come with title deeds and show that this is their land; but ask any Coast man here to produce a title deed for any land. Even our leader, Mr. Ngala, does not have one; although he has a farm, it is still Government land. He is paying for it. We are proletarian in the true sense of the word, we do not have anything. But, Mr. Speaker, Sir, we thought that when the Government realized that they inherited this trouble, they would tackle the land question first, but this is the third year, I may say, of our independence and there is not even a sign of progress on these lines.

For instance, Mr. Speaker, Sir, yesterday in Taifa Leo I saw a notice from the Ministry of Agriculture saying, "Shamba Lita Ouzwa—Mweshamba" Two farms are going to be sold in the Mtwapa Creek, and the conditions are that those who want to buy them must produce 50 per cent of the cost of those farms. Mr. Speaker, whom does the Minister expect to buy those farms? Africans? Tell me a single Coast African who can produce 50 per cent of one acre, leave alone those 80 acres and all that. We read notices in the Gazette, "This farm has been taken over under the Management Act." When the first farm was taken over under the Mismanagement Act, or whatever, we shouted happy that at least the Government now has started, but now we have found out that these are tricks, because today the farmer is told that it is under a management order, and the owner is asked to produce some funny papers, and what happens? Then you read that it is no longer. You see the same owner sitting comfortably on the farm and nothing happens. So all these things are just manoeuvres to manipulate people's expectation because they expect that now the farm has been taken over, there will be settlement, but you do not see any settlement and the old owner, in fact, is firmly installed back on the same farm and it goes on being mismanaged.

Although we have been quiet, we have been watching, our eyes have been open to see what is going on, and now what is going on is not to our advantage, as Coast people, and we are passing everything now openly in this House.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, even in Mombasa, they may say, "Oh, Mombasa has industries," but tell me, count about five Coast Africans who are sharing in these industries, only five who are sharing in these. Instead when there is a factory there, you hear Rubia is a director; you hear So-and-so is a director; all from here. I understand that with all the developments we have for Mombasa, there is a master plan from Nairobi and Kiambu areas to buy all Kilindini Road business, especially hotels. You do not hear what is going on because hotels are being taken over overnight, and to the tune of Sh. 100,000. Africans have invested in this hotel. When I think of Africans here who can afford Sh. 100,000 without Government assistance. I do not see any, but every night new business is cropping up from Nairobi, chains of business from here to Mombasa. This is not African business. The Government is giving loans at night through the back door for people to come and take over from us. We cannot have that, Mr. Speaker.

51 Motion—

(Mr. Jahazi)

In the Coast we give the President the biggest cheer, when he comes down there, the streets are flooded, we fight with the Asians, they come out, and even our living is threatened because we tell everybody to come out and meet the President because of our loyalty. Every Minister who comes we nearly carry him high; Mr. Otiende was given a big welcome there. We give them company and make them most welcome, expecting that our good heart and kindness will reap us something for the Coast, but now we see that we are being manipulated, they think we are just a lot of good boys who can tolerate these things going on; but now I want to tell the Government that the Coast is no longer a good boy. When it comes to our rights, call us any name, but we must have our rights, because we are tired of being good boys.

Mr. Speaker, for instance, we have been trying a plan in Changamwe for an owner-tenants' scheme. All we wanted was a Government surveyor to demarcate the plots for people to build their own houses. Up to now—it is now three or four years—not a single surveyor has come to subdivide a plot of land for our people to build their own houses. Instead, slums are being condemned and people are told, "Pull down your buildings," and they have nowhere to go. We have no land to build on, all plots are sat on by hungry landlords who are waiting, speculating, and thinking that by 1970 this tract of land will be worth so much, and they are allowed to sit on this land while people are sleeping on the streets or in caves. Now, what is the Government doing for us? You hear of Karibangi, you hear this and that in Nairobi. Can any Minister quote me any project, except the Likoni one which the hon. Mr. Otiende came kindly to open? Where is our Karibangi, where is our Langata in Mombasa, the second biggest town in Kenya?

All this bluff must end because our eyes are now open, because we have been watching the trends now we have come out with a plan confidently and we shall have no more bluffing because our eyes are open and we want a true development plan, not only papers. Let there be action, let the plans be practical, not only a question of showing us the Coast will be this and that. The industries which are there are not benefiting Africans as such and the whole of Mombasa town and the district and the Coast is not owned by Africans, only the hinterland which is waterless, very empty, not fertile, without any crops. The piped water, the pipeline, just passes to the ships and when we say, "All right, give us a little connexion so that the people in the hinterland get something to drink", the Minister here says, "Oh, the water must go to Mombasa because, even if it passes through the countryside, if you tap it, perhaps the ships will not have enough water." What is the use of such a development, Mr. Speaker, if water is passing through a country which is very thirsty, which is dying of thirst, and you cannot even connect a few points? We know the difficulty, but at least connect a few points so that from there you can develop; or at least dig some boreholes. But we are told, "All right, 1967, 1970-80, 1980-2000." It will go on like that. So if we do not take this meekness off our faces and tell the Government what we feel, we will continue to suffer.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, Sir, this is the line we are going to adopt in this House from now on, and the Government must see that we are no longer their good, quiet, sweet boys.

Mr. Omar: Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker, for giving me the opportunity to speak on this Motion. This is a very important Motion, Sir, and it seems as if some Members do not realize this. But it is very important, because it is not only the Coast Province which has been neglected; there are some other provinces in the country which were neglected by the former colonial rule, and they are also still being neglected by this present Government of ours.

Mr. Speaker, one point has already been mentioned by the Mover of this Motion; and I feel I should also say something about it because, whenever I go to the Coast, I always receive delegations, from Mombasa, from Tana River, Kwale and Lamu. The lower Coast at the moment is not represented in the Cabinet of our Government.

Mr. Mwanumba comes from Taita District, not from the lower Coast.

Now the lower Coast covers five districts, Mombasa, Kwale, Lamu, Tana River and Kilifi. And there are about ten Members in the House of Representatives here. Yet you find none of them is in the Cabinet, and therefore the interests of these five districts are not represented in the Cabinet, which is a mistake on the part of this Government. When the President came to the Coast last year and this year, I made an attempt to lead a delegation and I presented a memorandum to him, demanding that the lower Coast should have a Minister in this Cabinet, so that all the planning of development can be expressed by a Minister from this area.

Without a Minister from the lower Coast, we feel very strongly that we are not fully part and parcel of this Government, because our voice

[Mr. Tuva] down himself about three or four months ago this was pointed out to him: what he said was that he had never heard of it.

In Mombasa and Malindi, you find that Africans can not own shops or bars because they can never own a piece of land to call their own and build on it. In Malindi today, no African can own a bar in the town, because all the land is owned by Muslim Arabs who can never allow a bar to be built on their land. This is why we ask the Government to look into the problem so that everybody down there can feel that he is in a free Kenya. I am a Christian, Mr. Speaker, but I do drink; Christianity does not prohibit drinking.

Mr. Speaker, I urge the Government, therefore, to look into these problems carefully. I am not quarrelling with the Government, but I am trying to point out these things, because every time a Minister is told something he says he has never heard of it. Today, therefore, I have tried to point out, in this short time, what the Government has to put right, and I hope it will.

Mr. Speaker, I beg to move.

Mr. Kase: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think the Mover of the Motion has covered quite a number of points but I think he has left out one important point which needs to be stressed with regard to this Motion.

Now, Sir, we understand—and the Minister will rightly say this—that people have not been stopped from buying farms, hotels and bars. But what we find at the Coast, Sir, is this. When you want to buy any important piece of land, or you want to develop a piece of land, the securities that you are asked to give to Government are quite impossible, when they ask you to produce a title deed, and yet the Government itself has failed to register that land.

They will ask you to produce your banking account, but when, Sir, did my grandfather have a banking account? These, Sir, are the conditions that we are asked to fulfil. Now, Sir, when we ask the Government to come and register this land under our names, they say that they have no staff. When we also ask them for a loan, the same Government says that we have to produce the security. They do not want to do your job, because when they do your job, they say that they cannot do it because you do not have it. Now, Sir, what confusion exists in this Government?

Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, we were told by the Minister in charge of planning in this country that if any county council passed a resolution on any piece of land that it was yours, then you will get a loan. But, Sir, we are ashamed when county councils of various places say, "Let us push this area for this man to have a ranching scheme." When we call the bosses from Nairobi, I do not know his name, but a European, he says, "No, this land is not registered," and yet we are told from the same Ministry, Sir, that you can get this land so long as the county council passes a resolution, but that same officer comes back and tells you that you cannot have it because it is not registered. What, Sir, do they want us to do? We have not refused them permission to register this land, but they still insist that it must be registered, and yet they have no staff to do it and this stops us from progressing.

Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is this change which we do not want to experience at the Coast. I have noticed in other parts—and I have travelled widely in Kenya—that people are just putting pegs around their shambas and are being given loans that are guaranteed security, but when you do likewise at the Coast we are told, "No". Now, Sir, this Government must accept the fact that it has made a mistake which it has inherited from the Colonial Government. They must try to break these chains.

Sir, I would now like to turn to trade and perhaps you have noticed that when you apply for a bar or a hotel you are told that you must produce so many shillings first. But we notice, Sir, that the same Ministry, and we are looking at this very seriously, appoint their own friends at the Coast who buy hotels. The same hotels which we want to buy, Sir, they tell us that we must produce the money first, but the people who buy them later only pay Sh. 1,000, but when we show them Sh. 1,000 they refuse it. This, Sir, is the Ministry of Commerce and Industry, because they have some interest in Mombasa. We are telling this Ministry, Sir, that we have seen favouritism failing the Government, therefore, Sir, unless this Government loses their great interest in Mombasa, there is going to be trouble in Mombasa. We have noted further, Sir, that some farms come under the Mismanagement Act, when they are mismanaged. Some very clever person who has been bought out up-country goes back to the Minister and the Management Order is withdrawn. This same man who was bought out in Ol Kalou buys another farm in the Coast, and when we ask the Minister why he cannot settle the squatters he says, "No, the Management Order has been withdrawn," and then Mr. White from the Coast is bought out and Mr. Brown from up-country is placed on that same farm. We know of a farm in Kilifi, Sir, where some Africans approached the Government for them to be able to settle on this [Mr. Kase] had, but the Government just said, "No, we will withdraw the Management Order," and then the organizing secretary of a company plus other Italians bought this farm, but when we wanted to buy it we were told that we could not buy it. Now, Sir, this is the type of corruption we do not want.

Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, if I may go ahead. We find in the education problem that we have the problem of the Muslims, and the Minister knows about this. When they come up and want to go to school they are told, "Oh, no, you are not educated enough to make it possible." Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, people who never wanted to go to school before, when they want to go to school today—

An hon. Member: Go, send them to Mecca!

Mr. Kase: An hon. Member is telling me to send them to Mecca, but we are not interested in Mecca. Now, Sir, when people want progress, the Government tells them that there are not enough of them. Now, Sir, I will tell you one thing, boys from Mbalabala come to Shimo le Tewa to attend secondary school, and when we ask for a secondary school to be built in Tana River or in Lamu so that our children do not suffer, they say, "No," and adopt the same old colonial viewpoint, saying that the people have enough schools. Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, we want this Government to get away from the colonial days kabisa, so that we can have a change and the people in the Coast can go ahead.

Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, telephone services do not exist in all district headquarters and when we tell this Government they say that there are not enough people to telephone.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! There is a lot of noise around.

Mr. Kase: Now, Mr. Speaker, they say there are not enough telephones, but you will notice that after the tarmacking of the Mombasa Road there will be more vehicles than before; nobody wants to ride on a rugged thing. Now, when you have telephones I am sure you will find more use for them.

Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, we want this Government to get away from the colonial things and to stop this corruption. You will see Africans at the Coast cleverer than the Minister for Agriculture. Africans who apply for loans are suppressed by the Indian trade officer in Mombasa. Co-operative officers do not exist anywhere, so you find all co-operatives at the Coast failing, not because the people are not interested, but because there is not the manpower to do this.

Lastly, Mr. Speaker, if I might end, I come to the question of chiefs, Sir, I feel that this Government is the most lazy Government I have seen. How does a Government, Sir, take two years to appoint a chief of a location, two years? A reshuffle is necessary. Even the Colonial Government dismissed a chief now and then and appointed another one. We were told to vote for these chiefs, that they would be made chiefs. Now two years have passed and the Government has done nothing. We do not want locations to be left without chiefs so that there is no progress. This is a deliberate move, Sir, by Government to keep the people backward. When we invite them to come to our places, Sir, they say there are Shifta, but is it our mistake that Shifta are there? It is their business to remove the Shifta, it is not our business. Now, when the Ministers come to the Coast, they come and stay two hours and then they go away, and not all of them come.

Finally, Mr. Speaker, if I might end, we want the President, when he comes to Mombasa, Sir, to go to the interior, Lamu, for that matter, he only goes to Mombasa. And even the Ministers, Sir, if I may say, they like sleeping in Mombasa because we have such beautiful night clubs. This is known, Sir, and there is no question about it. A Minister is prepared to fly to Lamu, but instead of staying there for five or six hours, he will stay one hour and fly back to Mombasa in the evening. And some of them, Mr. Speaker, have called themselves Ministers for women.

Mr. Godanna: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I wonder whether the hon. speaker is in order to call Ministers Minister for women, when we know that we do not have any women Ministers in this House?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! No, the hon. Member was completely out of order and was getting carried away. I think you should just withdraw that remark, Mr. Kase.

Mr. Kase: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I said the Minister had called himself the Minister for women, and he is the Minister for Health, Housing and Social Services who called himself the Minister for women in the Florida Night Club.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! Yes, Mr. Kase has justified himself. His time has run out, but there was that little interruption and I think he can have another minute.

Mr. Kase: Now, Mr. Speaker, if this is the essence that Ministers go for, not to see where things are bad so that they can help the Coastal people, Sir, we are not going to have it.

Mr. Tuva: Mr. Speaker, Sir, these people were shouting and making me lose my head.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Do not let them.

Mr. Tuva: But, Mr. Speaker, I will go back to my Motion.

The next thing that I want to point out is on education. Mr. Speaker, the Ministry of Education, in distributing secondary schools at the moment, are allocating only two classes every year to the Coast, and they claim to be led by a percentage that they call an opportunity index. Mr. Speaker, this opportunity index is very misleading because they are working on 10 per cent; the intake to secondary schools is 10 per cent of all the candidates who sit for the examination. Mr. Speaker, this is very misleading, because you find that 10 per cent of 1,000 is 100 and 10 per cent of 60 is only six. Therefore, the provinces which have many candidates also have more places in secondary schools. You will find that at the Coast, Mr. Speaker, if every year the Coast is going to be given only two classes for secondary education and the other provinces get an aggregate of over 48, this is a very bad percentage indeed. You will find that there is no proportion, and I ask the Government not to work on this opportunity index which is misleading, but the secondary places all over the country should be decided by the percentage of people that pay tax. The places for secondary education should be reflected by the people that pay tax to the Government and not this opportunity index which seems to be helping a lot of people, particularly in the Central Province.

I have one other point to raise on development. Mr. Speaker, as regards education. You will find that most of the secondary schools or classes are placed in Mombasa, a very small area of the Coast Province. Mombasa alone has 28 classes, whereas the other rural areas have only six, an aggregate of six. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I ask this Government to distribute secondary classes fairly, so that they cover the whole area. Mr. Speaker, you will find that boys from the rural areas who go to Mombasa for secondary education can fill about six classes if these are distributed equally in the rural areas, but you find boys from Taita, Kilifi, Tana River and Kwale going to Mombasa as day scholars. They have to pay fares, rent houses in Mombasa and be day scholars. If the Government could only distribute these classes equally, they could remove some classes from the four-stream schools and allocate them to the different districts of the Coast Province, other than Mombasa. You will find that most boys—

Mr. Bala: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, the hon. speaker is going away from his Motion because he is trying to attack the set-up of schools in Mombasa. Is this in order while he is demanding that something should be done for the Coast as a whole and Mombasa is part of the Coast?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You are quite entitled to raise the question of relevancy, but it occurs to me that so far the hon. Member is in order, because he seems to me to be saying that there is not sufficient development anywhere but in Mombasa. That is to say that whatever development educationally there is, it is concentrated in Mombasa, at the expense of the rest of the area. I think he is entitled to say that.

Mr. Tuva: Mr. Speaker, going further, I should congratulate the Ministry of Commerce and Industry on one thing only: that they have posted a few officers to the district who were not there before independence, but one wrong thing is that they are still keeping there somebody whom we have asked the Government to remove: that is, the Provincial Trade Officer in Mombasa. He is an Asian and we find that there is too much stress still on Asian participation in trade.

One other thing that has been pointed out to me by some officials is that they are keeping back education because they want to expand the tourist trade. They say that if many people are educated in the Coast, then there will be no room for tourism because they want the Coast to remain like the national parks of the Masai country. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I would like the Government to change this attitude.

One other thing, Mr. Speaker, in the Development Plan which was stressed in the President's speech on 2nd November is the co-operative movement. The co-operative movement will be very usefully applied by the Government, in conjunction with the produce boards, to bring about African participation in the economy of the country, but we find that there are not enough co-operative officers. There is no district at the Coast which has a single co-operative officer. Those who are there are only co-operative inspectors and one co-operative officer in Mombasa who is replaced every month by another.

This will not bring about development at all. It appears as if the Government has a master plan to see that the Coast remains as it is. The staff of the co-operative movement do not have transport of any sort. There was a Land-Rover in Taita and this was transferred to do better work in Nakuru.

[Mr. Tuva]

Mr. Speaker, I will not complete what I have to say without mentioning agriculture. Agriculture, Sir, has been stressed by this Government, and particularly by the President himself, by his call of "go back to the land," but you find that all this means nothing as far as the Coast is concerned, because no one there, no indigenous person of the Coast has any land he can call his own; he is either a squatter in the former Coastal Strip or he has no title deed in the other parts of the Coast. Therefore, Sir, I would ask the Government to settle this land problem immediately so that the people can develop agriculturally, to land and, in return, play a big part in commerce.

Mr. Speaker, the Government has in the past shown commissions to study the land problem at the Coast, but although there have been up to now about four commissions no report has been brought to this House. At the moment, there is a commission—the Shimechuo Commission—which is studying the land problem, and I think the report was completed about four months ago, but it still has not appeared, and that is why there is all this trouble in the former Coastal Strip. This week there was some trouble on the Oorhauser's farm. This is because of the slackness of the Government in not caring about the Coast troubles.

Mr. Speaker, another thing is promotions and employment of the Coast people, and this is part of our development. You will find that even if a Coast man qualifies in the Kenya Institute of Administration, he will still be the last person to be considered for any promotion. All those who were there in 1963 are, up to today, district assistants, and those they used to beat in class at practical work are most of them today, district commissioners. This is a question for the Government to answer. In the same way, those who went to the institute for a community development course: School Certificate people from the Coast who did very well practically and also in the written examinations, are still assistant community development officers, while those from other places, Kenya Preliminary Examination Certificate holders, who did not do as well, are today community development officers. This is another question for the Government to answer.

Mr. Speaker, I spoke in this House concerning the chiefs in the former Coastal Strip. These chiefs were employed by recommendations of the Franks and the Sultan of Zanzibar, and I asked this Government, since these chiefs are not progressive, to dismiss them. But the Government did not want to dismiss them. Letters were written through the proper channels for the dismissal of these chiefs, but they are still there today, keeping the Coast back, just as we heard yesterday the Minister for Agriculture saying that the chief was not doing his work. This is the sort of chief that we have at the Coast; they never co-operate with the politicians; they regard us as trouble-makers. This is the sort of thing the Government must look into. The people there today do not believe that there is Uhuru, because they hear over the radio that so many chiefs have been dismissed, but their own chiefs, who had to pay their first allegiance to the Sultan, are still there even today. This is another thing for the Government to look into.

Mr. Speaker, to wind up, I should like to point out three things to the Government. Since we do not have a Minister from the lower Coast in the Cabinet, we have nobody to voice the Coast problems there. I ask the President kindly to appoint one Minister so that he can be in the Cabinet and air the Coast views. We have seen appointments of Ministers being made and for some particular reason some new Ministers are appointed from time to time when we hear there has been a re-shuffle. But no attention has yet been paid to the Coast, particularly the lower Coast. Therefore, I ask the President kindly, next time, to appoint somebody from the lower Coast—and of course the person is known—the right voice to air the Coast views in the Cabinet. We feel, Sir, that the Coast is regarded as a thorn in the side of Kenya, and that is why no development is being carried out there. The Development Plan shows so many things that the Government was going to accomplish by 1966. One was the Takaungu-Kilifi Road which was going to be tarmacked and reduced to six and a half miles. It was said that this would be ready by 1966 and up to now it has not even been started. In the Development Estimates of 1965/66, it is shown that Malindi Airport would have lighting and seating facilities, but up to now nothing has been done about this. The other day I was ashamed when a Kenya Government Minister was passing through Malindi Airport and had to stand for the whole of the twenty minutes because there were no seats.

Mr. Speaker, I mentioned in this House to the Minister for Local Government that the Malindi Urban Council wards were badly divided. You find that the Africans, in a ward of 1,700, return only three councillors and in other wards, because those wards are European-populated and Arab-populated, with only about 14 voters, return also three councillors. I pointed this out to the Minister for Local Government and when he went

[The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry] did yesterday assure the Members that in our Ministry we would appoint a qualified auditor who would be going round all these statutory boards and checking their accounts. He would do this as a surprise, he would not let them know that he was going on what day. So, this question we are very aware of this and we are trying to check all these accounts as we do not want any repetition of what has happened in the Western Kenya Marketing Board.

Again, the Member for Uasin Gishu, Mr. Tuwei, said that there were very few pigs in his constituency because Europeans have left the country. This is what I said when I was introducing this Bill, because we know exactly that before and after independence some Europeans, who were actually the pig keepers, had left the country and in some parts of the country there are not now any pigs left. What I would tell the hon. Mr. Tuwei is that if he eats more pig meat he would create a market and so increase production. If he tells his people to eat more pig meat we would be able to meet his wishes.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the hon. Member for Kikuyu, Mr. Gatuguta, raised many questions and said that this Bill should not have been brought to this House. I do not agree with him. There were too many amendments in the existing Bill and, latterly, it was not possible to amend every clause here and there without making it clumsy. This was done on the advice of the Attorney-General's Chambers.

An hon. Member: So what?

Mr. Murpor: Mr. Speaker, pig production representation. Producers sell their stock to Uplands and are eligible to become members of the Uplands Pig Producers Association, and are eligible for appointment to the Pig Industry Board.

So on these questions about which the Members did not know, I think we have been able to clear some of the criticism, and most of the criticism was, in fact, repetition from one hon. Member to another.

With these few remarks, Mr. Speaker, I beg to move.

(Question put and agreed to)

(The Bill was read a Second Time and committed to a Committee of the whole House tomorrow)

ADJOURNMENT

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): That concludes the business on the Order Paper. The House is now adjourned until tomorrow, Friday, 4th February, at 9 a.m.

The House rose at thirty minutes past Five o'clock.

Friday, 4th February 1966

The House met at Nine o'clock

(The Speaker (Mr. Slade) in the Chair)

PRAYERS

NOTICE OF MOTION

DISMISSAL OF CIVIL SERVANTS: COAST PROVINCE
Mr. Kiser: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to give notice of the following Motion:—

THAT this House, noting with deep regret the delay in the appointment of chiefs, in this country, especially in the Coast Province, recommends that all civil servants responsible for such delays be dismissed forthwith.

MOTION

DEVELOPMENT PRIORITIES: COAST PROVINCE

Mr. Tuva: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I should like, first of all, to point out that there is no Minister, neither is there any Assistant Minister to reply to this Motion.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I am afraid we have to carry on all the same.

Mr. Tuva: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move the following Motion:—

THAT in view of the fact that the Coast Province is regarded as one of the backward areas in the country for development purposes, this House urges the Government to accord priorities under the Development Plan in order to enable the said province to catch up with the other parts of Kenya.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I did not bring this Motion to quarrel with the Government, but I have brought it to point out to the Government that so far since independence, or since the Development Plan, 1964/70, was drawn up, nothing has been done, that is mentioned in the Development Plan. However, Mr. Speaker, I have to congratulate the Government to begin with, for working hard on the Mombasa/Nairobi Road, which I have always mentioned in the Budget speeches.

Firstly, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to blame the Colonial Government which the present Government is trading on. That is, the Colonial Government neglected the Coast in all walks of life.

In trade no Africans were given loans. In education, the Coast was left behind purposely. I do not know why. Medically, too, no good hospitals were built at the Coast. Generally, the Coast was neglected and has been regarded until now, as one of the most backward areas in the country.

Mr. Speaker, because of the lack of schools, we do not have enough educated people to fill posts in the Coast and, therefore, we find that most of the Government posts and even those in different companies are filled by people from other parts of Kenya and not the Coast Province. Take, for example, Mr. Speaker, local authorities. In the Mombasa Municipality you will find that the top personnel are people from other parts of Kenya, not from the Coast. Mr. Speaker, there are some people who are now saying that they are Kanyans. You will never find a chief from the Coast employed anywhere, say in Kakamega, Kisumu or even Kiambu. You will never find the Town Clerk of Nairobi is a Giriama or a Taita. You will never find, Mr. Speaker, somebody from the Coast as a fisheries officer in Kisumu, but you will find that all the African fisheries officers at the Coast are people from Kisumu, people who cannot even speak Swahili. They can never be understood by the people for whom they are working. Therefore, this, Mr. Speaker, is what I am asking the Government to put right.

In all other areas where there is an expatriate officer and the post is going to be Africanized, normally, they wait until a local person can fill the post and then it is advertised and filled by somebody from that area. That is why we ask, Mr. Speaker, the Government to be on the lookout to check such mistakes that have been made all over the country, particularly at the Coast. An example is the post of the Town Clerk of Mombasa. If this post was in Kakamega, Kisumu or Nakuru even, they would not have taken somebody from far away. Normally, they leave the expatriate officer there to work until a local person is obtained, and this person then fills the post. That is why the Town Clerk of Mombasa has not been confirmed, and I am sure that he will never be confirmed and somebody else will fill that post from the Coast.

Mr. Speaker, I am being accused of being tribal, but tribalism is natural in Kenya. When one of the big posts in Kenya is vacant, the question put forward by everybody in the country is, will this post be filled by a Kikuyu or a Luo? That is the question, and that is why today we are trying to point out to the Government that there is a danger of laying too much stress on these two tribes so that they appear to dominate the whole country.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order, Mr. Tuva. You are getting away from your Motion now, I think, are you not? Keep to the question of development of the Coast.

surely this is a job which could be done by an ordinary civil servant in the Ministry, a veterinary officer or someone else can do this job without necessarily creating a board.

Next comes "advising the Minister on any matter affecting the pig industry". Here again the Minister can always be advised by the field workers. In fact, I fail to understand how members of the board who are not in the field, who are not being acquainted with the day-to-day problems of the producers, will be able to advise the Minister. The Minister can be better advised by the veterinary officers and other experts in agriculture.

"Promotion and advancement of the pig industry": well, that is probably the only function the board can carry out, but how much they can do towards this is a question mark.

So all this goes to show that unless we are creating boards for the sake of creating them, there is no need at all for one more. A very important point was raised on this subject by the hon. Mr. Muliro who said that the pig industry could be amalgamated with the Kenya Meat Commission. After all, in the final analysis, this is a question of selling meat, selling and eating meat. My own view about the Bill is that I can see the good side of the Bill only in so far as the Bill eliminates the question of licensing producers, the question of limiting the production of pigs and also this abolition of the quota system. I do agree that this is the best side of the Bill. But I say it would be better to bring in an amendment of the existing law to include these things—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I do not think, Mr. Godana, you were here when I mentioned a little point of order after Question Time, that the right way of crossing the Floor for hon. Members is at or near the Bar.

It is all right, Mr. Godana, but bear it in mind.

Mr. Gatuguta: Mr. Speaker, I was going to finish by saying that I would find it very difficult myself to support this Bill. I do not find any sense in it, and whatever sense I do see could have been brought to us in the form of amendments to the existing legislation. I do not see any good reason for the establishment of a new law, entirely separate from the existing law.

Mr. Malinda: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I want, first of all, to say that if the Assistant Minister, when he was speaking, was as right as he was, then, I submit, that the Bill appears to be unnecessary. I associate myself with the sentiments expressed by Mr. Gatuguta, that if this is just an extension of an existing board, then the right and simple thing would have been to amend the law which governs the existing pig industry. But maybe, as the Assistant Minister says, there is some colonial language or some colonial provision which he does not want to see on our Statute Book, and for that I give him credit. And in that respect, I wish to support the Bill.

But, Mr. Speaker, before supporting the Bill entirely I should like the Assistant Minister, when he replies, to clarify some points here which did not seem to be quite clear to me. First of all, Sir, the definition of a butcher here is such that if, as one earlier speaker said, I keep pigs and, for some reason, I would like to slaughter a pig for a feast or something like that, it seems as though I will be prosecuted if I do such a thing, because it is an offence according to this Bill. Why should I, being a producer of pigs, and wishing to treat my family or my friends to a feast, why should the law restrict me from enjoying my property, the property that I possess? Why should I have to go and get a licence to slaughter the pig?

The Assistant Minister for Works, Communications and Power (Mr. Godana): Mr. Speaker, on a point of order, I think this subject has come in for some repetition on the part of various Members, and I would like to move that the Mover be now called upon to reply.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think we are getting near the time when the House should entertain that question, but not quite so urgently as to interrupt Mr. Malinda's speech, if he will close fairly soon. At the end of that, I would allow that question to be moved.

Mr. Malinda: Mr. Speaker, I will move from there if the Assistant Minister is worried about that. But it is, I think, a valid criticism of the Ministry of Agriculture, which the Minister should clear up, and make the point clear to the House and also to the people who will be directly affected.

Now, Sir, a lot has been said about clause 3. I will not repeat what has been said but, as regards clause 3 (d), it says "no more than three additional members appointed by the Minister". Here I would like to know what qualifications these people will have, whether it is just any Tom, Dick and Harry that the Minister feels like appointing or if it is somebody, such a member who is to be appointed, with a direct interest in the pig industry or someone who has some other technical qualification or knowledge which would be beneficial to the industry.

Mr. Speaker, very few Members of Parliament have any knowledge of pig keeping, so I do not think that being a Member of Parliament is a qualification!

[Mr. Malinda]

Moving to clause 3 (3) (d), it gives reasons for removing a member from the board. It says "An appointed member of the board shall cease to hold office if . . . he undergoes any term of imprisonment on conviction for any offence". Mr. Speaker, that, I think, is too wide and there should be some definition or some restriction on some of these offences. Mr. Speaker, if it is not an offence connected with the pig industry, why should a man be penalized? If somebody has been imprisoned for a traffic offence or for a political offence, which, of course, goes on his record, is that really serious enough to debar a person from serving on this board? I should like that clause to be looked into and straightened up.

My last comment, Sir, is in connexion with clause 21 (f), application of funds of the board. I suppose I am following what the Assistant Minister said, that the present Pig Industry Board, which is in existence now, has a chairman, members, a general manager, an accountant and all that; and it has been a practice in this House, when Bills of this nature are submitted, to provide for the appointment or employment of a general manager. Or is this board going to need the services of a general manager? If not, then, Mr. Speaker, that is quite all right. If it is, then it should be defined in this Bill.

Mr. Speaker, after saying that, there is one more thing which I should like to see somewhere in the Bill, that although people who keep pigs will be licensed in accordance with the Animal Diseases Act, very few Africans have any knowledge of keeping pigs and I should like to know how the Ministry of Agriculture is going about, after the enactment of this Bill, teaching the Africans or giving them some explanations or instructions when they are desirous of keeping pigs and how best they can do it. Farmers' training centres are only places where people go and stay for something like two weeks; and I do not think that two weeks is enough for one to be well acquainted with the keeping of pigs.

With those few remarks, Sir, I beg to support.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Godana, if you wish to move the closure?

The Assistant Minister for Works, Communications and Power (Mr. Godana): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move that the Mover be called upon to reply.

(Question, that the Mover be called upon to reply, put and agreed to)

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Murgor): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I must take this opportunity of thanking all the Members who have given their fair criticism of this Bill. I am very sure and happy that during this debate interest has been shown from all over the country, even on the part of the Masai, where I thought they would not be interested in pigs.

The hon. Mr. ole Tipis has said, Sir, that there are a lot of boards and this was another board being created. I do not agree with him, Sir, because at the present time we already have a Pig Industry Board, and this is not a new creation; it is a board which was already in existence.

Several Members raised the question of whether, after passing this into our Statute Books, the Ministry will provide services. I must assure the hon. Members that we in the Ministry will do all we can and use all our field and veterinary staff in extension services; and at this moment, the Agricultural Development Corporation have already employed an officer to deal only with pigs. This is straightforward and we are doing it to help our pig keepers.

The composition of the board: so many Members talked about this and said the composition is not as it should be, but I must assure them that the Minister will see to it that all the people appointed will be producers. Because we do not have at the moment an organization of African pig keepers, we rely mostly on this Uplands Pig Suppliers Association because they are mainly the people who are keeping pigs. Some Africans do supply pigs, and they will know exactly.

I must at this juncture assure the House that, when choosing these people, we will not choose somebody because he belongs to a particular race or any thing like that. The Minister will appoint somebody who is capable and who is a pig producer.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, in sections 10 and 11, the question of slaughtering pigs, when we talk about butchers we mean the people who actually slaughter pigs on a commercial basis, so the question of slaughtering one of my pigs for my family in my own home is up to me.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the hon. Mr. Gichoya, the Member for Gichugu, raised the same question as the Member for Narok East. The two members who will be appointed by the Minister, as I have said, will be producers, irrespective of their race. At the moment we have Mr. Kaguru from Nyeri, who is already a member of the Pig Industry Board, so the question of whether this will be one-sided does not arise.

Clause 7 (c). As you know, the Members were very much surprised by the recent affair in the Western Kenya Marketing Board, my Minister did not want to hear pigs being discussed. When a Bill comes up like this, to bring our people into the pig industry, it is our duty, I think, to try and assist our farmers, our people to come into the pig industry, which also pays just as any other domestic animal industry could pay. Members may not know how much income one could get from keeping pigs, but I would tell the hon. Member for Kuria that if he tried to keep pigs tomorrow, he would find himself richer than he is now, because the price of bacon, to begin with—his should know the price of bacon; he is not a Muslim—is higher than the price of beef. As such, the income derived from pigs is definitely higher than the income derived from cattle.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, I want also to bring forward another—

Mr. Khalif: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, is the hon. Member in order, Sir, to insinuate that Muslim hon. Members in this Chamber are uninterested in the discussion of this Bill?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): No, I do not think that is an insinuation. He was merely stating a matter of fact, that many Members who are Muslims left the Chamber when we were discussing this; there is nothing unlawful or immoral about that allegation.

Carry on, Mr. Osoyo.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osoyo): In fact, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I am waiting to hear the contribution the hon. Member for Wajir North will give on this Bill, if he is interested in pigs at all. I am happy he is here, and I will be glad to hear what he is going to say about pigs.

However, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I would like to make one point very clear. Hon. Members should not, for goodness' sake, Mr. Deputy Speaker, think that we are trying to create a new board. This is not a fact. Also, it should not be thought that this Bill is being brought forward because we want to make jobs for anybody. What we want to do by the new Bill is to bring our people who have been cut out of the pig industry into the pig industry; that is what we want.

The hon. Member for Uasin Gishu has stated very vaguely that the pig industry in his constituency is dwindling, that farmers are being advised by people from my Ministry not to keep pigs. This, Mr. Deputy Speaker, is not true at all, and it is a pity that Members of this House should wait for a Bill like this one to put forward what irregularities are going on in their constituencies. I think the door of our Ministry is very open to hon. Members to bring such complaints to us, so that we can look into them immediately, but if hon. Members wait for a Bill to come up in which they would air their grievances or the grievances of their constituents, I think we are not going to help our people much. If we know that there are people from the Ministry of Agriculture and, particularly, the Veterinary Department who are asking people not to keep pigs, this should be brought up so that we deal with it immediately. Yes, hon. Members may say they know where the people are advised not to keep pigs, but this, of course, depends, as we are advising people, for example, living in my constituency not to plant coffee. That is not because we do not want them to grow rich, but because coffee cannot grow well there. It is possible that at a very high altitude or due to some geographical effect, pigs might not survive well in some areas and, therefore, these people are advised not to keep pigs. That is a different matter altogether.

But the fact that former farmers, as the hon. Member for Uasin Gishu put it, kept pigs on their farms and when they abandoned the farms, the farmers that have taken over these farms are now dissuaded from keeping pigs, I think, is very unfair indeed. I am inviting the hon. Member who has suggested this to bring these points up specifically to my Ministry and we shall look into them and rectify the position.

However, Sir, I would very much have liked hon. Members in this House to speak specifically on the Bill, pointing out which sections they think should be amended, pointing out which sections they think are unfair, rather than generalising that the Bill is creating a board or that the Bill is trying to give a chance to European farmers to do this and that.

I would not like the Members to make these general statements, rather than looking into specific sections of this Bill and pointing out to our Ministry that such-and-such sections should be amended to be in line with what their thoughts are.

With these few remarks, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I hope hon. Members will keep to the theme of the Bill, the sections being suggested in the Bill, rather than hammering the creation of a new board, which is not true. Thank you, Mr. Deputy Speaker.

Mr. Gatuguta: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I only wish to say a few words about this Bill.

[Mr. Gatuguta]

The first thing is to say that there is no reason whatsoever for this Bill to be brought to this House, because, if there was any question of changing the existing law, we could have done so by bringing amendments to this House. There is no need for a Bill. If the Assistant Minister who has just spoken insists on saying that there is already an established board, then the question would arise, what is the difference in functions between the existing board and the present one? It is quite possible to bring in amendments instead of bringing Bills here for debate.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, when I look at this Bill, I can only see very few important things which could have been brought in this House in the form of amendments: that is all. On this idea of pig producers not being licensed, we agree it is a very good idea. Africans should be allowed to keep as many pigs as they want without being bothered with licences, but this is a matter of amendments of the existing law. Similarly, the production of pigs, according to this Bill, is not limited by law. I accept this, it is a very good idea, too. But then I say this is a question of amending the existing law.

A similar thing applies to the quota system. We are not interested in quotas, we want as many people as possible to keep as many pigs as possible. I agree with those things, but, as I said, it is not necessary to bring a new Bill. As I said, it is not necessary to bring a new Bill to enable the people to do these things. It is a matter of amending the existing law.

Now, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, there are certain things which have been brought in this Bill and which I find it very difficult to accept myself. One concerns section 3, the composition of this board. Mr. Deputy Speaker, we are living in a democratic country and the whole business of our Constitution itself provides that the people of this country will be given opportunities to exercise their democratic rights in every field, whether it is freedom of speech or anything else. Our people must be able to make decisions. We no longer have a Colonial Government where decisions had to be imposed on our people. In every institution in this country, whether it is a voluntary organization or a Government body, the people must be given the voice to make decisions.

Now with regard to this section 3 here, the Bill has been brought to this House to help the producers and yet we find that the composition of this board does not give any opportunity to the ordinary producer, the ordinary person, to select a member of the board. Everywhere it is the Minister.

[The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza) left the Chair]

[The Speaker (Mr. Slade) resumed the Chair]

Perhaps I may be told that section 3 (c) provides for the Uplands Pig Suppliers Association to recommend two persons. Surely this is most unfair. I think it would be fairer for the pig producers to be given a voice on this board. But they are not given a voice; they are told that the Uplands Pig Suppliers Association will recommend two members to the Minister and then he will decide whether to appoint them or not. I want direct elections. If you mean serious business in the pig industry, then surely let the people who produce pigs have a voice to elect their own people to the board. I do not say that they should elect all the members of the board, but let a fair proportion of those members be elected by the pig producers.

After all, if you can allow the Kenya Co-operative Creameries which is now to be called the Kenya Dairy Commission to elect their own people on that commission, surely it is only fair that in the pig industry also the producers are allowed to elect their people.

Section 13 (2) provides that "any person who sells any pig to any person, other than a butcher or a licensee of a bacon factory or a pig producer, shall be guilty of an offence". Now this section limits the activities of the producers. In other words, you are not by law supposed to sell your pigs to anyone else except to a butcher or a licensee of a bacon factory or a pig producer. Well, suppose the Assistant Minister now is a big producer and he is approached by some other person for one pig or two, not necessarily for business but for family purposes, in the form of food or something. Does this Bill intend to tell us that he cannot sell it to some person without a licence? And if some person is living in Kisumu he has to come all the way to Nairobi, to where the board is going to sit, to get this particular licence? I think this is very unfair. This particular portion of the Bill should be eliminated completely, or be amended to suit the desires of the people.

Now the functions of the board are provided for in section 10 of the Bill. Surely these functions could be easily be exercised by the Ministry of Agriculture without forming a board? In fact, this board will be having no work to do because if the functions of the board are "(a) licensing of butchers and bacon factories".

somewhere. Either we are here to raise various points which fall on deaf ears. I do not know, but let us examine ourselves. I see, the hon. friend of mine is trying to ask me where, but he knows as well as I do where things have gone wrong. Now, Sir, the thing is this. We have so many statutory boards in this country. We have given each statutory board powers to elect or select who their auditors, provided they are chartered accountants, are going to be.

In all these boards, it is costing the public of this country a very big sum of money to audit all books of accounts of the various statutory boards. I did raise it earlier in the various Bills before this House, to let us try for economy's sake to centralize the auditors for this matter. I mean that once a firm of auditors know that they have six or seven quasi-semi-Government accounts to audit, then the charges will be lower. This is left to the discretion of the various boards, and this, in my view, has more or less raised the audit fees tremendously, which is a charge to our public funds, and, Mr. Speaker, the individual, the producer and the consumer for that matter. Now, Mr. Speaker, I do not know what is going on, whether in these various boards some people have inclinations and have established boards by an Act of Parliament. They have every right to approach an accountant firm to tell them that we pay you £200, or £100 for that matter, per annum to audit just one cash book, a small ledger and possibly a small journal for that matter, and provided you satisfy us, I do not know, I think the whole thing should be centralized to reduce all these audit fees. They cost the country very much. We have told the Minister, the various Ministers here time and again, and nothing has been done about it and it is necessary. If I may repeat it again, what is there preventing the Auditor-General's Department having one or two accountants, after all, this is public money, to deal with the specific audit and checking of these quasi-Government bodies' accounts. It will save us a tremendous amount of money, rather than go to these commercial firms, or does the hon. Assistant Minister want to tell us that it would be cheaper to go to these commercial firms than to centralize the whole thing and have two accountants full time, pay them and be satisfied that nobody can corrupt them, nobody can approach them when they detect a mistake and say, "Tengenezia hii mkeno sisi nao angalia." What I meant, Sir, is that they will be beyond approach by the ordinary boards, because they are paid by the Government, who they are duty bound to support fully, and they are loyal to the services that employ them.

We have had rather a lot of this including the Western Kenya Marketing Board. If the whole accounts were in the hands of a Government auditor, he would have detected them before they made away with this big sum of money.

Now, Sir, I do not want to dwell for long on this because I did speak earlier on, now if I come to this question of licensing of butchers, that is clause 10 protecting members and functions of the board and the rest of it. Now, the licensing of butchers and bacon factories. I do not know where we are on this because there are butchers and there are people who indulge in only slaughtering one pig for their family and the neighbours buy whatever supply is left, and this is in accordance with African Socialism. Even our hon. Minister, the Assistant Minister, when he goes to Elgeyo he slaughters a bullock, he does not get a licence to slaughter it. He takes what he wants for his family, and the rest he sends to be sold—wewe ngoja kidogo. Does he have to go for a licence? No, of course not, the last time we went to your place and we killed a goat, did you get a licence? Mr. Speaker, what I am trying to get at, if it is on a big commercial enterprise, well and good, but please do not be rigid, Mr. Assistant Minister on this. Please remember that this is Kenya of today, Mr. Speaker. When it is only one animal, whatever is surplus, let the people enjoy it according to African Socialism. Do not say that they are guilty of an offence.

Now, Sir, the last point which I have is quality. I think the point here is this, Mr. Speaker, that here we are duty bound to raise not only the animal products of the domesticated animals of this country but also the agricultural products of this country. Do not let us, Mr. Speaker, deceive ourselves, there is quite a lot to be done, and I would hate to see a policy whereby those who have more will have more added to what they have already. For instance, today, Mr. Speaker, and I am glad that the second Assistant Minister for Agriculture has just walked in, the first or second, I do not know—they are equal in status, they receive the same salary. Now, what I am getting at, Mr. Speaker, is this; so far the pig industry has been in the hands of the non-indigenous people of this country. They have not contributed much to the economy of this country, but that much we have very much appreciated. But the time has now come when instead of putting the whole thing to the Uplands Bacon Factory, let this Ministry of Agriculture, if it really means business in the true sense of the word, send its officers into the bush, into the wilderness, and teach the people from Kirinyaga, from Narok, from Masai, from Busia how to rear pigs so that we can all contribute and send our pigs to the common pool. But if we send them just to Uplands Bacon Factory, we do not want that, we want it to go to the ordinary black man, if you do not know.

Mr. Muliro: Mr. Speaker, I find that the only meat in this Bill is found in the Memorandum of Objects—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Presumably pig meat.

Mr. Muliro: Yes. That is the only pork we can find.

Mr. Speaker, what I say is that the only reasons that might have ever brought this Bill before this House are found in the Memorandum of Objects and Reasons. The one is that pig producers will not now be licensed by the Pig Industry Board. Then the pig production will now be limited by law and quotas will no longer be imposed by law. This, Sir, would have just necessitated an amendment to the Act as it is now without creating a board. I find the Ministry of Agriculture is mad about boards. They are creating one board after the other for the sake of creating jobs for the small boys.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): On a point of information, Mr. Speaker—

Mr. Muliro: I do not require any information from the Assistant Minister. I have kept pigs before and I do not think that he has seen a pig in his sty. Mr. Speaker, I find that the only way we can reorganize effectively the economy of this country is to go for efficiency, and if we go for efficiency we must amalgamate some of these boards, so that the marketing organization is carried out by experts, so that the research work is carried out by experts. We do not want half-baked brains playing about in some of these boards so that we get inefficiency. These, Mr. Speaker, I find, and my submission is that the Minister for Agriculture to get those three items I have already quoted in the Memorandum of Objects, Act without creating a board. This Pig Industry Board should have gone together with the Livestock and Dairy Board to create one board so that it carries the Kenya Meat Commission, the Kenya Co-operative Creameries, the Dairy Board and the Pig Industry Board. These departments specialized in the various ways to bring about what he wanted, but to create a board because the Minister would like to get credit by appointing one man as a chairman, and then by putting the Director of Veterinary Services on the board, by appointing two more members himself on the board. All this and many others, Mr. Speaker, is just creation of jobs for the sake of appeasing some hon. Members or some friends of the Minister. It is not in the interest—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! No, you do not impute things like that, Mr. Muliro.

Mr. Muliro: I am sorry, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You must withdraw that imputation, Mr. Muliro.

Mr. Muliro: I did not intend to impute any improper motives to the Minister, so I withdraw.

Mr. Speaker, I find that the most important thing the Minister should have done in the light of his own statements in this House, yesterday he laid a Paper on the Table here, telling us that he is streamlining everything, instead of streamlining everything he creates more boards again. When we want to see that there only three or four boards in Kenya, we see the Minister is going over the limit of thirty-five. There are today almost thirty-five statutory boards under the Minister for Agriculture and other Ministers.

[The Speaker (Mr. Slade) left the Chair]

Now, any hon. Member who disputes that, Mr. Deputy Speaker, will have to enumerate the whole gamut of the boards before he can prove me wrong.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, my submission is that these boards should be created, should be made fewer in order to enable the ordinary farmer, the ordinary producer to get the best out of his sweat. They should be streamlined in order to enable the consumer in the urban areas to pay lower prices, because the cost of production will be minimized, the overhead charges will be minimized; hence the producer will get a good price and the consumer also will get a better price for his money. This, Sir, is my submission and with the few remarks I would have asked the Minister to amend the original Act without creating a new board for giving a few boys more work.

With this I beg to oppose.

Mr. Tavel: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, this new Bill has come into the country when most of the consumers of pork and bacon have already left the country for their own countries and, therefore, I do not know why we have to make a new law. We do not know why we have to create and make a new law, in such a way that accountant when we pass this Act. But, again I am faced with the situation of the West Kenya Marketing Board, and I wish the Minister was here so that already having experienced the bitter lesson of the West Kenya Marketing Board he should understand what we feel about this clause. Now, if the board is given the discretion of appointing its own accountants, and not the Government, we might be landed in the same situation, Sir, as with the West Kenya Marketing Board. It was a statutory board like this, and was under a Minister of the Kenya Government. But we have learned a bitter lesson, that accounts could not be audited, accounts were not kept for so many years, and the Government was unable to check the misuse of public funds by board members, or the management of the board. In this respect I see that there might be contradictory arrangements on this Bill, because a few days back the Minister did say that he was going to take some steps to see to it that in every board there would be regular checking of accounts, and if this is the case then this board should be exempted from that regular checking, because the law as it is says that the board will have to submit audited accounts after six months. Now, if anybody then thinks of going to check the accounts before six months are up, this would be infringing the very principle we are now trying to make here. So, I would like to hear from the Minister why there should be such contradictions.

The other thing, Mr. Speaker, on which I would like the Minister to tell me what he is going to do, otherwise I am bound to put an amendment to it, is clause 10. These are the functions of the board. Mr. Speaker, we are told that the functions of the board shall be: (a) licensing of butchers and bacon factories. Now, if we admit that pigs could be found in every part of the country and that it is not possible to have factories in every district in the country, it then follows, Sir, that individual pig owners wishing to have two or three pigs slaughtered in the countryside, in a market place, would be forced to come to Nairobi if the headquarters of the board would be in Nairobi, to get a licence. It is stated clearly in clause 11 "any person who carries on business as a butcher, unless he holds a current licence from the board to slaughter pigs, shall be guilty of an offence." Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am trying to find out what arrangements have been made by the Minister to make it possible for the representative of the board to be in a district, and the Bill does not say that the district commissioner would be empowered to issue the licence. Mr.

Speaker, if these things are not there how shall I believe that if I wished to slaughter a pig in my own village I should not have to come to Nairobi to get a licence? This again means that it becomes a very big problem for an ordinary person with two or three pigs to make some benefit from those three pigs, because transport costs from his own home to Nairobi would be extremely high. Maybe, Mr. Speaker, there is someone living in the North-Eastern Province where the mode of transport from the old Northern Frontier District is mainly by plane. Is it reasonable for someone to come from the Northern Frontier District, or, for that matter, from Mombasa to Nairobi to get a licence to go and slaughter two pigs, or one pig? Here I need a very strong clarification. But Mr. Speaker, when we come to the stage of bringing amendments I am bound to put in an amendment. This, Sir, would be meant to facilitate an ordinary person to make the best use of a few pigs he might have in his own house, either for getting money for his own children's education, or to pay the Graduated Personal Tax, or to pay the normal tax that is needed. But, if it means that one has to come to Nairobi, Mr. Speaker, to get a licence as if he has a factory I think the Bill becomes a punitive measure as far as the citizens who have low incomes are concerned.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, these were my worries and unless they are made clear by the Assistant Minister who is jotting down whatever is being put forward by the Members, I am bound to move an alteration to the Bill.

With these few words, Mr. Speaker, I rest, waiting to hear.

Mr. ole Tips: Mr. Speaker, Sir, we have this Bill before the House and, of course, some of us are beginning to wonder as to where we are heading. We seem to be creating statutory boards almost every day, almost every night. And I believe, Mr. Speaker, that the time has come, for the interest of the nation, that in order to avoid the overheads, some of these boards should be amalgamated so as to cut the overheads and try to get a whole team of experts, not only in the field of animal husbandry, but in the various other agricultural products.

Now here we have a board, we have the Pig Industry Board, we have the Kenya Meat Commission, we have the Kenya Dairy Board, we have so many other boards, the Kuku Board, the Coffee Board. Now, Mr. Speaker, I do not see how on earth this Government, or our Government, for that matter cannot sit down and try to amalgamate all these various boards and, by that, economize on the various experts.

49 Bill—Second Reading—

[Mr. ole Tips]

Here, Sir, I must admit that I am in the same line as my friend, the hon. Assistant Minister who is there holding his cheeks and waiting to see if there is an expert on pigs, neither am I, Sir, he is not an expert on pigs, neither am I, Sir. So, as far as this pig industry is concerned, Sir, I would like to ask very seriously, that Sir, I would like to ask the Uplands Bacon Factory from the employees of the Uplands Bacon Factory, what are the experts employed by the Ministry of Agriculture and Animal Husbandry who are really employed in the field in various districts to advise our people on the pig industry? We rely entirely on the goodwill of the Uplands Bacon Factory.

If this is not the fact, then the Assistant Minister can correct me. If I am wrong, because I now have not seen one in Masailand. I think, Sir, and even if you go to Kiambu where there are so many pigs, you see only a gentleman who I know, he is a friend of mine from Uplands, working on his own commercial line, but is an adviser paid by our Government. So, this is an issue to come and try to cover up, or cloud up the issue, to protect a commercial firm to go on at this sort of line.

Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not want to be critical on this Bill. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I just want to touch upon a few clauses in this Bill before I conclude. Firstly, Sir, I would like to touch upon clause 3 which deals with the establishment of the board. Now, Sir, here we have, and we believe that we have, genuine reservation, because in all these boards the whole thing is left entirely in the hands of the Minister to appoint or nominate whoever he believes, or he thinks, is the right person. The Ministers are ~~man~~ being as everybody else, and, of course, we in Kenya who believe in the true word of democracy, would like to see the process of democracy carried out right through. We do not want any favouritism. Some of us might be speaking bitterly, and you might find us not on top of the boards, but we speak our minds and therefore it should not prevent us, but we want people who really contribute for the good of the nation and the country and not to be frightened that unless he sings his master's voice, he is out. We do not want that kind of thing, Sir.

So, Sir, in clause 3 (1) it says, "There is hereby established a Board, to be known as the Pig Industry Board, which shall consist of—

(a) a chairman to be appointed by the Minister;

(b) the Director of Veterinary Services or a person deputed by him in writing for the purposes of this Act; . . ."

The Director of Veterinary Services is, of course, under the strong hand of the Minister. It goes on to say, "(c) two members to be appointed by the Minister, on the recommendation of the Uplands Pig Suppliers Association, . . ."

Mr. Speaker, Sir, what is the membership of this Uplands Pig Suppliers Association? We want to know, Sir. We have no quarrel, Sir, they can be Europeans. If they are the best producers, they have every right to be there, but we want a breakdown so that we know the type of person, Sir, whom they are going to appoint as members of this Pig Industry Board. In clause 3 (d) it goes on to say, "(d) not more than three additional members appointed by the Minister." Now, Sir, starting from clause 3 (1) (a), (b), (c) and (d) all these are concerned with the appointees of the Minister. I would not like to use the word that we overruled in this Parliament, although my friend on my right is trying to whisper it to me, but I do not want to use that word. They are all appointees of the Minister.

But, Sir, what about the producer? Where does he come in, to cater for or to serve the interests of the producer, and where does the consumer come in also? This is a big question, Sir. There is no mention here as to who will represent the interests of the producer, who will represent the interests of the consumer, but it just says that all these are appointees of the Minister. The Minister is not an angel, he is just a human being. We all make mistakes every day, every moment. But, Sir, we should have been told that there was a very competent board to advise the Minister on the various panel of names before he makes his final selection.

Now, Sir, I would like to go on briefly to clause 4, which reads as follows, if I may quote, Sir, "In the exercise of its powers and in the performance of its functions under this Act, the board shall act in accordance with any general or specific directions as may be given to it by the Minister". Now, Sir, here the only quarrel I have is that it is true that somebody must direct things from the top, but, Sir, there is no escape door whereby if you give a directive, it might be a wrong one, that we will accept, but if it is a wrong directive which will be to the detriment of the Pig Industry, what avenues are there for the board to appeal to another quarter for any wrong doing to be remedied? That, Sir, is a very questionable point, which, I think, the Minister should have taken into account.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, like my hon. friend Gichugu, I would like to come to clause 7 which deals with audits and accounts. Now, Sir, on this one, I think something has gone wrong me finish. He reported the whole matter to him, asking him if he would pass it on to the district officer and the district commissioner at Kwale. He went back to work, as I have said, again on the 29th and again the people came to see him. He then not only spoke to the chief again, he was concerned about things and got in touch with the police and with Mombasa.

But I must tell the hon. Member that this man is a surveyor, an assistant surveyor, and to my mind he did what was absolutely right in going to the administration, reporting the matter to them, reporting it to the police and reporting it to Mombasa.

Mr. Ngala: Arising from that reply, Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Minister aware that the final meeting on Friday, when the trouble had started, was not addressed by politicians nor the chief of the area but was addressed by the police officer whom the people did not know and whose Swahili they did not understand?

Mr. McKenzie: No, Sir.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): We must go on now

POINT OF ORDER

RULING ON MATTERS FOR MOTIONS FOR THE ADJOURNMENT UNDER S.O. 14

Mr. Omar: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, because of the seriousness of this matter, Sir, and because of the representations which have been made to the Members of Parliament from the Coast Province about this matter by the people concerned, the Digo tribesmen, I would like this matter to be debated under Standing Order No. 14.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Again I have to rule whether this is a definite matter of urgent public importance; and I would explain to hon. Members that to decide that I have to be satisfied, first, that it is a definite matter, secondly, that it is urgent and, thirdly, that it is of public importance. All those things. And if any hon. Members are in doubt as to why I ruled on the previous request, I will tell the House that it was because it seemed to be neither sufficiently definite nor sufficiently urgent. Here I cannot see any urgency and, as far as I know, the main matter is finished. It is a matter of inquiry into what has happened rather than stopping what is happening. I cannot allow it as a matter under Standing Order 14.

Mr. Mwanzandi: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, it might be that you said it does not involve public importance—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I did not say it was not of public importance; I said it was not sufficiently urgent.

Mr. Mwanzandi: Yes, because you do not know what is happening there today.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I heard a good deal about it.

Mr. Mwanzandi: There is a police post kept there today and we do not know what will happen perhaps if those Wadigo all gather together to follow those policemen.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Sorry, Mr. Mwanzandi, but there was no suggestion of that kind in all the supplementary questions that were asked. I have to go on what I hear in this House and I have gone on what I heard. I have given my ruling, and that is the end of that matter.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE CHAIR

MOVEMENT ACROSS FLOOR OF THE HOUSE

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Before we go on to the next Order, I would just like to deal informally with a point of order. I have noticed during the last few days a tendency among hon. Members—particularly Ministers and Assistant Ministers rather naturally—to move across the House close to the Mace. I would ask hon. Members to bear in mind that the right way of moving from one side of the House to the other is at or near the Bar. I think it only arises with Ministers really; if those who are present would kindly remind their colleagues of this, I would be grateful.

BILL

Second Reading

THE PIG INDUSTRY BILL

(Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry on 2nd February 1966)

(Resumption of debate interrupted on 2nd February 1966)

Mr. Kibaga: Mr. Speaker, Sir, this Bill is most welcome because previously the management and the control of pig keeping was rather in a mess, and we find in most cases that before we achieved independence the pig industry was controlled by the settlers, the European settlers, and this organization has continued since independence. If some people wished to keep pigs outside the settled areas, they had to ask permission from the Pig Board and get permission from the Veterinary Department, and this was very complicated. So the idea of the control and the licensing of pig keeping being kept on a district level is a very good idea, so that whoever wishes to keep pigs

[Mr. Kibaga.] will only have to go next door, about a mile or a few miles, to reach the officer and then be allowed to keep pigs. Another thing, Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the idea of licensing from the Pig Board only the breeders.

But there are two clauses on which I have a question and I think they should be clarified by the Minister or his Assistant Minister. One is clause 3, the establishment of the board. Under this clause, it is written:

"1. (1) There is hereby established a board, to be known as the Pig Industry Board, which shall consist of—

- (a) a chairman to be appointed by the Minister;
- (b) the Director of Veterinary Services or a person deputed by him in writing for the purposes of this Act;
- (c) two members to be appointed by the Minister, on the recommendation of the Uplands Pig Suppliers Association, to represent pig producers;
- (d) not more than three additional members appointed by the Minister."

Mr. Speaker, I have no quarrel with (a) and (b), in fact as the chairman and the director are concerned. But I am concerned about (c) and (d). The Uplands Pig Suppliers Association is given the chance of recommending two members but in (d) the other members are only to be appointed by the Minister. If this association is to be given the chance to appoint its own members, the members it trusts, I see no reason why, in the districts where pig keeping is going on, the people there should not be allowed to recommend to the Minister the people they want to represent them in the pig industry. We do not want the Minister choosing from the Uplands Pig Suppliers Association and later on there is no limitation; he may again have to go to the same suppliers whom he probably knows better and choose the same people.

So when the Minister comes to reply, I would like some more clarification so that because the Pig Industry is quite important all the people throughout the country will be given the chance to benefit from the pig industry.

I especially would consider this one and request the Minister to when I consider clause 21, application of the funds of the board. The board, when fully established, will control the research, the investigation and it will also do the advertising and it could also do the experiments. If the board is established badly, if it is composed of people from one section of the country, I do not see how it can function properly. So I hope, when the board is established, after correcting clause 3 (1) (c) and (d), it will also take into consideration that, although there are so many parts of the country where pig keeping is not being carried on, experiments should be carried out throughout the country so that no people are left behind over this question.

Again I hope that when this board is established, the officials of the Ministry of Agriculture at the district level will talk to the people and let them understand what is happening. We do not want one section of the country benefiting, while the other areas are suffering. I would especially request the Minister and his assistants to see that the areas where pig-feeds are available in large quantities are considered and the people are encouraged to keep pigs. And experiments should be carried out there.

Mr. Speaker, apart from that, I think the Bill is very welcome and I have no quarrel with anything else. I support the Bill.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I rise to support the Bill but I intend also to make some comments on it. I expect the Minister or his Assistant Minister to be able to enlighten me on them, otherwise I will be bound to change my mind as regards supporting the Bill.

If we take the establishment of the board, we see that the Uplands Pig Suppliers Association, which, in actual fact, traditionally is European-owned—there is no doubt about it because there are no Africans at the present moment who might be constituting a substantial number within this association. Here the Minister says we must have two Europeans on the board. The Minister should then be able to tell us, in order to avoid this question—well, they may be non-Africans, non-citizens, because we have already allowed non-citizens to stay in Kenya as long as they live within the laws of Kenya. But I think it is here, where we have a board of this kind, where we have to do a bit of Africanization; and the Africanization should not only be confined to the Civil Service but should be extended also to the industrial life of this country.

Here, I would like to hear from the Minister whether these two members who will be appointed by the Minister will be Africans or Europeans.

That is one, point, Mr. Speaker, which gives me the impression that we are bound to go against the principle of Africanization.

The other thing, Mr. Speaker, which I wanted clarification from the Minister on is in connexion with accounts and annual report, that is clause 7 (3). Now, we are told here that the board will be given the powers to appoint an

So I hope...

Mr. Mwamzandi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to ask a question by private notice of the Ministry of Agriculture and Animal Husbandry:—

Will the Minister explain to the House the circumstances which led to the fighting between the police and Digo tribesmen at Oberhausers' Farm on 31st January 1966 at Ukunda in the Kwale District?

The Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. McKenzie): Mr. Speaker, Sir, there is a large farm in this area which we took over as a mismanaged farm. The boundaries of this farm are not visible. Therefore, we sent in a survey team to find the true boundaries, to take soil samples and to cut trace lines through the bush to help us decide upon subdivisions to settle the genuine old squatters on this land: that is people who had been residing there for some time. We started this work on the 25th January. Work went ahead extremely well, under an assistant survey officer with visitations from a senior officer from Mombasa. We had had trouble a few weeks earlier, in this area, in registration of people who were residing on the land and the length of time they had been residing on the land. What we were attempting to do, or what the Special Squatter Commissioner was attempting to do, was to find out who on this land deserved to have priority treatment in being given part of the land. The moment he started doing the registrations, a whole lot of people then started coming on to the land, new people, I presume with the hopes that he would accept them, as well as the people who had been on the land, in putting their name down for part of the land. But naturally, this meant that there were far too many people for the land.

On the 28th, the survey workers, twenty of them, were surrounded by a group of people who said to them, "We do not want you to come here again. We do not want you to survey this farm. We do not want you to do anything with this farm." The assistant survey officer that afternoon reported it to the chief in the area. On the 29th, the survey workers and the soil-testing people went back to work and were told again that if they came on the 31st, Monday, there would be trouble. The assistant survey officer then went to the chief in the area, and he was of the view that the chief was not taking this matter seriously enough. So, he then went to the police. The matter was then reported to the district commissioner and to the police in Mombasa.

On Monday, 31st, the Government survey people and the soil people went on to the farm with police protection. The police at all times up all now and on the 31st were unarmed. They were there under the control of the police inspector from Mswambeni.

Now, Sir, at about eleven o'clock on the Monday, whilst the senior officer from Mombasa was present, the party of Government workers were attacked, together with the police, and after a short fight more police were fetched from the police station, and the whole police party, still unarmed, then attempted to disperse the people of whom there appeared to be approximately 100 to 120 in parties of 20 and 30 armed with pangas/rungus, and bows and arrows. Four policemen were wounded and the Government workers, minus the pangas which they had been using for cutting the bush, and the survey equipment, then returned with the police to the police station. Later, when police reinforcements were sent from Mombasa, not only to maintain law and order but to give police protection to the workers who were, at this time, at the police station.

Now, Sir, the Government therefore notes that this particular group has defied Government's intention to measure the land, so as to hand out parcels of land to the people who have been living on this land for many years. Firm steps have now been taken to re-establish law and order and resettle genuine squatters on this land, and, at the same time, repatriating the trouble-makers, whom we have since found own land elsewhere and, in our opinion, are only squatting and coming on to this land to test the Government's strength.

Mr. Mwamzandi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Minister aware that although he had decided to take the farm under a Management Order, when the Oberhausers came down to Nairobi to see him, he decided to withdraw the Management Order due to the fact that the Oberhausers agreed or he himself decided to give half of the shamba to the squatters and the squatters became hostile because of this information, because they did not know why the survey was going on?

Now, if this information—that Oberhauser had given them half of the shamba—had been told to them, would it not have made the situation better?

Mr. McKenzie: No Management Order has been taken off.

Mr. Mwamzandi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have reliable sources even in our provincial agricultural committee, there is a section whereby during the committee there was a long discussion by telephone—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I am sorry, Mr. Mwamzandi, you know you cannot make it a long story of your own, you must ask a question and just give a few facts justifying this question, that is all.

Mr. McKenzie: Mr. Speaker, Sir, there has been no long telephone conversation from Mombasa on this matter with me up until after this incident had taken place, when I have spoken to various Government officials. There have been telephone calls, I well know, with personnel in my Ministry, but the hon. Member, if he is a Member who watches the Gazette, will see that in all these mismanagement notices, the owner must give cause why we do not go ahead with the order, and there is every right for an owner of the land, irrespective of whether he is considered the rightful owner or not, if he holds the title under the Ministry of Land, he, under the law of this country, has the time and the opportunity of stating his case. We do not just take a person's head away and put a Management Order on it, without giving him an opportunity to talk to us. But by what we are doing, we must show the hon. Member that the rumours he is listening to cannot be correct. We are continuing, we are demarcating, now to put the squatters on it. We are looking for the boundaries of this property. One of the biggest problems at the Coast is that the boundary beacons are just not there, and I am sure that the last thing he would want me to do is to take land belonging to somebody, maybe an African or someone who is farming his land properly next door, and thinking that we are taking this other man's land and taking it by mistake.

Mr. Ngala: Arising from one of the replies by the Minister, Sir, I have three questions to ask of this.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): We will see how far you get on. One at a time.

Mr. Ngala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think the Minister is aware that I visited the site on the day and I saw that what started the fight between the surveyors and the Wadigo was the fact that their own cassava was being ploughed in in some parts. The Minister has clearly indicated that the purpose of this survey was to determine the quality of the soil. What had the ploughing in of cassava to do with the soil, when there was a serious shortage of food in the area?

Mr. McKenzie: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am surprised that the hon. Member should ask this, because he knows in the scheme up in the Kilifi area you have to cut trace lines, and I am told, Mr. Speaker, Sir, that the trace lines, that the cassava which he is talking about, was where they were putting the trace lines through, and when you are surveying you have to be able to see from one point to the next point, and if it so happens that there is bush or cassava in the way, it has to be cut down. But, Mr. Speaker, Sir, if the hon. Member tells me that there was ploughing going on, and I presume by ploughing he means either by tractor or by cattle, or uprooting, and if he tells me that there was uprooting going on outside the trace lines, I would be very grateful for this information, as I, myself, am going down there to look into this.

Mr. Ngala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Minister aware that three Wadigo were seriously injured and are lying in hospital for a fault which was not theirs, because the fight could have been avoided if Government had carefully explained the purpose of this survey and definitely given a decision that all settlers or squatters would be given plots? I was quite convinced when I saw them fighting on that day—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think you have asked a long enough question now, Mr. Ngala.

Mr. McKenzie: Mr. Speaker, my information is to the contrary. My information is that a number of Government administration people, including the special commissioner himself, had been and had discussions in that area. I am also told that two or three days before this, when they started on the 25th, there were discussions down there. What we find very difficult to work out is why this work went on without any difficulty for four or five days, to begin with. I am told that there were discussions and that they were quite happy about it. But there must have been something which sparked it off, and, as I said to the hon. Member, Mr. Speaker, I am going down there myself and I hope that we will find out what sparked it off.

Mr. Kase: Mr. Speaker, Sir, since the Minister or those particular surveyors carrying out that particular work on that farm found out that there was trouble, and knowing that the squatter problem is a very touchy one, what effort was made to contact the local politicians or the local Members of Parliament and ask them to talk to the people so that the people would allow this thing to go on?

Mr. McKenzie: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I did say that the squatters in that area for the first time, on the afternoon of the 28th, approached the assistant surveyor. The assistant surveyor immediately went to the right quarter, which was the chief of the area, and reported the whole matter. Just let

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): What is the point of order you would like to make?

Mr. Shikuku: I would like to seek your guidance on this, whether it is in order for the Minister to query my presence when I am present here?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Of course it is, it is quite open to the Minister to comment on the fact that you were not here when the question was first called. It is perfectly true, and he said so, as you commented on the absence of the Minister on another occasion. How you make a point of order out of that I do not know.

Mr. McKenzie: But as I feel that there must be a very good reason for him to ask this question I am only going to answer half of it. And the answer to the first half, (a), Mr. Speaker, is one.

Mr. Shikuku: Arising from the Minister's almost arrogant reply, could he tell the House why he found it unnecessary to answer (b) when it is already here on the Order Paper?

Mr. McKenzie: Mr. Speaker, I have already said why I am refusing to answer it because the hon. Member got up and chastized a colleague of mine for not being in the House when he asked a question, and when he was here to put the question today when I am here to answer a question by him, he was not here, therefore the question cannot have been all that important for him not to have been here. But, as it is an important question, I am answering one half of it. I understand that he may have been detained or held up at the Voice of Kenya, if he was—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I must say I think, Mr. McKenzie, you are making a mountain of the fact that Mr. Shikuku was not here at the time his question happened to be called. It is quite common both for Members and for Ministers to be appearing in the House rather later in question time, but as long as they are here before we have finished with questions no one usually worries very much.

Mr. McKenzie: The answer then, Mr. Speaker, to the second part of the question is also, one.

Mr. Shikuku: Arising from the Minister's reply of one, Mr. Speaker, could he tell me the one and his name, because I also indicated that I wanted to know their names?

Mr. McKenzie: The hon. Mr. Kibaki.

Mr. Shikuku: Arising from the reply, "the hon. Mr. Kibaki", could he tell the House whether the hon. Mr. Kibaki is serving in (a) and (b) statutory boards? The same person?

Mr. McKenzie: Yes, Sir.

Mr. Shikuku: Arising from the answer, "Yes, Sir," could the Minister tell the House why he finds it necessary to have one hon. Member serving on the two statutory boards rather than having any other Member serving on that, or any Assistant Minister, if that is the rule of the day?

Mr. McKenzie: There are other hon. Members sitting on that board.

Question No. 168

CO-ORDINATION BETWEEN KANU AND GOVERNMENT

Mr. Khalif, on behalf of Mr. Lorema, asked the President which Ministry was co-ordinating Kanu Party affairs and those of the Government.

The Minister of State, President's Office (Mr. Nyamweya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. No Ministry is specifically charged with the function of co-ordinating party and Government affairs. It is considered that all party affairs should be dealt with through the party machinery, as required by the Kanu Constitution.

As regards the co-ordinating relationship between the party and the Government, the House should note that party and Government organizations have a continuing relationship, as, for instance, His Excellency the President is also President of the party. In addition, the vice-president, the general secretary and the treasurer of the party, are also Ministers of the Government. The executive officer of the party is also a member of the Government.

Mr. Khalif: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Minister of State aware that the Kanu Party machinery has completely and utterly failed in view of the fact that because the Government has indicated that it is completely disinterested in Kanu Party affairs, there is a party called the People's Action Party in the process of being formed?

Mr. Nyamweya: The hon. Member, Mr. Speaker, is absolutely entitled to his own views and the laws of this country do not prohibit anybody, including the hon. questioner, the freedom of forming and organizing a political party.

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Minister in agreement with me that the affairs of the party have failed disgracefully because of the Ministers of the Government being too busy to attend to the party, so they cannot co-ordinate the affairs of the Government and the party?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am not here to agree or disagree with the views which various hon. Members of this House hold.

Mr. Waribibi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, yesterday we received a circular which stated that the party was being mismanaged and was in debt. Can the Minister accept that these disclosures are true, or can he deny them?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, firstly, I have not seen this circular, and secondly, I am not responsible, neither is the Government responsible for the political activities of various Members in this House.

Mr. Kali: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I wonder whether the Minister is in order to allege that the Government, which was formed by the Kanu Party, is not responsible for the activities of the party which formed that Government?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I cannot rule on that as a matter of order.

Mr. Kagga: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from one of the earlier replies of the Minister, and in view of the fact that the Kanu officials do not visit Kanu headquarters and also in view of the fact that the Kanu Government Party has not met for a number of years, could the Minister tell us how they co-ordinate the activities of the Government and the party?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I do not think we should get confused between the organization of the party, as such, which is, in my view, beyond the scope of a parliamentary question, and the relationship of the party to Government, and the relationship of the subject of the question, co-ordinating the affairs. Let us keep to co-ordination of affairs between Government and the party.

Mr. Masinde: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I stand for your guidance. In view of the fact that this question touches one of the most important things, that is, the party and the Government, will it not be in order for the Government to answer exactly how the party and the Government can be co-ordinated, particularly at the ground level, and say, at the provincial administration, because today the district commissioners and the provincial commissioners do not know who to deal with, because there are two chairmen of the party in every district, or at least in most of the districts?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Since you rose on a point of order, Mr. Masinde, I will repeat that questions relating to the co-ordination of Government and this party are in order.

Mr. Kagga: In view of the fact that the Minister said that the president and the secretary-general of the party were also Ministers of the Government, and he told the House that they co-ordinate the affairs of the party in that way, in that double position, was it not in order for the Minister to tell us how they co-ordinate when they do not visit the Kanu office?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, I cannot add to what I have said to the House already on this point, but now we have had so many points of order, we have exhausted question time apart from a question by private notice.

POINT OF ORDER

RULING ON MATTERS TO BE RAISED UNDER STANDING ORDER 14

Mr. Khalif: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir because this question is very important and needing a wider scope of discussion, are we not in order, Sir, to request you to approve this question to be raised under Standing Order 14, as a matter of national importance?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order. It is always in order for hon. Members to request the Speaker to consider a matter being raised under Standing Order 14, but as hon. Members know, before we can allow that, the Speaker has to be satisfied that the question is a definite matter of urgent public importance and I cannot find that it is so.

Mr. Anyieni: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, in connexion with that—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, not in connexion with that. Not questioning my decision.

Mr. Anyieni: I have a point of order.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You said in connexion with that. I say not in connexion with that. Is it a different one?

Mr. Anyieni: Yes, it is a different one. Mr. Speaker, Sir, when you think that a matter is not of national importance, do we not have any clause in the Standing Orders where we can have a chance to persuade you to see that it is a matter of urgent public importance?

QUESTION BY PRIVATE NOTICE

FIGHTING BETWEEN POLICE AND DIQO AT UKUNDA

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Mwamzandi, I think you have a question by private notice? Will you ask it now?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Mr. Shikuku, do you want to raise it on adjournment?

Mr. Shikuku: It is quite in order; I will support him.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes. Mr. Balala, you must give me written notice in the usual way.

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

MONEY FOR SELF-HELP PROJECTS, MERU

Mr. Mate asked the President how much money had been contributed towards self-help projects in Meru such as the Jamhuri Ward at Meru Hospital and Secondary School building during the President's visit on the 16th and 17th of November this year.

The Minister of State, President's Office (Mr. Nyamweya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. I am informed that no money was contributed towards self-help projects in Meru District during His Excellency's tour of the area on the 18th and 17th of November last year. No contribution has been received from the hon. Member, the questioner, the Member for the area.

Mr. Mate: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the importance of these Presidential visits to any part of Kenya—Mombasa, Kisumu, Machakos or Nyeri—why did the President not even take the trouble to give a shilling or two for the Jamhuri Ward at Meru at least, which the Meru are building themselves, as an example to the Meru people of his generous heart towards the Meru people?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I sympathize with the sentiment of the hon. Member, but perhaps it would be better for me to brief the hon. Member as he is not aware of the President's contribution. The purpose of this visit to Meru last year by the President—he should remember—was to open the Jamhuri Ward at Meru Hospital. It should be recollected by the hon. Member for Meru Central that the Jamhuri Ward was put up by the contribution made by His Excellency the President in the year 1964 when the President contributed £3,000 for the construction of the Jamhuri Ward. It is a pity that the hon. Member does not know this.

Coming to the part which deals with the secondary school, I am told, Mr. Speaker, that there has been a contribution of Sh. 25,000 to build Meru Secondary School dormitory and there is also a further collection of Sh. 30,000 for water improvement at Mithiani Secondary School, and many other contributions to which, I regret to say, the hon. Member has not contributed a cent.

NOTICE OF MOTION FOR THE ADJOURNMENT

UNSATISFACTORY REPLY TO QUESTION No. 173: MONEY FOR SELF-HELP PROJECTS, MERU

Mr. Mate: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, in view of the unsatisfactory reply, I wish to raise the matter on adjournment.

Mr. Anyien: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, is it in order for us to bring questions to this House which have to do with the voluntary offerings of some Ministers or some Members of Parliament as a subject of discussion in this Parliament?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, I think so. Order! I think so. The scope of questions is fairly wide, including matters for which Government is responsible or with which Government has any official association whatsoever. If you were to treat gifts by the President as purely personal and not in his capacity as President, I think you would be right, but this question is based on the assumption that these gifts made by the President to various places are in his capacity as President, in which case I think the question is in order.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Mr. Speaker, Sir, is it not true that the President has always made it very clear that the gifts he gives are personal gifts?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I was not aware of that myself, Mr. Gichuru. If it is so, then I may have to alter my attitude to questions of this kind, and I would be very grateful for any evidence that it is so.

The Assistant Minister for Defence (Mr. Argwings-Kodhek): Mr. Speaker, Sir, can I give the evidence on that one?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Not at the moment; it is not necessary.

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Question No. 201

EMPLOYMENT OF ARABS AND ASIANS IN KWALE

Mr. Mwanuzandi asked the Minister of State, President's Office whether he would tell the House why so many Arabs and Indians had recently been employed in the Provincial Commissioner's Office, Coast and the District Commissioner's Office, Kwale as if there were no Africans today who could be employed in these posts.

The Minister of State, President's Office (Mr. Nyamweya): Mr. Speaker, I beg to reply. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am somewhat in difficulties in dealing with this question because I do not know really how recently the hon. Member for Kwale East wants me to go. May be he could tell me what he considers to be "recently" before I deal with the question.

Mr. Mwanuzandi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is upon the Minister to find out when this "recently" was, because if he wants it clear, in the ..... (Inaudible) ..... of the provincial commissioner's office, the last month, there are about eight girls—Indian and Arab—who have recently been employed. Is he not aware of that?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): We are getting back to the girls again, Mr. Nyamweya.

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, since the hon. Member does not want to say how recently this was, I would like to answer his question in the following manner. No Arabs or Indians, male or female, have recently been employed in the Provincial Commissioner's Office, Coast, or in the District Commissioner's Office, Kwale.

Mr. Mwanuzandi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, despite the fact that recently can mean one month, two months or three months, is he aware of the girls I have talked about?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I want to be extremely helpful to the hon. Member and I want to give him the list of the people who are employed in the office of the Provincial Commissioner, Coast, and the date of their appointments. The office superintendent, one Asian who was appointed on the 29th December, 1950; personal secretary to the provincial commissioner, one Asian who was appointed on the 7th August 1959; stenographer/secretaries, three Asians, one was appointed on 1st April 1961, another on the 17th December 1961, another was appointed on the 8th November 1963—Mr. Speaker, Sir, I thought the hon. Members could be patient in order to enable me to give them this information—then, registrar assistants, only one who was appointed in December 1949, an Asian; copy typists, two, one was appointed on the 19th August 1963 and the other on the 1st May 1964.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, since the hon. Members do not want to hear further information, I do not find any other person who is the subject matter of this question who was employed recently.

Mr. Mwanuzandi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Minister has gone as far as mentioning some of the names, but he did not mention the names of those who were recently employed. And by recently I mean 1965, between 1964 and 1965. If you did not mention 1964 and 1965 are you aware that—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Address the Chair.

Mr. Mwanuzandi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Minister aware that, apart from the names he has given us he has forgotten the name of a young girl, Zena?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in the District Commissioner's Office, Kwale, there is someone who was appointed—just a minute—on the 2nd June, 1965. I do not know whether this is Zena, or who. In the provincial commissioner's office I have no information available at the moment that a Miss Zena "X" has been appointed. But I will definitely make enquiries to find out the details of Zena for the hon. Member.

Mr. Gichoya: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, if the Minister states that he is going to find out as to whether the information given here is true, how shall the House be able to know, Sir, when he does not assure this House that he is going to put it here?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): The usual way is to ask a further question at some time.

Question No. 198

ASSISTANT MINISTERS ON STATUTORY BOARDS

Mr. Shikuku asked the Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry—

- whether he could tell the House how many Assistant Ministers were serving on statutory boards, and
- could he also tell the House how many statutory boards had Assistant Ministers serving on them and the names of the Assistant Ministers concerned.

The Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. McKenzie): But, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am in a little difficulty in deciding just how I should answer this question because the hon. Member for Butere some weeks ago in this House chastized my colleague, the Minister for Local Government, because he was not here to answer a question. Today, when this question came up, the hon. Member was not here to ask it. So—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! It is a fact, you were not here. There is no point of order on that one.

Mr. Shikuku: Yes, it is a point of order, Mr. Speaker.

[The Minister for Home Affairs]

In answer to the second part of the question. There has never been a police post at Kibigori, and therefore, none has been closed. The position is that there is a police patrol based at Kibigori which is manned at the discretion of the divisional commander, depending on the crime situation in the area. The patrol base is still manned and operating.

Mr. Bala: Arising from the Minister's reply, Sir, what factors are there to show the Ministers that the cases are decreasing? Because, as far as I know, Mr. Speaker, there are cases which are reported to the police and they do not record them.

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, we receive daily records of what is happening as regards crimes of all sorts daily, from every district and location, including the activities of the hon. Member.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I do not think you meant criminal activities, did you, Mr. Moi?

Mr. arap Moi: No, Sir.

Mr. Bala: Mr. Speaker, arising from the Minister's reply, what would be the feeling of the House if I could prove to the Minister that a patrol base is no longer existing and that the Minister is cheating the House?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, that is a very serious matter. I do not know whether the hon. Member is operating a Government of his own to find out whether or not there is a base there. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I did state that the patrol base is still manned and operating. If a stock theft occurs within the area, then a police patrol operates in the area. Therefore, there is no question of suggesting that nothing is there.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru) On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, did the hon. Member not make a very serious allegation when he said that the Minister had been cheating the House? Is it in order?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, it is not. It is most improper language which you will withdraw, Mr. Okuto-Bala.

Mr. Bala: Mr. Speaker, supposing the Minister is alleging that there is a police base, and I, as a Member for the area—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order, Mr. Okuto-Bala! It is one thing to question the accuracy of a statement by a Minister and another thing to say that he is cheating the House. That language will not be used in any circumstances and, having been used, will be withdrawn now, please.

Mr. Bala: Mr. Speaker, I withdraw, subject to the Minister—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No! Order! We do not have qualified withdrawals. It is an unqualified withdrawal, Mr. Okuto-Bala, please.

Mr. Bala: Mr. Speaker, in order not to embarrass the Minister, I beg to withdraw.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Murgor): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, is it in order for the hon. Member to say that the Minister did not give an accurate answer, while he himself does not come—his constituency does not cover Kibigori?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Mr. Murgor, you have heard me warn hon. Members about false points of order many times. You will not get another warning.

Mr. Khasakhalu: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in order to prove to the House that the stock thefts have decreased in this particular area, could the Minister give the House the breakdown for the last three years?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, that is another question.

Mr. Ngala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from one of the replies by the Minister, apparently the reduction in stock thefts is due to police activities in the area. Would the Minister not consider it appropriate to have a post there rather than a base?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, since there has been a decrease in stock thefts in the area, there is no reason to have a post there.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Next question.

Question No. 170*MINISTERIAL COMMITTEE FOR VOICE OF KENYA

Mr. Shikuku asked the President if he would tell the House the outcome of the Ministerial Committee appointed by him to inquire into the working of the Voice of Kenya.

The Minister of State, President's Office (Mr. Nyamweya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. The Ministerial Committee which was appointed by the President to look into the working of the Voice of Kenya was purely a Cabinet matter. There was no intention of making public any findings or recommendations of this committee. May I add, Sir, that this committee has submitted its report to His Excellency, the President, and the President has found it to be extremely useful.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, is he aware that the committee appointed interviewed people whom we represent in this House and therefore it was beyond the Cabinet circle and we are entitled to know what the outcome of that inquiry was, because some things have happened which we would like to know more about?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, I agree with the hon. Member for Butere that he represented certain interests in the Voice of Kenya.

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, is the Minister in order to insinuate or to impute improper motives to my supplementary?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I do not think he is doing that, though he is alleging that you had an interest.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, I did not say I had any interest at all, I said that people who were interviewed are represented in this House.

Mr. Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Mr. Nyamweya, Mr. Shikuku is suggesting that you have not yet answered his question.

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, with due respect, I think the hon. Member who has some of his electors working for the Voice of Kenya has some interest regarding these people from his constituency who are working for the Voice of Kenya—including myself—but the main point here, Mr. Speaker, is that the purpose of this Ministerial Committee was to brief the President on the working of the Voice of Kenya, and the recommendations of the committee have already been considered by the President. If he decides to make the recommendations public—which I do not think will be the case—he will certainly do so.

Mr. Shikuku: Arising from that reply, Mr. Speaker, could I therefore assume that it is because of this inquiry that some of the people have had to be transferred from left to right and some have been taken out of the country? Is that as a result of that inquiry?

Mr. Nyamweya: No, Sir.

Mr. Ngala: Mr. Speaker, arising from that reply, is the Minister aware that the committee came about as a result of a debate in this House, and one of the Ministers concerned—I think it was the Minister for Economic Planning—promised that this House would have a Paper laid here after the committee had made its investigations?

Mr. Nyamweya: I do not recollect, Mr. Speaker, that being the case, but if it is, I will certainly look into it and if that assurance was given to the House, naturally the House will be briefed on the situation.

Mr. Kibuga: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from one of the Minister's replies, taking into consideration the interest that Members are taking in this question and the very fact that the decision to appoint this committee was announced in a Parliamentary Group meeting by the President, could the Minister take the responsibility of giving Members copies of the report.

Mr. Nyamweya: I have already answered that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Balala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, do we assume that the Ministerial Committee which has finalized its findings is fully satisfied or convinced that the Voice of Kenya is being efficiently and properly run?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, that is to try and make me reveal to the House the recommendations of this Ministerial Committee! I have already said that the Government does not intend, at the present stage, to publish recommendations of the Ministerial Committee, subject, of course, to only what I have said to the hon. Member for Kilifi South: if an assurance was given, then of course it is up to the Government to see what recommendations could be made public or available to the hon. Members of this House.

Mr. Ngala: Arising from that reply, Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Minister give us an assurance? An allegation was discussed here, during a particular debate, that some beautiful girls had been employed as part-time workers on the basis of brotherly favouritism. Has that been discouraged by the recommendations?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am a married man who is not worried very much about beautiful girls.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Hon. Members will get no more from the Minister today, I think. Next question.

NOTICE OF MOTION FOR THE ADJOURNMENT*UNSATISFACTORY REPLY TO QUESTION NO. 170: MINISTERIAL COMMITTEE AND VOICE OF KENYA

Mr. Balala: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I think this matter is a serious one and I would like to follow it with a Motion on adjournment.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. Nothing has occurred to make it necessary for the Minister's powers, under sections 60 and 61 of the Education Act, to close, take possession of, and re-open a school, to be utilized in respect of Kamagambo School.

As the school is unaided, the management is not obliged to charge the tuition and or/boarding fees gazetted for maintained or assisted schools, and the fees actually charged are not subject to the Ministry's approval. Pupils who attended private schools are not eligible for bursaries from public funds, and there is no reason why an exception should be made in the case of Kamagambo.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, Sir, will the Assistant Minister deny the fact that the selection of students to this school is purely and simply, without exception, based on religious grounds, and is he also aware that this school is so isolated—and yet it is in a rural area—and so restricted and students are kept so much away from the world that they never take part in any activity? The people in the area are so concerned that the Ministry must rethink its attitude on this school.

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, Sir, Kamagambo School is managed by the Seventh Day Adventist church, and as it is a religious body, like any other religious body, like the Catholics or the Muslims, and since this religious body did not apply to be grant-aided by the Government, the Government has no powers to force or make this school cater for pupils who do not belong to this faith.

Mr. Omwete: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Assistant Minister tell this House what the outcome of the discussions was which the Seventh Day Adventist leaders had with the Minister for Education in 1964 and the promise which the Ministry gave that the school was going to be taken over the following year, that was July last year. What became of that?

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Government cannot take over a school which is managed privately, but if the management of the school does apply for grant-in-aid from the Government, then the Government can exercise some power of control in the particular school, but, so far as Kamagambo is concerned, the management had not applied for this aid.

Mr. Mate: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, is it in order for a Minister, who is in Nairobi, to remain absent from the House and let his Assistant Minister answer the questions?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I did not follow your point of order, Mr. Mate, sorry.

Mr. Mate: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is it in order for a Minister to be in Nairobi, and yet remain absent from the House and let his Assistant Minister answer his questions, even though he is in Nairobi?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It is in order, but the House is entitled to comment on it, but not as a point of order.

Mr. Omwete: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from that reply of the Assistant Minister, is he aware that the former Minister for Education, while touring the Nyanza Province, went to this particular school, read the application, made by the leader of this nation that the Government have accepted the application and action was going to be taken by Government? Is the Assistant Minister now trying to tell us that this was not done?

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, Sir, as far as I know, we are not aware that such an application was made or was accepted by the Government. If it were accepted by the Government, then I am sure that the Government would have taken certain steps, but as I said, Sir, we cannot force a certain management to apply for aid from the Government, and if this particular religious group does apply for a grant-in-aid from Government, they will certainly be considered along with other religious bodies or other schools which had applied earlier, but they cannot be given preference.

Mr. Masinde: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, is it not true that Kamagambo Secondary School was built by the Seventh Day Adventists, that is a religion, and they have the right to enjoy the facilities, since they are supporting the school?

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, Sir, this is precisely so, as it is the case with the other religious bodies like the Catholics or the Muslims.

Mr. Godia: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that there is a great need for secondary schools in this country, would the Assistant Minister consider promoting Kamagambo Secondary School to a full secondary school for the county?

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I thought that I had made it quite clear that the Government, as it is at the moment, cannot exercise any powers of control over this particular school, as also it cannot exercise the same powers over any other religious school which is not grant-aided by the Government, and as I said earlier, Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Education Act does not give the Minister for Education sufficient powers to control these religious body schools, and if the Members of this House wish it that the Government should exercise such powers, then it is upon the Members of this House to say so, so that the Minister can proceed with the making of the necessary legislation to control these schools.

Question No. 188

GIRLS' SECONDARY SCHOOL, MUTHAMBI

Mr. Nyaga asked the Minister for Education whether, in view of the fact that the parents in Muthambi Location had contributed more than Sh. 240,000 so as to put up buildings on a new site for a girls' secondary school, which had been agreed by the Regional Assembly would be opened in 1966, and which had now been completed, and whether in view of the fact that the parents were now unable to contribute any more money for the payment of teachers, the Minister could tell the House what the Government was doing to help so that this school could be opened in 1966 as planned.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Ole Konchellah): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. The Ministry of Education can help this school by providing professional guidance concerning equipment, curriculum—

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, Sir, on a point of order. I was trying to tolerate my disappointment, but, Sir, I would now like to raise this matter on an adjournment.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! If hon. Members wish to pursue a question on adjournment, they can always do so by giving the Speaker notice. If they want to mention to the House their intention of doing so, they should do so before we move on to the next question.

Please continue, Mr. Konchellah, I do not think you had finished.

Mr. Ole Konchellah: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Ministry of Education can help this school by providing professional guidance concerning equipment, curriculum, syllabuses and textbooks. The school management should first apply for registration of the school, and only thereafter seek Government assistance through the normal procedure.

Mr. Mate: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that the Assistant Minister himself has visited the site of this self-help project and that the school can be registered within a week, is the Government prepared to meet the Meru people halfway and give us money to set up a school, which was allowed and approved by the Regional Assembly, which is not so defunct as people think.

Mr. Ole Konchellah: Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is quite true that the Regional Assembly supported the aiding of this very school, but the Regional Assembly only handed over the writings in the Assembly, but they did not hand over a single cent to the Ministry of Education. Besides that, Sir, I did visit this very school, and I really sympathize with the work which was done by the local people, and I, myself in my own view, I thought that the Government should help this school, and when looking into this, into the schools which were aided in that area, then I think that Muthambi was settled and will be helped in 1967 and 1968.

Mr. Nyaga: Mr. Speaker, Sir, since the school in the question was built by the parents, having obtained a bit of money, put up buildings and done much that was necessary on the new site, and now they are only given one which is public by the people of the area, only at least for the people and the teachers. Can the Minister tell us whether the Ministry is going to help supply Government teachers or to pay in the teachers?

Mr. Ole Konchellah: Mr. Speaker, Sir, as said before, I sympathize with the situation of this very school, but the reports which the Ministry has received from the province, they actually did not put any priority on Muthambi, which first of all, had top priority to be helped in 1966 but later on the provincial headquarters changed its mind. I followed the record and they changed their minds that Muthambi was not of top priority, so some other schools were aided instead of Muthambi, and I have already said that my Ministry is ready to aid Muthambi school between 1967 and 1968.

Question No. 177

INCREASED CASES OF STOCK THEFT: NYANDO

Mr. Bala asked the Minister for Home Affairs if he could tell the House:

- Why there were more cases of stock theft in 1965 than ever before.
- Why the Government had closed down Kibigori Police Post.

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. There was no increase in stock thefts in Nyando Division as alleged by hon. Member. The information at my disposal indicates to the contrary that a large decrease was registered. Cases of stock theft reported to the police dropped from 227 to 142 in 1965.

[Mr. Masinde] to ensure that this overlapping, having a shortage of seed in the country is not going to be experienced?

Mr. Osogo: I have, Sir, stated very clearly that it is our duty, as representatives of these growers, to educate them to leave the seed here. But, it gives a wrong impression, Mr. Speaker, to tell the House that this shortage is going to continue, because we learn from interesting sources that the price in Uganda next year will drop; it has only been raised this year for political reasons.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, Sir, since the House is very much aware of the political situation, both in Uganda and Kenya, will the Assistant Minister come out with a clear answer, and tell the Members why the maize price and the cotton price should be high in Uganda, whereas in Kenya, no attempt is made to try and raise the prices of either of these commodities?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): We are only concerned with cotton prices at the moment.

Mr. Osogo: I am dealing with the cotton price, Sir: I will not touch the maize price.

I may inform the House—and I think the hon. Member for Homa Bay knows this very well—that the cotton growers in Uganda are also maize growers and the coffee growers. As such, the prices of this produce subsidize each other. But in Kenya the cotton growers are not coffee growers and, therefore, the price of other produce cannot subsidize the cotton.

TEA PLANTING: EGOJI LOCATION

Mr. Mate asked the Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry why had tea planting in Egoji Location of Meru District and the adjacent areas to the south lagged so much behind the other tea areas of the district.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply: The tea line drawn on the then available records, excluded Egoji and the adjacent areas from tea growing. However, I am glad to say that it has been decided to start planting tea in Egoji in April this year. Mr. Brown is also reporting on Mwimbi and Chuka Locations and, if this report is favourable, tea planting will start in these locations when the third plan comes into operation in 1969.

Mr. Mate: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Minister answer the question. Why has the tea growing lagged behind? That is my question.

Mr. Osogo: I have answered, Sir, that the line was outside the present operation.

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Assistant Minister tell this House what quota has been given to the Egoji area and how much has been planted to date?

Mr. Osogo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I cannot exactly say how much has been planted, but I have said that the planting will begin in April and, therefore, there is no question of how much has been planted.

Mr. Mate: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Assistant Minister aware that the Government promised the people of that particular area that they could plant tea some five years back, and that experimental plots in wimbi and Egoji started five years back, and that the same Government refused to allow people to do so, and also refused to allow them the use of the bit of forest along that side?

Mr. Osogo: Yes, Sir, I am aware.

Mr. Mate: Mr. Speaker, Sir, if the Government is aware that it has played a part in this lagging behind, is it prepared to hurry land consolidation and also give us more tea seedlings, money and better roads in order to get on so that the lack of progress cannot be blamed on the Members, but on the Government?

Mr. Osogo: Sir, every cash crop in this country has to be planted according to plan, otherwise hon. Members would come here and ask us for more marketing facilities. But, as I have indicated in the original reply to this question, the Egoji people are going to start planting tea in April. I may inform the House here of something which will interest them, that Meru people were given 299 acres of tea to plant in November of last year, but out of this, they have only planted 206. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I think the people themselves are lagging behind.

DIRECTOR OF THE KENYA IRRIGATION BOARD

Mr. Odera-Sar asked the Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry what the necessary qualifications were which would warrant a person being made Director of the Kenya National Irrigation Board which was due to be established in the near future.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. I assume by "Director" the hon. Member means "General Manager" provided for by a Bill before the House. If this is so, at this stage we would require a man trained and experienced in laying out and planning irrigation settlements; a man reasonably trained and familiar with the range of crops to be grown; a man experienced in management—whether administrative, agricultural or engineering—and preferably an experienced, mature man. He will deal with the future of many thousands of families. We might have one or two of our own people who could fill the position, but whether they would be prepared to leave their present initially important jobs I do not know. And in any case being involved with duties of such national importance as they are at present doing, it may not be economic or practical to move them.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, Sir, since we may have to begin on the experimental pilot scheme in the Kano area where the irrigation will start, and also in the Tana River area, will the Assistant Minister, in the selection of this General Manager consider inviting the co-operation of the people and also consider promoting an efficient, well-trained person from Nyanza, preferably a Luo?

Mr. Osogo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the answer is no.

TEA PRICES IN MATHIRA

Mr. Wamuthenya asked the Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry whether, since tea grown in the Mathira Constituency and the neighbourhood had a good reputation and was fetching a high price on the world market, the Minister would tell the House the reasons why tea growers were paid only 30 cts. per lb. for raw tea, when 4 lb. of raw tea made up 1 lb. of manufactured tea, and this was being sold on the world market at a price ranging between Sh. 9 and Sh. 10 per lb.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. It is true that tea grown in Mathira is getting a good price. I congratulate them for that, but somebody has been talking through his hat in informing the hon. Member that the world market price for tea is between Sh. 9 and Sh. 10. I wish it was! Perhaps the informant is getting confused between the price of cups of tea in New York, or some other expensive capitalist city, and tea itself.

Mr. Wamuthenya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, may I know from the Minister,—he has said that the price in New York might be high because it is a capitalist country,—but may I know from him the real price which he knows, because he has denied the price in the world market?

Mr. Osogo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I did not say that the price of tea in New York was higher. I said the price of a cup of tea is higher. The maximum price paid for the best quality tea is Sh. 4/90 per lb., far from what he suggested.

Mr. Gatiguta: Arising from that reply, Mr. Speaker, could the Assistant Minister tell us which country produces the best tea?

Mr. Osogo: Mr. Speaker, I think I may be in a position to say Kenya is one of the countries that produces the best tea.

Mr. Mate: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, could he equate the price of 30 cts. to the price of Sh. 4/90? Could he give us an idea of how it happens that they get so much less?

Mr. Osogo: Yes, Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to see that the hon. Member for Meru Central is now reasoning.

The price of tea leaves is 40 cts., but if the hon. Member took into account the processing, the cost of factories, the cost of roads, and all other necessary expenses attached to the processing of tea before it comes to market as tea leaves, he would find that it was well covered in price of tea.

Mr. Wamuthenya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, may I know from the Assistant Minister whether he is aware that the price given today is exploiting the poor farmers and that it is discouraging?

Mr. Osogo: I am surprised, Mr. Speaker, to hear that from the hon. Member who, I presume, is a tea grower. He knows very well what the Government is doing in trying to encourage people to grow tea and it would be very unfair to suggest that the Government is trying to discourage the tea growers.

Question No. 181

GOVERNMENT CONTROL OF KAMAGAMBO SECONDARY SCHOOL

Mr. Ngala-Abok asked the Minister for Education:

- Was the Ministry of Education prepared to assume control of Kamagambo Secondary School as a grant-aided school, so that students were no longer selected on a religious basis.
- Was he also aware that the students at that school were being over-charged and not allowed bursaries.

[Mr. Anyien]: The Member has been lying to this House? In that case, can he not be called upon to say which lie the Member has told when speaking in Parliament?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! There is a great deal of difference in Parliament between denying the truth of what a Member says, which hon. Members must be entitled to do, and calling them liars: it is a question of parliamentary language. On the other hand, as a point of order you are entitled to inquire, as you have, what particular fact the Minister says was untrue in the statement.

Mr. Anyien: I would do that, Mr. Speaker,

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): So the hon. Member jumps up and suggests that the Government lies: either the Government or the hon. Member lies. I would like to tell the hon. Member that we talk from facts, and if I can tell the hon. Member to tell me now if he is knowledgeable of Government problems, whether these cattle are grazing in the Kuria area—

Mr. Malsori-Itumbo: Yes, they were. On a point of order, Mr. Speaker—

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): The hon. Member, Mr. Speaker—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! What is your point of order, Mr. Malsori? Sit down, Mr. arap Moi; I must hear it.

Mr. Malsori-Itumbo: On a point of information, Mr. Speaker, he asked me—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Mr. Malsori, are you rising on a point of order or a point of information?

Mr. Malsori-Itumbo: Information.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Not unless the Minister gives way. You said a point of order.

Mr. Malsori-Itumbo: He asked me to say where the ngombes were.

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): He did—

Mr. Ngala-Abok: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, is it not in order for an adjournment Motion like this, and for a Minister to answer specific questions which are put by the Mover, that why did this—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! Mr. Ngala-Abok, it is not a point of order to insist on a Minister answering or not answering a particular question; you must know this by now.

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): Mr. Speaker, the hon. Member opposite is keen on talking and when problems crop up, he runs to the police to rescue him!

If hon. Members here are not prepared to face facts, then they must say that they have given up their responsibilities. As I indicated, Mr. Speaker, the Government is looking into this matter and as soon as the report comes out, the hon. Members will be informed. I indicated to the hon. Members that should anyone be in difficulty we will look into it, but we as a Government we are not prepared to compromise with anybody stealing anybody else's property. We want to protect all the people.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, with these very few remarks I have just made, I will be in the area in the next few days to acquaint myself with the situation on the spot, apart from the report which will be submitted to my office.

The Assistant Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. Nyagah): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I rise to support my Minister very strongly, and to add a few facts.

Mr. Speaker, I am surprised that the hon. Member did bring this matter up at all after being given every possible promise that the matter was under investigation. Now, Sir, not by the General Service Unit themselves. Four or five days ago, on behalf of my Minister, I went to the area and I did discover certain things which are being followed up on behalf of the Kuria people. Also, Mr. Speaker, the Minister has promised that he is going there within a few days with the Member himself and one other Member to make sure that the Government's fairness is not only heard but also seen. When an allegation is made, Mr. Speaker, a child was killed, women were raped, these are very grievous matters, and the Government does not want to come to this House and say things without making sure that the culprits are known. All this information is in the hands of the hon. Member. What surprises me, Mr. Speaker, is that the hon. Member fixes compensation at fifty thousand shillings. How much does it cost a child in Kuria? Is it fifty thousand, ten thousand shillings? How can you fix compensation when you make allegations like this? All that I would like to say and to appeal—we do not know—Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Government attaches great seriousness to this matter, and if only the hon. Member, and the House, can exercise a little restraint, the Government will deal with the culprits, if there are any, very seriously.

I beg to support my Minister very strongly do this.

ADJOURNMENT

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! We have had our half hour. The House is now adjourned until tomorrow, Thursday, 3rd February at 2.30 p.m.

PRAYERS

NOTICES OF MOTION

STATE OF PRESIDENT FOR KAPENGURIA

Mr. Lorema: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to give notice of the following Motion:—

THAT in view of the fact that Kepenguria has some historical significance connected with the early life of our President, the Rt. Hon. Mzee Jomo Kenyatta, this House urges the Government to erect his statue at a place known as Chewoyet, and further, urges the Government to include Kapenguria as one of the chief centres for the Kenyatta Day Celebrations, i.e. 20th October.

PROTECTION OF LOYAL SOMALIS

Mr. Ogle: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to give notice of the following Motion:—

THAT in view of the fact that loyal Somali citizens of Kenya are always in a state of fear and despair and are doubtful as to whether their sincere loyalty is being recognized by our Government, and also, in view of the fact that loyal and innocent Somalis are being subjected to torture, beating, detention, confiscation of property, and are being chased away from their towns and homes, etc., this House urges the Government to safeguard the rights and interests of loyal Somalis.

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Question No. 184

KENYA COTTON PRICE

Mr. Bala: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I think there is a typing error here. It should be "47 cents", not "shillings", and "59 cents per lb."

Mr. Bala asked the Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry if he was satisfied that the cotton price paid by Kenya of 47 cents per lb., compared to Uganda's 59 cents per lb., did not encourage smuggling of Kenya cotton into Uganda.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. Kenya is paying 50 cents per pound of seed cotton, while Uganda is paying 59 cents. For this reason, there is therefore, an element of risk in the illegal movement of cotton from Kenya to Uganda in areas near the border. Nevertheless, it would be uneconomical for Kenya to raise the price of Kenya cotton to the Uganda price, as it would cost the Government around £200,000.

Mr. Bala: Arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, Mr. Speaker, Sir, what action is our Government taking to ensure that our cotton is not crossing the border into Uganda?

Mr. Osogo: The only action we are taking is to educate people to respect their cotton-growing co-operative societies, to make sure that they are not making their co-operatives fail in taking cotton away from the co-operatives.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Since the remedy lies—just as in the case of maize—in raising the price, what is the Government doing to see that the growers are contented with the price, rather than educating the people all the time?

Mr. Osogo: Maybe, at this stage, Mr. Speaker, I would inform the hon. Member and the House that the world price of cotton is 47 cents per pound. Therefore, the Government is subsidizing the cotton growers with 3 cents. I may also inform hon. Members that they should keep in mind that the co-operative societies of Uganda have already bought cotton stores and ginneries; they possess them. In Kenya, we have to try and assist the co-operative societies to buy these stores and ginneries.

Mr. Odunya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Minister aware that, as a result of our cotton crossing the border, the Kenya Government this year will be forced to pay over £50,000 to be able to get enough seed for planting, and that will amount to over Sh. 1,000,000.

Mr. Osogo: Sir, we are aware of this, but I think it is the duty of the hon. Member who has asked this question, being a Member from the border, to tell his people that this will be an unnecessary expense caused by their taking our cotton seed to Uganda.

Mr. Odunya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, could the Government, therefore, raise the price by providing this amount of over a million shillings to the Kenya cotton growers, so that we do not have this unnecessary inconvenience?

Mr. Osogo: No, Sir, I should, I think, at this stage, also inform the hon. Members that the growers in the next growing session will be buying cotton seed.

Mr. Masinde: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that we are going to continue experiencing this shortage of seed, what is the Ministry doing seriously, I must say that there have been some incidents taking place between the Kuria people and the Luos in this particular area. But what the Member is stating is that this was not connected with the incidents of cattle theft; that it was an issue on a special day when the Kuria men were grazing their cattle, and then, probably the General Service Unit men moved in to molest the peaceful Kuria people. This is why I am particularly supporting this Motion, but if it were based on Luo/Kuria conflict, it could be a different matter.

Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is absolutely useless for a Government of the people to allow the General Service Unit to go and raid peaceful people, because this is not only undermining the Government itself, and the Government think that they will get away with it by trying to jeopardize the position of the Member in the area. Government is trying to act through the administrative officers who have no interest in the electors, who actually come to power through mere promotion, but they do not know that we have worked for them to arrive at where they are now. In fact, this was on the instruction of a civil servant, in other words, the General Service Unit staff—a senior man in that area or an officer in charge of the General Service Unit—must have given the order, because the General Service Unit would not move into the area without instruction. But, if civil servants are going to act in this manner, without proper advice from the politicians who are now heading the Government, then the Government is doomed to fail. Even the Prime Minister of Malawi, who is 100 per cent imperialistic in his activities, has employed youths who are now above the police.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Mr. Ngala-Abok, you are getting right off the point and you are also breaking a Standing Order concerning criticism of friendly countries.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: I am sorry, Mr. Speaker.

Even in a country thought to be a little bit aligned like Malawi, you find that the Prime Minister has given recognition to his former youths who put him into power, because he knew very well that if he operated directly through the civil servants, who have no interest whatsoever in the future of the elected Members, or the future of the President, for example, in our case, who is a politician and must go back to the people, then the Government is going to fail. And many of these things we are defending in this House here are not going to help us. The fact is that people should not be attacked by the General Service Unit.

Last time, Mr. Speaker, the former Minister, who has now had some of the responsibilities removed from him because of his lack of right direction, stated that the General Service Unit are taught—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I do not think you are entitled to say that.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: I am sorry, Mr. Speaker.

The former Minister, who was responsible for the police, stated that the General Service Unit are taught to handle issues roughly when we were complaining about their activities in Central Nyanza. But, what was the occasion on this day, what was happening which the General Service Unit was going to defend, which they were going to normalize or calm down? There was nothing, Mr. Speaker. I would like to repeat what the hon. Mover of this Motion has stated, that we are going to get information which may not be all that helpful, but I would appeal to the Minister to try and let us know exactly, because the Minister is laughing, and—as usual—he will make this one a laughing matter. He has not been attentive, even when the Mover was moving the Motion.

On this date, the General Service Unit moved into this area, and what the Member is demanding to know is whether the Kuria people are going to be compensated and whether those people who fled into Tanzania are going to be brought back, their houses built for them, their maize and everything else brought to them. This is as simple as that. If we can secure the promise from the Government that they will compensate these people then I do not think there is going to be any quarrel. But if there is no compensation, and the Government is not going to promise that the General Service Unit will not merely move into an area, make excuses and try to beat people about and so that they are robbed of their guns, then I can assure the Government that it is heading for bad trouble.

One Minister said here the other day that when we face elections, everybody else will be standing on his own. This is not so, I must assure the House that we came here collectively as Kanu members, and those who were in Kadu have now joined us. We shall either face the people as a team or we shall all fail. But in the majority of cases the Ministers themselves will bear a lot of responsibility for a lot of things, because directions as to industrialization, as to the ruthless actions of the General Service Unit, these are not the responsibility of Ngala-Abok in an area, they are not the responsibility of the Member for Kuria. In fact, he is clean, he is out of it. These people have now run to him to shelter. And through this Motion people will know that it is the hon. Maisori who is the right person, and the Minister at that time will not even face Kuria people. I beg now that if he tries to move into that area as a Minister he can have it.

Therefore, let us not be brain-washed by these civil servants. Civil servants have permanent jobs, Ministers come and go. Let us try to apply more political direction, not actually act on a political basis and, again, not apply the advice of the civil servants, but try to make it fifty-fifty, to know that your future lies in the support of the people in the field, and make sure that a mistake which is made by the Ministry of Commerce, or the Ministry of Police, or of any mistake, whether or not that mistake is in Mombasa, it has repercussions throughout the country, and it will be applied equally whether you send the General Service Unit to try and damage a certain class of people, either because you fear their politics or because you do not want them for one reason or another, and to do this merely because you are a Minister. This may actually ruin you, it is no excuse trying to act in that manner.

So, Mr. Speaker, I do not want to repeat what has been said, but we are demanding three things here from the Government. One is the promise that the General Service Unit, under whatever circumstances, unless the situation is alarming and Members of Parliament have been alerted, will not be allowed to move into an area which is peaceful. Another thing is that compensation must be promised and be given to these people. Those who have now fled to Tanzania must be brought back, their villages built for them, and the Government must publicly apologize, otherwise there is no use in this Government continuing in power.

Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker, I beg to support.

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): Mr. Speaker, Sir, the hon. Mover did not tell the House where the cattle were grazing. Also the hon. Member did not tell the House why the General Service Unit were in the vicinity. In any area where the General Service Unit stay there must be trouble. And I should like to tell the House, Mr. Speaker, that the matter is the hon. Mover—

Mr. Maisori-Itumbo: On a point of information, Mr. Speaker—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, not unless the Minister—

Mr. Maisori-Itumbo: But, Mr. Speaker, the General Service Unit was in Kuria.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, no point of information unless the Minister gives way.

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): The hon. Member stated in the House that he had reported the matter. I did tell him that investigation was going on in the area and I have not received the report. And to suggest that I do not know what is happening is merely an excuse for wanting to know the problem.

I should like to tell the House, Mr. Speaker, that this area is a very complicated area. The hon. Member knows that I have invited him to be in the area in the next few days together with another hon. Member. We have Kuria in Tanzania; we have Kissi or Gussi; we have Masai and we have Kuria in Kenya. They are all involved in stock theft in the area, and we are trying to keep law and order in the area. If the hon. Member is excited and wants to deny this, I am prepared to sit down.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, this matter is being investigated by the Government, and the Government cannot accept the allegation. The hon. Member talked about illegal raping, but I wonder where there is any legal raping! We, as a Government, would like the hon. Members to help in every way possible to maintain peace, but if Members are not able to contain the people in any area where stock theft or any other form of violence takes place, I, Mr. Speaker, state that all of us are responsible to this country, and it should not be the attitude of the Member in this House to appeal to the voters here in the House, in order for it to be noted that he is a spokesman of the people when, in actual fact, nothing is being done to protect their lives. We are trying to protect the lives of the peaceful people.

I do not doubt at any moment the loyalty of the Kuria people to the Government; they are loyal to the Government. But the question is, stock theft in the area, as I said is a very complicated one. It involves families in Tanzania, as far as Kurias are concerned, and the hon. Member stated that the cattle were grazing in the area, in Kuria area. I think the best thing for him, Mr. Speaker, is to try and find out the facts before he says what is not actually true.

As I said, Mr. Speaker, this question is being investigated and I do not want to prejudice—

Mr. Anyieni: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, when the hon. Maisori referred to the Minister who may not be speaking the truth and may speak lies, you ruled him out of order. The hon. Minister said that what the hon. Member said is not true. Is he not indirectly implying that [Mr. Shikuku] what we did in 1963 is very difficult to remember and it is easy for us to forget, but the point is, why did the Minister not make it known to the hon. Members in this House that he was having the whole Bill reviewed? All the Members—

MOTION FOR THE ADJOURNMENT

INTERFERENCE BY GENERAL SERVICE UNIT IN KURIA

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! Order! It is now time for the interruption of business. I am afraid I have to interrupt you, Mr. Shikuku. There is an adjournment Motion on the Order Paper, so I will call upon a Minister to move the adjournment of the House.

The Minister for Local Government (Mr. Sagini): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move that the House do now adjourn.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo) seconded

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I was wondering about this. Once we move a Motion of national importance, is it not for one hour?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): No, no. In fact, I received an explanation from the Speaker about it: that we move on to the next business at 6.30 as usual. Perhaps if the notice had been given in due time, well in advance, the Speaker might have allocated an hour, but as it was, there was not enough time. He might perhaps—I do not know—allocate further time to discuss this particular general Motion, but I cannot say anything about that just now.

Mr. Omweri: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, now that the Mover of the Adjournment claimed that Government was acting illegally, but in fact Government was acting within the Constitution, could he be asked to withdraw the allegation?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Mr. Omweri, that is not a point of order. Order! Order! To start with, Mr. Omweri, what are you saying is not a point of order; we have already moved to another item on the Order Paper and we cannot go back to something which is already over.

Mr. Maisori-Itumbo: On a point of order, Sir, I think that, according to Standing Orders, once the Minister has moved that the House do now adjourn, I think no more time should be wasted, and I would like to claim some five minutes more.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): I do not know whether you can claim five minutes, but if you do not make any more points of order you can continue with your speech. Carry on, Mr. Maisori.

Mr. Maisori-Itumbo: So, Sir, I rise to move a Motion on the Adjournment. It is very ridiculous that I who support the Government have to bring such a Motion to the House. First of all, I must declare my interest and say that I am a supporter of the Government, but even so I have been forced to bring this Motion to the House.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, there was unwarranted interference by the General Service Unit with the villagers of Buirege Location, Kuria Constituency, near the Rift Valley-South Nyanza border on Christmas and Boxing Days, 25th and 26th December last, when they took twenty-five head of cattle from the inhabitants by using force, and burned down twenty-two houses and thirty-five food stores full of stuff. They used firearms, including mortars, resulting in the causing of alarm, the wounding of one person, who had to be taken to hospital, the killing of a baby of six months, while her mother was being raped by these men; also five houses which belonged to the South Nyanza Tribal Police, Sir, were burned down.

[The Speaker (Mr. Slade) resumed the Chair]

Mr. Speaker, Sir, it was a great shame in the eyes of the people of Kuria and the people of the Republic of Kenya for them to see the General Service Unit of our beloved Government, carrying out burglary and robbery, and to see them misbehaving in a manner which astonished the people in my constituency, by doing all these bad things to the people who are loyal to the Government.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, these people came on the 25th December, that was Christmas Day, a Saturday, in the afternoon, and crossed the border of the Rift Valley and South Nyanza. In fact, they came to my constituency in South Nyanza; and they found my people grazing their cattle near their homes. The General Service Unit men asked my people to give them six ngombe or cattle for slaughtering on Christmas Day. When my people wanted to know who sent them, they claimed that, in the spirit of Harombe, on Christmas Day, they had to come and collect such cattle for their refreshment.

Sir, it is a pity that when my people refused to give away these ngombe, these people used force in order to get these twenty-five head of cattle;

[Mr. Maisori-Itumbo] they used ammunition, mortars, tear gas, to frighten my people, shooting all over the area. Consequently, because my people had not enough weapons to resist the fight which was purposely started by the General Service Unit—these people were well known; they were in uniform; people knew they were the General Service Unit men because they were on the border of Rift Valley and South Nyanza. My people had to run away. Some of these people fled to Tanzania where they are now being taken care of by their relatives who live there as refugees from Kenya. Same to the Government. These people are staying in Tanzania, hopeless, houseless, without any food, Mr. Speaker.

Now the ngombe which were taken belonged to a number of people, and I will give their names. One was known by the name of Robi Magba, one was Wamburn Kiguku and the other was Mairi Mwera. Now, Sir, because of the shortage of time, I have a lot of evidence to support my case here, which I may not be able to mention. My people are loyal. We get cases like that in the North-Eastern Region, where our Kenyan forces have been practically defeated in their battle to cool down the Shifita activities in the North-Eastern Region. But the innocent people of Kuria were just happily drinking and enjoying their Christmas, the end of the year 1965, and suddenly they found this robbery and burglary happening, men coming to attack them, Mr. Speaker. My people are innocent people, people well known to the Government of the country.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, a child of six months was killed when the mother was being illegally raped and I wonder that Government can tolerate such behaviour. Mr. Speaker, there were many school certificate boys whose certificates were burned in the houses; foodstuffs, clothes, hens and all sorts of property, were burned in the houses. How is the Government going to compensate my people for such wild damage, done purposely, during the daytime, on the 25th December?

And then the next day, the same people came again, better armed, with two Land-Rovers. They came better armed and threatened the people in the area, and when we asked why they came on Sunday again they alleged that they had come because they had lost one of their machine guns, or magazine, and in order to get that gun, they had to burn five villages in the area; the total number of houses burnt down was twenty-two: there were cattle bomas, fences, food stores, and again, and all were destroyed. These people did a tremendous amount of damage in this area, and

I am wondering how this Government is going to compensate the Kuria people for such a large amount of damage.

At the time, Sir, I was in Nairobi, and when I got home, the next thing I did was to go there. The district commissioner came, the district officer came, an inspector of police came. We walked right to the place and when we went there, after four days, the fire was still smouldering, burning food, maize, wimbe, beans and all kinds of foodstuff. Some of the cattle bomas were still burning. It was amazing to see such damage done by servants of the Government of the country.

I beg to submit my claim to the Government and to the Minister concerned, that my people deserve compensation, because the damage done had been witnessed by the district commissioner and by Government civil servants. I am sorry enough, when I went to see the Minister for Home Affairs, he had no information. The big man of the Criminal Investigation Department, from Kisumu, was in the area, but he has never submitted any report to the Ministry. Mr. Speaker, up to this moment, the Minister has no material. He is not going to tell us anything but lies.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! Be careful, Mr. Maisori. Even when hon. Members have spoken, you do not say that they have told lies, still less do you do it in anticipation of what they say.

Mr. Maisori-Itumbo: I apologize, Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, before my time ends, I still have to inform the House and the Government that the total damage done in my constituency is over Sh. 50,000 and, Sir, I again submit that the present police force is full of the colonial mentality, and we need to replace these men with National Youth Servicemen. Mr. Speaker, we cannot have the police watching Members and causing damage in the areas because they do not have Kanu in their hearts, Sir.

Mr. Speaker, because of my time, I beg to move.

Mr. Ngala-Aboki: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I wish very much to—

Mr. Kibuga: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, the hon. speaker who has just spoken has asked me to second his Motion. Has he withdrawn?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): He has not named you as his seconder.

Mr. Ngala-Aboki: Thank you very much indeed, Mr. Speaker.

I think, Sir, that in order that I may speak in support of this Motion, which is very serious and which I would like the Government to take you will have no schools, but for the very poor, the really destitute people, there is provision in the Bill and that is a remission certificate which serves as a tax receipt.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Sagini, in this particular debate we cannot discuss the merits of the Bill. It is simply this question which I think you have answered.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): Thank you, Mr. Speaker, I would like to give some information to the House that what the hon. Member of this Motion said, when moving this Motion was totally wrong because, Sir, if the hon. Members would be patient I have here the Ordinance that this House passed in 1963 which indicates that the Government would be empowered to do what it has just been doing; the denial of bursaries and scholarships is contained in this particular Ordinance that we passed in 1963. When the hon. Member for Majogo-Bassi was moving the Motion he said that the Government has been acting illegally by demanding tax receipts from the children who go to school. This, Sir, is not true, because, with your permission, if I may read and if hon. Members will follow the new Bill, section 23 subsection (2) (b), I am reading, Mr. Speaker, from section 22 subsection (2) (b), it reads as follows:

"The denial of bursaries, scholarships and entrance to educational institutions maintained or partly maintained from public funds or in respect of tax defaulters or their children or dependants."

Now, Sir, there is no difference in this wording at all and the wording of the new Bill and, as such, Mr. Speaker, it is not right to accuse the Government of having acted illegally. In fact, when the hon. Member of this Motion, moved this Motion, he did not go back to read what he, himself, and the House here—hon. Members sitting here—had passed in 1963. If he had done this, Mr. Speaker, he would not have stood up to move this Motion at all. We know very well, and he never indicated that the Minister had agreed to look into this Bill, but to move a Motion accusing the Government of having acted illegally in the collection of money or having anticipated the contents of this Bill, is very wrong. I may, Mr. Speaker, refer the hon. Member to the section that deals with fifty-fifty deduction of tax which is entailed in the new Bill in section—I spoke about it yesterday too—Mr. Speaker, I am sorry I am giving the hon. Members a bit of a chance to speak whilst I am looking into this particular relevant section, but since I cannot see it I will refer to the other hon. Member who might get up to speak. I am being asked why we are amending. We are not amending this Bill, Mr. Speaker, we are repealing the old Act to bring the new Bill into line with the regulations after regionalism has been dropped, that is why this Bill is coming up, but otherwise if this would be referred to—and it is a pity, Mr. Speaker, that hon. Members forget what they have passed—I agree that we were very green when we were dealing with this Bill, because we did not scrutinize it, and I am very sure that hon. Members have been surprised to see that the wording is exactly the same wording that is contained here. But, unfortunately, we were very green and we were not scrutinizing Bills when they came up. It is not the fault of our taxpayers, it is not the fault of our electors. I think this is our own fault that we were green and did not see this point.

So, Mr. Speaker, it is a pity that this Motion has been moved, but to support my colleague, we beg to oppose the adjournment.

Mr. Omweri: Mr. Speaker, Sir, first of all, I think I must—

Mr. Komora: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I thought you were going to rule the Minister out of order—I did not want to interrupt him, nor the Assistant Minister—when he suggested that in the moving of this Motion by this House the Members were afraid of the 1968 Elections. Was that not, strictly, imputing ulterior motive?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I could not say that to say that an hon. Member is moved in what he says by the prospect of a general election two or two and a half years hence is alleging improper motive; in fact, I think frankly, to allege anything else would be most unrealistic.

Mr. Omweri: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think, first of all, I have to appeal to hon. Members that when such a Motion comes up in the House like this, we have to be completely considerate of the Government functions and also the Government dealings with the day-to-day business.

[The Speaker (Mr. Slade) left the Chair]

[The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza) took the Chair]

This question of Government collecting money illegally from the taxpayers, I think is much exaggerated. Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, within the Kenya Constitution I presume that county councils are empowered to collect revenues to run their services. County councils, too, when they meet, devise means of collecting their money, so that their services could be run. In most cases, the county councils have legislated by-laws for their county council as to how they should collect the revenue and spend it. In this case, hon. friends who have suggested that the Government is acting illegally should have claimed that probably the county councils are acting illegally, because this is within the powers conferred on them by the Constitution passed in this House. In this case, I feel that the Members were rather emotional and went too far to suggest that the Government was acting illegally, otherwise we should claim it is the county councils.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, a number of interjectors think that when the hon. Mr. Osogo was speaking, he was defending his position. This is not the case; he was stating what Members have passed in this House. If we pass something in this House and we are afraid to quote it, I wonder where these hon. Members want to legislate. We have to legislate and follow what we legislate; we cannot simply legislate and then, the following day, say, "We didn't pass that."

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I think the Minister for Local Government should be well assured that this practice has been going on and has been supported by the county councils, and it was not anticipating this particular Bill, it was—

Mr. Omar: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, could the hon. Member substantiate that all the county councils imposed this order, that a boy must produce his parent's or guardian's Graduated Personal Tax receipt before he is admitted to school? I am asking this, Mr. Deputy Speaker, because not all the county councils which passed that by-law, and yet—

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): I am afraid, Mr. Omar, you are, in fact speaking to the Motion under the guise of a point of order. When the time comes, you can explain your point of view.

Mr. Omweri: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, if the hon. Member was genuine, I will tell him that this has been a practice in certain areas where this low county council tax has been prevalent, and the councillors looked into means by which they could influence more payment of taxes, and some of these means included debarring children from getting education, but it proved to be that once this threat was used, taxes were paid and school fees were paid, and therefore no child actually missed education. If he wanted to insist that I substantiate, I have examples in my own district and the nearby districts of Kericho and South Nyanza; I have looked at their minutes.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I think it is not a question of Government being illegal in collecting these fees, it is a question of Members not understanding their duties in this House.

The Assistant Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. Nyagah): Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I rise to join the Government trio on this Bill. I think the Government is not acting illegally. I was once chairman of a county council and we found it very difficult to collect whatever money we wanted to collect. What we would like, Mr. Deputy Speaker—in spite of the interjections—is for an hon. Member to stand up here and say, "Don't touch education, touch medical services." Tell a person to produce something which will touch on his health before you allow his child to go to school. Or tell him something else. If they can come out with a constructive way of collecting the money which is so much needed for road making, for hospital building, dispensaries, and what have you, then—

Mr. Gichoya: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I need your guidance because there is misinterpretation of the Act by the two Ministers who have spoken. Mr. Deputy Speaker, the law states that schools or institutions—

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): No, no, Mr. Gichoya. We cannot have people trying to intervene in a debate under the guise of a point of order. I have already told Mr. Omar that these explanations that you are now trying to give can be given in your speech when you speak, but not on a point of order.

The Assistant Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. Nyagah): Mr. Deputy Speaker, my only contribution, therefore, on this Bill is this: While I say that the Government is not acting illegally, I would invite the people accusing the Government to produce something concrete, something constructive as to how we can improve the collection of Graduated Personal Tax.

With these remarks, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I beg to oppose the adjournment.

Mr. Shikuku: Thank you very much, Mr. Deputy Speaker.

I am of the opinion that the explanation given by the Minister has now helped clarify the position for and he has shed some light on what we were discussing. One thing is that many hon. Members were not quite clear as to the intentions of this Bill. Mr. Deputy Speaker,

[Mr. Anyien]

written in a way that will be accepted by this House, and to take into account the difficulties which our people have. Very many Members. Mr. Speaker, have made speeches alleging that what the House has yet to approve is already in operation in the countryside. I do not think, Mr. Speaker, that this is merely allegation, because those who listen to the radio have heard, for example, in Nyanza County Council children will not be allowed—Kakamega County Council—to go to school if their fathers have not paid their Graduated Personal Tax. That, Mr. Speaker, is clause 23 (2) (b), (c) (b) (c) and (d). Mr. Speaker, that is where it is written "Notwithstanding anything to the contrary expressed or implied in any written law, regulations under this section may provide for the following sanctions against non-payment of tax, and for such matters as are incidental thereto—(a) the withholding of licences, permits and authorizations; (b) the denial of bursaries, scholarships and entrance to educational or vocational institutions maintained or partly maintained from public funds or in or respect of tax defaulters or their children or dependants." Now, Mr. Speaker, if this House means anything to the taxpayer who today has paid a lot of money to maintain the Members of Parliament, may be 170 Members, this House and the other House, if the Government thinks this House is an institution, which is a very important institution, why should the Government allow, why should the Minister for Local Government allow a county like, for example, Kakamega County Council, to penalize the children? I do not want to go too far in explaining, because if this House is going to be taken to be a rubber stamp where the Government can go and do things, then come to this House, may be the Government is going to make use of some of the divisions which the Ministers have introduced through the Back-benchers' organization, and that is why the Government took for granted that even if we act without the Bill, being passed, the Bill is going to be passed. But I am very glad, and I must thank the hon. Members of this House who have become very honest with their electorate, and have said that they will not approve of such a thing. Now we want the Minister to stand up now and deny that these things were not being done, and I do not see how he can do it because, for example, Kakamega County Council has had all its members suspended. This county council is now being run by Central Government. If I am not wrong, and the Central Government is acting illegally, and the Government must be condemned and they must accept the responsibility and withdraw, and send these children to school without penalising them.

Mr. Speaker, there is also another section here which says, if I am living in Nairobi and my wife is living at home with the children, then just because I have a house in Nairobi, Sh. 300 will remain here and Sh. 300 will go home. This was being done even before and I saw that this was being done. I think that this is illegal because all the money that the city council has collected from the 1965 Graduated Personal Tax, that money must all go down to the county councils where the people, who have paid their Graduated Personal Tax, stay, and this I think will go a long way to correct some of the difficulties which the county councils in the countryside are experiencing. Before I sit down, I would like to tell my Government that it must not continue to think that the Members of this House will not learn about their responsibilities and we hope that this is the last time that our Government will take the Members of this House for granted. The Members of this are people who are trusted by their people. You may think they are very stupid, but they are persons who are trusted by their people and, as such the Government must know—as the President said the other day—that Parliament is supreme and this is almost a Money Bill. How is it that the Government is squandering money, and it is collecting money from people illegally? There is a law which says that you cannot collect money without licences. That is why the Government brought this Bill here so that we can give the Government a licence to go and collect money. But I see that the Government has gone to collect money without a licence and if somebody else went to collect money, like myself, Government would arrest me. Is that because one is Government and because of this, one can go and collect money illegally from the people? We condemn this and say that this is stealing money from the African people and the Government must know that they are elected and if they are a bit too tired, then they should try and show that they are strong, they should not show that they are so weak. Mr. Speaker, we do not see that there is any excuse for the Government to do this. If the Government wanted to do these things there was no reason why the Government should not have brought this Bill last year, so that we could approve it and it could be applied this year. I do not think that the Members would have refused it, because even now I believe the Minister is going to revise it and bring it here.

[Mr. Anyien]

With those few words, Mr. Speaker, I hope the Government will correct it as it stands at the moment.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Who seconds the Motion?

Mr. Muliro: I second, Sir.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I find that the Government must accept the responsibility that it is a political Government which is subject to political pressure from the electorate. Mr. Speaker, last night, when I left this building, I met five people who live in Nairobi and those people asked me "Look, you Members of Parliament, what are you doing? When it comes to the time of votes, you come to us and say 'Vote for us'. Today it is impossible for us to get our children into school unless we can show the receipts for Graduated Personal Tax for 1964 and 1965. When we are looking for employment, we must also show these tax receipts." Now, this, Sir, I found is definitely a serious anomaly in the Government of today. The very Minister—the Minister for Local Government—who issues this edict to the people, must know that he is answerable to his own electorate in another two years' time. Now, in his own interests, Mr. Speaker, and in the interests of the hon. Members of this House, we should know that the Government today is an African Government, a political Government, where orders which were given by our colonial masters cannot be applied today, by us.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Muliro, I think you are getting away from the special point for which I allowed this Motion. It was only on one point, that it was a definite matter of urgent public importance, that was the allegation that the Government was anticipating this Bill by doing what this Bill purports to allow and is therefore acting illegally. We must keep to that.

Mr. Muliro: Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker, for bringing me back on the rails. What I was saying is that on my own farm, Mr. Speaker, I gave my workers money to go and pay the fees for their children. My people were told "Unless you give us the tax receipt of your father, we cannot take the money." So the next thing I did when I went home, this weekend, was that I had to give each one money to go and get the tax receipt in order to get the children into school. This is what I did myself.

Now, Mr. Speaker, how can we apply the law before it is processed in this House? How did the Government, how did the Minister, know that this law was going to be passed in the way it has been drafted, in order to issue the orders to Sirikwa County Council and tell them "Unless the child produces the tax receipt of the parent, the child should never be admitted?" Mr. Speaker, I find this most obnoxious and the Minister must accept the responsibility of the folly which has let him up the garden path.

With these remarks, Sir, I beg to second it very strongly.

(Question proposed)

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Sagini, you realize that it is simply this one point of alleged illegal action?

The Minister for Local Government (Mr. Sagini): Yes, Sir.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, some Members here seem to be thinking of the 1968 elections, in which I will also be involved, and among those voters who will vote for me are people who pay their taxes, and some of them are defaulters, so, in your constituency there are various types of people. People who are good and pay their Graduated Personal Tax and those who are slippery artists, who do not want to pay their Graduated Personal Tax. Now, let me come back to the big subject and that is, that it has been said here that the Government has been acting illegally. It has been suggested, Mr. Speaker, that sanctions imposed on the tax defaulters, if at all, have been imposed illegally. This is not so, Mr. Speaker. Provisions similar to those contained in clause 23 already exist in section 22 of the Act of 1963, this is true. Mr. Speaker, apart from major changes in the Bill, the Bill is largely re-enacting the present Graduated Personal Tax law which was already passed in this House in 1963. So the Government has not actually been acting illegally and the principal amendments are those mentioned previously. That is (a) the provincial administration to be responsible for all assessment and collection of tax in rural areas; other than through employers; (b) self-employed taxpayers to be permitted to pay by two instalments in county areas; (c) non-payment of tax to be made a criminal offence. These are the three amendments in this business.

Mr. Speaker, there has been criticism of just about every clause of the Bill and I must make it clear that this is largely consolidating legislation, to tidy it up. It had already been passed in 1963.

Let me come back to the hon. Member for Trans Nzoia, Mr. Muliro. He seems to be talking about poor children. I was a teacher like he was before I became a politician and I know it is of first importance to educate children, but we must think of the teachers who have to be paid. If there is no money with which to pay the teachers,

BILL

Second Reading

THE PIG INDUSTRY BILL

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Murgor): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move that the Pig Industry Bill be now read a Second Time.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Bill before the House proposes the repeal and the replacement of the present Pig Industry Act. This has been necessary after an accumulation of numerous amendments in the Act over the year. Hon. Members should therefore know that an Act, Chapter 361, similar to the Bill, in the House already exists, and there are no major controversial stipulations in the new Bill. The only point of difference is that pig production will not be limited by law. The only limiting factor left now will be the disease and no licence will be issued unless the Director of Veterinary Services is satisfied that such licences are not likely to cause and encourage the spread of diseases.

Consequently the anticipated more widespread pig production is provided for in the Bill. The quota system now operating under the existing Act, will no longer be enforced by law. Hitherto, the licensing of the producers has been the responsibility of the Pig Industry Board, but under the Bill in the House, the Director of Veterinary Services will become the licensing authority under the Animals Disease Act. This new arrangement is very convenient and provides for a much tighter disease control machinery.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I should now like to refresh hon. Members' memories by mentioning a few points about the Pig Industry. This industry has been one of those which were hit hardest as a result of emigration of the European just before and after Independence. They were, by tradition, the major pig meat eaters in the country, and as they are replaced by Africans in various jobs, and in farming, the Uplands Bacon Factory has had to do with a fall in sales. Again, pig meat is expensive and when it comes to a choice between beef and pig meat the latter has tended to be ignored. But Uplands are making an all-out effort to advertise their products, and as hon. Members will have noticed, the industry is coming to the local market. A mobile hot dog shop outside the New Stanley and a sapper dukka just opposite St. Peter Clavier's in Nairobi, are the most conspicuous activities. These, of course, are over and above the former marketing facilities. The idea here has been to introduce more pig products into the diet of the African. I am, in fact, informed that plans to establish selling facilities in the African locations in Nairobi are under way. I should like, therefore, to appeal to hon. Members who are some of the few people able to afford pig meat to support and promote this industry.

In regard to the market outside Kenya, hon. Members should know that we still supply the other East African countries. Arrangements are also at an advanced stage to break into the Zambian market. The present problem is that Zambia has been buying and is still buying from a local firm called Concan Zambia, which draws supplies from Rhodesia next door, and it may take a little time before we break through. Our overseas markets include Britain, the Mediterranean coast, Congo, etc. I should like to reiterate the importance of disease control in so far as it determines where we can and where we cannot sell our products. That is precisely why my Minister thought of bringing the responsibility of licensing of pig producers under the Director of Veterinary Services as he is better informed as to the incidence of disease than the Pig Industry Board. Hon. Members have a part to play in trying to discourage stock movement. There is a noticeable effort by the small farmer, especially in the Nyeri area to start pig keeping, and my Department of Veterinary Services is trying its best to help these farmers succeed. It is important that as we start producing more pig meat, there should be a proportional increase in the meat eating population, otherwise the farmer will never find a market for his products. That is why I appeal to hon. Members to encourage the introduction of meat into the diet of the African. If this Bill is passed by the whole House, my Ministry and the new board will do their best to help these small-scale farmers produce and market their products locally and overseas.

Apart from the three major differences mentioned earlier, Mr. Speaker, the rest of the Bill is generally similar to the existing Act. As the hon. Members will have noticed that the Bill proposed the establishment of a board with certain functions under the overall powers of the Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry. It also provides for the methods of licensing butchers and bacon factories, inspection of records and premises by authorized officers. It lays down the possibility of the board spending some of its funds for research, promotion of sales of products, and lastly repeals the existing Pig Industry Act, without forcing the Government into extra expenditure.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, as I have spoken at length and as the stipulation of the Bill in this House has no substantial difference from those under the operating Pig Industry Act, I now beg to move.

The Assistant Minister for Finance (Mr. Okelo-Obongo) seconded.

(Question proposed)

Mr. Omweri: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think this Bill is

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Mr. Ngala-Abok I think you have forgotten about walking in front of other Members.

Mr. Omweri: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I was going to say that this Bill is a short one and as the Assistant Minister has moved it, it is quite clear and it is a step forward towards Africanization in the pig industry, because formerly the existing Bill used to prohibit even Africans from keeping pigs as they wished. The quota system which used to exist, and which will end after this Bill is passed, has been preventing the pig industry from being expanded, and I think I should congratulate the Ministry for deciding that this quota system should no longer be used. The only thing I would like to add to what the Assistant Minister has said is that this being a sort of new enterprise in the rural areas, up country, mainly in the African areas, that the Ministry should start immediately to establish training centres for farmers to have first-hand knowledge of how to care for pigs. We know pig life is very delicate, and most complicated, and if it is not well looked after there may be a lowering of the bacon grade which at the moment we are proud of. We would like the Ministry to establish these centres and also have, if possible establish improvement centres where they can have demonstrations as to how pigs should be kept. Mr. Speaker, if the Ministry did this I am sure the pig industry will expand and will be beneficial to the farmers who would like to go into this particular business.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, one other problem which those Africans who tried to keep pigs earlier on—apart from the quota problem—was that they did not have buying centres, or selling centres, and I would ask the Ministry to go into this and see that the Africans are helped to have centres within their reach so that pigs are sold nearby rather than have a former paying transport charges on the pig he wants to sell from Kitale right up to Uplands. I think the Ministry should encourage buying centres just as they do in the case of the Meat Commission. If this is done I am sure that the industry will expand and it is the expansion which we are all for, and I would suggest that the Ministry sees that this thing is established to allow easy selling rather than have Africans who are far from the slaughtering centre to find it difficult to sell their animals.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, what I would also like to repeat is that the high quality of bacon should be maintained. If the Ministry wants this to be a paying enterprise, to be a paying industry to the country, and to raise the economy of this country, I am sure that the Ministry will have a section of its staff going into this, not merely to leave it to the general Veterinary Department. We must have some specialized officers going into areas and encouraging high grade animals to be kept, and if this is not done I am sure that it is likely to end in difficulties and in no income at all to the farmers who will be keeping these animals. I would suggest very strongly that the Ministry looks into appointing special officers to go into this until Africans understand and follow the methods of good animal husbandry in keeping pigs.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, with these few comments I wish to support the Bill.

MOTION FOR THE ADJOURNMENT UNDER STANDING ORDER 14

ALLEGED ILLEGAL ACTION UNDER GRADUATED PERSONAL TAX BILL

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It is now 6 p.m. so I will call on Mr. Anyieni to move that the House do now adjourn.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, I have raised this matter which I may have to remind the hon. Members who were not here that I am raising this matter as a matter of national importance arising from the Bill which this House of Representatives this afternoon demanded be withdrawn and the Minister and the whole House agreed that the said Bill be withdrawn.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Under this Standing Order you start by moving that the House do now adjourn.

Mr. Anyieni: Oh, that the House do now adjourn.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, you move that the House do now adjourn.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, I beg to move that the House do now adjourn.

Mr. Speaker. I am moving this because of the speeches which were made by practically all the Members of this House who have got the interests of their electorates at heart.

Mr. Speaker, this afternoon, the Members demanded and the Minister agreed, that this Bill is not properly written and as such, it should be withdrawn or adjourned so that the Bill can be

The Minister for Local Government (Mr. Sagini): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I know that this Bill is of national importance and I know how many hon. Members feel about it, and in my view of this, I would like it to be adjourned.

Mr. Anyieni: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, while thanking the Minister for having agreed—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You do not thank Ministers on points of order—

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, I am coming to my point of order—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Then come to it.

POINT OF ORDER

RULING ON MOTIONS FOR ADJOURNMENT OF DEBATE

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am seeking your ruling. The other day when we moved for a Bill to be adjourned it appeared on the Order Paper the next day. Now, Sir, when we adjourn a Bill, is it not right that the Members of this House should demand that the Bill should not be placed on the Order Paper until the Members have met either in the Parliamentary Group or in the Ministerial Committee or the Minister has assented before it comes to this House, because if we adjourn this Bill today and it appears on the Order Paper tomorrow, when we have not had a chance of meeting, would there be any point in adjourning this?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, all that this House can resolve is that the debate be adjourned, which means that there is no more of it that day. There is nothing to stop it appearing on the Order Paper the next day; but, of course, again the House, if they are alive and present and take an interest, can resolve that the debate be adjourned, once the debate has been adjourned, it is up to the discretion of the Mover to decide when the time is right for him to bring it back on the Order Paper. Usually, if he thinks that there was good reason for the adjournment, he will not bring it back until he thinks that that reason has been satisfied, but that is his discretion. The House cannot resolve on the adjournment of a debate to a specified date, or on any particular thing happening during the adjournment. All the House can decide is that the debate be adjourned. I do not know whether—

Mr. Omar: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I rise to seek your guidance, because there was a very important point which was raised by two or three speakers during the debate. It is in connexion with the production of Graduated Personal Tax receipts in schools. At the moment, it has been alleged here—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): What is your point of order, Mr. Omar?

Mr. Omar: Mr. Speaker, Sir, my point of order is this. There is an urgent request which has been made in this House that the children are not being admitted into school now unless their parents produce their Graduated Personal Tax receipts for the year 1965. Now, Sir, this being the case, what can we do so that the Minister can waive those instructions which he gave to the county councils while we are waiting for him to bring the Bill.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order. You cannot do anything about it beyond having said what you have said already. If you had wanted to say more about it today, of course, you will not agree to the debate being adjourned. You cannot have it both ways.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, Sir, on a point of order, will it be in order for the Minister, having agreed that this debate should be adjourned, to clarify the position as to how he will handle this matter, if we have no right to dictate the terms? Because, Sir, I feel that Members are usually steam-rolled with regard to Graduated Personal Tax, for example, when some Members—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I think you are only speaking on a point of order, are you not. As a point of order, the Minister having spoken on the adjournment cannot strictly speak again. If he wishes to add anything as to how he proposes to use the period of adjournment of this debate, I think the House might like to hear it, but it is not strictly in order.

Order! I think the Minister wants to accept my invitation.

The Minister for Local Government (Mr. Sagini): Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the situation that has developed, I am going to get in touch with the Committee on Local Government in my Ministry, and go through the Bill with my experts, explaining parts that are legally difficult to understand and we will come to some agreement that will help me. If I find that we are failing, then I will resort to another way, which I will think about later on, but at the moment I do not know.

Mr. Malsori-Itumbo: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not know whether this is just a question—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): A true point of order from Mr. Malsori-Itumbo, I hope.

POINT OF ORDER

ANTICIPATION OF LEGISLATION

Mr. Malsori-Itumbo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, on a point of order, my point of order is this. Is it, Sir, right for the Government to anticipate a Bill which has not yet been passed in this House, and use it in the Ministerial level as being a Bill of an Act of Parliament, before it is brought into this House and passed, because we understand, Sir, that the Bill which the local government is using to prevent students getting education whose parents have not paid G.P.T. has not yet been passed—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Hon. Members must not confuse the order of this House with what is lawful or unlawful outside this House. It cannot be raised as a matter of order, that the Government is doing something unlawful outside the House. It is not a matter of order in this House. It may be quite true that what the Government is doing by way of anticipating this Bill becoming law is illegal, but it cannot be raised as a point of order. It can be raised in a court of law, or it can be raised on substantive motion in this House, or by question in the House, but not a point of order.

NOTICE OF MOTION FOR THE ADJOURNMENT UNDER STANDING ORDER 14

ALLEGED ILLEGAL ACTION UNDER THE G.P.T. BILL

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the point I am trying to raise is in connexion with the reply you have given to hon. Mr. Malsori-Itumbo. When the Government says, this is an Act of Parliament, and it is not an Act of Parliament, it is only in anticipation. Mr. Speaker, Sir, you know that it is extremely difficult for the Members of Parliament when we go out to our constituencies, because we are questioned by our people. It is also extremely difficult for the Members of Parliament to take Government to court, when we have our own court here given mandate by the people, would it not be in order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, for me now, at this particular juncture, although it is without much notice as time is short, to raise this matter, so that the Members of Parliament may be able to air their views in connexion with this? So, Sir, the Members may have the chance of telling the Government not to use a Bill which they have refused, as an Act of Parliament. Therefore, Sir, would it not be in order for me to raise this matter now for the Parliament to discuss as a matter of national importance, because the children are going to school now and also some are being turned away, and the Government is also closing down schools.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): When an hon. Member seeks to raise a matter under Standing Order 14, which is what Mr. Anyieni proposes, first of all, the Speaker has to be satisfied that it is a definite matter of urgent public importance. If he is satisfied on that, then he has to see that there are at least ten Members who wish the matter to be raised immediately.

Now, if it is alleged that the Government is purporting to act as a matter of law on something that has not yet become law, on a large scale, then that is, I think, a definite matter of urgent public importance, and it is just as important for Government to be able to answer it as for hon. Members to allege it. So, I wait to see now if there are sufficient hon. Members desiring this matter to be raised today.

(More than ten hon. Members stood in their places)

In that case I have to fix a time for the matter to be raised, and I will allow it to be raised at 6 p.m., which allows you quarter of an hour to prepare. Meanwhile, we are continuing with the question that the debate be adjourned.

(Resumption of debate on Motion for adjournment of debate on G.P.T. Bill)

Mr. Gichoya: I rise to seek your guidance. The only thing I would like to say is this. When the Minister is going to consider the making of this Bill, I feel that he should take into account the calculations which—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think you are trying to creep into this Motion's discussion on the merits of the Bill, Mr. Gichoya. No, all we can discuss now is whether or not this debate should be now adjourned. Please keep to that.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I wish to move that the Motion be now put, because the Members have exhausted the debate on the adjournment.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): That seems to be a very good idea in view of the attitude of Government.

(Question, that the question of the adjournment of debate be now put, put and agreed to)

(Question put and agreed to)

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): We will now, until 6 p.m., proceed with the next Order.

[Mr. Shikuku]

—many had been raised and I do not want to bore the Members here—that we are very keen to get the debate adjourned, so that we can get the Minister thinking. We are prepared, in the spirit of Harabee, to sit with the Minister and give him all the ideas we have so that he can make a good Bill, because the Minister himself is a very hard-working man and we realize the difficulties he is facing, because he is trying to centralize this business. We shall help him, sit with him, think all together, in order to bring about something which will help the poor people as well as the rich, so that they can work together for the building of the nation.

With these few remarks, Mr. Speaker, I beg to move that the debate on the Bill be adjourned.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Do you want to speak to second that Motion, Dr. De Souza? Mr. Anyien, you have spoken in the debate already; this must be someone who has not yet spoken in the debate.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, what happens when a Motion or a Bill had already been moved to be adjourned and that was seconded and at that time the House rose—

Several Hon. Members: We have already had all this explained to us.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, the hon. Members are quite correct, Mr. Ngala-Abok. If you had been here at the start of this Order today, you would have heard the answer to your question.

Mr. arap Too, you want to second the Motion to adjourn the debate, do you?

Mr. arap Too: Yes, I want to speak to the Motion.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You can do that also. Yes, Order! If an hon. Member wishes to second a Motion for the adjournment of a debate, he can speak to the debate at the same time.

Yes, you can, Mr. arap Too.

After that, when the question is proposed, then hon. Members are confined to the question of adjournment.

Mr. arap Too: Mr. Speaker, I am seconding the Motion moved by the hon. Mr. Shikuku. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I want to join my friend, the hon. Mr. Shikuku, from Butere, and I understand, Sir, that the Marakwet people at one time were one clan with the Butere people.

Now, Sir, I want to start speaking on this Motion on the general policy of the Bill. The Bill itself looks really ridiculous to me because the Minister who is moving this Motion, this Bill, is an African like myself. He knows how poor our people are, he knows how much we have exploited our wealth from the soil in this country. He knows a lot of these things, even more than us in this House. But to include such a clause and say that if a parent does not pay his Graduated Personal Tax his children will not be able to go to school, his children will not be able to have bursaries, even if they are clever enough and competent enough to obtain scholarships and bursaries, well, I do not know if the Minister was doing justice to the poor people of this country or whether he was only thinking of Members of this House, who get a bit of money, the permanent secretaries, who get a bit of money, and some other people who are working and who are getting a bit of money at source all the time.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I want to point out some of the difficulties that my people encounter in Marakwet Division. One thing, Sir, today our children, and about 15,000, have been returned from school just because of these so-called instructions from the Minister—or perhaps the county council, for that matter—telling the teachers that if these children do not come with a receipt and they have the money in hand to pay their school fees, they should be sent away until they produce the Graduated Personal Tax receipt. Sir, this is very bad. You remember, Mr. Speaker, in some parts of this country people have not yet realized that sending their children to school is a good thing; they do not know, they are very happy if their children are sent back home, they go and look after goats, sheep or cows. And it is not good for the Government to punish the children who come forward and force themselves to come to school, they get some money from somewhere, they do some contract job and get the money to pay their school fees.

Now, in this Bill, the Minister did not even say that if a child has no parents or guardians he will be allowed to come to school. He would not be free even to bring the school fees. He could not go to school unless he has the Graduated Personal Tax receipt. Now, if a child has no parents, if a child has no guardians, how would he go to school? He would be sent away by the teachers and then the child would be punished. Who is punishing the children? It is the Government, and the Government of Mr. Minister who is moving this Bill.

So, Mr. Speaker, I beg to support my dear friend there, and say that if the Minister wants to help the people of this country he should go back and redraft this Bill in the way that we would like. For example, Mr. Speaker, he says that the assessment of the tax—and this is seen in section 4, 2 (f)—now how could you assess the tax from the people who have no employment. Is Turkana they have no land; they have no market to sell even what they get. For example they have camels, they have sheep, and they do not have anywhere to sell them; when they bring them to the Kenya Meat Commission they are told, "Oh! no, there is no chance for these stinking animals". Now, how can they get money? And, again, they give them only two instalments, instead of giving them twelve months to pay, and they give the rich man twelve instalments in which to pay all the tax. The poor man is given only two instalments, and the rich man is given twelve months. Is this not ridiculous? This is really no good.

So, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think the Minister will have to agree to what we say, we want to ask him to go, redraft this Bill, and bring it to this House and then we shall be able to pass it. If it is in this form, well, most of these sections would not go through, as I say, Sir, because it is very difficult for us Members here to make a law. It is very easy for us to make law, but to create the law, you will find that you made a mistake, and we do not want to make any mistake at all. We want to be very careful here, because our people will always blame us and say, oh, these gentlemen are not doing their homework in Nairobi, and that is why the Government is making these things.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I beg to support the Motion.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I will propose the question, which is that this debate be now adjourned, and from this point onwards until we dispose of that question, hon. Members are confined to speaking on the question of the debate being adjourned, not the merits of the Bill any more.

(Question proposed)

Mr. Makone: Thank you, Mr. Speaker, for giving me this opportunity to air my views, and also record my views for the Motion in question.

Mr. Speaker, I have always been perturbed as to the functions of this House. I thought, before I came to this House, Sir, that on any Bill which would be brought to this House, should have our blessing before it came to the Chamber, that we should be put in the picture. The Parliamentary Group should be fully consulted and the more so, Mr. Speaker, as we have Ministerial Committees which should be well briefed about any Motion which comes to the Chamber, in the same way, Sir, as the county councils form committees for various functions and when there is a council sitting every group presents their business to the main council. In that way you find that the functions of the county councils are very up to date. Ours is the reverse.

Mr. Speaker, in this House we find that the Bills come from the Cabinet and it is most unfortunate that this one here is signed by the Attorney-General.

An hon. Member: They are all signed by the Attorney-General.

Mr. Makone: Now, Mr. Speaker, this is one of those contentious Bills which affect our people at home nyumbani.

Mr. Speaker, when has the Attorney-General been to Kuria, to West Pokot, to Kisii, to understand the problem of a common man? Our people are very poor, Sir, and whatever we do here must be taken very, very carefully.

Mr. Speaker, I am not going to speak so much because much has been said.

I would like to refer to clause 14—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You must limit what you say to the question of the adjournment of the debate, Mr. Makone.

Mr. Makone: Now, very briefly, Mr. Speaker, then I would advise the hon. Minister for Local Government—who is a friend of mine—to make full use of the Ministerial Committee, Parliamentary Group, and consult them and then come here with just exactly what we ourselves have done. If we pass this Bill, it will not be our own Bill, it will be a Bill from the Ministers and from the Attorney-General. This I would not accept, Sir. This my people will not allow. Mr. Speaker, we do not intend to reject the Bill, but we are asking the Minister who is always ready, and I think very co-operative, to take us into his confidence, to take the Members' constructive suggestions into consideration so that when this legislation goes out it will be with the mandate of our people, the mandate of the Parliament.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, when we produce our own thing we are proud of it. When we do not produce our own thing we are not proud of it.

Mr. Speaker, I see the Minister consulting you, maybe he has told you that he— Maybe the Minister has given his wise, thoughtful conclusion and I am sure our advice will be to his advantage.

I beg to support the Motion.

[Mr. Shikuku]

There is another point which makes a mockery of everything, the stupid silly things which are going on in this Government on the part of the administrators. Mr. Speaker, the thing is that there are also men who drink too much, they drink from morning to night. But they have women who are working very hard, trading in pots or fish or eggs or baskets, and their husbands are busy drinking. Now when this poor woman gets a little bit of money to send a child to school, where is the fairness, Mr. Speaker—if the hon. Minister would listen—where is the fairness when a woman has worked hard to get a little money to send her little boy or girl to school and the child is taken out of the school, because the father has not paid, when the father is busy drinking and playing about in the market place? Is this fair, for the child to be taken out of the school, when the money has been paid by the mother?

Then there is another robbery, Sir. When those children have paid their school fees and have been kicked out, the money is not given back to them. The child misses the school, misses the money, and the father goes on drinking, and we do nothing to the father. This is a horrible, terrible situation which I find. I do not think even the imperialists did that. If they ever did, I would be very much obliged if the Minister would tell me that they did. But I was grown up when the imperialists went away, I was one of the people who fought to get rid of them, and nobody—I would rather defend them on that issue. The imperialists never did that. But now we have a different type of imperialist, the worst type; the black ones who are permanent. Mr. Speaker, I am determined to deal with this question of imperialists who are going on like this. We are not going to let them get away with it.

Now the other issue which is not included here is that the Minister has not stipulated in this Bill how the tax is going to be evenly distributed. It is all going to remain in the township. What is happening today, Sir, is that when you come to Nairobi—which is the capital of Kenya—to look for a job, the people in Nairobi ask you for a receipt for the 1964 tax, plus the penalty, but all this is paid to the City Council of Nairobi, to enable the Mayor of Nairobi to spend £10,850 on a Rolls-Royce and drive nicely and say he is the greatest man of them all. We do not—and I wish to emphasize this—we do not agree with the Minister or the people who believe in dignity at the expense of the poor man. The Minister should take this from the president of the poor people that the poor people are not interested in a Rolls-Royce. You can do very well with a 404, Mr. Speaker. A 404 saloon is a very good car and they can get on fine.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Shikuku, I am afraid that when we are discussing a tax which is to be raised for the financing of local authorities, it cannot give us scope for discussing all the questions of how that money should be spent. It may be tempting, I know, but if you start discussing what local authorities spend their money on, in the course of this Bill, we shall not come to the end of the debate.

Mr. Shikuku: Thank you, Mr. Speaker, but I was just trying to explain how this money is going.

Mr. Speaker, the distribution of tax has become so horrible that you have so many county councils—

Mr. Anyieni: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, without challenging your authority or your ruling, I would like to know which Standing Orders of this House say that, when a Bill is brought to this House for the Members to approve, so that the Government can collect money, the Members cannot say how, after the money is approved, it is misused. Because when we go into the countryside, that is what the people say: "You passed this Bill, and now the money is not coming to us." Which Standing Order forbids a Member from saying how the money should be spent?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It is the Standing Order which requires hon. Members' speeches to be relevant to the debate.

Mr. Shikuku: Thank you, Mr. Speaker, I will have another go some time when the occasion comes.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, you will have the opportunity!

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, I was trying to explain the point which has not been touched on by another hon. Member here, and that is the question of the distribution of tax. Formerly, during the imperialist time—the good things which happened during the imperialist time have got to be accepted, I believe in giving the devil his due; and, Sir, I want to give the devil what is due to him. The distribution of tax is becoming horribly infringed in that you will find as regards the tax of all the people who are working in Nairobi, half of it remains here and only half of it is taken home to their home districts. At the same time, Mr. Speaker, you will find that there is no clause in this Bill where the Minister stipulates how the tax is going to be distributed.

because I do remember that during the imperialist time we had clerks from various county councils time we had to come to the towns to take the tax, who used to come to the towns to take the tax, from the people who were there working, back from the people who were there working, back home. This is not being done. Instead they are deducting the tax from our money and keeping it here and taking half of it.

At the same time, Mr. Speaker, I have this card here, which is a Graduated Personal Tax card. It is stated here: "If the employee"—and I quote—"If the employee has none of his family living with him, state the municipality or county in which they live. . .". They say that the money should be sent, half of the money should be sent back home. Most of the employers do not fill this part in, so all the money which is paid here in the form of Graduated Personal Tax remains in Nairobi instead of going back to these people's county councils.

That is why a lot of county councils are being closed down, Kakamega being one of the districts which has a lot of workers here who come out of that district, and all their money remains here to be utilized by I do not know who but you know, all of you know it.

Mr. Speaker, I feel the Minister must look into that very seriously, otherwise we are going to have one area being developed and the other going to the dogs. Therefore, I hope the Minister will take note of the distribution of the tax.

Another point, Sir, is the question of the penalty which is being collected here in Nairobi and none of which is being sent home. I remember, Mr. Speaker, this is another illegal thing the city council is doing here is that it has given instructions to the employers here to demand Graduated Personal Tax cards from people who are looking for employment. This is a robbery, another illegal thing. I will tell the House what happened one day. There was someone who wanted a job. He came to me. I got a place for him, a manual job, casual labour but when he went there he was told, "The job is there, but you cannot have it." So he came back to me, and I went to the boss, and the boss said to me, "Look here, Mr. Shikuku, the law"—and I want the Minister to tell me where that law is, or if it is a regulation by the city council, I want to know—"says that someone must not be employed unless he has a stamped card. So he must bring this card." I went to the city council—Mr. Speaker, I can see the Minister shaking his head but this is a hard, ugly fact—I went to the city council and asked for this card which I thought was being given free. I was stupid, but I learned a bitter lesson. I asked for this card, and they said, "Yes? You want this card? Now who do you want it for, you or him?" I said, "Him." They said, "Well, we can give him one, but only if he produces his 1965 tax plus the penalty, and then he will get the card." So I paid Sh. 54 for the 1965 tax out of my own pocket, and then they said, "That is not enough, all these stamps"—I had put a lot of stamps on this card—"you have to pay Sh. 72." So again I paid Sh. 72 and they gave me another receipt, and then they gave me this card, plus Sh. 4 for January, and you can see the card now with one stamp. This is evidence.

Mr. Speaker, if there is no law, if the Minister has not given instructions to the city council to act in the way they have acted, then I demand my money back and that of all the other people. We, as legislators, are not going to be a party to theft. This is a public theft with a little blessing in this clause 1.

An hon. Member: No blessing, just curses.

Mr. Shikuku: Little legal blessing, if I may put it that way.

Mr. Speaker, I will come to another thing, because you find that if you hit your neighbour too hard he does not listen. I do not want to kill the Minister, but I do want him to listen.

The other issue is the money which is being collected here, Mr. Speaker. The Minister has not stipulated or has not made it known, how long a certain city council or municipality can sit on the money collected from employees coming from a certain county before it is sent back to their home. What is happening is that the tax which was collected in 1964 was not sent until late 1965. The city council was trading with it here, it was enjoying the money here; probably they gave us the profit of all the money they had collected for other counties. This is very unfair. I want the Minister to stipulate in this Bill how long the time must be, and I would like the other county councils only to pay the city council the expenses for collecting the tax and not share the actual tax with the city council. They must be ordered that, immediately they collect the tax, they must, within a certain period—and in my opinion, Sir, within 14 days—hand the money back to the county councils so that every county can progress financially, instead of promoting Nairobi, which has nothing to do with us back there at home.

MOTION

ADJOURNMENT OF DEBATE: GRADUATED PERSONAL TAX BILL

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, I feel I should not waste more time. I should move now. Mr. Speaker, in view of the many points I have raised

[Mr. Shikuku]

I say this, Mr. Speaker, because of this question of Graduated Personal Tax. Here, Mr. Speaker, I do not wish to touch even the points raised before. I speak Mr. Speaker, if I may say so again, and with your permission, as the President of the Poor People's Party, which is in formation, and I am going to raise very new points to the Minister.

Mr. Speaker, the Minister in this Bill has tried to tell the public what he intends to do, but at the same time I thank him because he has more or less created a skeleton on which we have to put flesh, and the views expressed here will be nothing but the flesh to be put on the skeleton so that it can look nice, because a skeleton in itself is very bad looking, and that is what it is.

Mr. Speaker, looking at the Bill, I find no clause where it is stated that the failure to pay tax by a parent will mean the expulsion of the son or the daughter of the parent, expulsion of the child from school; that is not there. In my area, Mr. Speaker, and the Kakamega District where this law—not the law, this was an illegal statement by the district commissioner which had to get the children out of school because of the failure of their parents to pay Graduated Personal Tax.

Mr. Speaker, I wish to raise a new point in that there are men in this country, and all over—Butere included—who do nothing but drink from morning to evening. They do not even go to their gardens to do work, all they do is to wake up in the morning, go for a walk, go on the market, start talking, play what we call olukho or what you call in Swahili baa playing chess on the market, and then go and drink pelete. In the evening they come back to demand food from their wives, after doing nothing, but still they have to be fed by their wives. Mr. Speaker, in this Bill the Minister has not stipulated such a point, that if we find people able, strong enough who drink and do nothing, something should happen to them; if they fail to pay their taxes, these people should be dealt with. I suggest, Mr. Speaker, this lazy man should be caned. A clause should be included in this Bill to that effect. I am the president of this Bill to that effect. I do not want the poor people just to sit back and say, "We're poor." The lazy ones who have land, Mr. Speaker, the people who are too lazy to go and work and just play baa or olukho chess at markets and talk too much should be included in this Bill. If they play chess and pay their tax, no trouble, but if they fail to pay their tax and they are only drinking and smoking from morning to evening, they should be chaped kiboko, and be sent to the land and made to work, because, Mr. Speaker—

An hon. Member: And if there is no land?

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, I am coming to that. I am the president of the poor people, I know how to handle them.

Mr. Speaker, if these people are not dealt with in that way, we are faced with a problem whereby we shall find that this country will not be able to help itself from the present unfortunate situation. Despite the fact that these people drink and play chess on the markets, and drink from morning to evening, they still do one thing: they always produce, Mr. Speaker. There are children to be produced by the very lazy men, and if the Government is not going to take stern measures to fix these fellows who go on producing and are not prepared to work, to help their children, these children are going to give us hell. Therefore, they must be chaped kiboko and sent to work. That is one point, Mr. Speaker.

The other point, Mr. Speaker, is—I wish I had some sticks, Mr. Speaker, because in the African tradition when you are making a point you throw a stick to show the audience that you have made a point, but I do not have any; I hope I will have them next time.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I do not think so in this Chamber, Mr. Shikuku.

Mr. Shikuku: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I thought you were practising African—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You might throw them too hard.

Mr. Shikuku: The other point I want to make, Mr. Speaker, is this. I want to tell the hon. Minister that there are also people in this country, and if he wants me to invite him to Butere or any other part of the country—I only put on a coat and a tie when I come into this Chamber, but I remember, Mr. Speaker, you have always had trouble with the Member for Butere coming into Parliament without a coat, without a tie, and shoes sometimes, a pair of shorts. This is because I live with the poor people, and if you put on a suit, you do not get on. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I say that there are people without land, there are people without jobs. Some of these people were exempted by the Imperialist Government from paying tax. Today, they are being asked to pay tax by the national Government of Kenya, the Republic of Kenya, the majority Government of Africans. Mr. Speaker, what I do not agree with is the question of one having no land, one having no job and having children, having nothing to pay the taxes with, and he is still being faced by the fact that he must pay the tax.

Even, Mr. Speaker, an illegal thing was taking place in Nairobi, and may I quote, Mr. Speaker. There was a big queue outside the City Hall—and I think this is to do with the money to buy the Rolls-Royce, Mr. Speaker—where all the unemployed people were asked to pay Sh. 4 in order to get their G.P.T. card. This is called the Graduated Personal Tax. I do not know under what law the city council does this; I hope the Minister will tell us. If he does not tell us under which clause of this Bill these people were taxing the unemployed, and this is supposed to be pay-as-you-earn—if the Minister is not going to tell us about these people who have not worked, who have not earned anything, then the Minister should ask the Mayor and all the councillors in Nairobi to refund the money they took from the poor people. If they do not do that, they will find this city very hot. We want justice, but not daylight robbery with small blessings. I think that blessing may come under clause 1, Mr. Speaker, where they say, "This Act may be cited as the Graduated Personal Tax Act, 1965, and shall come into operation or shall be deemed to have come into operation on the 1st January 1965."

[The Speaker (Mr. Slade) left the Chair]

[The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza) took the Chair]

That is the blessing they received to rob the poor people of their Sh. 4. Mr. Deputy Speaker, I accuse the City Council of Nairobi, in the name of the poor people, that they are the biggest robbers the world has ever known. According to the Bill, it is stated that this is pay-as-you-earn, but these people have never earned anything. This is the opposite: pay-as-you-do-not-earn. Therefore, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I also accuse the city council of promoting theft in the country, because you cannot pay if you have not had anything. These people beat people in the bush and at the corners of streets at night and then come in the morning to join the queue to pay Sh. 4 which they have robbed from innocent people. So I accuse the city council of promoting theft. Mr. Deputy Speaker, speaking as the president of the poor people—

Mr. amp Too: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, can the Member who is speaking tell us under what terms he was appointed as president of the poor people and which are these people?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): I am afraid that even if he is self-appointed he is entitled to claim this. Carry on, Mr. Shikuku.

Mr. Shikuku: I think you were not in, Sir, and for the information of the hon. Member, I said "the party in formation". There is a party of the poor people in formation; and you will be surprised to find out how strong it is. You wait.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, I come to one of the things where they are interfering; this has already been touched on but I am touching on it in a different way. They say in this particular clause that if a person does not pay tax, his son will not be allowed to take up bursaries and so forth. And also this question of Kakamega, where the students were asked to leave the schools because their parents had not paid Graduated Personal Tax. Mr. Deputy Speaker, this is very shallow. First of all, the administration in this country has failed hopelessly to collect tax from the people, because the provincial commissioners, the district commissioners, the district officers, the so-called chiefs and so forth are doing nothing but make statements. "P.C. So-and-so said this." "D.C. So-and-so said this." They are not concentrating on their job of administration to see how best they could collect tax from the people. They are busy making big speeches and someone has given them some stripes for them to put on their shoulders, showing that they are provincial commissioners or district commissioners; so they walk majestically, saying, "I am a provincial commissioner", "I am a district commissioner", but doing nothing. This is a most backward thing. They are being used against the Members but they will fail hopelessly.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, there is no logic in asking a student to leave a school because his parent has not paid, because there are so many people who do not have wives in this country, there are so many bachelors. If we are going to visit to ask the students to bring the cards of their fathers who have paid tax, what about the bachelors? The bachelor has no son. How will you know who to collect the tax from? See how stupid the arrangement is.

Another thing is that there are also men who are very poor, who have no land, but they have a lot of children and they do not pay tax. How will these people pay tax? Their children are not going to school.

[The Speaker (Mr. Slade) resumed the Chair]

[Mr. Kiboga] reply to. It is true that primarily we want water for Mombasa and the board was set up to take care of Mombasa Town, which is national and even international, and supplies the water to be used, but I would like to find out from the Minister what the difficulties are of supplying the areas near to which the pipeline passes. Is it the difficulty of obtaining enough money, or is it because the pipes are not being diverted or exactly what are the difficulties? Because if the same water from Mombasa could be used for the areas near-by, well and good, that is all Kenya, if it cannot be used then, for the time being, we could concentrate on Mombasa.

Mr. Chairman, I do not have much to say on this one except to have this clarified by the Minister.

Mr. Ayodo: The volume of water passing through the pipeline is about 8,000,000 gallons per day. Now this is considered enough only for Mombasa. The minute we start supplying the hinterland, Mombasa would suffer.

Mr. Ngala-Aboki: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman. Since these matters have been discussed, I think, to the satisfaction of Members can the question be now put?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Yes, I think so, I will ask the House.

(Question, that the question be now put, put and agreed to)

(Question put and agreed to)

Mr. Ayodo: Mr. Chairman, Sir, when I moved the Motion I omitted to inform the Committee of something, and this I now wish to correct. The information is that the President has signified his consent to the Motion.

Clause 27

Mr. Warlithi: Mr. Chairman, I am just rising to seek information from the Attorney-General. Part 7 of the Bill deals with transition, repeal and application and, if I remember correctly, when the Bill was being moved the Attorney-General said the some parts of the former Fugitive Offenders Act and Criminal Surrender Act will continue to apply for a certain time until a general transitional period. Now what I would like to know from the Attorney-General is for how long this period is likely to be, and why is it not possible to apply the law we are passing now without having to have this period through which the former law will still apply parallel to the law that we are passing.

The Attorney-General (Mr. Njonjo): Mr. Speaker, if the hon. Member would refer to Part II subsection (3) he will see that the Minister is given power to make regulations. As soon as these regulations are made then, of course, this transitional provision will disappear, but we must have these transitional provisions until the Minister has made the regulations which will be published in the official Gazette to cover that position, otherwise there will be a gap and then the Act cannot be operative.

Second Reading

THE GRADUATED PERSONAL TAX BILL

(Minister for Local Government on 27th January 1966)

(Resumption of debate interrupted on 1st February 1966)

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Hon. Members will recall that at the interruption of business yesterday, there was actually before the House a Motion for the adjournment of this debate. Well, that being a Motion for the adjournment of debate from that particular day, it automatically lapses when, in any case, it is superseded by the adjournment of the House. So now we are again on the main substance of the debate, though it will still be open for any hon. Member, when he has the Floor in the ordinary course of the debate, to move that the debate be adjourned. Mr. Khasakhala was speaking on the Motion for the adjournment, but that has now lapsed and he has lapsed too for the moment; though he will have an opportunity of speaking in the debate.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, I will not forget the point that you have raised and I will do so when I have raised a point or two on this Bill. Of course, Mr. Speaker, I have no quarrel with the Minister concerned, nor have I any quarrel with the Government as such, but—

Mr. Khasakhala: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that there are so many points already raised which we would like to give the Minister time to consider, I would move that the House adjourn to allow the Minister to go and make his amendments so that he can bring them to the House.

CONSIDERED RULING

MOTIONS FOR ADJOURNMENT OF DEBATE

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, I do not think, Mr. Khasakhala you really mean to move that the House adjourns. You are proposing a Motion that the debate be adjourned. But as I explained, or as I said, because I don't think I have explained for some time past now, Motions for the adjournment of a debate cannot actually be made as a point of order. It is unlike a Motion for the adjournment of the House, it can only be made by an hon. Member who has the Floor in the ordinary course of debate. Mr. Shikuku, having the Floor at the moment, could move the adjournment of the debate, if he liked, or any other hon. Member called on in the course of the debate can move the adjournment of the debate. It cannot be moved by way of interruption.

Mr. Shikuku: Thank you, Mr. Speaker, for your ruling. I will certainly take into account the point raised by the hon. Member for Emukhaya, but if I may say one or two things, Mr. Speaker, I was very much affected by the fact that it appears there is a lot of illegal happenings taking place in various parts of the country, which do not have the blessing of this House.

[Mr. Ayodo] £212,825. This money is not lying idle, it is invested with the Kenya Government and serving this country. It is not just money in the bank. The board has bought Kenya Government bonds with the money and the Government is using that money. But what we want to be careful about is that when you have a big installation like the Mombasa Pipeline Board, you do not want to have no reserve money which you can draw on in the case of an emergency. The hon. Members will remember what happened. I think it was in 1962, when the pipe bringing water to Nairobi from Sasamaa Dam burst, it was a terrible emergency, and the city council needed a lot of money. If you open such a big operation without a reserve fund, when something goes wrong everyone suffers and you have nowhere to turn. This money is invested with the Kenya Government and there must be a safe reserve for the board to operate, otherwise when something goes wrong it will be difficult to come to the House and ask for new money.

The other point I would like to clarify, Mr. Chairman, is whether this board could see to the supply of water in Machakos District or the other hinterland territories outside Mombasa. The answer is this, this board's term of reference was to supply water to Mombasa Township, and if an hon. Member here—

Mr. Mallada: On a point of information, Mr. Chairman, the Minister is misrepresenting what I said. I did not say that the Mombasa Pipeline Board should be approached to supply water to Machakos, what I said was for the Minister to bring into this House a loan to be guaranteed by Kenya Government for supply of water in Machakos District.

Mr. Ayodo: The answer is still basically the same because my Ministry does not guarantee, or does not bring questions like this about guarantees of money to county councils, that is done by my colleague the Minister for Local Government. This is a national board and it is only when it is money guaranteed for the use by a national board that my Ministry asks the House to guarantee the money. When it is for a county council it is a different Ministry.

Mr. Chairman, I would like to emphasize the point I was making when the hon. Member rose to his feet, and that is the board is primarily concerned with the supply of water to Mombasa Township, and not to county council areas.

The other thing I would like to say, Mr. Chairman, in reply to the question raised by the hon. Member for Kilifi South. The hon. Member for Kilifi South seems to think that the present supply of water to Mombasa Town is more than enough. This is slightly surprising, Mr. Chairman, because I thought that the hon. Member for Kilifi South would be the first person to ensure that the Government does everything possible to prepare Mombasa Town for rapid development. Mombasa is thinking of new hotels, more people coming in, more boats, more ships, more industries and more machinery and I am worried myself that we should be thinking of another pipeline for Mombasa, because Mombasa is in for a lot of rapid development, and for the hon. Member for Kilifi South to suggest that there is more than enough water, I find this is a little surprising.

Mr. Ngala: Mr. Chairman, Sir, some people are shouting to me that I do not live in Mombasa, others are saying that I am a Giriama, that has nothing to do with this matter which we are discussing. Members of Parliament can give their views on any subject on any corner of Kenya. This is what we are doing. For the information of the Member here, I am living in Mombasa and in fact am chairman of Kanu in Mombasa.

Mr. Chairman, Sir, I have made it quite clear, the Minister has also surprised me, he says that the board is primarily for the provision of water to Mombasa Township. The Minister is the person responsible for putting right what is wrong with the board. If the initial regulations were wrong and the needs are now existing that the Pipe Board should supply the intermediate areas through which it runs, I think the Minister as the person responsible should change the regulations so that the other areas are covered. For the Minister to suggest that the first regulations were only directed for the provision of water to Mombasa is an indication of him shirking his responsibility. That has also surprised me, and his attitude is very strange, because he is the Minister responsible and he can change the regulations any time he likes. We would support him strongly, Sir, if he brought in such a change so that we can make it.

I would like to say that this board is a national board, if it is not a national board the Minister will tell me, but I was a member of this board some time ago and as far as I know it is a national board and it should, therefore, be used nationally and should have a wider outlook other than just serving one place.

The Minister has also criticised me that I should have looked up the needs of Mombasa better so far as water is concerned. I take his point only when he talks of ships coming and [Mr. Ngala] they require water and so on, ships come with very few Africans, they come from overseas. When will the Minister stop catering for foreigners? The Minister should first think of his own people who are giving him votes in the Kwale District, votes in Kilifi South, people who are giving him votes he should cater for them first instead of thinking about British warships coming into Mombasa and catering for them first. I think it is also a very poor approach on the part of the Minister in considering the needs of our people in the country. I am not undermining the importance of Mombasa, East African-wise, or even Kenya-wise, but I think it is very important that the people who walk 30 miles for water, or walk 40 miles for water, women spending the whole day fetching water, seeing that the board cannot even create a few taps for these poor women to get water nearer to their homes, when even some of their villages are very close to the water pipe, I think it is very unkind of the Minister.

I would like to know one other point, these guarantee in the past which total over £2½ million, were they not guaranteed initially, and if they were guaranteed initially by the Government, did the period of guarantee expire last June? Is this the reason why the Minister wants the guarantee to be renewed by this Parliament? If the period of guarantee expired last June why has the Minister been so slow in coming to Parliament and asking for a guarantee?

It is worrying us, we see here that Barclays Bank has given £300,000, or has laid down £300,000; the Standard Bank has laid down £300,000; the Uganda Government has laid down £1,000,000; the East African Railways and Harbours has laid down £500,000; and the National and Grindlays Bank has laid down £750,000. All this money has gone to the board. We appreciate what the Minister is trying to do but what he fails to give us, is how much of this money already guaranteed has been spent, and what are the new demands, the new projects for which the need for renewing this guarantee is warranted. This is what we want to know. It is not because we want to stand in your way if you want to give us fresh good water, plenty of it, also we challenge you that your Ministry should alter the regulations so that the vicinity of Mombasa is covered.

Mr. Ayodo: Mr. Chairman, Sir, it seems as if the hon. Member for Kilifi South and I are in for surprises, because every time he speaks I am surprised, and when I speak he is surprised, and just now I am surprised at one of the remarks that he has made, Mr. Chairman. When I said we are thinking of the rapid development of Mombasa, and referred to ships, it is true that these ships may be coming in from various countries outside this country. Some of them from Europe, America, India, Russia and all over the world. In providing water for them we are merely making sure that Mombasa prospers as a port of trade, an important port for this country. Because when the boat comes it is not a question of a mzungu on the board using money, but we want to encourage them to come so that there is more trade between Kenya and the outside world. That is a surprise Mr. Chairman, that the hon. Member for Kilifi South should have spoken like that on that particular question.

The other point I would like to answer is that the hon. Member for Kilifi South seems to think that the Mombasa Pipeline Board can only be national if it supplies water to all the people along the route. This is a misconception, Mr. Chairman, because Mombasa itself is a national town, Mombasa is not for the coast, it is for Kenya, it is the port of entry, and any board serving, seeing to it that water is supplied to Mombasa, is, in that way, a national board. I am not saying that my Ministry is not interested in the supply of water for people living between the springs and the town, we are interested, but these things are done one at a time. The board was set up specifically for Mombasa Township, and when these other problems come up they will be looked into as necessary, and as I said we also need to encourage the county councils which can have money raised for them through other means, this is not the only way of raising money for water in the country. Therefore another question which was raised, Mr. Chairman, which I would like to reply to and that was the question of the rate of interest being seven and that the hon. Member for Kilifi South thinking that this was a high rate of interest. I want to say, Sir, that this is the cheapest possible money that we could get. In fact the accepted cheap rate for borrowing money is usually 8 per cent and 7 is actually very cheap and it is the cheapest we could get, as I have just said. If the hon. Member knows of a source of money where we could get it at a cheaper rate, I would be only too pleased to go there and try to look for money.

The representation on the board raised by the Member for Mombasa is a question that is reviewed from time to time.

Mr. Kibuga: Mr. Chairman, Sir, I do not want to say very much on this Motion; but there are one or two questions which the Minister needs to do not get the water at all; some of them have to walk about two or three miles to get water. So, I think there is really a need to get the water supply to Mombasa Mainland, such as Changamwe, Kisumu and Likoni.

While I agree with the hon. Ngala when he says that there is a need to get water in Kwale District, because the Mzima pipeline passes through that area and some people walk about forty miles a day in order to get a tin of water.

An hon. Member: You have just said three miles.

Mr. Omar: Yes, in Mombasa District, of course, it is three miles, but in Kwale District, through which the water pipeline passes from Mzima Springs, people walk quite a long distance in order to get a tin of water, and there are some people and places there, and it is important that very serious consideration should be given so that the water is made available in Kwale District.

It is also necessary to extend water pipelines from Rabai into the hinterland of Kilifi District. I do not say this because I am living there, but I say it because of the need there, and the people are demanding water from Mzima Springs.

Now, about Mombasa, Mr. Chairman, we are having more industries built there and, therefore, it is very important that the Mombasa Pipeline Board should be given this loan. You find that many people from up-country are coming into Mombasa and more industries are being built in Mombasa and, therefore, the more the population is increasing, the more is the need for water increasing. It is, therefore, very important that this board should be given this loan.

About the composition of the board, Mr. Chairman, I saw in the annual report some time last year—I am not happy about the composition of this board. I would like more representation from the Members of Parliament, especially from the Coast Province, so that they could explain to the board all that is needed—

Mr. Kase: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, this Motion clearly deals with the guarantee of money to a certain board. I wonder whether the question of membership to this board is particularly relevant?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Yes, I am afraid it is, because, after all, if the House or the country is going to guarantee the repayment of a large sum being issued to it, or to guarantee the repayment of a loan to be made to the board, the composition of the board is important. One would like to know that it is, for example, consisting of efficient people, or honest people, like Members of Parliament.

Mr. Omar: Yes, my colleague was saying this because they have plenty of water in the Tana River, in fact they have a problem in that they have too much water.

So, I would like to have representation of Members of Parliament on this board so that the views of the Coast Province as a whole can also be heard by this board.

The water pipeline should not only go to the oil refinery; they have a lot of water there, and in some other places in Changamwe you find that there is no water supply.

I fully support this Motion, Mr. Chairman, that it is worth while that the Mombasa pipeline should get this loan.

With these few remarks, Mr. Chairman, I beg to support the Motion.

Mr. Malinda: Mr. Chairman, the Minister, when he stood up, just brushed my queries aside. I do not know why. But, Mr. Chairman, I feel very strongly about this, because he wants this Government to guarantee a loan of £1½ million without explaining to us what this money is for. The money had been loaned to the Mombasa Pipeline Board and the money was repaid in June. Why does he want the money again? What specific projects does the Mombasa Pipeline Board want the money for? He has not told us. That is one thing I wanted him to explain to us.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): It does not say that the money was repaid in June, it said that the loan matured in June, and the same loan has been extended, as it were, for another period of ten years.

Mr. Malinda: But what for, Mr. Chairman? I ask this, Sir, because when the Minister was speaking he said that the board had, in the reserve fund, just about £½ million, £212,000. What does he want the loan for? For operating costs? We should know this. Or for installing a new pipeline? We want to know. Or for installing a big reservoir, or something like that? He should explain this to us. He just wants money to be guaranteed without explaining.

That, Sir, is one of the things I want the Minister to explain to the House. I do not know whether the Minister is listening or not, but what I am saying is that I want to know from the Minister what this money is for.

[Mr. Malinda]

Mr. Chairman, Sir, the other thing which I would like him to say here is with regard to Members here who have been talking about certain districts, but the Minister has always brushed that aside. Now, Sir, I want the Minister to tell me if he has any plans to bring a loan to be guaranteed in this House in favour of the Machakos County Council in order to install water in the Machakos County? After all, Sir, these Mzima Springs are in the Machakos District, in fact the Minister is not aware of the fact, and it is not 300 miles from the springs to cover the district, it is much less, yet this money is being guaranteed to take water to Mombasa.

Mr. Chairman, Sir, I would like the Minister to explain this.

Mr. Kamau: Mr. Chairman, Sir, it is very clear here that the Minister has always said, and also a few minutes ago, that the Members should not say that the money is lying idle here. If there is a lot of money lying idle and the country needs a lot of money for the improvement of other areas, why should he request this House to approve this loan for the simple reason, Sir, here that this board needs it, and what I would like to say is that I thought the Minister could have requested this board even to loan this money which is lying idle to the other people who need it to be utilized for other purposes. In here there is no explanation as to why the Minister wanted us to grant the loan, or as he says here, and with your permission, Sir, I would like to quote, "That this House approves that the Government guarantee a loan of £1,350,000 with interest thereon at the rate of 7 per cent per annum and repayable in ten equal annual instalments from 30th June 1966, to 30th June 1975, which has been raised with effect from 1st July 1965 by the Mombasa Pipeline Board from a consortium of banks in Kenya in renewal of a loan for the same amount which matured on 30th June 1965."

Mr. Chairman, Sir, why should this House urge the Government to approve this without being shown on what this money will be utilized? This board is interested in the money. The Ministers and the Members here are even more interested in this. We cannot have money granted to some people of any board to lie idle without explaining why there are so many projects in the whole country which need this money. Therefore, I think, Sir, that I would like to request the Minister, first of all, to give us a very satisfactory reason for this, because if he can convince the Members, then I think everybody knows that if he wants to extend the water resources in the whole area of Mombasa and outside Mombasa, obviously the Members will agree with it, but, Sir, without an explanation, I think any hon. Member who says that they approve this amount would also be a blind Member, because he will not have the interest of the country at heart knowing very well that the Government needs a lot of money to improve other facilities such as education, hospitals and roads. Sir, to guarantee £1,000,000 which will just be kept in the bank of the board without being utilized, I think, it would not be fair.

Therefore, Sir, I would like to request the Minister to tell us in this House how the board, which is urging for this money, is going to utilize this money. Therefore, Sir, for the time being, I would like to reserve my comments on it, until I know clearly what this money is for, from the hon. Minister for Natural Resources and Tourism.

Mr. Ayodo: Mr. Chairman, Sir, I want to make one point very clear. I am not asking for new money. The board is not asking for new money. This money, which I am talking about, was raised in 1958 when the pipeline was installed, and the money was raised, and I made this very clear when I was moving the Motion, but the money was raised as follows: The whole installation cost just a little over £5,000,000 which was raised as follows, the Kenya Government produced £2.17 million in 1958, the amount I want guaranteed—£1,350,000—was borrowed from three banks. The National and Grindlays, Barclays and the Standard Banks, and this was in 1958, when the pipeline was installed. Another amount, £1 million, was borrowed from the Uganda Government and £500,000 was borrowed from the East African Railways and Harbours Administration. That adds up to just a little over £5 million raised in 1958. What I am asking for now, Sir, is not that the Government sets aside new money for the board, but only that this amount borrowed from the bank, which should have been repaid in full in June, last year, the period of payment should be extended for another ten years so that the board can pay that loan, raised in 1958, in ten equal annual instalments starting from June this year.

We are asked just to guarantee it, we are not requesting new money, and the board is in a position to do so. All that is required is a guarantee, safety.

Now, Mr. Chairman, the hon. Member for Githunguri said that this money is lying idle, the two amounts I quoted earlier on in reply to the hon. Member's question. One is the Loan Redemption Fund, standing as at 30th June 1965 at £949,729. This is the Loan Redemption Fund. The other fund is the Reserve Fund standing at

[Mr. Bab]

With these remarks, Mr. Chairman, I wish to support.

Mr. Ochwada: Mr. Chairman, Sir, this is a very straightforward Motion, which I believe needed no debating, but since some points were not clear to some Members I think it is only fair that they air their views. But, as far as I am concerned, Sir, I only rise to thank the Minister for the assurance that the Mombasa Pipeline Board is in a sound financial position and that there will be no problem in future in repaying the loan.

I would also like to draw the Minister's attention to the fact that we from up-country will perhaps very soon be coming up with a suggestion that a similar guarantee be given by this Parliament to give us some money to get water which is so much required for agricultural purposes.

Now, Mr. Chairman, with these few remarks, I beg very strongly to support the Motion.

Mr. Malinda: Mr. Chairman, I would like to support this Motion very much, but there are one or two things I want the Minister to explain. To start with, Sir, he wants £1,350,000. Now I want to know how this amount is related to the Bill which we are soon going to discuss and which also involves some money to be loaned to the Mombasa-Pipeline Board, because, if there is any relationship, this amount which the Minister is asking us to approve now will be above the amount that the Bill will allow the Government to borrow. That is, it will be in excess of the £30 million which we shall need to borrow according to the Bill.

Again, Mr. Chairman, I would like the Minister to explain whether the amount that he is asking for, the renewal of the loan that he is asking for, has any relation to the amounts that are shown in the Bill which we were talking about the other day, because here, Mr. Chairman, I find some confusion. If there is no relationship, is it necessary to borrow a further sum of over £1 million when the Mombasa Pipeline Board is already in receipt of loans in excess of £2½ million?

Over and above that, Mr. Chairman, I would like the Minister to explain to us what other arrangements his Ministry makes in other places where water is also very scarce. Whether this is relevant or irrelevant, Mr. Chairman, perhaps you will rule, but we in Machakos District have suffered from the lack of water for a long time and the County Council of Machakos finds it extremely difficult to provide water for the people.

Why has the Ministry not brought any request to this House for money to be guaranteed to be spent on water development in Machakos?

Mr. Chairman, before I sit down, as I said, I would like to support this Motion but I reserve my vote until I get the answers.

Mr. Ayodo: Mr. Chairman, I am glad that the general trend is in support of the Motion, but I think I should clarify a few points before we go too far. The hon. Member for Butere raised a question which I think is important and which I think I should clarify right away. He wanted to know whether I had information from the board. By the way, it is the board and not the Municipality. This is looked after by a board which was set up by an Act of Parliament; it is a statutory board we are dealing with here, not the Municipality of Mombasa. The hon. Member wanted to know whether I had information about the actual financial position of the board. I would therefore like to give the following information.

The board has two funds for surplus money. One is a reserve fund which, at the moment, as at 30th June, 1965, stood at £212,825. This is a reserve fund but it is, at the moment, earmarked for some development or some emergency which might occur at any time. But I am quoting that to show the hon. Member that this is not a bankrupt board; it has money in readiness for any emergency that might arise.

The second fund is the Loan Redemption Fund, which is the more important one as far as the hon. Member's question is concerned. The Loan Redemption Fund, as at 30th June 1965, was £949,729, which is quite a good amount of money. But, as the hon. Member knows, we cannot use all that sum at once, because there must always be some money ready should it be needed to be used. Therefore, we do not consider that enough; there must be a guarantee for a further loan so that the board operates on a safe margin.

The hon. Member for Nyando Division raised the question of Kisumu being considered. I would like to say that we are, at the moment, asking for this loan for Mzima Springs and when, in future, we have some springs for Kisumu we will definitely ask for a loan for that. This does not mean we are excluding the other parts of the country, but this is for Mzima Springs for the time being and we will definitely do something for Kisumu when the time comes.

The hon. Specially Elected Member, Mr. Malinda—I am afraid that I did not understand the Bill he was referring to. I do not seem to be in the picture. The £30 million he referred to does not appear anywhere in my Motion. I am only concerned with my Motion as it stands on the Order Paper now.

Mr. Ngala: Mr. Chairman, before I consider supporting the Ministry on this Motion, I think it is very important that we should understand exactly what the Mombasa Pipeline Board is up to. I live in Mombasa and I know that Mombasa and I know that Mombasa Municipality has more than sufficient water at the moment. They even had to serve one or two other places, one north of Mombasa and one south of Mombasa. Now why the Minister should ask for more money to be given to this board, which is supplying surplus water for Mombasa, I cannot understand. The situation is that I would appreciate it if the Minister wanted to give this loan so that the board can assist the other districts in the hinterland of Mombasa. For example, this present pipe passes through the Nduruma district where people are seriously suffering from a shortage of water. The board has not even considered tapping some of the water which runs in the big pipe which exists already so that the local people, the Waduruma, who are suffering from a shortage of water can have a sufficient amount of it and can benefit by the existence of the pipe which goes through their area.

Now, I think these people—the Waduruma—have also a lot of cattle that require water, and the board has not assisted very much in getting these animals sufficient water so that they can be helped economically. There is a point of irrigation in this dry land, and again the board—or the Government—has not considered making water that is running through this dry country available for irrigation to help the farmers raise their living standards. Often the board says that this is the shauri of the county councils, the county council in Kwale District is financially unable to undertake these big projects, as I have indicated. I would like an assurance from the Minister that these loans over £1½ million would be used by the board to try and solve the problems that the Waduruma people are suffering from in the hinterland, particularly.

Secondly, Sir, I would like to know whether this money will be spent by the board in such a manner as to extend the water pipe from Rabai to Nduruma, Kaloleni, Wibai, and Kilifi through places where people really need water. If the purpose is just to almost take coals to Newcastle—by that I mean over-supply Mombasa Island with water when it already has sufficient water—I think this is a waste of water. Therefore, we would like to get a clear explanation as to how the board is going to spend this money, whether it is going to help the neighbouring districts with difficulties of water as regards irrigation, as regards various taps for local people, or as regards water for the live-stock; if this is going to be used towards that, we shall appreciate and support the Minister very, very strongly. If it is just to supply Mombasa, which is already over supplied, we shall think that the Minister is not aware of the difficulties and is not intending to help the people, who deserve, but it is just, probably, confining himself to Mombasa where we have plenty of water already.

I do not want to give the impression that it is not necessary that this money should go to the board, but I just want to get a clear explanation, to make sure that the local hinterland people will benefit by this loan.

The third point, Mr. Chairman, Sir, is that I would like to know—I see that in the Loan Redemption Fund the board has over £900,000—how much in the way of outstanding loans they have to cover, if they have been given any loans unguaranteed by Government in the previous years. How much money still remains to be covered?

Also, I would like to know, regarding these ten instalments, roughly how much each would be in £5 over the period that the board has to borrow.

The other point is that I would like to know why the interest is 7 per cent and not lower. Has any effort been made to try and get a lower interest rate with the companies concerned, so that we could reduce the expenditure and the hardships on the board?

With these few words, Mr. Chairman, I would like to reserve my support.

Mr. Omar: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. I also rise to support this Motion and before I go further I would like to say that I partly agree with my colleague, the hon. Mr. Ngala, in what he has said, and I partly disagree with him, especially when he said that there is a sufficient water supply in Mombasa District. It is true that Mombasa Island gets sufficient water, but not the Mombasa Mainland, such as the Chamgamwe area, and Kisauni and the Likoni area. These three locations, which are on the mainland, have difficulties with water supply, and whenever we hold a public meeting in these areas the chief problem that we get is the supply of water in these areas. Although the water pipeline passes through Chamgamwe from Mzima Springs, you find that people living in that area

Mr. Shikuku: Asking from the Assistant Minister's reply, is it correct that the Government has two directors on this as a joint venture, and is he aware that his reply to this House omitted that the Government approved to have Kisumu and Mombasa only. Was this ever brought to this House, which is the Government of the country?

Dr. Waiyaki: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I thought I said that this was a limited liability company with Government participation. I think I used those words, which mean, therefore, that it is a joint venture. If I understood English properly,

When this company was being discussed, naturally, the Ministry of Housing and Social Services was consulted and it is quite correct what the two hon. Members have said, that there are two directors from the Government sitting on the board.

Mr. Kibinge: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Assistant Minister aware of the fact that last year when the formation of this company was announced by the Minister for Housing and Social Services, he promised the House that the Company would deal with the whole country, because Members were protesting against it being in Nairobi or Mombasa only.

Dr. Waiyaki: I am aware that was the case. Sir, but nevertheless the Company has decided to start with Nairobi and Mombasa, because of the various shortages that I enumerated here.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Would the Assistant Minister undertake, hearing from the Members of Parliament, to direct that Kisumu should be covered, and also Nyali, regardless of other excuses?

Dr. Waiyaki: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I will report the matter back to the Minister for Housing and Social Services, and he will consider it.

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I was wondering what an hon. Member in the House could do in the case of a Member of the Government contradicting a previous statement by the Government in the House and now the hon. Member tells us when the Government changed the policy, what do we do in such a case, because there are two conflicting statements, a promise in the House, and now the hon. Minister tells us a different story? Which one do we believe, and is it in order for the Minister to twist the answer in this House?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think on occasions like this, hon. Members can only draw attention to inconsistency as and when they find the opportunity to do so. It cannot be raised as a matter of order. I think we must go on now.

Before proceeding with the next Order, I would remind hon. Members that Mr. Malsotilumbo has to raise a matter on the adjournment as noted on the Order Paper, at the interruption, or earlier close of business this afternoon.

PERSONAL STATEMENT

EMPLOYMENT OF ABALUHYA

Mr. Khasakhala: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, yesterday during the adjournment Motion, I said that I would get some details about the statement I made, and I am prepared to do so, can I do it now, Sir?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): That would be a very good thing, thank you, yes, Mr. Khasakhala.

I think you will assist the House, Mr. Khasakhala, if you would repeat the statement that you made first, that you were asked to substantiate, so that we know what we are talking about.

Mr. Khasakhala: Yesterday, Sir, I said that some officials in Nyanza had written a letter, stating that the Abaluhya tribe should not be employed in Maseno for certain reasons, and the Member for Wambua asked me to substantiate that particular statement, which I am going to do now. The letter was written by the then Provincial Agricultural Officer, Nyanza, Mr. Z. Owiro dated the 29th October 1965, reference number 2BAOS/A/R/77/V/78 to the Livestock Officer, Maseno. Copies were sent to the provincial veterinary officer, district agricultural officer, etc. The letter dated was referring to a letter sent to him on the 26th October, where he said, "We should, as far as possible, recruit subordinate staff from Nyanza Province and not from the Western Province, this will help you a great deal in public relations", and this letter can be found here.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is it not in order for the hon. Member to clarify further, while substantiating, that this letter was written when regionalism required that as much, as possible people originally from one area—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! Now, when an hon. Member has been required to substantiate a statement, we cannot have a great discussion afterwards, as to the exact meaning or effect of his substantiation. He has been asked to say why he made a statement, and he is now telling the House why he made it. There is just one point, that when an hon. Member relies on a document for anything he says for substantiation or otherwise, he should strictly say that document on the Table so that hon. Members can see it

[The Speaker] afterwards. It is not urgent to do that, but I would ask you, Mr. Khasakhala, to lay a copy of that letter on the Table for Members to see for themselves at their convenience.

MOTION

LOAN GUARANTEE: MOMBASA PIPELINE BOARD

That this House approves that the Government guarantee a loan of £1,350,000 with interest thereon at the rate of 7 per cent per annum and repayable in ten equated annual instalments from 30th June 1966 to 30th June 1975, which has been raised with effect from 1st July 1965 by the Mombasa Pipeline Board from a consortium of banks in Kenya in renewal of a loan for the same amount which matured on 30th June 1965.

The Minister for Natural Resources and Tourism (Mr. Ayodo): Mr. Chairman, Sir, I beg to move that this House approves this Motion.

Mr. Chairman, Sir, this is a fairly straightforward Motion, but for the benefit of the Members I should like to explain that the Mombasa Mzima Pipeline was installed by the Government in 1958. There are two lines, Mrere and Mzima, and this is the bigger line which supplies water to Mombasa. The line cost the Government a little over £5 million to install, and the money was raised as follows, the Kenya Government contributed £2.17 million, £1.35 million was raised from a consortium of banks, namely Barclays, National and Grindlays and the Standard Banks, £1 million was borrowed from the Uganda Government, and £500,000 was borrowed from the East African Railways and Harbours. The loan matured last year, the one we want to guarantee now, or we want the House to approve that the Government guarantee, is a sum of £1,350,000, where the loan matured on the 30th June, last year. The board was not able to repay this loan at the time because it had not raised enough money, or it did not have sufficient in its Reserve Fund to be able to meet the required repayment. This is so, Mr. Chairman, because the board could only meet this requirement if the fees for water were high. Now this was not thought to be advisable, as it would have made it very difficult for the people in Mombasa. So at the present rate, the board will need another term for this loan to be repaid, which is ten further years. All I am asking the House now is to agree that the Government guarantee this loan.

I should like to take this opportunity, Mr. Chairman, to assure the House that the board's finances are very sound. They have a good reserve, and I have no reason to doubt that this money will be repaid by the board when the board is called upon to do so. I should therefore be grateful if the Motion could be passed by the House.

(Question proposed)

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Chairman, while agreeing with the hon. Mover who has just spoken, I have not quite understood one point, and I would be very much obliged if he would shed more light on it. He has not told us how long the, let us say, Municipality of Mombasa, will take in raising the funds to meet the loan which is going to be given to it with effect from June 1966—has the Minister been furnished with information from the board as to how the Municipality of Mombasa is going to meet the loan or the repayment of the loan, apart from just feeling that the board's financial position is very sound?

In addition to that, Mr. Chairman, I was also wondering if the Minister could tell the House whether this is only an approval. In case of failure, are we bound by this approval or is there going to be a separate Bill to guarantee that this loan will be paid? Is the Minister only asking us for our approval and not for a guarantee that, in case they fail to pay the loan back, this House will pay it?

Mr. Bala: Mr. Chairman, in line with my colleague, I would like to have some clarification on this Motion. First of all, I would like to know what sort of security this Municipality has for this amount of money, or whether the guarantee from this Parliament is the only security which is going to be put up for this money.

Also, quite a number of times we have given guarantees in this Parliament for projects like the Sasumua Dam, for the Nairobi City Council, for the Kariakoo buildings and so forth, but we have not had any projects from the rest of the country, places such as Kisumu Township, although we need quite a lot of services. We need to have luxury hotels in places like Kisumu and so on. Why is it that we only guarantee, in this Parliament, projects for places like Nairobi and Mombasa and not places like Kisumu?

So, Mr. Chairman, I think when the Minister replies he should tell me why we are only being pinned down for these two towns and not other towns outside these two.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Would you repeat your question, Mr. ole Tipis, just one?

Mr. ole Tipis: My question, Mr. Speaker, Sir, is what prevented the Minister from tabling the two directive letters, which he has sent to these boards, earlier, before this question was brought before the House?

Mr. McKenzie: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the reason was very simple indeed. When I made a statement to the House the other day, I told the House that I was going to make a further statement on the matter of the Western Kenya and statutory boards at a later date, and I said "in about a fortnight's time". This question has beaten me to it, and that is why I am answering the question today. The intention was—amongst other things—to put this in a statement which was going to be circulated to Members in about another week, because that was a week ago.

Mr. ole Tipis: The other point I had, Sir, was this. The Minister read a paragraph in one of his directives to the effect that the boards must keep the Minister fully informed of their activities. Does this imply that he was not kept fully informed in the past, or what?

Mr. McKenzie: No, Mr. Speaker, this means that the board cannot then make the excuse that I, as Minister, never told them to keep me informed.

Mr. Tanui: Mr. Speaker, Sir, can the Minister agree with me that in view of the fact that now the Minister is kept informed of matters concerning these boards, the chairmen of the boards should be abolished and one commissioner should be appointed to look into these things so that efficiency could be achieved in the boards?

Mr. McKenzie: No, Sir.

Mr. Ngala-Aboki: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Minister agree with me that there is a great need to look into how the chairmen of these boards are working, and what time they are devoting to doing board duties? I say this because there are some chairmen who only appear to carry out the functions of the board at a time when a meeting is being carried out, and then—after the meeting—they disappear to the countryside, or they go to their business and they do not do anything whatsoever, so that the pay that they get is actually, to a certain extent, a waste of the taxpayers' money?

Mr. McKenzie: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the hon. Member is a member of one of my statutory boards and I sincerely hope that he will tell me if he knows of chairmen who are doing this, and I will be waiting for him after the Session today so that he can give me the name of any such chairman.

Mr. arap Too: Mr. Speaker, Sir, while appreciating the directives which the Minister sent to these boards to show them the maximum that the members or the chairman should receive, would he tell this House why we have different payments to the members of the boards, to the chairmen and the officers of the boards. Why do we have these people paid differently? For example, Mr. Speaker, Sir, why have the members of the Maize Marketing Board getting different salaries, members of the Wheat Board getting different salaries, why does he not make a uniform payment for these people?

Mr. McKenzie: Mr. Speaker, this is exactly what we have done. I think I ought to make it perfectly clear, because I know the point the hon. Member from Narok East was getting at was that he was really saying that there were certain statutory boards which were operating efficiently, and I agree with him. There are not many boards which have been spending too much money, but it so happens that I have inherited some boards lately where they were getting as much as £20—Sh. 400—per day sitting allowance! The producer cannot afford to allow this to happen. What we have now done is to reduce it to Sh. 100 maximum. I have one board, the Central Agricultural Board, who get Sh. 20 a day and they will now be asking me, I presume, for a rise on this! But these figures which I have given are the maximum figures. There were some chairmen who were getting £2,750 with their allowances per year. We are knocking all this down to £1,500.

Answering the hon. Member who has just asked a question, Sir, boards differ. Some boards are dealing with millions of pounds. The Coffee Board, for instance, is dealing with £16 or £17 million a year, auctioning our most important crop, and doing an extremely good job; doing it very well indeed.

This means that they need to spend a little more time on it than, say, a board like the Wheat Board. The Wheat Board handles a million and a half bags a year very efficiently. The chairman of that board gets £600. The members get Sh. 30 per sitting. These boards differ, some of them have to meet more often, some of them have more responsibilities. I have laid down a maximum here and, within this maximum, I am prepared to discuss with the boards and the boards' chairmen, the amount of money they should get, the same as I have laid down when these letters are read, that I do not want boards to meet more than bi-monthly, or if it is an important board, then we might consider them meeting every six weeks unless there is an emergency. I do not want, as I have found, a board meeting seven times in three months, and then having five executive meetings on top of it, in three months.

Mr. Tanui: Mr. Speaker, Sir, on a point of order, with all due respect that I give the Minister, would I not be in order to protest, and you give a ruling that the Minister having answered my question sitting down, should apologize to me, because it is always a custom that when Ministers answer questions, they stand and answer the question, but my question was answered while the Minister was sitting?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I thought he rose in his place.

Mr. Tanui: Was it not a rude thing, Sir, for the Minister to sit down and answer—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Your point is quite clear, Mr. Tanui, and it is out of order for answers to be given sitting, but as I say, I thought the Minister rose in his place.

Mr. McKenzie: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I apologize if I have upset the hon. Member and may I answer, Mr. Speaker, Sir, that I think it was, no.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): We must go on now. We go back to Mr. Jamal's question.

HOUSING SHORTAGE, KISUMU

Mr. Bala, on behalf of Mr. Jamal, asked the Minister for Housing and Social Services if he would tell the House if he was aware of the acute shortage of houses in Kisumu. Secondly, in what circumstances had the Housing Finance Company of Kenya Ltd. excluded Kisumu from its initial area of operation. Thirdly, would he take appropriate action to include Kisumu on the list.

The Assistant Minister, Vice-President's Office (Dr. Waiyaki): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply; on behalf of the Minister for Housing and Social Services.

I am fully aware of the shortage of houses, not only in Kisumu, but throughout the country. The Housing Finance Company of Kenya has restricted its activities to Nairobi and Mombasa with the full knowledge and consent of the Government, but as an interim measure only. The company is short of capital, staff and experience and, obviously, cannot accept the heavy administrative charges which would arise from country-wide operations at this early stage of its life.

It is the Government's intention that the company shall extend its operations over the country as soon as it is able to do so, but I am not, at the present time, in a position to forecast the programme of expansion or the probable dates that such expansion will take place.

Perhaps I should point out that the Kisumu Municipality can apply to the Central Housing Board for a loan to enable it to build more houses for its citizens.

Mr. Bala: Arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, would the Assistant Minister not agree with me that the fact that everything is being concentrated in Nairobi, even housing, is making people in the countryside, me for example, so frustrated, and therefore we have to change this policy of concentrating everything here?

Dr. Waiyaki: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am talking about the Housing Finance Company of Kenya, and not everything.

Mr. Ngala-Aboki: Mr. Speaker, Sir, will the Assistant Minister explain to the House how they arrived at this conclusion, that there was going to be so much work that could not be easily handled, and therefore only these two places are covered for the time being? Was this imagined, or have they already processed some applications which showed that the Mombasa people and the Nairobi people could apply in plenty, and therefore, other work could not be coped with? Was this conclusion reached logically or was it just one of those methods?

Dr. Waiyaki: Mr. Speaker, Sir, perhaps, I should explain that this is a new company, and that it is not a Government company, it is a private limited liability company. With Government participation, the company chose these two places, Nairobi and Mombasa, as pilot areas. Once they have established experience in Nairobi and Mombasa, they propose to go elsewhere.

Mr. Jahazi: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that the Assistant Minister has said that this is entirely a private company, is it in order for the Assistant Minister to say so while the Government is represented with two directors, and, in fact, we are told that it is a joint venture between the Government—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): That is not a point of order, Mr. Jahazi.

[The Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry]

We started a soil survey in November, which will continue to February 1966. The feasibility study was started on time at the beginning of December and will go through and I hope we will have the results of the feasibility survey by June. This will then allow us to consider it, to analyse it and then to open discussions with the consortium who are prepared, in principle, depending on the feasibility study, to finance the whole of the development of this scheme. The negotiations on finance, I hope, will be completed towards the end of this year if, in principle, they have accepted the feasibility study, and, as I said last year, the first ploughing and cane planting will take place in March/April 1967. There are no alterations whatsoever to what I said in this House at the end of last year, although I understand that there have been numerous rumours operating in the Western Province, all I can tell the hon. Member is that, like the rumour of the strike of oil in the Western Province, the one about sugar is much the same: do not listen to it.

Mr. Oduya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Minister aware that just last year, when the President visited Kakamega, he did promise the people who were at Kakamega Stadium that the industry would start, that meant that the machinery would be brought in, within a matter of one to two months from the date of his promise. And what the Minister is now telling us here means that the industry is going to wait for another twenty-four months. Does that, therefore, not contradict the statement made by the President of the Republic of Kenya?

Mr. McKenzie: No, Sir, I am not aware of any statement which the President made saying that machinery would be ready in a month. But, Sir, as I have said, in this House last year a full explanation was made in the debate on this, and it is not possible to develop the machinery for a sugar factory in a month; not possible at all, I am afraid. Development of machinery for a sugar factory takes nearly two years to build and to put up. This is not like a bicycle. Mr. Speaker, or a motor car, this is a vast amount of machinery, and I would like to ask the hon. Member the next time he goes home to his constituency, when he is driving down the hill from Kericho to Kisumu, that he moves his eyes to the right where he will see the big new factory going up, and he will see that it is perhaps the biggest building in Nyanza, and this cannot be built in a month.

Mr. arap Too: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that the Minister accepts that there were some rumours circulated that there was an alteration to what he said last October, would he tell the House what steps he has taken to stop these rumours?

Mr. McKenzie: I have taken the steps today by making these announcements which I hope the Pressmen listening will put into the Press.

An hon. Member: Too late.

Mr. Muruli: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Minister has just referred to another factory which is being built beside the road from Kericho to Kisumu. Is he aware that Mumias factory should have been built first, before this factory?

Mr. McKenzie: No, Mr. Speaker.

Question No. 249

CO-ORDINATION OF AGRICULTURAL BOARDS

Mr. Godla asked the Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry what steps were being taken to see that the work of all the constituted agricultural boards in the country were effectively co-ordinated.

The Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. McKenzie): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply.

I wish to reply to this question by requesting your permission to table two letters which have been sent from my Ministry, signed by me as Minister, both dated the 24th January, to all chairmen of statutory boards. I do not want to read them all out because they are lengthy, but I would like—with your permission—to touch on one or two aspects which are in these letters which cover completely the question which has been put, to me by the hon. Member.

PAPER LAID

Directives Nos. BD/11/VOL. V/82 and BD/1/VOL. V/83 of 24th January 1966, on Agricultural Statutory Boards issued to Chairmen of all Statutory Boards referred to in Question No. 249.

(By the Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. McKenzie) by leave of Mr. Speaker)

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Question No. 249

The Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. McKenzie): Mr. Speaker, Sir, the one letter reads as follows:—

"I now issue the following directive which must be brought into effect by the 31st March 1966:"

[The Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry]

and (5) is to the chairmen of all statutory boards, so this is bringing them all into line—

1. The maximum salary to be paid to a non-executive chairman will be £1,500 per annum.

2. Consolidated allowances payable to a chairman will not exceed £250.

3. No further miscellaneous payments or gratuities will be granted to the chairman, such as house allowance, personal board cars, private motor cars, etc.

4. Vice-Chairmen of boards will not receive salaries.

5. Salary allowance payable to all members will not exceed Sh. 100 per day.

6. Mileage payable by boards will not exceed Government rates.

7. Overnight allowances will not exceed Sh. 60 per night.

These boards which consider that, for special cases, they should continue to pay the board chairman as at present being paid to members over and above the sitting allowance and overnight allowance, should make their case individually to the Ministry for consideration.

No increase in any salary or allowances payable to members of boards will be allowed without the Minister's permission in writing."

Mr. Speaker, the other letter puts out various points which boards will have to rely on, and I will not read out one or two more important ones, as I did in the other letter.

Boards will not sign agreements without the approval of the Minister or the Ministry in writing.

Board officers must keep the Ministry fully informed concerning its activities.

Oral visits to provinces should be notified to (a) the Ministry, (b) the provincial administration, (c) the local Members of Parliament."

And there is a whole series of them, there are a number of them, but as I am laying these down I take it, Mr. Speaker—will be published. There is one which is not in here that is of importance, and that is that we are setting up a special account in the Ministry who will be making publicised visits to all the statutory boards, checking that their accounts and books are kept up to date.

Mr. Godla: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising out of the Minister's reply where he says that someone is employed in the Ministry to see that the work is going on, well, would the Minister tell the House how often a year this auditor will go round before reporting to him? Because if he does not make regular visits, the same thing which happened with the West Kenya Marketing Board might also happen with the other boards.

Mr. McKenzie: I can give the hon. Member an assurance that it will not happen, Mr. Speaker. I would hope that the statutory board books are looked at at least once every five or six weeks—

Mr. Ngala-Abok: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, reading this question, would it not be in order for me to state that the Minister has not answered the question, unless I do not understand the English involved? The question is "all the constituted agricultural boards are effectively co-ordinated". In other words, all those agricultural boards in the country are co-ordinated, not that a circular has been sent for the efficiency or for the salary, or for accountability and so on, which is—of course—a direct administrative matter from the Ministry. But the co-ordination between these agricultural boards, Mr. Speaker, I think this is what the question is asking?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think there is some substance in what Mr. Ngala-Abok says. It might be argued that uniformity of terms is possibly one aspect of co-ordination, but I think that it was really the second letter that was the most relevant to this question. The second letter was relevant; it was outlining the directions that had been given to get central direction and co-ordination of the activities of the boards. I think that was just what the hon. Member wanted, really.

Mr. McKenzie: Mr. Speaker, I am sure that when the hon. Member reads this—I do not want to bore the House because it would take a long time, I did, in fact, think of giving a written reply, but I wanted to give Members the opportunity of asking questions—and if he is not satisfied, then naturally, Mr. Speaker, I am prepared to discuss it with him.

Mr. ole Tips: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from one of the hon. Minister's replies, may we know what prevented him from tabling the letters he has just read, earlier, before this question came up?

Secondly, when he talks of the directives—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): One question at a time, Mr. ole Tips, as you know.

Mr. McKenzie: I did not get the gist of the question, Mr. Speaker. I am sorry.

Mr. Gachago: Mr. Speaker, I do not quite understand what the difference is, but however I beg to give the following reply:—

(a) 318 plots.

(b) The Ministry plans to consolidate and register approximately 5,000 acres in Central Nyanza during the current Government year. This represents three sub-locations. Although this figure might look small, it should not be assumed that we are working in three schemes only. Following the posting of more staff last December to the district, forty-three sub-locations have been declared adjudication sections, adding to another twelve which we were working on previously. Therefore, the total area we are working on is fifty-five sub-locations, comprising 220,000 acres. Three out of these fifty-five sub-locations will be finally completed by June of this year. It should be noted that it takes a minimum of twelve months to carry out the process of enclosure and registration from start to finish. This period can be very much prolonged, up to anything like two to three years, if the landowners do not enclose their farms readily and if the freely elected adjudication committees do not settle the boundary disputes in good time. Nevertheless, the attitude of the people towards land registration is changing for the better and we expect the work to progress faster than before.

(c) Mr. Speaker, I am not aware of any settlement scheme in Nyando. Certainly my Ministry has no settlement scheme in the area.

Mr. Bala: Mr. Speaker, arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, especially with regard to item (c), would the Minister tell the House, of the 800 plots which he promised last year, at the end of last year, how many of these plots have we so far received and how many are we going to receive in the current year?

Mr. Gachago: Mr. Speaker, I do not understand what the hon. Member means, because I have said, as far as section (c) of the question is concerned, there is no settlement scheme known as Nyando, and if this is what the hon. Member is referring to then the question of how many plots does not arise.

Mr. Bala: Could the Assistant Minister tell this House that, out of 800 plots for which we applied in the month of November, which we were going to be allocated, have we had that allocation of these 800 plots, and, if not, are we going to have some of these 800 plots in the current year?

Mr. Gachago: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I still do not understand the hon. Member. Is he referring to section (a) of the question or section (c)?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You would like to elaborate still further, Mr. Bala?

Mr. Bala: Mr. Speaker, in the course of last year we asked a similar question and the same Assistant Minister replied that there were something like 800 plots which were to be allocated for more settlement before the end of last year. Now, as far as I know, the 800 plots have not been allocated, and I want to know from the Minister whether the 800 plots are going to be allocated this year or not.

Mr. Gachago: Mr. Speaker, Sir, as my reply says, I am not aware of any settlement scheme in Nyando. Therefore, it is impossible for my Ministry to allocate any plots in an area where we do not have a scheme.

REALIGNMENT OF EMBU-MERU ROAD

Mr. Mate: asked the Minister for Works, Communications and Power what progress had been made to date with regard to resurveying the old Embu to Meru Road via Egoji with a view to its realignment.

The Minister for Works, Communications and Power (Mr. Mwanjumba): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. I have already made arrangements for a team of surveyors to survey the road the hon. Member is referring to. The team is already working on the road at present.

Mr. Mate: Mr. Speaker, Sir, when the survey is complete, how soon will the road be ready?

Mr. Mwanjumba: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I will not be able to say how soon the work will be ready because it all depends on money being available.

Question No. 228

TOURIST HOTEL ACCOMMODATION IN MERU

Mr. Mate asked the Minister for Natural Resources and Tourism to tell the House what Government was doing to encourage the building of decent hotels in Meru, so as to provide suitable accommodation for tourists and visitors to Meru.

The Minister for Natural Resources and Power (Mr. Mwanjumba): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. Meru District has a great tourist potential in its game, trout-fishing, bird shooting and general scenic beauty. The Meru County Council has been in touch with my Ministry on the question of improving or extending the existing tourist accommodation and attractions.

[The Minister for Natural Resources and Tourism]

At present, the district has two game lodges and one hotel providing, in all, approximately seventy-eight beds. My Ministry intends to develop tourism in Meru, as well as in the whole country. This will necessitate erection of new lodges and hotels. But, before, such is done, careful evaluation must be carried out and when in hotel or lodge proposal is found to be economically justified, my Ministry will encourage the county council and the other interested parties to build the additional accommodation at the required standard.

Mr. Mate: Mr. Speaker, Sir, while appreciating the answer by the Minister, is the Minister aware that in Meru Town itself we have more visitors, other than tourists, and there is very poor accommodation, and Ministers and other important people have no proper place to sleep in Meru Town?

Mr. Ayodo: Mr. Speaker, I can only talk as the Minister in charge of tourism. The other visitors could stay in several places, as the hon. Member knows very well, but I was referring mainly to tourist visitors.

Question No. 243

KARA-POKOT CASES TO BE HEARD IN KENYA

Mr. Lorema asked the Attorney-General whether he agreed that cases of crimes committed in Kara-Pokot should be heard by the Kenya Courts and not by those in Uganda.

Mr. Areman: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, there is a word here after "Attorney-General": "agree". What word is that?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): What are you referring to exactly, Mr. Areman? What question are you referring to? Would you explain to me, please?

Mr. Areman: Question 243, after "Attorney-General": "agree". What word is that? What is the meaning of it?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think most hon. Members have the intelligence to understand!

The Attorney-General (Mr. Njonjo): Mr. Speaker, I beg to reply.

Hon. Members will be aware that by an old arrangement, Kara-Pokot is administered by the Government of Uganda. While this arrangement continues, it is convenient for criminal cases arising in the district to be dealt with by the Uganda courts.

Mr. Mutiro: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, would the Minister consider transferring Kara-Pokot to Kenya, so as to work for the development of this part of neglected Kenya?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): That is too far removed, I am afraid, from this question.

Mr. Lorema: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Attorney-General tell the House whether there is any provision in Kenya laws that the alternative of capital punishment is compensation, because what is taking place in Kara-Pokot is that, people who kill are hung instead of being made to pay compensation? Could the Attorney-General tell the House that?

Mr. Njonjo: I do not follow the question, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Would you repeat your question, and a little louder, too, Mr. Lorema, please.

Mr. Lorema: Mr. Speaker, Sir, could the Attorney-General tell the House whether there is a provision in the Kenya law, whereby an alternative of capital punishment is compensation by means of cows, something like that?

Mr. Njonjo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the punishment in this country for a capital offence is death.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Next question. Mr. Mutiro.

Mr. arap Too: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I wanted to ask a question, but I think your eyes were on the other side.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Too bad. Sorry, Mr. arap Too.

Mr. Mutiro: Before I ask Question No. 287, I would like to point out that my proper designation is the Member for Trans Nzola and not Member for Nzola.

Question No. 287

SUGAR FACTORY FOR MUMIAS

Mr. Mutiro asked the Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry whether he would inform the House what concrete steps had been taken to establish Mumias Sugar Factory. How long would the people of Mumias wait before the project materialized.

The Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. McKenzie): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, there is no alteration whatsoever in the development of the sugar industry in Mumias to what I gave this House, I think it was in October last year. I will repeat it for the benefit of the hon. Member.

Question No. 236

TRADERS' LOANS: BELGUT CONSTITUENCY

Mr. Kerich asked the Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development if he would tell the House the number of traders who had been given commercial loans in Belgut Constituency.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. The total amount of commercial loans issued to traders in Belgut Constituency is thirty-eight. The total amount involved is Sh. 235,970. Included in these totals is one loan of Sh. 20,000 issued by the Industrial and Commercial Development Corporation to a trader in Sosiot Market, and sixteen small loans issued to traders in Kericho Township.

Mr. Kerich: Mr. Speaker, Sir, will the Minister agree with me that there is only one single man who has received a commercial loan in my constituency?

Mr. Mwendwa: No, Sir.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, could he give us the breakdown of the commercial loans given to the peoples of Belgut which he has mentioned and tell us how many Africans have received such a loan? Give us the breakdown.

Mr. Mwendwa: Mr. Speaker, Sir—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think if hon. Members want the breakdown of a question like this, they must ask for a written reply. But, perhaps, the Minister will give examples.

Mr. Mwendwa: Mr. Speaker, Sir, if the Members want to have the breakdown of the loans given to different places, I am quite prepared, Mr. Speaker, not only in that constituency, but in the district as a whole.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): But not now, Mr. Mwendwa. Not now. As I have said often, oral reply is not suitable for a mass of detail to this House; if hon. Members want a mass of detail, they must ask for written reply. If the Minister is prepared to give examples, that might really satisfy the requirement of the hon. Member, and that would not be objectionable.

Mr. Areman: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, is it not in order for the Minister to give the breakdown for the same constituency, because he was asked only for the constituency, and not for the district as a whole.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): The question did not ask for a breakdown. If it had, I would have directed a written reply. It asked the number.

Mr. Kerich: Mr. Speaker, Sir, may the Minister tell the House what the maximum given to an individual in my constituency is, and the minimum?

Mr. Mwendwa: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the minimum and maximum depends on the application of the recipient.

Mr. Masinde: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, could he tell this House, since he has mentioned that there are thirty people who have already received loans, of the thirty people who received the highest sum of money, and how much it was, and who had the lowest figure and how much that was?

Mr. Mwendwa: Mr. Speaker, I have already said—and I repeat—that one person in the constituency in question received Sh. 20,000 from the Industrial and Commercial Development Corporation. As to the minimum, Mr. Speaker, this is something which can be checked with the joint board right in the town by the Member if he so chooses.

Mr. Tanyi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, can the Minister tell us whether this Sh. 20,000 was given to a man in the reserve or in Kericho Town?

Mr. Mwendwa: Mr. Speaker, whether a man is in a town or in the reserve, he belongs to that particular constituency; and if he belongs to that particular constituency, I think that is enough. I repeat that this man was in Sosiot.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Next question.

NOTICE OF MOTION FOR THE ADJOURNMENT

UNSATISFACTORY REPLY TO QUESTION NO. 236: TRADERS' LOANS: BELGUT CONSTITUENCY

Mr. Kerich: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, would I be in order to raise this on adjournment because I am not satisfied?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Give me written notice.

Mr. Kerich: Yes.

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

MECHANIZATION PROGRAMMES FOR CO-OPERATIVES

Mr. Bala asked the Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development what mechanization programmes he was planning for the Farmers' Co-operative Societies in the Central Nyanza area.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. There is no specific mechanization programme for Central Nyanza Co-operative Societies, apart from mechanical cultivation schemes operated in the cotton and sugar areas.

Through seasonal loan funds operated by the Cotton Lint and Seed Marketing Board, cotton growers co-operative societies in the district employ contractors who carry out mechanical cultivation for their members. In order to facilitate mechanization, the land is usually pooled into homogenous blocks, but with identity of individuals' plots retained.

In the sugar area, too, there is mechanization arranged by the Chemillil Sugar Company for sugar co-operative societies in the adjacent Luo and Nandi tribal land units. It is hoped to introduce similar mechanization schemes based on contract cultivation of sugar-cane in the tribal land areas adjacent to Miwani and Mahoroni factories. Here, too, sugar-cane growing is done in blocks.

Several proposals have come up in the past for mechanization, some of them rather ambitious in their conception. It has, however, been found that the most practical approach to mechanization in agricultural development in the Nile basin area, is the one where mechanization is tied to the development of a particular cash crop, preferably on homogenous blocks of land. Judging by the performance of co-operative societies at their present stage of development, it would probably be suicidal for many of them to own large tractor units capable of taking care of the mechanization programme that is at present going on in the agricultural industry in the area.

Mr. Bala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, would he not consider introducing, as a matter of urgency, the question of a mechanization programme, in view of the fact that we are expecting our cotton mill factory in Kisumu in a matter of months, and also in view of the fact that we are expecting three sugar mill factories in the same area? Would the Minister not consider introducing mechanization in the same area in order to have proper cultivation of sugar-cane and cotton in the said area?

Mr. Mwendwa: Mr. Speaker, if the hon. Member was listening to my answer, he would know that this is exactly what I said. I said that it is hoped to introduce similar methods to those employed at Chemillil in the area the Member is talking about, so this is going to be done, Sir.

Mr. Muliro: Mr. Speaker, would the Minister not agree with me that fragmentation within a mechanized scheme is a threat to the very mechanization the Minister is talking about?

Mr. Mwendwa: I agree, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Next question, Mr. Bala.

Question No. 175

PLOTS IN LUO SETTLEMENT SCHEMES

Mr. Bala asked the Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development:

- How many uniform size plots for which Sh. 2,000 deposits had been paid were going to be allocated to Luo Settlement in Muhoroni, Koru and the Songhoru area in the current financial year.
- How many acres of land was he planning to consolidate in Central Nyanza in the current year.
- What plans did the Government have for settlement of the people of Central Nyanza after the Nyando scheme was completed.

The Assistant Minister for Lands and Settlement (Mr. Gachago): Mr. Speaker, Sir, first of all, may I make a correction? This question was marked erroneously for the Minister for Commerce and Industry, and I would like to say that I am not replying on behalf of that Ministry, but on behalf of my own Ministry.

Mr. Bala: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I am sorry but, although I made some corrections, my question still contains the word "uniform". "Over-sized" is what I meant; "over-sized plots" instead of "uniform plots", under (a). I did make a correction, but I do not know—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): When did you make it?

Mr. Bala: When I got the—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): When you received your copy? Yes.

Mr. Bala: Then I made a correction so that the question read: "How many over-sized plots", but not "uniform".

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Oh, Well, if you made that correction, I apologize. I hope the Assistant Minister is in a position to answer the question as amended, if he did not have notice of it. It is our fault if he did not, in that case.

[The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry]

Pokot, but throughout the whole country. In indigenous cattle, foot-and-mouth disease spreads slowly and in a mild form. To get rid of the disease quickly, it would be necessary to spread it by swabbing all cattle with infected material. This would be expensive but when cheaper vaccine is available, say within the next twelve to eighteen months, this course of action will be taken.

The Government is also investigating and has applied for funds from the World Bank for the possibility of setting up a number of holding grounds all over the country so that cattle for sale can be vaccinated and held before they are moved from the district.

In 1965, some 1,230 head of cattle were sold in auctions in West Pokot. At this moment, three new saleyards have been completed at Lelan, Kopocho and Sigor and stock sales will be taking place in these yards shortly.

In any case, I would welcome discussions, between my veterinary staff and any hon. Member on this issue.

Mr. Lorena: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that foot-and-mouth disease is still lingering in West Pokot, does the Assistant Minister agree with me when I say that the collection of taxes and school fees would be very hard in that area?

Mr. Murgon: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the question of eradicating foot-and-mouth disease is something which everybody must help in. In West Pokot, in particular, if the hon. Member could tell his people not to move cattle from one location to another, this could help them and could help the Government. When the hon. Member goes back to his constituency, he should discuss this matter with the veterinary staff in the field.

Mr. ole Tipt: Mr. Speaker, may we know from the hon. Assistant Minister what curative measures, if any, his Ministry is taking, apart from referring us to the movement of cattle? What inoculations, how many cattle have they inoculated in the respective areas throughout the country?

Mr. Murgon: Mr. Speaker, Sir, as I said, we as a Government are trying to get a cheaper vaccine, because many people are not able to afford to buy the present vaccine for their cattle.

Question No. 221

RAISE IN TEACHERS' MINIMUM SALARY

Mr. Godia asked the Minister for Education what the Ministry was doing to raise the minimum salary of a teacher to Sh. 500 per month.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. The Kenya National Union of Teachers' demand for a minimum salary of Sh. 500 per month, along with other demands, are being investigated by a board of inquiry which will be submitting its findings to the Minister for Labour in due course. It is, therefore, evident, Sir, that the Government is very much aware of the teachers' needs.

Mr. Godia: Mr. Speaker, Sir, could the Assistant Minister tell the House how long this board of inquiry has been sitting?

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is difficult for me to say how long it has been sitting because all that we were concerned with was to establish the board of inquiry, and the way in which they conduct their business depends on their chairman.

Mr. Omweri: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, since this is not a new request from the Teachers' Union, would he tell this House what his Ministry is doing to meet these requests because it is now a long time we have been waiting for the report of the commission?

Mr. Mutiso: But, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not know what the hon. Member wants the Government to do, since the Government is quite aware that this is not a new thing. This is why the Government has appointed a board of inquiry, to find out and make recommendations to the Government.

Mr. Kamuren: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Assistant Minister's reply where he said the inquiry depends on the chairman of the board. Could he tell this House what is the date when the chairman of this board is supposed to report to the Ministry?

Mr. Mutiso: There is no date fixed, Sir, it depends on when they finish their inquiry.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Assistant Minister's reply where he says that it depends on when they finish, could he tell us what the terms of reference were which were given to the commission; and is this commission going to go on for ever and a day? Was there no time limit?

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, Sir, although I think that is almost outside the scope of the question—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It is irrelevant except on this one question of teachers' salaries.

Mr. Mutiso: I think, Mr. Speaker, Sir, the terms of reference contained the teachers' demand, and this is why we had to appoint the commission, to investigate the demands of the teachers and to submit the commission's findings to the Ministry.

Question No. 231

EXPULSION OF TEACHERS FROM TRAINING COLLEGES

Mr. Godia asked the Minister for Education if he would tell the House whether any teachers in training colleges had been expelled from their colleges in 1964 and 1965 and, if so, whether anything had been done to help such teachers to complete their training.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. Some students in teacher-training colleges were excluded from their courses for disciplinary reasons in 1964 and 1965. It is not the policy of my Ministry to expel students from their teacher-training colleges and then make arrangements for their training afterwards. However, each case of exclusion is dealt with on its own merits and, where exceptional grounds exist for re-admission of such students, they are re-admitted for training.

Mr. Godia: Mr. Speaker, Sir, will the Assistant Minister tell the House the number of students who were excluded from training?

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, Sir, during 1964 a total of twenty-six students, both male and female, were dismissed from all the colleges throughout the country. Of these students, ten were expelled because of their inability to reach the standard required, four were excluded for pregnancy during their training, one for being convicted in a paternity case, five for insubordination, four for drunkenness and immorality and one for chronic absenteeism, and one on the doctor's advice. In 1965, Sir, twenty-nine—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! There are too many conversations going on for us to hear the Minister.

Mr. Mutiso: In 1965, Sir, twenty-nine students were also expelled. After investigations, one of them was re-admitted. Of the twenty-eight students remaining, ten were expelled because of pregnancy, two were expelled because of paternity reasons, two were expelled on medical grounds, and four were expelled because of misbehaviour and insubordination, five were expelled on academic grounds and five were expelled because of gross carelessness, drunkenness, and truancy.

Mr. Kerich: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Assistant Minister tell the House what the Ministry is doing to reduce this number of people being expelled?

Mr. Mutiso: There is nothing, Sir, that the Ministry can do.

Question No. 239

ACADEMIC DEGREES AND POST GRADUATES

Mr. Kerich asked the Minister for Education if he would tell the House:—

- The number of external students who had passed and obtained academic degrees since independence.
- What Government was doing to encourage and assist such people to take an interest in enrolling as external students for various other degrees.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. ole Konchellah): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. Although more than twenty candidates have, since independence, attempted the various papers in the degree examinations, only three have so far been awarded degrees as external candidates. Two of these three were expatriates on the staff of the University College, Nairobi, and the third was a foreigner of some unknown origin.

Of the twenty referred to above, only three were Africans who had previously failed similar exams elsewhere and wished to repeat. The present position is that all qualified students are able to enrol for degree courses mainly with the University of East Africa. Also, the University of East Africa has a special provision for adults to enrol for degree courses if they are able to pass a special entrance examination set by the University and interested candidates are able to obtain assistance from the College of Social Studies at Kikuyu, which runs preliminary courses for adults who wish to take the special entrance examination.

Thus, there are, at the moment, adequate facilities for people to enrol for degree courses if they wish to do so and the Ministry of Education will continue to counsel those who wish to enrol as external students for various academic degrees.

Mr. Kerich: Mr. Speaker, Sir, may I know from the Assistant Minister whether the University College provides night classes to prepare students for these external degrees?

Mr. ole Konchellah: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have mentioned a school at Kikuyu which prepares some of these students for examinations.

NOTICE OF MOTION

EXTENSION OF JURISDICTION: MURANG'A DISTRICT COMMISSIONER

Mr. Kagga: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to give notice of the following Motion:—

THAT in view of the present confusion and overlapping of authority between the Murang'a County Council and Thika Administration in the former Thika District which is now part and parcel of the Murang'a County this House urges the Government to remove the confusion by extending the Murang'a District Commissioner's jurisdiction to the whole of Murang'a County Area and restrict the jurisdiction of Thika District Commissioner to Thika Municipality, and to introduce such legislation for amendment of the Constitution as may be necessary for that purpose.

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

— Question No. 164

DEVELOPMENT PROJECTS, OTHAYA-SOUTH TETU, 1964-1970

Mr. Warilthi asked the Minister for Economic Planning and Development what were the various projects which the Government had allocated to Othaya-South Tetu Constituency during the planning period, 1964-1970.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. As the hon. Member will no doubt be aware from the published Development Plan, planning for economic and social development in Kenya is not done on a constituency basis. Financial allocations for development are made in relation to Ministerial projects which, more often than not, embrace investment and expenditure over a number of constituencies. The essence of planning is contained in the emphasis which is given to the consideration of economic units as a whole, and it is for this reason that it is difficult to break down the implementation of development plans to a constituency level, without giving a false impression of the pattern of project allocation between various areas of the country.

The hon. Member will surely appreciate that the function of planning is to ensure that each new project is wisely conceived in relation to other development schemes; that there is no waste or unnecessary duplication; that the projects complement each other; and, in short, that the overall effects of a project are in accordance with the aspirations and priorities of the country.

In spite of the difficulties inherent in planning on a regional level, in the revised plan, which will be coming out soon, efforts have been made to formulate 1970 targets for districts. In Nyeri District, as in most other districts in the country, emphasis will be placed on the development of agriculture during the next five years. It is anticipated that there will be a substantial increase in the production of coffee, tea, pyrethrum, cotton, wheat and dairy products in the Nyeri District. The areas in Othaya-South Tetu Constituency which are suitable for growing these crops will share in the benefit of the planned increase in production of the crops mentioned.

As the expansion of agriculture (and the economy generally) is closely linked with the provision of adequate infrastructure, such as roads, the Government will continue in its efforts to improve the communications network in the Nyeri District. Provisions have also been made for development of water resources in Nyeri District.

The Government also aims at expanding the scope of social services during the coming five years. It is planned to increase the number of schools, hospitals, dispensaries and to improve the quality of services provided in these institutions, and Nyeri District will share in this general expansion of social services. Work on community development will also continue.

All of the projects which I have mentioned will be spelt out in considerable detail in the forthcoming revised plan, and I am confident that the hon. Member will find all of the information which he needs in the plan.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am sure the House will appreciate the effort we make in answering questions like these as exhaustively as possible.

Mr. Warilthi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising out of that long vague reply, can we be told by the Minister, in terms of schools and hospitals, which he referred to in general development, the number or the places where they are likely to be situated?

Mr. Mboya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I cannot, at this stage, tell the hon. Member the exact location of each school because, as he very well knows, in that district a lot of effort is being made by the local people themselves to create or establish

(Mr. Mboya) schools in practically every division and even in every clan area. These efforts, and especially where Harambee secondary schools have been established, will be supplemented by Government's effort and we will be trying to increase grants to the Harambee secondary schools already established, so that they can become part of the normal stream of the Government's educational programme. But, for primary schools, the effort will rely entirely on the local people. As far as the hospitals are concerned, we, of course, realize that Nyeri, as the provincial headquarters, will need better medical facilities than it has at the moment, but, in addition to that, supporting facilities are intended to be created in the various divisions, in particular, health centres, and again, the self-help schemes will be taken into account.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that practically each and every Member in this House could raise the same question, substituting his constituency for that of Othaya-South Tetu, would the Minister consider giving the plan he has to all the Members for the development of each constituency in the countryside, from the year 1964 to 1970, so that we do not have the same question being repeated for each constituency every time and receiving as long answers as we have received? Can we receive this information in writing in our pigeon-holes?

Mr. Mboya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, every effort will be made to acquaint each and every Member with what we plan to do in the particular constituency or area in which they are interested. I fully appreciate that each Member will be interested to know what Government plans to do in his particular constituency. This is natural and Government accepts that situation. But, in breaking down our Development Plan, we can only do it into certain units, and I would suggest that the best way to deal with the point raised by the hon. Member for Majoge-Bassi is for Members to make a habit of coming to discuss with me and my officers any of the problems in their areas, or to invite us to their areas to discuss on the spot various problems in their areas and also to make greater use, as soon as these areas are properly established, of the district development committees on which they themselves will be represented.

Mr. Gatiguta: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply to the effect that some of the self-help schemes in Othaya-South Tetu will receive Government support, could the Minister assure this House that other self-help schemes in other areas will also get Government support, and when?

Mr. Mboya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the question specifically refers to Othaya-South Tetu Constituency and, for the time being, my statement refers to the area including the district, but I can definitely assure the hon. Member that all areas will be taken into account.

Mr. Speaker, seeing the interest of the hon. Member for Othaya-South Tetu, and I believe the hon. Members for Nyeri District as a whole, I could give them some very revealing statistics of what is being done in the area and what is being achieved. For example, coffee production is planned to increase in the area from 2,078 tons to 5,950 tons, and Mr. Speaker, in the case of tea from 929,000 lb. to 2,465,000 lb., and, Mr. Speaker, in the case of pyrethrum, from 164 tons to 780 tons. Mr. Speaker, we also aim to generate interest in the growing of cotton in the area and we aim at being able to produce 1.3 million pounds of seed by 1969. We also plan, in the case of wheat, to increase production from 72,200 bags to 77,000 bags, and we also plan to increase production in dairy products. Now, I notice, Mr. Speaker, that when I talk of increasing these products, some Members seem to think that it is not a Government effort. There is no question at all about it, that coffee, tea and wheat, and cotton production in these areas depends on Government's assistance. Loans, credits, extension services, the protection from diseases, all this is being done by the Government in co-operation with the co-operative societies, and these are efforts and they are expensive.

Question No. 167

FOOT-AND-MOUTH DISEASE IN WEST POKOT

Mr. Lorenan asked the Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry what efforts were being taken by the Government to ensure that foot-and-mouth disease which was lingering in West Pokot was got rid of in order to normalize auction sales in the district.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Murgor): Mr. Speaker, I beg to reply.

Eradication of foot-and-mouth disease is a tricky problem, not only in West Pokot but throughout the country.

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I was wondering whether you could ask the hon. Assistant Minister to move closer to the microphone because we cannot hear anything.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Murgor): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. Eradication of foot-and-mouth disease is a tricky problem, not only in West

[The Minister for Home Affairs] there are matters in the committee's report which need to be brought to the notice of the Government, then they will certainly advise.

As the committee was appointed locally to deal with a matter which is purely local, the Government will not be bound to accept any recommendation they make on the matter. But the official advice of the provincial commissioners will certainly be considered.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, if hon. Members would like to use threats by suggesting that the word "blinking" Harumbee and what not, then, Sir, the Members ought not to be speaking in this House on unity, when they actually talk of things which are not in conformity with the unity of Kenya.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, when we try to solve our own problems in an African socialistic way, we should not do so in a bitter way. If all of us are to be bitter over every conceivable problem, I can assure the hon. Members, Sir, that no problem will be solved.

I do realize that the hon. Members have some feeling about the problem, and these feelings must be discussed in the normal way. I have stated that if these matters which have been discussed will be sent to the Government, of course Government will consider them. And I completely disagree with the suggestions of a certain Member who said that the provincial commissioners are Luo and, therefore, they are bound to be biased. I should like to make it clear that civil servants are impartial in their dealings—

Hon. Members: No, no.

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi):—and I am not going to be moved away by the excitement of the hon. Members. But, knowing full well, that the provincial commissioners of the two areas are experienced civil servants and they are very impartial and they know what they are doing in their respective areas.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, Sir, whereas I do not want the Baluhya people and the Luos to clash from time to time, I would like to appeal to my colleagues that whenever there is a commission or a committee of co-operation, this committee of co-operation, as the Minister should realize, should first of all see how many Luo ladies are married to Baluhya, and how many Baluhya women are married to Luos so that they could see how much understanding exists between the two tribes. I say this because, Mr. Speaker, politicians try to make mountains out of little hills merely for their own tumbos. This is no good. We know very well—

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I was wondering whether the Member was quite in order to refer to marriage and so forth, and also, when he was referring to politicians, of which I am one, who want to make mountains out of little hills just to get big bellies, could he substantiate—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Just to get big, I did not quite hear the word?

Mr. Shikuku: He was referring to politicians, and I am one, who want to make mountains out of nothing just to get big bellies. Now, I being the Mover of this Motion, could the speaker substantiate that I am making a mountain out of nothing and getting a big belly?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It is expressly prohibited by our Standing Orders to impute improper motives to any hon. Member for what he does. To make a mountain out of a molehill is perhaps not an improper motive, to get a big belly, I do not know— You had better keep to the point anyhow.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, Sir, could the Member please allow me time because we are moving this Motion in good humour, in fact, and I have quite a number of things to say here which are very important and can help the harmony between the Luos and the Baluhyas.

Mr. Speaker, before we enter into questions of this land, that land, and who owns it and so on, all that the Mover of the Motion and his other colleagues claim is that most of the land in this area is Baluhya. You find that this is a Baluhya and this is a Luo man, they both own land. At the same time, there are other areas like Manyala, Mohundo and Nangi, and these places are definitely Luo places. Therefore, the Luos also claim places just as much as the Baluhyas, but we do not want to make so much political heat out of this because there are so many incidents which have taken place and the move to cause these troubles has been from the other side of the lot. In other words, from the Baluhya colleagues, mostly politicians, they have caused some problems which are now confronting the Civil Service, but I can only say that a Motion like this should not be—

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, the hon. speaker has just stated clearly here that the politicians from the Baluhya side are the ones who have caused a lot of inconvenience and trouble to the Civil Service. Could he substantiate that?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I am sorry, I do not follow the point. Just make it a bit more clear, would you, Mr. Shikuku, in the short time that we have left?

Mr. Shikuku: Yes, Sir. The speaker has just said that the problem which is being talked about in connexion with the boundary is caused by the Baluhya politicians who trouble the Civil Service.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I did not hear him say that, I am sorry.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, I wish to deny that I said that, what I said was that in boundary problems, one needs calm because they are usually emotional problems. The local people of the area cannot take a move without a propagandist politician trying to claim too much to gain for himself. The people of the area at the boundary must be allowed to approach it calmly because these are emotional problems. We are—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! In the course of being emotional you must not impute improper motives to other politicians.

ADJOURNMENT

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It is now the end of our half hour. The House is adjourned until tomorrow, Wednesday, 2nd February, at 2.30 p.m.

The House rose at Seven o'clock.

[Mr. Khasakhala]

Luo: We cannot allow this, Mr. Speaker. We want the Howard Commission's report to be brought to this House and let us hear what he said in it when he demarcated the land on the ground. This has been hidden by the present Government and we have never seen it. We know very well what he recommended and we want this report to be brought to us, so that the public can know exactly what Howard recommended on the boundaries bordering Nyanza and Western Province.

At the same time, Mr. Speaker, it is very, very wrong for this Government to place a Luo provincial commissioner in the Western Province and a Luo provincial commissioner in Nyanza Province who has the same interest. How can we have our matters attended to when the provincial commissioner himself from Kakamega spends every night in Kisumu?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Khasakhala, you must keep to the point of this boundary commission report, I think.

Mr. Khasakhala: Mr. Speaker, it is relevant because it is an administrative matter and—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, sorry; it is quite clear. You are urging, as you said just now, to have published the result of this report. Fair enough, that was the point of the question and that is the point of this matter on the adjournment. You cannot go into all your other grumbles about Luo versus Baluhya at this moment; although I know they are related to the report, it is the report we are concerned with.

Mr. Khasakhala: Well, I will leave that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, today in Kenya some tribes are referred to as minorities, simply because some of their own people—especially the Baluhya, are taken as minorities compared with the Luo, simply because most of the Baluhya have been taken or are being counted as Luo. We are the representatives of the people, we are not happy, we feel that the Abaluhya are important people and, in fact, we governed this country from Jinja to Naivasha. Mr. Speaker, this is history—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): The boundary under discussion now is somewhat more limited, I think!

Mr. Khasakhala: So, Mr. Speaker, while referring to the Motion on the question, I would say it was wrong for the Government to set up a committee. I was, in fact, one of the people who addressed barazas telling the Abaluhya and the Luo to keep calm, that the Government was going to look into the boundary, and up to this time, Mr. Speaker, nothing has happened because of certain individual interests, which have been involved in the dispute. I feel strongly that the Government should form a new committee and should set up a commission and ask for a referendum along the border, so that we know exactly who lives where, because it is no good just saying that this land belongs to So-and-so before you know who lives where, who owns that land, and who is there, because all along the boundary there is a lot of quarrelling at present. Every day I have letters from my own brothers, the Baluhya, complaining that their land is being taken away by the Luo.

What happens to these complaints? Go to the African courts—they are still known as African courts—and you find the Presidents are Luo. When a person brings his case, he is told, "Your land is being given to this person", because he is a Luo, and then the Baluhya land is taken away. We are not going to live under a Government which is taking the property of the people; we want to live under a Government where the property of the individual is regarded as his own property. We are, therefore, asking the Government one simple thing, Mr. Speaker, to set up a commission and take a referendum along the boundary between Nyanza and Western Province, and then we shall know from the referendum. Without that, it is a waste of time to talk of unity, because every unit comes from a head and every head has a home, and that home makes unity with the other one. Therefore, I cannot marry people I cannot marry. We must be united when I know that my own property—which belongs to me—is going to stay my property; only then I will be happy, Mr. Speaker.

Today there are some letters being sent to officials, civil servants, who are employed by this Government, not to employ Baluhya at Maseno. I can bring them to the Table if someone asks me to do so. I can get copies of these letters saying, "Don't employ Abaluhya in Maseno." This shows exactly how crooked the—

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, may I rise at this stage to ask the hon. Member if he is prepared to substantiate what he is alleging against the civil servants?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes.

Mr. Khasakhala: Mr. Speaker, if I am given a few days, I could do so next week.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! We do, on occasions, allow hon. Members a little time to substantiate what they allege, though they should be very careful in alleging something they know they will be asked to substantiate. I think, you know, it should be a matter of twenty-four hours rather than several days, Mr. Khasakhala, for substantiation or withdrawal now.

Mr. Khasakhala: Mr. Speaker, I will not withdraw it, I will bring letters and copies of quotations and the dates to this House next week.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, I am sorry, no. Order! Mr. Khasakhala, I say that is too long. No, if you are not prepared to substantiate within twenty-four hours, you must withdraw.

Mr. Khasakhala: Mr. Speaker, could I withdraw and get it next week? I withdraw the first—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, no, withdrawal is unconditional.

Mr. Khasakhala: But, Mr. Speaker, I do not have the material today.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! As I say, if hon. Members make serious allegations that they know they are going to be asked to substantiate, they have to be prepared to substantiate and not wait a week to do it. A day, twenty-four hours; one can allow, but not longer; no, it will not do. Either you withdraw without qualification or you substantiate within twenty-four hours; you take your choice.

Mr. Khasakhala: Mr. Speaker, I shall do so tomorrow.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Very well.

Mr. Khasakhala: I will quote the number of the letter and that will be enough substantiation.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, what I am saying is true—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I am afraid that is the end of what you are saying, Mr. Khasakhala.

Mr. Khasakhala: I will do it tomorrow, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Very well.

Mr. arap Moi, you have only ten minutes in which to answer. If we let another Member in, the time will be up. If you are short, he can speak afterwards.

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): Mr. Speaker, Sir, the hon. Members should keep quiet if they want to speak later.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. The hon. Member behind me is referring to a committee which was established by the Provincial Commissioners for Nyanza and Western Province and charged with the task of finding ways and means of bringing about closer co-operation between the people of their respective provinces, leaving alone the disputed Nyanza-Western provincial boundaries, and therefore there should be no question of talking about a commission.

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I am seeking your guidance on this. If the Minister—and I thought I asked for your ruling last time on the Assistant Minister's reply to my question—so states something which is completely incorrect—because I took part in this meeting—if the reference which is being given here is completely different from what we discussed, what can I do, Sir, because there is no way in which I can deal with that? Are the Ministers allowed to tell lies and get away with it?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! As I have said so often in this House, the Speaker is not in a position to be a judge of fact when two hon. Members disagree as to a question of fact, as to what happened. If one hon. Member alleges that something was agreed and another hon. Member alleges it was not agreed, the House has to hear the two conflicting views. If, at any later stage, one of those two Members is in a position to prove conclusively that the other spoke untruth, that other Member can be required, and will be required, to come and acknowledge that to the House, and to apologize. But at the moment here, when there is a conflict of evidence, we can do no more than hear the conflict of evidence. We may believe one or may believe the other, or we may wait until one or the other proves what he says.

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not know what the argument is about; we are relying on facts and not on mere hearsay and whatever people may believe. As it was stated, Mr. Speaker, early in the reply to the original question on the matter, the committee is purely a conciliatory one consisting of local leaders of the two provinces. If the hon. Member was one of the local leaders, then he ought to know what was discussed at the meeting. The committee will, of course, submit its report to the two provincial commissioners and will make suggestions on how to improve the relations of the people living along the area. The committee is not expected to submit a formal report to the Government, but should the two provincial commissioners feel that

The Assistant Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. ole Oloitiplip): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I rise to seek your guidance. Is it in order for the hon. Member who has just spoken to refer to any hon. Member in this House as mentally ill, when he himself is not a psychiatrist to study people's minds?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, if the hon. Member referred to other hon. Members as mentally ill, that is not correct.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, I do not think I did refer to a particular Member.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): What did you say, Mr. Shikuku, then?

Mr. Shikuku: There was some shouting and I said that some might be mentally sick, I did not say any hon. Member—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, no, you should not say that. You withdraw that, do you not?

Mr. Shikuku: That is all right, Mr. Speaker, I withdraw.

But the point I am trying to put across is serious enough, though some Members may treat it lightly, but it is of a very serious nature. The Government must adhere or listen to the views aired by Members in this House concerning the feelings of the people, whichever part they come from. When I asked Question No. 75 in this House on the committee of twenty-four people, twelve from Western Province and twelve from Nyanza Province—in connexion with the boundary dispute, the Assistant Minister, who answered on behalf of Government, terribly disappointed not only the Members in this House by the way he was answering me, but terribly disappointed and irritated the people who were concerned with the question. As a result of his arrogance in this House, Mr. Speaker, some people in Yero Sub-location, the Baluhya, have uprooted the official boundary—and I hope the Minister who is going to reply to this will deny that. The Government boundary which was made out of Makongi was done away with and the Abaluhya made their own boundary, because they are so serious and they are ready to fight if anybody would stop them from doing so. This is because the Assistant Minister—who, unfortunately, has seen fit to be absent today—told the House that the committee of twenty-four people which was set up was only a committee to bring about a better understanding between the Luo and the Luhya, which is completely wrong, and I challenge the Government to tell me if that is wrong. We are not going to have Government officials in this House telling the public and this House incorrect stuff which they know is completely incorrect.

Why I say this, Mr. Speaker, is that in 1964 I do recall I was asked by the provincial commissioner, or the regional commissioner at that time, Mr. Shiyukah, who is now the Permanent Secretary to the Ministry of Lands and Settlement—

Mr. Ngala-Abok: The civil secretary, not the regional commissioner.

Mr. Shikuku: Thank you for your correction, Sir, these terms are getting rather old and going out of our minds.

But the point still remains, Luo and Baluhya representatives of this House were asked to attend a meeting in his office in Kisumu, in which I took part. Some of the hon. Members were there. At this meeting, Mr. Speaker, it was decided by the elected representatives that a solution to the then trouble—and this is still continuing—must be found, and a committee should be set up with twelve people from Western Province and twelve people from Nyanza Province to try and bring about a solution to the dispute between the Luhya and the Luo. The solution we reached was that on the boundary, if there were more Luhya on the Luo side than the Luo, then that part would come to the Luhya side; and if there were more Luo on the Luhya side, that part would go back to Central Nyanza. But to our surprise, Mr. Speaker, that committee having been formed—and I understand they are being paid money to be on such a committee—they now reply that no progress has ever been reported and up to this very moment, Mr. Speaker, I say quite openly in this House, nothing has happened and people are getting completely frustrated.

Mr. Speaker, we also had another meeting at Kakamega which was convened by the President of the Regional Assembly of Western Region at that time, Mr. Wafula Wabuge, where we met the Members of Parliament and the Regional Assembly Members. At that meeting, too, we decided that that would be the solution. Up to now, Mr. Speaker, what is happening is that the land of the Baluhya people who are left in Central Province is now being taken over by the Luo in that area, and when these people accuse the people who take their land before the tribal courts, the courts, which are Luo manned, award the land to the Luo persons there.

Now, I want to make it known to this House that, as long as the Government is going to sit here and pretend that umoya is flourishing very well—May I warn this House that if the people are going to write memoranda and appeal to this Government—and there are several memoranda, and there is a letter here, Mr. Speaker, to the President, which they have written, demanding that a solution should be reached—and the Government simply sits on the stuff, they will be surprised one day to find that things are not all that much in the Harambee spirit, as they think. If the Harambee spirit means that we have to surrender our land to the Luo or Kikuyu or to you, Mr. Speaker, I say Harambee is no more use to me and to my son. Harambee should mean that you have your property; I should have my property and then we work together, but it is not for you to take my property in the name of Harambee.

Mr. Speaker, if the Government is not going to pay heed to this feeling of the Baluhya people who are now in Nyanza Province and who are being molested by the Luo, I am going to give an order to my people in Butere to take all land of the Luo who are there, sitting peacefully and enjoying life. We have to do something if the Government fails to do something. If the Government is going to sit here and shout Harambee, and the Baluhya land is being taken away from them, I am going to give the order to the Abaluhya people to take the Luo land in my area, because I believe in the policy of tit-for-tat when logic fails.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the other thing is this: A report in the East African Standard says that the hon. Member for Gem was daring enough to claim that part of my constituency, and not only my constituency but all the Abaluhya land—He even had the guts during the debate to say that the Baluhya had no land in the Luo area. Mr. Speaker, this is a complete fallacy, I hope the hon. Member who is going to answer on behalf of the Government is going to tell me whether this particular Minister was speaking on behalf of the Government, and if he was, then he had his own interest which he was expressing, and he is therefore refuting the fact that the Baluhya have no land in Central Nyanza, then he will be to blame when there is any chaos in that area which is already in the offing. If the Government is not prepared to tell us why they have not seen fit to make sure that the findings of the committee are taken into account, then the Government should not blame anybody when some trouble erupts in that area.

The other issue, Mr. Speaker, I want to put forward is this: I should like to make it known to these people that we are no more interested in that 24-man committee; we are now interested in a referendum to find out how many Luhya there are in that area and how many Luo there are and the land issue should be decided accordingly. If that is not going to be done and the Government sit up here and only wish that by shouting Harambee everything will be green in the garden, they will be very much surprised with their “blinking” Harambee which has become very infamous and it will not help. Mr. Speaker, Sir, Harambee has become infamous because under that name, Harambee, the property of people is to be taken away, and that nullifies the very meaning of the word Harambee. The land of the Baluhya belongs to the Baluhya, and the land of the Teso belongs to the Teso; and the policy should be to give to the Teso what belongs to the Teso, and give to the Baluhya what belongs to the Baluhya. The land in Nyanza Province is the property of the Baluhya, and we can even go on counting the people and we will find that there are more Baluhya in the area which I am talking about than Luo. I think the people of Butere and the people in Central Nyanza who have the right, constitutionally, should be given the chance to decide their fate by a public referendum. If that is not done, Mr. Speaker, may I inform the Minister that one day all the Luo land which is in my area will be taken over by the Abaluhya and—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Your time is finished.

Mr. Khasakhala: I am seconding.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Khasakhala.

Mr. Khasakhala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, while rising to second this Motion, I would say that the boundary issue is a very touchy one today—

Mr. Ngala-Abok: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, would it not be in order for you or for the Member to realize that we do not second Motions on an adjournment, only that he has an interest to speak on it.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! No, with the very limited time available, I always allow the hon. Member who has raised the matter to say who he wants to support him, even though there is no formal seconding, it is quite true.

Mr. Khasakhala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the boundary issue is a very important one and it should not be taken as an issue to play about with or to shout on. We, the Abaluhya people, feel very, very strongly that someone hated us as Abaluhya and, as a result, he tried to take most of our land and give it as a present to the

[Mr. Kamau]

I would request the Minister, although he might not listen or even his Assistant Minister—and probably they have decided, but we have a majority here. It is the duty of the Minister for Local Government and his Assistant to go out into the country and to educate the masses, it is not for them to remain in their offices like the imperialists when they were here, it is our own Government, I am not trying to impress this on, and I am saying that you cannot penalise your people now, you must first of all educate them, and after you have educated them, then if they fail to follow your teaching, then you can penalise them. These last days we have followed this Bill closely here, because we are also closely affected by it. If you want your people to follow you politically you must come close to them. It is not only you who have got to educate the masses, I say that our people are willing to pay taxes but they would very much prefer to pay if everything would be put clearly to them. I would say this about the assessment of taxes: I have noticed that in some areas there are people who are very biased, you find a person with two acres of coffee and he is assessed with a less amount than the one who has got only one acre of coffee.

Why? Because there is favouritism. I would like to say this to the Ministry. I do not mind the system of Pay as You Earn. I agree with this principle.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, I would like to ask the Government to make employment compulsory, to see that everybody in this country is employed. How can you tax people, say, down in Kariakor? There are so many of them who do not have any employment and, therefore, it is not possible to tax them. You go and arrest the people because they cannot pay taxes, but this is not right. I would appeal to the Minister first to give the people of this country employment and then to start taxing them.

Mr. Speaker, many times in this House the Members have said that the Government should take over the farms in this country and turn them into co-operative farms. If this were done, Government could give employment to the people of this country. The people would have sufficient money with which to pay their taxes. The Government would also have, by this method of co-operative farming, sufficient money to educate the people and to give them medical services.

I do not think it is enough to bring legislation to this House, for us to pass this because I can see this will lead us nowhere. We must first give the people employment.

I would like to give some advice to the Minister for Local Government because I think this will be of some use to his Ministry. The Minister for Local Government has taken over a very responsible and important Ministry.

[The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza) left the Chair]

[The Speaker (Mr. Slade) resumed the Chair]

In the first place he should ask the Cabinet to make it possible to give employment to all the people in the country. Once the people begin earning some money they can be assessed; they can pay their taxes. They can pay as they earn. From this point you will find that the country will become rich. At the moment, however, because of this Bill you will find that there will be people who will emigrate from here. There is another disadvantage. This Bill encourages imprisonment and I do not think we have enough prisons to accommodate the people of this country.

Therefore, my very sincere suggestion is that we request the Minister for Local Government to withdraw this Bill, have it redrafted as suggested by the hon. Members of this House; in this way the whole country will be behind us. If this Bill is allowed to pass as it is, it will cause chaos. So, if the Minister is prepared to accept advice I will give it to him. At the moment, from the administrative point of view, we have found that the Members of this House have not been consulted. The Minister only consults us when things go wrong and are in a bad way. In some areas you find that the people in the administration are friends of the politicians. If I am allowed to do so I would like to say something here. If these people—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, Mr. Kamau, we are getting away from the Bill now.

Mr. Kamau: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would say that the collection of taxes should be the collective responsibility of the politicians and the civil servants in order to educate the masses with regard to the importance of paying taxes. In this way the Minister will seek the advice of the hon. Members of this House before he takes any matter to the Cabinet. The hon. Members of Parliament are the people who deal with the public outside.

In this respect, Mr. Speaker, I sincerely request our hon. Minister for Local Government to reconsider withdrawing this Bill for the time being. He should have it redrafted and then it can be brought here once again to be passed by the House.

With these few remarks, Sir, I reserve my comments.

POINT OF ORDER

ADJOURNMENT OF DEBATE

Mr. Omar: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I seek your guidance because there has been a lot of repetition with regard to some of the points in this Bill; there has also been a lot of opposition on the contents of the Bill. Therefore, I wonder whether I would be in order to move that the Minister withdraws this Bill.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): There is no such procedure as that, Mr. Omar. You can either say that you oppose the Second Reading—which, in fact, you do by a formal amendment to postpone the Second Reading of the Bill—or you can move that the debate be adjourned for discussion before it comes back to the House. However, there is no such procedure as a Motion for withdrawal of a Bill.

MOTION

ADJOURNMENT OF DEBATE: GRADUATED PERSONAL TAX BILL

Mr. Omar: Mr. Speaker, in that case, I beg to move that the debate on the Bill be now adjourned.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I would point out to hon. Members that, in fact, there are only three minutes left for discussion of the Bill anyhow. So, it would be a rather vain Motion at this stage of the afternoon. The Bill will be adjourned anyhow until tomorrow in a few minutes' time and, therefore, I doubt very much, if it is worth a formal postponement at this stage. But, if any hon. Member seconds the Motion I have to propose the question.

Mr. Ngals-Abok: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I wish to second the Motion in the interests of the Minister himself because Government relies very much on what Members of Parliament say in respect to a particular Bill. I do not want to advise our Government to withdraw things which are in the interests of the people. However, an adjournment is a different and an important matter because this will make the Minister consult his officers. Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Minister himself is a politician and he knows these things. He knows when the people of his constituency are suffering one way or the other.

Mr. Speaker, some clauses in the Bill can be adjusted without harm to the people. It is no use thinking that because you are a Cabinet Minister or an Assistant Minister you must support everything that the Government puts forward, even though it may be wrong.

We want the Government to adjourn the debate on this Bill and reconsider the position in the light of the points raised by the Members here. The question of withdrawal is mere rudeness which will not pay in the long run. We want Government to reconsider this Bill on a different basis and to reintroduce it after the Government has taken into account the various points raised by the Members. Government must do this, otherwise there is no meaning in being here, if the view of the majority is that Government is wrong and yet Government will not adjourn the debate, then something is wrong.

Therefore, I second the adjournment of this debate. I think this should be done now.

(Question proposed)

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): The debate will have to be adjourned anyhow in one minute's time. If any hon. Member wishes to speak now, the business of the House will be interrupted without resolution in a minute's time. However, if hon. Members wish the decision that the debate be now adjourned I will put the question now.

Mr. Khasakhala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, while I agree that the Government should have money, that the county councils and the country as a whole should have money—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You are speaking on the question of the adjournment, are you?

Mr. Khasakhala: Yes, I am, Sir.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I am sorry, Mr. Khasakhala, it is now time for the interruption of business.

MOTION FOR THE ADJOURNMENT

BOUNDARY COMMITTEE: WESTERN AND NYANZA PROVINCES

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I will now call on a Minister to move that the House do now adjourn.

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move that the House do now adjourn.

The Assistant Minister for Works, Communications and Power (Mr. G. Godana) seconded.

(Question proposed)

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to speak on the Motion on adjournment, on my Question No. 75 (1), in connexion with the boundary problem.

My aim in speaking on this Motion, although some hon. Members whom one might consider to be mentally ill, will go on shouting, because in this House everyone is—

[Mr. Komoro.] I mean I would impound anything found there. I mean I would not wish to see them coming to Nairobi, and sending me to Galole, and the next day I go to my house I see all the bedding, the beds, the dresses and everything sold. I would be embarrassed. This is exactly what is being provided in the Bill. The whole thing looks bad. Mr. Deputy Speaker, I would seriously wish to see that the Minister amends all these things which I am pointing out to him. Otherwise, if he pretends to be stubborn, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I would not see any way of supporting the Bill, in fact I shall be the first person to vote against this Bill.

With these few remarks, Sir, I beg to reserve my opinion.

Mr. Wariithi: Now, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I am very unhappy about this Bill and I think, from what has been said by a number of Members in this House, it is only advisable for the Minister to withdraw this Bill, have it redrafted and include all the proposals which have been made in this House.

Now, in the first place, Mr. Deputy Speaker, those who have listened to the debate know that nearly each and every clause or section has been attacked by one Member or the other. If you start from clause 1 or section 1, 2, 3, right up to the end, there have been proposals made by Members of this House and they are dissatisfied with the provisions. In my own view, it is a very badly drawn Bill, done maybe by someone who did not actually understand exactly what we are trying to do in this country or the interests that we are doing to safeguard and in my own opinion I do not think that a Bill like this should be passed in this House. You find, to start with, in section 1 that it says that this Bill is going to be retroactive up to the 1st January 1965. That means that all the messes that have been done for over a year will not be rectified by this Bill. The way the Minister wants a law to be passed, when Members speak they see a number of disappointments, a number of provisions which should not be there—I do not want to repeat what has already been said—but if the Minister has been listening and also taking notes, you will find right up from section 1 every section has been attacked by one Member or the other, in fact you cannot say that Members are just criticizing, because we know and we have been telling our people to pay poll tax and graduated personal tax. On the other hand, a proper law should be passed so that graduated personal tax is paid properly so that our people would not complain. But if you are going to pass a law which will cause hardship, not because people do not want to pay taxes, but because the machinery which is going to be applied is not a proper one and I feel that we will be failing in our duty if we pass this Bill.

So, to start with, I would make a proposal to the Minister, if he does not want to withdraw the Bill, that he amends it extensively to provide for all that has been said by various Members of this House.

I would only like to speak on one section—I do not want to repeat what has already been said—but I think to start with that I would like the Minister to explain to me and I think this is the first time that we have had to pass a law in this House which has to take effect a year behind. Can we be told why the Minister has found it necessary to pass a law and ask us to back-date it to the 1st January 1965? Now, it only shows that maybe the Ministry was not abreast with its work and want us to rectify all the mistakes done during that period. Much has been said, as I have already mentioned, Mr. Deputy Speaker, and I do not want to repeat it, but there is one provision where they say that members of local authorities cannot become members of the assessment committee. Most of these members are elected by popular vote, just like the Members of this House, and these are the members who could possibly assist the Administration to know the cases of those people who are not able to pay tax. I am not saying that they should be only members of the county councils or local authorities. I know there was a time when they were given the authority to assess and there were a lot of complaints, but why provide in the Act or the Bill that none of them could be a member of an assessment committee. As I said they are elected the same way as we are, they know the problems of the people, they represent the people, they know the poor people in the small areas that they represent, and I do not see any reason why we should provide in this Bill that they should not be a member of the assessment committee.

Now section 7, I do not know how the Minister can explain this one. He writes down certain dates, you must pay, before the 31st day of March or 30th June. Now this is supposed to cover the whole country, Mr. Deputy Speaker. I would like to know from the Minister, or either from his advisers or from his own personal knowledge, whether he is satisfied that all over Kenya during this period those people who are farmers or business people, will be able to have sold a crop or have had some money during the specified dates. On what are they based to come to this conclusion, that you must pay by the 31st day of March and the second to be paid by the 30th day

[Mr. Wariithi.] What is the criterion? Is it of June in each year. What is the criterion? Is it the date when the people harvest their crops, and if it is, is it only a particular section. We do not harvest in Kenya in one particular part of the year, it varies, and I think that this one, as the hon. Mr. Osogo suggested, be deleted.

The other aspect of it, Mr. Deputy Speaker, if you go towards the end where it is provided—I will just touch on section 23 which I think is very, very painful—and as one of the Members has already spoken on this, I would just like to say that the Act provides many methods of punishing those who do not pay their Graduated Personal Tax. The Act provides for people to be stopped on the way by the police and they can be asked for their receipts; the Act provides for filing a civil suit against those who do not pay; the Act provides for penalties, for fines, for imprisonment. I think the Minister is being really harsh on the people to go to the extent, with all those other powers under section 23 (2), of even penalising the children and I think that he has asked for sufficient powers under which he will be able to penalise those who will not be able to pay. As has been suggested by another hon. Member, I would support the idea of deleting the whole of section 23 (2) because I feel that it is unnecessary. Enough machinery is provided in the Act, which if properly utilised, will enable the Government to collect Graduated Personal Tax from all those people who are supposed to pay.

Finally, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, under section 22 I do not think it is fair to expect people while they are still not earning to pay Graduated Personal Tax and that is why I think and why I am strongly suggesting that this Bill requires redrawing and should include people who are in training, and those who are not earning, and when they have finished their courses they should be asked to pay Graduated Personal Tax, but as it is now, it is only those under the age of 18 years. We know of people in training or universities at the age of 25—I went to university when I was about 25 or 26—therefore, I think that the Minister should consider what has been said by Members in this House and that they should amend the Bill accordingly.

Mr. Kamau: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I only want to say a few words on this Bill because I have been listening carefully to the other Members and I would say that we, as hon. Members, are the mouthpieces of the people outside and everybody outside believes that every law, or this is made by every Member here. Why that I do not know that women must also come here, to watch us for themselves because things are done by the Ministers of the Government. I would request the Minister for Local Government from this very moment to be so kind as to withdraw this Bill because without question the whole thing is far worse than what we had during the colonial times.

Now, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I must say that at the moment—and I would appeal to the Minister for Local Government that before we pass this law for penalties in connexion with the collection of these taxes, we should first of all, and it is the duty of this Ministry, to educate the masses into paying their taxes willingly, because of non-payment there are penalties, penalties, penalties and the outside world will think that we Kenyans are not willing to pay the taxes for the benefit of uplifting our country. As to this I would request the Minister for Local Government to reconsider this Bill, because at the moment you will find that people are in a very embarrassing position because wherever they go they are stopped by the Tribal Police on the road and have to produce documents to prove that they have paid their taxes.

Therefore, what I would suggest to the Minister is that the methods adopted at the moment, and I specially refer to those where a chief or a district commissioner can order property or crops to be attached, must be brought to the attention of this House and I would appeal to this House that they are still here as individuals, and there are some people who have been given this chance to attach other people's property, because of their previous equity. But if we educate the masses as to the importance of paying their Poll Tax, their Graduated Personal Tax, our people will be willing to pay.

I would also like to mention one thing, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, now that this law is going to be implemented here in this House. Recently I went to Central Nyanza where I found that some people, even today, cannot supply enough food for themselves, and if this Bill is implemented these people will be penalised for not paying their taxes. Now the drought may have had something to do with this and yet the people are subjected to paying Poll Tax, otherwise they will have to pay a penalty. If the drought has affected their crops and these people are required to pay tax over a certain period and they have not paid, what will the consequences be? These people whether or not they were affected by the drought, whether they have money or not, whatever property they have will be attached by the Government, and this Government would become very unpopular and the best method is—if it is suggested that we should live leisurely in Nairobi in a hotel, then we are not worth our salt. But, Sir, I think that if the hon. Members could assist the local people, because after all, an individual with the wrong assessment his case will come to the Member of that constituency the man who is assessed wrongly will go to the Member, and say, "Oh, look here, I have been asked to give this so that I may be exempted from tax, I am a poor man". I think, Sir, that a Member representing an area should be put completely in the picture, so that he knows exactly what is happening, and I hope the Minister will think of this too and correct it.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would now in coding, like to come to section 22. This section deals with the type of people it is going to exempt. Sir, section 22 deals with exemption and the Minister is telling us here that there are types of people which he will exempt. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like the Minister to specify what class of people he will exempt. He only tells us here, if I may read it, Sir, with your permission, section 22 (3), "The Minister may, by notice in the Gazette, exempt from the tax, to such extent as is specified in the notice, any person or class of persons or any income of a person or class of persons so specified, and may rescind or vary any such exemption." Now Sir, what kind of persons will this be? What nature will they be? This, Sir, is what we want the Minister to tell us, otherwise it will also be open to corruption whereby rich people will probably want exemption from tax. I do not want to tell you that the Minister will be corrupted, but, Sir, we do not know which Minister will come next.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to stress the point of students in university colleges and training colleges, it is not specified here in this section, and I think the Minister should consider that they are covered here, if they are not covered they will be chased from place to place when they are on holiday to pay taxes. So students in university colleges and training colleges should also be given a proviso here, so that they are not chased around the country for taxes.

Lastly, Mr. Speaker, I would like the Minister to delete section 23 (2), the whole of that subsection (2). Here, Mr. Speaker, as the other hon. Members have said, I would not like to bother the House by repeating what other Members have said, but it looks as if this is falling very short. The Minister has forgotten that there are students at schools who are orphans, and who do not have fathers to pay taxes; and here again, when they go to pay school fees tax receipts will be demanded of them, and I think this is going to be very unfair, and I think that the Minister should consider deleting the whole of that subsection and maybe including that in some of the regulations where he gives himself powers in section 23 (1).

With these few words, Mr. Speaker, I beg to support the Motion hoping that the Minister will consider the observations I have made.

Mr. Komora: Thank you, Mr. Speaker, Sir.

Mr. Speaker, I am particularly happy that this Bill has come because during the time that we were debating the President's speech, I particularly made some emphasis to the Minister for Local Government, to see to it that the Graduated Personal Tax Act is amended, and here, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I see that the Act of 1963 is being repealed, and this makes me very happy.

Secondly, Sir, I am not happy about the setting of the imposition of tax as is suggested in section 3 of the Act. This is because it is said in this particular Act, Mr. Speaker, Sir, that the Minister for Local Government, together with the Minister for Finance, will decide how much a person is to pay, that is to say that perhaps one day they will wake up and decide to increase the payment of Graduated Personal Tax, providing it is in the Official Gazette, this will automatically become law. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I feel that tax collection is a national issue, and I would not feel happy to see that a person or two can sit down and decide to impose taxation over the whole nation. I should think that when it is thought time to revise this it should be brought to Parliament for discussion, and whatever decision is taken here will be the final resolution, and I would not like to see that the whole affair is left to the Minister for Local Government and the Minister for Finance.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, some hon. Members have spoken a lot on this Bill and I do not want to repeat what they have already said, but on section 11, which deals with penalty for late payment, I wish to quote here, Mr. Speaker, very briefly, I am not going to make a complete quotation—"any individual who fails to pay shall be liable to pay in addition a penalty of such amount as may be prescribed by the Minister, by notice in the Gazette, either generally or in respect of the area of jurisdiction of any council, but not exceeding twice the amount of the tax in respect of which he is in default"; that is to say, Mr. Speaker, Sir, that the Act here does not fully specify what a person is supposed to pay if he defaults in paying the tax. I would like the Minister to clarify fully here so that everyone knows that if I fail to pay my tax this year I shall be in default by so much. This is my worry. Mr. Speaker, because last year I received a notice from the City Council of Nairobi stating that I had failed to pay my taxes for 1964, and they say that the whole amount which I will be required to pay in 1965 will be Sh. 1,800, twice the tax I was supposed to pay in 1964. Here, in Tana River District, people are told that they will be paying in default half of whatever they were expected to pay, and here the Minister does not fully specify what the amount is that a person is required to pay. He says not exceeding twice, does that mean a quarter of whatever he has to pay? Or one and a half times, or what? This must be clarified so that everyone knows exactly what they are required to pay.

Another point, which I would like to raise again, Mr. Speaker, is section 12, something to do with the demand of additional tax. Mr. Speaker, I wish to make a short quotation again. Section 12 (1), states that "a collector may at the time of payment of or acceptance of any tax, or at any time within four years thereafter demand from the individual concerned any additional tax. . . ." Mr. Speaker, I think this is most unfortunate to demand taxes which were due up to four years ago. Why should the Government require money which was due up to four years ago? Has the Minister any good reasons to give in favour of this, that a person should pay a tax which was due up to four years ago? There is no reason, whatsoever, Mr. Speaker, for this.

Mr. Speaker, some Members are commenting that suppose you are out of this country, even if a person is out of this country for four years and he comes back that period has gone. Supposing that during the time he was out of this country he dies, will the Government still demand the tax which was due during those four years, while he was alive? In fact, Mr. Speaker, I would recommend that the whole of this section be deleted, it does not serve any purpose.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, section 13 of the Bill states that "the tax shall be deemed to be a civil debt" then they talk of criminal proceedings. What causes the criminal proceedings is the non-payment of the kodi. If the non-payment of the kodi is not in itself criminal, where should these criminal proceedings arise from? Yes, they say that criminal proceedings which may be taken in accordance with the provisions of this Act, and they say, Mr. Speaker, in the Bill, section 13, that "the tax shall be deemed to be a civil debt", and this actually is the tax which brings the criminal proceedings, and if the failing to pay or the demand to pay tax is not in itself criminal offence, why should there be criminal proceedings? I do not understand the meaning of this at all. It is not even defined in the Bill. Mr. Speaker, I would like these things to be corrected so that everyone is happy.

Now, Sir, I would like to speak very generally to the Minister. During the colonial days, where-by this Government was required to pay a substantial amount of money to the Sultan of Zanzibar, we were paying less kodi. These days we have done away with the kodi we were paying the Sultan of Zanzibar, and we see that taxes increase day by day, I hear my colleagues here, Mr. Deputy Speaker, saying "oh, needs are increasing." There is no question of anything increasing including needs. Mr. Deputy Speaker, we had some services that the Government was committed to fulfil. Here, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I see we are increasing the police, because in the Bill it is provided that a police officer, including tribal police, and administration police, is empowered to stop anyone who he suspects of having committed an offence, and the offence which is failure to pay the kodi. He can tell you to produce your receipt. If he fails to produce his receipt he is taken to court. That is one method of collecting kodi.

Secondly, penalty, Mr. Deputy Speaker; thirdly, imprisonment; fourthly, they say restraint method of collecting kodi. All these four methods, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I think are deliberate torture of the people. I would concede that one or two methods should be applied, the Government should come into the open and say that a person who is unable to pay his graduated personal tax will be imprisoned or will be asked to pay a penalty, and that is all. There should not be any summonses served on people, please will you send in your tax, then if he is imprisoned there is no question of a plea. This is something which must be done, therefore the Government must be straightforward and say that a person who fails to pay his personal tax will be imprisoned or he will be asked to pay a penalty, and there should be no suggestion in the Bill that the court is empowered to give a ruling to say the district commissioner is to go to So-and-so's house and to

[The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry]

I am sure a woman, after selling a bundle of kuni, for Sh. 4, would come forward and pay her husband's tax. This, I think, is a point which I would like the Minister to consider very much, and if he wishes me to put it to him in writing how I think it should be worked, particularly in my district, I am prepared to do so.

Another point, Sir, I would like to make is with regard to section 8. Here, this section refers to payment of tax by tax stamps, but it only refers to municipalities. I think there would be nothing more unfair to the people who do not come under the municipalities than this section. Now, Sir, if we people, who earn a regular salary, are not forced to pay our taxes early in the year are given a chance to pay our taxes until the end of that year, then I do not see why this section should not apply to the people living in the rural areas.

Now, Sir, I would like to come to section 11, and I hope the Minister is taking note of this penalty question. It has been, Sir, advocated here by other hon. Members, and I would not like to repeat what they have said, but it is obvious that putting a penalty on someone who fails to pay tax at the beginning is only flogging a dead horse. We know that a person fails to pay his tax because he does not have the money to pay that tax, and therefore, by putting a penalty on him we know very well that we are not going to get the tax which is due from him, and we know that we are not going to get the penalty money which is levied on him, because he just does not have that money. This, as I have said, is just flogging a dead horse, which I do not want the Minister to flog, because he will be wasting his time. What I have advocated earlier, about paying Sh. 4 for the ordinary man who does not have a regular income, because if the Minister included this in the Bill here, that if a person does not pay Sh. 4, then the following month he would be liable to pay Sh. 10, which means Sh. 4 plus Sh. 4 for each month, and a Sh. 2 penalty for the two months. I am sure that anyone would be scared of having to pay Sh. 10 the next month, and therefore, they would pay Sh. 4 regularly each month. That would be something to scare the taxpayers so that they would rush forward ready to pay their Sh. 4, than waiting for the money to be collected, and maybe having to pay Sh. 10.

Now, Sir, coming to section 14 of the Bill, which deals with the distraint tax on goods and chattels of the person who defaults paying tax. I would speak, Sir, from personal experience. In my constituency the chief collects the whole of his sub-chiefs to go into a village where they start chasing kukus, goats and some of the dogs who happen to be around, so that the whole village is in a mess. You find that everyone is scattered, the kukus who can fly stay in trees. After they have gone, and all is quiet, the missing kukus are thought then to have been collected by the raiders, but unfortunately, they have flown to the trees and might, at night, be eaten by wild cats. I think, Sir, this is a very serious issue, which the Minister should look into.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to remind the hon. Minister that in my constituency a woman committed suicide because her best cow had been stolen, because her husband did not pay tax and she was not liable to pay tax, and she committed suicide, because of that. I am sure the Minister knows about this case, and we look forward to hearing other cases of this kind. Sir, I would like to remind the Minister also that if I default on paying my tax, then my brother should not have to pay it for me. They should not collect the property of my brother because I defaulted paying my tax. This, Sir, is very common in the reserves whereby a brother would be busy drinking away his money, and only has a shirt and a pair of trousers sleeps on somebody else's bed and the tax collectors collect money from their brothers. They collect the property also belonging to other people, and this, I think is very unfair. Any rates or any distraints which are carried out in this section should be carried out on personal effects as it stated in the last sentence of section 14 (2). This should be carried out, the distraint should be carried out on the owner and not on his relatives. I hope the Minister will look into this.

Also, Sir, in this same section, subsection (3), the Minister says, and I quote, "Where, within the area of jurisdiction of a county council, it is, in the opinion of a district commissioner inexpedient or ineffective to serve demands individually for the purpose of subsection (2) of this section, he may, with the approval of the provincial commissioner, serve a collective demand specifying the individuals either by name or generally..." Sir, I do not want this word, "generally" in this Bill. What happens, Sir, is that the chief is given the right to come and demand the distraint in the location and he just leaves it at that. Now, Sir, an individual does not know whether he has been registered as a taxpayer or that whether they have him in mind to come and raid his home, and so he stays in the background, therefore, I think the Minister should think about deleting these two words, "or generally". It should remain "... either by name to whom the demand is made..." because the word "generally" is a very big word, and I would not like it to be included in a law which is not going to be made general after all.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would now like to mention to the Minister, section 14 (5). Here again, Sir, I have some complaints to the Minister. He says that the booty which is taken by the Administrators, will be kept for ten days, but at the cost of the person from whom such tax is recoverable. Sir, I am wondering about the logic of this. If they collect my cows and take them to the chief's camp they cannot expect me to go and look after that cow, and if that cow is stolen from there, then I know that I have paid my tax, and it should not be there at my cost. Therefore, Sir, I think the Minister should consider, and this is what happens in most cases, that in some places they collect beds from some people and when these beds are taken to wherever they keep them, either the police station or the chief's centre, someone comes at night, and steals the bed, therefore, surely they do not expect those people to come and look after their beds. Sir, I think the Minister should also consider this.

I would also like to draw attention of the Minister to the practice which is practised in my constituency, whereby when cattle are collected the sub-chiefs have access to buying these cattle on the road when they are being collected to the centre, which he mentions in this law, but the sub-chiefs and the chiefs, and those people who have the money would rush out and perhaps buy a cow at Sh. 60 when in actual fact it should be bought for Sh. 200 and these are bought on the road before it has a chance of reaching its destination. I think, Sir, this is very unfair, and I understand that is why you have included that ten days, but I think you ought to tell these people not to sell things en route, before they reach the centre.

Sir, I would now like to come to section 16, which deals with the appeal of someone who has been wrongly assessed. Mr. Speaker, Sir, if I have been assessed wrongly, and I complain that I cannot pay the assessment given to me, obviously if I cannot obtain that money, then I cannot obtain money to be able to go and appeal, and the Minister has not specified here that the appeal will be free. We want this appeal to be free, but if it is not going to be free, I will be scared to go to appeal, because I will be reducing the amount I have, which I would probably have saved to pay the tax and so. I think, Sir, the Minister should look into this question of making the appeal free for these people who are assessed wrongly, and would like to appeal.

Now, Sir, I would like to come to section 19, which I find very interesting. This section empowers the authorized officer to demand production of tax receipt. Here, again, Sir, my constituents are very much affected. What happens, and the hon. Muliro quoted this incident. When my constituents are moving from Busia to Kisumu by bus they are either stopped at Ukwala or Maseno and their tax receipts are demanded from them. If they do not have them, they are removed from the bus, regardless of whether they are making a very urgent journey, and they are forced to pay taxes in this district, which is not Busia District. What happens to the tax which is collected from them, I do not know. I think, Sir, it remains in the Central Nyanza District instead of being taken to Busia. I would therefore like to ask the Minister to make it very, very clear to the districts, and to the tribal policemen that stop these people. The most notorious places are Ukwala, and Maseno, but I think that it should be made quite clear that the people from Busia District should not be arrested there and forced to pay taxes. For example, when I go to Kisumu to do some shopping, I may leave my ticket behind, and many people have done this and they have been forced to pay taxes twice, and it becomes very tedious for this individual to go through all the necessary pipelines to get the money back, because the money is in two different districts and what he does is only give up in the end. I think this is a problem which the Minister should look into very seriously, as it is very unfair on the people.

Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, coming to section 21, remission of the people from paying taxes. Sir, with due respect to the administrators, the district commissioner does not know these local people, and what happens is that he uses the chiefs and sub-chiefs to submit to him the people who are poor. I remember, Sir, that this has been a subject of corruption whereby a sub-chief asked for a cow, so that the individual who gives him a cow will be exempted from paying tax forever. Now, Sir, this is corruption, so what I am suggesting here, and always, Sir, when I say such things, I always have a suggestion, and the Minister knows this my suggestion here is that since a Member of this House has no interest in individuals of his constituency, he should be given a chance to see who is really unable to pay tax. That is why we are elected. We do not want to live leisurely, that is why we are elected, in order to assist our people, and

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I would point out to hon. Members that we are getting a number of points now repeated several times. I am sure there are new points still to be made on this Bill, but I would ask hon. Members to be very short when they are referring to points already made by other Members.

Mr. Osogo, are you speaking for yourself or for Government?

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): For myself, Sir.

Mr. Speaker, although I am going to speak in my capacity as Member for Samia Bunyala, I would like to appeal to hon. Members in this House, in all our public meetings addressing the people, not to be afraid to ask our people to pay taxes to the Government. I know that the paying of taxes is quite a touchy issue, and I know that in appealing to the people to pay their taxes, a Member thinks that it will make him very unpopular with his people, I for one think that it will not, so long as it is put properly to the people. I think that if the people have confidence in us, they should be able to listen to our words and come forward to pay taxes.

I should like, Sir, to make a few observations on this Bill. I think many sections of it are badly worded, and I would like my colleague, the Minister for Local Government, to take note of a few things I am going to say. First, I would refer him to section 2, the interpretation section: The words "police officer", it says, includes a tribal police officer. My present knowledge of this is that these tribal police are now called the administrative police, and I am wondering why he should include the word "tribal", which, as far as I know, is outdated.

In section 3 (3), Mr. Speaker, it looks as if the Minister would like all those people who reside in places like Nairobi to pay all their taxes in these places, forgetting the families. But, reading further, I see he has given a provision in section 3 (5), but I do not, however, agree with the way he has worded this here, where he has said that these two local authorities will share equally the taxes paid by these individuals. I think this is very unfair, Sir, that I should pay my taxes here, Sh. 600, and only Sh. 300 of these taxes should go home to maintain the services rendered to my wives and several other children, when I am a lone individual here in Nairobi. I think that a bigger proportion should be sent home to the county councils which give services to my families at home.

Also, Sir, I would draw the attention of the Minister to section 3 (4), and I think here he is also going to be very unfair to other people.

There is only one district here which is going to gain in this respect, and that is Kiambu District where the workers reside actually in that district but work in Nairobi. Here he says that the whole tax collected from these people will be taken to their respective districts. A person living in Busia, his 50 per cent remains here, whereas in the case of a person living in Kiambu, the whole amount is taken back to Kiambu. I think this is going to be very unfair. I hope that the Minister will consider this particular point.

Here, under the same section, subsection (6), the hon. Minister gives some expenses which are incurred by those who collect tax, like the Nairobi County Council or, maybe, the employers. I would submit here, Sir, that the Minister—if he does not mind—should specify what these expenses are. I have written to the Minister several times about this issue; that the City Council of Nairobi and employers have agreed voluntarily to collect taxes, and if they have, I do not know what the Ministry anticipates paying them for these expenses. I hope when he replies he will specify these expenses.

Mr. Speaker, may I move to assessment? I do not want to repeat what other colleagues have said on this, but I would like the Minister to look into the possibility of amending subsection (4) of section 4 on assessments, where it reads— with your permission, Mr. Speaker—"that provided that no member of a local authority may be appointed to be a member of an assessment committee". This is on page 473. I would submit, Sir, that on this assessment committee I think we should include an official of the ruling party in the area. We seem to be neglecting these officials of the ruling party—that is Kanu Party—and I just want to put it bluntly as a ruling party because I do not know whether tomorrow there will be two parties, and so on. I do not want it to be specified as the Kanu Party, but if there was an official, a secretary or a chairman of the ruling party on the assessment committee, I think he would be in a position to convey to the people whatever assessment has been given by the assessors. I am sure that if the people have faith in their officials they would respect his word, or he would be a bridge between the assessment committee and the people.

Going on, Mr. Speaker—I see hon. Members are objecting to that, maybe they are not holding any positions in the party, but nor do I hold any position and that does not matter to me—I would like to go on to section 7. I think—and I submit very strongly, Sir, that this section should be deleted.

An hon. Member: What section?

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): If hon. Members would listen to me, I am sure the hon. Member for fireman is not paying attention, he is only after interrupting me.

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, it is in order for the Assistant Minister to refer to a Member of this House as a Member of firemen? I have no knowledge of any Member in this House being a Member for firemen. Could he tell us who this is?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It is not strictly correct to refer to any hon. Member except as hon. Member for his particular constituency, or as a Specially Elected Member as the case may be, but a little kindly humour is not out of place sometimes.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): Thank you, Sir. I was referring to the hon. Specially Elected Member, Mr. Komora, who, the House knows, is interested in firemen, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think he is very proud of it.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): Thank you, Sir. I withdraw the actual remarks.

Mr. Speaker, I was saying that the Minister should consider seriously deleting the whole of section 7 which deals with the payment of tax—I am sorry, deleting section 7 (1) because this could be incorporated in section 23 where the Minister could make regulations. Here, Sir, I may speak at length a bit because I feel I should inform the Minister of methods of collecting taxes from people who do not have regular employment; these are the people that actually matter because those who have regular employment are already catered for and it is easy for the Minister to get at them. But those who do not have regular employment, and particularly and more so most of our electors and people in the constituencies are people that will be hit hard by this section. If I remember correctly, Sir, it has been very difficult for the whole of last year and for 1964 for the county councils to raise their tax, but I think they lacked the tactics for doing so. I say this because there was a period where the administrators who normally used to collect taxes, or assist in the collection of taxes, were very reluctant to go to the people and ask them for taxes. But the forcing of people to pay taxes before the 31st March in full, or if they opt to pay in two instalments before the 30th June is very unfair to anybody who does not earn any regular income. I say so, Sir, because I know for one that this has been a very serious point in the constituencies which we represent. I remember that my constituents have approached me to ask the Government if it would be possible for them to pay Sh. 4 monthly, assuming that the tax will remain as Sh. 48, so that by the end of the year they will have paid Sh. 48.

Now, the Minister will tell me that this has failed in the past year because the existing regulation provides for this. I think the Minister did not think—or rather, his Ministry did not think—very seriously of how to collect this money. The Minister is aware, I do not know if it is so in other constituencies, but in my own constituency, Sir, we have people called mkurus, these are people who are not Government servants, but they are elders of the people appointed in villages and these people cover, let us say, about 150 families in my constituency. I thought if the Minister used these people through the Administration to register the 150 families so that every month it would be their duty to travel round and collect Sh. 4 from every taxpaying individual in that particular area, this money would come forward. I know it would involve a lot of administrative work, but I think that if these mkurus who are not being paid, if it was considered by the Minister that they should be given a certain percentage of whatever they collect as a type of honorary payment every month, I am sure they would be very, very enthusiastic about collecting this money. Mkurus are the people who come under sub-chiefs but are not paid by the Government. I do not know if they are in other constituencies, as I said, but they are in my constituency, and I think they would be the best people to be used to collect these taxes. If the Minister considers this, I am sure the card system as advocated in section 9 would do very well, with the stamps, because in many cases—particularly in my constituency again—you will find that it is the women who struggle to look for tax for the men, and in most cases the man would be found drinking himself foolish, whilst the women, after going to the gardens and probably selling firewood, or making a bit of pelele, which they call the Kenya wage, makes a bit of money—illegally, of course—and then assists her husband in paying the taxes.

[Mr. Kibuga] county councils and from the Government it is necessary to pay taxes. But the method employed under the Bill is, in part, out of the question.

Take, for example, the assessment committee, under clause 4 (4). The provincial commissioner and his subordinates, the district commissioner, the district officer, the chiefs and so on, are supposed to choose an assessment committee to assess how much different individuals should pay, especially the individuals who do not earn any income, who are not employed. From experience, Mr. Speaker, Sir, in 1965, in Kirinyaga District, there were assessment committees chosen by the district commissioner or the chiefs, and everything was in a mess. In 1964, the assessment committees were chosen by the people, the councillors and some other people, and people were pleased and paid their taxes freely and happily. But immediately they were assessed differently, they felt they were being assessed badly. Somebody who was supposed to pay Sh. 100 was probably made to pay more; and in some cases people who were capable of paying more had their assessment reduced because of favouritism. Immediately the people realized there was some amount of favouritism, they refused to pay taxes.

So when we come to these assessment committees, although the provincial commissioner and his subordinates should see that the committees are chosen and should be members of them, the people themselves should be given a free hand to choose the people whom they know themselves. And when the committee is chosen, an expert should be on the committee to guide it as to the best method of making assessments. But if the people are not satisfied with the committee, and feel they are assessed badly, there will be chaos. According to my experience, if people are assessed well, they pay very happily, they realize that they have to pay taxes.

Another thing, Sir, is that Nairobi City Council seems to be favoured by the Government with regard to this personal tax. As the hon. Member who has just spoken and others have said, to say that we, the Members of Parliament, merely because we are paid in Nairobi, should see half, probably, of our taxes being paid to Nairobi, because we sleep occasionally in Nairobi while the House is sitting, is illegal. In fact, the City Council of Nairobi, having been favoured by all the income-earning people coming to live in Nairobi, spending their money here, should be thankful to the Members of Parliament and should give them their services but not demand any payment of taxes. All the taxes should go back to the county councils. It is not only the Members of Parliament. I do not know what happens when, for example, we have other civil servants employed by the provincial administration and other departments. If they are not residing in Nairobi, I see no reason why they should have any of their money deducted to support Nairobi City Council.

Under this Bill, I think there should be provision whereby Nairobi City Council deducts, out of its collection, a certain amount and sets it aside to help the poorer county councils. They earn a lot of money. People come from all over the country to spend their money in Nairobi. Even though I am not against the City Council of Nairobi, we do not want people to come to Nairobi and live here. The President and the Ministers of the Government and the Members of Parliament have been telling the people, "Go back to the land." If you go back to the land, you find that services cannot be given by the poor county council. Are people really going to tolerate living in the countryside? Therefore, it is wrong to over-enrich Nairobi City Council.

Recently, during this year of 1966, in my county council or in my district, and in other districts, pupils going to primary schools have been forced to produce the tax receipts from their parents or guardians. This sounds all very well, because we want people to pay taxes, but in some cases you find that the pupils who are supposed to produce receipts have no parents or guardians; they may be being brought up by grandmothers or old mothers and they do not pay taxes. They are helped by friends to meet the expense of school fees. For these children to be asked to produce receipts is ridiculous. What should happen is this. If the provincial administration has carried out the collection of taxes, it is true that in every sub-location the headman or the chief will know who has not paid his taxes. They know where such men live; they should go and collect the taxes from them there. But to wait until the child comes to school and use such a lazy method of collecting taxes, by telling the child, "Go for your tax receipts", is terrible. If they have failed to collect the taxes, we should employ someone else to collect them; but we should not have the children punished.

The Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Mboya): How are they being punished?

Mr. Kibuga: Mr. Speaker, I see one of the Ministers here does not know this one because he has been in Nairobi all the time. This is what we are saying repeatedly: Ministers do not know the problems in the countryside. I request the [Mr. Kibuga] Ministers to go out where the pupils are paying taxes, and where the headmaster or one of the school-teachers asks for the money even without investigating whether this child has a guardian or a father who pays taxes. The child is told, "Go home, get your receipt." Where does he get the receipt? Supposing this child has to go and cultivate for somebody or do a piece of work for somebody in order to get the money to pay his fees, and then produce it. Why should he be asked to produce tax receipts?

Mr. Speaker, Sir, there is another thing I should like to ask the Minister and his staff to check on and that is the question of these stamps. Supposing some one has paid for and put on his card stamps for three months or six months or two months and then he loses his card, why should he have to pay again all that he has already paid? Perhaps we may be told, "You should keep your record", but we expect that the Government employs civil servants and workers who are capable of keeping records and not expect every individual in the country to keep a record. When somebody goes to buy a stamp for his card, why should the office workers not keep proper records of this so that when the man comes later on and says that the card and stamps have been lost, there will be something to show whether this man has paid or not?

I would like to support one hon. Member who spoke a little bit earlier on the question of the remission of taxes, clause 21. Although I have nothing against the provincial commissioner or the district commissioner assessing whether or not someone is capable of paying taxes, it is wrong to give one individual too much power. In some cases, just as we have seen in the case of Ministers, some of these provincial and district commissioners do not know the people in the countryside. They talk with certain individuals who may be chiefs and they assume that so-and-so is capable of paying. In fact, because they do not experience any difficulties because they are earning a salary every month, they think everybody finds it easy to earn every day and every month. So I would suggest that, just as in the case of assessment committees, when it comes to remission there should be a committee chosen by the people themselves which would give the district commissioner proper information as to whether a particular person is poor or not.

On the question of imprisoning individuals who do not pay taxes, I totally disagree with this. If somebody has not paid taxes and it is true that he is able to pay, then his property should be sold. But if he cannot pay taxes, if he has not paid taxes because he has not earned anything, that is no reason why he should be imprisoned. If it comes to the question of somebody who has not paid his taxes, and some money has to be recovered from him, the proper thing, just as has been suggested by certain other hon. Members, would be for him to be given a piece of work by which he could earn money, and in this case he would get enough to pay his taxes and also meet the expenses of himself and his family.

Again, Mr. Speaker, I hope the Minister for Local Government, and also the other Ministers in the Government, in the Cabinet, will issue circulars to the employers and to different firms that, under no circumstances, should they ask these people to produce tax receipts before they are able to be employed. These people want employment so as to be able to earn their living and pay taxes. If somebody is employed, it means that his taxes will be collected from him easily, so why deny him the right of earning? In fact, if he is ready to go and work and be employed, it shows that he has not refused to pay taxes; he has only failed to earn a living and pay taxes because he has not been able to get a job.

Mr. Speaker, just before I finish, I would rather like to disagree with one hon. Member who has said that because somebody of eighteen is very young he should be exempted from paying taxes, and that exemption should extend to the age of twenty-one. If these people do not earn anything, then it is right, whether someone is eighteen, nineteen, twenty or even thirty, for them to be exempted. But to exempt somebody of eighteen, someone who may be earning, I think, is wrong. I imagine that most of these people would go to school at the age of six or seven; it is possible for some of them to start earning after finishing the Kenya Preliminary Examination. Some of them earn after going to high school or secondary school for a year or two or four years. So the question of age is not too very important here. I think the main thing is whether such a person is earning or not.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I hope the Minister will take into consideration the questions of the assessment committees and the committees which might decide whether someone should have his taxes remitted or not. Under no circumstances should we give this job to an individual, a provincial commissioner, merely because he has proved capable. In most cases, they do not know the people. While I give them credit for working well, the question of assessing and that of remitting should be left to the people, with the guidance of the provincial commissioner and his subordinates.

[Mr. Maliro] who do not earn anything, are also compelled and forced to pay the Graduated Personal Tax. If he does not pay the Graduated Personal Tax he will be humiliated in every corner that he moves. He has to produce a tax receipt even if he has not got the money. I call it primitive again, Mr. Deputy Speaker, because the people who pay income tax will still pay Graduated Personal Tax, both are taxes on income. Now, how can one tax income twice? The same person, the same taxpayer who earns the money from the same employment pays twice. One has to pay Sh. 600 flat, if he is within the income tax paying group, and then be assessed again on the same income on which he has already paid Graduated Personal Tax.

I think, Mr. Deputy Speaker, here is where the Minister must accept that that must be changed or at least the Sh. 600 he pays should be accounted for and given a remission before he can pay his income tax.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, the other point I would like to raise on this is a point on section 11: penalty for late payment. I think whoever devises a law like this must be out of his mind. The normal problem is someone pays tax late, simply because he did not have the money at the time he was to pay the tax. Why should he be told to pay double when, at a given moment, he did not have the money to pay the tax? Mr. Deputy Speaker, I find the Minister would only look for the tax; if someone pays the tax, so much the better. If he does not pay the tax, hard luck, because he has no money. Now, if someone fails to pay Sh. 48, what logic is there that he should pay twice the Sh. 48, when he is already late, he did not have the money and he is told to pay twice? Well, these are the steps which are making our Government an unpopular Government.

[The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza) left the Chair]

[The Speaker (Mr. Slade) resumed the Chair]

We do not want to make our Government unnecessarily unpopular because of the shortsightedness of some of our Ministers.

Another point, Mr. Speaker, is on the question of the demand, section 12. Here again, when someone is moving, possibly going for an urgent case—The other day I found someone whose father had died and the tax collector stopped him on the way and said, "Toa feta, roa receipti ya kodii." He said that he must produce the Kodii and if he did not produce it, he could not move. The man said, "My father is dead, I rushed out, I couldn't get the tax receipt, but it's at home."

Fortunately, I arrived on the scene in proper time and I told this man, "Look here, if this man is genuinely saying so, please could you allow him to go?"

An hon. Member: Did you show yours?

Mr. Maliro: Yes, I showed mine; I had to show mine, too.

So this man went away and thanked me for it, but we do not want to see people humiliated unnecessarily. This, Mr. Speaker, is a point which the Minister must accept. When people complain and say that we have a Government which is colonial-minded, the Ministers should be ashamed of themselves, because these were the methods which the colonial administration was applying. Today we have a black man's Government, and the black man's Government administers exactly the same regulations, rigorously, as the colonial administration used to do.

Now, the other point I would like to mention, Sir, is where the Minister says that if someone fails to pay the tax, they should take his property and sell. When they have taken all the property from his home and sold it, and it does not amount to the tax, then still that person is to be taken to court to find out how he could raise the money. If he had a number of goods or kukas in the home and they have been taken and sold, and that does not amount to the tax which has been given to this man, it is a clear case of wrong assessment. Now, why should a person like that further be told, "You must pay the money"?

I should like to raise another point, Sir, on section 22: exemption from tax. It states: "(a) every individual who has not attained the age of eighteen years"; I think this eighteen should read twenty-one. Mr. Speaker, I am going to move an appropriate amendment during the Committee stage to the effect that every individual who has not attained the age of twenty-one years should not pay the tax. The reason why I say so is this, Mr. Speaker, that it was eighteen years under the colonial administration. The Minister for Local Government is still colonial-minded enough to cling to the age eighteen. Today we had an example from the Attorney-General, wiping out these relics of the colonial mentality, but this is one of the relics which must go. In Kenya, Mr. Speaker, an adult is one who can vote, and one votes at the age of twenty-one. When one is under age and is not entitled to vote, is he a minor?

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): Do they marry? They marry before that.

Mr. Maliro: Well, children can play house!

[Mr. Maliro] Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Minister for Home Affairs is necessarily provoking me. I was saying that the age should be twenty-one, because it is at that age when an individual is entitled to vote.

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, would the hon. Member withdraw that remark he has just made?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): That you were provoking him?

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): Yes, Sir.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Not unless he feels satisfied to, he is not out of order.

Mr. Maliro: Mr. Speaker, Sir, thank you very much; it was not out of order.

An adult is one who has the right to vote and decide on national matters. We do not want minors, small children, to be told to pay kodi. As I would say, Mr. Speaker, that all the students in the universities or in high schools— even if they are over the age of twenty-one— would be exempted from the paying of taxes.

My last point, Mr. Speaker, is on clause 23. I think the Minister must be realistic and the Government must bear in mind that this is an independent Kenya and not a colonial Kenya. For one to say that until the child produces the father's tax receipt, the fees from a child should not be taken, I think, is immoral. It is highly immoral, Mr. Speaker, in that a child should not be punished for the failures of his father. Even in the courts of law, if I murder someone, my child should never be hung, because I murdered someone; I should be brought to book myself. Mr. Speaker, this is where the whole document falls down and falls down seriously. Whoever drafted the document must remove this, but a child should pay his fees. If my wife, for instance, is going to a maternity home which is under a given county council, to bear a child, would she be denied the facilities of being cared for by midwives because I have not paid my Graduated Personal Tax? I think this is not even simplification.

If services are to be denied to an individual, they are being denied to a person who was not the right person. In fact, if I, as a taxpayer, have not paid my graduated personal tax, and I am sick, should I not be treated in the county council hospital? If my child is seeking a bursary from Government, and I am unable to pay the Government taxes, I am the one who is better qualified, Mr. Speaker. The person who has failed to pay graduated personal tax should be the one whose child is better qualified because he has no money, he is a pauper. Now you demand money from the people who are unable to pay and deny services to them and their children and their wives because they are unable to do so.

Here also I am going to propose the appropriate amendment in order to bring this into line.

With these few remarks, I hope my friend, the Minister for Local Government, will think again about the amendments I have raised.

The last and final thing I would like to say is that all hon. Members here have received circulars— this I do not want— from the Attorney-General's Office, saying that we have to pay our graduated personal tax in Nairobi, that we are employed in Nairobi. Mr. Speaker, I want to submit to the Minister here that if that is just a directive from the Attorney-General's Office it is illegal, because it is not included in this document. I have read it through and through and it is not included here, that the Members of the National Assembly should pay their tax in Nairobi. So, Mr. Speaker, I think that the Minister, in replying, should make this clear. The people who employ me here are the people of Trans Nzoia District, my voters, and not the Nairobi people.

Finally, Mr. Speaker, when the Minister gets up, he must tell the House, if he does not want to risk a vote of no confidence in him, that—

An hon. Member: That is not a threat.

Mr. Maliro: What is not a threat in politics? Mr. Speaker, when the Minister gets up, he should tell us that the people who have been demanding that children show receipts for kodi have been doing that illegally, because the law is only being processed before this House now; he should tell us that. And, in fact, it would be better for him, in his own best interest, to make a statement that if this is being practised by any county council it should be stopped until this law has gone through.

Mr. Speaker, the hon. Member says he wants money. That is not the way to make money. If the hon. Minister was so desperately wanting to put this law through, he had the whole of last year to manufacture the law.

With these few remarks, I beg to listen a little bit.

Mr. Kibuka: Mr. Speaker, Sir, quite a lot has been said about this Graduated Personal Tax Bill. The most important thing is that we are all agreed that if we are to get services from the

[Mr. Ngala]

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, the other point I would like touch on is that I would suggest that the new stages go by halving all the stages from Sh. 48 to Sh. 300 that is halving the Sh. 600 because many people who pay the Sh. 600 also pay the income tax, and I think the Minister cannot very well argue that when I pay Sh. 600 and on top of Sh. 600 I pay an income tax of, let us say, Sh. 12,000 a year, this, I think, is quite unfair to even the top income people.

Therefore, I would suggest that the grades are halved, that is the forty-eight is halved to twenty-four and the top one, and throughout the grades we have them halved. I think it is clear that I am suggesting that the top is also halved because the people at the top pay very heavy income tax to the Income Tax Department and I think it is fair to realise that they are contributing quite a lot.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, on section 23 where the Minister mentions that people who fail to pay this tax should be denied entries or bursaries, scholarships or an entry to educational facilities, I think that there is something wrong here, because I cannot understand why a child should not be able to go to school just because a parent has not paid the tax. The child, as a person, has not committed any offence and it happens that, by accident, he is the son of somebody who has not paid and therefore I feel that it is very, very unfair to the children. This has been done so far very illegally, the Government has been doing this for many years now and it has been doing it illegally. This section is brought here to baptise something which has been carried out illegally by the Government. I think it is quite unfair, Mr. Deputy Speaker, that this section should be in, I think the children should be free to go to school and it should be the duty of the Government to hunt for those people who do not pay tax and the children should be free to go on schooling.

Now, in the same section the Minister goes on saying that local authorities including employment should be refused to people who have not paid their tax. In Mombasa what is happening, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, is that people who have not got any tax to pay, because they are asked to pay tax before they even get employed, whenever they look for employment. They may look for employment in the harbour or in the Bamburi Cement Factory or in the oil refinery and they are told that the Government has passed a law—although we have not yet passed it, we are discussing it—and that they cannot be employed until they can produce their tax card for 1964, 1965 and the Sh. 4 for January 1966.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I thought this was something which was called "Pay As You Earn." A person who did not earn anything in 1964, why should he have been expected to pay or if he has not earned anything in 1965, why should he be asked to pay? Even if they want the tax to be paid, why cannot they accept the period for employment first and deduct the tax in the first two weeks of his employment? I would like the Minister, when he replies, to say definitely whether the companies or the firms or even the local authority in Mombasa is acting illegally and if it is acting illegally in demanding all these things, we would like an assurance that the Government will stop this and make it possible for people who are seeking employment to be employed before they are asked to pay tax, so that they can pay as they earn.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, the question of remission by the district commissioners: I think this remission should not be done by one particular person. I think there should be a committee which can remit, because district commissioners are human beings and they can take advantage of this very easily and, therefore, there should be a committee to assist district commissioners in remitting the tax, instead of making it a single man's responsibility. This is in section 21 (ii).

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, the other thing is the question of assessment. Many people do not want to pay the Graduated Personal Tax particularly in the rural areas, because assessment is completely out of order. I think the people are left at the mercy of the chief with selected friends of his and they go round and they look at the number of coconut trees that you have on your farm and they say, "You have five hundred coconut trees therefore your tax"—let us think a bit—and they say, "Your tax should be Sh. 200." Now, they do not bother to think as to whether these trees are bringing in any income and how big the income is, and assess it according to the income. They assess it according to the trees that are standing in the bush or standing on the land and do not take into regard the actual revenue that the trees bring. I think the Minister must make it quite sure that the assessment in the rural areas by the chiefs and sub-chiefs and some local people is properly done and that people who are chosen to sit on the assessment committee know what economics are and what assessment means. I come to cases where people are assessed according to their houses. They look at the house you have whitewashed it and it is well thatched and they say "Well, yes, that house is a good house, therefore it is worth Sh. 200." Just because you have a good house. Now, I thought originally that it was a question of what revenue you have, what is the actual income in the previous year and that the decision of the amount you should pay should be based entirely on the revenue of the previous year. It is not on whether you have so many trees growing on your piece of land which may not bring you any income. In a bad year when a farmer or a peasant cannot show them that there has been any revenue accruing from the trees, they do refuse to take his word, and this is I think, very serious indeed, because sometimes it does not rain and the farmer says "These trees have not brought me anything this year, therefore I have nothing", but they say "Well, the trees are there and so long as you have the trees in the ground, you are going to pay the tax." That assessment is very, very wrong indeed and it should be looked into by the Ministry. Now, the assessment committees: members of the county councils and municipal councils are excluded, this is very right, but apart from these members being excluded, I think the chiefs should be directed as to which people should actually sit on the assessment committee. They should be people who have the know-how as to what revenue is and not just be allowed to pick up my Tom, Dick and Harry and put him on the committee.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I would also like to touch on the question of two instalments to be paid for those people who are living in the countryside in this section 7, two instalments to be paid. I think this has already been mentioned, but I think the timing should be determined on a provincial basis. I think, and I am giving a reason for this, because people living in the different countries, it should be left to the provincial commissioner to decide as to the suitability of the seasons and when people do have a good income and are able to pay the tax easily. If you do not do that, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, the month of March, in other places is a completely dead month as far as revenue is concerned, in others it is not. Therefore, I think this decision should be left to provincial commissioners so that they can decide what periods are suitable so that Government can collect the tax with ease and with the greatest co-operation from the people who are paying it.

Now, the question of imprisonment, Sir, I think people who fail to pay tax have very good reasons and therefore they should not be imprisoned unless they really are notorious and unless they are really obstinate and will not be able to pay, because if you imprison a person who has not paid tax, well the minimum he can spend in prison is about Sh. 60 a month. I do not think it pays to go about imprisoning people for lack of payment unless the Government really find that they have not got good reasons. In many places today there is unemployment, there are many thousands of people who are not employed who would have wished to pay the tax but for reasons and circumstances which are beyond their control they cannot pay their tax. In section 13 the Minister says a collector can sue a person and this will be a civil debt and it can be recovered summarily. Yes, if you want to recover it summarily I think you should consider carefully, so that you do not go into the danger of pressing for blood out of a stone, because some of these people are finding it really very difficult. They have genuine reasons for not being able to pay. I would suggest that the Government provides pieces of work, self-help projects and take these people on to these projects and pay them a little, maybe even below the normal payment, but out of it they can get their tax as well as a little money to live on.

Now, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, the denial of county council services is something that I would like the Minister to clarify. Does it mean that if I live in Mombasa and I pay tax to the municipal council and one year I happen to be ill and am unable to pay, would the municipal council be allowed to deny me the use of their services just because I have been unable to pay the tax that year. If so, the Minister is encouraging bad relationship between the taxpayers and the bodies to which the tax is paid and the purpose of paying tax is that civilians, the people of the country, should be properly served and not to create hostility between the local government bodies and the people who are paying the tax.

With these few words, Sir, I would like to support the Minister.

Mr. Muliro: Mr. Deputy Speaker, thank you very much for giving me the chance to talk on this Bill. I find the Minister must accept the fact that this Graduated Personal Tax, some might call it Poll Tax, or whatever it may be called, is a primitive way of taxation. I say it is primitive because when one looks at clause No. 3, the imposition of tax, this way it is definitely and genuinely a tax on income, but in practice it is not a tax on income, because those who have hardly anything at all, people

[Mr. Anyien] stay without working and if we do this, Mr. Speaker, I think it will help more of our people in the countryside.

Mr. Speaker, if you send a person to jail, then when he comes out, are you taking into account what happens to his children, while he is in jail, because I have, Mr. Speaker, even at home, many of my voters asking for this law, they are saying that if they are unable to pay taxes they want to go to jail. Very many of them are prepared, they say if I collect money, I have no money, all I want to collect is enough to send my children to school, then I will go to the Government to go to jail so that the Government can pay my taxes, because the Government has been unable to give me any employment. I do not think even Government will have enough places in prison to keep these people who are unable to pay their taxes. So, Mr. Speaker, instead of the Government trying to legislate, to bring Bills in Parliament, trying to get money from the people. Money which is not there, the Government should try to help the people to have the money first, and then when the people have money the Government should take it away from them and if the Government has helped the people to get the money, the Government will know where the money is and the Government will know how to get it. But the Government does not care, a person is very poor, his wife is dying, his wife is sick, his wife cannot go to the maternity hospital, the children are sick, and the man says I have no money to send these children to hospital, but the man who comes to collect Graduated Personal Tax says bring me the Government tax. The man says look my child is dying, I have no money to take the child to hospital, and you are asking me for tax. Why do you not sympathize with this man? Now, Mr. Speaker, I think that is what will make our Government to be very unrealistic, and they must not blame the Members of Parliament because the Members of Parliament are informing the Government of these things and this is the responsibility of the Government to take into account all these things. We do not expect the Government to introduce changes which are impossible to implement but we believe that if the Government start proceeding towards a change, I think the Government will be able to do something good and something reasonable for our people.

One Member, Mr. Speaker, did speak about people who pay, particularly the people who are employed and who pay their tax and they are given stamps. This, Mr. Speaker, has become a problem. I think what the Government here should do, I think that the idea of people paying is all right, but what the Government should do is to print very small receipts, very, very small, and much smaller than the one on your driving licence which you get every year and when the person pays, a copy is left somewhere so that if a person loses and this should be stuck on the card, now if for some reason it gets lost, this man can always refer and maybe if the Government wants to recover some of the money, you can say that if you lose your stamps you can pay two shillings in order to get a copy, but for the Government to say that if you lose your stamps, then you have lost all the money, I think this is being very unfair because sometimes you may not even be the one to blame for the loss of these stamps.

Mr. Speaker, we have in this country one thing which the Government is not realizing, the Government is always all the time reminding the people to work hard, the people in the towns are going on strike like now the Railway Workers Union I hear are threatening to go on strike and if you look back ten years, you will find, Mr. Speaker, that the farmer at home used to get as much money for his bag of maize as he gets today, while the person who is consuming this maize in town, if you look back ten years, that person's salary might have been trebled and with Independence here and the Europeans gone, you will find that the Africans have taken over the European salaries and their salaries have come up and up, but the person at home, and when I am talking about the person at home, even the Ministers must know. For example the hon. Minister, Member for Kitutu West, knows very well that maybe 99.9 per cent of his voters are the people I am talking about. He is in a place now where he can help them, and in the course of helping the people of Kitutu West he can help the people of Kenya. I hope that the Minister will see that in the Cabinet they must be able to take into account also what the farmers produce. You cannot tell the farmers to pay a little bit more tax all the time, and at the same time you do not increase the price because in this way you are ignoring a very important section of our community. This is the people who are working on the shamba. Now, Mr. Speaker, I am talking about this price in connexion with this Graduated Personal Tax. Mr. Speaker, you will see that when the farmer maybe went on strike a little bit, they did not want to plant any more maize, we are running all over the world looking for maize, setting up commissions, doing this and that, and if the [Mr. Anyien] farmer continues to go on strike we shall have to go everywhere, we have now gone to America to buy maize there.

[The Speaker (Mr. Slade) left the Chair]

[The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza) took the Chair]

We go to Canada and purchase maize, we go to Britain and purchase maize there, we go to Italy and buy it there, we go to China and buy maize there, and at last, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Kenya will look as if she cannot stand on her own feet. So, Mr. Deputy Speaker, my contention is that the Government must enable the farmers who form the majority of the taxpayers in this country, these farmers must be given enough money so that he does not have difficulty in paying his Graduated Personal Tax.

Now, Mr. Deputy Speaker, the Government is also assuming a little bit too much. The Government has introduced this Motion we are discussing today, it is the 1st February, but the Government says that this Bill should take effect from 1st January, a Bill like this, Mr. Deputy Speaker, should have been brought last year so that we could discuss it, then it will start to be effective from 1st January. Now when the Government says that this Bill should take effect from 1st January 1965 I think it is written, the Government is taking this House for granted. How does the Government know that the Members are not going to reject this Bill? Mr. Deputy Speaker, the Government is asking us to approve something, then they are going to penalize the people retrospectively. This is very dangerous if he votes know when you go to arrest them, they know that it is Anyien who passed this, and we are being arrested for the things which happen. A Member here is saying no kura. It is true to kura. You will never get any kura. Mr. Speaker, if there is anything, even if the police are very selfish, everybody wants kura. How can Members of Parliament pass this law to penalize the people like this? This, Mr. Speaker, kura means votes, for our people may not be able to understand what kura means, it means vote.

So, Mr. Speaker, I do not want to say too much because I see that very many Members would like to speak and I hope that the Members will try to think of the people in the countryside, let them not think of themselves. Even me, last year, Mr. Deputy Speaker, before I sit down, they gave me all the salary. I tell you, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I never paid the tax, but it is true, I got punished, but if it is difficult for me to pay, the demonstration I am giving, if it is difficult for me with my salary to go and pay, how much more difficult is it for a man in the countryside, now it is easy because they are taking it automatically, and if they are taking it automatically, let them also help the farmer at home to be taxed automatically without him having to pay.

With those few remarks, I think I should like to reserve my opinion about this Bill until the other Members have spoken.

Mr. Ngala: Mr. Deputy Speaker, I would like to say a few words on this Bill.

The first point that I would like to make is to remind the Government that when we originally thought of the graduated personal tax we fixed some stages according to the income of different people. The minimum being Sh. 48 per year. I think the time has come for the Government to review these stages, because the minimum of Sh. 48 has proved to be too high a level for most of the people in the country.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, on section 22 (4), the Minister has included the onus of proof for remission lies on the person who is to pay. I think that the Minister is aware that most of our people do not have access to the district commissioner, and even if they have access to the district commissioner to prove that they are unable to pay the minimum, they find it very difficult to prove in a logical manner, and explain properly, and for this reason I think that many people who are really very poor find it rather difficult to go to the district commissioner and prove and therefore I think there is a section of our population which should be automatically ruled out of payment of this tax by knowing the conditions under which they live, the poverty under which they live. I think the Minister should as the Colonial Government used to do, at one stage, rule that certain income grades should never pay what they called kodi. Therefore, I would like to suggest to the Minister that we have an extra segment in this tax payment which is the segment of people who are completely unable to pay to be automatically exempted by provision in this law, so that they do not have to pay. That is the very poor people who have to get exemptions, but because they do not have access to the district commissioner, or they are not in a position to explain their case clearly, I think they warrant automatic excuse from the Ministry.

After getting these people ruled out of payment, I believe it will not be a very big section to affect the actual revenue. I believe it will be a section who will very much appreciate the Government's kind or goodness in excusing them in the understanding of their poverty.

[The Attorney-General] and probably pays £500. He writes a cheque, and then he goes to another duka, writes another cheque, and the next thing he does is to board a plane that very night, and when those cheques are presented the following day, they bounce. So Sir, that is what these people do, and when I see cases like that, I just refuse to have these people brought back, because it is the fault of the business community. They should check first before they give credit, to see that the person is credit worthy.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, with those few remarks, I beg to move.

(Question put and agreed to)

(The Bill was read a Second Time)

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Committee stage?

The Attorney-General (Mr. Njonjo): Now, Sir.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, not now, I am afraid, because it is not on the Order Paper. I did deal with this point with a Communication from the Chair only a few days ago. We can have two stages of a Bill, in spite of Standing Orders, with the leave of the House, but only if they are on the Order Paper, so that hon. Members have notice beforehand that they will be asked for the leave of the House, and that the matter may come forward.

(The Bill was committed to a Committee of the whole House tomorrow)

BILL

Second Reading

THE GRADUATED PERSONAL TAX BILL

(Minister for Finance of 27th January 1966)

(Resumption of Debate interrupted on 27th January 1966)

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am sure that many Members who have aired their views on this particular Bill have put forward some ideas as to what difficulties the people in the countryside will face if this Bill is passed.

Now, Sir, may be because this Bill was discussed last week, some of the things which were said, may have to be repeated, so that the Minister is reminded, and also the other Members who may want to speak later, may be reminded of what other hon. Members have said with regard to this Bill.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, this Bill says that the people who are employed and receive salaries of, say, Sh. 6,000, per month, Members of Parliament, Ministers and others are allowed to pay their Personal Tax over a period of one year, twelve months, and you will find that the poor people, the ones who have no employment, who may be relying on their crops which sometimes fail them, will be required to pay their Personal Tax in June. This Sir, I think, is very unfair. I think it should be the other way round. If the Government must have money quickly, then it is those who are employed who should be made to pay earlier, for example, after six months' time, but not those in the countryside who find it very difficult to get money.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have said all this before in this House, and I think I will continue to say it when the Ministry of Local Government introduces such a Bill. Mr. Speaker, Sir, as you very well know, the majority of the voters in the countryside are farmers, Kenya being an agricultural country. Very few of our people are employed, but, Sir, you will find that lots and lots of our money goes into the pockets of those who are employed. I contend, Sir, that the people in the countryside are taxed more than the people who are employed. I say so, Sir, because you find that a person working in Nairobi, say, earns Sh. 600 a month, will be requested to pay, say, Sh. 200 in tax, but the poor old man at home is taxed in very many more ways, because after having paid his normal Personal Tax, there is a cess on him, a cess on his crops, for example, Sir, he has to pay cess for his coffee, he has to pay a cess for his tea, if any, he has to pay a cess for his pyrethrum, again if he has any; he has to pay a cess for the maize he grows. In fact, Sir, he pays so many taxes, that by the time he has finished and the money remaining goes into his own pocket, if you add up what he has paid, he is worse off than the person who gets a salary in the city, and therefore, Sir, as such, it is very unfair to the people in the countryside. I am saying this, Mr. Speaker, Sir, because 99.9 per cent of my voters are country people; I am also a country person as I have a little shamba, but I find that this is very unfair to those people who cannot afford it, but not to a person like me because I can afford it, because I am given a better pay.

Sir, what I am proposing the Minister should do is that with this Sh. 60, or whatever they pay, must be made uniform. If we say that the people are going to pay Personal Tax, then we must see that it is only Personal Tax, and no more, for example, a man in Nairobi, when I was talking to him, said that he paid water rent, house rent, but how is it that a man at home has to pay if he does not have his own house? However, he refused to pay because it was his own house, and similarly if you want your own house in [Mr. Anyieni] Nairobi you can have your own house, and as such you are paying for the services, but these people in the countryside are being taxed too much, but you do not see the services. The roads are terrible. This and that are not available. The hospital is very far, and yet a person is paying so many taxes.

I think, Mr. Speaker, Sir, that the Government should be moving away from these direct taxes. I think, Sir, the Government may even collect more money, if they abolished indirect taxation and collected direct taxation. That, Sir, instead of paying a farmer Sh. 45 for a bag of maize, he should be paid Sh. 43, and Sh. 2 or Sh. 5 per bag should go to the Government. In that case, Sir, the farmer should not be asked to pay again, because there are a lot of difficulties with our people are now encountering. For those Members who went home will know that this is the time when the school fees are to be paid and yet this is also the time when the Government is asking for the people to pay tax. So Sir, you find a person saying, "Where do I get this money from, do I pay the school fees or the Government tax", and I think, Mr. Speaker, Sir, if this indirect taxation was introduced, and it has been introduced in very many countries, particularly in the socialist countries, you do not have so much direct taxation, and I do not think our people would object very strongly if we did have this indirect taxation. For example, Sir, if a Member of Parliament is supposed to be getting Sh. 2,000, then that money should be taken automatically and he should never be given that money at all. It should be taken and he should know what his salary is less the tax. So, Sir, if this is applied to the people who are employed, we would also like it to apply to the people who are working in the countryside.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, this will not excuse some people who do not want to pay tax, because if there are people who have some land and do not want to farm it, then the Government should make sure that these people farm it, because if he does not want to farm it then it should be given to someone like his brother who will farm it and then the Government can get some money from it. Mr. Speaker, Sir, you will find that some of my people at home are very poor and not rich, who pay even more tax than I do, because if a person grows maize, he probably has to pay Sh. 3 on a bag of maize, and may get, say, fifty bags of maize from his land. I think, Sir, that we should also be able to take into account the fact that some people in the towns do not pay any indirect taxes as the people in the countryside pay.

Now, Sir, there is the imprisonment which the Minister has spoken about. The Government must also be able to take into account that there are a lot of other things which decide this tax. For example, a person may be very poor, and that is because he has one or two acres of land and according to African Socialism, he might have married one or two wives, with the result that he has many children, may be fifteen or twenty he is struggling to send these children to school, and the Government comes, finds that he has only been able to send five children to school, they do not want to help him send any more children to school, even the Imperialist Government, if you had so many children, they used to exempt some of your children, if you had too many. But, Sir, these days you have to pay for each and every child. Mr. Speaker, Sir, you will find that the person who has struggled to send some of his children to school and is struggling to send the rest of the children to school, the Government will want him to pay Personal Tax, instead of him paying for any extra child to go to school. Therefore, in this case, what we are encouraging, Sir, is for less and less children to be educated, and these are the people who become a problem to the Government.

I think also this should be taken into account. You find, Mr. Speaker, a person who is very poor, is not even well clothed, you would say he is half naked, his shirt is torn everywhere. In the night he has got to go and drink gin in order to sleep, because he has no blanket and then the Government chases him, says you must pay tax, he walking barefooted. Now why do you not try and help this man first to clothe himself, then pay money. Now he pays this money, and who goes to use this money, Members of Parliament like myself, Permanent Secretaries, Ministers. Everything is taken away from this man and then people like me are paid to be able to buy a loan car, to be well clothed, I think, Mr. Speaker, we are the people who are the leaders of this country. We should agree that this is being unfair. Let us take into account the status of a person. If we find that a person is poor through his own laziness, let us also have a way of dealing with those who are lazy. Because we cannot have the Government allowing some people to eat without doing any work. Let us say that we can even plan it, Mr. Speaker, that if a person is in the countryside, and he has not worked as he is too lazy, the elder in the area who is in charge, can tell the chief that this man has not been working throughout this week, all he has been doing is drinking, so that this man can be forced to work because we cannot allow our people to

I would like, just on those two points, to commend the Bill to the House and congratulate the Government on bringing it.

Mr. Kamran: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I stand to congratulate the Attorney-General on choosing this very ripe moment to introduce this Bill, for the simple reason that now that we are fully independent, we would not feel very proud if we were to earn the contempt of all neighbours. At the same time, we would also like to see that the Kenya Government gives a fair deal to all political leaders who genuinely believe that, in coming to this country, they will be safeguarded by our own Government.

At the same time, we would not like to see criminal offenders thinking of Kenya as a place where it is very simple to hide. Therefore, we hope that the Attorney-General and the judiciary will be very careful in dealing with any type of fugitive who may be criminal offenders. As a matter of fact, we know it is very difficult to distinguish between a genuine politician when he comes to our country and a criminal politician. It is up to the Judicial Department, and especially the Attorney-General's Office, to keep our laws up to this standard whereby our neighbours and other territories will always appreciate the way we deal with political refugees.

With these few remarks, Mr. Speaker, I support the Bill.

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Speaker, Sir, while I do not oppose this Bill, I feel that I should make a few observations on the Attorney-General's remarks. Mr. Speaker, there are some countries, we already know, who treat political opposition as a crime, and unless that law is accepted in every country where political opposition is a crime, then it will be at the discretion of that country whether or not to send a letter to the Attorney-General or to the magistrates in Kenya, saying, "We want to take back our criminal because he has committed a crime in our country."

Mr. Speaker, we also know that when we have these extradition arrangements, and then somebody asks for his own criminal to be returned to him, and then the Kenya Government says, "No, this is not a crime in Kenya and therefore we are not going to return this man", there will be a lot of kidnapping in this country, and there will also be a lot of people going around looking for their criminals who have been harboured by this country. And, Mr. Speaker, I feel that the law can then be brought into line with every other law in the world, and not only with those in the Commonwealth because the Commonwealth has also laws which are not adopted in Kenya, then this Extradition Bill will be useless.

If we have this law brought into line with other countries of the world, then there are a few things which should result after certain countries refuse to accept our law. Here again, I wish to stress that if Kenya can extradite a criminal, then also all Kenya criminals in every other country of the world must be extradited, as should happen to every criminal of the other countries.

Mr. Speaker, I agree that a criminal who commits a small offence should not be concerned, but then this means that every criminal who is going to be hanged will be handed over and the Kenya Government should hand over other suitable criminals so that they can be hanged at that time. That is not very humanitarian. I do not think that it would be very sensible to hand over people for hanging all the time.

Mr. Speaker, I do not have very much to criticize here. I hope that some of these things will be looked into when this law is being passed.

I beg to support.

Mr. Makokha: Mr. Speaker, Sir, this Bill carries particular meaning for people on the borders, such as on the border with Uganda, because the offences listed here take place almost daily. I know of people, Sir, who are Kenya citizens, but who have committed these offences, and who are living only a few yards away from the district commissioner's office at Busia, but because they are in Uganda there is nothing that can be done easily to return these people to Kenya to answer these charges.

Mr. Speaker, the commonest offences I refer to are theft, particularly theft of stock and the theft of people's wives and children. Only the other day, Sir, a person came to me complaining that one of his wives had been stolen by somebody and that this person is living with his wife and children in Kampala. Now, although this person has tried to force the wife and the person in question back to Kenya so that he could face a charge, the Uganda Government has not been co-operative enough in getting this culprit back to Kenya.

So, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would appeal to the Attorney-General to contact his opposite number in Uganda in order to make it a little easier for people like these to be brought back to Kenya. Probably when the Attorney-General replies, I would like to know what a person like myself, or a Member representing an area or a constituency bordering Uganda could do if he knew offenders of this kind who are in Uganda, and what steps he should take to get these people back to Kenya in order to be brought to court.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, with these few words, I beg to support.

The Assistant Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Kibaki): Mr. Speaker, Sir, there is only one point. It has been emphasized by the Attorney-General that the political offenders will be treated as a special case. The point which I am emphasizing is that this has become a matter which is dividing African States and frustrating the objectives of the Organization for African Unity because the discretion allowed in this matter has been, in some cases, misused, where a particular offender has been known to commit crime or to conspire, as the Bill says, to commit crimes in a different country and he runs to another country and then he is not returned because the Minister in charge decides to define his offence as being political. Now I do believe that, particularly we here in East Africa and in Kenya, we want to promote the purposes of unity; we want to promote, in other words, the understanding between African States. I believe, therefore, that whereas political offenders should be treated as a special case, we should make sure that we do not use this particular provision in this Bill to frustrate the obvious wishes of a friendly African nation, so that with people who have been known to have been conspirators in some cases—although, we may not agree with the political régime in a different African country—it is our duty to make sure that these people are returned to face the laws of the country where they came from. This is wanted because we have seen too much abuse of this particular provision in one or two countries in Africa. In other words, what I am pleading for, Mr. Speaker, is that the definition of what is political crime shall be as strict, as narrow, as the Attorney-General lead us to believe in the case of Kenya. This is the only point which I particularly want to emphasize.

I also want to make the point that in the case of East Africa perhaps there ought to be an arrangement whereby the three countries—as is done in one or two countries in Europe—should not have to go through the long tedious procedure through the courts. I believe that the matter could be expedited so that any person who has run away from justice in Kenya, or Tanzania or Uganda could be quickly apprehended and returned without all these very tedious procedures of going through magistrates, and going to listen to cases of one sort or the other. Is it not the fact, Mr.

Speaker, that in East Africa at least there is sufficient understanding of what these crimes are between ourselves and that we are sufficiently close to each other that we should not have to go through all this very tedious procedure. Perhaps the Attorney-General might enlighten us on whether or not there is a legal way of simplifying these procedures as regards countries which are so close to each other, as with the East African countries.

With these few remarks, Mr. Speaker, I beg to support.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): If no hon. Member wishes to speak I will call on the Mover to reply.

The Attorney-General (Mr. Njonjo): Mr. Speaker, I am most grateful to the hon. Members for supporting this Bill which, as I did explain, is necessary because of the difficulties that we have had recently in getting our own people who have committed offences and run away from this country, and also in returning people from other neighbouring countries who have run away to escape being tried by their courts.

To answer the hon. Member for Nairobi, Mr. Mwai Kibaki, I would say that this discretion which is given to the Minister will be applied strictly and, as I did explain with regard to the case in Nigeria, we would not like to send somebody away purely because he is unpopular in his own country. But that would be a matter for the court to decide; it would be quite apparent when we receive a request from that country whether the offence he is alleged to have committed is political or whether it is a purely criminal case.

I think hon. Members should also realize that extradition is quite an expensive business and, for instance, I do not request extradition of people from other territories or from other countries unless I am satisfied that the case is serious because we have to pay for the air passage of these people. We have to send police officers to the United Kingdom; if, for instance, we are getting somebody from the United Kingdom, to go and identify that person, have him arrested by Scotland Yard, and escort him by plane from the United Kingdom to Nairobi. So hon. Members will realize that this is something that one has to look into very carefully and consider whether it is worth while bringing a particular individual from the United Kingdom.

Here, Sir, I would also like to warn the business community, because they are responsible for quite a number of people escaping from this country. The giving of credit is a very simple matter in this country. One has just to go into a duka in Nairobi and say that he wants such-and-such world. In fact it might be described as the standard international list of extraditable crimes.

The procedure is in accordance with international practice. The demand from the requisitioning country comes through diplomatic channels. It is open to Kenya to make any treaty it likes with any particular country, making any additions it seems fit varying the application of the Act in that particular case.

There are ample safeguards for the fugitive. Clause 7 provides that the Magistrate who hears the case must be satisfied, in the same way as he would have to be in trying an offence in Kenya, that the fugitive should go for trial on an extradition crime.

Clause 9 provides that the remedy of habeas corpus, which is in effect an appeal to the High Court, shall be available to the fugitive, and that he shall be told that he has this right of appeal, and that he shall be given sufficient time in which to exercise it.

Clause 10 provides that if the fugitive is not released or conveyed out of Kenya within two months after his commitment by the Kenya magistrate, he must be released. That is, the country which is asking for its criminal, who happens to be in Kenya, must get him out of Kenya within two months. If they do not do that, then the criminal or the suspected person will be released.

Clause 16 (1) provides that the magistrate shall not commit a fugitive for return if the offence is of a political character. That clause, and clause 5 (2), enables the Minister at any stage to discharge the fugitive on the grounds that the offence is of a political character. Clause 9 (2) gives the Minister an ultimate discretion, after all the court proceedings are over, to order the release of the fugitive.

Most hon. Members will remember the petitions which were presented to the Secretary for Home Affairs in the United Kingdom in the case of Enahoro, asking that he should be released and not be returned to Nigeria. The Home Secretary made a decision that Enahoro must be returned and this was done.

I think hon. Members must appreciate that the offences for which we in this country will return people to other countries must be crimes and not political offences; and that is why, in fact, earlier on I did refer to that case in Nigeria where if, for instance, we had had this Bill and he had been here, we would not have returned him.

I should emphasize, Mr. Speaker, that in cases of extradition experience has shown, in this country and elsewhere, that it is not satisfactory to leave the matter entirely to the courts, and that the Minister concerned must have an ultimate discretion to refuse to permit an extradition. It will be borne in mind that the discretion can only be used in favour of the fugitive, and that he can never be returned unless the courts have decided that he has been properly convicted of, or that he should stand trial for, one of the serious crimes listed in the Schedule. I would repeat that all these provisions are the same as those in quite a number of countries; and I did, as an example, say that this list can be found in either Ugandan or Tanzanian legislation.

The system of the Fugitive Offenders Act in the Commonwealth has undoubtedly broken down. If this Bill is passed, Kenya will have to consider the making of appropriate treaties with other members of the Commonwealth. As a temporary measure, clause 27 provides that the extradition provision of Part II of the Bill shall apply to those Commonwealth countries to which the Fugitive Offenders Act applied, until further arrangements are made.

Part III of the Bill, Mr. Speaker, provides for the simplified procedure to which I referred earlier, and that will exist between East African territories. The difference between the procedure and the ordinary extradition procedure is mainly that it is not necessary to come to Kenya with all the evidence to prove that a fugitive should stand trial. It is only necessary to produce a proper warrant for his arrest. Extradition between neighbouring territories under Part III is not confined to the serious offences listed in the Schedule but, on the other hand, the magistrate has a discretion, under clause 16 (3), to refuse to return a fugitive where the offence is of too trivial a character. The fugitive has the same safeguards as under Part II and the Minister has the same discretion. Part III does not apply to political offenders.

Part IV, Mr. Speaker, of the Bill contains provisions relating to evidence, the proof of the authenticity of warrants, escape, search warrants and other matters. All those provisions are in the existing law and are repeated in this Bill.

Part V makes the provision for the taking of evidence for criminal trials that are to take place in other countries, and merely repeats the existing law. Clause 26 contains a protection for fugitives which is provided by Uganda, Tanzania and other countries; as a matter of international practice it ensures that the fugitive shall be tried in Kenya for the offences for which he surrendered to Kenya and not for other offences.

Mr. Speaker, I hope I have made it clear that this Bill does not so much alter the basic law concerning extradition as bringing it up to date and make it workable. It harmonizes with the law of our East African neighbours, and the passing of it is a matter of considerable urgency.

Mr. Speaker, I beg to move.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Murgor) seconded.

(Question proposed)

Dr. De Souza: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to congratulate the Attorney-General on the very comprehensive and elegant way in which he has dealt with this Bill. I think the Government requires also to be lauded for bringing this Bill so quickly and expeditiously to the House. We are aware of this recent High Court decision which the Attorney-General spoke about, when a particular person in Kenya could not be extradited for allegedly giving bribes in Tanzania, because we were told that Tanganyika was not Tanzania. Therefore, it is right that we correct this law and bring the laws of Kenya in line with those of other independent States, rather than depend on laws which are, in fact, out of date in the new Kenya.

Sir, there are two particular points I would like to make, more in elaboration, if I may say so, of the points already made so well by the Attorney-General. The first is that with the great development of communications in this world, crime has become international, just as much as peace and morality, and it is very easy for a criminal to commit a crime in one country and run away to another in a matter of a few hours or perhaps even minutes. Unless the world co-operates in catching these criminals, we will never succeed in stamping out or even in reducing the crime rate in any particular country. Therefore, it is to our advantage, as much as to the advantage of other countries, that we arrest people who have committed criminal offences in any country—and I repeat the word "criminal"—and send them back to where they come from so that they can be charged and punished for the crimes they have committed.

To do this, of course, it must be mutual. If we are willing to arrest people who have committed crimes in other countries, the other countries must also assist us by arresting the people who have broken our laws and sending them back. Therefore, this law is, in fact, based on treaties which have mutual obligations between different countries.

The second point, Sir, is that this law does not affect political offenders. I think it is recognized throughout the world that there may be a system of government in a particular country which the people of that country, or we ourselves perhaps, may not agree with. It would be quite invidious for us to send back persons who have politically legitimately fought for or opposed a political regime in that country. I think it would be morally improper for us to send back political refugees who have opposed a regime peacefully or constitutionally or reasonably and then come here for sanctuary. I am glad to see that this Bill, in fact, has gone to very great lengths to ensure that persons who are refugees from a political point of view are not sent back to be punished by what could be a very authoritarian or dictatorial government.

We have, as the Attorney-General pointed out, seen the case of Chief Enahoro who was, for all purposes, a political refugee in England and who was sent back to his country against the wishes, I think, of a very large number of liberal-minded Englishmen and against the wishes of the conscience of a very large number of people in England, to a country which was already then losing a lot of ground, as far as the masses were concerned. We have seen what has happened in Nigeria since, because it was quite obvious that this was another attempt to suppress political opposition.

We ourselves, naturally, with regard to this kind of thing, do not want to be a party to seeing that any opposition in any country is suppressed. As I said, the Attorney-General has taken very great care to ensure that any person apprehended in this country will have, as it were, a double safeguard. Not only can the Attorney-General not send back a person, even if he wants to, because the courts have to certify or decide that the crime for which the person is being sent away is of a purely criminal character and has nothing to do with the politics of the country, but, secondly, even if the courts want to send a person back, because, for some reasons, they are not fully aware of the political implications of nuances of a particular case, the Attorney-General, or the Minister concerned, can, in his wisdom, decide that this is, in fact, a political case and can veto the courts' decision. So we have a double safeguard here, and I think this is a very good idea indeed.

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the question was on functions.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Next question.

Question No. 242

TRIBAL DANCING BY WEST POKOT

Mr. Lorema asked the Vice-President why the West Pokot people did not take part in the tribal dancing in Nairobi on Jamhuri Day.

The Assistant Minister, Vice-President's Office (Dr. Waiyaki): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. Much as it would have been desirable to have all districts represented by their traditional dancers at the Jamhuri Day celebrations, financial considerations made it impossible to do so.

Each province was represented by two or three teams chosen by the provincial commissioner for the province. The Rift Valley was represented by two teams, Kajiado and Kapsabet, and the display produced by all teams was entirely satisfactory in quality and variety.

Mr. Lorema: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Assistant Minister give an assurance that, in future, the Pokot people will be represented in this important celebration?

Dr. Waiyaki: I cannot give such an assurance, unless that district is being represented. It will depend on the number of people coming from the province.

NOTICE OF MOTION FOR THE ADJOURNMENT

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Before proceeding to the next Order, I would remind hon. Members that on the Adjournment today, Mr. Shikuku is to raise the matter noted on the Order Paper, and, although the Order Paper says 6.30 p.m., I would point out to hon. Members, particularly to Mr. Shikuku and the Minister concerned, that it may well be before 6.30 p.m. if we get through all the business before that time, and hon. Members have to be prepared for a Motion for the Adjournment at any time before 6.30 p.m.

BILL

Second Reading

THE EXTRADITION BILL

The Attorney-General (Mr. Njonjo): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move that The Extradition Bill be now read a Second Time.

The main object of this Bill, Extradition Bill 1965, is to replace the existing law, namely the Extradition Act, Chapter 76, the Fugitive Criminals Surrender Act, Chapter 77, and the Fugitive Offenders Act, 1881. Those laws are no longer in keeping with the independent status of Kenya, and they have begun to break down in their operation.

[The Attorney-General]

Until Kenya became a Republic on 12th December 1964, Kenya was part of Her Majesty's Dominions and took part in the extradition system which was common to all parts of those Dominions. Extradition treaties only operated between friendly foreign countries. The Fugitive Offenders Act operated between all parts of Her Majesty's Dominions. As members of the Commonwealth became Republics, in many cases they have decided to abandon participation in this extradition system peculiar to the Commonwealth. The Fugitive Offenders Act no longer operates in India or in Ghana for example.

This system has been kept in operation as between the East African territories by transitional amendments to the relevant laws, providing in effect that the Fugitive Offenders Act should continue to operate although the countries concerned had become Republics, and had ceased to be parts of Her Majesty's Dominions.

There are many other laws waiting to be brought up to date and into line with the Republican status of Kenya, but the amendment of the extradition laws has become a matter of great urgency. As I said a moment ago, the Fugitive Offenders Act with its amendments was still working to enable Uganda to claim its fugitive criminals from Kenya, and to enable Tanganyika together with Zanzibar to claim their fugitive criminals from Kenya. But following the Union of Tanganyika and Zanzibar to form the United Republic of Tanzania, the High Court of Kenya in a recent case decided that the Fugitive Offenders Act of Kenya did not apply as between Kenya and Tanzania. That difficulty could have been dealt with by an amendment to the existing law, but the Government thought it better to make a complete revision of the whole extradition law. This has recently been done both by Uganda and Tanzania, and it is surely incumbent upon Kenya to do the same.

In common with the policy of many other Commonwealth countries, we have in this Bill abolished the distinction between friendly foreign countries and Commonwealth countries. The important distinction between the two systems as they used to operate was not so much in the machinery they had. The important difference was that friendly foreign countries under extradition laws could not obtain the return of political offenders, whereas under the Fugitive Offenders Acts the political offender could be extradited in the same way as the ordinary criminal. Thus it was that Chief Enahoro, who was accused of treason in Nigeria, was extradited from Britain to Nigeria in 1963. If Chief Enahoro had been a political leader accused of treason in the neighbouring territory of Dahomey, his extradition would not have been possible.

It has been the international practice as between friendly foreign states for centuries that there should be no extradition of political offenders. A state does not have to give asylum to the political opponents of a friendly State, but it can be most invidious to be under a legal obligation to return that offender. No exception was made of political offenders under the Fugitive Offenders Acts for the simple reason that they were passed some eighty years ago when the British Empire regarded itself as one political entity. Most newly independent members of the Commonwealth have abolished this anachronism, and it is the considered view of the Government that its attitude towards the extradition of political offenders should be the same in the case of every friendly country and should accord with international practice.

Accordingly this Bill provides one system of extradition, to be arranged by treaty, with every friendly State. That is provided in Part II of the Bill.

The only other machinery that is required is a simplified machinery for the return of convicted criminals and accused persons between the neighbouring territories of East Africa. This simplified machinery was formerly provided for in the Fugitive Offenders Acts passed in the East African territories, and is now provided for in the laws of Uganda and Tanzania, and is provided for in Part III of this Bill. I shall refer again to this simplified procedure in detail.

After these general observations as to the intention of the Bill I now turn to its actual provisions.

Part II (clauses 3 to 10) deals with extradition as between Kenya and friendly foreign States. It provides for the return of persons convicted or accused of extradition crimes, that is to say the crimes listed in the Schedule to the Bill. It is not the international practice to provide for extradition in the case of less serious crimes. Although I regard the exceeding of the speed limit on the roads as a serious matter in Kenya, I would not advocate that a person convicted of such an offence 5,000 miles away should be extradited!

The list is exactly the same as that listed in the laws of Uganda and Tanzania, of the United Kingdom and of many other countries in the

[The Assistant Minister for Natural Resources and Tourism]

I must, however, say with regret that some of these illegal squatters have been misguided and, consequently, they have resisted taking up the employment offered. The Turbo afforestation project is of the greatest importance to the country, for it promises to bring forward the day when a paper and pulp mill will be established. The Government cannot, therefore, abandon it. The dissident, illegal squatters who have been led to refuse to accept employment, will be given more time to think and, if they completely fail to accept employment, the Government will consider removing them from this land.

In regard to the second part of the question, I would like to inform the hon. Member that sufficient money is now available to enable the scheme to start and some of the land to be purchased. The Government never intended to buy the land all at once, even if sufficient money were available. This is, basically, a ten-year scheme and there is no reason to suppose that money for it, including money for land purchase, will not be available as required.

Mr. Shikuku: Arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, Mr. Speaker, where he admits that there are illegal squatters on this land, will he not agree with me that it was due to the delay by his Ministry in putting this land into use, that these illegal squatters have managed to make use of the land? Would he, therefore, tell this House when the Ministry is going to start making use of this land?

Mr. Mohamed: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have said that the whole of this land could never be used for the afforestation scheme at the same time. Afforestation is a very lengthy programme, even a plantation of 5,000 acres would take a considerable time. Therefore, the land which is to be acquired has to be acquired in small bits. The illegal squatters have been left there, due to the fact that the afforestation scheme has only come up lately, because the afforestation scheme was agreed upon only last year and we have taken appropriate steps.

Mr. Muliro: Would the Assistant Minister not agree that this scheme is being established so slowly as a delaying tactic to establishing the paper and pulp factory at Braderick Falls?

Mr. Mohamed: Mr. Speaker, Sir, on the contrary, the afforestation scheme around that area, and particularly around the Turbo area, was agreed upon by the Government with the definite aim that this should draw more attraction for the pulp industry. I am very happy to say that this is already happening, since we announced that more plantings will be carried out in the Turbo area. This is definitely becoming an attractive proposal.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): We will now go back to Mr. Anyieni's question.

Mr. Anyieni: I am sorry about this, Mr. Speaker.

Question No. 149*REPEAL OF THE SPECIAL DISTRICTS ACT

Mr. Anyieni asked the Attorney-General when he intended to introduce an amendment repealing the Act on Closed and Specially Administered Districts, in order to allow people from different districts to mix freely.

The Speaker: Mr. Njonjo?

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi). Mr. Speaker, Sir, on behalf of the Minister of State in the Office of the President, I beg to reply.

Mr. Misoiiti-Itumbo: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, the question is sent to the Office of the Attorney-General and he is here, so why could he not give a reply instead of the Minister for Home Affairs?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! It is always quite in order for Government to decide who shall answer a question, even if it is addressed to some other Minister.

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply.

The Government does not intend, for the time being, to introduce amendments repealing these Acts.

The Special District (Administration) Act was originally enacted for the purpose of reducing the incidence of hostile activities between tribes who, because of their traditional ways of life, engaged themselves in constant tribal fights. Most of the fights originated from stock thefts by members of one tribe against those of another and have been known to cause many deaths.

The Special Districts (Administration) Act helps to control and restrict contact between hostile tribes of neighbouring areas, and helps to avert the possibility of many tribal clashes resulting from these movements.

The Act is applied, mainly, when there is need to tighten security measures, often before or after tribal clashes. Freedom of movement is not denied to persons who want to enter these districts for genuine purposes. It should also be borne in mind that the Act protects the tribes from unscrupulous exploitation and the tribes have themselves not complained.

[Mr. arap Moi]

The hon. Member is well aware, Mr. Speaker, that tribal clashes in the areas covered by the Act are not uncommon occurrences these days. The Government hopes that the residents of those closed areas will learn to live with their neighbours peacefully and that they will desist from the practice of stock-theft. It is only then, when the Government is reasonably assured of the security of these areas, that it would be possible to review the Special Districts (Administration) Act.

Mr. Gataguta: Mr. Speaker, Sir, this particular Act provides that a particular tribe cannot go into other people's districts, but let me give you an instance. For instance, in Kikuyu, the Kikuyus cannot go into the Masai District, the Masai are allowed to come into the Kikuyu District. Is this fair? Is this Act not completely discriminatory?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is not discriminatory at all.

The intention of the Act is to protect the lives of the people concerned, and the reason being, Sir, that the stock thefts in these areas have been going on for years. The Government assures you that, as soon as these things reach normality, it will not hesitate to repeal the Act.

Mr. ole Tipsi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, can the hon. Minister agree with me that, contrary to what the hon. Member for Kikuyu has said, the Kikuyu are there in thousands, in the Masai country, whereas there are none in his own constituency or in the Majogo-Bassi Constituency, for that matter?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Is there any reply?

Mr. arap Moi: I quite agree, substantially there are many Kikuyu in Masai.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think we will move on from this question.

Mr. Anyieni: On a point of order, but before I say that I would like to raise this matter on adjournment I would like to ask a supplementary question—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You were too slow, Mr. Anyieni.

NOTICE OF MOTION FOR THE ADJOURNMENT*UNSATISFACTORY REPLY TO QUESTION NO. 149: REPEAL OF THE SPECIAL DISTRICTS ACT

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! If you want to raise it on adjournment, that is all you need say.

Mr. Anyieni: Yes, Sir.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Is any hon. Member authorized to ask Mr. Obok's question.

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS*Question No. 232*DUTIES OF VICE-PRESIDENT AND HIS OFFICE

Mr. Odero-Sar, on behalf of Mr. Obok, asked the President now that the supervision of elections had been removed from the Vice-President, in accordance with the Cabinet changes announced by the President, what were the remaining duties and functions of the Vice-President and his Office.

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): Mr. Speaker, Sir, on behalf of the Minister of State in the President's Office, I beg to reply. The Vice-President and his Office have many duties and functions to perform. It appears from this question that the hon. Member has assumed that the removal of the supervision of elections from the Office of the Vice-President left that office without any functions! This is far from the truth, as the Vice-President's Office still remains with sufficient duties and functions to perform.

If the hon. Member reads the President's Circular No. 3 of 1965, he will find that the Office of the Vice-President has functions which include the National Assembly, Africanization and Training, Public Holidays, Archives, Reception of Visitors, National Fund, Ministers' and Assistant Ministers' Terms of Service and Housing. In allocating functions during the recent reshuffle, the President felt it more appropriate and right to transfer the supervision of elections to the Office of the Attorney-General.

Mr. Odero-Sar: Mr. Speaker, Sir, according to the reply from the Minister, does he agree with me that all he has mentioned just refers to the work which could be done by any section in his Ministry, but not by the Vice-President's Office?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I entirely disagree with the hon. Member.

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Speaker, Sir, does the Minister agree with me when I say that the Vice-President has the most important Ministry, that of the Minister without Portfolio which is given to a Minister who can be freelance to all Ministries?

Mr. arap Moi: Yes, there is some truth in that.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Minister agree with me when I say that the Vice-President is not the immediate assistant to the President, and advisor to the President?

[Mr. Ng'ũ-Ahok]

Members of Parliament were given priority whenever they wanted houses here, so that they were not all over the place and their security was guaranteed? Now will the Assistant Minister tell the House today whether the Government is not going to look after the Members of Parliament who legislate for the nation?

Dr. Wajyaki: Mr. Speaker, I am aware that the then Minister for Health did say he was going to form a committee for Members to be provided with houses by the city council and not, as the question puts it, by the Office of the Vice-President. I do not think that Members of Parliament think about very badly; I think they probably think about very well, and there does not seem to be any need to look after them and their security so much.

Mr. Kall: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Assistant Minister agree with me that most Members would not like to be kept in a dormitory?

Dr. Wajyaki: Mr. Speaker, as it so happens, as a matter of fact, there are many Members, Ministers, Assistant Ministers and some other Members who have houses of their own in Nairobi, so we are not talking about the total membership of Parliament, we are merely talking of a figure of around 100 or so and it is not possible to build a hotel for 100 people. In any case, I agree with the hon. Member, Mr. Kall—I would hate to be in a dormitory myself.

Mr. Ekitella: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, I think the reply is vague. My question is this. A man like Ekitella is from far away, I do not have my house here. I have to roam all over the place looking for a place to sleep. Is the Minister aware that Mr. Ekitella should get a place to sleep?

Dr. Wajyaki: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the problem of Mr. Ekitella is appreciated, but we are talking about building a hotel with Government money, which is a very expensive proposition, and I do not think we are going to build a hotel for one Ekitella or two Ekitellas.

—Question No. 193

CONTACT BETWEEN MEMBERS AND THE PRESIDENT

Mr. Godin asked the President whether he was satisfied that civil servants in his office were doing their best to keep him in touch with the Constituency. Members who represented various groups of people in Kenya who wished to see him on certain matters of interest.

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): Mr. Speaker, Sir, on behalf of the Minister of State, President's Office, I beg to reply. Yes, His Excellency the President is satisfied with the work the civil servants in his Office do in keeping him in touch with members of the National Assembly. The President has sufficient channels by which he can meet members of the National Assembly, both in Nairobi and in their home areas. Hon. Members know very well that the President has been making tours of various provinces and districts, in order to acquaint himself with what is going on in the countryside, and during these tours, he makes contacts and meets Members of the National Assembly and the public.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the President is satisfied that he has sufficient access to Members of the National Assembly and does not feel that civil servants in his Office have kept him out of touch with people who want to meet him for a reasonable purpose. However, Members should always bear in mind that His Excellency is of necessity a very busy man and if they fail to get an appointment when they want it, it is only because His Excellency's diary is full.

A Minister of State has been appointed in the President's Office who should relieve H.E. of a lot of routine matters. Members of Parliament will be able to see the Minister if they so wish.

The main problem is that Members insist that they will not be satisfied with any replies unless they come personally from the President.

Mr. Godin: Mr. Speaker, Sir, does the Minister for Home Affairs not consider it necessary for the Members of Parliament who wish to see the President face to face to do so, in order that it may be a reality not only to the Member himself but to his own people, that he meets the President and discusses with him problems of vital importance from his constituency, because, Mr. Speaker—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! You have asked your question.

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, it could be a reality from the Members' point of view, but it could not be reality to humanitarians or to people who know what it means for a man who is busy for almost the entire twenty-four hours. Since he has appointed a Minister in his Office, hon. Members should really appreciate that one. Occasionally Members, as a group within the Parliamentary Group, meet the President when they can also air their personal views, and so on. As I mentioned before, Mr. Speaker, the President from time to time, although he is very busy, visits

[Mr. arap Moi] various provinces and meets Members personally. So the hon. Member, Mr. Speaker, should appreciate that and be thankful.

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Minister aware that the visits of the President nowadays are only confined to some particular districts and get to all districts in the provinces, and therefore Members would like to see him individually without prevention of any kind?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, I said the hon. Member should be grateful. His Excellency the President visited his district a year ago, which could not be done by a former Colonial Governor, so the hon. Member should be grateful for the President's efforts in visiting the districts.

Mr. Anyleni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Assistant Minister tell us under what conditions a Member of Parliament will be allowed to see the President in accordance with the promise of the President, that the Members of Parliament will be given special cards, so that when they go to his Office they are recognized? Under what conditions are we going to use these cards if we have to go through his Minister of State?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, if the hon. Members wish to see the President for the sake of seeing him, then it is a different matter. But if hon. Members would like to see the President on specific matters concerning their own areas which could not be dealt with by the district commissioner or the provincial commissioner, His Excellency the President has provided a channel through which hon. Members can air their views; namely, in the office of the Minister of State in the President's Office. That is why the President has tried to meet hon. Members in that sphere. Also, Mr. Speaker, as I said before, all of us, not even the Ministers—I do not see him very often. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, problems which could be dealt with, should be dealt with in efficient ways and His Excellency the President has provided such means and such machinery.

Question No. 227

ELECTRICITY SUPPLIES TO MERU

Mr. Mafu asked the Minister for Works, Communications and Power when it was planned to supply Meru District with electricity from Kindaruma or Sagana, by linking the new Meru Power Station to either power station, so that electricity would be available throughout the district.

The Minister for Works, Communications and Power (Mr. Mwanjumba): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. There are no specific plans at present to connect the Meru supply to the main grid system from Kindaruma or Sagana. Such a connection would be extremely expensive and there is at present no anticipation of sufficient load demand in the Meru District to justify such a move. I would like to assure the hon. Member that Meru will have a sufficient electricity supply, whether it comes from the main grid system or whether it is locally generated.

Mr. Mafu: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Government aware of the great consumer potential in Meru—schools, hospitals, markets, light industries—and would the Minister, therefore, consider putting Meru on the map, so that the industries can be improved?

Mr. Mwanjumba: Mr. Speaker, Sir, Meru is already on the map in Kenya. Therefore, the hon. Member should not be worried, but if he is asking about the demand of electricity in Meru, I will tell him that the demand is very low, it is about 30 kW., and this does not justify what the hon. Member wants. What we want the Meru people to do is to increase this supply of electricity up to about 2,000 kW. If this is done, we will be able to consider his question.

Question No. 244

SQUATTERS ON BRODERICK FALLS AFForestation PROJECT

Mr. Shikuku asked the Minister for Natural Resources and Tourism whether he was aware:

(a) That the land set aside for afforestation in respect of the paper factory project at Broderick Falls was now infested with illegal squatters.

(b) Could he tell the House whether it was true that his Ministry had not yet found the money to purchase the land referred to in (a) above, which was over 50,000 acres, although the President had promised the people of Western Province a paper factory.

The Assistant Minister for Natural Resources and Tourism (Mr. Mohamed): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. My Ministry is aware that there are illegal squatters on the land set aside for afforestation in respect of the paper factory at Broderick Falls. Whilst these squatters could be evicted in accordance with the law, it has been thought best to employ them in the afforestation scheme and I am glad to announce that over 200 men, who were formerly illegal squatters, have accepted employment on forest resident workmen conditions.

adequate security precautions are taken before the meeting is held. The Government accepts the responsibility for ensuring safety of individuals at all times and will not allow public meetings to be held haphazardly.

I would like to add, Mr. Speaker, that only the Government can decide whether a meeting can be held, on the basis of facts regarding the security situation in the country, which the Member of Parliament does not have. They are, therefore, in a better position to assess the suitable situations for public meetings. If the Members of Parliament would care to keep close contact with the authorities in their areas, they will be kept informed of these facts and this will avoid unnecessary arguments and foster closer co-operation.

The Government does not intend to introduce any amendments to the Act, Mr. Speaker, because it is satisfied that Members of Parliament do get their permits to hold public meetings if they apply for them.

Mr. Odeero-Sar: Mr. Speaker, Sir, do I understand from the Minister that Members of Parliament are responsible to the district commissioners which permit these licences for public meetings?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Member repeat his question, please?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You must speak up. I think, Mr. Odeero-Sar, unless the amplification can be improved.

Mr. Odeero-Sar: Mr. Speaker, Sir, do we understand from the reply from the Minister; that the Members of Parliament are responsible to district commissioners? Or are the district commissioners responsible to the Members of Parliament?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I should like to answer that question, and make it quite clear that the district commissioners are responsible to the Government and not to individual Members. Secondly, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I, as a Minister, apply, like any other Member, for a licence. I am not entitled, as an individual or a Minister, to hold a political meeting without a licence, and therefore we must all accept this.

Mr. Maitani-Imbo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, when he said that he is not allowed to hold a political meeting without a licence, is he aware that this is a political Government and that whatever a politician speaks about is bound to be political?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, even if it is a political Government, it is an orderly Government, it is not a Government of disorder.

Mr. Muliro: Mr. Speaker, would the Minister not agree that the policy of issuing licences and denying Members of Parliament licences to address the meetings in their constituencies is an indirect way of trying to liquidate a number of Members because of lack of confidence in them on the part of their constituents?

Mr. arap Moi: No, Sir.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, arising from the Minister's previous replies and his reply of "No," is he aware that the issue of licences was instituted by the imperialist Government and that was because they were afraid of us? Is this Government now, which is an African majority Government, also afraid of us?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Government of Kenya maintains law and order, and if it does we must maintain that order to allow our people to live in peace. If the hon. Member suggests that every Tom, Dick and Harry should hold a public meeting anywhere free—

Mr. Gichoya: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, is it in order for the Minister for Home Affairs to call Members of Parliament "any Tom, Dick and Harry"?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I cannot hear.

Mr. Gichoya: My question, Sir, is; is it in order for the Minister to call Members of Parliament "any Tom, Dick and Harry" when the question he is answering is related to Members of Parliament?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I still cannot hear. Oh, I have the point. The Minister said that they could not allow every Tom, Dick and Harry to have meetings; and the point raised by the hon. Member is that he is implicitly referring to hon. Members as Tom, Dick and Harry, because the question referred to hon. Members. No, I do not think so. He is being irrelevant if he is referring to people other than Members, but that is what he was doing, I think.

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Minister tell the House whether, whenever a Minister wishes to convey progressive ideas to the public, he has to get a licence? And if this is not so, if a Member of Parliament, who is not a Minister, wishes also to convey the same ideas which are only for progress, not for subversion, has he to get a licence?

PUBLIC MEETINGS BY M.P.S

Mr. Odeero-Sar: Mr. Speaker, on a point of order, I would like to raise this on adjournment.

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Question No. 180

HOTEL ACCOMMODATION FOR MEMBERS: PURCHASE OF LAND

Mr. Ngala-Abok asked the Vice-President if he would tell the House if his Ministry could purchase the land lying on the western side of Parliament Buildings, to build for Members hotel and lodging facilities at a cheap cost, to be used for accommodating some Members during sessions.

The Assistant Minister, Vice-President's Office (Dr. Waiyaki): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply: In the first place, and quite apart from the question of where the finance necessary for establishing and operating such an enterprise is to be found, it must be made clear that a business such as a hotel must always be run as an economic proposition. A hotel or lodging for Members only would, of necessity, depend heavily on large Government subsidies, which cannot be justified in present circumstances.

In the second place, land lying to the west of Parliament Buildings is being converted into a park by the Nairobi City Council so it is not available. Aesthetic considerations, among other things, rule out the question of a hotel in that area.

Catering facilities already exist in Parliament Buildings which compare favourably with the best in the country. As for accommodation, a wide range of hotels exists in and around Nairobi to suit both the taste and the pocket of any Member. We must avoid the urge to create privileges and facilities, paid for by the ordinary people of this country, whenever such privileges are not really necessary.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Assistant Minister aware that when we came here in 1963, we raised this problem of Members not having accommodation and also being faced with the necessity of paying so much for better hotels where they can think aloud as Members of Parliament; we were told by the then Minister for Health, I think, the hon. Dr. Mungai, that he was forming a committee with the city council to see

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, it depends on where these good ideas stem from! I suppose that when the Government policy is there and when we all of us go to the country, Ministers and Members of Parliament, we speak to the people on our own policy, so no one is denied a licence if he goes to the district commissioner. It is not difficult to go to the district commissioner and get a licence to hold a meeting.

Mr. Omolo-Agar: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Minister tell us whether a Member of Parliament, elected by a constituency for a period of five years, should need to collect a licence to explain the Government policy to his constituency? Or would he consider seriously lifting this regulation for a certain period to give Members freedom to convene meetings at any time without a licence, so that we can explain Government policies, since we have confidence in this Government?

Mr. arap Moi: Well, I did say, Mr. Speaker, no, Sir.

Mr. ole Tipis: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Minister aware that the main culprits are the Ministers themselves and that we know of cases where Ministers have held public rallies which have been unlicensed and that they have the money to get away with it scot-free? Should not the law apply equally to both Ministers and Members of Parliament without discrimination?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I made it quite clear that Ministers and Members of Parliament, when they hold political meetings, not Government barazas, political meetings, all are obliged to apply for a licence to hold a public meeting.

Mr. Makokha: Mr. Speaker, I have two questions—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You will only have time for one, I am afraid.

Mr. Makokha: Mr. Speaker, since the Minister says that sometimes Ministers address what he called "political" meetings, and sometimes barazas, could he give the House an example of what he means by a political meeting and an ordinary baraza?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, I think that is another question. But if the hon. Member would like to know what a political meeting is and what is a Government baraza is, if he wants a good example, I would say that at political meetings people tend to express their own individual views and when they hold Government barazas, that is where Ministers and Members of Parliament speak precisely on Sessional Paper No. 10, Government policy as such.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Next question.

[Mr. Mutiso]

well understood that in the year 1964 these two classes did their Kenya Preliminary Examination together. In 1965, it was only Standard VII alone, and this is why the number dropped, and it is quite a simple thing.

Mr. Godia: Mr. Speaker, Sir, could the Assistant Minister tell the House how many of the 4,914 candidates from that area will go to secondary school?

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I want to know from the Assistant Minister his estimation of how many of these 4,914 candidates from Meru will find places in a secondary school.

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, this depends entirely on the places to which the pupils applied for admission. It is difficult for me to say at this moment how many will find places in secondary schools.

Mr. Mboogoh: Mr. Speaker, Sir, can the Assistant Minister tell this House exactly how many places in the secondary school classes in Meru do we have for the 4,914 students?

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, Sir, if I may explain this; the number of Kenya Preliminary Examination candidates in all districts of the Eastern Province—especially in Meru District—will get newly added Forms I and which will open in Chuka, as I said in my earlier reply. Since four streams have been opened in Meru in 1964 and greater need had arisen in other districts of the province in 1965, therefore it is not possible at this time to say how many of them will get places in a secondary school until the results are out and we know how we shall place them.

Mr. Mate: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Assistant Minister says there is an additional Form I at Chuka. Is the Assistant Minister aware that Ikubu Secondary School has been refused a grant by the same Ministry, which means that there is no progress in Meru?

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, Sir, this may be a different question which the hon. Member is trying to raise. All that I said is that Meru is getting a second stream in Chuka, and the question of the school which he says has been refused a grant does not arise.

Question No. 176

LOW SALARIES FOR CHIEFS

Mr. Bala asked the President—

(a) Why did the Government pay very low salaries to chiefs who were appointed in 1964?

(b) Was the Government going to discharge some chiefs and sub-chiefs as announced in 1964?

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): Mr. Speaker, Sir, on behalf of the Minister for State, President's Office, I beg to reply.

(a) The Government has given adequate replies to similar questions previously, but I would like to say that provincial commissioners and district commissioners are looking into all cases where chiefs are receiving salaries not commensurate with the responsibilities they are having to shoulder. When such cases are brought up, they are rectified. It must be borne in mind, however, that in view of the diverse responsibilities of chiefs in various areas of the country, and the fact that individual qualifications differ, it is neither fair nor possible to give equal minimum salary.

(b) The Government believes that it will be wrong to cause indiscriminate dismissals. However, where it is established that a chief is unpopular and conservative or has thereby failed to carry out the responsibilities of his office, consideration will be given to his retirement in public interest.

Mr. Bala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, would he reply to the second part of my question?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, I think that if the hon. Member was paying attention to what I was saying—I said that the Government believes it would be wrong to cause indiscriminate dismissals.

Mr. Bala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, would he agree with me that if the Government has advertised the salary scales of these posts some people would not have resigned from their previous posts where they were getting more money, in order to join chieftainship?

Mr. arap Moi: I think that what is important is to serve the country, and not money.

Mr. Ngala-Aboki: Mr. Speaker, Sir, since everybody else serves the country, including Ministers, and their salaries are so exorbitant—Any way, I do not want to comment on this.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the question is this. Will the Minister tell the House whether the provincial commissioners and district commissioners have had a circular to the effect that they should look into these cases and report to the Government, or through what machinery are these administrative officers making their enquiries, and when will Parliament get a report?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, when the hon. Member referred to the Ministers, when they receive salaries, they pay income tax and so—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I should not worry about that, it was quite off the point, Mr. arap Moi.

Mr. arap Moi: Normally, the President's Office has channels through which information of every individual chief is obtained, it is through provincial commissioners and district commissioners and therefore every case is dealt with according to its own merit.

Mr. Kiprotich: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I should like to know from the Minister if the Government is going to pay the chiefs very low salaries, if so, is it not going to lead to the chiefs receiving bribes from the people?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the chiefs receive salaries according to the responsibilities they are carrying. I know the Ministry has not received any letter of complaint suggesting that the chiefs are dissatisfied with the salaries they receive.

Secondly, if any chief or sub-chief is found to be receiving bribes he will be dealt with accordingly.

Mr. Omar: Arising from the original reply by the Minister, does he agree with me that in the Coast Province there are some chiefs whose educational qualification is higher than some of the up-country chiefs here, and yet those chiefs in the Coast Province receive less pay than their up-country counterparts do?

Mr. arap Moi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not agree with the hon. Member, because the Government looks into the responsibilities of every chief. If a chief is responsible for 2,000 people or taxpayers, then he should not be compared with a chief who is responsible for 90,000 people. But, nevertheless, the Government also considers the geographical factors, the difficulties that face a chief, and therefore the Government does not discriminate in any way.

Mr. Ngala: Arising from one of the replies of the Minister, would the Minister state what factors are considered in determining these low salaries of the chiefs, what specific factors are considered?

Mr. arap Moi: I think, Mr. Speaker, Sir, that I did mention that when a chief applies for a post, there are certain qualifications he has to have which the hon. Members in the House know about.

If a candidate thought that he was going to resign from a post which he previously held and wanted to be a chief, and if he was, possibly, a graduate from Makerere or from one of our secondary schools or from some of the intermediate schools, or for that matter from Bombay, then the Government, if the person has the qualifications which are required, will consider him in the light of those qualifications. Therefore, if the chief is capable of administering a location, in the probationary period of six months; if he proves to be efficient and capable of helping these people in the way that we want, then his salary will be adjusted accordingly.

Mr. Ngala: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I rise to seek your guidance. When I asked for the specific qualifications to be stated by the Minister, does the Minister have any right to beat about the bush and avoid my question?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Ngala, you know by now that the Minister is entirely in order, however much you are dissatisfied, and you should not raise that as a point of order.

PUBLIC MEETINGS WITHOUT PERMITS FOR M.P.S

Mr. Odera-Sar asked the Minister for Defence if he could tell the House when the Government was considering allowing the Members of Parliament to convene public meetings in their own constituencies without permits being issued to them by the respective district commissioners.

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply on behalf of my friend the Minister for State, President's Office, No, Sir. A licence to hold a public meeting is issued if the Government is satisfied that such a meeting is not likely to prejudice the maintenance of public order or to be used for any unlawful or immoral purpose. These conditions are clearly intended to protect the public peace and the individual by ensuring that

The Assistant Minister for Natural Resources and Tourism (Mr. Mohamed): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to give notice of the following Motion:—

THAT this House approves that the Government guarantee a loan of £1,350,000 with interest thereon at the rate of 7 per cent per annum and repayable in ten equated annual instalments from 30th June 1966 to 30th June 1975, which has been raised with effect from 1st July 1965 by the Mombasa Pipeline Board from a consortium of banks in Kenya in renewal of a loan for the same amount which matured on 30th June 1965.

DEVELOPMENT PRIORITY FOR COAST PROVINCE

Mr. Turu: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to give notice of the following Motion:—

THAT in view of the fact that the Coast Province is regarded as one of the backward areas in the country for development purposes, this House urges the Government to accord priorities under the Development Plan in order to enable the said province to catch up with the other parts of Kenya.

BREAK-OFF OF DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH ETHIOPIA

Mr. E. D. Godama: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to give notice of the following Motion:—

THAT in view of the deteriorating security position in Marsabit District whereby about ninety people were killed between 22nd October 1965 to 27th November 1965 by the Shifita from Ethiopia and Somalia who escaped with about 30,000 head of cattle, 10,000 sheep and goats and 3,000 camels, this House calls upon the President:—

(1) To advise the Government to take appropriate measures.

- (2) To break diplomatic relationship with Ethiopia, in view of the fact that most of the armed raiders come from Ethiopia.
- (3) To give urgent famine relief to all people concerned who lost their livestock in Marsabit District.
- (4) To arm all people over 35 years of age for self-defence against Ethiopia and Somali Shifita, since Government could not defend them.

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Question No. 157

ASSISTANCE TO 1965 K.P.E. CANDIDATES.

Mr. Godia asked the Minister for Education in view of the recent strike by teachers which had wasted a lot of the time of pupils hoping to complete their lessons before attempting to sit their Kenya Preliminary Examination, what assistance had the Ministry of Education offered the pupils to enable them to cover the work which had been held up by the then teachers' strike.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. By the time teachers went on strike, the K.P.E. syllabus had already been fully covered. Further, the strike lasted only three days, which would not have made a lot of material difference.

Mr. Khasakhala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, could the Assistant Minister tell the House the month in which his Ministry considered that the syllabus of the Kenya Preliminary Examination is supposed to be covered and when the strike took place?

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the strike took place between 11th October and 14th October 1965, and by that time the pupils were only doing revision of the work which they had already covered for the whole year.

Mr. Ochwada: Mr. Speaker, Sir, does the Ministry not consider revision of the subjects, prior to the sitting for the examinations, as important as covering the syllabus?

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is important. Also, during the time of the strike, the students were allowed to study by themselves in their classrooms, and this is why we regard this as equally important.

Mr. Mate: Mr. Speaker, Sir, what is the Government doing to make sure that there is no repetition of such unofficial strike, so that we shall not have such a thing repeated? Are they going to get better conditions and pay?

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Government is doing everything possible within its power to try to stop teachers going on strike; but if the Teachers' Union decides to go on strike, the Ministry cannot stop them from doing so.

Mr. Godia: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising out of the Assistant Minister's reply, could he tell the House how he has come to the conclusion that the syllabus for Standard VIII pupils had been covered by the time the strike was launched?

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I thought I had answered that question when I said that the period when the teachers went on strike was during the month of October, and this was the time when pupils were doing revision of the work preparing themselves to sit for the Kenya Preliminary Examination. Therefore, it follows that all the syllabus had already been covered.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, does the Assistant Minister not merely assume that the syllabus had been covered? Does he not merely assume? What has he done to check, to make sure that it has taken place?

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, Sir, this is entirely responsibility which does not fall within my Ministry. If by the time that the teachers went on strike it is assumed—as I said earlier—that all the relevant subjects which the pupils ought to have been taught were fully covered because it was only at the end of the term and, therefore, there was nothing which was new to the pupils, it was for them to go through the work which they had already covered for the whole year.

Question No. 166

GRADUATED PERSONAL TAX DEDUCTIONS BY A TRADE UNION

Mr. Gichoya asked the Minister for Local Government how much money had been deducted from the employees in the Kenya Distributive and Commercial Workers' Union on account of Graduated Personal Tax for the years 1964 and 1965, respectively.

(a) Why had that money not been sent to the City Treasury, and where was it sent.

(b) Who were the union officials involved in (a) above, their names and titles.

(c) What was the position of the workers whose Graduated Personal Tax had been deducted from their wages, but which had not yet been sent to the City Treasury, since they could not get employment without producing their current Graduated Personal Tax receipts.

The Minister for Local Government (Mr. Sagui): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. The case in question is currently the subject of legal action initiated by Nairobi City Council and, as such, I think we must consider the matter as sub judice and await the legal findings.

With regard to the affected employees who may find themselves without a Graduated Personal Tax Clearance Certificate, the City Council is willing, if approached, to write to prospective employers stating that they have no objection to the people concerned being employed without producing previous tax documents.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in respect of—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You will keep to matters which are not sub judice, will you not?

Mr. Gichoya: Indeed, Mr. Speaker.

I would like to know from the Minister whether by merely mentioning the titles of the people involved and their names does actually interfere with the legal proceedings.

Mr. Sagui: That is exactly what I meant by sub judice. If I mentioned their names, I would prejudice the case.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes.

Next question.

Question No. 172

ADDITIONAL FORM I CLASSES FOR MERU

Mr. Mate asked the Minister for Education how many pupils took the Kenya Preliminary Examination in Meru in 1965 as compared with 1964; and what provision had the Government made to provide secondary school facilities and Form I places for the increased number of qualifying pupils in that area in 1966.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. In 1964, when Standard VII and Standard VIII took K.P.E. together, there were 5,234 candidates in Meru District, and in 1965, there were 4,914 candidates.

Even though the figure for 1965 is smaller than the figure for 1964 by 320 candidates, one additional stream is planned to open at Chuka Secondary School this year.

Mr. Mate: Mr. Speaker, Sir, could the Minister tell the House why the number fell from 5,000 to 4,000?

Mr. Mutiso: Well, Mr. Speaker, I am at a loss, I do not know how I should answer my hon. friend because this number depends upon the pupils in the classes of Standard VII and VIII and it is [Mr. Warihi] there and what Members are saying is from their own experience with these youths. When these people meet difficulties, they come to tell us and we know that, to start with, even as regards promotion in the National Youth Service, it is not those normally who have done well or with good records who are promoted; there is an element of favouritism. I have one of my own National Youth Servicemen who was a corporal and because he was at loggerheads with the Commandant he could not get promotion.

Now the point here, Sir, is that allegations have been made that there are irregularities in the National Youth Service, and it is no use denying this. The only way this can be put right is to accept this Motion and have this commission to go into all the allegations which have been made. I believe very strongly that with national institutions like the National Youth Service which have been set up and which have a very good name—National Youth Service, for the whole nation—all their facilities which accrue should spread over the country. If you start making such national institutions places where certain persons, because of their posts, their personalities or their power, make use of the National Youth Service for their own benefit, this is sowing the seeds of confusion, of sectionalism and of tribalism in this Government.

I would say that the Assistant Minister has said one thing, that they recruit people who cannot undergo any training. This is not our fault. The National Youth Service was open to all those young people who, when the service was started, had helped in the struggle for Independence. When they went there, they were told they could not undergo training. What training do they instead undergo? We know for certain—some write to us—that after one year's service in the National Youth Service they have not done anything at all except clear the bush. As regards the training itself, I do not know where the machinery failed, but when we passed this Bill in this House, these youths were to be trained to become employable. I think that was the term which was used. But how is it that a young man can stay for a whole year and not get any training except in clearing the bush or making roads? Cannot he be taught perhaps how to become a shoemaker or a carpenter, even if he cannot read or write?

So, Sir, I think a very big revision is needed of the entire policy and machinery of the National Youth Service. If it has failed, then let us be told and we can disband it. Some young men have left the National Youth Service, they have gone into the countryside and are complaining. I have just seen a letter from my hon. friend here, which says that this youth has wasted one year and there is no way of repaying that year. He has not been paid any salary or gained anything. Why waste one whole year of a person's life for nothing? I think the Government will be failing very badly if they do not take these things as important.

The last point, Mr. Speaker, is that we have been told that they only recommend; and this word "recommend" is where the element of tribalism creeps in. Whoever recommends may suppress other tribes, and favour a particular tribe.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It is now time for the Mover to reply.

Mr. Khalif: Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker. I will make it as short as possible.

An Hon. Member: Just say you beg to move.

Mr. Khalif: In the first place, the fact that there have been irregularities in the National Youth Service is indicated by the many Members of Parliament who have spoken here, and those others who have sympathized with them but have not had a chance to speak. Taking the list of tribes whose National Youth Servicemen have been absorbed into permanent employment, Sir, I see that there are more than forty tribes in Kenya and only eleven have been mentioned, and even in those eleven there are two who had only one National Youth Serviceman absorbed into permanent employment.

Sir, out of those left, I can only think of so many, although there are many others, but I can think of the Tesos. Why have they not been absorbed? The Somalis, the Giriama, the Gikuya (?), the Turkana, the Tugen and so on. Why were they not absorbed?

Sir, the hon. Mr. Shikuku has very ably said that there are some permanent secretaries, various officials of the areas, who advise the National Youth Service officers to absorb the Servicemen into permanent posts.

Sir, if the criterion for absorbing any National Youth Service men into permanent posts is that a Permanent Secretary should recommend them, then the essence of the National Youth Service is lost.

Sir, I would like to say something in respect of what the hon. Mr. Kariuki said. He said, for example, that the National Youth Service men of all tribes are selected for permanent jobs. Yet

[Mr. Khalif] when I challenged him to substantiate that, it happened, as a matter of Standing Orders that he could not be challenged. As a matter of fact, Sir, what he said is untrue. The fact that the Assistant Minister has only mentioned eleven tribes out of more than forty tribes in Kenya, indicates that all tribes are not selected to permanent jobs in the National Youth Service.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! Mr. Khalif, we must be quite correct on this. What Mr. Kariuki said was that, as far as he was concerned, all tribes were sent forward for consideration. That is rather different from saying all tribes were selected. You must get that absolutely right.

Mr. Khalif: Sir, I know Sir, and I know that election goes along with recommendation; and, so far as most of the officers in the national service need recommendation, that speaks for itself.

Moreover, Sir, the hon. Mr. Kariuki said that so many National Youth Service men have deserted as a result of some specific situation. This is nonsense obviously. If it is a question of deserters, then we can have deserters from any constituency. Unless people from his own constituency have been assured that they will be considered, then they will not desert because they know they will be absorbed into permanent posts.

Sir, if the criterion for absorbing National Youth Service men into permanent places, as against deserters is ability, may we be told how many deserters he has had from Kiambu? I ask this because we cannot have one side of an argument only. We must see the other side of it as well.

I am going to shorten my reply to the Motion and will ask hon. Members to be sympathetic with this Motion and pass it because every one of them is concerned. It does not only affect Khalif it is not only Khalif who has men in the National Youth Service. This Motion affects every one of us, and those of us who are going to cheat ourselves here, that they do not get complaints from their National Youth Servicemen, then they will have to face the consequences. As the hon. Member who is responsible for the Teso area said, I am going to warn the Government that the tendency of trying to select people from certain tribes, particularly the people from the Kiambu area, will be disastrous.

With these few words, Sir, I beg to move.

(Question put and agreed to)

ADJOURNMENT

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It is now time for the interruption of business. The House is adjourned until next Tuesday, 1st February, at 2.30 p.m.

The House rose at twenty-seven minutes past Twelve o'clock.

[The Assistant Minister for Labour]

know that if they break their training period, and go out before the end of those two years, then they will not be able to find the type of jobs they want. I would like the hon. Members to help the National Youth Service by giving these people the most constructive advice. For instance, if every time they come to us and make allegations; for example, an allegation has been made here that one day somebody went to a National Youth Service camp and just collected all the boys from Gatundu, but the gentleman who made that allegation did not tell us where and when that happened. Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is easy to make allegations, but it is sometimes very difficult for us to tell these young men the truth. I think that if we face them squarely and honestly and tell them, "Now, look, if you think you are being discriminated against, let me take you over to the National Youth Service headquarters and meet the youth leader and then you can discuss the matter with him." How many hon. Members have done this, Sir?

Mr. Speaker, Sir, sometimes our young men in the National Youth Service become slightly aggrieved and they, being politicians, think that if they take this matter to their Member, then some of the mistake they made will be corrected at once. But, Sir, the moment we open the National Youth Service to that kind of invasion, we will be demoralizing these people. We will be breaking the discipline of the National Youth Service. Sir, rather than listen to every single complaint, please go over to the National Youth Service and check the facts for yourselves. I think, Sir, these figures show that there is no discrimination, then why on earth should the National Youth Service discriminate against a member of this country, a citizen of this country? Mr. Speaker, Sir, the fact that a Somali is not represented here can be taken as discrimination, but on the other hand, the fact that among them, in the National Youth Service, there may be no man who is married who deserves employment, clearly shows that they need to stay there longer so that they can get the training, to get the merit and eventually get the jobs.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think the Members of this House can do the National Youth Service a lot of good, if they go over and check for themselves, and I would like to inform those in the Ministerial Committee, which is concerned with the work of my Ministry, that we are going to arrange visits so they are able to look at everything they like and see for themselves. We are also prepared to give them records of those people who are, and who have been, given employment so that they can satisfy themselves that when it comes to employing people in the Government we only hand over those people to the Public Service Commission and we stop there. When it comes to employing people in the private sector we only hand them over to the employers who are wanting to employ them, but we do not sit down and try to convince the employer that this Kikuyu is the man he should take. We do not do that. Gentlemen, we are not rascals, we are just gentlemen who are trying to run our Republic of Kenya, which is a democratic Republic.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to reject this Motion, because there is no substance in it.

Mr. arap Too: Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I stand to oppose the Assistant Minister who was speaking just now. The reason why I start with the Assistant Minister is because he says that his Ministry hands over those who are trained to the Public Service Commission, but, Sir, the whole thing originates from the type of training and the people who are given the training. Sir, I have some letters in my pocket, and there is one in particular which I will show to the leader of the National Youth Service, if he so wishes to see it. Sir, the only thing we want in this House is that we want the Ministry to understand, and to understand properly, that these youths are taken to be given some training; training as drivers, engineers or mechanics as he said, but, Sir, their selection is done by someone else whose heart does not want to consider those people who come from Turkana, Marakwet, Kuria and other parts of the country. Not only that, Sir, they go as far as asking the National Youth members what language they speak. If they can say, "aitirir" they will be taken. But, Sir, if they speak another language, they are told, "You are good at building bridges, clearing the bushes and making the roads and so on", but providing you can say, "aitirir", then he will be asked to be trained as a driver, because it is a very comfortable job, as you know he will be able to drive a very big Chevrolet which comes from America. This is what we do not want.

Now, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to say that we are blaming the Ministry because they have not gone into the allegations which have been made by these young men in the National Youth Service with regard to promotion, getting permanent jobs within the Government and the type of the training which they are given. For example, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I received a letter recently, from the district commissioner asking me to go and attend a meeting of the selection board, but I did not know who chose these people who are forming this committee. He gave me conditions and said that if I did not go on the specified day, then the people from my area may not be considered. As it happened, it was on Tuesday, 25th and I was here. Now, Sir, this is what we want the Government to do. We want the Government to pass this Motion without an amendment so that the blame will rest on the members who are on that board, because as the Assistant Minister says, that there is no member who has brought any complaints to him or to the leader of the National Youth Service, no one has taken one of the youths to them and told them that they must remain in the National Youth Service for two years, but, Sir, can you imagine my dear hon. Peter Areman taking a youth from Lodwa, driving into Nairobi, when we are in session, in order to lodge that complaint? Who is going to pay for all these expenses? So, Mr. Speaker, Sir, the only people who can take this National Youth Service to the Assistant Minister are the Members for Nairobi, because if they live in Nairobi, and perhaps the Ministers who are in Nairobi all the time, they can see what is going on or else give a "nudge" on the telephone and get things sorted out. They do it. But, Sir, if an ordinary Member does this, he is told, "Oh well, it is not our duty, but had better go and see the hon. Mr. Kariuki", and when we go to him, he turns round and says, "No, go to the Public Service," and we just do not know what is happening. What is this all about, Sir? We want something which is well organized if this Government wants to train our youths so that they can be useful in the future. This, Sir, is what I foresee.

Now, Sir, we have trained some of these people, especially those who come from Marakwet, who are now back at home. They tell me that those who are married, especially those who come from Kikuyu are given jobs because they are married. Now, Sir, why did the Government not tell us before that those people who are married must come forward for this work? That, Sir, we feel is another mistake which the Government is making, and I must make this clear, that this is what I foresee, as I have said, Sir, that in future these youths will remain back in our constituencies. Do you know what they will tell the people? They will say that the Members have never corrected the mistakes of this Ministry, and therefore, we must find our jobs any way that we can, even if it is to steal, we will steal, if it is to beat the Members, then we will beat them and also if we want to spoil the Government, we will do it.

Now, Sir, another person told me, "Well, I was taken to this National Youth Service, I have rendered my services, but I have been given a chit which says that this gentleman has been in our National Youth Service, he has been building bridges, he has been doing this and that", but, Sir, does this help us at all? Sir, even the farmers in this country cannot employ people who have been building roads. They cannot employ people who have been building bridges. This, Sir, is shameful, so I would like to advise, in my position as Assistant Whip, the Government not to amend this Motion because it will not—No one can force a Member whose position today is a very backward position because of this trouble from the National Youth Service to pass this Motion. We are going to pass this Motion as it is, and we want those Members who will be appointed to form this committee to do justice and do it well.

Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Warlithi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to say a few words on this Motion. I would like to start off by saying that I support this Motion very strongly and I believe that because of the allegations which have been made in this House by hon. Members it is just that the Government may refuse the Motion, but I am certain that all the Members will support it, and that it is going to be passed.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Warlithi, I must just warn you that you only have five minutes left actually.

Mr. Warlithi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, to start with, there has been a very strong allegation that the promotion or recruitment into permanent posts is primarily for the Kikuyu tribe, and as I am a Kikuyu myself, who is against tribalism, I would like to say, from my own knowledge, that if the number thirty-five is correct—there are thirty-five Kikuyu in the National Youth Service—then I feel that the Assistant Minister could go further and tell the House where these Kikuyu come from.

I know very well that I have a number of youths in the National Youth Service, and not a single one from my own constituency—I would go further and say in the whole of Nyeri District—is in permanent employment. For that matter, I would not like the House to have the impression that these thirty-five are all Kikuyu from the entire Kikuyu-speaking tribe.

I would like to go further and say that we Members in this House have youths in the National Youth Service, we put these youths in

[The Speaker]

But I would like to make it quite clear about our own responsibility, and the reason why I would not accept any suggestion of having a committee, is because what the Members are intending to do is to confuse what the Public Service Commission is doing, what the Kenya Army is doing, and what the police are doing. How would you recommend these people to the Public Service Commission? Are you now trying to tell this House—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Kariuki, you must remember to address the Chair. No straight address to hon. Members.

Mr. J. M. Kariuki: I am addressing the Chair.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, you are not, I am sorry, Mr. Kariuki. When you speak to hon. Members, "you, you, you", you are not addressing the Chair.

Mr. J. M. Kariuki: Mr. Speaker, I am saying, "These hon. Members", and I would like to repeat it by saying that these hon. Members, if they want to prove that there is no irregularity going on in the National Youth Service, are welcome, not only as a single person, they have the right to come and check the facts as to whether there are any irregularities going on. An hon. Member alleged that there are some people who are taken to the police force or to the Administration by a particular constituency. Sir, you have the right—as the hon. Member of this House—to come and check whether this is true. There is no use in doing this. I would like this to be produced in this House, whether there is a particular constituency where the people were taken and given employment, because this is a very serious allegation. Not only that, Sir, but I would like to appeal to Members that, instead of having complaints and coming to the House and trying to speak on something which you cannot later prove, this will not benefit the country. What I would suggest is that hon. Members of this House should come, check from the record, and let us go to every unit where we have our young men, and let them see for themselves what type of training they are undergoing. Most of those who have deserted, Sir, are the youths who could not, in fact, go through the training, and most of them were undisciplined young men, and we cannot have them in the service, Mr. Speaker.

One of the hon. Members says, "No, no", but we cannot have them because we want them to be disciplined young men, and most of those who are disciplined have signed for a second year. Why have they signed for a second year? Nobody is forcing them to go on in the National Youth Service.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I oppose this very strongly, because you cannot tell the future employer of a particular person to take a particular person. Maybe he would not have the qualifications required, and you cannot tell me to employ a driver who will not be in a position to drive me properly. You cannot advise me to employ a cook who, in other words, may not be able to cook a proper cake. Well, this is very ridiculous, and, therefore, we will continue to recommend training people and then, after their training, whoever wants to employ them, will. We have asked the Government, for your information, to recruit from us, but we do not want dictation by a selection board, and that is why I want to correct quite categorically—that as far as we are concerned we do not select anybody for any job; this is done by the person who is going to employ him.

The Assistant Minister for Labour (Mr. Odero-Jowi): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to agree very much with the hon. Member for Butere that if there are any people in the Civil Service who are promoting tribalism and discrimination, they are ruining the unity of this country. Sir, also, I would like to state that if there are any people who think that they can pick on little things to embarrass the Government, they are not doing any good either to themselves or to the country.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the question of employment for servicemen in the National Youth Service is something which the Government has been considering for a long time. I would like to agree with the Members who have spoken that it is necessary to secure jobs for these people who have been in the service. I think it is absolutely necessary. We know some of them, we know that if they are let loose they can do a lot of harm. But, Sir, the National Youth Service is an organization with discipline, and before a serviceman is given employment he must satisfy the members and officers of the National Youth Service that he has followed the training, that he has established a good character. I think that this is necessary before they are recommended for employment, and this is what is being done, Sir. The procedure for providing jobs for those who have gone through the service is very simple: when Government departments or private employers send word to the National Youth Service describing the type of skill they want, the type of man they want, the type of job they have to offer, this information is circulated to all the units of the National Youth Service without any exception. Now, the commandants of the units write back—

An Hon. Member: They are all Kikuyus.

The Assistant Minister for Labour (Mr. Odero-Jowi): Now, could the hon. Member allow me to make my point? He can speak later.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the leaders of the various units write back to the headquarters of the National Youth Service to state the type of personnel they want, the type of candidates they have whom they think are fit for these jobs according to their needs during training, and according to the type of training they have had during their period in the National Youth Service. When all this information has reached the headquarters of the National Youth Service in Nairobi, it is all processed and the candidates who are thought fit, according to merit, to take up these jobs are sent over to be interviewed by the employers concerned. Now, this is what has been done, Mr. Speaker, and I must say that so far we are very happy because a lot of servicemen who have been absorbed into private employment, and those who have been absorbed into Government, have shown that their training was profitable.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Mover of this Motion said that there is discrimination. But I listened very carefully and the only point I thought he raised was that members of the National Youth Service from a certain province have not been given employment in Government. I think, Sir, the main reason for this is that jobs are not coming forth, there is unemployment in the country, and I think the fact of the matter is that we have not had enough jobs to give to everybody that wants a job. The fact that there is unemployment really does not mean discrimination.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to give a breakdown of servicemen who have been sent over to the Public Service Commission and the armed forces and have been given jobs. I would break them down tribal-wise and I will give the numbers.

Hon. Members: District-wise.

The Assistant Minister for Labour (Mr. Odero-Jowi): Mr. Speaker, by giving the tribes you will understand—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order!

The Assistant Minister for Labour (Mr. Odero-Jowi): Now, if you do not know where the tribes are, ask me later.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, we have had one Boran absorbed into permanent public employment, three Turkana, five Nandi and Kipsigis, six Kisi, eleven Embu and Meru—

Mr. exp. By: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, could I seek your ruling on this, Mr. Speaker, because I just wanted to know whether the hon. Assistant Minister knows that the Kipsigis and Nandi are different tribes?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): That is no point of order.

The Assistant Minister for Labour (Mr. Odero-Jowi): Mr. Speaker, Sir, Wakamba eleven, Luo twenty-two, Tugen one, Rendile one, Masai five, the group consisting of Talia, Taveta, Rabai, Giriama, Digo, Pokomo, Duruma, fifteen, Luhya seventeen, and Kikuyu thirty-five.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! Hon. Members want to hear this list, I imagine; it is the most vital information relevant to the whole debate. Let us hear it in comparative silence.

The Assistant Minister for Labour (Mr. Odero-Jowi): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think these figures show—

Mr. Khalif: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, because of the noise that is going on, what was it for Kikuyu?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Exactly. Well, it is hon. Members' own fault if they do not hear these things. Would you like to give that figure again, Mr. Odero-Jowi?

The Assistant Minister for Labour (Mr. Odero-Jowi): I said that there were thirty-five Kikuyu. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think these figures show a very fair distribution. I think it is fair in the sense that if you take—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! One or two hon. Members are interrupting so persistently and loudly that other Members are not being given the chance to hear anything. Will you please keep quiet?

The Assistant Minister for Labour (Mr. Odero-Jowi): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think these figures are fair in the sense that they reflect very accurately the proportion of the various tribes as represented in the National Youth Service. Mr. Speaker, Sir, as I said, the procedure of absorbing these people into employment into Government and the private sector is simple and it is open to everybody.

The other point, Mr. Speaker, Sir, that I would like to make is that a lot of the people we are now discussing are actually still undergoing training. I am sure that the hon. Members know that some time back the training in the National Youth Service was extended from one year to two years, and here I would like to point out that I, personally, have been very bothered about the youth which I sent into the National Youth Service who have refused to go on with the training for two years in order that they may qualify and take up gainful employment. Now, Sir, personally, I have tried to persuade these people to carry on, because I

[Mr. Ochwada.]

Mr. Speaker, I do not blame the Ministers, nor the Assistant Ministers; neither do I blame the leader of the National Youth Service. However, I think there is a mistake somewhere. There is something wrong somewhere along the line, and this is what the Motion intends to correct. It is only fair to say that it is not easy to find the right solution. It is not, however, an easy job to join the National Youth Service and remain in it. Several have joined and have later run away. This is a very difficult job. As one hon. Member said, when any one of these youths has stayed in the National Youth Service for at least six months, has had experience and understands the difficulties, then he is entitled to enjoy the benefits of Harambee.

Sir, the only way things can be put right is by appointing a committee of independent people, people who know and understand the difficulties of other people, to conduct things. The committee should be a team of people who will select and allocate the youths to various permanent employment. If this can be done, I think we will be saving the country from the terrible situation we are heading for, something that many people in this House are not aware of.

The Ministry may sit back and say, "We have a National Youth Service. Some of the youths are clearing the bush in Central Nyanza, others are cultivating a farm somewhere in the Eastern Province." Mr. Speaker, although these boys are doing this kind of work, they are waiting for the day when each and every one of them will be posted to jobs in one or other of the Ministries in order that they can earn a living.

It is not so easy because most of these boys are married. It is not so easy for one to live on Sh. 20 a month and support a family. Mr. Speaker, I am asked by the Youth Leader to select married ones, but were they not also serving this country during the struggle for independence? They were the people who used, as youth, to fight Kadu and fight Kanu, and now because there is something to be benefited from—someone is asking me who told me to select the married ones. Why did we not select the unmarried ones to support us during the elections and leave the married ones? We used the whole lot of them and, therefore, the whole lot of them must also be in a position to enjoy the benefits of our independence.

Mr. Speaker, it is not only the married ones who cannot depend on Sh. 20 a month. I cannot imagine even a child of ten living on Sh. 20 a month. Let us be a bit fair—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): The actual terms on which they serve is not relevant to this Motion.

Mr. Ochwada: I agree with you, Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is not relevant, but I am only trying to give an example of why they should be given an opportunity to acquire a more permanent job.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, but I do not think the rate of pay while they are serving makes any difference to that, so we must keep to the point.

Mr. Ochwada: Right, Sir; thank you very much, Sir.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am only trying to emphasize the fact that a committee of independent persons is absolutely necessary in order to enable our young men, who have actually sacrificed, to join the National Youth Service. They have served in the National Youth Service for the time they are required to serve, and it is only fair that they should be allocated. I know, of course, there is a sort of element of tribal feelings within the National Youth Service, because I have personally received complaints of very able young men who joined the National Youth Service, with Kenya Preliminary Examination in fact, but they have been unable to be allocated any course for any job, as they do not belong to the right tribe.

Mr. Speaker, I do not want to get myself involved in tribalistic feelings or paternalism, but I think it is only fair that whoever joins the National Youth Service he should be given a full opportunity, regardless of his tribe.

Mr. Speaker, with these few remarks, I beg I beg to support the Motion.

Mr. J. M. Kariuki: Mr. Speaker, I am not going to reply to this on behalf of the Government because legally I am still a Back-bencher and the Government will reply to this Motion.

What I would like to say in connexion with this Motion is that there is quite a lot of misunderstanding among the Members of this Parliament on what we actually do in the National Youth Service and what goes on in the Public Service Commission and people who select youth. Our main responsibility in the National Youth Service is to train these young men in the fields which will enable them to get employment in future. Whenever we recruit them, it is up to the company or the Ministry concerned to come and recruit them from the National Youth Service, but we do not, Sir, go to the selection board as National Youth Service officers to suggest which tribe or which person is fit to go to a particular job. Our main responsibility is to be informed that 100 people are needed in this department. For example, when the Kenya Army wanted to recruit some young men they came from the National Youth Service and also from outside, because not all priority, Sir, is given to the members of the National Youth Service; there are some other people outside who would like to have employment. We are told that a certain number of young men are required from the National Youth Service and we send people of all tribes. This can be checked. I challenge in this House—

Mr. Khalif: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, would the hon. Member substantiate that members of all tribes in the National Youth Service are sent to permanent jobs?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! When an hon. Member says that he does something, that is in itself substantiation; he is speaking of his own knowledge. You may like to try to prove him wrong, but that is substantiation. It is only when a Member alleges some other fact, outside his own direct activity, that he can be required to substantiate any further.

Mr. Khalif: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, can any Member be allowed to prove that the Member speaking is wrong?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Of course, but not as a point of order.

Mr. J. M. Kariuki: Mr. Speaker, I was going to say the same thing. When recruitment is announced by a particular Ministry, we send a list of more than the number required from all tribes, in order that the selection committee can select from that list, and if anybody doubts whether this is true, he is always welcome to come and scrutinise the list of people who are sent to be selected by the Kenya Army. Mr. Speaker, we do not go there as officers of the National Youth Service to select them for them: We cannot tell the army to take So-and-so; it is up to them. We only train them and send them.

For example when we received a letter from the Kenya Bus Service—it recruited drivers from the National Youth Service—we sent all our drivers. It is up to them to recommend and accept whoever they like. We do not go there and tell them, "You take So-and-so," but when they recommend, then we tell the young men who are selected to go. We do not go there and select. I want to make this quite clear, Sir, that our own responsibility in the National Youth Service—and this should not be confused by anybody—is only to train, but as for their future employment, this is left entirely to the Government itself.

It is only very recently, Sir—and I wish the Members would keep silent while I tell them what is going on—we asked the Government to put in the Cabinet that in the future recruitment in any field in the Government the first priority should also be given to members of the National Youth Service because it comprises all tribes. This is now accepted as Government policy. So what I would say to the hon. Members here is that they should not think that there is any discrimination in posting people to permanent jobs from our own end. I challenge the Members here, Mr. Speaker, to produce a list of people who are recommended by my office and my National Youth Service officers for a certain job. I challenge the Members to do it. I would like the Members to produce this in writing to you, Sir, that this person was recommended by the National Youth Leader or by the officers, by my Director, to go to a particular post.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to go on to another point. Hon. Members mentioned that we have not given any training to the youth since they came to the National Youth Service. I would like to refute that very strongly. I believe—and I would like the Members in this House to accept that challenge—that we are training these young men in the fields of mechanics and also training them to get a driving licence. Maybe many of you have seen these lorries going around, with "L" plates up when they are learning how to drive. Not only that, Sir, we are also giving technical know-how in other trades like woodwork, carpentry and bricklaying and I challenge the Members in this House to come with me and to go into where these people are undergoing this training. What they are complaining about, Sir, is their own mistake. They selected some youths who could not even undergo any type of training, youths who were useless. Whether you accept that or not, we are going to see that the disciplined people and people who are ready to take the job they are offered are going to be a credit to the National Youth Service.

I want Members here to go and produce a list of the youths they recommended and tell me how many of them have deserted and the reason why they deserted. But there is no use coming to this House and starting to dwell on past mistakes. How many of you have ever tried to prove from me how many people are given a job in the Government? The Assistant Minister will reply on behalf of the Government will give the figures as to how many people from our own angle are recommended by the Public Service Commission to these posts?

[Mr. Anyien] running away. So I want to say that in order to stop any problem which may arise, these youths, when they are left in the constituencies or in Nairobi here, are not fools, they have been in politics for many years and knew how to campaign against Kanu and against Kadu and are politicians. You have been with them, and know. The Member may find when he goes home that these youths have mobilized the masses. When you go there to address a public meeting you will be stoned.

So, in order that we may be saved, not to help the youths but to help ourselves, these youths must be given employment first; then, the others can be given employment later. Mr. Speaker, I would even suggest that the surplus should be removed to give way one to one in every area.

People who are healthy should be in the army. We do not want to have those who have only one leg or are not healthy being given places in the army. There are people from Kisii, the Luo who may be very good but because they are not Kikuyu they are not given places in the service. This is wrong. I am not saying this refers to Kikuyu alone. This can apply to a place like Kiambu. I can see the Member for Nyeri trying to say that even his boys are suffering. Mr. Speaker, even my boys are suffering.

I hope that the Members of this House will pass this Motion unanimously and after it has been passed, I hope things will be put right.

(Question proposed)

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, Sir, may I also join in the chorus of the previous Members who have spoken. Personally, Mr. Speaker, I have said time and again that there is discrimination, that there is something wrong somewhere in the Government. Unfortunately, Sir, the same thing is happening in the National Youth Service. When I spoke of tribalism in this House, everybody laughed and said, "Shikuku, you are dreaming. We are all one. We have Umoja." Today, I am sure the hon. Members will say that Shikuku saw further than his short nose.

Mr. Speaker, there is discrimination not because of colour, not because of white or yellow, not only tribalism, it has gone as far as clan-ism. Today, we have much talk of clan-ism. May I point out to the hon. last speaker that this is not only restricted to the Kikuyus, but to Kikuyus from Kiambu. I can see the hon. Member for Nyeri nodding his head. It seems that it is only the Kikuyu who have the chance of getting all the privileges in Kenya. I am not ashamed to say this because I believe in speaking my mind and the minds of the Butere people as well as that of the Kenya people who, see likewise.

Mr. Speaker, I have received a lot of letters from my boys who are in the National Youth Service. Each Member was asked to send some youths every month and I did my share. These youths write to me and say that despite the fact they work hard they get nowhere. Mr. Speaker, my boys can work hard, they can salute, march and carry a spade over their shoulders, but when it comes to the question of selecting who is to go into the army, or the police force, I understand, with all due respect to the hon. Member for Nyandarua that my boys are not given a chance. If there is something wrong in the country, we, in this House, must be told. Kenya is for everybody, we all fought for independence, and we must all enjoy for the fruits of independence. If, as my hon. friend said, you are asked whether you come from Gatundu before you can get any privileges, then all I want to say is that all privileges are, not all for Gatundu alone. Kenya is for everybody.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the fact is this. Those who receive promotion must not get it because they come from Gatundu or are Kikuyus, but because they are fit to do the job. Mr. Speaker, I once brought a question to this House asking how many people had been promoted in the national service. If you refer to the HANSARD of that day, you will find that most of the people who had been taken on permanent jobs came from Central Province and not other parts. Sir, this is very irritating.

I also understand that there are letters written recommending those who are in the Civil Service to be promoted to permanent jobs. I have also received information from my youths saying that there are politicians who have asked for the promotion of their youths into permanent jobs in the national service. I have received letters from my youths in the constituency complaining that there are big men in the Government service who write and say that their boys must be given permanent posts in the national service. This is very unfair and, therefore, I support very strongly that there must be a committee, as suggested here, to look into the question of promoting and selecting youths for the National Youth Service.

The other question I would like to mention is the question of their recruitment. I do not know who gave power to the Minister for Labour and Social Services, the then hon. Mr. Mwendwa, to change the system. It was agreed in this House that all the youths will be recommended by the politicians, namely the hon.

[Mr. Shikuku] Members, to the National Youth Service for recruitment. I really do not know who gave that power to the Minister. The hon. Member for Nyandarua says that he was not here when this was done, he was in the United States of America. Mr. Speaker, I want to demand now that the then hon. Minister for Labour and Social Services should tell the House who gave him power to change the system. It is the politicians, the Members of this House who know who are the boys, the people, who fought for independence; they know which youths struggled hard in order to get independence for Kenya; they know who are the people who suffered. Now, these privileges have been taken from the Members of Parliament and given to civil servants, such as P.C.s, D.C.s, D.O.s and even chiefs who do not know all these things. Mr. Speaker, do you think that these people know more than the politicians who are the people who fought for independence, who deserve to—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Shikuku, you have to show how this is relevant to the question of permanent posting after youth service. If you are saying that the quality of the person who is available for permanent posting depends on the quality of recruitment, and, therefore, recruitment is relevant, all right; but you must link this up with the Motion.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, that is what I am trying to do now, Sir. They get in touch with civil servants, with district commissioners, district officers, or chiefs for that matter, people who know nothing.

Therefore, there is a need now for us to get a committee to look into this question of recruitment and also, at the same time, look into the question of posting people into permanent jobs in the Civil Service.

May I now, Mr. Speaker, touch one point as stated by the Member for Majoge-Bassi when he referred to the Americans. Sir, I am one of those people who speak my mind, and very independently, too. Personally, I do not believe in denouncing or hitting somebody when the facts are not true. It is unfair for the Member for Majoge-Bassi to hit the Americans because these Americans are the people who have helped with the question of the youths, they have given us tractors and so forth.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Shikuku, I do not think that it is relevant and I said to Mr. Anyien that his remarks were not relevant to the subject of the Motion.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, the House will not find it unreasonable or untimely to accept this Motion. In order to promote the spirit of Harambee, I am sure the Government must accept this Motion as it is, without amendment, otherwise it will not be any good if rejected. It is no use saying things while you have other things in your mind, it is no use promoting your own brothers only, because in that event you might think that everything looks green in the garden while in actual fact it is completely dry and floppy.

I would like to strengthen the Motion, Sir, because these people who are here are concerned in this subversion of promoting their brothers and clans in the Civil Service, as well as the National Youth Service, should know that they are actually driving Kenya into a state of chaos. If things go on in this way, then the people who promote such things might find their necks cut off.

Mr. Speaker, there is some advice from our brothers which we must heed, that the public are not going to remain stupid for ever. If we continue to encourage this tribal favouritism, we are pushing people into a tight corner, for, in the long run, they will protest because they are suppressed, and there is a limit to everything. Then, there will come a day when you will find Kenya looking very small and not quite as big as we thought it was.

Therefore, I feel that in the spirit of Harambee, and in order to promote this spirit for the benefit of Kenya as a nation, everybody should enjoy the fruits of independence. I support the Motion wholeheartedly and hope that the Government will not move an amendment. I am the greatest enemy of tribalism and nepotism in this country.

Mr. Ochwada: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I want wholeheartedly to support this Motion. My reasons for doing so are as follows. When the National Youth Service was initiated, we were told that these youths would stay in their various camps for a few months only before they could be sent to their permanent postings. Alternatively they would be sent to do certain courses before they were given permanent postings. Now, however, you find that there are some youths in the National Youth Service who have been there for almost a year or over. They have constantly written to us. We have approached the various people who give the permanent jobs to these youths but the results have been very disappointing. How long can this continue?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Be more careful of your language, please.

Mr. Khalif: Yes, Sir, there are many tribes in Kenya, all having National Youth Servicemen and I am surprised that, out of all these tribes in Kenya, there are only a very few whose National Youth Servicemen are being given the opportunity to be posted to permanent employment. Kikuyu, for example, you know that as well as I do.

Mr. Speaker: I am told that nearly all of the youths from Gatundu are posted to permanent posts, all of them. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am told that in the case of Gatundu it is not a question of choosing which one, it is a question of putting the whole lot in permanent employment. And if that is the essence of the National Youth Service, then, Sir, it is not worth while. All the funds we are spending, all the publicity, even the salary we are giving the leader of the National Youth Service, none of this is worth while, if the essence of the thing is that all the youths from a certain area—not even an area, a constituency—are given first consideration as regards posting to permanent employment. If that is the essence of the thing, then sooner or later we are going to have another Nigeria here. I challenge the Government because here I have definite statements. If there is anybody who is going to challenge my statements, let him stand up, be he a Member or the leader of the National Youth Service or a Minister or anybody else, because I have the information, I am very well informed.

Sir, the essence of the Youth Service, in so far as the Government point of view is concerned, is to teach and train the youth all over Kenya in the task of nation-building. And, Sir, if we are going purposely to create discrimination and hatred within our own Youth Service, among our own youths, then it is completely useless. I thought that the only place where we could effect nation-building is among the youth; the only way we could do this was to teach them that there is no discrimination, and to forget tribalism. But instead we see now the officers of the National Youth Service, though whose direction I do not know, teaching the nation's youth discrimination, by selecting some particular tribe for permanent posts.

Sir, it is known that the National Youth Service members previously were selected by Members of Parliament, and it has been the tendency up to now that when a National Youth Service member has a complaint he comes to his Member. It is unfortunate that Members like us, whose youths have been purposely discriminated against, have our National Youth Service members coming to us complaining. And their complaints are valid, Sir. They complain that not even one person from one given province has been selected for a permanent post. When this happens, Sir, we are apt to speculate as to the real reasons behind creating the National Youth Service.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, with these few words, I beg to move.

Mr. Anyien: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not think that I should speak too long on this because my friends, the Assistant Ministers, have perhaps been able to help their youths, on account of the fact that they are Assistant Ministers, but I can say that most of the Back-benchers have a problem. We understood, when this thing was introduced, that these youths were becoming a problem because, after they had helped in the struggle for independence, the Government thought they would be a problem if they were left at home, so they decided they would give them something to do. If we recall, Mr. Speaker, we remember that the announcement which was made by the President was that a big acreage of land had been set aside in almost every province where buildings were going to be put up, where machinery would be installed, where these youths would come to be trained. And then, after one or two years, they would be ready to go and look for employment. This was the announcement which was made by the President.

When the announcement was made, we were very happy; we went out and told our youths, "Things are now going to be, all right." We encouraged them and many of them came forward. As a matter of fact, not only youths came forward, but even some chairmen of KANU local branches and so on; they also thought that this was their opportunity. It was stated that, after training, it would not be necessary for Government to employ them because they would get employment on account of their having been trained.

Now, Sir, if we go through the training they have received, my youths have told me—Normally, the Kisii people are very hard working on shambar and on clearing the bush. What my youths have told me is that since they joined the National Youth Service, all they have been doing is to clear the bush in other people's constituencies. Is this the training? They have not been clearing any bush in Kisii but they have been clearing bush elsewhere; as a matter of fact, some went to Nyandarua to clear the bush. It is true. They went to Nyandarua to clear the bush. This clearing of bush, is that training? You do not have to train a person for one year how to clear

(Mr. Anyien) fighting or is this the Kenyatta of Gatundu?" Can you say these youths were wrong? If it is not true, that these youths were picked out from there, the Government must state very clearly that it is untrue. But if it is true and they are deceiving us into thinking it is not true, then they know they are trying to deceive the masses and one day the masses will discover they are lying.

Now, Mr. Speaker, they said that these youths were dangerous, that they should be removed from their homes and given something to do. But now they have trained them and shown them how to use these shovels as guns and how to fight and what not. Then they let them loose. Now they have gone home and they are now more dangerous than at any time before. I assure the Government that some of us who speak are speaking in order to avoid a Nigeria here. We are speaking now to avoid any revolution here. But you people go on saying, "Oh, things are all right." There is a fire down there, but you people say that there is no fire. If you say there is no fire, that does not stop the fire. These youths you have been trained are now a problem, Mr. Speaker.

In my constituency, the ones who joined the service are not now blaming the Government, they are blaming me, the Member, because it was I who signed for them to come to the National Youth Service. They are writing letters to me, they are saying, "You deceived us, even in jail a person is better off." What happens is that these youths are taken there, they are given shoes and what not, and I met some of these youths here last week. They were stripped of their shoes two weeks before they were allowed to leave, and also their clothing was taken away. Many of these youths had come here and when they came and were given these good uniforms, they gave their clothes to their relatives at home. Then they were told, "You must get your clothes." Some of them could not even come out of the dormitories because they had no clothes; they had to beg from their friends. Many had no shoes. They were suffering terribly.

Now, Sir, when we have a situation like this and we have a man who has suffered, who knows what suffering means because he was in detention camp for a long time and in jail, and we make him the National Youth Service leader and we give him some powers here, why has he not done anything? What is being alleged here is true because I have discovered that it affects every area. Once I was told by my youths that somebody came there and said, "All the youths from Gatundu are wanted." And so all the youths from Gatundu were taken away. We hear that some were put in the General Service Unit and some were given this and that. These youths are now asking me, "Is this the Kenya for whom we were fighting or is this the Kenyatta of Gatundu?" Can you say these youths were wrong? If it is not true, that these youths were picked out from there, the Government must state very clearly that it is untrue. But if it is true and they are deceiving us into thinking it is not true, then they know they are trying to deceive the masses and one day the masses will discover they are lying.

When this thing was being introduced, Mr. Speaker, we were given an assurance—I think it was in one of these rooms up here—by the then Minister for Labour, Mr. Mwendwa, when we expressed fears that there would be indoctrination of neo-colonialism in this National Youth Service, that all the Government was going to do was to receive help from wherever it might come in the form of materials. But the people who would be working with the youths would not be coming from anywhere, they would be Kenyans. We said, "Well and good." What has happened now? This is a base for neo-colonialism. The Americans have sent materials; everything you can think of is American. You might think they were American negroes in America. It is an American base and they have colonized our boys.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Mr. Anyien, I think you are getting right outside the terms of the Motion. This Motion is concerned with the posting to permanent Government employment of youths who have finished their service. Let us keep to that.

Mr. Anyien: Thank you, Mr. Speaker, but you cannot help saying what is going on there when you have an opportunity like this.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You can help it, if it is irrelevant.

Mr. Anyien: Mr. Speaker, I will not continue with that now.

I think also other Members have other problems which have been reported to them. Even the Assistant Ministers know, but they keep quiet; so let them keep quiet and then we can speak. Assistant Ministers cannot speak so let them keep quiet so we can put the case for their youths also.

So, Mr. Speaker, I want to say that what the Government should do now is to make sure that the first people to be absorbed into employment are these youths. Let them be trustworthy. Let them be given some work so that they will be all right. If the Government does not do this, if these youths meet—There are very many now, 5,000. If they all meet, my dear friend, even this Parliament, even we Members here will all be [Mr. Omeri]—become really good teachers. They have to go to the field, do the job, and understand it while they are doing it and after some years of experience they would become really good teachers. In this case, Sir, I believe that the shorter time we give them in the college the better, so that they can go out and gain experience and become better teachers while they are doing the real job in the field. If we say that they would be half-baked after one year of training, I would not agree at all, because it is not the question of their being half-baked, it is the question of letting them have that experience on the job. When they have experience on the job, then we would have better teachers which the country wants. In this case, Sir, I do not see how the Ministry is going to say that they cannot accept this Motion.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, there is one other point, which I mentioned earlier, which the Assistant Minister has failed completely to explain and that is with regard to the reduction of intake and the reduction of colleges, where the Minister has displayed the fact that it is unnecessary to expand the production of teachers and the training of teachers, and in this case, I moved my Motion as a way of asking Government to take more interest and train more people so that we have enough teachers going out and carrying out their job in the field.

Sir, I would like to finish off by saying that this particular Motion was moved in order to request the Government to agree and accelerate the training of teachers so that we have enough teachers to cope with the increased amount of work, because more people are taking a bigger interest in education and more pupils are coming into these schools, more schools are being opened, and with this expansion we must also expand accordingly with training the personnel who are going to manage this. I did not mean that I am trying to turn every high school student into a teacher, this is not the intention of the Motion, and was completely misunderstood.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I beg to move.

(Question put and negatived)

MOTION

KENYA NATIONAL YOUTH SERVICE: GOVERNMENT APPOINTMENTS

Mr. Khalif: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I beg to move the following Motion:—

NOTING that there have already occurred irregularities and discrimination in the selection for posting to permanent Government employment of youths from certain areas who have undergone training in the National Youth Service, this House urges the Government as a matter of urgency to appoint a select committee comprising twelve people, including eight Members of Parliament each from the provinces, in addition to four officials of the National Youth Service, to carry out the selection of youths for posting to permanent Government employment.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): This Motion must read "... one each from the provinces . . .", therefore it must read this "... eight Members of Parliament, one each from provinces . . .", because as it stands it means sixty-four Members altogether.

Mr. Khalif: Yes, Sir, that is right.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): All right, then, we will correct that.

Mr. Khalif: Now, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, irregularities and discrimination have taken place in the National Youth Service, with regard to the selection of people for posts to permanent Government employment. Sir, this is known all over, and something which the Members have practically experienced. Nobody is going to bluff any Member of this House, because the system has always been, originally, that the Members of this House should choose so many National Youth Servicemen and then are informed as to who is employed into these Government posts. Sir, it is a fact that none in one particular instance are posted to any permanent post, which indicates that any one Member knows how many of his National Youth Servicemen have been posted to permanent Government posts, or to the Civil Service.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, it is arising from this that I am saying with no hesitation whatsoever that there has been some discrimination and ignorance, and nobody is going to be able to bluff anyone in respect of this, and therefore, Sir, if it warrants it, I would like to suggest that it happens, or is the view of the Government, that it opposes this Motion, then I demand the names of all those youth servicemen who have been posted to Government permanent posts.

[The Speaker (Mr. Slade) resumed the Chair]

Otherwise, this particular Motion is clear-cut and there is no question of redrafting. Sir, in some areas some tribes have been discriminated against. This is indicated by the fact that quite a number of tribes, including the Boran, the [Mr. Khalif] the Tesos—I am well informed—a certain section of the Kalenjin, and so many others, have been completely neglected, and there is an instance, Sir, where not even one candidate, one National Youth Serviceman from any one given tribe of those I mentioned has been posted to Government, to a permanent post. This is ridiculous, Sir.

Take the Somalis, Sir, and I am mentioning them not because I am a Somali but because I am better informed about the Somalis. Now if five or three or two of these people had been posted to permanent posts, then it would be something that the Government could argue about. But it happens that there is not even one. Sir, I am inclined to think that what is going on in the National Youth Service cannot be tolerated; and we have to be told point-blank and in no uncertain terms how things have been so irregular ever since the National Youth Service was started.

I know, Sir, that some provinces have not even had one National Youth Serviceman. And if anyone wants to challenge me, let the Minister who is going to answer this on Government's behalf challenge me and ask me for substantiation, because I am capable of substantiating this. Challenge me, go ahead; we have the Standing Order; let anyone challenge me for substantiation and I will substantiate that there are provinces where not even one National Youth Serviceman has been posted to—

Mr. J. M. Kariuki: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, an allegation has been made that there is a province in this country which has no National Youth Serviceman. Could the Member substantiate this and say which province?

Mr. Khalif: Mr. Speaker, either the Member did not hear what I said or else he is trying to waste my time. I said that there are some provinces where not even one National Youth Serviceman has been posted to permanent employment.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): After their service?

Mr. Khalif: Oh, yes, Sir.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I see.

Mr. Khalif: Ask me and I will substantiate.

I seem, Sir, from what I gather after looking into this matter very carefully that some areas have been given particular consideration.

Mr. Malinda: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, the hon. Member has said that there are some provinces in this country from which no youths have been taken into permanent Government employment, after their time with the National Youth Service. Can he tell us which provinces he is referring to so that we know exactly and can support him?

Mr. Khalif: One of them, Sir, is definitely the North-Eastern Province. There is not one National Youth Serviceman from the North-Eastern Province who has been posted to permanent employment; and I hope that the leader of the National Youth Service will bear me out because there is not even one. If there is a challenge—let anyone challenge me—

Mr. J. M. Kariuki: Mr. Speaker, I just want your ruling here. The Member is alleging that there is not a single man from the National Youth Service who is in a permanent job, and, from the Government point of view, this is why I want your ruling. It was stated that for one year there was no recruitment from the North-Eastern Province so I just want your ruling there on that, whether that is the failure of the National Youth Service or of the Government.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I am sorry, I could not hear your point, because of interruptions. I will hear points of order in silence.

Mr. J. M. Kariuki: Mr. Speaker, I was asking you to give a ruling on this: Government decided that there was not going to be any recruitment from the North-Eastern Province for a period of one year because of the Shifta activities. That was not done and now the Member is alleging that not a single man from the National Youth Service has been posted to a permanent job whereas that was decided by the Government. Whose fault is it?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I do not think that is a point of order.

Mr. Khalif: I will leave that alone, Sir, because I am surprised to hear that the leader of the National Youth Service is implying that there has not been any recruitment from the North-Eastern Province. The first time there ever was recruitment all over Kenya, there was recruitment from the North-Eastern Province. I will confirm that because there are National Youth Servicemen from the North-Eastern Province who have completed their one-year term of training. It would only have been fair on the part of the Government that they also should have been taken into consideration in so far as permanent employment is concerned. This is "bullshit".

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Khalif, I think I heard you use a word which is certainly not used in this House.

Mr. Khalif: I beg your pardon, Sir.

[Mr. Anyten]

With those few words, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I wish to thank the Member who brought the Motion and I wish to support him.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): I would like to point out that the next speaker only has five minutes because at ten to eleven we have to call upon the Mover to reply.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): Mr. Deputy Speaker, I would like to join my colleagues and friends as a teacher to speak on this Motion, but I would like to clarify one small point which the previous speaker has made.

He has accused this Government of having carried on the colonial methods in training teachers. He has forgotten that the Kenyatta College did not exist in colonial times and that, at this time, Kenyatta College has a course of three years to enable school certificate students to teach in secondary schools. This was not there during colonial times, so the hon. Member for Majoge Bassi should be able to know this.

Another point I would also like to mention, Mr. Deputy Speaker, is that during secondary school education students who are taught chemistry and physics and who are lucky to choose training as doctors, despite the fact that they have learned these subjects, still train for nine years as doctors. So the fact that we would teach some of the teaching profession students in a secondary school does not prevent a student being trained as a teacher for four years. So this point should also be borne in mind.

I was surprised, Mr. Deputy Speaker, when I read the Motion, at the word "education" alone as it appears in the Motion: I was surprised still further when I was told by the hon. Member for Majoge Bassi that the Mover of this Motion had been a teacher and a supervisor of schools. As a teacher, I was wondering what he meant by "education syllabus". I think he meant the principles of education being introduced in secondary schools. Well, if my friend took a course in teaching, he knows very well that a profession such as teaching does not only require principles of education, if that is what he meant. It requires psychology to begin with, and a psychologist—if you remember—did child study for two years, and this in itself is quite a tedious study. If my friend remembers, he did principles of education, which took him two years, as a subject. He also did methods of teaching, if he remembers. This the students cannot do. He should also remember that in the teaching profession the students study the curriculum of whatever classes they are going to teach. These things, as I have tabulated them here, take quite a long time and that is why they, themselves, have a two-year training. Apart from teaching science or mathematics and geography in secondary schools which also takes two years, it would be putting a great burden on students by introducing any subjects of the teaching profession into the secondary schools.

Well, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I agree with my friend who suggested that there should be a crash programme, but I think the suggestion should be that of attracting more of the students to join the teaching profession, there should be some sort of pocket money paid during their two years' training. This, I think, would attract some of the students to join the teaching profession, but I should hate to see half-baked teachers or half-baked students trying to join the teaching profession. It is a pity that a friend of mine, like the Member for Homa Bay, who has never been a teacher, has spoken for this Motion and has spoken very strongly as though he had been in a class facing students.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I was a teacher in 1952. Can the Assistant Minister substantiate that I have never been a teacher? I was a teacher.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): I think the Assistant Minister will accept your statement that you were a teacher.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): I am pleased to note, Sir, that the Member for Homa Bay was an untrained teacher in 1952, and that alone proves how uninformed he is as far as the teaching profession is concerned. I think, Mr. Deputy Speaker, the House should be aware that it is unfortunate that my friend who brought this Motion brought it in the terms he stated, because it just cannot be accepted by the Government.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I beg to oppose the Motion.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): It is now 10.50, so I will call upon the Mover to reply.

Mr. Omweri: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I wish to thank hon. Members who have spoken on this Motion and for the display of interest that they have shown, and I would also like to reply to and make clear some of the points which those who have spoken misunderstood.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, the point here is quite clear and the speakers who have spoken against this Motion seem to have felt that at the moment the methods we are using are, in fact, is a worse position than what I am suggesting. My suggestion is much better than what the Minister is doing, because the Minister is not at the moment doing anything as far as the training of teachers is concerned. He is, in fact, making a reduction in every possible way.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Muiso): On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, could the hon. Member explain how the Minister of Education is doing nothing as far as the training of teachers is concerned?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! Order! I do not think this is the type of matter which he needs to explain. That is his opinion. I think, in fact, you have given the Government case. I do not think that he needs to substantiate that.

Mr. Omweri: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, let me state exactly what one of the hon. Members said about the education syllabus. In most colleges the principles of education are referred to as the education syllabus, and in this case where the hon. speakers who have been teachers previously have tried to amplify that, you can amplify that quite a lot. It means exactly what the Motion says, that it is a syllabus concerning education as a profession, and the Motion here, Sir, is about teaching as a profession. In this case, I wanted the House to give approval; what I meant were the principles of education which have some meaning and some relevance to what the actual students do while they are at school. In this case, Sir—This is because my friend never went to college to do the principles of education there, and he has no idea; if he had he would have agreed.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, to say that this would be a bother to students and to claim that students at high school have enough to do, let me say that this is quite true, they have quite a lot. They are also capable, as I said earlier, of doing a lot more.

What happens is that students preparing for School Certificate do more than the subjects they require, they study eight subjects, but their pass requires only six. Is that not a bother, too? If we were to take into consideration the seriousness of the shortage of teachers in the country, my suggestion could be substituted for one of these unnecessary two extra subjects. In this case, Sir, I do not see how it is difficult or how it is bothersome for the students. I agree, also, Sir, that students want every possible moment to prepare and concentrate on their academic studies. That is all right. The point is that in the past when they have been studying they have had some optional subjects, which they also carry out on their own, and this has proved that these students would be capable of or would be interested in doing some extra subjects so as to help the country's problem of recruiting enough teachers.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, when hon. speakers said that in the high school we have all kinds of persons, say, doctors, engineers and others, the thing is that even if we were to give these professional studies about education for those who would like to become teachers in their last two years, it does not compel—I have not included in my Motion or in my speeches that this would compel every student who undergoes these principles of education to become a teacher. There are so many of us here who have been trained as teachers who have not remained teaching all their lives, or even go back and teach at all after their training. In this case it does not mean that after introducing these principles of education that it would be compulsory for those who took it to become teachers, or remain teachers. This would be of necessity and because of the problem we have in getting teachers.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, some hon. Members also mentioned the use of unqualified teachers as a necessity. Now, if by necessity we are using completely unbacked staff to do the job, I am surprised that hon. Members cannot see the point that here I am proposing that they should have two years at high school in which to understand exactly what goes on in the education field, and they should then have one complete year in which to be thoroughly educated, thoroughly trained in what they are going to do and on the methods of approach, or on the methods of organizing a school, or on child psychology, and how these things would be included. Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, it is a surprise that hon. Members cannot see this point at all, a point which is so clear and which is so practical, and which has already been done.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I would also like to make it clear that here is the Minister for Education getting students straight from college in America and they come here as Peace Corps or "Cross-Roaders". These fellows, Sir, just come from college and they come here and they teach without any training. If our Government is able to accept these untrained teachers, I am surprised that they cannot accept our own students who have been given enough training at high school and, also, in the college. I also, Sir, as a teacher believe that experience is the best teacher. In this case, Sir, I would make it clear that even if we had to train teachers for three years or for four years without giving them enough time to go out, they would never—in those three or four

[The Assistant Minister for Education] keen interest to see that the standard of the teachers is raised to the equivalent of other professions, if possible.

Having said that, I think, as has already been pointed out before, the Government cannot accept this Motion because it will only amount to confusing our teaching methods and also adding problems to those which already exist.

So I think I do not need to say much, all that I wanted to say was that the Government cannot accept the Motion for the reasons I have just given.

[The Speaker (Mr. Slade) left the Chair]

[The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza) took the Chair]

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Deputy Speaker, I must thank all the Members who have spoken on this Motion because it shows that every Member is concerned with our educational system. But I must, even more so, thank the Mover of this Motion for having brought this Motion to the House, because it shows that, in his brain, he is also thinking what can be done to help in this particular profession.

But then, Mr. Deputy Speaker, while I support what many Members have already said, I am very surprised that all that the Assistant Minister to the Ministry of Education had to say was practically nothing, except that he rejects it, on the grounds given by the Members who spoke before him. Dr. Deputy Speaker, I think when this is a policy matter which is being introduced to the Ministry of Education, it would have been proper if the Minister for Education should have also tried to be here, because he is the one who is taken into account very much when a policy matter is being discussed in his Ministry. However, it seems as if the Minister has consistently boycotted the proceedings of this Parliament; he never comes to this Parliament. The Assistant Ministers are saying "Question", but they know very well that I am speaking the truth, because you can only see now Assistant Ministers here. Particularly the Minister for Education has consistently refused to come to this House and if he were here, he might have tried to tell us what the policy of his Ministry is going to be.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, one reason why I think that this Motion is properly brought to this House is because we have taken on what was in colonial days, we have just carried it over; we have not made any change at all. This is a sign of laziness. The Ministry has not said that instead of teaching these people the teaching profession in their last two years of academic education, we are going to introduce a crash programme. If this is what the alternative is, I will also support the Government and I will also disagree with my friend, but in the absence of a crash programme, in the absence of anything else. Mr. Deputy Speaker, these people are saying that this will bring confusion in the teaching profession. What do we have, Mr. Deputy Speaker? 75 per cent and, in some areas, even 90 per cent of the teachers who are teaching our children are unqualified. They are refusing this and the only alternative is we are going to have people who do not know anything about teaching, and even a man like me, who has not been a teacher, I can now straight away go to a class and start teaching Standard I. I do not even know how to teach, but I will go there and teach.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, the best thing will be that these people should be given some coaching, some amount of training so that they will be capable when they go out. Again, this will also be able to attract the teachers. This will help. Mr. Deputy Speaker, to make sure that when they are leaving with school certificate all of them will not be running to Shell, because if you give them some amount of training, you must also be able to pay them a little bit more. But now, Mr. Deputy Speaker, what happens is that when somebody is leaving with school certificate, he wants to come to Nairobi and get a job with a company where he will get a little bit more money, because if he goes to the teaching department, the teaching department will give him very little money. Because of that, the best of our brains are not going into the teaching profession. How are you going to improve the country if the best of the brains go to work for Shell Company, for maybe Power and Lighting, for Overseas Touring Company, and so on?

These people should be helped to be maintained there. Now, Mr. Deputy Speaker, this should be taught, because this will introduce into the mentality of the students that there is also an interesting profession called teaching. How do they know it is interesting, if you do not even tell them anything about it? Maybe one of the reasons why this may not be accepted is that if you teach these people, they will be able to see that their teachers do not know how to teach them, because some of the teachers they have who are teaching in high schools have never been given any training on teaching. The Assistant Minister is now looking at me. For instance, the people you have introduced into the country, who are teaching, have never had

[Mr. Anyieni] in teaching. These people have no training in teaching, and when they have had any training on teaching, and when the Minister is looking at me, he knows he is not being honest.

The hon. Members who have already spoken have said that these people should concentrate on their academic studies, so that they can pass the examination. What kind of examination is that? If you introduce teaching as a subject also, you will have to give them an examination on that, but what the Assistant Minister and the other Members who spoke are actually saying is that they are fully colonised and they do not want change. Mr. Deputy Speaker, what I mean by this is this: All our children are now taking School Certificate. Where is this School Certificate Examination being written? It is written in Britain and, therefore, because this does not—

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mwaeso): On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, could the hon. Member substantiate that the examinations which our children do are written in Britain?

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Deputy Speaker, I hope you will not allow my time which he has taken to be wasted. I will substantiate just now—

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order—

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! Order! There is a point of order being dealt with now, Mr. Shikuku, please sit down.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, the Assistant Minister is the most ignorant Minister I have seen.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): No, no, Mr. Anyieni—

Mr. Anyieni: Just a minute, Mr. Deputy Speaker, just a minute. I am going to prove—

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! Order! Mr. Anyieni. You are asked to substantiate an allegation made by you. You do not substantiate by saying that the Assistant Minister is the most ignorant person. Please withdraw if I do not want any insults being flung across when you are, in fact, as it were, in the dock to substantiate.

Mr. Anyieni, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, the reason why I said this is this: If I cannot substantiate it, I will withdraw, but let me substantiate. The Overseas Cambridge School Certificate is not written in Kenya, it is written in Britain. Mr. Deputy Speaker, and this is what I said. It is true, he knows it, it is not written in his Ministry.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I do not know if you are going to rule that the hon. Member's substantiation is not correct, because I think it is confusion over the language. I think the examination is written here but set in Britain.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Yes, I think you are quite correct. I think Mr. Anyieni's statement was a slip of the tongue. I think what he quite clearly meant was that it was set in England. I think it is quite clear now what he, in fact, means.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Deputy Speaker, what I said is completely correct: the examination papers are written, are set, are what—I do not know what you call it, set or written, or what; it all means the same in my mind. You must know I am not an Englishman. If you people have become too English, it is your problem.

So, Mr. Deputy Speaker, these students must take an examination written in Kenya, and soon we must move out of these examinations being set in Britain. These examinations should be written here, should be set here. We have professors like Dr. Omingde; we have here a person who was a professor in Makerere, who is now the Minister to the "Minister of No Planning". I think these people can help to write, and if the teaching profession is included, they will also be able to put it as one of the papers which will be done by these people.

Mr. Deputy Speaker; I must support what the hon. Odera-Joyi said about the teachers leaving, because if we continue to train them and we do not do something to keep them, we are wasting money. What happens in the country today, Mr. Deputy Speaker, is that a teacher is trained, the Government spends a lot of money on training him and after he has taught for one or two years, he is frustrated because some of his friends who did not go to that profession and did something else find themselves in very enjoyable, lucrative jobs and they are better off. So if the Assistant Minister—the Minister should be here, not the Assistant Minister, to deal with this matter of policy, Mr. Deputy Speaker—can report this to the Ministry, the Ministry should be able to take immediate steps at least to make sure that those K.T.I.s, or P.I.s as you call them now, should be helped to stay. They must be able to stay. You must find a way of helping them to stay. Maybe you will promise them that if they do very well after some time they will get something bigger in some other place, so that they do not have to leave without the Government preparing the ground.

[The Assistant Minister for Foreign Affairs] headmaster of the school is responsible for the untrained teacher. He has to see that his work is properly done. If untrained teachers are properly handled, then they can be very, very useful in the shortage we are facing at this moment.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, this is a big problem which is facing everybody. We should face it in the right manner. I am sorry I cannot support this Motion because it does not solve the present problem; it only creates new problems that we do not want at present.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Kibaki, I take it you are speaking on your own account?

The Assistant Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Kibaki): That is right, Mr. Speaker. It is one of these rare occasions when we can speak as Members of constituencies.

Mr. Speaker, really I have only two points to make. I think enough has been said to convince our friend here the good intentions he has cannot be solved in the manner that he proposes. I hope really that he will see fit not force us to vote now that we have persuaded him that there are better ways of solving this problem.

What I would like to propose to him particularly, Mr. Speaker, is that there is a very good way of utilizing the Forms III, IV, V and VI in this country, which perhaps is what he ought to join me in trying to promote. Now, I had occasion a little while ago, Sir, to propose that these students should be used during their vacation for the purpose of educating the 4 million adults in this country, who have not had the chance to get a formal education. I propose, Mr. Speaker, that we should utilize these students during their vacation to teach the adults. Now, the hon. Member clearly is not aware of the fact that in order to be able to teach adults in the modern method you do not need a long course, you do not need long training. If he had volunteered to come and teach some of the classes we have started in Nairobi, he would be aware that he would only need about three days' tuition to qualify him to go and teach adults. Therefore, Sir, this is the best way to utilize these students. Give them vocational jobs, let them get the national spirit, that this is a national service to educate those of their brothers and parents on whom the whole economy today depends, because we tend to overlook this major fact, Mr. Speaker, that the production on which the whole country now depends is, in fact, being carried out by a lot of illiterate labour which is now adult. If this illiterate labour could be taught how to read and write, this would open new horizons for them, open new ways, new scopes for better and more productive methods of production. Now, this is what we ought to employ these people in.

Now, Mr. Speaker, since it was announced by the President of this Republic, that we are going to give free education to students in Forms V and VI, indeed this is the more reason why we should call them to show a little bit of Harambee spirit by volunteering to teach the adult illiterates during the vacations. They do not need, as the hon. Member for Majoo-Bassi is shouting, training in a formal school career. What they need, Mr. Speaker, is four days a week training at the Literacy Centre in Nairobi to teach them how to do the business, and they will be able to do it perfectly well. That is the job we ought to give these students. Indeed, that ought to be made a national service. As a matter of fact, Sir, if I had my way, before these students left for other careers, even for university, it would be made compulsory for them to give one year's national service in the form of teaching the adults who are today illiterate. That would be a perfect way of training them.

Mr. Speaker, I only have one point to add to what has been said as to the reasons why the teachers are leaving their present jobs and seeking for better employment. Enough has been said on this and I know that there is a commission. The Assistant Minister for Education will be speaking on those matters. However, I would like to add one point because in the middle of all this emotion, we tend to forget it. It is true that the teachers ought to have better services than they now have, but it is equally true that as things are today, the Ministry of Education's budget—which is one of the highest budgets of all the Ministries we have here—is still incapable of supporting very much higher salaries than the teachers are getting today. So, therefore, the hon. Members in this House, when they want that the educational service should become more expensive than it is today, will have to choose sometimes between promoting that service and other services which they want. This is a very useful thing to keep in mind because we have only that limited amount of resources.

Finally, Mr. Speaker, before I sit down, can I take again this opportunity to blow the trumpet of the literacy campaign being carried out in this country? If the hon. Members in this House will teach—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Kibaki, in this debate I do not think you can blow that trumpet very much.

The Assistant Minister for Economic Planning and Development (Mr. Kibaki): Mr. Speaker, I only want to draw the attention of this House to the fact that now that a campaign has been started, each one of us should teach one adult. Let us start a literacy class in each constituency and let us recruit the services of these students during their vacation. In this way we will be doing a much better job than confusing the programme of education, which the Member wants us to do.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Mutiso, you quit for Government, do you?

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): Yes, Sir.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not think the Government has much to say on this Motion because a lot has already been said by the former teachers who have educated this House. They have told us which are the best teaching methods which are necessary for our schools.

As I have already been stated by many speakers, education is such a difficult to define. What is education as a subject? Everyone of us here is educated and you, Mr. Speaker, as well as educated. However, it is difficult to say, "Let us introduce a subject in a school to be known as education," as the Motion asks.

If we take the methods we are using in our schools, you find, Mr. Speaker, in Forms IV, V and VI, particularly from Forms I to IV, that our children have at least eight subjects which they must study. This opens the way for them for the time to decide what career each one of them will like.

Now, education, as such, is a profession and it will be very difficult to introduce a further subject in the schools, because this will deprive the students of the opportunity of carrying on with one of their most important academic subjects in the schools. As has already been pointed out by many of the speakers here, in Forms IV, V and VI we have all sorts of people. We have people going to be doctors, some studying to be engineers, and other kinds of professions. If we introduce education as a separate subject in those classes, this means we shall force students to study unnecessary subjects which, even when they have their academic qualifications, will not encourage them to pioneer in those particular

So, it is wise that we continue in the way we have been doing. When a student has completed his studies, either Form IV, V or VI, the way is open to him to decide what profession he would like to carry on with. It is then that he will be trained for it. For example, a teacher as such is a person who must be trained. He must be trained in that particular line, what and how to teach. It is not enough for one to have education in school; after completing his studies a student qualifies to be a teacher. That is why, I think, my colleague, who is a former teacher, thought of bringing this Motion. He himself left teaching and I presume he did so because he may not have been aware of the methods of teaching. This is something which one must be trained to do. A person who has completed Form VI has learnt a lot of things in the school but immediately he finishes his studies he cannot claim to be an engineer or a pilot. He must go away to be trained as a pilot or as an engineer. The same thing applies to a person who wants to be a teacher. This person must be trained how to teach. He must be taught how to conduct his class, how to prepare lessons and things of that nature.

Mr. Speaker, I would not like to labour this Motion because some of the Members who have spoken, those who have educated some of the Members in this House, have explained this point very clearly; some of them have spoken better than I could myself.

For the reasons I have given, the Government finds it difficult to accept this Motion because it will only amount to adding more problems to those we have at the present moment.

I would like to say something more. As hon. Members have pointed out, many teachers are leaving the profession because this does not seem an attractive one. The salaries are very low, and there are other drawbacks. Now, I think this is a point which the Government has fully considered. We have appointed a local commission. A lot of committees are working on this matter in order to try and produce an acceptable principle of one employer as the teachers have demanded. We are also trying to raise their standards of living. This is something which the Government realizes fully and I think there is no point in any hon. Member trying to say that this is one of the delaying tactics of the Government. This is not true, because we are already looking into this matter together with the Ministry of Labour, and I am sure that in a very short time the findings of the commission will be made known to this House. The case of the teachers has been very effectively discussed. My Ministry is taking a very

[The Assistant Minister for Labour]

I think that everyone is aspiring to a better life, and these teachers cannot tolerate seeing their fellow students, who were with them in the same forms, enjoying a better life either in Government service—

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, on a point of order, is the hon. Assistant Minister speaking as an Assistant Minister or as Member for his areas?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Shikuku is quite right to raise that point. I have asked Ministers, when they speak in a debate, to make it quite clear whether they are speaking for the Government or for themselves. It does help the House to know.

The Assistant Minister for Labour (Mr. Odero-Jowi): Mr. Speaker, I am speaking as Member for Lambwe.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, this is a serious situation which must be recognized; and, because the teaching profession is really the key to the development of this country, let us face this problem and face it boldly.

Sir, the suggestion that the teaching of the principles of education should be introduced at Forms III and IV, and Forms V and VI misses the point. We are training not only teachers. These students from these forms comprise doctors, engineers, surveyors and what not. And at that stage we do not want to make them amateur teachers. We should give them a chance to go through and, at the end of their training, they should select which profession they want to enter. The mere teaching of the principles of education does not make one a teacher. I am sure the Mover of the Motion knows that, in order to become a teacher, one must go through the discipline of the profession. You must learn methods of teaching. You must learn educational psychology, you must learn principles of education; you must learn the modern methods of using various visual aids and the blackboard. And one year's discipline in the principles of education does not make one a teacher.

I therefore think the Motion misses the point. If we want to have more teachers, let us train more teachers. I agree; and once we have trained them let us keep them. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I oppose the Motion because it really misses the point.

Mr. Makokha: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Mover of this Motion must be congratulated on trying to think for the Ministry of Education. The idea he introduces sounds very laudable, but as far as I am concerned, speaking as a former teacher and as a person who has trained teachers, I find these ideas completely impracticable. For that reason, I am going to oppose this Motion. Both the Mover and the Seconder failed to give any example of what educational syllabus they wanted to see introduced in Forms III, IV, V and VI.

Having been a teacher myself, as far as I am concerned, the most important subjects for a teacher are methods of teaching, child psychology and practical teaching. I just do not see, Sir, how it would be possible to introduce methods of teaching in a class, say, Form III or Form IV. Methods of teaching is one of the most important subjects for a teacher; you need to teach them visual aids and how to teach a subject like history or reading or English; and this would move completely away from the syllabus of a secondary school child. So, Sir, I feel that the Ministry of Education should not take this into consideration at all.

What the Ministry needs to do is to make teaching attractive. This is the short cut to producing more teachers in this country. Now at the moment terms of service for the teachers are so bad that even if we train more teachers, the teachers will continue to run away from the teaching service. It is no use training what I might call deserters: you train someone today and the following morning he runs away from teaching. So, Sir, what we must urge the Ministry of Education to do is to make teaching as attractive as possible by making the terms of service for the teachers as good as possible, by giving them, say, one employer, giving them better pay, improving housing, particularly for teachers in the rural areas.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, to support the hon. Mr. Ngala, teaching is a very special profession and if you are going to train somebody as a teacher you need to do it properly. It is not a job—

Mr. Ngala-Abok: On a point of information—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Do you give way, Mr. Makokha?

Mr. Makokha: All right; let us try it.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, I wish to inform the Member that at the moment about 25 per cent of the teachers in the country are untrained and yet the Ministry of Education allows them to teach.

Mr. Makokha: Right, Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is exactly for the same reason that I am opposing this Motion. You see, the fact that we are using these untrained teachers does not support this Motion at all; it would not make me support this Motion. It is unfortunate that we should

(Mr. Makokha) have any untrained people teaching children; it amounts to what I might call even a very serious offence, because they do not teach properly. And in the same way, by getting a few children not trained properly, they are just as bad as untrained teachers.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, Sir, for these reasons, I oppose this Motion and ask the Mover and seconder to think again.

The Assistant Minister for Foreign Affairs (Mr. Mahino): Mr. Speaker, Sir, if we want to bring confusion to this country, let us adopt this Motion, because it assumes, to begin with, that nobody can teach, which is not true. The fact that a child is in Form V or Form VI or Form III or Form II does not necessarily mean that that child is going to be a teacher. Another thing that we also assume here that in order to make a nation of our people we must make all of them teachers. Well, a country is not made up of one profession only; a country is made up of all sorts of other professions. We need engineers, we need doctors, as one hon. Member has just said. Now, if we are going to adopt the method of teaching anyone how to teach, then where are we leading to?

The Motion is very unfortunate, particularly by virtue of the fact that it has come from a former teacher, a former supervisor of schools; it is really shocking. I could have understood it if it had come from someone else who was a medical assistant or something like that, but I think it is very unfortunate indeed that it should have come from a teacher.

There is another point which I would like to raise here. We do not want to make our nation a nation of teachers. There was a time when Britain was known as the nation of shopkeepers, and we do not want to create another nation here of teachers. We want a nation where everybody will be able to participate fully in whatever way he feels he is able to contribute to the development of this country.

Mr. Speaker, this Motion also says that children in Form V and VI should be taught methods of teaching. Well, I do not want to repeat what has been said by other Members; but it has been pointed out that teaching is a profession, a full-time job. It is a profession whereby a man is taught how to develop fully an individual, so that the individual will be fully developed and capable of being useful to the country. This is a big job, it is not a small thing. You have to deal with an individual. You are not dealing with a machine, but with an individual; and you must devote almost the whole of your life, the whole of your skill, the whole of your attention to the child, in order to develop him fully. Now we cannot give this responsibility to a child who is preparing himself for School Certificate, who is fully occupied. We have all passed through this machine of School Certificate or studying for School Certificate. It means a lot, Mr. Speaker. It needs the whole of your brain, the whole of your time; studying, memorizing, reading textbooks and solving problems. Surely you are not going to take this child out again and show him how to treat delinquency? It just cannot be done.

These are the problems which the teachers know and understand, and we know it is impossible. It is true that there are problems; we have a problem here in Kenya, a problem of shortage of teachers, and that of the number of schools which are growing every year almost like mushrooms because of the enthusiasm of the people for education. These are the problems that we are facing at the moment. I know the hon. Mover was trying to solve this problem and he thinks this is a method whereby it can be done. But let us forget this method, let us think of other things. We have just been told of the question of better conditions for teachers which I am sure the Ministry is quite aware of and which it is doing its best to put right; we have been told of the question of employment, that teachers should come under one employer; we have grievances, the salaries, the question of accommodation for our teachers. These are the problems which we know, we who are former teachers. We know these problems exist, and we know the Government is trying very hard to put them right. It is not easy; it cannot be done in a day. But as long as the Government is doing something about it, we should appreciate the achievements which have already been made and also the efforts that are put into trying to solve these problems.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, when we teach we must make sure where we are heading to. A teacher is a man who is creating the future nation of this country. We must know, plan, what we are doing. There are Members who have just said that we are using untrained teachers, and I would advise them that we are doing this of necessity. We would not really like to use untrained teachers.

Mr. Speaker, I am not speaking as a Government Minister, I am speaking as a teacher, a former supervisor of schools and a man who has taken a lot of interest in education.

I know there was a need which led us to take in untrained teachers. Untrained teachers, if properly used, are most useful because they are not allowed to play about with the students. The

[Mr. Ngala-Abok]

In fact, Sir, the Minister will come to this House and say that we want more teachers and that we have to attract people into the teaching profession, so that we can be educated. We want to educate ourselves, but yet when it comes to the question of providing a proper salary for the teachers, providing better houses for the teachers, organizing one employment authority and introducing such things as . . . . . (Inaudible.)

lectures so that more teachers are produced every year, what does the Ministry do? It only appoints a commission. Even on a straightforward thing, we will wake up tomorrow and say, "This is what I want to do, as a Minister", because Sir, as a Minister must have a policy every time you are given responsibility, you must have a policy for yourself, because if you rely on professors and other people who have been disciplined in England and America, when they come here they become involved in so many technical matters affecting other countries which are not relevant to our situation. Reports are set up, say, for two years, and when you come back to election time you find that your education policy is not yet laid down, and you, as a Minister, are mixed up completely. So, Sir, this question of commission after commission being set up will not assist us in anything. It is just like boards, they are also becoming a common thing.

An Hon. Member: That is not relevant.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: It is relevant, Mr. Speaker, Sir, because all we want is for the Motion to be affected. But usually the policy of the Ministry is to go and appoint another commission. For example, in the Ominde Commission Report, is there no suggestion for a lecture to be introduced in these schools? What is that commission doing to see that more teachers are being produced per year? What is that commission doing to see that untrained teachers are not muddling the children? Instead of asking a person who is waiting for his School Certificate results to go and teach, you will be asking a person who has already had one year's teaching lectures in a school, a bright fellow who knows the right method of approach, who knows how to do calculations, and who knows how to impart knowledge into someone's head.

So, in fact, Sir, this is all right, but what I want to say is that the Ministry should try to stop this question of appointing commissions. The Ministry should embark on a plain request which has been put to this House, and I am sure the Ministry is going to accept it in the light of the reasonable argument given by my colleague, the Mover of this Motion.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not see very much substance in this Motion, all that the Motion asks is quite plain here. It says in the Motion, "education syllabus in the final Forms of III and IV or V and VI", and also which says, "one year's training of teachers-to-be who have studied education while in high school". Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not see how the Ministry is going to oppose this plain request. In fact, there is nothing rude about it, and there is no argument which is actually going to involve finances here in doing this and also there is nothing which the Ministry should reject.

Mr. Speaker, Sir I beg to support.

(Question proposed)

Mr. Ngala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, first I would like to say that I am very surprised that the Motion is so woolly and completely incomprehensible. Mr. Speaker, Sir, teaching is a profession, and as a profession it must be done properly. Sir, the Motion here is suggesting a very dull and incomprehensible idea. I am not surprised because I do not think the Mover is an educationist. I think, Sir, that children, after teaching Form III or Form IV or Form V should not be encouraged to become Jacks of all trades. They should be given every opportunity to concentrate in their final year on the academic study, so that they can study properly.

Sir, in making this point, I am opposing the idea of including an education syllabus, during the final year when the children should be seriously studying the academic costs and passing the examination properly.

An Hon. Member: What is academic?

Mr. Ngala: Academic costs is School Certificate level or the Higher School Certificate at Form VI level. This is what I call the academic costs. Therefore, to include a side cost to introduce it, as it were, in order to stand in the way of proper studying of the students is very unwise and it is a waste of time and the money of the students. Therefore, this, I think, is completely improper.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, imagine this being long-term set-up on which the teachers have to be trained. This would be very unfortunate, if the Minister for Education did accept it. I am quite aware that there is a shortage of teachers, but the way to deal with the shortage of teachers is first, to have a short-term programme, a crash programme, involving those boys and girls who have completed their academic studies, and this is possible, we have so many of them in the streets, Nairobi alone or even Mombasa, if they were collected the Minister for Education could get say amount of children they wanted to put into this crash programme of teaching costs. Now, Sir, that would serve the immediate requirement of teachers for primary schools or even intermediate schools, but, Sir, the long-term policy must be that the Education Department must concentrate on working on an original basis, on provincial basis and every province should have one or two centres where all the people who intend to become teachers can be put together and given proper training. The practice in the past of missionaries being left on their own to have small denominational basis, should be discarded, so that the Government takes over the training of teachers completely, and does not leave it to the missionaries or any other voluntary body, and does it properly on large scales.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, Sir, this Motion seems to be sort of filling in a duct, not exactly knowing what to do, but, Sir, I think the Mover should have suggested a crash programme to deal with the short-term policy by getting pupils from different areas who have already completed School Certificate work, instead of muddling these children with their proper studies in the academic costs.

Secondly, Sir, I think the Mover should have noted that the long-term policy is also observed by the Ministry so that on provincial basis real big centres could be undertaken. Sir, I think in the Nyagah Commission or in the Education Commission, there was a special committee set up which dealt with the question of teachers, their recommendations and we have partly seen these, and I think they are on the right move; the move is that in different provinces teachers' centres should be established.

Now, Sir, I would like to reserve my feeling on this Motion, because I do not really think that it is educational. I do not think it is understandable. I do not think the Mover really thought about his country as far as the teaching was concerned, in a long-term way and therefore, as a Motion, I would like to ask the Mover to think again before we cross swords on it.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, when you say the education syllabus, what do you mean by this, because everything a child learns at school is based on an educational syllabus. Of course, from Standard I right up to School Certificate standard the children are educated on an education syllabus. What do you mean by an education syllabus? The explanation was not very clear. If the Mover means a teaching syllabus as a way of inducing Form III and Form IV or Form V and Form VI children to like education as a way of inducing them, then, Sir, I do not think it is necessary. What is needed is for the Ministry of Education to go out and talk to the children at these levels so that they can get them interested in education, and the Minister for Education should advise as to the paying of the salaries so that teaching can be more profitable. After all, the fact that many people do not like teaching now is only a transitional period. It is a transitional period because there are so many posts today, immediately after independence, that the teachers turn to district officers, district commissioners and so on, but this will not be for a long time. This, Sir, is a transitional period. I think Sir, that after three or four years many people will go hunting for teaching jobs and we shall come to a normal stage in the selection of work.

Now, Sir, I would like to suggest to the Mover or his seconder, because this is an important subject and we should not quarrel, that he reconsiders amending his Motion so that he has the short-term crash programme, and secondly, he has long-term programme shown so that we can support him if he is prepared to reconsider the Motion.

The Assistant Minister for Labour (Mr. Odero-Jowi): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I quite sympathize with the motives behind the Motion, but I think the Mover has missed the point. Now there is a shortage of teachers in this country for two reasons: first, we are opening far more schools than ever before, and more teachers are needed to man these schools; the second reason is that we are training as many teachers as we are losing. Now if we want to stabilize the teaching profession, I think we must tackle it from both these angles. On the one hand, we must train more teachers and give them a thorough training so that we can turn out better teachers than before; and also we must tackle it from the other angle, we must keep the teachers we have trained.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the fact of the matter is that a lot of teachers are leaving the teaching profession today. I know this for certain because the employment service of the Ministry of Labour has a lot of teachers who are leaving the teaching profession to look for other jobs. Including me, yes, why not? One of the reasons why a lot more teachers are leaving is that the teaching profession is not attractive. The pay of teachers is still very low. I think this must be recognized. The working conditions of teachers, especially in the rural areas, are terrible. As long as these things still remain, I think the shortage of teachers will last a very long time. I do not agree with the hon. Mr. Ngala that it is transitional;

[Mr. Omweri] more money to build more classrooms, more dormitories and more staff houses because there will be one stream or one year's class every time and students would use the available housing in the existing colleges.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I feel that the Government now should consider a practicable approach to our problem of getting personnel in this country, and this approach is to start right from the Ministry of Education. If the Ministry of Education becomes obstinate and does not accelerate the methods of producing teachers, then all other departments and all other lines will be affected because we will not have enough students going out.

It is also proper here, Sir, that I should refer to another point. When we are told that about 10 per cent of our primary students go into high school, the reason being that we have no finance or we do not have enough teachers to carry out the teaching, we should bear in mind that already the intake in the lower classes—the first classes—is not 100 per cent yet; we are still at about 53 per cent. The rest of the Kenya children are at home, uneducated. If we want to help them, we have to plan right now to see how we can turn out a lot more teachers who will be able to cope when everybody realises that education is important and all students—say, up to 100 per cent of our youngsters—go to school. In this case, if we had enough teachers, we could cope with the educational requirement.

I would also like to refer a little to the fact that the educational report given recently says that the shortage of teachers or the percentage at the moment occupied by unqualified staff is up to about 49 per cent, and by 1970 it will be about 43 per cent. Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Ministry should realise that at the moment, in certain districts, in certain localities, the unqualified staff is up to 70 per cent and the Ministry should be concerned and see that more teachers are trained, so that they go out and do a better job than the unqualified staff is doing. We can only do this by getting students encouraged to go into education, and we can only attract them by introducing this system my Motion is requesting the Ministry to do. We would only like to fight the ignorance in the country by getting good teachers who are well trained and who are capable of carrying out the job in a better way, instead of having the Ministry just sitting and saying, "Well, we are doing what we can."

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the problem is increased by the Ministry itself. Here is one way in which the Ministry is working. In the past, Sir, we had a lot of colleges. Recently, they were reduced to thirty-five. The proposal which the Ministry is now working on is to reduce the number from thirty-five to twenty-four. Now, if you look at that, it is a negative approach. When we are asking the Ministry—

Mr. Malinda: They are enlarging them.

Mr. Omweri: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the interjection is ridiculous because the interjector comes from Machakos and Machakos College was run down plus the High Ridge in Nairobi. The students were taken to Kenyatta College and the T3 or P3 classes have not been taken to Kenyatta College. Where are they? Is that the enlargement you are telling us about?

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the problem is great and it is being increased by the Ministry itself, and we would like them to have a better approach and do a lot more as the country requires them to do.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, this decrease of classes, or decrease of colleges, in most cases is opposed and people do not agree to it. If we are expanding, the Ministry should see that we have more of these colleges and the classes in these colleges should be increased so that more students can be taken. For example, Sir, in my own area, we had Kabianga which used to serve, say, the western part, a part from Siriba. Now, Kabianga was discontinued and was transferred to Kericho as it was felt that that was a more accommodating place than Kabianga would have been; the problem has been that the T3 classes, which were there, which came from Kisii or South Nyanza, are no longer there and there has not been any provision made for students who should have come from these two districts to go to this college, and they now have no place to go. If the Ministry said that they were enlarging their college, then they should have told us that Kabianga which is now Kericho Teachers College would take six more from our area. Then we would have said that this was the enlargement that we wanted. But, if by enlarging they mean reducing the students, then we would not accept this idea where we are flattered that it was being enlarged and when, at the same time, the intake was reduced. If we want to enlarge the intake, then we have to do that practically and so that we can prove that this had been the case.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I feel that the Government should do this and help to accelerate the production of our teaching staff in a better way, so that we shall be able to get students and to get teachers to help our development planning.

[Mr. Omweri]

Turning to one year's college, Sir, the possibility is there. If we had students going into college for one year after they had studied while in high school, it would attract more students to become teachers. At the moment the problem is how to attract students to go to college. In fact, the Minister for Education last year—in this House—asked if we could go and help him to influence students who would like to become teachers. Here is one way of influencing them: tell them that they would only have one year and that this one year would be a concentrated one-year of really good study. In this case, Sir, I would also ask that, because it is cheaper to keep them for one year, the students should be given pocket money because this is one reason why students do not like to go in for education, if they can make money in the first month they are out after their high school. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I feel that this is also practical and the Ministry should accept this and initiate the move to carry it out immediately.

We have also some examples, Sir, that in previous years some students have gone into college in May, they are, in most cases, absent, and, at the end of their two-year course, you find that they have only done three terms' studies and they passed their teaching examination. This is one proof, also, which has led me to move this request that the Government should utilize the one year cost effectively, because we have had some teachers who have had two to three terms' studies and when they go out they become, probably, the best teachers we have.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would say that the problem of getting our economy established properly is to start with education. We believe that education is the key to our progress, education is the key to our development, and we must see that our education system is given a speedier and a more effective means of planning and of producing enough teachers who will be able to cope with the personal training and with more practical work, which we now desire in these countries. We want progress, and progress—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! That is the end of your time, Mr. Omweri. Who seconds? Mr. Ngala-Abok?

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I was just wondering whether it was in order for the Mover not to say that he has moved. He just said, "I do not know whether he has moved."

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It is not necessary for the Mover, having stated his Motion and having said that he moved it, to repeat at the end of his speech that he moves it.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is already clear to the House that the Mover of this Motion has been quite down to earth and very reasonable indeed in introducing the Motion. Members are very much aware of this fact because it is simple and reasonable.

What the Mover is actually requesting the Government to do is to merely introduce a syllabus that would make teaching a pleasant job for those supposed to come out of school and go to teach. This syllabus will involve quite a number of things. One, it will make the teaching profession something that a person comes to know much earlier, and then he will make up his mind as to what he will do next, after he has finished his education. Many of the jobs that we do after school are jobs that we do not prepare for, and usually you find that people switch from job to job because of ignorance as to what job would provide them with a better standard of living and with other amenities of life. So, it is important that in order that we may improve ourselves, in order that we may develop from the beginning, we must introduce a syllabus of some profession in the schools, and the first and most important one is the teaching one. In fact, my colleague has dealt with quite a number of reasons why this should be done, but there is another aspect with which I want to deal.

In order that boys and students may select teaching, or may like teaching, they must also see that opportunities are provided for teaching to become a more attractive job. If we all agree that education is the foundation of improvement in life, and we accept civilization as such, and the system of the educated class, then we must accept the fact that we must make teaching an attractive job by providing proper salaries to these teachers, providing better housing accommodation, by providing one employing authority or at least not putting the teaching service into a confused state of affairs, where teachers never understand who will pay them, who they can negotiate with and where they send their problems. So, we must see that these things are also put in order. In addition to creating a teaching syllabus in schools we must also see to it that teaching becomes an attractive job rather than a thing which people do not like. In fact, the most unfortunate class of our people, the educated class, are teachers; they are so dissatisfied, the Ministry of Education does not seem to care about their state of affairs, they usually leave the services because they are attracted by other jobs, and the Education Department does not care and does not do anything about them.

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Speaker, Sir, somebody was telling me that they were in the majority and that is why I was giving him the reply I did.

Sir, if this country has to progress, some concrete steps must be taken. For example, I have heard so many shouting here shouting about Rhodesia, saying, "We must go and help Rhodesia." What are the Rhodesian Africans themselves doing? If they want help, then they must also learn to help themselves as we helped ourselves during the Emergency.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Mbogoh, that also, is far removed from the subject of this Motion.

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Speaker, I have heard different speeches at meetings and have read different things in the papers where Members of this Parliament, Ministers, everybody, are trying to say that this Government is being undermined by some people. This being the theme of the Motion, I categorically deny this fact. If, at any rate, anybody knows that such things are going on, I think the right action is to go to the department concerned, the police, the Criminal Investigation Department, the Special Branch, and report immediately that somebody who is anti-Government is acting against the Government. It is no use stating rumours to this Parliament, which some people take seriously. Unfortunately, Sir, you find that some civil servants report rumours to the Government; you find that in most cases these rumours are wrong and people being punished unnecessarily, when, often they are not to blame. It may be that somebody did not like their faces and so they have to suffer because of these false rumours.

In ending this Motion, Mr. Speaker, I would thank the President, on behalf of the people of Embu, and Kenya as a whole, for his recent action in changing Ministers in the various Ministries. Here, again, I would urge the President to reshuffle the entire Cabinet so that we have the right Ministers in the right Ministries. I feel that the President has a long time—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! Mr. Mbogoh, you are again wandering far from the subject of the Motion. You must keep to the subject of the Motion.

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move. (Question of the Motion as amended put and agreed to.)

Resolved Accordingly:

THAT this House being aware that numerous elements are working to undermine the authority of our popularly elected Government, as stated by His Excellency the President during his speeches, urges the Government to bring those concerned immediately before a court of justice so that they can be prosecuted.

MOTION

TEACHER TRAINING AT HIGH SCHOOL LEVEL

Mr. Omweri: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move:—

THAT this House being aware of the great demand for teachers upon whom our development planning depends, urges the Government to overcome this problem by introducing—

- (a) education syllabus in the final Forms of III and IV or V and VI;
- (b) one year's training of teachers-to-be who have studied education while in high school.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the necessity for this Motion is great. The importance of it has been expressed by nearly everybody, and even in this House. We find that in our Development Plan it is referred to quite often in several pages, that we cannot do a great deal until we educate our youngsters who will be the future leaders and personnel in various departments of our Government. We can only do this by getting qualified staff to teach these students, or these future personnel who will take over responsibility in our development.

This being the case, Sir, we have to start right from the root. The problem arises from the shortage of teachers. Yesterday, Sir, when the Assistant Minister was dealing with a question regarding Form I intake, the reason he gave this was not possible was that there were not enough teachers to carry out education if the number of Forms was to be increased. If we are to hide behind the shortage of teachers we have, then we have to face the real problem and educate our trained teachers so that we can be armed to fight the problem we have of educating our youngsters. The only way we can do this is by accelerating the system we already have, of training teachers. The system is to have the students, while at high school, doing some studies in the education syllabus so that when they go to college, they are able to spend a shorter time there. In this way we will be able to produce a good number of teachers every year to go to the field.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, my reason for moving this Motion, and why I believe it is practicable, is that the Forms I have referred to are classes of senior students, students who are capable to do a lot more than what they do at present, students who, if guided properly, could utilize their time,

(Mr. Omweri) even their weekends, to do extra studies, professional studies, to prepare them for their future careers.

Last year, Sir, the Minister for Labour and Social Services gave out how a career could be chosen. Now, we have to instil this in the secondary schools so that students know exactly what careers they would like to follow. In this case, I believe, if the students were given some guidance by the Ministry they could utilize their time while at school in a much better way than at present. In this way we could get more of them interested in education.

One other reason why I feel this is quite practicable, Sir, is that the educational syllabus or principles of education, I would like to see introduced in schools, is so related to the normal subjects the students take, that there would not really be an extra problem to the students themselves; it will not even be a problem to the teachers to prepare the subjects and lecture to the students because these will be exactly what they are doing, except that the subject matter will be modified. We want our students to go out, ready equipped with material to become careerists in the teaching profession. So, I see no reason why the Ministry should not accept this good proposal.

There is still another reason why I believe this is a practicable suggestion. I believe that in the past when teachers were really in great demand, the Colonial Government used this same method and introduced that while a student was doing his final class, he also combined the professional side of it. In this way teachers were turned out, they went out to schools and did a very good job of teaching. They became good teachers. I do not see why this should not be done now.

An Hon. Member: Which year?

Mr. Omweri: 1931. If you want places, I can give them to you.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I also believe that this is possible because even graduates, when they go to colleges or universities, after their bachelor's degree, should they decide to become teachers, they find that they have covered most of the educational methods or principles of education; and they only go for one year to do a teaching diploma and they come out as teachers just after one year, they do not take two years as our teachers take. This is quite possible if it is taken a step below, so that our high school students also go out after one year of training and, therefore, become useful; and we need a lot more of these teachers to do the job.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to raise one other point to show why I believe this is possible. It is the problem we have of unqualified teachers in the field. We can only eliminate this great number of unqualified teachers who are doing pretty badly at the moment by training teachers properly. We can only train them properly if we give them time and give them encouragement while they are at school, so that when they go out to college, they are already equipped to take a shorter time and to specialize more efficiently in what they are going to do when they go out. In this case, Mr. Speaker, I feel that the only way we can fight it is by introducing the system I have proposed, of students, while in their final forms, doing some educational studies, so that they are ready to go out and replace or displace the unqualified staff which the Ministry of Education is still encouraging, saying that they should be used, but they make a lot of mess in the education department. We want them to be displaced and, if possible, completely removed from the field, and we want to have qualified staff. We can only have qualified staff if we use an accelerated method of producing more teachers.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, this, I believe, would help the Government a great deal. My suggestion does not cost the Ministry any extra money; in fact, it is a cheaper way of running this particular Ministry. A student takes two years in college and the Government spends quite a lot of money to keep the student in training. If my suggestion was accepted, Sir, it would be cheaper for the Ministry to use the same money it spends in secondary, the final forms, to get these students to do some extra job or some extra course, so that when they go out they are capable of helping our Government much more quickly. In this case, financially, Sir, I feel that the Government will find it fit to agree with my suggestion and to practise it, so that it is cheaper for them. They give us the reason that they have no finance to educate people or to train teachers or to build colleges, but here is a simpler method which saves Government money and helps the country to run faster than the speed at which it is now running. I feel if the Government accepts this, then there is a saving already for one year for every student who should have gone to college to become a teacher. Mr. Speaker, I feel that the Government should utilize this opportunity and practise it.

It will also be cheaper, Sir, from the point of view of accommodation. If the Government accepted my suggestion and students went in for one year, it would be cheaper—or it would be easier because Government would not need a lot

[Mr. Gichoya] officers have executed all the leading political characters in that country; and now the country is left with just disciplined army officers, who have no political background and have no human failings so as to determine an issue on its own merits and the merit of the bullet. This, Sir, is exactly what some of us have been trying to emphasize in public meetings, that the Government must give us this and the public will be kept cool and satisfied and then this machinery will be run right as a State. But, Sir, if those things have been interpreted by the civil servants as things leading to people trying to overthrow the Government, then I think the intentions of the civil servants who are giving this information to the Government are meant to undermine the Government, by the civil servants. This, Sir, is what I personally see is going on, and if the Ministry can give us a contrary view, then I will say that there are civil servants who are working for, and not against, the Government, and also some politicians, including Gichoya, might be told also that they are working against the Government.

With these few words, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I stand to say that there must be immediate proof given by the Kenya Government, that there are people who are undermining our Government, so that we can be aware of them, and meet them squarely.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move that the word, "immediately" in the amended Motion be deleted, for the reasons that my colleague, Mr. Osogo, gave.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso) seconded.

(Question of the amendment to the amendment proposed)

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): We have five minutes left in which to discuss that.

Mr. Khalifi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I rise to oppose the amendment to the amendment. I am stating my reasons.

Sir, if it is accepted and known that there could be elements in Kenya who are trying to undermine the authority of our popularly elected Government, there is no reason why those elements should not be brought immediately before a court of justice. If the Government tries to evade the responsibility of bringing any elements who are trying to undermine the authority of the popularly elected Government, then it only indicates that it fails in its duty. We have heard what has happened in so many countries in Africa; there have been about eight States in the last three months where coups d'Etat have taken place. Now if you are not very careful and if you do not take swift action in respect of those elements who try to undermine the popularly elected Government, then we may as well face the consequences.

With these few words, Sir, I beg to oppose the amendment to the amendment.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, I wish to support the hon. Member who has just spoken. When, Mr. Speaker, a person like the President, people like the Ministers, stand up in public meetings to speak they surely have some confirmation because they have access to the information given by the security forces; and I do not see why people should go around the country that there are people undermining the Government and yet doing nothing about it. If it is true, Sir, that there are people who are undermining the Government, it is proper that even before someone goes to address a public meeting on that issue, those people should already be in jail, so that the Government can say, "We found Mr. So-and-so doing this and now we have locked him up, and if there is anyone else trying to do this he will face the same consequences."

But, Sir, what we fear is that some people after having failed to accomplish certain things which they promised the masses, want now to distract the attention of those masses from the things they were supposed to expect, and so they start telling them, "Oh, there are people who are undermining the Government." When they do this, Mr. Speaker, it is a very dangerous thing because it must be realized that today many of our people are very dissatisfied. Maybe the Members of Parliament and the top civil servants are satisfied and see the benefits, but there are many people who are jobless and handless and they are still suffering. And when these people hear someone say, "Oh, there are people trying to undermine the Government", they think perhaps these people can help them; they are suffering and they think that perhaps such people would come and help them.

I think, Sir, that it is because some of these gentlemen are politically bankrupt that they make these statements; they have now nothing to tell the masses and the only thing they can say to the masses is, "Oh, there are people who want to destroy the Government." What happens sometimes is that some people, after having refused to present the problems of their constituencies in this House, after having refused fully to represent their constituents, go around telling the masses even something which is non-existent.

[Mr. Anyieni]

What I think should be done, Mr. Speaker, is that if there is a thing like that—The Attorney-General keeps on saying this; the other day he gave a very long statement to the Press, in which he said, "If we hear of anyone who is trying to create commotion and this and that, that person will be dealt with." But, Sir, when one man, the hon. Mr. Nyamweya, the newly appointed Minister of State to the President's Office, spoke on the radio, he said, "In Kisi, there are people who are trying to overthrow the Government." He even said that there were people who were planning to shoot the President when he went to Kisi District.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I am afraid I have to interrupt you now, Mr. Anyieni, we have reached the time for the Mover to reply. And we have also to dispose of the amendments.

The first question that I have to put to the House is that the question of the amendment be amended by leaving out the word "immediately".

(Question of the amendment to the amendment, that the word proposed to be left out be left out, put and negatived)

(Resumption of debate on the first part of the amendment)

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I now have to put the question of the amendment, which is in two parts; and normally we were premature in discussing the wording, because the first question the House has yet to decide is that the words proposed to be left left-out of the question. That is, if hon. Members refer back to the original Motion, that all words after the words "urges the Government to", the words "name these people" onwards, be left out of the question.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): The question then is, that the words proposed to be inserted be inserted, that is the words "bringing those concerned immediately before the court of justice so that they can be prosecuted".

(Question of the second part of the amendment, that the words proposed to be inserted, be inserted, put and agreed to)

(Question of the Motion as amended proposed)

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Speaker, in accepting that amendment, I feel that it does not matter whether my words are omitted or not, as long as the Motion is to the effect that these people, who have been spoken about by the Ministers, the President, the Members of Parliament, will be brought to court and be revealed to the people of this country.

Mr. Speaker, the member of the Government who replied to the debate was just about to move an amendment to this Motion, saying that "immediately" must be removed, and I thought that he was not the Minister of State and a good agriculturalist should not be a very good politician sometimes!

So, Mr. Speaker, to continue replying to this Motion, I usually contend that the President of this country is the sower of seeds, and if he sows some unhealthy seeds among the people of this country I think the results will be that most of the plants, that is, the Ministers and the Members of this House, will be weak too, and it will be difficult for him to control the aspirations of these people as long as they get out of hand.

Mr. Speaker, the policy of "if you are not my friend, you are my enemy's friend" in Kenya should cease immediately. If you are not aligned with this, everybody who is aligned with that says that you are aligned with the other. It is most difficult, and a very wrong thing to imagine in this country. We must have very, very honest politicians who know exactly what they are doing; and if they do not know what they are doing, I think it is time this House was dissolved and some mature people were brought to Parliament so they can represent their country properly. If anybody came to represent his own tummy, I think it would be very wrong; and he should go back home and tell his people he has failed politically.

Mr. Speaker, we know that the enemies of African Socialism work very hard day and night, and when African Socialism is brought to bear you find that many of us do not have our own brand of socialism included in that paper. I now suggest that at any time this paper is revised, the wishes of all the tribes of Kenya must be sought, not just two tribes sitting together and pretending that they know all about African Socialism.

Mr. Speaker, what I was going to comment on here is that if no action is taken about this paper on African Socialism, you will always find that the majority, as they call themselves, are not the authoritative majority. If you count all the tribes of Kenya, you find there are many more than just Kikuyu and Luo here.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): But, Mr. Mbogoh, I think we are getting away from the subject of the Motion.

Friday, 28th January 1966

The House met at 9 o'clock.

[The Speaker (Mr. Slade) in the Chair]

PRAYERS

PAPER LAID

The following Paper was laid on the Table:—
The Appropriation Accounts, other Public Accounts and the Accounts of the Funds for the year 1964/65; together with the Report thereon by the Controller and Auditor-General.

(By the Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru))

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Mr. Speaker, Sir, copies of the Report will be available to hon. Members in the course of the next few days.

MOTION

PUBLICATION OF NAMES OF SUBVERSIVE PEOPLE

THAT this House being aware that numerous elements are working to undermine the authority of our popularly elected Government, as stated by His Excellency the President during his speeches, urges the Government to name these people publicly, so that the people of this country may beware of their activities and refuse to deal with them in every way.

(Mr. Mbogoh on 10th December 1965)

Amendment proposed:—

THAT the Motion be amended by deleting all the words after the words "urges the Government to" and inserting in place thereof the following words:—

"bring those concerned immediately before a court of justice so that they can be prosecuted".

(Mr. Shikuku on 10th December 1965)

(Resumption of debate on the first part of the amendment that the words proposed to be left out be left out interrupted on 10th December—1965)

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I would remind hon. Members that this is a continuation of a debate and that there are only twenty-seven minutes still to run. An amendment had been proposed, as noted on the Order Paper, and I think I had ruled that debate on that should be combined with debate on the main question; and Mr. Osogo was speaking with seven minutes still to go.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): May I know from you, Sir, if I am allowed to amend this Motion before the question of the amendment is put, the amended Motion?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You want to move an amendment of the amendment?

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): Yes, Sir.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, if I have it in writing, and I have not yet.

Mr. Mbogoh: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, is it in order for the Government to amend the Motion again when it was accepted by the Government as amended?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, they can have second thoughts.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): Actually, the hon. Member who has just raised a point of order has forgotten exactly what had taken place when I was replying for the Government on this Motion. If he refers to the HANSARD report of the day, on page 1006, he will find out that I had actually proposed, in the course of my speech, that the Government was accepting the amended Motion, but deleting a word in that Motion. As such, the Government had not accepted the amended Motion fully, as the hon. Mr. Mbogoh has just stated on a point of order.

Mr. Speaker, the Government, as I have said earlier on, on the 10th December, has a lot of sympathy with this Motion and feels that the country should be calm and should be told the Government policy as advocated by this Government and that every leader in this country should be able to put to the citizens of this country the policies of this Government, both in public and in private.

The Government, in accepting the amended Motion, Sir, is fully aware that it needs time to bring those who are committing crime in undermining the Government or who are making statements that would undermine the Government; to justice. As the Government needs this time they accept this amended Motion, so that these people could be brought to justice. But, Sir, the Government does not accept the word "immediately" as in the amendment proposed by the hon. Mr. Shikuku. The amended Motion, if I may remind hon. Members, with your permission, Mr. Speaker, would read:

"THAT this House, being aware of numerous elements are working to undermine the authority of our popularly elected Government as stated by His Excellency the President during his speeches, urges the Government to bring those concerned immediately before the court of justice so that they can be prosecuted."

Then accept, Sir, but only with a minor amendment, that of removing that word "immediately". This is because, as I have said, the Government needs time in which to find these people, out and being able to prove beyond doubt in a court of law that they have committed a crime. So, that is why we accept the amendment, but wish to delete the word "immediately".

I do not want to waste much of the House's time and, with your permission, if this amendment to the amendment could be accepted I would ask the House to kindly accept the Government amendment.

With these remarks, Sir, I beg to move the amendment.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I am afraid, having regard to Standing Orders, I cannot allow Mr. Osogo to move that amendment, because our Standing Order is quite clear and we must adhere to it. I think Standing Order 37 says "The proposal of an amendment, shall, before moving it, have the amendment in writing, signed by himself, to the Clerk." Now, this is only a very small amendment, but if we start relaxing that Standing Order we shall not know where to stop. So, I would suggest that another Member of Government now writes out this amendment, signs it, and hands it to me and then moves it. There is still time though not very much time; the Mover is due to reply at 9.20.

If any hon. Member wishes to speak meanwhile—

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, we have accepted responsibility and we accept, also, that whatever is given to the public must also equally rest the responsibility of the leaders of this country. It would be wrong to say that there is something cooking in this country; at the same time for a Government to come forward and say that they are still to get it— if the Government is aware of people plotting against the Government it is up to the Government to take immediate steps and, as the hon. Assistant Minister has tried to put forward, the Government must have adequate time to prove its case beyond any reasonable doubt before a court of law.

I would like to say, Mr. Speaker, Sir, that my Minister or civil servant before he makes a statement in the Press, or puts a statement in the Press, that there are people trying to undermine the authority of this country, should think twice or thrice before doing so and should be sure that at any moment if he were requested by the public to produce evidence to show that there are people plotting against the Government, then he should be prepared to do so. Mr. Speaker, Sir, when the Assistant Minister tries to say that the Government is not yet ready, at this moment, to produce evidence which might lead to the prosecution of these people who are trying to undermine our own authority, it shows that the Government is working under the coverage of fear, and a Government, Sir, working under the coverage of fear must have a guilty conscience over certain things which ought not to have been done by the Government.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, in this case, what I am trying to say is this. At times some people have challenged the Government on public platforms and this is all right as it is a part of politics and it is allowed, because if the Government has not done, and is not going to do, this, then people are bound to complain. Now, Sir, if that means that people are trying to undermine the authority of the Government, then I feel that that might lead to a dictatorship whereby you see a mistake being committed but you keep "mum", because if the manager says, that there is something wrong here, you are then told that you are plotting against the Government.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I know that the Government are being fed with material by people who were against the coming into being of the Kenya nation. I do not need to elaborate that much, because it is well known that our Civil Service, by the process of Africanization, is filled with people who are anti-Kenya, anti-Kanu and anti-nationalists. Therefore, Sir, the Government of today is the Government of the party; Government of the nationalists. Sir, those people who like to see that the Government fails will also try to say to the Government, that such and such a politician is working against the Government. Mr. Speaker, Sir, we are the makers of the Government, and therefore, if we are the makers of the Government, we will see that it goes in the right direction. I am going to make that in this House, and not outside, and therefore, to do so it means correcting the mistakes so that we do not give any room to the Army. If we fail as politicians to correct the mistakes that might crop up in the course of executing the duties of the Government, then the man to do this will be the army officer, and we might be faced then with the same situation as we see today in Nigeria, whereby the army

[Mr. Mwanzandi.] The ordinary person who is not working should pay all of his tax by December, if he is paying in two instalments. If he is not paying in two instalments, the first instalment should be completed by June every year, so that we know that he, too, is given half time to pay, but not taken to pay within three months.

An Hon. Member: And the Minister pays in twelve months.

Mr. Mwanzandi: Another most important point, Mr. Speaker, I have seen that some of us have already forgotten our people who have voted for us. It has been very sad. During the colonial régime tax raids, during tax raids you see old people, you see poor people arrested and taken to detention camp—the colonial régime had decided on the detention camp. Our own Government has decided to put these people in prison.

This is a very bad thing. It is not in line with African Socialism. Mr. Speaker, Sir, tax defaulting cannot be a criminal case, but a civil case. If a poor person could not pay Sh. 48 during a period of twelve months, he is brought before the court, after a certain period, and charged for non-payment of personal tax and imprisoned, or else he has to pay a fine for default of paying tax of about Sh. 350. Now, Sir, if he could not pay that Sh. 78 or Sh. 48 during the year, then how can he pay the fine which is Sh. 350? This, Sir, is a mockery to this Bill. He cannot pay that money. Sir, it should have been identified that if Mr. Patel, who is very rich, deliberately refuses to pay that tax within a set period he should be taken to court for conviction, then that would be better, because we know that he is rich, or else a Minister who is very rich—

An Hon. Member: Or Mwanzandi for that matter.

Mr. Mwanzandi: Yes, or Mwanzandi for that matter, but that does not identify anything. Therefore, Sir, this will lead to the poorest people being taken to court, fined or imprisoned unnecessarily, and we shall find that most of them will unfortunately go to prison as they are unable to pay their fine, because they have already been unable to pay their taxes.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like the Minister to get one thing into his head and that is that that section which refers to the imprisonment and fining of these poor people when they do not pay their taxes within a certain period should be removed from this Bill, or it will be very difficult for us to pass this Bill. I cannot commit my people, Mr. Speaker, Sir, because I know them. They are poor, I have been paying taxes for about seven people in my area. But Sir, this is only identified for the rich. We know them, they own the shops and the big companies. Sir, if we were to put it in here that this section refers to someone we know who is running a business, that, Sir, would be better, but not to my people who are today called squatters, and do not even have crops, because they have been taken over by an Indian, who will take him to prison because of non-payment of tax. I do not like this. It can never be a criminal case.

Another thing, Mr. Speaker, Sir, which I would like to say here is about the stamps which are given after payment. We have seen, Sir, that it has incurred a lot of expenses and sometimes doubled the expenses. I pay for a stamp and it is lost, and there is no duplicate. If I had fixed stamps, say worth Sh. 600 on to a card, and lost the card, then I would have to begin afresh, there is no duplicate. That, Sir, I think is very bad. I think that the stamps should be in duplicate, because our people sometimes lose a stamp and sometimes these stamps are stolen by thieves, and so on, therefore, that is why I think they should be in duplicate so that there will be a record that so-and-so did buy a stamp, but that he has either lost it or it has been stolen, and then he can get another one for perhaps one-third the price he originally paid for the stamp. I think, Sir, that the Minister should take this into account and the old system of stamps was very, very bad, and that it should be reviewed. At the moment, there is no record as to who bought a stamp and, therefore, if they are lost they have to begin afresh.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to finish up with another thing, which I would like to say and that is with regard to assessment. This assessment has been very, very bad for the last two years, because I have seen, in some cases, very old people being asked to pay taxes which they could not possibly pay. I would like the Minister to inform these administrative officers to make a note that it would be better for these ordinary people who do not run any kind of business at all, or do not have enough finances and subsistence, at the age of 60 or 65, they should be exempted. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have seen, during the colonial régime, very old people, and some of them almost naked, being arrested, brought before a court for the non-payment of taxes. We knew very well that these people could not possibly pay taxes, and therefore, I feel that our Government today should also think of these poor people who cannot pay their taxes, and that they should be exempted immediately. I do not see any reason as to why they should not be exempted. Sir, I

[Mr. Mwanzandi.] I understand that the assessment committee is almost a local committee, but some of them being jealous, for one reason or another force the others to pay taxes without any consideration at all. They should be informed of this.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the time has not been specified in this Bill. It has not been specified as to what time tax, or if there is a tax raid, can work. It might be there again, as I saw it during the colonial régime, that the tax raid will begin about three o'clock in the morning. This was very, very bad. Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Minister, I feel, should specify the time of the tax raid. Although it was specified in the Criminal Procedure Code during the time of a raid—let them be settled as the animals are during the night. During the night let everyone rest, and let everyone do their business during the day. But, Sir, they should not be disturbed when they are very happy on the bed with their—I saw, gentlemen, these Tribal Policemen, during the raid, going round raiding the houses at three o'clock, and, of course, the gentlemen ran away and the women were raped. Rape was often committed during tax raids, because it was night. It was right. Some Tribal Policemen stole things, such as money—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! You are getting rather far from the merits of this Bill, I think, Mr. Mwanzandi.

Mr. Mwanzandi: Anyway, Sir, it looks as if the time is up and therefore, I would like to finish up with these few remarks. I would very, very much like to oppose the Bill as it stands.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It is too near time for the interruption of business to call on any other hon. Member, I think.

ADJOURNMENT

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It is now time for the interruption of business. The House is now adjourned until tomorrow, Friday, 28th January, at 9 a.m.

The House rose at thirty minutes past Six o'clock.

WRITTEN REPLY TO QUESTION

Question No. 142.

TARMAK ROADS IN KISII DISTRICT

Mr. Anyien asked the Minister for Works, Communications and Power:—

(a) Would the Minister tell the House the number of tarmacked miles of road there were in Kisii District.

(b) How did this compare with other districts of comparative farm production.

(c) What improvements did the Government intend to make to the roads in Kisii District.

The Minister for Works, Communications and Power (Mr. Mwanjumba): (a) I assume that the question relates to the Kisii County Council area and if this is the case, then present length of bituminized road is 13.9 miles, all of which are on trunk roads.

(b) It is extremely difficult to compare one area or utilization of roads in one part with another part of the country. In the first place, it is not clear what the hon. Members means by "comparative farm production". It is not clear whether it means an area where similar crops are raised, or an area where a similar weight or volume of crops are produced, or an area growing the same value of crops but not necessarily of the same type.

Furthermore, the roads do not serve local purposes only, but also carry traffic passing through and although it might be that two areas have comparable farm production the location of the two areas might be very dissimilar. There might be a considerable length of trunk road carrying a large volume of through traffic, while the other carrying little of such traffic.

I understand that figures for total farm production are not available; but if the question requires a comparison between areas which export similar value of farm produce, then the comparable county council area is Murang'a. (It am not sure if this comparison is still valid) but it is from the figures provided by Ministry of Economic Planning and Development.)

In the latter county council area there is a total of forty-eight miles of bitumen road of which thirty-four miles are trunk roads carrying one of the greatest volume of traffic in the country, whereas trunk roads in Kisii County Council area carry little of such traffic. The other fourteen miles are on secondary roads.

(c) As regards the third part of this question, I am glad to inform the hon. Member that first the Government intends to bring to gravel standard the Kisii-Ahero and Kijaur-Sotik Roads and reconstruct the Ruja Bridge on the Kisii-Sotik Road, for all of which a contract has already been let. Secondly, the Government is planning the construction and improvement of ten roads. Thirdly there is a proposal for the bituminization of the Kisii-Ahero Road and improvement of Kisii-Isbania and Kisii-Manga Roads to gravel standard.

[Mr. Masinde] work on my shamba or your shamba or anywhere, and get money for the council. We do not want this question of imprisonment, because these are some of the things I would tell the Government. If Government has money for the prisons, then let us give all of this money to the county council to help and give this man a job. We do not want the county councils to be without any money. He has suggested it, it is in the Bill, you should read that.

Mr. Speaker, coming to clause 14, I am afraid I do not know who drafted this thing. Mr. Speaker, my Minister is really muddled. Here he says that in the rural areas it is going to be necessary to have collection by/distrain. What exactly does my Minister mean? According to my own interpretation, I understand by this that if my brother does not pay poll tax and I have some ngombe, the Government will come, tribal police, the police, and they will collect my ngombe to be impounded until my brother pays. This is what it is. Mr. Speaker, we are not going to allow this, I am afraid a person like you, possibly a Minister, will be able to pay for all your brothers, but there are some other poor people who have worked hard; and we agree that there are some other lazy people and others who try to avoid paying poll tax, and if they want to penalize you, they will just say, "That's all, you have to pay for me, whether you like it or not because the Government is there." This one we cannot accept.

An Hon. Member: You read what it says.

Mr. Masinde: Collective; well.

Mr. Speaker, it is on these grounds, Sir, that I am afraid I have to oppose this Bill as it stands.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I thank you very much for giving me this opportunity.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I stand to support this Bill because I, personally, think it is high time that our people were made to understand why they must pay their poll tax. Mr. Speaker, the hon. Members are saying that the people understand why they are paying their poll tax, but I think, if we are honest with ourselves, the hon. Members are quite aware of the situation in the country today, that most of the county councils have run bankrupt. Some of them are being run by the commissioners appointed by the Central Government and others are in the state of collapsing. This is because the people do not know why they should pay their graduated personal tax.

Mr. Speaker, it is true that the two years' experience has shown that when independence came and people were given latitude of paying their graduated personal tax when they wanted, they abused this extension of time given to them by the Government, simply because they felt that the graduated personal tax, or the kodi, as it is generally known by the Africans, was going to the Government, and they did not know why they were paying.

Mr. Speaker, a lot of examples can be given of this, and I think not all the people do not know really why they must pay the graduated personal tax. But some of the people in the countryside take advantage of those who are paying the graduated personal tax, as the hon. Member said. If today I have paid my graduated personal tax, my relatives in my home place will take the opportunity of saying, "If so-and-so has paid his graduated personal tax, when the Government comes we will collect his property and go and sell that, in order to pay for my graduated personal tax." Now, it must be understood, Mr. Speaker, that everyone has to pay for the services which the Government is rendering to the country and this is what this Bill is seeking: there must be no free riders in this country, people who want to live at others' expense.

Mr. Speaker, if I may give an example particularly of my own constituency, at this moment we are supposed to be paying the county council for the consumption of water in Yatta, but a number of people have paid for this water and the majority have refused to pay, simply because the county council of the Administration have no powers to enforce the law and make these people who have failed to pay, pay their taxes.

When I went to the country to ask the people whether it was right for them to pay for this water, the majority of the people agreed that they must pay, that they should pay. But there are sections of other people who feel they should not pay. Now, the county council has no powers to force those who fail to pay to pay for these water rates.

Mr. Anyeni: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, is the Assistant Minister not speaking about matters which are not very relevant, because we are not discussing the paying of water bills, we are discussing the taxes?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I think Mr. Mutiso is within bounds because he is pointing out by example what happens if you have no sanctions for the payment of a tax. He can give examples of what has gone wrong in other places

[The Speaker] through not having such a sanction as this Bill proposes; as long as he does not go on too long on it.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): Mr. Speaker, I was just giving an example of what can happen if there are some loopholes in the law. So, I think, Sir, it is high time that the Government should introduce a law whereby people who fail to pay graduated personal tax should be brought to book, so that we people of this country must pay for the services which the Government gives. Otherwise, we are going to have the free riders who will make other people pay for the services when they are just enjoying a free ride. So, I think, Mr. Speaker, this Bill deserves no criticism because, as the Minister pointed out when he moved the Bill, the experience of two years had already shown that this present law could operate very effectively in places like Nairobi or Mombasa or in the towns, but not in the countryside where the majority of our people have been used to the colonial rule, when they tended only to pay when they saw an askari coming to arrest them. So, people should realize that although we have independence, the Government does not have any factory for manufacturing money, the only factory which is there is the pockets of the people. Therefore, the people must be prepared to pay for the services which the Government is giving them.

So, Mr. Speaker, I think it would be wise for the hon. Members of this House to have any impatience, the Government is trying to introduce a Bill which would penalize the people, but the only thing which the Government is doing is introducing a Bill which will enable the county councils and the Administration to penalize the defaulters, and I am sure no hon. Member here can stand and say that he is going to support the defaulters who fail to pay for their graduated personal tax because he, too, is paying for his own graduated personal tax, so why should not everybody pay? So, I think, Mr. Speaker, the House should give this Bill their whole support so that we can have the money which the country requires to run all the services. The hon. Members of this House always say, "Why can't we have free education, why can't we have many mad bimmized?" These are the things which require money, and this money can only be got from the people, and most of the people do not pay for these services. I think this is the only way in which the Government can collect funds to run all these services and I think the Bill has been brought at the right time, as the experience of two years has shown that most of the people are going to have a free ride because there is no law which can bring them to court.

So, I, personally, support the Bill and hope that most of the Members will do the same.

Mr. Mwangandi: Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker.

I think, Sir, that this is one of the Bills which will be difficult to pass through in this House. I know very well that we need money for the development of our country, but we should always think how we shall get this money. In the way that it is put here, the way the money will be available, will be a bother and will be very difficult for the ordinary person.

Mr. Speaker, first of all it has not been specified—I have seen for many years that unmarried women, those who are not employed, do not pay taxes. I want these unmarried women, Sir, to pay taxes because they earn a lot of money during the night. If we can have all unmarried women lining up for assessment—because we know them, we know how much they get every night—I do not see why we should not tax them because we are taxed. So, Mr. Speaker, I would like the Minister, when he withdraws this Bill, to put that forward for the whole of Kenya; not only the women who are working, but every woman who is earning money by any means, should be taxed.

Another problem, Mr. Speaker, is now against this Bill. The person who is working, Sir, has been given enough time to pay for his tax—twelve months—and this person who is working has a means of getting money. But there are the ordinary person, and some of these people would stay for a month without getting money even amounting to Sh. 10, I can assure you, gentlemen. Here we have seen that that same person who finds it difficult to earn his living is given very tough conditions in this Bill. Those conditions, Sir, are in section 7 of this Bill. If a man who is employed can pay his tax in twelve months, I do not see the reason why that ordinary person—the poorest man—should pay half of the tax within three months. This is impossible.

Another thing, Mr. Speaker, if I, as a Member, can pay for twelve months—I know I get money every month—I do not see the reason why the ordinary person who, perhaps, does not have any job, who would perhaps find it very difficult to get his daily food, should have to pay his whole tax by June. This is impossible. In my opinion, Mr. Speaker, the Minister who is here, should have put it this way here, and if he is not going to withdraw this Bill in that way, I will bring an amendment in that respect. He should put it this

[The Minister for Local Government]

A further alternative, Sir, I think it is the right one, is to collect the tax due from more people. This then is one of the main purposes of this Bill, to make the collection of tax more effective.

Sir, I now come to the changes in the Bill, that is the collection and assessment by administration. We inherited a very varied system of graduated personal tax assessment, and collection, when we took over from the regions.

Sometimes the provincial administration and sometimes the council were responsible; sometimes the responsibility was shared, and sometimes no one seemed to be taking very much responsibility at all.

Sir, experience has shown that the provincial administration is better able to handle the assessment and collection than the county councils. Sir, so one of the ways of improving the system that is contained in the Bill is that all assessment and collection in county areas, other than the collection through employers, should be the responsibility of the provincial administration.

Sir, again we inherited from the regions various systems for the payment of graduated personal tax. In some counties the taxpayer had to pay in one lump. In other counties they permitted two instalments, in others they permitted a self-employed taxpayer to have a card and buy graduated personal tax stamps from the tax clerk. This system of a self-employed taxpayer stamping his own card has not been successful in rural areas. In the towns it has worked well and the Bill permits municipalities at their direct discretion to continue the system, but in county areas, in the light of experience and on the recommendations of the provincial administration, we would permit payment by the self-employed in not more than two instalments.

Sir, a major provision of the Bill is that non-payment of tax would be an offence for which a defaulter could be arrested and if found guilty fined or imprisoned. Now—

An Hon. Member: If we have no money?

The Minister for Local Government (Mr. Sagini): Excuse me now, gentlemen. Now, this is tough. I know, but it is necessary. We have tried publicly, we have tried persuasion, we have tried appeals and I have already indicated what a low proportion of people have paid their tax. We have asked why is the collection so poor and we have looked at the evidence, and the provincial commissioners, the district commissioners and county councils, all have said that the present law is not strong enough. We have got to be tougher on defaulters. Now district commissioners are sensible men, and I do not expect them to start arresting and prosecuting people who cannot possibly afford to pay. They would be laughed out of court. I expect them to use these powers with discretion, and where they find someone is too poor to pay, to advise him to claim remission of tax which the Bill provides for.

Sir, the tough measures in the Bill are aimed at the person who ought to pay, who can afford to pay, but who, so long as he can get away with it, avoids paying his tax, his contribution towards the progress and development of his country.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, my final point is this: I know taxes are not popular and never have been, and I do not therefore expect this Bill to be a popular piece of legislation, but what I want to make quite clear is that this tax is intended to help people and not to oppress them. This tax and this Bill are essential if the local authorities are to be able to provide the services which the people of this country want. We do not want to hurt people, but to help them by providing the schools, the teachers, the health centres and dispensaries, the nurses and health assistants, the roads and markets and all the other services so necessary for their welfare and the improvement of their lot.

Sir, I beg to move that the Graduated Personal Tax Bill, 1965, be read a Second Time.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso) seconded.

(Question proposed)

Mr. Masinde: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I almost agree with Mr. Minister in some respects, particularly where he has seen it necessary that the administration should come in and help the county councils in the collection of this graduated personal tax. Here I agree with him wholeheartedly, but I do not think that the Minister will, therefore, extend to this the meaning that the administration is going to bulldoze the county councils, particularly the administration of the county councils. Now, going further, a number of things have happened in various areas, such as today—and this is what I want the Minister to realize—and before we even allow this Bill to go through, he has to assure us and even if it is provided for in the Bill to come, or the enactment of Parliament, that, for instance, those people today in places like Nairobi, those who are looking for jobs, before they get an appointment or before they get employment, they are asked to produce a receipt. I think, Mr. Speaker, that here we are not being realistic. If a person is and he has got nowhere to live, unemployed and he has got nowhere to live, nothing to eat, how do you expect him to pay personal tax? This is very different if it was in the rural area, it would be a different matter, but that one I am going to deal with later, Mr. Speaker, but here is a case where we have seen people sleeping on the road, they have got no place to sleep, and he is the very person fortunate enough possibly to have been offered a job, but because of the ruling of the Minister with the city council or whatever county council, they say that unless you have got a receipt for personal tax we cannot employ you, which means that we are only encouraging those who already have money, to change from one job to another, but not those who are unemployed.

Sir, with that I think the Minister will see fit to order it and until we get that assurance I am afraid that the Bill cannot go through.

The other thing, Mr. Speaker, is that many of the county councils are now penalizing children, innocent children, from going to school. They say that unless you produce a receipt for your father's poll tax, you cannot enter the school. Sir, why should this happen, is it the fault of the child, should the child pay for his father's personal tax? Are we taxing the children or are we taxing the adults? In fact it is completely illegal where you say that a person can be asked to pay tax when he is eighteen, and yet why should a child of six be asked for a receipt?

Mr. Speaker, some of my friends realize only too well—I hope they will not see their constituents (Inaudible.) the electorate here to listen and to hear what he is talking about. Mr. Speaker, this is a very important issue which is facing parents and even the children themselves. Some of these children are orphans, they go about begging for money, and to person can stand as their guardian, but possibly a man sympathizes with the position of the child and gives him the school fees, then he is told that he must bring his father's or guardian's receipt. Even those who have fathers and a father might have about seven children, he has many money fees to find, but he still has to look for a receipt to pay his personal tax, why should the child be asked to produce a receipt? The schools start in January and the children are supposed to start then, but a father can pay his personal tax right up to May.

Still he has time. May is not the time of penalty, he will still be looking for money, but here he is told he must come with a receipt for personal tax, Mr. Speaker, Sir.

I hope my Minister—and I can see he is a man of understanding—is going to see that this is going to be included, so that we do not have this problem and let us deal with the person who is the offender. We cannot prosecute a child just because his father has not paid anything and take him to the law courts to be penalized at all.

Mr. Speaker, going ahead, there are some anomalies where my hon. Minister has clearly stated that a number of county councils have received money for this graduated personal tax, 50 per cent of it from various townships, but we want an analysis of who these people are, because we know now most of the administrations are being paid in Nairobi and, as a result, you get a chief at home in Kabras who has nothing to do with Nairobi City Council at all and he has 50 per cent left in Nairobi. What has it to do with Nairobi City Council, just because he is paid here? Is this not robbery of the city council? It is the duty of the Minister to see that we check and find out those who have nothing to do with Nairobi. They should get their own money back straight away. If it is commission for the collecting done by the city treasurer, then let us be told how much is commission, but not 50 per cent.

Take even Members of Parliament. What do we have to do with Nairobi City Council? I sleep in a hotel, I do not own a house here, my children do not live here, they stay at home. If the city treasurer is collecting these rates for us, let us be told that we are paying so much as commission, but not to pay Sh. 300 and then they say, possibly, that it is commission, that I am enjoying the facilities of Nairobi. Yes, I am enjoying them, but at the hotel I am living in, they pay water, they pay everything, and I pay them.

Mr. Speaker, these are some of the things which are lacking very much in the Bill of my hon. friend, the Minister, and I am afraid we are not going to allow this to go through.

The other thing, Mr. Speaker, coming on very quickly, is clause 11, where the Minister says that imprisonment can be one of the alternatives to collecting revenue for the county council or city council. My friend, when you put a person in prison, feed him, clothe him, he has water, soap, everything, you find that you have given him more than Sh. 100, and he goes out with a free ticket again, a receipt, and nothing goes to the council. Is that an alternative? What I would like the Minister to do, as far as the penalty is concerned, is this. We do not want imprisonment. Get a person to work, let him have been advanced, it has been found necessary that unmarried people, too, should be considered so far as income tax, allowances, rates and reliefs are concerned.

Mr. Speaker, we have found it very difficult, technically, to have these things amended.

—Mr. Anyieni: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, we have moved adjournment of the debate on this Bill without specifying a time. You advised, Sir, and what I intended to move may bring some difficulties to Government because, if the other Governments have already discussed this Bill, then if we keep the Bill for six months—Sir, why can I not be allowed to move that we adjourn the debate of this Bill so that as soon as we can get in touch with the Minister to agree to certain amendments, then the Bill can be brought to this House again without waiting for six months.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Oh, yes. That is an alternative Motion. You can move that the debate be adjourned, but that is not what I understood you wanted to move. You wanted to adopt the formal procedure of, in fact, killing the Bill, as I thought.

Mr. Anyieni: No, Sir.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Oh, then, if I misunderstood you, I think we should start again from your point, Mr. Anyieni. You move that the debate be now adjourned, do you?

Mr. Anyieni: Yes, Sir.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Would you stand up and do that now.

MOTION

ADJOURNMENT OF DEBATE ON BILL

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, for the reasons which I have given before, and which I need to repeat now that the Minister is here, I wish to move that the debate on this Motion be adjourned so that in our Parliamentary Group we can discuss with the Minister and include some of the amendments to the original Act without necessarily waiting for six months.

I can see the Minister is nodding his head, and I hope that he is in agreement with what I am proposing. So I do not want to waste any more time.

Sir, I beg to move.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am seconding the adjournment of the debate so that the Minister may not find himself pressed into a tight corner by this House throughout the week or the month.

The intentions, as we have put forward, are quite understandable. It is true that the Minister for Finance himself is affected by this Bill. Being one of the people affected, I believe he will take advantage of permitting unlimited allowances for children. There should be no question of limiting to four. According to the African customs we have not accepted to limit our production to three, four or five. We should consider our manpower for the sake of the country.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am trying to put these views across so that the Members may understand fully the intentions of the adjournment. If the Members do understand, then I am very happy to second the Motion right away.

(Question proposed)

Mr. Kase: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, since the intentions of the adjournment are so obvious, may I move that the question be now put.

(Question, that the question be now put, put and agreed to)

(Question put and agreed to)
(Debate on Bill adjourned)

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): We will now move on to the next Order.

BILL

Second Reading

THE GRADUATED PERSONAL TAX BILL

The Minister for Local Government (Mr. Sagini): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move that the Graduated Personal Tax Bill be now read a Second Time.

Sir, I would like to give the historical background of the present law. Sir, the present system of graduated personal tax was introduced two years ago, following a report and recommendations of the Fiscal Commission. At that time we had Regional Assemblies and it was necessary to pass a graduated personal tax law in each of the seven Regional Assemblies, and in this House in respect of Nairobi area.

Although my Ministry distributed model law, naturally in passing through eight legislative bodies, various changes were made so that we had slightly different laws in different parts of this country. Sir, following constitutional changes it became necessary to try and consolidate the law. As an interim measure this was done by the Constitution (Amendment of Laws) (Graduated Personal Tax) Order, Legal Notice 104 of 1965, which repealed all the regional enactments and applied the Nairobi law, with certain adaptations, to the whole country. However, Sir, I would like to emphasize that the present law under which we are operating was basically drafted for Nairobi area, and a tax system suitable for a fairly sophisticated urban society, is not necessarily suitable for the rural parts of our country. This is one strong reason why it is necessary at this time to introduce this Bill. Sir, furthermore, when the working party were drafting the original graduated personal tax legislation they were, so to speak, working in the dark. This was a completely new system providing revenue for local authorities. So they had to theorize as to what would be the best system. Now, Sir, we are no longer in the dark, we have re-examined the system in the light of two years' experience of graduated personal tax. Naturally we have found in some respects that the system is good, but in other respects we have seen where changes and improvements should be made. Sir, we have not found, as some critics would suggest, that the whole system of graduated personal tax is a failure. This is far from it. Sir, the original estimate of the Fiscal Commission anticipated that the tax would produce just under £44 million a year throughout the country. In fact the total collection of graduated personal tax collection for 1964 was rather more than £44 million. When we have the final figure in 1965 we anticipate an improvement on the 1964 total. Sir, quite definitely we feel that the measure of success so far achieved, justifies the retention of the system, subject to modifications presented in the Bill.

Now I come to the urban and rural collection of transmission. However, Sir, we have found the collection of graduated personal tax better in urban areas, where a large proportion of taxpayers are employed people whose tax is deducted by their employer, and poorer in rural areas where the majority of the taxpayers are self-employed.

Sir, I think it is right at this point to pay tribute to the way the majority of the employers co-operated with our local authorities to make the tax a success. In view of the success of the graduated personal tax collection in municipalities our Treasury has decided to discontinue all local Government grants to municipal councils in 1966. Sir, the problem of poor collection is many, although not all, of the rural areas; remains with us. I am aware of the suggestion that has been bandied about, that the only reason for difficulties in county councils is that they are not getting the tax transmission which they ought to receive from the municipalities. I am certain, Sir, that there is some small measure of truth in this, not because of any fault of the municipal councils but because not all employers give the correct information on the tax card as to residence of the taxpayer and family. But we cannot, Sir, hide behind half truths, we must deal in facts and figures. It is a fact that the system of tax transmission is now working fairly effectively. It is a fact that in respect of 1964 Nairobi City Council transmitted over £400,000 of the tax they collected to other local authorities. It is a fact that to name a few of the major labour-exporting counties such as Kiambu, Masaku, Kisumu, and Kakamega counties have each received more than £30,000 tax collected outside their own district in respect of 1964. The hon. Shikuku will never agree with me because he wants Kakamega to do very well. Sir, I am not suggesting we have reached perfection, I believe that with more publicity and as employers become more educated as to what is required of them the transmission of tax from urban to rural authorities can and will improve. Even if the system of transmission was working perfectly, this would not provide the answer to the financial problems of many of the rural authorities. The problem lies in poor collection of graduated personal tax in the county areas. Again quoting 1964, Sir, the average percentage of potential taxpayers in county areas who actually paid their tax was 46 per centum only. I am not talking of people working away in towns, I am talking of people actually there, resident in the county areas, who ought to have paid tax. Sir, on an average over the whole country only 46 per centum paid, and the figure for 1965 will not be much better.

Faced with the financial problems which confront many of our county councils through under collection of graduated personal tax, what is the answer, Sir? One answer is to cut down the services which the councils provide, that is less dispensaries, less health centres, less schools, poorer roads. I am sure none of us would have this happen.

Sir, another answer is to put up the rates of graduated personal tax. I have not allowed this to happen so far and I do not want to do it. Why should the good citizens, the willing taxpayer, have to pay because of the tax defaulter? Why should we whip the willing horse? This way of increasing taxes all the time leads to less and less willing taxpayers.

by the citizens of this country should be, irrespective of what Tanzania, Uganda or the East African Common Services Organization say about their respective countries. We feel here that if we have to make an amendment here, the Minister must tell his counterparts in Tanzania and Uganda that Kenya is not going to conform to that, Kenya is paying so much. Now, Sir, this I feel is the view the Minister must accept.

Another point, Sir, which the Minister must convey to the people who administer income tax is that there are a number of people today, particularly Africans, who were not in well-paid jobs previously and who are coming up into the higher-income brackets. These people, many of them, might not know how to fill in their income tax return forms. Many of them might forget to fill in the income tax returns, and then the Commissioner of Income Tax here just decides and says, "This man must have made so much money, and the profit is so much," and decides that so much income tax is going to be extracted from the person who never earned any income at all even.

[The Speaker (Mr. Slade) resumed the Chair]

This is happening in quite a number of cases. I think the income tax must be based upon what the individual has earned. The Income Tax Commissioner must at least try to get in touch with the taxpayer and ask him to go to his office and discuss with him what his actual salary is. But he must not create something in his mind, that so-and-so has a little shamba in a given location and has possibly made such and such an amount of money. This, Sir, is a point which is valid for those who are inexperienced, for those who are starting to pay income tax, and the Commissioner for Income Tax, in applying the Income Tax Management Act, must have some discretion.

With these few remarks, Sir, I oppose the amendments which are being made and I hope one of the hon. Members is going to move a proper amendment to this so that we see what money should be extracted from the people of Kenya.

With these few remarks, Mr. Speaker, I reserve my opinion.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, we must thank the Minister for Finance for having introduced this Bill. However, he seems not to be here.

The Minister for Local Government (Mr. Sagini): I am here on his behalf.

Mr. Anyieni: I see, you are going to take notes for him, are you? Well, that is good.

For the information of the House I would like to inform the House that according to our Standing Orders you cannot now, or at the Third Reading, bring an amendment to include the number of children and wives, because that it is in the main Act. That is not dealt with in the amendment. So, the only authority the Members have is to demand that the Minister should withdraw this Bill so that in bringing an amendment he will be able to include some of the things which the Members have said in connexion with the question of the number of children and the number of wives. I would like to inform hon. Members, Mr. Speaker, that if we allow this Bill to continue at present, what is going to happen is that one day when there are only about five Members present in the House, the Minister will bring this Bill and it will go through. For this reason the Members should consider now demanding the withdrawal of the Bill so that when the Minister brings the amendment he will also include the question of the number of children. Mr. Speaker, Sir, this is very important because according to African custom you do not have to limit the number of children. This idea originated from Europe, particularly from Britain, where on the island there is not much land and, therefore, they are forced to limit the number of children they can have.

Mr. Speaker, I think it is an act of selfishness that a person should restrict himself to only four children when there is plenty of land available here. Sir, the number of children must be included because you—

SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS ON BILL

Mr. Kibuga: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like your clarification with regard to something which the speaker has just mentioned concerning our Standing Orders. The hon. Member speaking said that according to Standing Orders we cannot move a particular type of amendment. For example, instead of having four children we should like a provision for an unlimited number of children. Sir, I would like your clarification on this point.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, it is very reasonable of Mr. Kibuga to ask this. I have often told the House that in debating a Bill, you are limited to the scope of the Bill. When it is a

[The Speaker]

Bill for amendment of an existing Act, you are limited to the amendment proposed. So in the Committee when the Bill goes to them.

However, there is a provision in our Standing Orders, which we have not used very often, whereby the House, before the Bill goes to Committee, can instruct the Committee to enlarge the scope of its consideration. This is called a Special Instruction, and it would be open to an hon. Member, on this particular Bill, after it has passed its Second Reading, to move that it be a Special Instruction to the Committee to consider also some specific amendment to the principal Act, some specific amendment.

I have actually so advised Mr. Anyieni, and that is what he is after at the present moment, I think.

You cannot actually now, on the Second Reading, debate things other than the amendments proposed, but you can link up the amendments now proposed by this Bill with some further amendments which you want to see by Special Instruction after the Second Reading.

What Mr. Anyieni should do is simply to give the House notice now that he is going to move for a Special Instruction on this point after the Second Reading has passed, and then leave it alone until he comes to that point.

(Resumption of debate)

Mr. Anyieni: Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker.

Sir, I was not going to follow that channel because I have the fear that when we come to the end of the Second Reading, at that particular time I may not be in this Chamber; also, at that particular time there may not be any Member to move this amendment. For that reason I am suggesting that the Minister should withdraw the Bill so that in our Parliamentary Group discussions with him we can help him to include the amendments that we want. After he has included these amendments, then the Bill can be brought back to the House.

It is no use saying that at the end of the Second Reading we will do this and that. The end of the Second Reading may come without Members being aware of that and other Members will come here to be told that the Bill has gone through. That is the reason why I am saying that the best idea would be, since it is not the first time we are demanding that a Bill be withdrawn—twice we have demanded withdrawal of Bills from this House: one was from the Ministry of Health, and, yesterday, there was one from the Ministry of Finance—and I do not see anything wrong in that. There is nothing wrong in the Minister withdrawing the Bill in view of the fact that we cannot make an amendment to the sections we want since these are not included in the main Act.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I do propose that the Bill be now withdrawn. Sir, I would seek your ruling here. According to Standing Orders I propose the withdrawal of the Bill, then the withdrawal is seconded, after which it is debated, or what do we do?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): There is no procedure for the House actually to resolve on a question that a Bill be withdrawn. That is not a question that can be put to the House. It can be suggested, as it often is, in debate to a Minister that he withdraws a Bill, and he may or may not act on that suggestion. However, as I said, there cannot be a resolution. All that the House can do is to resolve either to have the Second Reading or strictly to postpone the Second Reading for an indefinite period.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, then I would like to propose that the Second Reading of this Bill be postponed indefinitely so that the sections of the main Act which we want to amend—which the Members have spoken about, and which I do not want to repeat now—can be included.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): The actual form of amendment that you should move is, that the word "now" be left out, and the words, "upon this day six months" be added at the end of the question. This then means that you are trying to alter the Motion to a Motion, that this Bill be read a Second Time on this day six months hence, which means, in effect, that it is postponed.

So, Mr. Anyieni, I take it that that is your Motion.

Mr. Anyieni: Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I second—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Are you seconding the Motion?

Mr. Gichoya: Yes, Sir.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Have you already spoken in this debate? You have not. All right, you may second.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am seconding the Motion. There are quite a number of things that have been spoken about by some of the hon. Members, particularly those things pertaining to unmarried people. After so many reasons

[The Deputy Speaker] amendment that it would wish to move. Of course, the right time—as hon. Members know—is to move these amendments during Committee stage. So it cannot be done now, it must be done before 2.30 p.m., on the particular day when the Committee stage of this Bill will be taken.

Mr. Mallina: Thank you very much, Sir.

Now, Sir, I do not want to speak a lot on this Bill, because what I had in mind has been voiced by my hon. friend, Mr. Shikuku, and I wish to concur fully with what he said. Sir, I would like to say here, and impress that there are needs for this marriage allowance to be more than £500 per annum. In fact, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, if that clause goes through as it is, then a person getting £500 marriage allowance and also a children's allowance to the tune of £480, it will not be enough if he has more than four children. It is most difficult for him to maintain the extra child or children. Therefore, Sir, I wish to draw the attention of the Minister to what Mr. Shikuku said, and I hope he will take heed of it.

Sir, with regard to clause 3, as Mr. Shikuku mentioned, we have the African Socialism Paper, and this African Socialism does not limit the number of children one may have, or even the number of wives a man may take, and it is the African tradition for a man to have as many wives as he wishes irrespective of whether he is rich or not. He counts each wife equal in face of the others. Therefore, Sir, when the Minister speaks about marriage allowance, he should not base his argument on a man having only one wife, if we are to maintain the African Socialism Paper.

Now, Sir, coming down to clause 3, although the African Socialism Paper says, page 31, I think it says, the Government will educate the people of this country on better and modern ways of birth control. Sir, until that comes about, I think this type of education is wrong. Sir, I think that if this is taken as part of the education of Africans, to limit their children to four, then, I say that this is a most unfortunate part of that education. It is unacceptable to the Africans. We cannot accept this education coming from the Government arbitrarily like that, and it should be left to the Africans themselves, to control themselves as and when they wish until the Government comes out with a scheme of education acceptable to the people. Mr. Deputy Speaker, that therefore means that the Minister must clearly state in this clause that it should be £120 for all the children, because although it is—Sir, I, and only the other day, received my income tax forms, and if you look at it there are only four spaces where one can fill in details for four children. Now, Sir, what about the fact if one has more than four children?

An Hon. Member: I have six.

Mr. Mallina: If one has six children, then there is no way of one claiming an allowance for them, but yet when these children go to be educated by their parents' out of the funds that they can scarcely afford, then the Government comes in and perhaps takes them over for their own employment and they are asked to pay income tax. This clause, Sir, if it must be for four children, then the Minister must give an undertaking here that any children over and above four who are educated by their parents will not be asked to pay income tax if and when they start to work, otherwise the Government is cashing in illegally.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, there is one other item here which I would like the Minister to elucidate when he comes to reply. Sir, let the Minister give the parents the ability to educate these children, so that when they come out they can pay even more income tax to him. Sir, now in clause 4, it says, "... income which is chargeable on him in the United Kingdom . . .", why does this apply just to the United Kingdom? Why only the United Kingdom? Does it mean that if a person comes from the United States of India, Australia or for that matter China, he is not going to be considered in the same way as one who comes from the United Kingdom? Why apply just to the United Kingdom? He has just told us, Sir, that we have arrangements with a lot of Governments, then why should we particularize the United Kingdom? I would like to know.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, going on to Schedule No. 2, there is one question here which I want him to elucidate when he comes to reply, and that is the question of the insurance relief which is at the rate of Sh. 3 and so on, because it says in the Second Schedule, "The amount of the insurance relief shall be at the rate of three shillings . . .". I think, if I am not mistaken, that this provision has been practised even in the past. Now, Sir, if that is so, I would like him to tell me what course there is open for one who has not had such relief, what action can he take to get a fair deal out of the income tax? Sir, what I am trying to say is this. A person insuring his life for a certain amount of premium then that premium, according to how I understand it here, will be allowed income tax at the rate of Sh. 3 in the £. Now, Sir, if that is so, then what about those people who have paid their insurance premiums and instead of the premiums being treated like that, they have only been deducted out of [Mr. Mallina] the total income. If the Minister wishes me to clarify further, then I will, but I think, he has understood what I am talking about. That is not the same as deducting Sh. 3 in the £ for tax for the premium that has been paid. So, if there is the irregularity, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, what chances are there for a person to get a refund, not necessarily to him, but to be counted for in the tax that he is likely to pay?

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, in ending my speech, I would also like the Minister to tell us what he means when he says, "The surtax rate shall be on the first £1,000 nil." From where does one start to count the £1,000? If one's income is £1,000, then he will not pay any surtax, but he will pay Sh. 2/50? Is that so? If that is so, I will leave it to him to tell us exactly what it is.

Now, Mr. Deputy Speaker, my last point is this. Some people have some share holdings in some of these companies; and when the dividend is declared, as is the law, income tax is deducted from the source at the rate of Sh. 5/50, I think it is, in the £. Now when this person submits his income tax return, it happens that perhaps he is asked to pay income tax on about £500 or £200. Now the money which he paid, at the rate of Sh. 5/50, is just deducted from the total amount of income tax he should pay. Here, Sir, I submit that that is over-taxing the person, because he had not earned enough in all his earnings to pay more tax in the pound than Sh. 2/50; for that matter. So, Mr. Deputy Speaker, there again I would like the Minister to explain to us what relief there is for a person who is over-taxed on one side, from the point of view of dividends.

Sir, with those few remarks, I reserve my vote.

Mr. Mallro: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I also want to make a few remarks on this Income Tax Bill. I feel, Sir, that the Minister is becoming increasingly unfair. As the cost of living is rising all the time, I cannot see how one should pay more and more and more in the form of income tax, when indirect taxation itself, through the cost of living—what you pay for various goods—causes the individual to pay quite a lot of tax. The other day, I sat down to calculate the tax I pay to the Kenya Government through fuel, petrol and diesel, alone, and I found I was paying roughly Sh. 13,000 per year. Now I just wonder how this can continue in this way. Here one is being squeezed more and more.

I think, Mr. Deputy Speaker, the marriage allowance should be increased to £800 for someone who is married; and as for the unfortunate bachelors, spinsters and so on, these people should at least be given a single allowance of £500.

Several Hon. Members: No!

Mr. Mallro: Mr. Deputy Speaker, I used the word "unfortunate" because they are definitely unfortunate. It seems as if this House is mostly composed of people who are married and they are extremely envious of the freedom of unmarried young men. Now my argument is that actually unmarried young men have possibly more commitments than married men. An unmarried man has to put on a very beautiful suit, he has to entertain various young girls, one of whom he would like as a suitor; so I think these people must be given a decent way of living, at least twice the amount the Minister has proposed here would not be unfair or unreasonable.

As for the children's allowance, I think it is today much more urgent that the children's allowances go up. If a man wants to give his child a good education, he must send his child to a good school. Now today in Kenya those good schools are mainly centred in Nairobi. If someone lives outside Nairobi, his child must go to boarding school; and for a boarding school he has to pay a very large sum in order to maintain the child at the school. I say this from personal experience. So I consider that the children's allowance should have been increased. At least, if the children are at boarding school the allowance should at least have been an average of £160 or £180 per child.

I have not said anything about the number of children yet. I said, Sir, that for every child at boarding school, the parents should be given an allowance of, say, £160 or £180 per child.

This question of limiting children to four; Mr. Deputy Speaker, is a completely foreign ideology. It is an imposition of the social system of the people of Western Europe, which is not the system of the African. The African considers all his children as his children alike, without distinction, because he has to pay dowry for every wife, and therefore every child which he produces is legitimately his child and must be catered for equally. But this is worse. What is worse is that it is only limited to four children and no more. In my view, this is an indirect imposition of birth control on people who do not want to limit the number of children they are going to produce. This is a thing which the Minister must look into.

Another problem I would like to raise here, Sir, is that I think this Parliament is the authority to decide what the taxes to be paid

[The Minister for Finance] approved by the House in the 1965 Finance Bill, Item 3 covering the child allowance is in accordance with the announcement I made in the Budget Speech, as is Item 5. Item 4 repeats a provision in the existing law.

The Second and Third Schedules implement decisions announced also at the time of the Budget Speech. Item 4 might appear perhaps a little difficult to understand, but I am advised that, though it we do not lose money, it comes in because of the agreements that we have with very many other countries, in this particular case Britain, where we have the double taxation agreement. The Commissioner of Income Tax advises me that, if anything, we have everything to gain in it.

Therefore, I would commend the Bill to the Members, which only gives force to the Bill that the Central Legislative Assembly has passed, which the other two territories have passed and which will enable the Treasury to act on it as from the middle of this year. We must have this early enough to enable us to prepare the papers and all the other documents necessary for the pay-as-you-earn system as soon as possible.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, I beg to move.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Murgor) seconded.

(Question proposed)

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, while appreciating the Minister's explanation, I do, however, wish to point out one or two things and make some observations on this Bill.

He did, as a matter of fact, say that the First Schedule of the Bill was contained in his Budget Speech as such, but, Mr. Deputy Speaker—if I am wrong, the Minister will have to point it out to me—I do recall that on this First Schedule he said the amount of the married allowance was £720, I think, and this time it is £600. I was wondering if the Minister would be kind enough as to let me know why it is being reduced so low, whereas, in actual fact, every year means higher expenditure and, at the same time, means higher production in humanity. I would like to know how he comes to this, Mr. Deputy Speaker, because if one filled in an income tax form in 1963, filling in for three children, surely by this time, if he is working well, it should be showing about five children or six; that, of course, depends on how quick the person is. But, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I just do not see any tangible reason why the Minister has seen it fit to reduce it to £600 when the cost of living goes higher.

If I may point this out, Mr. Deputy Speaker, the Minister has travelled quite widely and so have I, but if you compare the cost of living in different countries, you will find that the cost of living in this country compares almost exactly with the cost of living in New York or Britain, whereas those people are far more advanced and economically sounder than we are. The cost of living goes on rising in this country, higher and higher and higher, until, in the end, we will not be able to find our feet on the ground and will be flying or floating in the air. I do not see any reason why, Mr. Deputy Speaker, if it is within the jurisdiction of this House, this House—with all due respect to all hon. Members here, and I am sure they will agree with me—should allow the Minister to reduce the £720 to £600 this year, when the cost of living is still going up.

In addition to that, Mr. Deputy Speaker, may I point out to the Minister—probably he might have overlooked it because he is a busy Minister and has to spend a lot of time on calculations and so forth—the fact that we passed Sessional Paper No. 10 on African Socialism. Now, Sir, when we take this Paper into account surely the structure of the income tax should be based on the African Socialism, taking into account the structure of the African life. I wonder whether he took this into account before he reduced this to the sum of £600, because—if you come to Item 2 of the First Schedule (3)—you find that the amount of the child allowance shall be £120, and I recall that in the old income tax scheme you were allowed £180 for every child. This, again, has been reduced to £120, and if we have to take into account the African Socialism, surely the Minister will agree with me that no African would agree with him that he has only to produce four children. Therefore, the freedom, Sir, has been infringed as to the production of how many children. This idea of four children was originated by the Europeans, and the imperialists are gone and we now govern ourselves and we have to take into account our own African Socialism which does not restrict one to four children.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, the other point I would like to point out to the Minister is that we have to educate our children and surely it would be very, very unfair for the Minister to work out his figures on four children. What about the other children who are going to come up? Are we not to cater for them? Sir, I feel this question of four children, and the question of the reduction from £180 to £120 is completely unfair, because these days we have to educate our children and it is now more expensive to feed the children and then educate them. Therefore, the figure of £180

[Mr. Shikuku] In addition to that, the figure four should be scrapped, and I do wish to make it known, Sir, that I am serious about this and I do intend to move an amendment to the effect that there should be no limit to children, you produce as many as you can and all must be included.

The other issue I would like to raise is that I feel that in the First Schedule, 2 (a) where it says, "Provided that where an individual is entitled to single allowance, and he is also entitled to child allowance, the amount of single allowance shall be £412." Here, Sir, I just do not understand this, I would be very glad if the Minister could tell me because he is talking of a single person, at the same time, having a child. How this is going to happen is one of the interesting parts of it.

An Hon. Member: You know it very well.

Mr. Shikuku: I do not understand how a bachelor could have a child. Of course, when we talk of children, they should be married people in the African custom or in the church, and if there is a question of a bachelor having a child without a wife, well, we have what we call—we passed a law here, I remember—an affiliation fee, Sir. Is he going to pay the affiliation fee and at the same time get away with some amount under the income tax allowance?

Mr. Deputy Speaker, the other issue is the question of age, where it is mentioned in (b), it talks of a man of the age of sixty-five upwards. Mr. Deputy Speaker, I think this is quite a big problem, because at the age of sixty-five—this goes very well with the Europeans because a European at the age of sixty-five might well be able to do something, business and so forth—if you look at the African point of view, if you look at those poor men in Butere and elsewhere in this country, at the age of sixty-five they are completely finished. They have been working for such a long time and, having had such hardships, they are completely finished. I think, Sir, in our own interest these years should be reduced to sixty and, for the women, fifty-five, because our women and our men here are really worn out because of hardships. They do not have proper food, some eat once in a day. On this, I think, Sir, the Minister will agree with me, that something should be done.

Apart from the things I have mentioned, I do not think I have a big quarrel with the Minister at all as far as this Bill is concerned. If I may emphasize again, Sir, I feel that the Minister should consider or give tangible reasons, but so far as I am concerned, I do not see why the amount of £720 should be reduced to £600 when the cost of living is still rising. In addition to that,

I would like to point out to the Minister that the amount of £120 as the allowance for a child is completely unfair and we should have £180 per child, and the question of having four children should be scrapped and there should be a limitless number of children; the more you have, the better it will be for that particular person, to increase the population in Kenya.

With these few remarks, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I beg to reserve my comments.

Mr. Kase: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, the Minister has indicated the other two territories have passed this Bill and that the Central Legislative Assembly has passed it. The hon. Member, Mr. Shikuku, has indicated, too, that he is intending to move an amendment. I am wondering whether, if we amend it in this House, it would be in order or what would happen later. What would happen about the other territories?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): I am afraid I have not studied the constitutional position that would arise, and I do not think I am in a position to give a ruling at such short notice. As you will recall, the Speaker did say when Mr. Alexander raised a point of order—I think it was the day before yesterday, I was here—drawing attention to the same fact, saying that as the East African Management Act had not been amended in the Central Legislative Assembly, this Bill was probably ultra vires. Mr. Speaker did then ask Mr. Njonjo, the Attorney-General, to look into the legal position and I think he told us just now that he was advised by the Attorney-General that the Bill was in order. We will, therefore, accept the views of the Attorney-General on a matter of law. If, for example, later on it is discovered that this Bill is ultra vires in regard to the authority and powers conferred to the East African Common Services Organization of the common authority, then, of course, it is a matter for the courts to decide. As far as we are now concerned, and as far as I am concerned, we must accept the ruling by the Attorney-General that this Bill is at the present moment constitutionally in order.

Mr. Glehoy: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, as you have already explained that the Bill is in order, would it be in order for us to make some alterations to the Bill? If we make some alterations to the Bill would these alterations affect the legislation already passed in Tanzania and Uganda?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): I think I have already stated that insofar as this Bill is being promulgated and moved in this House, this Parliament is supreme and it can move any

[The Assistant Minister for Local Government] some money in England, and if we withdraw that money to bring it here, the bank will require a half per centum. Imagine one half per centum for two million shillings or pounds, how much it would cost. I would like to tell the hon. Member that there will be no chance for the Government to lose, because now we want the treasurer to withdraw the money without interest. If we go today and bring back here the money that we have in London, and then tomorrow we want to buy things in London, the bank here will require at least one-half per centum. That is the very first statistic for the Government to accept.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to support this Bill because it is for the future of this country.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to correct some of the very wrong impressions that have been created and I am worried that some of the people who have created these very wrong impressions—sorry, hon. Members—some of the hon. Members have created this very wrong impression, claim that they are economists. I do not claim to be an economist—

Mr. Odya: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think on this one I should like to seek your guidance, possibly to direct the Minister, because at no stage did the Chair really understand where any Member claimed that he is really an economist that he was trying to advise the Minister. I think it is because he is an economist? Because from what I understood here the Minister is now trying to say that the Members who opposed the Bill were economists. Now could you give directions to this?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I do not recollect any hon. Member in the course of this debate specifically claiming that he was an economist, but that does not mean to say that he has not done so elsewhere. I do not think that any hon. Member need take offence at the suggestion that some Members have claimed to be economists. Even if the Minister now proposes to prove that they are not.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): I am not proving that they are not. I accept that they are. My main point here is that the confusion that has arisen has come about because a picture has been created that all the money that we get we send it all to Britain and store it there. This is wrong. We do not. The impression has been created that if this money were to be brought here we could make use of it. If we borrow money to build a tea factory we could bring the money here, in the meanwhile we could lend it for other purposes and wait for a year—somebody mentioned a year—but the point is this, Sir, that when money is borrowed it is borrowed for specific projects and when you start spending money on that project, as soon as you start spending money on it, you start paying interest also. Therefore, you cannot lend it. As soon as they start, you cannot start lending it because you have started spending it. Therefore, if you can get someone who could look after that money for you, who could help you pay interest on this money as you spend it, it would be wise. Who would pay me interest? This is the kind of confusion that we have.

I would like to state that I was questioned as to whether we are likely to have any Kenya money—any Kenya bank—or things like that. We are definitely going to have our Kenya National Bank. It is being reconditioned at this particular moment. Our new money is being printed at this particular moment and will be issued in due course, I could not give you the exact date because it is not in the interests of this country that I should give the date. But what I want to emphasize is this: the other day for instance I signed for some money, Britain is going to lend us some money. We are going to spend that money largely in Britain. When we borrow money in the United States, we spend it in the United States. The only country so far when we borrow money from Russia, we spend it there—this is the usual pattern. Who is going to lend you money, Mr. Speaker, who is going to lend Kenya money? Who is going to lend us money to buy things from another country? This is what I am trying to find you know now, my hon. friend. If you can find me loans without any strings attached then I will be very pleased indeed.

I think the man who has asked me very interesting questions that I liked very much was the hon. Mr. Ngala-Abok. He asked me as to whether this is the normal practice. It is. Somebody mentioned Ghana, for example. You will find that most of the countries, even the Commonwealth countries, have got big accounts in London. It is the centre of money, whether we like it or not, it is the centre—it is the international money centre—what are you talking about? Therefore there is no shame about this. It is the normal practice. Then I was asked as to whether we borrow money and then look round for projects to finance. Nobody will lend you money unless you can produce a project and prove that it is viable. You cannot. And this is why we have always to ensure that our projects are viable, present our case to the would-be lender and if

[The Minister for Finance] he feels that his money is assured, that he is sure to get his money back, then, and only then, he agrees to let us borrow his money.

Therefore to lay emphasis, that perhaps even the loft that we collect here in Kenya, is all sent to London for safe keeping is really absurd. It does not go there and I would like to say it does not, Mr. Speaker.

Therefore, all that we are trying to do, the funds that we have in London that enables us to make adjustments, to make these payments, to enable us not to spend too much money in foreign exchange and so on, we have an account there, it amounts to some £700,000, well, all I am saying is that it is not enough to cover the expenditure, the Paymaster-General would like it, and we would not like him to be in deficit and therefore we required this little adjustment and, as I said yesterday, there is no extra expenditure involved at all. It is unfortunate that the question of our banking in London has been brought in, because it does not come in that particular respect and any businessman—it is a pity, that people like the hon. Pandya have not spoken—because he deals with a lot of money and this is the way you do business. If you have business in Moscow, in China, in Japan and so on it would be good to have a small account in those places so that you can make certain adjustments when you need them and they do not cost you so much money.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think the Bill is very straightforward and the remarks that were made to give the wrong impression that we bank all our money in London is wrong, and I would like to repeat that. Therefore, I beg to move.

(Question put and agreed to)

(The Bill was read a Second Time and committed to a Committee of the whole House tomorrow)

BILL

Second Reading

THE INCOME TAX (ALLOWANCES, RELIEFS AND RATES) BILL.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Before calling upon Mr. Gichuru to move this Second Reading, I would refer to a point that was raised at the time of the First Reading by Mr. Alexander; I am not sure whether Mr. Gichuru was here.

Mr. Alexander questioned whether this was expeditiously in order, having regard to the present stage of a Bill in the Central Legislative Assembly for amendment for the East African Income Tax Management Act. The Attorney-General promised to advise this House on that point before the start of the Second Reading of this Bill. I do not know whether he has made any communication to Mr. Gichuru which enables him to answer.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): No, Sir.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): In that case, then, I think I must say I have had it verbally myself from Mr. Njionjo that it is in order, although he had no opportunity to explain to me or the House why. I think we must take it, in Mr. Njionjo's absence, that this is constitutionally in order.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move that the Income Tax (Allowances, Reliefs and Rates) Bill be now read a Second Time.

[The Speaker (Mr. Slade) left the Chair]

[The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza) took the Chair]

I stated in my Budget Speech on the 10th June—and I quote—"The changes affecting 1964 are included in the Finance Bill and come into operation at once, in accordance with the Provisional Collection of Taxes Order, also published today. It will be necessary later in the year to introduce a new Rates and Allowances Bill to include the changes that are applicable to 1965 and later years. The Bill amending the Income Tax Management Act will be presented to the Central Legislative Assembly as soon as possible." The Bill amending the Income Tax Management Act has now been passed by the Central Legislative Assembly and, therefore, it is now possible for me to bring up the Bill to the House and fulfil the pledge that I made during the Budget Speech. I did describe the changes that were likely to take place and, indeed, they do appear in the HANSARD, but they take about six pages in the HANSARD, and since I know that you all take a lot of trouble to read these things, I do not propose to bore you by repeating them.

Opportunity has been taken, as it is stated in the Memorandum of Objects and Reasons, to repeal the existing Act and replace it with a new and simple Act. It will be remembered that one of the main purposes in the changes of personal allowances was to enable us to introduce the pay-as-you-earn system which we are going to start this year, the second half of this year, and that the proposals with regard to corporation tax, which replaces company tax, represent a major measure of simplification of our tax system.

As you will notice, the First Schedule deals with personal allowances and the first two items laying down the amount of married and single allowances merely repeat the provision which was

[Mr. Kibigi]

Commonwealth countries, try to keep their money in England to earn interest? If that is the practice, I have no quarrel with that one.

Again, I would like to know whether it is politically favourable for the country to know that instead of money being brought here and being involved in projects straight away, money is kept in England which can be frozen at any time.

What I want to know also is, when we borrow money, do we borrow money for projects which are already stipulated and which are already organized to be financed, or do we merely get money, keep it there and then we ask our experts to help us in formulating the projects? Some experts are not even interested in putting this money into use, particularly when they know that money is accumulating in England. Instead of advising the Ministers and the boards to start straight away with an organization, or with implementation of a project, you find unnecessary arguments. We people who sit on some of these boards find even a straightforward thing still will need deferring for three months and then, at the end of three months, the same thing is not implemented.

So we fail to understand—and I think the Minister should clarify this—whether the money is borrowed when projects are ready to be financed or whether the money really goes to England, only later on to find that the project is still lagging behind or it has not been started for two, three, or five years, in which case this money may not be made use of. So we had better understand the conditions governing the borrowing of money and why this money should be borrowed and kept there earning interest.

Suppose money is borrowed from Yugoslavia, transferred to England and the project is not financed, will the interest it is earning actually come to Kenya, even when it is still remaining within Yugoslav hands, because, in fact, once you do not use my money, I will get it back? Even if you use it or not, you will repay me; in fact, you will be losing. Therefore the country borrowing money will repay, whether the money has been made use of or not.

Therefore, we must know that when we borrow money, we are ready to use the money. That is the most important part I want to understand from the Minister. Otherwise, if the Minister thinks that this is going to comfort him, both politically and in view of what I have said, I would not mind, but I reserve my decision on this particular Bill.

Mr. Kase: Mr. Speaker, I have only one small point to make.

As some hon. Members have said, why should it be necessary to transfer money borrowed from various countries to London? We are interested because, as soon as you place your money in London, there are things which you cannot carry out because you take care of your money, which is in London. If I may give one example, recently, some countries did break off relations with Britain and they are safe. Now, by keeping our money in London, are we sure it is safe there? Are we going to be free to break our relations any day that we feel we do, not like those relations any more? We want these points clarified, Mr. Speaker, because if they are not clarified, it means any day that we are offended by Britain, we shall always be thinking of our money which is in London, which they are using themselves, if I understand finance properly. I want to keep money in my bank and trade with it and get profit, because I cannot agree to give you profit for nothing.

This money is going to stay in London and we are going to be given 5 per cent. This man must be making more money than that 5 per cent, Mr. Speaker. There are people asking, "From where?" They know themselves, they are business men. This is one of the very small points, Mr. Speaker, I want to know about. We want clarification from the Minister. Any day we want to break our relations, how far is our money safe in London, and is keeping our money in London going to make our position deteriorate? We are not going to be very free.

An hon. Member here talks of security, that when money comes here we must think of security. What security? Who has no confidence in this Government. If he has no confidence in this Government, it is not a mistake of that man, it is a mistake of Government itself. Therefore, any stable Government, Mr. Speaker, should not feel unstable. Now, Mr. Speaker, to talk of security, that if we bring it here perhaps it will be insecure, then it means that the Government itself is worried over its own position. Let them tell us that is, why they are keeping the money in London. If they are not fearing something, please, Mr. Speaker, the hon. Minister should act as my hon. friend has just said, and bring the money to Nairobi, open our own bank so that we can handle our own money. It is true that the hon. Member for Mathira I think has said, some currency is difficult to change from one country to another, but you do not find any country that you cannot change its money. You can change it either here or there, if you cannot change it in that country you can try the way. Why should we always go back to London? Why did we now decide to keep it in Moscow. Mr. Speaker, we are independent such things make our people think that we are going back to our old masters, and this is something which we must keep away from. As soon as we concentrate everything in London, our people will say look at those gentlemen going back to the old master. I think this is a very serious matter which the Minister for Finance must go into.

With these few remarks, Mr. Speaker, I beg to reserve.

Mr. Gatiguthi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I want to say that I am not an economist, neither am I a financial expert, but I am surprised to find some Members who claim to be economists opposing such a straightforward Bill. This Bill, Sir,—if the hon. Members would just keep quiet I will educate them—this Bill, Sir, is not in any way going to affect our own Government financially.

As I find it, we get a loan from Great Britain, and instead of transferring that money to Kenya to keep it there, and it earns interest. If there is any fear that that money may be frozen, of course they would be freezing their own money. If we borrow ten million from London today, and we keep it there, then tomorrow it is frozen, why it is not our own money that has been frozen. They have frozen their own money. If you raise the point that we have borrowed money from China and we have kept it in London, and it is frozen tomorrow, then you have to remember that Britain has money in this country. We have borrowed money from Britain, probably more than what has been borrowed from China. If they freeze our Chinese money in London, we will freeze their money in this country which they have already given us for development.

Mr. Speaker, the other point you have to bear in mind, if you want to be logical in this matter, is this, that when we borrow money from any country, we have to assume in the first place that you have good relations with that country. If that is the case, then you have to assume that this question of the money being frozen is not going to arise. All these negotiations are made in good faith. The moment we start suspecting other nations, gentlemen, you will never achieve anything in this world. That is quite reasonable that we have to act in good faith. We have also to remember, Sir, that whatever money we borrow, whether from the United States of America, Yugoslavia or any other country, most of the materials that we buy are from Britain, and we have to pay the British Government. The fact is that our trade at the moment is with Great Britain and other countries of the world. It would be most uneconomic, and most illogical, Sir, for us to transfer money from London to Nairobi, as was quoted by the Minister when he was giving his first speech. It is an uneconomical position. So, Sir, I believe that there is nothing wrong with this Bill, and the Members should support the Bill, and I do not foresee anything that is going to spoil our relationship with Britain to the extent that they may freeze this money. I believe that our relationship with Britain will continue for a long time to come, and there is no cause to fear. In any case this money is going to earn interest for Kenya.

I do not see anything, wrong, Mr. Speaker, and I wish to say that I support this Bill very, very strongly.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): We are getting a lot of repetition, Mr. Godani; I hope that you will say something new.

Mr. E. D. Godani: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am surprised at the way this Bill has been presented to this House.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would just like to make one or two points which have given me great surprise. First of all, Mr. Speaker, I think about a month ago, in December, we passed a Bill in this House that no money will be invested outside Kenya. All investors will keep their money in Kenya. I do not know if the people are aware that the Kenya Government kept their money in London. At the same time we put a Bill saying that we are to keep our money in safe custody in London. So, Mr. Speaker, at the same time we have a big problem in this country. I wish all the Kenya people were aware of this trouble which this Government is creating for itself. I wish the people in the gallery, or anywhere outside this House, were aware of all this trouble. Money has been kept there, we cannot educate our children, no employment and so many other things.

With these few remarks, Mr. Speaker, I beg to oppose the Bill.

The Assistant Minister for Local Government (Mr. Njiru): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think the hon. Members have said a few things which some of us cannot understand. It may be true because some people are using an erchequer without knowing that he is a treasurer. The hon. Member mentioned that the Kenya Government was going to bank money in England which is absolutely wrong. I think if he has read the Bill very well, he will see that there are grants, credits and, of course, the loan. In other words, today we have [Mr. Khasakhala] currency or funds of that country are valued in relation to your own country, how are you going to exchange this money when it comes to your own bank in Nairobi? Currency does not mean anything when we do not have gold and such other things which can give us this currency.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I feel that instead of hon. Members confusing the House with minor arguments which do not apply to this Bill, the Mover should be called upon to reply.

With these few remarks, Sir, I beg to support.

The Assistant Minister for Lands and Settlement (Mr. Gachago): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think the first thing to understand in a Bill like this is that we all do not understand finance and, therefore, we are likely to make several mistakes. For this reason I do not blame any hon. Member who does not really understand the aesthetics of this Bill. Well, I do not pretend, Mr. Speaker, to understand finance any better than other hon. Members, but at least one should try and understand the Minister.

Several very important points have been raised in connexion with this Bill and these things are straightforward. Our problem, however, is inability to understand. For example, Sir, the question of exchange charges when importing or re-exporting capital is a straightforward, clear fact and should be understood even by any layman. For instance, if we borrow money from London and we are purchasing goods with money from London, it will look very odd if we transfer the funds to Nairobi and thereby pay certain charges for exchange, and then re-export money to London to effect the purchase. In this way we incur further expenses by incurring further charges in exchange. Therefore, it would be much better if the money stayed in London until the project in question was really concluded and the money could be used while still there without incurring unnecessary expenses.

Another factor is the question of security of any money borrowed. Money, as the hon. Minister has said, whenever it is borrowed, and is for import into this country, it is usually imported. However, when money, borrowed from any country, or even from a land bank, until and unless the project for which it is borrowed is actually ripe and ready to start, it will be a risky affair on both sides to bring the money so that it can stay here and start to be used on a project. Each and every lot of money the country borrows is utilized for a specific project, and unless such a project is ready and ripe for commencing, it will be unnecessary to bring the money here because there are also other factors involved. For example, the interest on such money will start—

Mr. Gichoya: On a point of information, Mr. Speaker—

The Assistant Minister for Lands and Settlement (Mr. Gachago): Mr. Speaker, the hon. Member, I think, is as uninformed as he thinks I am and, therefore, I will not give way to him.

Another factor, Mr. Speaker, is that when the money is brought into the country, it is imported into Kenya, interest starts being charged there and then. If such a project is not started, then such money starts to charge the country a lot of unnecessary expense. This money should only be brought when the project is ready for commencement so that interest can be charged at that time. This is what I understand the position to be here.

Another reason that has been given by one of my colleagues for bringing the money here is that money can be used by the country for lending and for doing all sorts of other things. Actually, I do not think this is correct because if money is for lending, such money is borrowed for such particular purpose. We have money which has been borrowed from all over the world for various projects. This money is being used by the Land Bank, by the Industrial Development Corporation, and other corporations like the Agricultural Finance Corporation. Such money is borrowed from overseas countries for the purpose of various specific projects of development, and it is, Mr. Speaker, rather unfair to say that we are not developing, because the facilities given by such organizations, such powers, have been seen and witnessed. It was only the other day that it was announced that various Members of this Parliament have borrowed money and, therefore, benefited from such projects.

Sir, while finishing, I would like to refer to a question which has been posed in the House this afternoon, as to whether we are really independent. I must say, Sir, that we are really politically independent. If we go further into the question, if anybody feels that we are not economically independent, what I do not understand is whether he means that in order that we may be economically independent we should not borrow money, or in order that we should feel economically independent we should not do like other developing countries are doing, go to other countries and borrow money in the same terms as other countries borrow. So, Mr. Speaker, I do not think actually that this question, whether we are really independent, refers, because, which country in Africa today is really economically independent

[The Assistant Minister for Lands and Settlement] so far that it does not borrow money from other developed countries? Egypt, to which the hon. Member was just referring, was in the Press the other day, borrowing money for various projects. This is exactly what we are doing. We are not doing anything unusual. For this reason, Mr. Speaker, I think it will be very unfair to try and obstruct a Bill like this, a Bill which is going to give us further facilities for developing our young country.

Therefore, Sir, I beg to support.

Mr. Kibunga: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the opponents to the Bill are trying to show that it is necessary to put all the money in Nairobi, but I think they fail to show the House one main reason why part of the money should be in London. While in London this money earns 5 per cent. They say the money should be in Nairobi. If it comes to Nairobi, what bank is ready to give 5 per cent? Who is individual is ready to give this amount? The hon. Member for Gichugu was talking of sending some of the money to Kirinyaga so that it could earn interest there. Is there such a bank there that would give 5 per cent? Does the hon. Member have such a bank? If so, then we can approach the Minister for Finance so that we can send that money to the hon. Member's bank.

The other reason the hon. opponents have shown is this. They say why spend this money, why keep this money in London, why not bring it to Nairobi and use it here for agricultural purposes? They say why not lend it to the farmers so that in no time the farmers will be able to repay this money and bring in a little bit more. Do we understand, Mr. Speaker, that if the Government borrows money for building a certain factory it can easily use this money for famine relief? If we borrow money for a certain purpose we can use it for any other purpose? If the hon. opponents of the Bill can show that if we borrow money for a particular purpose we are then free to use it for any other purpose, then there is no reason why this money should not come to Nairobi. However, once money is borrowed for a particular purpose, it is not used for any other purpose.

So, Mr. Speaker, Sir, without wasting much time of the House—I do not see any reason why we should waste so much time arguing about a particular clause—I would like to say that while the money is in London it is earning 5 per cent. If any one of the hon. Members can show where we can earn 5 per cent here in Nairobi, well and good. Let us have it. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I wish to point out one important thing, that the Government, and those who appear to be always supporting the Government, and do not wish to criticize, create an impression that those who criticize are either ignorant or are merely stubborn and want to obstruct Government machinery in this House. In fact, this is not so. This is the room in which we can expose the ignorance of a Member. If a Minister thinks that a Member is ignorant, let that Member show in which way he is ignorant and the Minister can correct him in reply. It is not necessary to label a Member as ignorant, a person who has no experience, without any good reason. It is not good to talk all this kind of rot. As a matter of fact, Mr. Speaker, if there is no Member who is supposed to raise queries on a Bill, then there is no point in bringing a Bill to the House. So, let us not have this impression. Let us not make it a practice that when a Member is discussing, he is just putting forward views for the sake of obstructing the Government. That is not so.

What I want to understand from the Minister is this. Is this normal practice or is this an unfit affair? Is it the Kenya Government which sees fit to keep money in England for the mere reason that it will earn 5 per cent there? Is it really politically necessary? Is it going to create a proper impression in Kenya so that the people think that instead of the money coming direct into Kenya the money is kept in England? How long will we continue to have these so-called good relations and understanding with the British Government, and England as a whole? We do not understand, Mr. Speaker, Sir, what matters very much is whether we will be gaining or not. In certain cases one does consider more the political question of the whole affair rather than going into the question of earning more or gaining more because some of these ideas are very false. Ministers are learning, and the consequences which may arise from such a Bill may not even be understood by the Minister concerned. Who knows what will happen tomorrow? Who knows what is actually behind this Bill? Merely reading the Memorandum does not show that this will work in the right manner. That is why we amend our regulations from time to time. We try to see which is the best way in which a Bill or a particular rule can operate.

So what I want to get from the Minister, whereas not having so much quarrel with this Bill, is whether this is the normal practice, that many African countries, and particularly the holding this money, so that it can be used by the High Commission? Why should it go from Kenya to London, when the money is already there?

So, Mr. Speaker, with these few remarks, I wish to support the Bill and I hope it will be passed without too much talk.

Mr. Oduya: Mr. Speaker, I also rise to make a few points on this issue. It is very clear that, because of this Bill, we now know where we stand in Kenya. We now know whether we are actually independent or half-way independent. A friend, a colleague, of mine here has tried to tell the speech given by my hon. friend from Kirinyaga when he said that it is very wrong for an independent nation like Kenya to keep money in London. My friend has tried to protect London by saying that it is a safe place in which to keep money. But I must say this. This money—we should not mislead ourselves or the country—is money we ask for as loans from all parts of the world, and once we are given this money we are given it for development. It is not for the Kenya Government to keep this money in London, only to be withdrawn when the need arises. Here there are already issues, crises, national demands which, of course, have enabled us to borrow this money from abroad; so the money should not be left in London. Once it is borrowed, from Russia or Washington or elsewhere, it must be directly brought to Nairobi; not taken to London. Once it is sent to Nairobi, it must come to a Nairobi bank; and then we can say, "All right, here is a problem in the Ministry of Education. We need so many secondary schools as part of our development." Now if the money is already kept in London because the Kenya Government would like to get some interest on it—for what reason this is done, I do not know, perhaps to make a profit. But the money is in London and already there are problems pressing the people. People are starting demonstrations here and there; and you send the police to suppress them, and you keep the money in London. What is the use of borrowing? What is the use of saying, "We are getting this aid for the development of Kenya?" There is no development at all. The money is actually to help the British Government to develop other projects. Possibly the British Government gives us some of our loans out of the interest it gets from our own loans from other countries. It is a clever way of doing it.

Why cannot Nairobi also behave like Accra which has the Ghanaian £1. It is also competing with Sterling in the international market because it can be valued through Sterling or through dollars. It can also get its own value.

An Hon. Member: You do not understand it.

Mr. Oduya: That is how I understand it. You understand in your own language, but that is how it works, because Accra does not go to London to be recognized. Mr. Speaker, the Egyptian £ is also in the market, so when you value it through London money, that is, Sterling and through the dollar, the Egyptian £ has its place. But have we any place for our Kenya money? That is why I say we should have our own bank, called either the Nairobi Bank or the Kenya Bank, which deals with all this foreign exchange, in order to reply to what my colleague was suggesting. We could have our own interest here, instead of going through London.

Now today the country is wondering whether we are actually developing or whether we are going to dance to the tune of London. In fact, my colleague here has specifically made it clear—

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): On a point of correction, Mr. Speaker—

Mr. Oduya: No correction.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Unless you have a proper point of order, you cannot interfere unless the hon. Member gives way.

Mr. Oduya: All right. Make your correction.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Thank you very much. The point I wanted to correct, Mr. Speaker, is the wrong impression which has been created, that we keep all the money in London. It is wrong. We do not.

Mr. Muliro: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I think the Minister is wanting to explain; but he could reserve his fire for the time when he replies to the debate.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Never mind, the hon. Member has given way, so he can make his correction now.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Mr. Speaker, my point was made in order to avoid people getting confused. Money is not kept there; it is only kept there when we need to spend it so that it helps us not to transfer it to Kenya and back. That is all I wanted to explain.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I would like to say further, in reply to Mr. Muliro, that sometimes it is for the benefit of the House that the Mover, who has the right to reply, interrupts immediately to correct some misunderstanding which can use up a lot of time of the House, without waiting for his reply to do so.

Will you continue, Mr. Oduya.

Mr. Oduya: Mr. Speaker, this paper here says, most of the foreign financial aid. "Most" means two-thirds of it is kept in London. I have never been a Minister for Finance to deal with international implications of financial issues. However, as a representative of the people of Kenya, I have the right to point out mistakes which prevail. It is because of these mistakes that we are dancing to the tune of London when in actual fact Kenya is regarded as a complete, independent nation, with a Head of State. We require to have money here Ekyany other Government.

I want the Minister to explain to us—and the country is eager to know—what is the purpose of keeping our money in London. He has to make this point clear. Why cannot we have a bank in Nairobi? That is a question. I do not know whether the Minister is listening. I can see him looking on the other side of—The question I was putting before the Minister is—

Mr. Speaker, if the Minister could stop talking to his colleagues it would be better. I would like the Minister to answer to the country why it is necessary to keep our money in London, and why instead we should not have our money in Nairobi. Why should we not have a Kenya bank and have the money here in Nairobi? That is the question.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You are repeating yourself, Mr. Oduya.

Mr. Oduya: He was talking and that is why I had to say it again.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You have said it three times now. I do not think you can expect the Minister to listen to the same point all the time.

Mr. Oduya: The second issue is this. If London controls our funds, it is not actually the mistake of London. I think it is the mistake of Kenya.

Also, we want to hear when our bank, Kenya bank, is going to be set up in Nairobi. We should hear the Minister answer this point so that we can overcome some of the problems that face us by keeping our money in foreign countries. If we go to Washington, the Minister flies to Washington for us. Now, the money that London keeps for us, why cannot we have it here in our own bank? This is the question.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You have now asked that question five times, Mr. Oduya. Can you move on to something else?

Mr. Oduya: Mr. Speaker, we are told that we get the interest on this money in London. However, suppose this money could be brought here and given in short-term basis to our cotton and maize growers, and so on, I am sure the Minister could get more than 5 per cent interest from our own people here. In fact, that would make the money circulate so that it would help solve the question of unemployment, and other things such as people lacking fees and money for paying taxes. Is it economic to have this 5 per cent from London when our people cannot manage to pay fees to send their children to school? If it is economic to do it this way, then we should be told so that we are in a position to explain this fact to the people and then we will not be burdened by their questions. We can then tell them that the Minister for Finance says that whatever we get for our development from abroad is kept in London. So, we can tell the people here that they should not bother us with such-and-such questions. We can tell them to remain as they are.

Mr. Speaker, there are other colleagues who are interested in pointing out a few mistakes in the Bill, and I hope the Minister will listen. I will now give way to other speakers. However, before I sit down I must say that the Minister should make corrections immediately; otherwise Nairobi will just be a baby of London.

Mr. Khasakhala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, this Bill is very simple and I think my hon. colleagues have not studied even the Memorandum to this Bill. They do not understand the Bill at all. In fact, the Memorandum does not alter the Bill as such. It only authorizes the Exchequer to transfer funds to Kenya without transferring the real money.

Those who have travelled a while, Mr. Speaker, know very well how difficult it is to change some Japanese money, or Chinese money, or, for that matter, Egyptian money in some countries. If we have the facilities in London whereby we could do this transfer easily and earn interest until such time the money is required here, I do not see the difficulties in this Bill at all. It is only to authorize the Exchequer, instead of showing in his account a deficit, to transfer the money which is required to be used by our Government. The money merely remains in London, earning interest, until we need it.

It makes it easy for our Government to have it readily available without incurring extra expenses. For example, when money is transferred, it is transferred in one block to our Government. We do not enter into other extra expenses, as Members are trying to argue and prove.

Sir, as far as I know, Kenya does not have business with the whole world. If you have business with the whole world whereby first of all the

Mr. Malinda: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from that reply, does the Assistant Minister imply that the political climate in the Nyanza Province is not level?

Mr. Bomett: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I did not imply that, but I hope that the things like land consolidation which would expand farm productivity, and therefore warrant the justification of Government spending money on this airport, and therefore bring more wealth into that area, which would be carried out without any squabbling in the area.

Mr. Ngala-Aboki: Mr. Speaker, is the Assistant Minister in order, when Parliament is listening to such an important question as bringing up to date the facilities of an airport, to bring in political questions, whereas in the district, people have accepted land consolidation, but Government, as usual, is treating that district with political backwardness?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I would not say the Assistant Minister was out of order just because you do not like it.

Mr. Ngala-Aboki: He was very much out of order.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I do not think so. I think we will go on to the next question.

Question No. 159

NEW HOTEL FOR KISUMU

Mr. Malinda, on behalf of Mr. Oselu Nyalick, asked the Minister for Natural Resources and Tourism if he could tell the House what arrangements there were for Kisumu, as the capital of Western Kenya, to have a modern hotel to attract tourists and industrialists.

The Assistant Minister for Natural Resources and Tourism (Mr. Mohamed): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. The Government is aware that Kisumu is in a unique position for it serves the visitors arriving by steamer from Tanzania and Uganda and others arriving by air or road from all parts of Kenya. Water sports on the lake and its abundant bird life is a popular attraction to tourists. As a principal town in Western Kenya, it attracts a sizeable number of businessmen and industrialists.

Before a decision to build an hotel in Kisumu or anywhere else is reached, however, a careful feasibility survey must be done to prove whether or not the project is economically viable. As soon as the Tourist Development Corporation starts functioning, my Ministry will encourage the corporation, in liaison with the Nyanza County Council and other interested bodies, to undertake such a study and publicize their findings on which any further actions will be based.

Mr. Ochwada: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, in order to assist the Members of this House and also anybody who might be interested in this question, I am seeking your guidance, Sir, as to whether under the Constitution, there is a part of Kenya known as West Kenya, and whether there is a capital of that part of Kenya which is known as Kisumu?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Yes, I am glad Mr. Ochwada has raised this, because if I had studied this question more closely before I passed it, I would have deleted those words, "being the capital for Western Kenya". Questions are not allowed in the form which makes a contentious statement of that kind, so I would ask hon. Members to ignore that particular part of this question.

Mr. Malinda: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising out of the reply by the Assistant Minister, and in view of the experience that we have of long delays in some of these reports being issued, can the Assistant Minister tell this House what alternative action or alternative steps his Ministry is taking to alleviate the present difficulties that are experienced by tourists who come to Kisumu?

Mr. Mohamed: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am not very much aware of what difficulties the tourists experience in Kisumu. We know in Kisumu that there is some hotel accommodation, the Kisumu Hotel offers services which, with a little push, could be made into satisfactory accommodation. In addition, there is the Embassy Hotel, the Rocco Hotel and other places providing board and lodgings.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I think Members want to hear what the Minister says.

Mr. Mohamed: But, Mr. Speaker, Sir, since the question is what arrangement is being made, this refers to the Government, and before the Government can undertake any project of this nature, a feasibility study has to be carried out, and, as I have said, the Tourist Development Corporation, as soon as it comes into working, will carry out this feasibility study. But in the meanwhile, Mr. Speaker, Sir, if any private organization would like to put forward a proposition for putting up a hotel in Kisumu, we will certainly look into it, but if it is going to be a sponsored project by Government, then we are afraid that before the survey is made, the Government cannot start on a project of that nature.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that on most days you will find that the hotels which the Assistant Minister has mentioned in Kisumu are always full up. Would—

Mr. Khasakhala: Question, question?

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not know whether one could reply to such people as Khasakhala, when they are asking questions, especially when they are always sleeping.

Mr. Khasakhala: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the hon. Member for Majengo-Busi in order to call me Khasakhala, when I am hon. Mr. Khasakhala?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! You continue with your question Mr. Anyieni, with an apology to Mr. Khasakhala.

Mr. Anyieni: I was, as a matter of fact, Mr. Speaker, Sir, trying to reply to the interjection by the hon. Mr. Edward Khasakhala. Now, Sir, let me come back to my question, and that is in view of the fact that most of these hotels which the Assistant Minister mentioned are normally full, because when I go there I find that these hotels are full. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Government, instead of sending people to do a survey, find out from these hotels whether what I am saying is correct and then would the Government immediately embark on a project of building a new hotel?

Mr. Mohamed: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not agree with the hon. Member that the hotels are all full. On the contrary, I think that there are not enough people in the hotels which I have mentioned. Mr. Speaker, Sir, if I may be allowed to say why I am saying this, what is probably required in Kisumu is a way to improve the standard of the hotels so that more people will be able to go into them. We are aware of this, and for this reason, we have asked the Nyanza Subsidiary Hotel Authority and the Kisumu Chief Health Inspector to go into this problem, and see that the standard of hotel accommodation is improved. But, Sir, I am afraid I do not agree with the Member that all the hotels are always full and that there is justification for a new hotel.

Mr. Tanyi: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I wonder whether I would be in order to seek your guidance on the question and the replies that I have been given this afternoon, when you ruled that I went against the Minister by implying that I was defending an individual, when he was answering for the Government, when, Sir, we have seen on many occasions that the replies which I get from the same Minister, when we come from the same place, are not adequate. Would I be in order to seek your ruling that whenever I ask a question to that Ministry, would it be possible for the Minister, himself, to answer me, then I may have a chance to pursue matters to do with my constituency, but not to have someone who I know personally, he has some interest—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I do not really understand your point, Mr. Tanyi, but the point I made, perhaps you did not understand. You sought to connect the responsibilities of Mr. Bomett, as a Minister, with something that he has said in a private capacity, when seeking election somewhere. I told you that you cannot connect those two things and I mean that. That is all.

Mr. Anyieni: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, how did you know that when the hon. Member made such statements, he made them privately or as a Minister, since the hon. Member—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I can answer that, Mr. Anyieni, because Mr. Tanyi referred to something Mr. Bomett had said when seeking election; no one seeks election in his capacity as a Minister. No, we will leave this.

Next Order.

CONSIDERATION OF REPORTS AND THIRD READINGS

THE BETTING, LOTTERIES AND GAMING BILL

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Hon. Members will recall that this Bill was reported from the Committee of the whole House as having been agreed with amendment; so consideration was deferred until today.

The Assistant Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. Nyagah): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move that the House doth agree with the Committee of the whole House in the said Report.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru) seconded.

(Question proposed)

(Question put and agreed to)

The Assistant Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. Nyagah): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move that the Betting, Lotteries and Gaming Bill be now read the Third Time.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru) seconded.

(Question proposed)

(Question put and agreed to)

(The Bill was accordingly read the Third Time and passed)

(Ordered that the Clerk carry the said Bill to the Senate and desire their concurrence)

Mr. Tzumi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that the hon. Assistant Minister who is answering recently contested a seat for the local authority in the area and promised people that this road had money allocated already and that he was going to see to it that it was constructed, can he tell us—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! Hon. Members must not confuse the individual position of a Minister as a Member, a constituency Member, or as a candidate for membership here or elsewhere, with his responsibilities as a Minister speaking for Government; they are two completely different things.

Mr. Anyien: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, if a Member of Parliament who is a Minister or an Assistant Minister, goes to the public and says that in his capacity as a Minister he is now seeking to be elected to this county council, I know that this has been done, and this, and this, do not the Members of this House have the right to ask him?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Of course, any Minister who does that and, in his capacity as Minister promises something, can be questioned about that promise. But this is something quite different.

Mr. Shikuku: Arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, Mr. Speaker, could he not tell the questioner to refer to the Constitution to find out whether this road is one of the major roads to be considered by the Central Government or the local authority, so as to save the time of this House?

Mr. Bomett: Mr. Speaker, Sir, that is precisely what I said yesterday. I mean, this road is actually a minor road, and until the county council applies to my Ministry for classification there is nothing we can do in this House.

Mr. Speaker: Sir, I would like to continue if you allow me. According to what has been stated before, Sir, this recent election which has been mentioned by Member, I was returned unopposed, I never promised anybody anything like what has been suggested here that I did.

Mr. Ngala-Ahoki: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think this question needs your ruling. Taking into account the collective responsibilities and the necessity for proper consultation before a Minister comes to reply to a question; why is it necessary for the Minister to refer a Member to his county council rather than that the Minister should give information of the particular county council concerned? He should give the position of this particular county council concerned to the House. Will the Assistant Minister, knowing his combined responsibility, tell the House exactly of his consultations with the local government concerned, and what the financial position is as far as building this road is concerned?

Mr. Bomett: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. The hon. Member for Baringo South is supposed to know whether a road is classified or not, because, after all, he knows that there are secondary roads, and if he does not know, the Ministry will always advise any Member, if he comes to my Ministry, and we shall tell him whether the road is classified or not.

TARMAC FOR SOTIK-BOMET ROAD

Mr. amp Sol: asked the Minister for Works, Communications and Power if he would tell the House whether the tarmacking of the Sotik-Bomet Road had been included in the Road Development Scheme of 1964/70.

The Assistant Minister for Works, Communications and Power (Mr. Bomett): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. I regret to say, Sir, that the tarmacking of the Bomet-Sotik Road has not been included in the 1964/70 Development Scheme.

Mr. amp Sol: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Minister tell the House whether this is a Government road, and if it is a Government road, are they going to make it all-weather?

Mr. Bomett: Mr. Speaker, Sir, all are Government roads, and would the Member say exactly what sort of road he means because they are all Government.

Mr. amp Sol: That is what I meant.

Mr. Bomett: Mr. Speaker, Sir, we have several kinds of roads. That means, trunk roads, secondary roads and minor roads. But this one, as far as we are concerned in the Ministry, is a minor road.

Mr. Nyaberi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, there have been so many questions concerning road development within the Government Scheme, would it be good enough for the Minister to publish the roads which are within the Development Scheme so that many hon. Members, who have asked so many questions about roads, and communications, would have the details of the roads which are under the Government Plan?

Mr. Bomett: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would not, of course, divulge what is in the Development Plan, but all that I am saying right now is that the classification of roads, or the priorities as far as (Mr. Bomett): roads are concerned, which are spread all over the country and on which we would like to see finances, and justice done throughout the Kenya Republic, we are only tied to the priorities as given by the provinces. When the province put a road as priority number one, we always stick to that and, as far as the Roads Committee is concerned, then we stick to that. Therefore, we do not judge which roads should be promoted and which roads should be done as far as development is concerned, and whatever will appear in the Development Plan will be the recommendations of counties and provinces.

Question No. 186

JUDICIAL POST FOR FORMER TOWN CLERK

Mr. Nülle: asked the Attorney-General whether he would tell the House the reasons why Mr. Kimani Waiyaki, the former town clerk, had not been given a judicial post in the county.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. Mr. Kimani Waiyaki has not to date applied for a judicial post.

Mr. Omar: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from that reply, supposing Mr. Kimani Waiyaki applied for a job with the Judiciary, would he get it?

Mr. Gichuru: That would have to be considered by the Public Service Commission.

Mr. Shikuku: Arising from the Minister's reply, is he aware that we are in great need of lawyers in this country, and if we had any person with a judicial brain, or a legal qualification, he should automatically be taken on, in view of the need for Africanization, so that we can get rid of the expatriates?

Mr. Gichuru: Mr. Speaker, Sir, my original reply was that up to now Mr. Waiyaki has made no application.

Mr. Shikuku: Arising from that, Mr. Speaker, I do not disagree with the Minister's reply, but what I am asking is that in view of the fact that we have a great shortage of people with Mr. Waiyaki's qualifications, could the Minister assure this House that when such brains apply for such jobs, they be taken on automatically because we are short of these people?

Mr. Gichuru: Definitely not automatically, but they would be considered.

Mr. Gichoya: Arising from what the Minister says, that Mr. Waiyaki has never, so far, made an application for a judicial position, would the Minister assure this House that in view of the fact that we are really faced with a situation whereby we need African senior magistrates, or resident magistrates, that the Government is going to approach Waiyaki with a view to giving him a position within the Judicial Department, as a magistrate?

Mr. Gichuru: No, Sir.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): We will go back now to Mr. Nyalick's questions. Mr. Malinda.

REINSTATING KISUMU AERODROME

Mr. Malinda, on behalf of Mr. Oselu-Nyalick, asked the Minister for Works, Communications and Power whether he was aware of the fact that the inhabitants of West Kenya would like Kisumu Aerodrome to be reinstated.

The Assistant Minister for Works, Communications and Power (Mr. Bomett): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. I do not understand what the hon. Member means. As far as I am aware, Kisumu Aerodrome has never ceased to be an airport, so the question of its reinstatement does not therefore arise.

Mr. Ngala-Ahoki: Mr. Speaker, Sir, will the Assistant Minister tell the House why his Ministry thinks that this aerodrome is working like other airports in comparison, what services are there to show that this airport is not working well, because as far as we are concerned in that part of the world there are so many services which we are short of, and we want all the services required for any airport, for a big province like Nyanza, to be brought up to the standard there. What are the services compared to Mombasa, for example?

Mr. Bomett: Mr. Speaker, Sir, during, and immediately after, the World War II, Kisumu was used as a staging and intermediate station for flying boats and that is when you saw a lot of aeroplanes touching down in Kisumu; that means from Europe. However, after the development of long-range aircraft, the VC10 and so on, Kisumu traffic was reduced to almost nil. Therefore, there was no need to improve the Kisumu Airport.

Mr. Khanakhala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from that reply, could the Assistant Minister tell the House whether there are plans to develop this airport in future?

Mr. Bomett: Mr. Speaker, Sir, development of an aerodrome or airport and also the development of any other public utility depends on the availability of staff to be carried, after all it is dealing with communication. Secondly, it depends on the political healthiness of the place.

Mr. de Koochellah: Mr. Speaker, I am not aware of that. This is the first time I am hearing of this. I wonder why the Minister for Local Government refused this. We all know that some money from the Treasury goes to the Ministry of Local Government to help with primary education. I am not aware of what the Member has stated.

NOTICE OF MOTION FOR THE ADJOURNMENT

UNSATISFACTORY REPLY TO QUESTION No. 156: INCREASED INTAKE INTO SECONDARY SCHOOLS

Mr. Godla: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, in view of the unsatisfactory reply, I wish to raise this matter as a Motion on adjournment.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You will give notice in the ordinary way?

Mr. Godla: Yes, Sir, and I hope, Mr. Speaker, when I do so you will allow me to do it next week.

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Question No. 142

TARMAC ROADS IN KISII DISTRICT

Mr. Anyienl asked the Minister for Works, Communications and Power:—

(a) Would the Minister tell the House the number of tarmacked miles of roads in Kisii District.

(b) How did this compare with other districts of comparative farm production.

(c) What improvements did the Government intend to make on roads in Kisii District.

The Assistant Minister for Works, Communications and Power (Mr. Bomett): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply, in view of the fact that the question has three paragraphs—that is (a), (b) and (c)—and in view of the fact that the hon. Member would like to get a satisfactory answer, I would not like to bore the House and I would like to reply to this in writing.

CONSIDERED RULING

QUESTION FOR WRITTEN REPLY: REASON WHY

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think hon. Members are aware that Ministers are entitled to say that a question for oral reply is better answered in writing; if the answer will be very long or contain a great deal of detail which is too difficult to absorb by oral reply; and they have, in fact, been encouraged to take that course in the best interest of the House. The only thing is that, if a Minister wishes to take that course, it is better that he says so before the question comes on the Order Paper; otherwise it may displace some other question which might have been put there. But, in view of what the Minister had said, this will receive a written reply.

Mr. Anyienl: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, when a question like this comes on the Order Paper, the Member prepares to raise some supplementary questions, and the Minister should not come, without prior consultation with the Member, and say that he would like to give it in writing. In view of the fact that he did not do this, Mr. Speaker, would it not be in order for the Minister now to be asked to give the reply here, because, for example, on (a) he will only say there is six miles of tarmac in Kisii, and that is about one line. Then on (b) he will have to say, Kiambu has—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! You must take the Minister's word that his reply is a long one. In fact, he has shown it to me and it is a long one. The reason for a written reply being preferable to an oral reply when it is as long as that is that it is in the best interest of the House to have something they can digest, and no one can digest a long oral reply with a lot of detailed facts and figures. So, in spite of the Minister having been to some extent out of order in waiting until this came on the Order Paper, we will still, as I say, adopt the procedure of accepting a written reply.

And I would ask hon. Members not to start jumping up on points of order until the Speaker has sat down.

Mr. Omvert: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not know whether I am in order to ask the House, but in previous times we have had long explanations, and it may be in our interest if we had this long reply now.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, we are not pursuing this any further.

Next question. I think, Mr. Malinda, you are going to ask this for Mr. Oselu-Nyalick?

Mr. Malinda: Yes, Sir.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): We will put it at the end, then.

Mr. Oduya: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, are you not going to allow any supplementary question on what has just been said?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, we are not following that; it is finished.

ORAL REPLIES TO QUESTIONS

Question No. 196

NEW POST OFFICES IN BARINGO DISTRICT

Mr. Tanni asked the Minister for Works, Communications and Power when his Ministry was going to open new post offices in the following places: Tenges, Emaining or Mogotio.

The Assistant Minister for Works, Communications and Power (Mr. Bomett): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply, and I will satisfy the House by making it very short.

The hon. Member's suggestion for a post office at Tenges and Emaining or Mogotio, will be taken into consideration when the survey of Baringo District (to be undertaken shortly) for determining suitable sites for post offices, takes place.

Mr. Tanni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, can the Assistant Minister indicate to this House when this survey will take place? He said in his reply yesterday that it would be some time this year.

Mr. Bomett: Mr. Speaker, Sir, if the hon. Member learned his verbs in school, my reply was it will take place shortly.

Mr. Tanni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, can the Assistant Minister assure this House that when the assessor or surveyor comes to Rift Valley, these places will be visited without fail?

Mr. Bomett: Mr. Speaker, Sir, as these places are spots within Rift Valley, it goes without saying that they will be visited.

Mr. Kamuren: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Assistant Minister's reply where he says it is going to be done very shortly, can he tell this House what will be the date?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think he has been asked that. Have you anything to add to what you said, Mr. Bomett?

Mr. Bomett: No, Sir.

Mr. Towel: Mr. Speaker, Sir, since 1963, the replies to our questions are "Wait and see, it will be possible that it will be done in a very short time". When shall we in this House be told an exact date for something to be done?

Mr. Bomett: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the carrying out of a survey to determine whether a post office is feasible depends on expert advice and it is just like when somebody wants to build a permanent house. If he does not have enough money, or if he has more money tomorrow, he will have to carry it out correctly and this is exactly what we want to do. We do not want to see that in future, after establishing a post office, there are only two letters going through the post office in a day.

Mr. urap Ety: Mr. Speaker, Sir, since the Assistant Minister comes from that area, why is he proposing that a team of surveyors should go there? Cannot he tell them straight away that those places wanted a post office?

Mr. Bomett: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I come from that area and I am not an expert on how we stamp the letters, whether we stamp left or right, but, on the other hand, Sir, I know that we want a post office in these areas, but it will depend on the expert advice, on whose employment we spend a lot of money and we must make use of them.

Mr. Ochwada: Mr. Speaker, Sir, could the Assistant Minister tell this House whether the proposed survey will be the first survey to be made in these areas, or was any other survey done before, and what were the results?

Mr. Bomett: Mr. Speaker, Sir, this is the first since we have had our independence and the Republic of Kenya as we know it today, but, of course, we have a post office at Eldama Ravine and this was surveyed by the Colonial Government.

Question No. 197

ROAD FROM ELIDAMA RAVINE TO TENGES

Mr. Tanni asked the Minister for Works, Communications and Power whether he could tell the House when the road leading from Eldama Ravine through Sigoro, Sirwa to Tenges would be constructed and made passable.

Mr. Tanni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, before the Assistant Minister answers I would like to make some corrections, Sir.

It is Sigoro, not Sigoro, Sirwa and Tenges, not Tenges.

The Assistant Minister for Works, Communications and Power (Mr. Bomett): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I know the areas very well, but, according to my maps in the Ministry I could not find a place called Tenges, and I am glad you have corrected it.

But, coming to the whole question, Mr. Speaker, my answer would reflect my answer yesterday, when I answered the Member for Bomet. That is, this is an area which is covered by the local authority, namely, the county council, and I would advise the Member to consult that body.

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, I do not really understand what the hon. Member means by asking what part we are playing.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I think Mr. Mutiso is going to try to answer what he does not understand!

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, if I understood him to ask what the Ministry is doing to help in this matter, I can only say that I do not see what further action we could take, further than what we are doing at this moment. I have already said that the Ministry has plans to establish the Board of Adult Education and, after the board is established, we shall have an officer who will be full time and will represent the Ministry on this board. We shall be able to co-ordinate the activities of the adult education movement throughout the country.

Mr. Malsori-Itumbo: Mr. Speaker, arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, is he aware that the country has become very tired of these empty promises? When are these people going to bring a report, a statistical report, to show the country what they are planning to do about education?

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am not aware that the country is tired of empty promises, of which I have not heard. If the country, Sir, has been given empty promises, I am sure they have not been given by my Ministry.

NOTICE OF MOTION FOR THE ADJOURNMENT

UNSATISFACTORY REPLY TO QUESTION 139 ADMINISTRATION OF ADULT EDUCATION

Mr. Ngala-Abok: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that there are a lot of points which need to be clarified, and in view of the fact that the Ministry of Education is not qualified to run the services of this adult education—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Do you want to raise this matter on adjournment?

Mr. Ngala-Abok: I would like to raise this matter on adjournment.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Now, Mr. Godia, you have the first right to do that, if you wish to.

Mr. Godia: I have no objections, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You are content that Mr. Ngala-Abok should?

Mr. Godia: Yes.

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Question No. 156

INCREASED INTAKE INTO SECONDARY SCHOOLS

Mr. Godia asked the Minister for Education whether, in view of the fact that over 90 per cent of African children in Kenya failed to get admission into a secondary school and so were compelled to leave school at the early age of 13, the Ministry of Education would, in consultation with the Ministry of Economic Planning and Development, consider increasing the intake to secondary schools from 10 per cent to 60 per cent, and also to arrange for the other 40 per cent of the children remaining to be given some form of training which would enable them to leave school at the age of 18 after completing such a training.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. ole Kionchellah): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. No, Sir, the excessive cost, in terms of buildings, equipment, recurrent expenditure and teacher supply, of raising the Form I intake to 60 per cent of all Kenya Preliminary Examination candidates, and of providing further training for the remaining 40 per cent, makes it out of the question to contemplate taking such steps at the present time or, indeed, in the foreseeable future.

Mr. Omweri: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, is he aware that in certain areas this percentage is as low as 4 per cent intake in Form I and, therefore, he should do something now to alleviate this problem?

Mr. ole Kionchellah: I am sure this question did not deal with particular sections or areas in Kenya. It is a national issue.

Mr. Godia: Arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, where he says he does not consider it necessary to increase the intake in certain schools, does that not imply that the Ministry intends to let most of the African students become redundant and useless, running from place to place in the country, without any educational help?

Mr. ole Kionchellah: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would suggest that before the hon. Member puts across such a question, he should first of all advise the House from where the funds should be obtained to carry out this plan.

In my original reply I said that it is going to be very costly to carry out this plan, and I would like to quote a few arrangements or estimates which have been put forward as necessary if we are to carry out such a big plan.

[Mr. ole Kionchellah]

To raise the Form I intake for 60 per cent of Kenya Preliminary Examination candidates, for instance in 1966, would require the establishment of 2,240 new Forms I; the buildings and equipment for the 2,240 new streams would cost £75 million. Over a period of four years, during which time the classes progress to Form IV, the annual recurrent costs would amount to £5 million in the first year, nearly £2 million by the fourth year. An additional 3,000 teachers would be required at once, and a further 3,000 in each of the next three years, making a total of 12,000 of whom 8,000 ought to be graduates.

Similarly, Mr. Speaker, to provide two years' further educational training for the remaining 40 per cent of Kenya Preliminary Examination candidates would require the establishment of some 1,050 new primary classes. The buildings and equipment might cost £17½ million over two years. The annual cost might amount to £2½ million in the first year, and £4½ million in the second year. 1,400 more teachers or instructors might be required at once, and a further 1,400 by the second year.

That is why, Mr. Speaker, Sir, in my original reply, I said that this plan is a very costly one. Unless the Members in this House discuss ways and means of getting the funds—because this is a very costly plan, the Ministry of Education will not be able to carry out this plan on its own—it will not be possible to carry out this plan at the present time.

Mr. Waruthi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the question makes reference to "over 90 per cent" of children who at the age of thirteen are not able to go to secondary schools. This is causing concern throughout the country. What is the Ministry going to do? This is a national crisis and if we continue at this rate we will not be building a nation, we will be destroying it. People without education or careers—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): That is all right, Mr. Waruthi, there is no need to make a speech. Put your question only.

Mr. ole Kionchellah: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I quite agree with the hon. Member that it is a national crisis. The only thing in the present circumstances is for the hon. Members to tell us from where we are to get the funds.

Mr. Ochwada: Mr. Speaker, Sir, could the Assistant Minister tell the House what plan, if any, his Ministry has to increase technical education in this country, because this would help to alleviate the problem that we are talking about?

Mr. ole Kionchellah: My Ministry, Sir, is ready to increase educational facilities if we could get the funds to carry out the plans.

Secondly, Sir, we have already mentioned this fact in this House many times. I also remember that in my last speech during the previous session last year, I mentioned that the hon. Members, during the recess of this Lower House, should try to educate the people in their constituencies, to see if they can raise a kind of educational rate, in order that every taxpayer should pay a certain amount of money which would enable us to give more facilities in the field of education.

Mr. Anyieni: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I do not know, Sir, if a Member can rise on a point of information to a Minister, when the Minister makes a statement and is completely ignorant of the facts? Is it possible to rise on a point of information to inform the Minister?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, I am afraid not, Mr. Anyieni.

Mr. ole Tips: Mr. Speaker, Sir, may we know from the Assistant Minister: the percentage of the 90 per cent Kenya Preliminary Examination school-leavers who are absorbed in any technical training school?

Mr. ole Kionchellah: Mr. Speaker, Sir, although growing numbers of pupils take the Kenya Preliminary Examination at thirteen or fourteen years of age, the majority are still taking the examination at fifteen or sixteen years of age. This year, of nearly 150,000 entrants, some 14,000 are being admitted to maintained and assisted schools. Almost 1,000 students are going to trade schools, and I think this part replies to the question of the hon. Member. Up to 3,000 are in teacher-training centres. In addition, at least 7,500 are likely to attend self-help and other private schools. So, about 22,500 of the 150,000 will obtain some form of further education. The remaining scholars will receive no further full-time formal education due to lack of funds.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Anyieni, you can ask a question which might help to bring out a fact.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, that he has urged Members of Parliament to go to their constituencies and ask their county councils to raise a special rate to cater for some of these educational problems, is the Assistant Minister aware that in Kisii District the county council did set aside some Sh. 60,000 which was going to be used for some of these secondary schools, but the Minister for Local Government refused to allow the county council to use this money for this purpose?

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, how does the Minister reconcile his reply to what he said just now, when he states that the figures are not ready, then he says that relatively very little money is going overseas, when some information we have is that a lot of money is being invested overseas? If it is true that a lot of money is being invested overseas, because the Minister does not have the figure now, could he consider demolishing, or withdrawing the licences, of those companies who are not investing their insurance money in Kenya?

Mr. Gichuru: I should have added earlier on, Mr. Speaker, that from the general information that I have in the Treasury, that the value of investment by insurance companies in Kenya is greater than the value of the liabilities. It is interesting to note that the latest figures we have are those of 1963, by that year the investment of insurance companies in East Africa was £30.9 million. In Kenya, if we are to break that figure down, the investment in that year of insurance companies in Kenya was a little over £21 million, and this is why I have come to the conclusion that they have invested well. If they have taken their money out, then that money has gone in, to a very large extent, into our East African stocks, and, therefore, the money invested elsewhere cannot be very much.

Mr. Omweri: Mr. Speaker, Sir, of the eight or nine companies investing in Kenya, would the Minister tell us how many of those companies have their headquarters outside the country, and also how many have their directors or managers living outside the country?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think that is too far removed; that is a different question.

Mr. Ochwada: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that two East African countries have decided to restrict some imports from Kenya to their countries, how does the Minister reconcile their restriction on our goods and does he not consider it necessary at the present moment to reconsider the position of the six insurance companies who have investment in the two other East African countries, and not in Kenya, but who operate in Kenya?

Mr. Gichuru: I am happy to be able to report that I was in Dar es Salaam the whole of Tuesday, on the commission which is trying to study and means of keeping the three territories together in matters of trade, in matters of this nature, and it would be very unwise of us here in Kenya, at this particular time, if we were to do anything that would work contrary to the efforts of the commission, that has been chosen by the authority of the Common Services Organization, and not afford them the opportunity of going into all these problems. These problems are being discussed. The next meeting is coming within the next few weeks and the meeting we had in Dar es Salaam was very fruitful, and I am extremely hopeful that we shall be able, if we keep to that spirit, to find a formula of keeping ourselves together. It is not necessary that a company that invests money in Kenya must also invest in Uganda and Tanzania. It is not necessary. Therefore, I would ask the hon. Member not to forget this and be patient and wait for the outcome of the commission which is due to report on the 1st May this year.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that the Minister says that he is still investigating how much investment is made overseas by the insurance companies concerned, would the Minister tell the House how exchange control is affecting these particular insurance companies, and the actual effect on these insurance companies of exchange control, because this would have been understood long before exchange control was applied?

Mr. Gichuru: This is exactly why I said what I said, because since exchange control came in, you will find it very difficult to send any money out, insurance companies included.

ADMINISTRATION OF ADULT EDUCATION

Mr. Godia asked the Minister for Education if his Ministry was satisfied that the present field staff of education officers had sufficient time to devote to the organization and administration of adult education in Kenya, because most education officers had failed to find time to devote to full supervision and inspection of the existing educational institutions, including Harambee secondary schools.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. My Ministry is aware that education officers and adult education officers in the field have a full time job organizing and supervising the schools for which they are responsible. Nevertheless, the provision of educational facilities for adults who have not been fortunate enough to get schooling in their youth is so important a national task that all who are able to assist are called upon to do so. Adult education is not conducted solely by officers of my Ministry but use is made of all who can help, including other Government officers, teachers and private individuals, and this also applies to hon. Members of this House, who are willing to make efforts and sacrifices on behalf of their less fortunate brothers and sisters.

This voluntary aspect of adult education is very important and the whole purpose of the proposed Adult Education Board is to enlist and co-ordinate the services of all who can contribute. When it is established, the board will draft programmes of adult education which will depend for their implementation on the professional officers of government ministries and local authorities, on the Adult Literacy Centre, voluntary agencies including churches, the extra-mural department of the University and United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization and other experts working in this field. It will be seen, therefore, that adult education will be a co-operative effort and not the exclusive responsibility of education officers.

Mr. Godia: Mr. Speaker, Sir, does the Assistant Minister not consider it necessary to appoint special officers within his Ministry in order to co-ordinate the efforts of adult education, instead of basing the work on existing education officers?

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, if the hon. Member will recall when the Bill was brought to this House for consideration, and we considered the necessity of establishing a Board of Adult Education, I did, in fact, point out that when the board is established the Ministry will appoint an officer who will represent the Ministry on that board. This means that all the private agencies and bodies who are interested in adult education will have one central pool where the views of the country can be fully expressed. The Ministry will be represented there by this particular officer.

Mr. Godia: Mr. Speaker, can the Assistant Minister assure the House that he is going to get the machinery of adult education implemented this year?

Mr. Mutiso: The Bill, Sir, has passed through its various stages in this House, and, as soon as it has passed through the Senate and is law, then we will start working on it.

Mr. Mate: Mr. Speaker, with all due respect to adult education which will be put into effect after the passing of this Bill, is the Assistant Minister aware that the young are the old of tomorrow, and what are they doing about the young people? Adult education is for tomorrow; and the Ministry is trying to hide behind a bush.

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, with all due respect to the hon. Member, I could hardly understand his question. But if it meant: what is the Ministry doing to help the less fortunate youngsters of this country in the way of educating them, I think there are enough primary schools for the present generation of children to go to.

Mr. Shikuku: Arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, Mr. Speaker, is he aware that there are many girls and boys who, through no fault of their own, passed the Kenya Preliminary Examination and yet had no schools to go to? Could he make use of these young men and women to try and teach the old ones and pay them a normal sum?

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, the question of adult education, as I said earlier, is purely a voluntary activity; and I did point out that even the hon. Members of this House are required to teach or come voluntarily and teach those who did not have their chance.

Mr. Nyaga: Mr. Speaker, since the question deals with the supervision of adult education, and also that of Harambee and other secondary schools, will the Assistant Minister please tell us where we are heading to with these Harambee schools?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! That is outside the scope of this question, I am afraid.

Mr. Rurumban: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the importance of adult education in Kenya today, due to the fact that it is in the soil of ignorance that poverty exists and diseases flourish, does the Minister not consider it necessary to create provision in his Estimates whereby teachers who would wholly devote their time to adult education could be employed?

Mr. Mutiso: Mr. Speaker, Sir, until the Board of Adult Education is fully in operation, we cannot very effectively control or even ask those who are at the moment engaged in the field of adult education fully to make use of the opportunities. But as soon as the board is established, we shall ask even the teachers in the countryside to give some of their valuable time outside school to teach. There is also a possibility of their being paid from the fees which the people who attend these classes will pay as a part of their education.

Mr. Tanni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, can the Assistant Minister tell us what part they are playing themselves, apart from providing one member for the board only to advise as far as adult education is concerned? What part are they playing themselves? What assistance are they giving apart from providing a single member to go to the board?

because in this case you do not know what he does later on. He then becomes full of anger. By making him keep quiet you make him bigger.

Mr. Speaker, I want to say two things to the Minister of State to the President's Office. If a man wants to speak, let him do so. Making him keep quiet makes him bigger and more dangerous. His anger increases. When President Kenyatta was imprisoned people said, "This is the right man, we must bring him back." If he had not been put into prison, Sir, nobody would have thought of him. The same thing applies to this man. Because we make him keep quiet, everybody says he must be a big and important man. They say, "He has been told not to talk to the public. He must know something." By doing all these things, we are making this man bigger than what he is now.

I feel that the Government is sitting under a very serious danger which one day will explode because we have seen what has happened in other countries. Fear does not help.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Shikuku, you have only two minutes in which to speak.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, Sir, during those two minutes I think I should say a word or two.

The Government is constantly getting very worried. So I would like to tell the Government in no uncertain terms that getting worried will not help. If it continues to worry it will find itself in the midst of chaos.

Today, Sir, we have not only freedom of speech being restricted, but we have gone back to the old imperialist way of issuing licences. If I do not happen to be on the list, I will never get a chance to speak. This is very wrong and I would like the Government of this country to realize that we are now independent and are not going to follow these things.

One day the Member for Nyandarua, who I suppose is faithful to the Government, was not allowed to speak because he was not trusted. Do you not trust the Member for Nyandarua?

The whole trouble, Mr. Speaker, with our Government is that we have to hit you hard before you—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! Twice, now, Mr. Shikuku, you have failed to address the Chair.

Mr. Shikuku: I am sorry, Sir.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Government is only interested in those who praise it. It wants to be led by praises, flattery, words to say how great and how sweet the Government is. If it continues to live by these things, then the Government will find itself in trouble. The Government only wants people who will give sweet words. If we build our nation on flattery, Mr. Speaker, we are bound to fail.

I say that this Government must not continue to be worried. It should allow us to speak our minds. Whenever we can do so we should be allowed to speak whatever we want. If what we say is against the law, then we should be sued, sent to court and then sent to prison immediately. If, however, we are not going to be allowed to speak our minds, Sir, it is very dangerous.

Lastly, Mr. Speaker, I call upon the Government to do away with this restriction on freedom of speech, including the issue of licences, so that we can have freedom of speech anywhere in the country.

With these few remarks, Mr. Speaker, I beg to support.

ADJOURNMENT

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): That is the end of our half-hour. The House now stands adjourned until tomorrow, Thursday, 27th January 1966, at 2.30 p.m.

POINT OF ORDER

NOTICES OF PRIVATE MEMBERS' MOTIONS—RULING

Mr. Anyieni: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, why is it that these days we do not have Notices of Motions despite the fact that you said that Motions will be picked, then they are given in this House. Does it mean that no Motion has been picked at all?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think you must have been absent at Notice of Motion time during the last two days. Mr. Anyieni, as we have actually had Notices of Motion on both of those days. The position is explained to hon. Members with regard to Private Members' Notices of Motion in a circular that went out from the Clerk a day or two ago, but I will repeat the explanation. By recent amendment of Standing Orders passed by this House, the procedure in regard to Private Members' Notices of Motion has altered, and they are not given now in this House until, as Mr. Anyieni says, they have been selected by the Select Committee for debate. Then, before they are actually put on the Order Paper for debate, the Member concerned is required to give notice in this House, as warning to the House of a debate immediately pending. We have actually had notice of five Motions, I think, in that way during the last two days, and those are the ones that will appear on the Order Paper tomorrow.

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Speaker, on a point of order, the Order Paper today is very confusing, because when I see Wednesday the 26th I do not know whether we are going back or we are going forward.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, I am sorry, Mr. Mbogoh, you are meant to be going forward. It was a little slip of the pen. I apologize for that.

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Question No. 148

LOCAL INVESTMENT BY INSURANCE COMPANIES

Mr. Anyieni asked the Minister for Finance how many insurance companies were investing their money in Kenya and how many were taking money from Kenya to invest overseas.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply: There are ninety-six insurance companies operating in Kenya of which eleven write life policies only, seventy-two are concerned merely with non-life business while thirteen are composite companies. All companies concerned with life policies invest in Kenya while only six non-life companies have no investments in East Africa at all. There is also one non-life company which has invested in Tanzania and Uganda but not in Kenya. There are, therefore eighty-nine insurance companies investing in Kenya.

In 1963, which is the last year for which complete returns are available, there were fifteen companies which operated in Kenya that had some investments overseas.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, could the Minister inform the House how much money is transferred or is invested overseas by the seventy companies, and how much money is invested in Kenya by these insurance companies?

Mr. Gichuru: Mr. Speaker, the information on this particular point is incomplete, and we are making investigations to ensure the exact position as of today, but it is—however, clear, except insofar as they invest on the London market in East African stocks, that relatively little money is taken out of Kenya for investment overseas.

other than sympathy, which has not changed in terms of outlook, but it has changed in principle it is equal to their own Government.

I would regret it very much, Mr. Speaker, Sir, if a voter, a man who feels that this is his own Government should have that feeling in his heart, and should therefore have that feeling in the future.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I want to warn the Ministers and Assistant Ministers that the Government of Kenya is not a Government of Ministers. It is not a Government of the Assistant Ministers only and it is not a Government of civil servants only. It is the Government of the public, and we are just mere tools to further the interests of the public, and the party workers are the key to the success of the policy of the Government, and therefore, if a party leader is silenced, then I assure you that that particular district is going to collapse. I would like to hear from the Minister whether they have appointed another Secretary-General of the Nyeri Kanu Branch.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! That light was premature. You have finished though, have you not, Mr. Gichoya?

Mr. Gichoya: Yes, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I just said that I would like to hear from the Minister what step the Government has taken to see to it that the people in Nyeri District have been given a new secretary-general who can work for them instead of Kingori, if Kingori is not supposed to speak.

The Minister of State, President's Office (Mr. Nyamwaya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I want to make it quite clear from the beginning that it is not the intention of the Government to suppress the freedom of expression. Mr. Speaker, Sir, the hon. learned Member from Othaya-South Teju, has referred to the Constitution, but I would also like to say one thing in reply to his reference of the Constitution that freedom, under the Constitution, is not unlimited. It is qualified, as he rightly remembered, under the law of sedition, under the law of conspiracy, and other similar Acts which are intended to undermine constitutional authority as by law provided.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, as to what the hon. Member for Gichugu has said, I do not really know whether it is for the interest of Central Province and the leaders of Central Province and the past animosities. We know that a lot of bad things were done during the Emergency, but, Sir, if we are going to try and get revenge and whip this particular spirit, then we will do untold harm and damage to the country and to the nation as a whole. I suggest that this be the period for reconstruction. A period for looking forward rather than looking back into the past.

Now, Sir, coming to the point of the Secretary-General of the Nyeri Kanu Branch, I will try to point out just a few things which led to the cancellation, or the denial, to the permit for this particular gentleman to address public meetings in Nyeri. Mr. Speaker, Sir, the little I know of this gentleman leaves me with nothing but admiration of his fervent nationalism. He is, according to my judgment, a very good young man who can use his energy, his knowledge for the development of this country rather than regarding the progress in that particular district. We have a lot in common with the Secretary-General of the Nyeri Kanu Branch. He supports the policy of Kanu just as we do. He supports the Sessional Paper No. 10, just as we do also, but the only thing, Mr. Speaker, Sir, where some of us differ with him is the method of achieving these objectives which are laid down in the Sessional Paper No. 10.

However, Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is known, and perhaps I may start from January, last year. It is known that Mr. Kenneth Kingori Wamburi has persistently attacked the police, the Administration and the Government in his public speeches. In March, 1965, he addressed a meeting somewhere in Nyeri where he described the present Government as bitter, corrupt, imperialistic and also led by a tribal leader. On March 23rd 1965, Mr. Speaker, Sir, this respectable gentleman who is being misled by a few individuals was summoned to the office of the provincial police officer in connexion with his past speeches, that they were actually passing the degree of decent fair comment. Also, they were dangerously coming within the realm which, if the police wanted, they could prosecute him. However, maybe this particular warning, and the line the Government has been taking has been a sign of weakness. Therefore, this sort of situation has developed.

Nevertheless, however, he continued to undermine the Government and encourage people to go back to the forest. On the 1st May 1965, Mr. Speaker, it is on the record that he convened a meeting at Ruringu Stadium where he agitated for a series of matters which, as I have said, from the tone of his speech, exceeded far beyond the degree of fair comment with regard to Government policy.

Sir, in July, it is alleged that he was involved in the formation of a party which did not materialize after the incident which took place at the Kanu headquarters.

[Minister of State, President's Office]

In June, 1965, he is said to have caused a split within the Kanu ranks in Nyeri.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I can go through the list of the things which—

Hon. Members: Let us have them.

The Minister of State, President's Office (Mr. Nyamwaya): All right, I am coming to that.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is said that he continued to undermine the administration in order to revive what is known as Kikuyu Independence Schools Association to become the national, religious and education institution, to condemn some of the leading citizens of this country as being, and describing them as, public enemies— or enemies No. 1—and black Imperialists.

In August, he embarked on a series of public meetings which, as the Mover of the Motion has rightly said, amounted to about thirty meetings. He was given permission to do this but, as it was said, the licence had to be withdrawn because at some of the meetings he called upon his supporters and henchmen to sharpen their sinis to revenge themselves against former loyalists. At this point, I think it was the duty of the Government to protect people against any outbreak of violence in Nyeri.

In September, it was alleged he was engaged in a series of secret meetings intended to discredit the administration, including the sitting Member of the area who, of course, he has a right to oust if he so wants to.

On the 25th October, Mr. Speaker, a meeting was held in a house of one of the leading citizens of Nyeri—

Mr. Gichoya: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, when the Minister alleges that a sitting Member was being ousted, can we not be told—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): That is not a point of order.

The Minister of State, President's Office (Mr. Nyamwaya): On the 25th October 1965, a meeting was held in the house of one of the leading citizens of Nyeri, where a number of political plans and methods of execution were discussed. They included getting a Parliamentary probe or explanation on the ban on Mr. Kingori, which I take is this one.

In November, Mr. Speaker, Sir, he had caused considerable damage to the morale of the chiefs and the administration in the area for having spread the belief among the chiefs that Kanu was going to replace the chiefs as soon as possible.

In October, 1965, it is alleged that he led the boycott of the celebrations of Kenyatta Day in Nyeri because he was not given prior consultation.

He is reported of having been in the hands of some wealthy politicians who are trying to mislead him.

Now, with all this, Mr. Speaker, it is up to the House to judge whether a Government, if it deserves the name of the Government, should have failed to act under the circumstances. My only plea to Mr. Kenneth Kingori Wamburi is that he should go along with the lawful forces of the country to reconstruct the country and develop the district of Nyeri with other people.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Kase: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the hon. Minister of State to the President's Office has quoted a number of instances which appear to be bad, but he never told us that he took this man to a court of law and proved him wrong. He said that this gentleman has accused Government of being corrupt. Now, this is a very serious allegation and if Government was dissatisfied by that statement, why did it not take this man to a court of law to prove that the things the man has said were wrong? I do not want to say this, but perhaps the gentleman has a right to say that the Government has no policy, which is true. I agree with that gentleman there. Mr. Speaker, Sir, the gentleman is right and if Government thinks, at any time, that he is wrong why not take him to court and prove that he is wrong? Why does the Government not shut him up?

Mr. Speaker, some hon. Members of this House have been stopped from speaking at public meetings without being told why. We want to be told. Mr. Speaker, acting under fear does not help. I can arrange meetings in my own house. I and some other people know the members of the Criminal Investigation Department. So, we know whom we are talking to. We know whether they are people working underneath or not. No Government will prosper if it works with fear.

Now, if this Government is working under fear of these statements because of its own weakness, if this Government has failed to appoint chiefs for two years, why should Mr. Kingori not say that we should appoint our own chiefs? This is something that points to the inefficiency of Government. So, this man has a right to say what he did say.

With all sincerity I want the Government to let this man speak his mind. It is more dangerous to make a man keep quiet at public meetings

[Mr. Waritibi]

The question was in connexion with Mr. Kenneth King'ori, Secretary-General of Kanu in the Nyeri District who was not allowed to address public meetings in the month of September last year.

To start with, Mr. Speaker, Mr. King'ori has been an officer of Kanu Nyeri Branch since 1960, that is, since the party was started, and last year, between the 18th July and the 10th August, he was authorized by the governing council of Kanu to organize public meetings throughout the district, and in all he applied for licences for thirty-two meetings to cover the whole district. All these meetings were licensed and, in many cases, when he went to address the meetings, he was accompanied by the chairman of the branch, who is my colleague, the hon. Mr. Wamuthenya. Now the purpose of the meetings was to inform the people and the Kanu followers how the party was to be reorganized, and also to inform the people of the resolution passed by the governing council of the branch.

Now, on the 10th August 1965, when there was only one meeting left to be addressed, he was informed by the District Commissioner, who is the licensing officer, Nyeri, that he was not allowed to continue with that meeting and he could not address any other meeting. The reason given was that these were instructions issued from Nairobi.

Now, under these circumstances, Mr. Speaker, I raised this matter as a question, and the answers given by the Assistant Minister who was answering for the President were that Mr. King'ori had made statements which were supposed to have been inflammatory, and because they were inflammatory and were a threat to security it was felt necessary that he should not be allowed to continue to address any more meetings. When the Minister was further questioned and asked to tell the House the substance of these speeches which were said to have amounted to inflammatory speeches, he was not able to say. He went further, to say that if any person attacked the Kanu Government it would not be considered to be in the public interests. Further, when questioned and asked to say what type of attacks these were, he was not able to say anything.

Now, Mr. Speaker, in the course of the answer given by the Assistant Minister he did actually say that in some places, when this particular party official addressed public meetings, there are disturbances thereafter. He was asked where these meetings were, where they were held, the dates, and—similarly—the Assistant Minister was not able to say where these meetings were held. Then, he said that this particular party officer made specious attacks on the Government, and, similarly, Mr. Speaker, there was a request by Members of this House that we should be told the type of attacks which this particular party officer had made in the course of his speeches.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to say that freedom of speech, which comes under Cap. 2 of our Constitution, deals with the protection of fundamental rights and freedom of the individual, covers freedom of expression, assembly and association, and I feel very strongly that this is one of the fundamental rights which should be very well guarded. When you have our Government giving the right to what they call the eye of the Government—by this I mean the district commissioner, the special branch people, the Criminal Investigation Department—to cover people's meetings and then report the matter to the licensing officer and that person, by himself, has the authority to deny the right to give their views and to let the people know what should be done, I feel that Government is going too far, particularly when we realize that this particular person has been leading the party since 1960. The people who he was working against—let us say, during the period before we became independent—are the people who are now supposed to judge whether his speeches are inflammatory, or whether they are against the Government. I think it is going a bit too far. It appears that if anybody speaks against the Government, that person is to be denied the right to express himself. I do not think we are meant—not only in this House, but even outside—to be saying all the time that the Government is very good, it is doing wonderful things. I think it is our duty to criticize and show where the Government has gone wrong. If it is the intention to give the powers to administrative officers, or even district commissioners, some of whose record is known to us too well, the authority to silence any particular person, that may amount to silencing the opinion of a certain particular section of the people in this country.

I believe very strongly that it is our duty to criticize and say where the Government has gone wrong, and even suggest what we feel should be done.

This particular officer was only explaining to the people what had been passed by the governing council of Kanu, and—not only that—he had been an officer for the best part of these last six years. How is it that only in this particular instance it was felt that he was making speeches against the Government? Not only that, when we ask the substance of these speeches, why are we not told? If there were any disturbances, how many people were arrested, how many people were taken to the court? We know very well, Mr. Speaker, that our law provides—the law of sedition—that if any person in this country makes a speech which is against the Government, against His Excellency the President, why is he not taken to the court of law so that it can be proved that he has committed an offence of sedition? Why do we have that law? We have cases of even Members, in this particular House, who are not allowed to address meetings in their own areas. When you ask why you are told that it is because of security and the maintenance of public order. Now, why is not such a person taken to a court of law? He should be prosecuted and then, if there is sufficient evidence, he could be committed to prison. But, under the cover of inflammatory speeches, the maintenance of law and order, you can silence a particular person with whom you may even have a personal difference.

For this reason, Mr. Speaker, I would like the Government to make it quite categorical that it is not the intention of the Government to deny citizens of this country the right to express their views, the right to challenge and criticize the Government, and even say what they think should be done.

With these few words, Mr. Speaker, I beg to move. Mr. Gichoya is the seconder.

Mr. Gichoya: It is very unfortunate that in the areas where our Government actually has a strong hold, right from the beginning to this moment, are the areas where the very leaders who made what we have as a Government are becoming victims of the administrative machinery.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, there is no other part of Kenya which has played such a prominent role in bringing about the new era which we are enjoying today, other than the Central Province, and for that matter, Mr. Speaker, Sir, the district of Nyeri has a place in the history of this country. Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have just used those words in order to make the Member realize the feelings of the people of the Central Province, especially when they hear that their party leaders have not even been paid a cent. Mr. Speaker, Sir, people who have volunteered to work freely, unemployed people on a democratic principle in order to sustain the existing machinery of the Government, and now I am being told that they are the plotters who are trying to overthrow the Government. When I say the plotters who are trying to overthrow the Government, I mean, Mr. Speaker, Sir, that if they are told that they are working against the Government, and the Government of the country, Sir, names the child of the party, and the child of the party can never be stronger, or greater than the mother or father of that child. This question, in this respect, Mr. Speaker, Sir, the party is more important than even the Government, because the Government can be changed today. The party can form another Government, but the Government cannot form another party. If a man has worked for a number of years for the good of the Kanu Government, and then he is told that he is working against the Government, it shows, Mr. Speaker, Sir, that there are people who are ready to destroy the party leaders, destroy the young politicians who may not have a good substantial standing. That, Mr. Speaker, Sir, is one point which I wanted to make.

The other point, Sir, which I wanted to make is this. It has been agreed that the chiefs and subchiefs who have served during the colonial period as home guards, in particular, should be changed. It is the duty of the party leaders, and for that matter, Mr. Speaker, Sir, Members of this National Assembly to tell the people that we have been allowed to make amendments in the terms of service and status of chiefs, in terms of practical realities in our villages, and this amendment means the replacement of these chiefs who had beaten us in the past when we said, "We want Uhuru, we want Kenyatta", and they turned round and said, "Kenyatta will never come here you fools, Uhuru will never come you fools". When we achieved Uhuru, the Africans then said, "Young man, if you want to change a chief or a headman, then you have to find out the opinion of the public". Now, Sir, how will we ever be in a position to assess the opinion of the public, unless we hold public meetings? In this respect, Mr. Speaker, the hon. secretary—I call him honourable, because he is honorary— but he was trying to find out what the feeling of the people was so far as certain subchiefs were concerned, and so far as certain chiefs were concerned, and by so doing these former colleagues of these subchiefs and chiefs who were raised to the status of a district commissioner and the status of a district officer, the former home guards, with all due respect to the job they are performing, but they should go and put the record before our honourable Government and tell them that such and such a man is working against the Government. If this is allowed we will find that the public will be frustrated, and, in the final analysis, they will say that this Government of ours does not give us very much.

when the time comes that we require making use of that money, the profit should remain with Britain and—

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): That remains our property. The interest remains our property. The money remains ours until we spend it.

Mr. Gichoya: Thank you very much indeed. The profit, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, comes to us in the final analysis, but for the immediate benefits the money must be made use of by the local people in that area by trading, with interest, of course, rather than come to Kenya where we could also use that money for trading purposes, in the form of loans to traders, etc., but the Government of Kenya requires that amount for the purchase of goods from the United Kingdom. That is the condition which we have been given by the Minister and I feel that the Minister ought to have thought of a better method of getting money here straight away, in this area, and when it is here, because it is a loan, payable some time under certain terms, it could, in one way or the other, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, be repaid by international trading agreements; that is, we sell things to Britain and they sell those goods from Kenya. The money could be used to repay the loans in Britain. The money we have in the form of liquid money should be used for our own development.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, a Member asks, "What is the difference between keeping the money in England and bringing the same amount to Kenya, using it for our own development, and keeping it there pending only the time it will be required to buy goods from Britain?" One thing, Mr. Deputy Speaker, is that if we have money in Kenya, money in liquid form, we are in a position to buy goods from Tanzania or Uganda, and when the market may be favourable on our side. But when, Mr. Deputy Speaker, we say that this money must be kept in England, it means we have accepted one condition: that the loan given to us by Great Britain must buy things manufactured in Britain, whether they are of the standard quality, internationally accepted, or poor quality, or even, for that matter, higher in terms of standards. But it makes us a slave completely, that unless we use this money—

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): No, Mr. Gichoya, I am afraid you are going outside the terms of this Bill. The Bill does not say that this money must be spent in England, it merely says the money may be kept in England.

Mr. Gichoya: If that is the case, Mr. Deputy Speaker, that we are not tied up with buying goods from Britain. I do not see the need of keeping that money in Britain instead of bringing it here and generating our own economic development with the money that has been borrowed. But keeping it there, lying idle, until the time comes that we can buy things from Britain or perhaps from the nearest countries in Europe, that means exactly that we have accepted one thing: the money given to us must be utilized in the United Kingdom only or, for that matter, in Europe. What is the difference? If we are buying goods from Tanzania or Uganda, then we say that because we have a loan we are capable of buying goods from Tanzania or Uganda, we must get that money from London, send it to Kampala or Dar es Salaam. Is there any difference between doing so and having the money in Nairobi, sending it to London because of purchasing goods from London? I do not see any difference. Mr. Deputy Speaker.

So, if there is no difference, as I say, I would like to see that money being kept in our own bank in Nairobi and our Minister, when he requires any purchases, either from Britain or from any other country, is able to make use of that loan. This is my own feeling, that the loaned amount must be kept in Kenya and become our own property. What is the fear of the British Government? If we look at this, the condition is that the money must be there. It presupposes one thing: that the British Government fears that a situation might arise in which this loan may not be recoverable—

Mr. Malinda: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, is that not imputing improper motives behind this Bill?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): I do not think it is improper motive to say that some Government may be afraid, but I think, Mr. Gichoya, you are going outside the terms of the Bill. The Bill does not say that the British Government is asking that the money should be kept in England, the Bill merely says that the Government of Kenya may keep the money, if it so wishes, in England. You are, in fact, going far outside the scope of this Bill in imagining situations and conditions which do not exist or are not stated to exist.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, my problem is this. I am trying to question myself. Why should we not keep this money here instead of keeping it in London? Then I say there could be some feelings in certain quarters that if this money stays because it is borrowed from Britain— Mr. Deputy Speaker, it looks like this. I marry a wife—

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! Mr. Gichoya. I have made a ruling on this point quite clearly, and I think you must abide by the ruling. I said this quite clearly, that the Bill does not say—you might imagine it, but it does not—that the British Government or anybody else insists that this money must be kept in England. We in Kenya are passing a law to authorize the Minister for Finance, if he so wishes, to keep money, which has been given on loan, in the country in which it is given, to earn 5½ per cent interest. I certainly would not allow you, in the course of this debate, to imagine on a hypothesis certain suppositions which have nothing to do with this Bill.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, if that is the case, I will be left in a situation whereby I will say that this Bill, even if it goes through, will still—

Mr. Maitori-Itumbo: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, in view of the fact that the hon. speaker is now repeating himself and in view of the fact that he said that he was questioning himself, I wonder whether it is in order now for the question to be put?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Considering that he is the first speaker, I think it is a bit early. Let us just wait.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Deputy Speaker, I am now complaining to you that I have had so many interruptions that even the theme of my argument is more or less getting—

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): I am afraid, Mr. Gichoya, that those interruptions were caused by you.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Deputy Speaker, I want to make it clear to the hon. Member who does not question his mind first before he debates Bills that I think he should take himself as a man who will be involved in this Bill and its implications and should understand it. That is why, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I am taking it very seriously and, as I said, it will be a funny thing if I am told that after marrying Miss So-and-so she must stay with her parents; that makes me a slave. Then I stay in my own house.

[The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza) left the Chair]

[The Speaker (Mr. Slade) resumed the Chair]

Mr. Speaker, Sir, now the situation being this, that we want to earn something from Great Britain, I still request the Minister that that money should come to Kenya and, if our banks can guarantee the same rate of interest, we should have it here and trade with the loan given, rather than keeping it for the same man who loaned us that amount to be making money out of it by trading. The money is being kept in London, with an interest. If it comes to Nairobi, Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is earning interest, an equal amount of interest, perhaps twice as much, because our banks pay a higher rate of interest here.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Minister asks where, and I am trying to tell him where. In the first place, when we go to the bank to borrow money for trading purposes, money which has already been sent there for security reasons as savings, that money is traded in again to make more money by the bank. What you are paid by the bank is less than what the bank can get by trading with that money which is yours. Consequently, that money makes money. Now, putting it nicely, that the Kenya Government can also loan money to the banks, so that they can also make money, the Kenya Government will also be able to make money higher than what you get if you put it for just security reasons, you get less amount than when you put it as a trading—

Now, in this respect, Mr. Speaker, Sir—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Have you much more to say, Mr. Gichoya, because it is time for the interruption of business?

Mr. Gichoya: Yes. What I am trying to say is this—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Well, have you much more to say, that is what I want to know?

Mr. Gichoya: Yes.

MOTION FOR THE ADJOURNMENT

PUBLIC MEETINGS IN NYERI

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I will now call on a Minister to move that the House do now adjourn, as there is a matter to be raised on the adjournment.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move that the House do now adjourn.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onoko) seconded.

(Question proposed)

Mr. Warilithi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to say at the outset that I am raising this matter on the adjournment in connexion with question No. 94 which I considered was not replied to properly.

he will not even bring the question to the House, therefore, he will go ahead and some people can go on trading. Since he has given an assurance in this House that he will have no extension of time until the House is consulted, I do not think that he will consult at the time if he has the powers from paragraph (b). Therefore, Mr. Chairman, having passed paragraph (a), I do not think that even the amendment in paragraph (b) is necessary. It should be deleted completely. It is not necessary.

With these few words, Mr. Chairman, I beg to oppose paragraph (b).

Mr. Warlith: Mr. Chairman, I am sorry to say that paragraph (b) is completely unacceptable. The reasons, I do not want to repeat what my hon. friend, Mr. Shikuku, has said, but here the Minister, I think, is trying to defeat the purpose of the Bill. Under (a) we have allowed a twelve-month period, as it will take the shopkeepers quite a time for them to be able to dispose of the goods. Under paragraph (b) the Minister wants power to be able to extend time beyond twelve months. Some of us felt that six months would be sufficient, but after giving us a guarantee that he will not come to this House again, we are quite happy to let him have twelve months.

Now, here, under a separate cover, he comes and says he wants power to extend the time to any unspecified time. Mr. Chairman, Sir, I think we feel very strongly that this amendment cannot go through and I oppose it very strongly.

Mr. Gatuguta: Mr. Chairman, Sir, I would like to associate myself with the two previous speakers in opposing this particular clause. It is quite all right for a very good Minister who feels the spirit of this House, and who may be prepared to extend the time beyond twelve months. But we know that if tomorrow another Minister comes in he has been given powers by this House to extend the time to any limit and what he will be faced with is a situation where we shall never be able to eliminate foreign prohibited goods in this country, because on many occasions he will be approached by traders and the general community, and he can go on extending this time as much as he wants. In any case, if it is a question of giving the Minister power to limit the time himself there was no need for us to pass clause (a). It is no good, Mr. Chairman, repeating ourselves in law, we do not want to repeat that. I think if we make it twelve months or we do not make it twelve months and we leave the power to the Minister himself, we cannot have both because it is unnecessary and a waste of time.

Mr. Chairman, I wish to oppose this one very strongly indeed.

Mr. Mwendwa: Mr. Chairman, I do not think it will be sensible by wasting time. I have been thinking very deeply about this and if it were myself who continued to be the Minister for Commerce and Industry for ever, I could tell the Members quite safely that I could use this power quite reasonably. But one never knows, therefore, there is a loophole here to make one corrupt, if he means to, and, therefore, Mr. Speaker, I think I better withdraw this. I think I will be quite satisfied with (a). If there is any reason for me to come to Parliament I will come, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): I can see that the Committee has given the Minister leave to withdraw his second amendment.

THE BETTING, LOTTERIES AND GAMING BILL

BILL

Second Reading

THE EXCHEQUER AND AUDIT (AMENDMENT) BILL

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Mr. Speaker, Sir, the whole purpose of this amendment is explained in the Objects and Reasons. Most of the foreign financial aid that we get is received in London and it is felt that perhaps it would be better if they do not have to transfer the money here and they have to return it back to London to pay for the goods that we buy from Britain. If we keep the money before we pay for the goods that we may buy, we have the opportunity of getting fairly lucrative interest on it at the rate of 5½ per cent. This money is not permanently placed there, it is on call and it is, therefore, wise to leave this money there. On the other hand, we cannot leave the Paymaster-General in deficit and, therefore, to enable him to have money, it is necessary that this Bill be amended so that he can be advanced some money to be able to fulfil his obligations without having to transfer money from London to Kenya and so on. As the first note says, there will be no additional expenditure of public monies incurred by reason of enactment of this Bill. So it is an enabling Bill, to ensure that the Postmaster-General does not go bankrupt, does not run into deficit and that we do not have to transfer our money from London which will enable us to earn a good interest.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I beg to move.

The Minister of State, President's Office (Mr. Nyamweya) seconded.

(Question proposed)

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Deputy Speaker, the explanation given by the Minister for Finance has more or less confused my mind. The reason for that, Mr. Deputy Speaker, is this. The Minister says that the intention of this Bill is to make it possible that we do not transfer our money from London to this country.

This is the way I understood it and if I am wrong, I am ready for correction from the Minister. If that is the case, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir—

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): May I make a correction, Mr. Deputy Speaker, before he goes any further?

I have just signed a loan with Britain worth £375,000. With that money we are going to buy a lot of British goods. Therefore, if we were to transfer that money here, only to transfer it back to London, we would waste money in exchange. On the other hand, if we leave it there until we need it, it shall earn interest of 5 per cent.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, now I have it. It is a loan you have borrowed from the United Kingdom and you are saying that money should not come to Kenya but should remain in London, where we obtained it from, and be used for trading purposes by the British people, and

(Mr. Mwendwa) law for Japan, or for any other country, it is a general law, and it is no good, Mr. Deputy Chairman, if we make a law only to find in six months' time that we have to amend that law. Laws are made to stay and to benefit everyone. Mr. Deputy Chairman, this Bill does not cover small commodities only. Here is a list of some of the goods which perhaps will be affected by this law. Of beans, fish, little things in the shops. This is very short-sighted thinking. Mr. Deputy Chairman, within a year or so we are going to have Africans buying big commodities like motor-cars, tractors, dealing with the very large machinery, which perhaps will be imported from different countries. Mr. Deputy Chairman, some of these will be worth millions of pounds. One year is not enough to dispose of twelve tractors, or even twenty motor-cars. Supposing we ban a certain type of tractor, we say we are not going to allow the sale of certain motor-cars here in Kenya. It will need at least a year before these vehicles are sold.

Mr. Gichoya: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Chairman, do you not think that the Minister is trying to divert the attention of the Members when we are dealing with prohibited goods and now he is telling us of the goods which ought to be here which will last for a long time. Could he not—

The Deputy Chairman (Mr. Slade): I cannot see that the Minister is either misleading hon. Members or misrepresenting their arguments or being irrelevant.

Mr. Mwendwa: Mr. Deputy Chairman, all I am saying is that once this machinery is imported and it is in the country, supposing now the Government decides to restrict, to say no more goods from Japan, or maybe Britain for that matter, and these goods are already in the country and are worth millions of pounds, surely all our people regardless of race, I do not mind, maybe Africans maybe Asians, surely they will face the Government and say, "Look, through no fault of ours we ordered these goods in good faith, they are worth millions of pounds, please give us time to dispose of them." First of all we must attract the retailers who come to buy one item. Secondly it must attract the wholesalers who have these goods, otherwise—as I said before, these people will be entitled to even sue the Government and say, "All right, you have given us six months, and six months is not long enough to dispose of these goods which we ordered in good faith, because we had not then restricted the goods." What do we do? We are faced with a very serious problem. We will have to call for the Minister of Commerce to come to this House and say here we are faced with a very critical position. All that I am saying, Mr. Deputy Chairman, is that we should give ourselves enough time so that the trader will have ample time to dispose of any goods. Not only that, Mr. Deputy Chairman, we must know that we can also restrict goods that are made in Kenya. If, for example, the standard of the goods is detrimental, then, for one reason or the other, a certain firm manufactured goods which we did not like, which we do not want sold to people, and then we find that, unfortunately, this firm has sold a lot of goods to people here, then we decide to ban these goods. Surely, we must give the local people who have bought these goods ample time to dispose of them. It is only fair, Mr. Deputy Chairman, and I think the hon. Members will agree with me that we, as a Government, must act reasonably in passing a law here. This amendment, for the information of the Members, has already been cleared with the Attorney-General's Chambers, and they say they believe that the amendment is quite suitable and sensible—

Mr. Godia: Mr. Deputy Chairman, I think we should congratulate the Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development for this amendment, because he must have taken many things into consideration. He must have taken into account the number of goods which are at the present time counted as prohibited goods in this country, and he must have known the number of shops, and he must have assessed what time it would take for such goods to be disposed of. That being the case, Mr. Deputy Chairman, I do not think we are going to help the country by trying to turn down this proposal. As the Minister said, it may be necessary for us again to sit after a few months to consider extending the date for disposing of such goods, therefore, Mr. Deputy Chairman, I think that this House should agree with me in getting the amendment through in order to make work for the Government and the Ministry easy. I do not think, Mr. Deputy Chairman, that I should labour much on this very simple matter, what we need is the Minister—and his department have done well in trying to find out what to do in order to make this legislation effective and his proposals should be adopted in order to make the work easy not only for his Ministry but for the country. Mr. Deputy Chairman, I think that we should accept the amendment.

Mr. Gatiguta: Mr. Deputy Chairman, Sir, I do not wish to speak very much on this amendment because many people have spoken on it. I would like to say, first of all, that I support the amendment, but I would like to have an assurance

(Mr. Gatiguta) from the Minister that after the twelve-month period is up he will not come to this House again to ask us to extend the time because prohibited goods have not been sold, because I know the problems of the traders, they will always support the Minister with the excuse that we have imported so many goods that they have not been given enough time to dispose of them and can they be given more time. I would not like to see the Minister coming to Parliament to ask for more time. If the Minister can assure me of this, I will certainly support his amendment.

The Deputy Chairman (Mr. Slade): I think I should explain that the terms of the question as I have now proposed it to the House, which is both amendments together (a) and (b), definitely gives the Minister power, on his own initiative, to extend the time. If there is any question about that, I think it would be better for us to continue the discussion on the two questions separately. So let us say that the question now before the House is simply that the words "six months" be deleted and replaced by the words "twelve months". If that is agreed, we will go on to consider whether the other words in brackets, giving the Minister further discretion, are accepted or not by the House. The question now is, substitution of "twelve" for "six".

(The Chairman (Dr. De Souza) took the Chair)

Mr. Malinda: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, as the Deputy Chairman has put the explanation quite clearly, may I be allowed to propose that the question be now put on the first part of the first amendment?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Well, there seems to be no further speaker anyway, so I will put the question of the first part of the first amendment.

(Question of the first part of the first amendment that the words to be left out be left out put and agreed to)

(Question of the second part of the first amendment that the words to be inserted in place thereof be inserted put and agreed to)

Mr. Malinda: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, I think the way this question was proposed was not strictly correct. Is it not in order that the Chairman says that the words that are to be left out, be left out, and the words to be substituted, be substituted? Is that not the procedure, because there must have been misunderstanding, Mr. Chairman?

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): I think the Members can understand English, and I think it was quite clear that what has in fact occurred is that we have merely substituted one word with another. I think it is quite clear. I have no doubt whatsoever in my mind.

Mr. Gichoya: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, what we have accepted as a kind of practice, it is a practice we have been accustomed to one thing. Deleting certain facts, that is one stage. Substituting the deleted ones with another group of words, has been the practice, and the confusion, Mr. Chairman—

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): I think it is quite clear.

If there was any doubt in my mind, as to the outcome of the vote, I might have put it again, but there has been no doubt at all. The majority of the voices seemed so preponderantly in favour of the amendment that I have no doubt at all.

I will now propose the second amendment.

(Question of the second amendment that the words to be inserted be inserted proposed)

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Chairman, I am of the opinion that as the explanation has been made quite clear in this House on Item (a), I think we shall be contradicting what we have passed in Item (a) on the period of twelve months if you can give the Minister, paragraph (b), a greater period as the Minister in any particular place may specify. Mr. Chairman, if we are going to allow, as you have already allowed, the Minister to get away with the question of twelve months' extension—

The Chairman (Dr. De Souza): Mr. Shikuku, that is wrong. I have not allowed anybody to get away with anything.

Mr. Shikuku: No, I meant, we have allowed him to get away with that. But I do not think, Mr. Chairman, that we are going to allow him to get away with clause (b) because, if we allow him to get away with that, then he could use clause (b) for extension without coming to this House, because here it is stated and, if my English is all right—I think I know a bit of English, Mr. Chairman—it says, "Inserting immediately after the word 'period' the following words in parenthesis (or such greater period as the Minister in any particular place may specify)". Now, if the Minister is going to have the power, and in his opinion if he thinks that in a particular case this requires an extension of time,

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): Mr. Chairman, there is another point that I would like my colleague to understand. He has asked me to assure him that as soon as this Bill is accepted in this House, no more goods will come into Kenya. Now, I want to assure him this. This has been not only from now. The moment this announcement was made, that no more goods from South Africa will come into Kenya, that very moment no further goods were allowed to come into our Port at Mombasa, because we have the Customs Management Act.

Now, as to the extension of time, surely you do not need to ask me for this guarantee. You know that by passing this in this House it becomes law. Nobody except you, as Members of this House, of this Parliament, will be in a position to extend this time. If I need any further extension I will have to come here and seek an amendment. So, it becomes law as from today. So, anybody, maybe my friend, any person, is affected by this as from today, when it becomes law. This is an assurance which I give freely.

Mr. Chairman, let us not look at this picture from one side only. There is also a very dangerous side to this whole issue which I did not want to disclose to the Members. However, now that they are co-operative I will disclose it to them. Once you give the business men a short time to dispose of a commodity, for example, copper—we know now that copper does not come any more into Kenya but there are a lot of goods that are made of copper here in Kenya. Therefore there are a lot of traders who are taking advantage of the situation. What they are doing is this. They tell me, "We are going to sell our goods at the price we want, because copper no more comes into Kenya." They were getting this copper from Southern Rhodesia. I have told them, "Please do not penalize the consumer. Sell your goods at reasonable prices." They want to double the prices, Mr. Chairman, because they know that no more goods of this nature will come into the country. They know that no more copper will come here.

Therefore, by giving them a little more time I am also watching to see that the copper goods are sold at a reasonable price.

Mr. Chairman, I have disclosed this point because my friends are co-operative.

Mr. Malinda: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, I thought we were talking about goods such as those which come from Japan.

The Deputy Chairman (Mr. Slade): We seem to have wandered away from the amendment for a moment. Some hon. Members are interested in the clause as a whole, but we must remember that the amendment is, as you say, limited to that country.

Mr. Malinda: Speaking of the amendment, Mr. Chairman, I am not convinced that six months is not adequate, because the moment you give a trader latitude, he will never get out of your door until you give him that extension. We have seen—and I hope I will be able to refer to South African goods—we have the experience of South African goods. It was only a few months ago, the Permanent Secretary to the Ministry of Commerce and Industry had to go to the shops himself and take out goods which had been imported from South Africa. Although the law had been there, the shopkeepers kept on saying, "No, we have not been able to dispose of these goods."

Mr. Mwendwa: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, if the hon. Member would give way. There seems to be confusion in the mind of my hon. colleague. The reason why we are moving this Bill is because up to this day there has not been any law at all to enable us to sue any person who is selling South African goods. We could restrict goods from getting into Kenya, but once they entered the country there was no law to do anything else.

So I am seeking permission in order that tomorrow the whole of my Ministry can now sue anybody who has, in his shop, goods which have come from South Africa. This, Mr. Chairman, is what I am asking for.

Mr. Malinda: So much the better, Mr. Chairman, because the more precise and the faster the law can take its course, the better. You do not need twelve months to institute legal proceedings against any person who has goods in this country which we do not want.

Mr. Chairman, talking about goods from Japan, one of the reasons why goods from Japan are so popular is because they sell very fast. They sell fast because they are cheap, and, therefore, it will be idle argument by any trader to say that the goods which he brought into the country six months ago are still in his store. Here, in the clause which the Minister wants to amend, it says that the Director of Trade and Supplies will certify that those goods which are now in the store have been there, according to his licence, which he issued, for at least six months. Mr. Speaker, I think six months is adequate time and it will give the Minister [Mr. Malinda] quicker time to act. We do not want to be left lingering on for twelve months or so. Sir, although the importation may be banned, but the Minister has just agreed that although we ban goods from South Africa, there are goods in this country which have come from South Africa. They come. How did they come? He cannot be held responsible to check and find which way they come in.

So, by banning this, we shall still be faced with the goods from Japan or from any other country which we want to restrict trade with being smuggled into Kenya. Therefore, I say that six months is ample time for anybody to dispose of the goods which he brought in, unless he, through back-door channels, adds to his stocks which we want to stop. If he keeps on adding goods through back-door methods to his store, it will be only himself that will be blamed if he is caught with goods after six months.

For this reason I think six months is adequate for the Minister to put into practice the requirements of the law.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, actually I do not understand why the Minister should feel that twelve months are necessary. In the first place, the period of six months is set here so that it is understood that any goods that have been sent to Kenya had the authority of the Director of Trade and Supplies. Clearly, it is shown that it is within a six months' period that this licence ought to have been rescinded by the Director of Supplies.

One thing which ought to be understood, Mr. Speaker, is this. When we put an imposition for restriction of goods from other countries, we put those restrictions on certain sound grounds. One is that if a country becomes our enemy, then we can have no trade connexions. That does not require any time within which we are to sever trade connexions with such country or countries. Rhodesia, Mr. Speaker, is an example. Whether it is bicycles or motor cars from Rhodesia, we are prepared to do without them if we have no friendly relations with that country.

Also, South Africa has been manufacturing goods. We have been receiving foodstuffs from South Africa. We have already stated that we do not mind living without food which comes from this country so long as South Africa has been proved to be an enemy of Kenya.

The other thing is when we cite, say, Japan, we say our trade with Japan has been very unfavourable. Consequently, we say, no matter how much it costs us in terms of paying more for our goods, we would not like to have anything from those countries whereby we do not benefit. Therefore, Mr. Deputy Chairman, Sir, here unless the Minister gives us adequate reasons, six months time, it is a good period for any sensible businessman to have goods that can be disposed of within that time. If we are told that we have to wait for one year, what we are trying to encourage, Mr. Deputy Chairman, is illegal selling of prohibited goods in Kenya under the coverage of adequate time given by this Parliament. I think we must have very active officers, not those who are waiting for twelve months to come so that they can take action, or somebody can go to a court of law and say, "Well, I have got twelve months' grace." In order to avoid this I thought even the Minister, Mr. Deputy Chairman, was aiming at reducing six months to three months. Again three months would not be adequate, either for Government officials to go into records of goods that have been ordered, or the goods which are being sold illegally within the country. Mr. Deputy Chairman, I think that the Minister should agree that six months is an ample enough period to allow any sensible tradesman, or businessman, to dispose of his wares if he was considerate enough to think of what he ought to order from outside, because any businessman makes an order with the good intention of making a profit as soon as possible. Perhaps within a day or within a month or within a week. If the Minister tells us that we must have twelve months, I feel that the Minister may be thinking of certain categories of people who may have ordered goods from other countries, and he may feel that these goods could not have been disposed of within six months. That again, Mr. Deputy Chairman, it would be wrong on the part of the Members of this House to make a law aimed at helping Mr. X or Mr. Y, and there ought to be a general law covering everyone.

With that, Mr. Deputy Chairman, I am casting my own opinion over the Minister as a person, and putting it as a general case. Mr. Deputy Chairman, Sir, I feel certain that six months is adequate and does not need any changes at all.

Mr. Mwendwa: Mr. Deputy Chairman, before the hon. Member goes on, I think I had better emphasize again the purpose of the amendment.

The hon. Member who has just spoken is very right when he says that the purpose of making a law is for a general purpose. A law cannot be made in this House for a particular case, because if that is done it is not a law. Neither can we make a law here to protect a certain person, or a certain country alone. We are not making this simply for the protection of local products by control of imports, and not related to the countries to which you have referred.

Now, Mr. Mwendwa is not proposing to amend subclause (1), dealing with the countries to which you refer, but he is proposing to amend subclause (2) which deals with control of imports for the protection of local products.

Mr. Malinda: If that is the case, Mr. Chairman, then if a country with whom we have traded, and whose imports we want to reduce, cannot equalize the balance of trade, if that is the main purpose —For instance, the Minister referred to Japan. If Japan cannot equalize or if they cannot bring their balance of trade with us into parity, or whatever the Minister wants them to achieve, if they cannot do that in six months, they will never do it in twelve or even in twenty months. Therefore, they should not be given the latitude to keep on importing things into the country.

For instance, Mr. Chairman, if the Minister has put a partial ban on Japanese goods for six months, then the Japanese Government should, during that period, make arrangements to satisfy the Minister's requirements. If they do not do it, then a complete ban should be effected. Otherwise, we shall be faced with the continuous importation into the country of goods under this kind of pretext: "Well, we have twelve months and maybe if we go to the Minister and talk nicely to him he will extend the period for another three months."

For that reason, Mr. Chairman, I still think that it is not necessary to amend this clause, and I still oppose the amendment.

Mr. Mwendwa: Mr. Chairman, I am very pleased that I am talking to a man who knows business; and, in fact, I would not have expected the hon. Mr. Malinda to speak a different language because he has been trading and he knows something about trade.

In fact, this clause does not affect or, in any case, affect Japan as such or indeed any other country. The extension of time is intended to benefit the people who are inside Kenya. For example, once we announce that we are not going to trade with a particular country, once we announce that, then the Customs Management Act starts to act on that hour, on that day. No more goods from that particular country can be imported or brought in. This is not the argument; the argument now is—and I hope the hon. Mr. Malinda will understand me now—that, through no fault of theirs, there will be traders now inside Kenya who unfortunately have goods in their shops, who have brought goods here in good faith, because up to this time we have allowed them to import these goods, before there was a ban. Now these goods perhaps will be worth maybe thousands of pounds or millions, inside the shops and stores. They can easily, if they choose, sue the Government and get them to pay for the goods they cannot sell. This can easily be done—and the lawyers here can advise me—through the legal machinery; they can easily sue the Government, because they have already bought the goods.

Now, Mr. Chairman, at first, we said we were going to give these people only six months to dispose of goods which are already in the shops but, through experience, after listening to delegations from our people who are trading, we have been advised that six months is not enough, for one simple reason: the customers who come to buy goods from the wholesalers will normally say, "This is not enough, six months is not enough to retail our goods. Therefore, although we agree with the Government that we should dispose of these goods immediately, please give us time." Because it is not their fault that we have banned South African goods or Japanese goods, for that matter, then we thought of giving them more time.

Let me say here again, Mr. Chairman, that this extension does not affect—does not—affect South African goods, which we have already banned. This is the finish. If we see anybody today in possession of South African goods, we will arrest him. This clause affects those people on whom we have only placed a partial restriction. For example, we are trading with Japan. We have not placed a complete ban on Japanese goods, but we have actually placed a partial restriction to protect goods which are locally made. I could quote examples; it might be shirts, it might be batteries. These goods are locally made here and, in order to protect those goods which are locally made, we have to say to whichever country from whom we have imported these goods, "Send no more to us. We don't want these goods."

Unfortunately you will find that people have these goods in their shops and stores. Naturally, they are going to ask us to give them enough time to dispose of these goods. Immediately we say, "No more, traders, retailers, like Malinda or anyone else, will not be willing to buy these goods because the Government has completely banned the import of them; and this is not fair on an innocent man who imported goods from Japan or America or wherever it may be in good faith.

[Mr. Mwendwa]

Therefore the time which I request now is to give our retailers and wholesalers time to dispose of their goods so that they do not sue the very Government which you like and support.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Chairman, while partly agreeing with the views expressed by the Minister, I think the period of twelve months is not such a guarantee that they will have by then disposed of all these goods. In addition to that, Mr. Chairman, there is no guarantee to the effect that no more of the goods so far which we are banning will not be entering the country. I am of the opinion, Sir, that the amendment is not necessary and that six months is enough time in which to get rid of all the stuff these traders have. If it is a question of time being short, they could as well say after twelve months, "My dear Minister, we've tried our best, could we have another six months?" I think we have to be decisive and stipulate that six months is enough, and having nothing to do with the amendment.

With this, I oppose the amendment.

The Assistant Minister for Education (Mr. Mutiso): Mr. Chairman, Sir, I think that in all fairness there is one thing which the hon. Members are perhaps not looking at very carefully or are overlooking. If we take an example of the goods which are involved, we will see that some of them are Japanese. This Government established good relations with Japan and allowed the traders, the big businessmen in this country, to import goods from Japan, say, worth a million shillings. Some of these goods are still in their godowns, in their big stores; and the traders are waiting to sell them to the retailers for onward transmission. Perhaps at this very moment these goods have not been taken out of the boxes which brought them from Japan.

Now, as I understand it, Sir, the moment the Government announces that there will be no more importation of these goods, the traders will completely cease to sell them because they would be selling them illegally and the Government can sue them for that. What is going to happen is that these people who imported these goods into this country, in good faith and licensed by the Government, will turn and sue the Government for the loss of property, because the Government had allowed them to get as far as importing these goods.

I think what the Minister here is asking is adequate time whereby no businessman will have the excuse to come to the Government and say, "You gave us too little time in which to dispose of the goods we had in our store." I think twelve months is quite reasonable and quite adequate for any businessman who has these things in his store to dispose of them, because they will already know that the Government intends to put a total ban on these goods. So if they come later on, at the end of twelve months, with the cry, "Give us more time", I am sure the Government will turn a deaf ear to them. I think if we want to be reasonable with the businessmen of this country, then the extension of twelve months is quite adequate.

The hon. Mr. Shikuku has said that this is not a guarantee that these people will not come back and ask for another three or six months. I am sure the Minister is taking a note of this; and the moment this period expires, I am sure this House will be listening to the Minister while he asks for the decision of the House to put a ban into full effect, to impose a total ban on these goods. And even if there remains a businessman who comes forward and asks for an extension, I do not think the Minister will listen to him.

The Minister for Housing and Social Services (Mr. Ngei): Mr. Chairman, there are two aspects to support my colleague's argument with regard to the extension of time. One is the psychological factor that has affected the consumers in this country, that the Government is banning South African, Portuguese and Rhodesian goods. Therefore, consumption rate is bound to go down. For this reason, it supports the hon. Mwendwa's argument of wanting a longer time. I think we should be reasonable here.

The other point is this, Mr. Chairman. We are not punishing the traders and the consumers in this country. We are only punishing those countries which we think do not have friendly relations with our country. Therefore, the traders who already have goods imported from Portugal, Rhodesia or South Africa are not the ones we are going to punish. They brought these goods in good faith. They were good commodities, but because of political reasons it was decided that we should ban the importation of these goods. Therefore I am saying that the traders in this country who ordered these goods did so in good faith and they should not be punished. We do not want to penalize them.

Taking into consideration the point I made that the rate of consumption is very low due to psychological reasons, and also the point I have just dealt with, I think the issue raised by my colleague, the hon. Mwendwa, is good and sound.

The Deputy Chairman (Mr. Slade): No.

Mr. Shikuku: If this is so, what can we do?

The Deputy Chairman (Mr. Slade): Ask the Press to note it.

Hon. Members: He will be evicted.

Clause 3

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move an amendment to clause 3 (1) and (2) of the Bill, but before I move this amendment, Mr. Chairman, Sir, I would like to clear up a small point which was raised yesterday by an hon. Member about this amendment.

Mr. Malinda: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, on the Order Paper there is an intention of amending clause 3 (2). Is the Minister in order to say that he is amending clause 3 (1) and (2), without it being shown?

The Deputy Chairman (Mr. Slade): I think either it was a slip of the tongue, or you misheard him, Mr. Malinda. I think he is referring to subclause (2) only.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): Mr. Speaker, Sir, the clause I am referring to is clause 3 (2), and there are two sections to this clause, sections (a) and (b). There are two amendments.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, it was actually reported today in the Press that I did say something yesterday, but I think that there is confusion somewhere. The proposed Bill relates to two types of goods. One, goods banned under the Customs Management Act which means goods from South Africa, Portuguese East Africa and Rhodesia. Two, goods banned under the Imports, Exports and Essential Supplies Act which are goods mainly subject to import licensing restriction, including a partial ban on Japan. We wish to amend clause 3 (2) which relates only to those goods mentioned in clause 2 above, Mr. Chairman, and that means goods which are under the Imports, Exports Licensing Act. Now, this is for the clarification of the Members. All the goods which come from South Africa or Rhodesia or Portuguese East Africa are not affected by these amendments. Anybody, seen-at the moment, selling South African goods or Portuguese East Africa goods will be dealt with.

Sir, the amendment only concerns part 2. Now, if I may say so that with regard to South African and Portuguese East Africa goods, the effect of this Bill will be such that immediately it becomes law no one will be able to trade in South African or Portuguese goods, because the six months' period, since the ban was introduced, has expired. With regard to Rhodesian goods the six months' period will take effect from the date of our trade ban which was imposed in December. This means that by May, this year, everyone should have disposed of Rhodesian goods which they have in stock at present. I hope that the above clarification has been understood by the Members.

Therefore, Mr. Chairman, Sir, I beg to move the amendment:—

THAT the proviso to clause 3 (2) of the Bill be amended by—

(a) deleting the words—"six months' period" and inserting in their place "twelve months' period"; and

(b) inserting immediately after the word "period" the following words in parentheses "(for such greater period as the Minister in any particular place may specify)".

The Deputy Chairman (Mr. Slade): Here again these two amendments are related to each other and so I will propose the question as one.

(Question of the amendments proposed)

Mr. Malinda: Mr. Chairman, the Minister, far from having clarified the position, has, I think, made it worse, because, first of all, we must understand why we want to ban any goods coming into Kenya. If we do so, then we must make up our minds as to how long we are going to allow a moratorium to the people who have imported those goods into this country, allow a period of time during which they can get rid of them. If this clause here is amended as proposed, I cannot see how it fits in with clause 3 (1), the proviso in clause 3 (1), because here we have six months laid down which should be allowed to elapse before any action can be taken against a person who has imported goods into this country from the time of the enactment of this Bill. Now if we pass that one as it is, then it makes for complete confusion when you say that people can hold on to these goods for longer than six months, twelve months, say, or even longer, according to the Minister. He could probably go on and say, "All right, instead of twelve months, you can go on for eighteen months." What is the purpose of the Bill? Is the purpose, Mr. Chairman, not to safeguard the country? If that is the case, Sir, then I fail to see the necessity or, the need for twelve months instead of six months.

In fact, I have written here in my notes that I was going to oppose the six months; I was going to say that it should be even less. After all, if this goes on like this, it will amount to a perpetuation of the trading with a country with whom we do not want to trade for some reason or other.

So, Sir, unless the Minister can clarify matters more than he has done, I oppose the amendment.

The Deputy Chairman (Mr. Slade): I think, Mr. Malinda, you are still confused as to the relative effect of subclause (1) and subclause (2). Subclause (1) deals with prohibition under one kind of law, that is, an order made under the East African Customs Management Act, which is the law used for the kind of countries to which you refer. Subclause (2) deals with a completely different law, which is prohibition under the Imports, Exports and Essential Supplies Act, which is a law made

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I understand this discussion of the adjournment of this debate has continued for a little time. The House can now consider whether or not they wish to go on any further with the discussion. So I will put the question.

(Question, that the question be now put, put and agreed to)

(Question put and agreed to)

POINT OF ORDER

NO AMENDMENT TO MOTION FOR ADJOURNMENT OF DEBATE

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I am seeking your ruling on this. I think the Members have been slightly confused because the debate—as you were outside—was as to whether it should be withdrawn or—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! No, quite definitely the question before the House was that "this debate be now adjourned"; that is the only question. Hon. Members can say "yes" or "no". I think the majority have said "aye"; if hon. Members doubt it at all, we can have a division.

Mr. Anyieni: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, when this question of withdrawing was posed by the Assistant Minister of the Ministry of Agriculture and then seconded by someone else who did not speak—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): The question of adjournment you mean?

Mr. Anyieni: Yes, Mr. Speaker. I stood up to put an amendment to this proposal and I proposed that instead of us adjourning this Bill, this Bill should be withdrawn. I thought that because the other hon. Member did not have to write a formal paper to the Speaker, to propose the adjournment, I also did not have to write a formal application to the Speaker to put my amendment. When you were doing this, I thought, Mr. Speaker, that even the question of withdrawing was also going to be considered. Now, Mr. Speaker, it seems as if my amendment was not taken into account and if it is because, maybe, I did not know the way to put it, I would like to put it so that we know as to whether Members favour the idea of withdrawing because I think this confused—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! Certainly your suggestion of withdrawal of the Bill was not taken into account because it could not be taken into account. On a Motion for adjournment of a debate, there cannot be any amendment proposed, either withdrawal of the Bill or anything else. Hon. Members in the course of arguing against the adjournment can say that they would rather see the Bill withdrawn and, therefore, they do not want to agree to the adjournment, but there is no question of such an amendment as Mr. Anyieni suggests being put forward as an amendment of the Motion for adjournment of debate. In fact, as hon. Members know, it was not proposed by the Deputy Speaker as a question to the House because he knew better. As I say, the House has now decided by a majority, as I hear it, that the debate be now adjourned; and so it is, unless some hon. Member seeks a division.

Next order.

CONSIDERATION OF REPORTS AND THIRD READINGS

THE IRRIGATION BILL

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Hon. Members will recall that this Bill was reported back from the Committee to the House yesterday as having been approved with amendment, and so consideration of the Report was deferred until today.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move that the House do now consider the consideration of the Committee of the whole House on the Irrigation Bill.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): The question you want to move is that the House doth agree with the Committee in the said Report.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move that the House doth agree with the Committee in the said Report.

POINT OF ORDER

AT WHAT STAGES A BILL MAY BE DEBATED

Mr. Anyieni: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I do not know exactly where we are. Are we now in a stage where we only have to say "yes" or "no", or are we in a stage where we can ask questions or where we can speak, because the way it is moving I do not understand. I do not think even the Assistant Minister did understand. So it might be proper, Mr. Speaker, if you give some direction or some advice.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Perhaps I should refer hon. Members to Standing Orders on this. Hon. Members are aware that when a Bill has been considered by the House in Committee, it is then reported by the Chairman of the Committee to the House as having been agreed with or

[The Speaker] without amendment, and Standing Order 99 provides at that point: "When a Bill has been reported from a Committee of the whole House on committee the House shall consider the Bill as so reported upon a Motion 'that the House doth agree with the Committee in the said Report.'" That is the Motion that is being moved now: "That the House doth agree with the Committee in the said report".

["(2) The question of any Motion moved under paragraph (1) of this Standing Order"—that is, that particular question—"shall be put forthwith, no amendment, adjournment or debate being allowed, unless any Member desires to delete or amend any provision contained in a Bill, or to introduce any new provision therein, in which case he may propose an amendment to add, at the end of the Motion, the words 'subject to the recommitment of the Bill, in respect of some specified part or proposed clause, to a Committee of the whole House.'"

So this particular Motion—that the House doth agree with the Committee in the said report—has to be considered forthwith, unless any hon. Member wishes to move an amendment which is, in fact, that it be referred back to the Committee. After that question has been answered in the affirmative, that the House agrees with the Committee in the said Report, then there is a Motion for the Third Reading of the Bill, on which it is possible for hon. Members to resume debate of the merits of the Bill.

I do not know whether anyone seconded, actually, Mr. Osogo's Motion?

(Resumption of debate)

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo) seconded.

(Question proposed)

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I will sit down to see if any hon. Member wishes to move an amendment of that question, suggesting reference back to the Committee. If not, I put the question.

(Question put and agreed to)

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move that the Irrigation Bill be now read the Third Time.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru) seconded.

(Question proposed)

(Question put and agreed to)

(The Bill was accordingly read the Third Time and passed)

(Ordered that the Clerk carry the said Bill to the Senate and desire their concurrence)

THE BOARD OF ADULT EDUCATION BILL

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Hon. Members will recall that this Bill also was reported from the Committee of the whole House yesterday as having been approved with amendment, so consideration of the Report was deferred until today.

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move that the House doth agree with the Committee of the whole House in the said Report with amendment.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa) seconded.

(Question proposed)

THE EVICTION OF TENANTS (CONTROL) (MOMBASA) (AMENDMENT) BILL

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Chairman, I thought it was a part of our Standing Orders that when you are leaving your seat and moving to the other Chair for the Committee stage, the House should rise. Is it in order for Pressmen or any individual in the gallery to sit when we are standing?

[Mr. Anyieni] as many Members as possible to air their views and here we do not blame the Minister, because we do not expect a Minister to know everything or not to make even a small mistake— if I was in his shoes may be I would make many more mistakes—and there is no shame in accepting that there are a lot of things that need doing. Mr. Deputy Speaker, the other thing is that the Minister also read most of his speech and he made little speech without looking at the paper and—

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru). On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I think this is an accusation. A financial statement of this nature is generally read, I am taking notes, if he wants me to reply to this, I have got them down here and later on perhaps before we—

An Hon. Member: Is that a point of order or an argument?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! Order! I think it is slightly unfair, Mr. Anyieni to say that. I think that Mr. Gichuru is right. This is a very important Bill and I think, when matters of finance are raised, Ministers do read a substantial portion of their speech. I am sure he could not have read the whole lot because I am sure the Speaker would have stopped him.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Deputy Speaker, maybe I did not make myself clear. What I mean, Mr. Deputy Speaker, is that the speech that he made was in such technical terms that I must honestly say that I was not able to follow what he said. I have already tried to look at the Bill to see what is there. What I am saying, Mr. Deputy Speaker, is that if he had spoken a lot he could have tried to say in a layman's language what is meant by the Bill, so this does not mean that I am implying that the Minister did not understand. Maybe the Minister thought that after reading it everybody did understand, but what I am saying is that he did not make it very clear. The little that he has understood from reading the Bill, Mr. Deputy Speaker, is that this Bill should be re-written and if the Minister, for example, could say that maybe we could discuss some of the points to which we have objections now, it may be in our Parliamentary Group meeting, and make amendment, then we will accept it. But the idea of adjourning, Mr. Deputy Speaker, means that again this Bill may be brought as it is now and I am opposing that because I remember once when we were discussing a Bill here about land settlement. When this Bill came here the majority of the Members refused completely to accept it, then the Ministers went away to the Members whispering, whispering quietly, and then one day they waited, Mr. Deputy Speaker, on Friday when Members were running back to their constituencies and then they brought this Bill.

There were about ten Members here, almost only Ministers, and the whole thing went through without the Members knowing. Now, Mr. Deputy Speaker, we have this here even now. Maybe the Minister wants this adjourned so that he can come and speak to me, to Maisori to every Member here and say "Now, look here, this is a good Government", then bring the Bill again as it is and when it comes again and I stand up—maybe the hon. Maisori will stand up to oppose it—you will find other Members who have been asked to sit here and they will say "Oh, no, do not oppose the Government."

Now, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I think that what the Minister should accept is that the Bill should be withdrawn so that the views expressed—and if the Bill is to be withdrawn, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I think, even at this stage—more hon. Members should be allowed to air their views, so that maybe the Minister will think about this while he is thinking of re-writing the Bill, because so far only a few Members have spoken, they have not even given their alternative views, the only thing they have done is to criticise, but given the opportunity of having this Bill withdrawn I am sure that a lot of Members will try and give advice on what should be done. Maybe they will not refuse the whole guarantee, maybe they will accept a few and the others they will refuse. So, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I strongly object to adjourning this Bill, but what I can propose as an amendment, Mr. Deputy Speaker, is for the withdrawal of this Bill so that it can be re-written.

With these few words I beg to support.

Mr. Mwanzandi: Thank you very much, Mr. Deputy Speaker, there is complete dissatisfaction in this Bill, as a result of which I have nothing to advise the Minister of Finance other than to have a complete withdrawal of this Bill. I do not see the reason why, Mr. Deputy Speaker, this Bill should be adjourned. What other influence will be used to ensure that Members' dissatisfaction is cleared up? Accept a withdrawal of the Bill and a reconstruction of the Bill. We have seen, Mr. Deputy Speaker, and we can even see here, those who perhaps call themselves Chief Whip are now trying—

Mr. Malinda: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, is it in order for the hon. Member speaking now to allege that there are people here calling themselves Chief Whip?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): I do not know that he in fact said very much, I do not understand what he was going to say. You interrupted him. I do not think that there is much point in going further on that line, Mr. Mwanzandi.

Mr. Mwanzandi: I am on the point, Mr. Deputy Speaker. We have one Chief Whip here and we have seen seven people going round trying to confuse the other Members. That is why I call them the Chief Whip. In any case, Mr. Deputy Speaker, what I would like the Minister to do now is a complete withdrawal of this Bill and re-introduce the Bill. There are some sections that can never be accepted in this House. Today perhaps we have a trustworthy Minister. Mr. Deputy Speaker—

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Mr. Mwanzandi we do not want to go into the debate of the Bill, we just want to know whether you support the adjournment or not.

Mr. Mwanzandi: I do not support the adjournment. I want a complete withdrawal.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I support the adjournment and although I do not wish to debate, it must be clear to Members that it is absolutely necessary for Government to be ready to guarantee payment of loans to corporations and other bodies. That, of course, will necessitate the smooth working of those bodies that may be formed at any time, because no organization could be formed by Government without Government guaranteeing some loans so that that organization can start on a proper footing. Whether that money comes from Government sources or from the outside world, the Government is the right body to guarantee such loans. But the withdrawal must be based on a number of factors, Mr. Deputy Speaker. The first one is that before that guarantee is given the House debates the merits and demerits of that guarantee, rather than the Government guaranteeing loans and then bringing the whole matter to Parliament. Now I submit—

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Order! Order! Mr. Ngala-Abok, I made it quite clear just now that all we are debating is whether to adjourn this particular debate or not. We are not going to discuss, at this present moment, it is a very simple procedural Motion. I do not know why there seems to be so many hon. Members who seem to want to debate at great length this one question. Do we want to debate this or do we not? Please confine yourself just to that one.

Mr. Mwanzandi: On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, when one of our Members was speaking on this Bill, I was told by an hon. Member here that it is not necessary that the Bill will be brought as it is. Do we have any Standing Order which says, when a Bill is adjourned, it can be brought in another form before we vote for it?

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): The point is this. All the Assistant Minister has moved is that the debate on this particular Bill be adjourned, I think he said, sine die, but it does not really matter because the Sessional Committee will fix another date. The Government is then at liberty to withdraw this Bill if it wants to or not proceed with it and re-introduce another Bill, but the House cannot, as far as I know, force the Government to withdraw this Bill at this stage. The House can, of course, refuse to accept an adjournment of the debate and then defeat the Bill, if that is the purpose, but if the Minister has made the gesture of saying he would like to adjourn the debate in order to reconsider the matter, I think the House should let him do so.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: If the Government says that it adjourns the debate on this Motion, then, in the light of the speech I made, since I know that there are a number of reasons for such a Motion to be tabled in the House, I support the adjournment rather than withdrawal.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): Mr. Deputy Speaker, I think it is right that the Members should know that there is a great difference between adjournment and withdrawal. If this Bill is withdrawn, all that it means is that nobody should even look at it, because it is finished, until it comes again in, maybe, even five years to come. This is what withdrawal means: they should forget it completely because it is withdrawn. But, Mr. Deputy Speaker, all that the Junior Minister is asking is to adjourn the discussion of this Bill, so that the Members behind will have more time to read it and discuss it, and also the Government, on our side, will have time to see whether we can adjust it, but if it is withdrawn, the Government will do nothing about it. There is a great difference between withdrawal and adjournment.

[The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza) left the Chair]

[The Speaker (Mr. Slade) resumed the Chair]

Mr. Komora: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I beg to move that the question be now put.

[Mr. Malinda]

Minister to inform us, when he stands to reply, what provision he has made in this Bill or anywhere else, for the Government to be able to recover that money which it guarantees in the case of a local authority failing to honour or to satisfy the covenant that it has signed. Mr. Speaker, if it is, Government guaranteed the money and paid out the money, it should have a method whereby money could be recovered from a local authority which was unable to satisfy the loan. Mr. Deputy Speaker, over and above that there is a list—before I go to the Schedule Mr. Deputy Speaker, I would like to mention clause 5, which says that Parliament will be informed when a loan has been guaranteed. That, Mr. Deputy Speaker, will be all right if this Bill is passed, but I would like the Minister to tell us if he only informs us when a loan has been guaranteed, what about when a loan has been satisfied? When a loan has been liquidated? Where do we get that information from so that we know that any additional loan is not beyond the £30 million which we were asked to pass here? If this passes it will only give him permission to guarantee up to £30 million. Now, £30 million should not be exceeded. By what method are we going to know that by guaranteeing a certain loan that it is not over and above the £30 million?

Mr. Deputy Speaker, according to the schedule there are two items which I would like an explanation from by the Minister. He has said in his opening speech that funds that have been guaranteed in relation to the East African Common Services or East African Airways Corporation have had, or the Government of Kenya has only one-third to look after and that is shown by an asterisk in the Schedule. Looking through the list one finds that there is a sum of £140,803 guaranteed in favour of the National and Grindlay's Bank to the East African Common Services authority. Why must the Kenya Government guarantee that amount on a loan, why is it not shown so? The other one, Mr. Deputy Speaker, is a sum of £4,302,630, that is on page 415, guarantee in favour of the British Aircraft Corporation Limited in respect of East African Common Services Authority. I suppose this is for the purchase of the VC 10 aircraft. Is that these aircraft or is it an amount which covers the whole East African Airways Corporation purchases. I would like the Minister to explain this to me. Now if this Bill passes as it is, and in addition to the amendment that the Minister wishes to bring in at the Committee stage, it would seem that when this Bill passes there will only be £1,050,120 outstanding, that is the amount which could be guaranteed. Sir, are these loans which have already been guaranteed, and passed through this House as has been the normal practice? The only one that I can see here is the City Council of Nairobi. That I remember we discussed here, but I cannot remember talking about some of these others which are listed here. Mr. Deputy Speaker, I would like a clarification there, and I would like to find out from the Minister what the benefit of this Bill will be if it is only one million pounds which they can guarantee unless some of these loans have been repaid.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, the question of coming to inform Parliament is not good. There must be a better method than simply informing the House. We should like Mr. Deputy Speaker, to feel that we are part and parcel of the organization and all the money that is spent in this country, and although the Minister says that he will inform this House, will the information be subject to debate here in this Parliament or will it just be information like we find in our pigeon-holes that an agreement between the Kenya Government and a certain other Government, or an agreement between us and the World Bank, or something like that has been signed, which we do not have any chance of debating. Or even of raising questions in this House. Mr. Deputy Speaker, we must know if he is given permission to just inform this House, what will the procedure of informing this House be? If he just informs us as he has done in the past then, Mr. Deputy Speaker, it raises a lot of suspicion and I am sure that this will not be passed. If the Minister would like to amend that clause to put it that when information is supplied to this Parliament, then Parliament will have the opportunity to either raise questions of information, or to debate the information, because we know that he says that these loans are for development then that would seem to be all right. But we want to see development more on the African side, because if you look at this list you find that very few of these loans, except perhaps the Nairobi City Council and the Mombasa pipe line, all these are loans which are guaranteed to rich firms to make them richer.

For instance Uplands Bacon Factory, that is a fantastically rich company and Africans are not benefiting from it. We, the Africans, are not benefiting as much as the owners of the bacon factory. We want to have power whereby if a loan is guaranteed or if, for instance, all these loans have been guaranteed in favour of these people, we would like to see that that one million which could be guaranteed should be guaranteed in projects beneficial to Africans or through the county councils of this country. There is a large lack of water in this country and the other day I asked a question here, I wanted to see that Athi River had been dammed, but I was told that it was going to cost a million pounds. If this money was guaranteed in favour of Machakos County Council, the Athi River could be dammed and benefit the Africans in that area.

So, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I would reserve my vote here but I would like the Minister to enlighten me on this and also to make sure that any future guarantees are guaranteed for the benefit of Africans, more especially to the county councils of this country, because even if you look through here you will not find one county council having any loan guaranteed. With these few remarks, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I wish to reserve my vote.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): Mr. Gichuru, I am afraid you can only speak when winding up. Do you want to speak now?

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): No, Sir.

Mr. Kasi: Mr. Deputy Speaker, I think the hon. Minister for Finance is asking for too much. I think he should take our advice and withdraw this Bill, because there is no matter in question and I cannot leave this House until I see the end of this Bill. I am determined—

Now, Mr. Deputy Speaker, the interesting thing is that the Minister who has said that in the past the practice has been to come to this House, we pass that Motion for guarantee. He has not told us that we have passed so many Motions to guarantee Kariakör, guarantee this to guarantee that, and he said he will get that money without guarantee. Why is it necessary to have this law so that he does not come to us at all. If he wants us to give him this power, clause 3, then clause 5 should be included at the end, but Parliament can have the right to reject that Bill after debate. He can guarantee it outside, but when it comes here it can be rejected.

Now, Mr. Deputy Speaker, as the hon. Specially Elected Member has said, there are so many bodies here who are being guaranteed money by this Government and these have not yet—somebody from Majore-Bassi I think, someone from Teso, Mr. Deputy Speaker—and when they were asked about this guarantee which I myself think should be rejected. I think that some of this for once, Mr. Deputy Speaker, should be rejected by this House unless we are told and they have brought it back to us and we recommend. But, Mr. Deputy Speaker, he brought things that we do not know where they were signed or for what purpose these things are being done, and, therefore, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I think he is asking too much. He first of all is asking for the impossible by asking the Bill to be passed and he is also asking us to accept certain debts of which we know nothing about. Now, Mr. Deputy Speaker, we know there is a tendency for money that has been borrowed for this country to go to only a few places for development. Now keeping to this £30 million, Mr. Deputy Speaker, giving money to the Finance Minister, he can do anything.

MOTION

ADJOURNMENT OF DEBATE: THE LOANS (GUARANTEE) BILL

The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): On a point of order, Mr. Deputy Speaker, in view of the fact that the Government feels that the debate on this Bill be adjourned, I was wondering if I was in order to move adjournment of the debate on this Bill sine die—so that it could come later on in the Session.

I am trying to move this, Mr. Deputy Speaker, because I learn that there are a few things that should be done on the Bill and also because the Minister for Finance has been very much out of the country and he has not had much time to look at the Bill. I was wondering if the House would allow adjournment on this debate so that we could come and discuss it later on instead of wasting time debating it when eventually we might take up a lot of time, instead of going on to another order. So, Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I beg to move.

The Assistant Minister for Works, Communications and Power (Mr. G. Godana) seconded.

(Question proposed)

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Deputy Speaker, the only thing that we will accept from the Government is a withdrawal like that which was done by the hon. Otieno, Minister for Health, when he withdrew a Bill on housing and he promised us that the reason why he was withdrawing it was to take into account the views which were expressed by the Members, so that the Bill could be re-written properly.

Now, Mr. Deputy Speaker, the Members here have started to put forward their views and it would be only proper for the Minister to allow guarantees, namely, £30 million, may appear very large, but it should be borne in mind that our Development Plan envisages investment of some £9 million a year by bodies such as the East African Common Services Organization, Self-Contained Services, East African Airways, City Council of Nairobi, and various statutory boards. It is normally necessary for Government guarantees to be given to enable bodies of this kind to borrow the necessary funds for essential development.

As stated in clause 5 of the Bill, a report to the House will lay down specifically the terms and conditions of all guarantees entered into. It will be open to any Member of the House to seek to have a debate on such report, or to ask questions to clarify any issue relating to any new guarantee. I can assure hon. Members that guarantees will not be entered into lightly and will only be entered into when it is in the interest of the development of our country.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move

The Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. McKenzie) seconded.

(Question proposed)

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I must congratulate the Minister for Finance for bringing this Bill, because by so doing he has acknowledged the constitutional rights of this House to look into the question of loans, or rather, any guarantees to be approved by this House. Had it not been that this House had any connexion at all with guarantees, surely the Minister would not have found it necessary to bring this Bill here. Therefore, I thank him wholeheartedly.

However, he did touch one point in the course of his speech, where he stated that the guarantee will be for the development of this country. Of course, no one disagrees with that. We want development of this country. However, at the same time, Mr. Speaker, we have to be careful as to how far we develop this country. It is not that I am opposing the development of this country, but if the development of this country means that the Parliament can be by-passed by the Council of Ministers and only become a sort of body which is only to be informed what guarantees have been made, then I say our constitutional rights stand, because in the Constitution it is stated that the guarantee should be done with the approval of this House.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I feel that if we agree with this Bill as it stands—I do not know what amendments the Minister envisages making during the Committee stage, but I would like him to make it known to the House what amendments he intends to make in the Committee stage so that we can try and clear what we have in our minds. Probably it might be the amendment I am thinking of, because here in this Bill, Mr. Speaker, on page 413, it is clearly stated that—and I quote—"As soon as practicable after giving of any guarantee under this Act, the Minister shall lay before the National Assembly. . . ." This is after, and, if my English is right, Mr. Minister, you would agree with me, that my Bill is an exact copy of what you have, Sir; and if he has that, then he will agree with me that it is as soon as practicable after the giving of any guarantee under this Act that we shall be informed. That is why I come to dispute this fact of guaranteeing and then telling this House what you have guaranteed. Suppose you guarantee that we can get well over £9,999 million. Well, we might not be able to do that, but if you have committed us and come and inform us and you have already signed the agreement, we will not be able to go back to what we have done. Instead of that, we shall be asking the Minister to keep his own word. I mean, he is an honourable man, on behalf of the Government he has signed, and then only to bring it to this House and find that the hon. Member for Trans Nzoia, Mr. Muliro, or the hon. Member for Teso, Mr. Oduya, is objecting to what agreement the hon. Minister for Finance has entered into with any country.

Mr. Speaker, if I may continue quoting this Act, . . . the National Assembly a report on the guarantee specifying the parties, the covenants the due performance of which is guaranteed and, where such guarantee relates to the repayment of a loan, the amount of such loan, the terms and conditions as to interest and repayment in respect of such loan, the aggregate of the contingent liabilities incurred by the Government by way of guarantees previously given under this Act and any further information"—Mr. Speaker, it says—"any further information which he considers appropriate." So it will be a question of the Minister considering what information he could give this House rather than the House giving him the information as to what we feel about the guarantee before he enters into guaranteeing anything on behalf of the country, of which this House—the elected persons of this House—is part and parcel.

Mr. Speaker, whereas we support the Minister wholeheartedly in saying that this country must be developed and that in order to do so we must have money, and in order to get money we must guarantee something, it must be made known to the Minister that this Bill, if it is passed, will be indirectly hoodwinking us into something which we might regret, because if we pass this Bill as it is, in this form, we are actually amending the Kenya Constitution. I say this because I am of the opinion, Mr. Speaker, that there will come a stage when this Minister or any Minister in the Government will come one day and say, "Well, hon. Gentlemen, we have to make an amendment to the Constitution, to the effect that the Council of Ministers shall have to decide or guarantee and then inform the House." If hon. Members pass this Bill, they will not have any case to put when an amendment to the Constitution shall be moved by the Government to the effect that it should be amended to collaborate with the Bill, because if we pass it now, we shall not object to passing the amendment to give them power to guarantee anything and only inform us of what they would have done.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I must, with all due respect to the Minister for Finance and the Government as such, totally oppose this Bill very strongly and I am sure the hon. Minister will agree with me that this is a big loophole and I would not be a part to something like this I believe in the Constitution of Kenya, and as such I wish to make it known to the Minister that I would ask him as a gentleman, and he is a big gentleman in this House, Mr. Speaker, the hon. gentleman, to withdraw this Bill and put it in a proper way so that we may consider it. So far, Mr. Speaker, I cannot go any further although I have some points which I would like to touch on, I could not go any further because by going further by supporting and talking about this Bill, will itself probably make us pass this Bill, and then we will regret it later on when we are asked to amend the Constitution, so that we become a sort of council which will only be informed of what has happened.

With these few remarks, Mr. Speaker, I beg strongly to oppose the Bill.

Mr. Muliro: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I rise to speak on this Bill with very strong feelings. This, Sir, is a direct attack.

Clause 3, section 3, and clause 5, make Parliament a complete mockery. We have been informed that all money Bills, anything to do with money, is the responsibility of Parliament, as the supreme authority which has to decide the money which must be paid by the taxpayer in Kenya. If we transfer this responsibility to the hands of a committee of twenty men, sitting together as a Cabinet and deciding that we want a loan of six hundred million shillings. Thirty million pounds. You leave all that, which is virtually the budget, the Kenya Budget is about forty-one or forty-five million pounds, leave virtually the whole Kenya Budget in the hands of a committee of twenty Ministers to decide the question of nine million people. This is next to impossible. I think it would only pay dividends to the integrity of the Minister to withdraw this Bill.

Clause 5—the Minister says that Parliament will be informed. If the Parliament is to decide how the money will be allocated to this country, should we just be rubber-stamps to the decision of the Cabinet? This is a very serious issue. It is actually a serious inroad into the privileges and powers of Parliament. If Parliament is the supreme authority in this land, Parliament must debate all money Bills fully before we commit the nation into anything with any country. We can never allow a loophole like this which might actually mortgage the whole of Kenya's independence by a few people in the Cabinet.

This, Sir, makes me feel very strongly that this Bill, in fact hon. Members in this House, need not waste their whole afternoon talking about this, we ask the Minister to withdraw this Bill completely and then reintroduce it in any other form agreeable, but as it is it is going to be a flop. We will not accept it.

With these few remarks, Mr. Speaker, I beg to oppose very strongly.

Mr. Malinda: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, it has been the practice of this Parliament in the past that if or when any local authority wanted to borrow some money with the guarantee of the Government, that that application was brought to this Parliament to be approved by this House. I think the basis of this Bill is to do away with that practice and give power to the Minister for Finance to be able to negotiate such loans without having to come to this Parliament every time a group or a corporate body or a local authority wishes to raise some money for its development. For that, Mr. Speaker, I congratulate the Minister and I would like to say something which I think should be corrected in this Bill, because I do not agree with the view that this Bill should be totally withdrawn.

Mr. Speaker, when one looks into clause 3, "the Government may guarantee in such a manner and upon such conditions as it may think fit the due performance of any covenants on the part of a local authority". Mr. Speaker, I want the

[The Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry]

It is the general manager who went to the accountant, who said he wanted Sh. 45,000 to give to a certain Member of this House. The accountant then gave the money, he signed for the money. He then took the money and he says that he gave it to somebody. Yet, he cannot prove with a witness, or a signature that, in fact, he gave the money to anybody.

This is why I am saying this. I am not accusing anybody in this House. I am trying to clear the board and clear the matter from rumours. Hon. Members have said there were rumours going round. What I have said in this House, every word can be substantiated. It is correct they are not rumours—what I have said. That is why I will not give the name, because at the present moment we only have the word of the general manager and his signed statement, and it will be wrong for me to give a name when that man is quite likely not to be involved at all. Until the matter has been investigated, and he is found to be involved, nobody will get a name out of me.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! I am not going to allow that particular point to be pursued any more, but I think it would be reasonable to ask the Minister for an assurance which I know he will give, that when this matter has gone a little further, this allegation made by the general manager against a Member of this House, he will either inform the House that some proceedings are being taken, or that it has become clear that there is no evidence against any Member of this House.

The Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. McKenzie): I am certainly prepared to do that, Sir.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Thank you.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, I have a question to ask the Minister who made the statement. He did, in the course of his statement, state that the accounts for the West Kenya Marketing Board had not been audited for the whole of 1965. Could the Minister tell the House what reasons, so far, he has received as to why the auditors have not looked at the books of the West Kenya Marketing Board from 1st January 1965 to 31st December 1965?

The Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. McKenzie): For two reasons, Mr. Speaker. One is because the accounts have not been given to the auditor; two that the accounts have not been written up. There is a third reason, that the so-called people who were supposed to write up the accounts: were so inefficient that they could not write them up.

Mr. Omweri: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have two questions to ask. The first is this. The statement which the Minister has given refers to the action he took immediately he took over the portfolio of the Maize Marketing Board. Would the Minister now tell us whether the commission of inquiry which went into this matter, or the commission of auditors which went into this matter, has finalised its findings, and whether these findings will be more detailed than what he has given?

The second question—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): One question at a time, Mr. Omweri.

The Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. McKenzie): Mr. Speaker, the original report was an interim report. So as to help the auditors in their investigation and inquiry we have helped them with two qualified accountants from Government, and I hope that they will be able to report to me fully by the middle of February.

Mr. Omweri: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the other question is that the caretaker board is also alleged to have had more or less the same problems as the West Kenya Marketing Board, and the commission is going into this problem, and also, the caretaker board members or staff are mainly concerned with attending to the commission, has the Minister any other preparations to satisfy the functions of the board which he has referred to earlier? Has he any other arrangements whereby the members who are served by the West Kenya Marketing Board would get more appropriate service than the present caretaker board, is also under serious suspicion?

The Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. McKenzie): I think that the hon. Member, Mr. Speaker, has it wrong. The people who have gone in are the Kenya Agriculture Produce Marketing Board, not the Maize Marketing Board. The Maize Marketing Board are not acting as agents for the West Kenya Marketing Board at this time. It is the Kenya Agriculture Produce Marketing Board who are.

Mr. Malsori-Inumbo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Minister aware that there are rumours that the assets of the present West Kenya Marketing Board are going to be disposed of publicly on 28th January 1966?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, Mr. Malsori-Inumbo, that is not the kind of question that can follow this statement.

[The Speaker]

I have allowed a lot of questions on this subject because I realize it is quite important. However, I think we should now go on with the rest of the business on the Order Paper.

Colonel McKenzie, you wish to say something about the Dairy Industry Bill, I think?

MINISTERIAL STATEMENT*WITHDRAWAL OF BILL

The Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. McKenzie): Mr. Speaker, I wish to make a short statement on the Dairy Industry Bill, to say that I have been requested by the Attorney-General's Department that the Dairy Industry Bill be withdrawn and republished in two weeks' time, for the reason that certain irregular legal wording has been found in the Bill. The new Bill, when it is published, will basically and in detail be no different to what it is now, excepting for some legal wording. In addition to this, various sections will be altered.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): So, you give notice to the House that you will not be moving the Second Reading today?

The Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. McKenzie): Yes, Sir.

NOTICE OF MOTION FOR THE ADJOURNMENT*PUBLIC MEETINGS IN NYERI

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I have to remind hon. Members that at the close of business today, whether the interruption of business or the early conclusion of business, Mr. Wariithi is to raise on the adjournment the matter noted on the Order Paper.

CHANGE IN ORDER OF BUSINESS

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Also, as regards the Order Paper, I would refer to Order No. 11, the Extradition Bill. It was to have its Second Reading moved by the Attorney-General. I understand he had to leave on urgent business and may not be able to be back into the House until late this evening, if at all. So, I propose to exercise my power of moving that Order No. 11 to the end of the Order Paper. It is changed from its present position to the last Order of the day.

BILL*Second Reading*THE LOANS (GUARANTEE) BILL

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move that the Loans (Guarantee) Bill be now read a Second Time.

This Bill will provide formal legislative cover for past and future guarantees, and will fill an important gap in our present financial arrangements.

It has been the practice in the past for a Motion to be taken in the House. However, the approval of the House to a guarantee does not mean that the money to implement the guarantee could be made available when necessary without the inclusion of the necessary sum in the annual estimates or in a supplementary estimate.

Under the procedure now proposed, if a guarantee is to be operative, then the Government will be obliged to make the necessary payment as provided for in clauses 6 and 7 of the Bill. This is similar to the procedure already approved for loan funds borrowed for the implementation of the Development Plan. It is right and proper, therefore, that a similar procedure should be adopted for guarantees. In addition to adopting this procedure to new guarantees, the provisions in the Bill apply also to the guarantees listed in the Schedule to the Bill, and I will, at the Committee stage, be moving an amendment which will have the effect of including in the Schedule two guarantees which were omitted in error.

I also gladly give a formal undertaking that the Government will inform the House, immediately, whenever it becomes necessary for a guarantee to be operative.

It will be seen from the list of guarantees in the Schedule that by far the largest guarantees relate to the development plans of the East African Railways and Harbours, the East African Posts and Telecommunications Administration and the East African Airways. In relation to guarantees given to enable the development plans of these organizations to go ahead, we do, in fact, have an agreement with the Uganda and Tanzania Governments under which, in the event of the guarantee being called upon, the liability is shared between the three Governments. On no occasion so far have we had to find any money to implement a guarantee, and I hope that this will be the case in the future, although it is likely that we will have to find money to give to the Mombasa Pipeline Board to enable the Uganda Government loan to the Pipeline Board to be paid when due. We have so far not been successful in persuading the Uganda Government to extend the repayment period of their loan.

Other guarantees have in the past, and will in future, relate to the needs of the statutory boards and local authorities, in particular, the City Council of Nairobi. The sum provided for future

[The Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry]

Sir, this is in the hands of the Criminal Investigation Department and I presume that in this inquiry, as in all inquiries, the machine is operating and in due course, if and when the Criminal Investigation Department think fit, action will be taken, I presume, and people will be charged.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the people who consume maize—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I think Mr. Mwendwa wants to join in the discussion as Minister for Commerce. I am afraid he cannot do that. We can only have questions seeking information from the Minister.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I am seeking your guidance. Would you not at least have given me a little time? Because I was only going to thank the Minister for the action he has taken no more than that—on behalf of the maize consumers. That is all!

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I quite agree that such courtesies are always nice, and I apologise to Mr. Mwendwa for not having given him the chance!

Mr. Anyieni: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, the Minister has told us a lot of things which we have been hearing in the form of rumours, and when the Minister makes a statement such as he has made at this special time, no doubt, he has sufficient evidence to prove what he says. But, Sir, do you not think that it is unfair for the Minister to make such statements and then the Standing Orders do not allow the Members to press him further so that he can give us any information that we require in order that, when we go outside to the masses and they ask about this, we can fully explain what the Minister's statement meant?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think you misunderstood me. Standing Orders do allow you to press the matter further by way of seeking information, but not by way of argument.

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I thought you had given a ruling to the effect that questions could be asked. Is there any need for us to pore over matters of order rather than asking questions of the Minister?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, it is simply that Mr. Anyieni had misunderstood what I said before, I think. He wants to ask a question now.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, if you will allow me, I would like to ask two questions in one. They will be short.

Now, Mr. Speaker, the Minister for Agriculture has stated that one of the people who was given an increment was a friend of the general manager. How does he prove that this man was the friend of the general manager? The other thing, Mr. Speaker, is that he has said—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): One at a time.

The Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. McKenzie): Because he admitted in the statement that he was his friend.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, the Minister has stated that Sh. 45,000, which was some of the money which disappeared from West Kenya—the cheque was given to his colleague in this Parliament. Why then does he say that the people of West Kenya will have to pay for some of this money through a reduced price for their crops, when the Minister knows the culprit?

The Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. McKenzie): I never said that. I think that it would be as well, Mr. Speaker, if I could just find it quickly, so that I can repeat it. I said that the cheque of Sh. 45,000 which the general manager has stated... was paid to one of my hon. colleagues, a Member of this House. Now, Sir, this matter is being investigated at the moment by the Criminal Investigation Department. All I am quoting from is a signed statement by the general manager himself, which he has given to us, a signed statement showing the invoice of Sh. 45,000 from the cashier to him. He admits taking the Sh. 45,000. He has then said—and it is only his word—that he passed this on to an hon. Member of this House; and that matter is being investigated.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! I think it would be quite out of order to insist on ascertaining at this stage what particular hon. Member was named by the general manager. The point of this statement is to show where the general manager has, on his own admission, gone wrong. Where he implicates somebody else, it is not fair to mention that somebody else until there is some evidence elsewhere against him.

Mr. Oduya: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I am just seeking your guidance on this. When the Minister continues to reply and particularly where he refers to one of the hon. Members of this House who is alleged to have received this money, can he specifically say whether he is a Member of this House or a member of the Cabinet, because they are two separate things?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! I do not know whether you feel disposed to give any more information on this point, Mr. McKenzie; probably not.

The Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. McKenzie): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am only prepared to give to this House what I can substantiate. Every word that I have issued this afternoon I can substantiate by signed statement and audited figures and audited reports. I am not prepared to attempt to give anything that I cannot substantiate, because hon. Members here will be the first to attack me.

Mr. Anyieni: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that when the Minister states that the general manager said that Sh. 45,000 was given to one of the Members, and in view of the fact that the public might suspect any Member in this House, not a particular Member of this House, would it not have been wiser for the Minister not to quote this thing in this House until the matter has been proved?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Anyieni is pursuing a matter on which I have already ruled. I am not going to have my rulings re-opened. You can ask, if you wish, whether investigations concerning any allegations against the Member concerned are being pursued, but I will not allow hon. Members, for the reasons I have given, to insist on knowing the name of the Member at this stage.

The Attorney-General (Mr. Njonjo): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to ask the Minister concerned whether he would agree that the reason he made this statement was to explain the sudden action he took regarding this marketing—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, sorry, Mr. Njonjo. I cannot allow another Minister to ask questions in aid of the Minister. Actually, I do not think he needs any aid.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, I am raising this point of order because I feel that the time might run out before I can ask a question. So, it will have to be a point of order.

Is it not in order for the Minister, now that he has revealed that there are definite signed statements made against individuals, mostly those who have served on this marketing board, to say that it would be in order for the Government to detain these people so that the public is aware that whenever somebody is found to have done something wrong, or to have stolen something, he is not left at large? In this way the public can see the seriousness of the matter—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! It is quite clear, that that is not a point of order, it is a question. You are quite entitled to ask the Minister whether he is taking that action. Make it that.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, Sir, will the Minister agree with me that it would have been wise—and it should be wise now—for all that—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! I have explained to hon. Members that you cannot follow a Ministerial Statement by questions which express a point of view. You must have questions which are genuinely seeking information. A straight question as to whether or not any particular action is being taken against any of these people concerned is all right, but the expressions of opinion as to whether or not the Minister will agree with you cannot be allowed.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, Sir, from now on will the Minister take action to see that all those involved are detained pending the results of the inquiry?

The Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. McKenzie): Mr. Speaker, this is something which I, as Minister for Agriculture, cannot answer, but I sincerely hope that certain people may even be being picked up at this minute.

Mr. Wamutheny: Mr. Speaker, Sir, may I know from the Minister, since he has given the statement to this House, whether there is any likelihood of bringing those people to justice?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think you have had the answer to that already.

Mr. Malinda: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the allegation by the Minister, that the sum of Sh. 45,000 was given to an hon. Member of this House, could he let this House know what steps he is taking to find out who this particular Member of Parliament is, and what action is being taken to bring him to book? On top of that, Sir, would the Minister also assure this House that he will reveal the name in this House so that the public can clearly know the person who was referred to today?

The Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. McKenzie): Mr. Speaker, I have said I am not prepared to reveal the name put in the statement signed by the general manager. My reason for putting this forward and making it public today was that a number of Members of the old board have been to see me and asked me to make this known so that the onus could be placed on the general manager rather than on the board.

[The Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry]

the result of the inquiry and any reorganization necessary. All this had to be done without a single day's delay. Since then we have discovered that this board, in its one year of existence, not only frittered away the loose assets of its predecessor, but it has run up a debt which, on a preliminary estimate, is at least Sh. 2 million. Further investigation may discover further debts. This debt is increasing by Sh. 200,000 each month at the board's present level of overheads which, for obvious reasons, will take time to reduce.

Hon. Members may well ask how such a state of affairs, whereby a statutory board can squander public funds to this extent in one year, can come about. I shall give hon. Members some examples of how it can and did happen. Firstly, nearly every member of the board's staff, the majority of whom were taken over from the old Nyanza Produce Marketing Board, received a considerable increase in salary during the year. One junior clerk had his salary raised from just on Sh. 5,000 to Sh. 18,320. He was a friend of the general manager. Secondly, whereas marketing in the area of operation of this board was formerly carried out by a staff of about 200, the West Kenya Marketing Board raised their establishment to no less than 408. There was no increase in marketing efficiency or turnover.

Thirdly, even junior officers, new ones still on probation, were allowed 100 per cent loans with which to purchase motor cars. In one year of operation, forty-five people were given these loans which amounted to Sh. 583,000. They were charged only a nominal interest, far less than the board itself was paying for the overdraft which was buying the motor cars.

Fourthly, all these people could then claim mileage and they did. The board paid out Sh. 262,840 in mileage allowances. Claims varied from as little as 200 miles in the year to 20,000 miles in the year. The general manager himself, however, topped all by claiming for nearly 30,000 miles. This cost the board over Sh. 30,000. If Mr. Speaker, you average out the mileage claim by these forty officers, it comes to between 6,500 and 7,000 miles per officer.

I mentioned that the general manager was paid for nearly 30,000 miles' travelling in his own car. Let me add that the board had, over and above this, purchased a new Land-Rover which was reserved solely for the use of the general manager and in which it is known he did the majority of his travelling.

Fifthly, vast sums of money were spent on so-called public relations, including a payment of Sh. 45,000 which the general manager has stated, in a statement to the Criminal Investigation Department, that this amount of money was made to one of my hon. colleagues, a Member of this House.

Let me add a brief mention of a few more details that have come to light. The board's budget for 1964-65 indicated an allocation of £450 for board allowances. In fact, up to July, 1965, the board had disbursed £9,700 to board members. Since then, the amount has increased. A new Mercedes 220S was ordered in July and payment made to a garage by cheque. No Mercedes has been delivered. Mr. Speaker, two rooms were built on to the general manager's house, which was already substantial and sufficient for all his predecessors. The cashier cannot explain the whereabouts of a further Sh. 30,000.

These are just a few of the examples of the unsatisfactory financial aspects. Let me give you a few more examples of the gross inefficiencies in the administration of the marketing. First, the board purchased maize at Sh 1'50 cts. a bag more than the published price and more than they received from the Maize Marketing Board. They did not adhere to the transport differentials laid down for the different districts. Secondly, the board purchased approximately 100,000 bags of maize at an extremely high moisture content. This wet maize heated up in sacks and, had not emergency measures been taken by the Maize Marketing Board to deal with the situation when it was discovered, all would have been lost. As it is, the discovery was a little too late to save all the maize, and some has had to go for stock feed because of mustiness. The irresponsibility of buying wet maize and storing it in sacks is fantastic and unbelievable. All this when the country so badly needed every available bag of maize.

Thirdly, the board sold far larger quantities of groundnuts than they could ever possibly have hoped to purchase, thus running the risk—which we now, as a Government, will have to take—of having to compensate for breach of contract. Fourthly, the board purchased more than Sh. 4 million-worth of fertilizer without any funds whatsoever to meet the cost. Such an enterprise as distributing fertilizers to farmers may be laudable, but it is not within the competence of a marketing board, whose function is the purchase and sale of produce.

It has proved extremely difficult to ascertain the true financial position because, despite the fact that the board has an ample and well paid accounting staff, the books have not been written up since January 1965. As I have stated, Mr. Speaker, a full audit inquiry has been instituted but the results of this will not be available for a month or two as the first task is to bring the books up to date.

Meanwhile, everything possible is being done to decrease overheads. This obviously cannot be done without upsetting some people. However, the nettle must be grasped and the board will have to dismiss as redundant a large number of staff. This is being done carefully and after due investigation, so that marketing efficiency will not be impaired in any area.

Looking to the future, this experience has convinced me that what is needed is a powerful, efficient, central marketing organization to deal with maize and other produce on a country-wide scale. As you will all remember, we had previously had hopes of creating such an amalgamated board, but, as a result of the strong representations made by the people of West Kenya—who, among other reasons, were loth to see the accumulated balances dissipated in a country-wide organization—the West Kenya Marketing Board was created against the best advice I admit that at that time I was the Minister responsible. It was a gesture that was made with the best intentions, but the results have proved to be disastrous. The accumulated assets of the Nyanza Marketing Board have now been well and truly dissipated; and the people of Western Nyanza may well find themselves in the position of receiving less for their produce in order to liquidate the deficit which is now apparent.

Whatever the future—and I can give no definite statement on this at this time, as the whole subject is at present under investigation—hon. Members can rest assured that my Ministry and the Government will do everything it can to ensure that the marketing of produce in the Western Kenya area, under the Kenya Agricultural Produce Marketing Board as agents, will continue to be carried out as efficiently and equitably as can be arranged.

Further, Mr. Speaker, a circular has this week been issued to all statutory boards which I hope will prevent ever again any repetition of this state of affairs.

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I rise to seek your guidance on this. Since the Minister has given the statement to this House and has raised some points which might be subject to questions and so forth, are we allowed, under Standing Orders, to question the Minister and, if possible, to air our views?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): The answer to the first part is yes and the answer to the second part is no. Following a Ministerial Statement, hon. Members may ask questions genuinely seeking information but not for the purpose of airing their views.

Mr. Seroney: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, the hon. Minister has made quite serious allegations affecting some of the Members of this House and some people outside. Now, is it in order, when there is a commission already sitting and since he has already told us that the Criminal Investigation Department is looking into some of the matters, to make such serious statements in this House?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, it is in order, if relevant, to make allegations on any matter which is not actually sub judice, that is to say, brought before the courts. Whether it is desirable to go far into them, pending further investigation and possible court proceedings, is another matter. But as a matter of order, it is not out of order. There can, of course, be questions raised, when allegations are made, as to substantiation, if necessary, but I do not think this particular statement gives rise to any question that is not already substantiated, to the extent that the Minister has given his authority for saying what he says. However, hon. Members can ask questions on a point of order there.

Mr. Kuli: Mr. Speaker, due to the seriousness of these revelations, would I be in order to inquire from the Attorney-General whether some of these people have already been locked up?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, I am afraid questions following a statement can only be addressed to the Minister who made the statement. But the Minister who has made this statement will doubtless know what is happening. Do you want to address your question to him?

Mr. Kuli: In that case, Sir, I would like to know from the Minister whether, because of the seriousness of the allegations, or, rather, not allegations but facts, these people have been locked up or have been charged accordingly.

The Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. McKenzie): Mr. Speaker, Sir, when this information was brought to our knowledge, we immediately handed this information on to the people concerned, namely, the Attorney-General and the Criminal Investigation Department. We know these things from the information which I have given you, which is from signed statements by these people, admitting this. Now, any particular case is determined by the judge or magistrate concerned, who takes into account the prevalence of the offences and the circumstances of the case.

I want to refer the hon. Member to our own laws which he will find in the library, chapter 245 of the Laws of Kenya. Section 8 creates an offence whereby any person who smokes or otherwise uses prepared opium or who frequents any place used for the purpose of opium smoking, shall be guilty of an offence; and the penalty clause is contained in section 18 which provides, "on conviction by the Supreme Court to a fine not exceeding Sh. 20,000 or to imprisonment of a term not exceeding ten years or to both such fine or imprisonment".

Mr. Nyaberi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the answer just given by the Attorney-General, would he tell the House what harm this opium does to the people who smoke it, and, in this light, can he tell the House how much harm can be done, compared with the harm done by smoking tobacco, as far as nicotine and cancer are concerned?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! That is getting too far away from the question, I am afraid.

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Attorney-General aware that some Members in this House smoke opium, and they are now speaking in self-defence?

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, is it in order for an hon. Member—as you have ruled sometimes—to try and use a supplementary question for making an allegation as that one which says that some Members are defending this question of opium because some Members smoke opium. Can he substantiate that?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I do not know whether Mr. Mbogoh was suggesting that some Members are interested in this question because they smoke opium. If you were, you must withdraw that.

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I only asked the Attorney-General whether he was aware that there are Members who smoke opium, but I do not know any Members who smoke.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! In that case, Mr. Mbogoh's question was quite irrelevant and will be ignored. We will go back now to Question 202.

Mr. Omar: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I rise to seek your guidance about this statement made by hon. Mbogoh—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I said it will be ignored. It will be. It will be ignored, Mr. Omar. We will go back to Question 202.

The Assistant Minister for Health (Mr. Moss): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, would it not be in order for the hon. Mr. Mbogoh to withdraw—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I have dealt with this. We are going on to Question 202.

Question No. 202

DISMISSAL OF DISTRICT ASSISTANT

Mr. Odera-Sar, on behalf of Mr. Bala, asked the President if he would tell the House the reasons for the dismissal of Mr. Ombok Thim from the Civil Service as a district assistant.

The Minister of State, President's Office (Mr. Nyamweya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, maybe before I answer this question, I would rather like to seek your guidance and possibly the indulgence of the hon. Member, whether he would like me to disclose the facts which led to the services of this particular officer being terminated, as I think, if I do so, this may be very detrimental to the officer himself, not only for re-employment somewhere else in the Government, but also in other commercial firms.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think we must hear from Mr. Odera-Sar whether in view of that he wishes to pursue the question.

Mr. Odera-Sar: Mr. Speaker, Sir—

Mr. Ngala-Abok: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the fact that there are a good number of former civil servants who have been removed from their posts in this particular district, would it not be in order for you to rule that at least a reason be given in this case?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): All I can rule is that an hon. Member is entitled to ask a question. I cannot rule that an answer be given, as I have explained on many occasions, but on this occasion the hon. Member who asked the question is being invited to think twice before he pursues it, and I must know whether he wants to think twice or not.

Mr. Odera-Sar: Mr. Speaker, Sir, since I am not originally the questioner, I do not want this to be disclosed.

Mr. Gitohya: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, we have two systems in this House of answering questions in this House. One is given in writing, which never appears in the House, and the other is put on the Order Paper so that the House may also know the reasons as to why the question has been put there. Surely some sort of answer could be given by the Minister of knowing what action took place and whether it was the character of the civil servant himself.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Hon. Members understand, but must understand by now as I have said it so many times—that it rests with the Minister how far he answers a question, if at all. Now, here obviously the Minister of State was wanting to know the attitude of the questioner to decide whether or not he would answer. I take it that, in view of the attitude of the questioner, he is not going to answer. That does not stop further supplementary questions by other hon. Members, but they will not get anywhere. I think.

Mr. Anyieni: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, in this particular respect, when the Minister and the questioner allow the question to appear on the Order Paper and when the Minister comes up and says that if he replies to the question, it will penalize the person which the question was intended to help, and in view of the fact that just that reply only gives room for very great imagination as to maybe the wickedness of—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Let us get to the point of order, Mr. Anyieni, fairly quickly.

Mr. Anyieni: Yes, Mr. Speaker. Would it not be in order for you to rule that such a question, when the Minister thinks they might raise the person they intend to help, should not appear on the Order Paper until the Member asking them has been given the information, and then if he still insists, then it will be on the Order Paper.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No. If a question is in accordance with Standing Orders, I cannot direct that it should not appear on the Order Paper. If a Minister felt that he was doing the right thing by warning the questioner before it comes on the Order Paper, that it is a dangerous question to ask, there is no harm in that and the hon. Member, if he likes, can withdraw the question, and it never appears on the Order Paper, but it is not a matter which the Speaker can control.

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not refuse to deal with this question, and I would add that the hon. Member for Nyando has sought an explanation why this officer was dismissed or his services were terminated from the Government service. All what he did was to get the question on the Order Paper, and I would give the hon. Member for Nyando an assurance that if he takes the trouble to call at my office, I can deal with this question to his satisfaction. The only thing I wanted to say to the House was whether it would be prudent to disclose all that record or matters which were contributory to the services of this officer being terminated, because having done that, I think that would prejudice his future re-employment. I am prepared to deal with the question, but that is the point I wanted first of all to do, to give the hon. Member a chance to do so.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think we will move on now. Mr. McKenzie, I think you have a Ministerial Statement to make.

MINISTERIAL STATEMENT

WEST KENYA MARKETING BOARD

The Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. McKenzie): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would like to take the opportunity of making a Government statement on the West Kenya Marketing Board for the reason that I have been asked, not only by a number of hon. Members, but by a number of people outside.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, hon. Members will have learned from the Press that during the recess I found it necessary to take stern measures to deal with gross mismanagement of the affairs of the West Kenya Marketing Board.

I am aware that there is, and always has been, considerable political interest in this board, and, for this reason, I am making this statement to keep hon. Members in the picture.

When I took over responsibility for this board on the 17th December, I learned that their affairs were unsatisfactory. I had discussions with the chairman, Mr. Sifuma, who was most helpful, and I read the papers which included an interim audit report. I concluded that, in order to prevent further loss of public funds, immediate action was required. One various matters, I took counsel from my learned and hon. colleague, the Attorney-General, and what information I had available on certain aspects of the board's management was immediately made available to the Criminal Investigation Department.

In order to be able to act swiftly, I found it necessary to dismiss the board and I immediately reconstituted a new one, charged with putting their house in order. The same day, the new board suspended all the senior staff, commissioned a full audit inquiry and put the Kenya Agricultural Produce Marketing Board in as managing agents, to carry out the function of the board, pending

Mr. arap Soli: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I cannot hear.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think if hon. Members would keep rather more silent other Members will have a chance of hearing the Minister answer. Would you start again please, Mr. Bomett?

Mr. Domett: Mr. Speaker, Sir, as regards the second part of the question, the hon. Member will, however—

Mr. arap Soli: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I did not hear the first part.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You did not hear the first part of the answer? Very well.

Mr. Bomett: I beg to reply, Mr. Speaker.

I am delighted to learn that the people of Chemarer and Ndaraweta are making a road through the Mau Forest, and are thus joining the many other self-help groups who are developing the minor roads of our country.

As regards the second part of the question, the hon. Member will, however, be aware that local authorities are in fact responsible for minor roads in their areas and have their own sources of revenue, namely G.P.T., for the discharge of such responsibilities. As such, therefore, my Ministry would not like to interfere with the local authorities in what they are doing. In any case, due to the vast amount of road development required in Kenya, and the very many similar and no less worthy calls upon our slender resources, my Ministry is only able to finance and participate in a relatively small number of the most urgent road development projects. In view of this, I suggest the local people approach the Kipsigis County Council, who have their own technical staff, for assistance.

Mr. arap Soli: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Minister tell the House whether his Ministry has allocated any money for building any roads in Bomet or in Kericho District?

Mr. Bomett: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the answer to that is yes, we have allocated quite a substantial amount of money to the Kipsigis County Council and how it is spent is a question for the county council.

Mr. Mate: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in view of the importance of development in this country, would the Minister consider either seconding or lending tractors and things to the Kipsigis people to help them if they have no money, material or officers?

Mr. Bomett: Mr. Speaker, Sir, my Ministry is considering going into the county councils and finding out the condition of the machinery which is being used in the various county councils, because it has come to our notice that some county councils have rather dilapidated machinery for making roads, but this exercise is going to be examined in conjunction with the Ministry of Local Government.

Question No. 150

COMMONWEALTH TRAINED LAW STUDENTS IN KENYA

Mr. Anyieni asked the Attorney-General what arrangements was Government making to allow those students of ours who qualified in law from any Commonwealth country to practise in Kenya.

The Attorney-General (Mr. Njonjo): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. Under the Advocates Act, those who return to Kenya professionally qualified to practise law in a Commonwealth country are required to serve in Chambers under an advocate of seven years' standing for one year before they can be enrolled to practise on their own. The Government assist such students either by taking them into Government service as State Counsel (Trainee) or by helping to arrange through the Law Society and Council of Legal Education for suitable advocates to take them into Chambers for the requisite one year period.

I have taken quite a number of such people into my Chambers, and I have also assisted a number of people to be taken by advocates in Nairobi.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, could the same facilities apply to those who have taken international law, either in the Commonwealth countries or in any other part of the world, maybe the United States or any other place?

Mr. Njonjo: International law is one of the subjects that an advocate takes and, therefore, if he comes to us having qualified as a lawyer, we will take him as I have outlined in this reply.

Question No. 151

PEOPLE ACCUSED OF PRE-INDEPENDENCE OFFENCES

Mr. Anyieni asked the Attorney-General why it was that when a person was charged in the Kenya courts these days some of the so-called offences which the defendants committed during the colonial days, as part of the struggle for our independence, were being quoted against the defendants.

The Attorney-General (Mr. Njonjo): I beg to reply, Mr. Speaker. I seem to be very popular with the hon. Mr. Anyieni this afternoon.

It is essential that a court passing sentence on a person convicted before it should have the fullest possible information about the convict's antecedents. His previous convictions before the Kenya courts form a part of his antecedents and are therefore always admissible before the court.

In fact, you will find that in quite a number of these cases the accused himself, as soon as he is convicted, asks the court to take into consideration a number of past offences which he has committed.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is this not unfair to any defendant when the past convictions were in connection with the struggle for the independence of Kenya and, in view of the fact that many of our leaders, including the President, were some of our people who were convicted by the Colonial Government? Would it not be fair for the Attorney-General to consider deleting any clause which refers to the convictions in colonial days if they were in connection with the political struggle?

Mr. Njonjo: In fact, Mr. Speaker, most of these offences, when they are taken into consideration, must be relevant to the charge before the court, upon which the accused person is convicted. Therefore, for instance, if a person is convicted of theft, a political offence which he had committed in the past is not taken into consideration and, in fact I can assure the hon. Member that political offences, such as those mentioned by the hon. Member, are not taken into consideration when we sentence people today.

Mr. Komora: Mr. Speaker, Sir, will the Attorney-General tell the House why those people who are accused of having committed an offence and for smoking opium are heavily—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I do not think that has anything to do with this question.

Mr. Gichoya: Arising from what the Attorney-General has stated that political offences that were committed are not taken into consideration when a judgment is being given on a case, would the Attorney-General assure this House that he has already instructed the courts in Kenya that no references to the past history, criminal record, of various convicts would be referred to in a court of law, since, Mr. Speaker, Sir, a home guard—I am going to put my case properly—a home guard might be an officer today and he killed somebody and his record shows that he killed somebody, but by accident he might kill another person, and then that would be referred to as evidence leading to his character.

Mr. Njonjo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is very difficult for me to follow that question, but what I can assure the hon.—

Mr. Gichoya: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think Mr. Njonjo is going to give you an answer.

Mr. Njonjo: I follow roughly what you said, and I hope my answer will satisfy you. I am satisfied that the courts today do not take into consideration offences and convictions which are on the record of a particular individual if those offences were political, but the example you mentioned, if the person was convicted about ten years ago of murder—I cannot see that person being alive today, because he should have been hung—but if assumed, for instance, the sentence was commuted, then that offence will be taken into consideration. But as far as political offences are concerned, they are not taken into consideration by the court. What I was going to say, Mr. Speaker, Sir, is this: theft under the Colonial Government is still theft today under the Republican Government.

UNSATISFACTORY REPLY TO QUESTION NO. 151: PEOPLE ACCUSED OF PRE-INDEPENDENCE OFFENCES

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, on a point of order, I wish to raise this particular question on a Motion for the adjournment, because the Minister has not stated very clearly what—

Question No. 206

FINES FOR OPIUM SMOKING

Mr. Nyaberi asked the Attorney-General if he could tell the House why offenders who were convicted of smoking opium were now being fined over a hundred shillings, and not twenty shillings which was the fine before independence.

The Attorney-General (Mr. Njonjo): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. Since independence, there has been no change in the law relating to the penalties for smoking opium. The penalty in

[The Minister for Local Government] collected actually within the county. Information as to tax transmitted by other councils is currently being obtained by my department.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have answered these questions at some length because I want all Members to understand how the transmission of graduated personal tax works. I have already answered several questions on this subject in the House, and I would not wish to take up the time of the House in answering questions from every constituency as to how much tax transmission they have received. The information is available in my Ministry and can be obtained by any hon. Member who is interested, without occupying so much of Question Time on this one subject.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): In view of the fact that the Second Reading of the Graduated Personal Tax Bill is on the Order Paper today, I do not think we ought to spend any more time on questions concerning that matter now. We will have plenty of opportunity in that debate.

Question No. 192

REINSTATEMENT OF KAKAMEGA COUNTY COUNCILLORS

Mr. Godia asked the Minister for Local Government—

- (a) Would the Minister assure the House that Kakamega county councillors would be reinstated as soon as the present services of the present Kakamega County Council came to an end after nine months?
- (b) If the answer was in the affirmative, would the Minister tell the House what steps he was taking to see that the county councillors so returned had the confidence of the electors.

The Minister for Local Government (Mr. Sgini): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. The Kakamega County Commission was appointed under regulation 252 of the Local Government Regulations for a period of nine months, with effect from 18th May 1965. The period of office of this commission will, therefore, expire on 17th February 1966. Steps are being taken to hold elections as soon as possible.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is not my duty—not anybody else's—to see that the councillors returned have the confidence of the electorate. The duty lies on the person standing for election, and if he is elected, he presumably must have the confidence of his electorate. Thereafter, it would be his own duty to ensure that he continues to hold the confidence of his electorate.

By the way, Mr. Speaker, before I sit down, nomination day is today, the 26th, in Kakamega.

Question No. 215

MURANG'A TRADE DEVELOPMENT BOARD: MEMBERSHIP

Mr. Kaggin asked the Minister for Commerce and Industry if he would tell the House:—

- (i) Why and how Mr. Keiru Mwangi and Lawrence Karugo had been removed from the membership of the Murang'a Trade Development Joint Board after they had already been gazetted under Gazette Notice No. 2739 of 27th July 1965.

(ii) Why the Minister had appointed Mr. Taddeo Mwaura chairman of the board while Senator Mwangi Wanjagi, who had defeated Mr. Mwaura in the last election, was a member of the board.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply.

Mr. Keiru Mwangi and Lawrence Karugo were not removed from the membership of the Murang'a Trade Development Joint Board. These two persons were never members of this trade development joint board. However, they were members of the Fort Hall Joint Board which was revoked by Legal Notice No. 287 of 1965. In July the previous Minister for Commerce appointed three members to the Fort Hall Joint Board in order to ensure that the board continued to operate during the interim period whilst the loans scheme was being reorganized. In November, the publication of Legal Notice No. 282 established the new Murang'a Trade Development Joint Board and the old colonial board was revoked as I have already explained. It therefore became necessary to appoint completely new membership as the appointment of those members who had served on the old board was automatically cancelled by the revocation notice.

The Permanent Secretary for Commerce and Industry has full powers to appoint the chairman and three members of all trade development joint boards being established in Kenya. These powers have been conferred on him by the Minister for Local Government under Legal Notice No. 221 of 1965. In appointing chairmen, my Permanent Secretary does not take into account such arguments as whether or not a certain person had been defeated in a recent election, but chairmen are appointed in the best interests of the board

[The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development]

In actual fact, it was expected that Senator Mwangi Wanjagi would be a most useful member of the Murang'a Trade Development Joint Board and he was, therefore, appointed as a member. However, due to his many other commitments in the Senate, it was considered that Mr. Taddeo Mwaura would be able to carry out the functions of chairman of this particular board more satisfactorily.

Mr. Kaggin: Mr. Speaker, Sir, will the Minister agree with me that the two members which he has said served in the old board never served at all, because their names were announced in July and the next set was announced the following month?

Mr. Mwendwa: Mr. Speaker, Sir, if the names of the members were announced before the meeting of that dissolved board, that is not the fault of the Minister.

Mr. Kaggin: Mr. Speaker, Sir, does the Minister agree with me that the former Minister for Commerce and Industry appointed these two gentlemen hoping that they were going to support his political standing in Murang'a, and after one month—when he learned that this was not so—he substituted their names with the names of Mwaura and Senator Wangagi?

Mr. Mwendwa: Mr. Speaker, I know the former Minister in person, I know how he walks, but I do not know how he thinks.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! I would remind hon. Members that there is a limit to the extent to which allegations can be couched in the form of a supplementary question. Supplementary questions are really meant to be questions seeking information of some kind, not argument in disguise.

Mr. Anyieni: Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that the Ministry thought that this Senator would not carry out his duties properly in this area, would the Government then explain why, in some respects, some Members of Parliament or Members of the Senate, are appointed chairman and members of so many boards, when there are other people who could have occupied these positions and who have the necessary experience at this time and why has this thing only applied to Murang'a and not to any other place?

Mr. Mwendwa: Mr. Speaker, the hon. Member has actually answered his question. The question I am answering now concerns Murang'a and Murang'a only. The member I mentioned here, who I said we thought could not carry out his functions properly, is a Murang'a man and we knew exactly how many duties he had to do. This does not affect Kitui or Machakos men. A Kitui man will be considered on his merit.

Mr. Kase: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Minister agree with me that on duties which are given to me, that I am the only one who can decide that I can do them or not, and it was very unfair for the Permanent Secretary in the Ministry of Commerce and Industry—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! Here again we are really getting an argument with a question mark at the end. We cannot have that. Next question.

UNSATISFACTORY REPLY TO QUESTION NO. 215: MURANG'A TRADE DEVELOPMENT BOARD

Mr. Kaggin: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, in view of the very unsatisfactory answer I beg to raise this on an adjournment.

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Question No. 182

ROAD THROUGH MAU FOREST TO NAKURU

Mr. arap Soi asked the Minister for Works, Communications and Power—

(a) whether he was aware that the people of "Chemamer" and "Ndaraweta" in Bomet Division were cutting through the Mau Forest to make a short road to Nakuru; and

(b) whether, in view of the agricultural development of the area, and in view of the short cut that would result in the establishment of that road, the Ministry would work with the Bomet Area Councillors and the Kipsigis County Council to build this road. Was he aware that the two councils were ready to survey the road if Government would help financially.

The Assistant Minister for Works, Communications and Power (Mr. Bomet): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. I am delighted to learn that the people of Chemamer and Ndaraweta are making a road through the Mau Forest, and are thus joining the many other self-help groups who are developing the minor roads of our country.

As regards the second part of the question, the hon. Member will, however, be aware that local authorities are in fact responsible for minor roads in their areas—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): It is quite enough to say you wish to raise it on adjournment.

POINT OF ORDER

ANNOUNCING INTENTION TO RAISE MATTERS ON AN ADJOURNMENT

Mr. Ngala-Abok: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, you ruled last time that you would make it the procedure not to allow Members who have not originally brought the question in the House to move the question on adjournment, unless the person who brought the question allows this.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Ngala-Abok, you did not quite understand my ruling on that previous occasion. What I said was that it is the Member who asked the original question who has the first right to raise it on adjournment. If any other Member seeks to do so, I first have to find out that the original questioner does not wish to do so. If he, however, does not wish to do so, it is not a matter of his consenting to the matter of its being raised then the other hon. Member is entitled to give notice.

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Mr. Ndile: Mr. Speaker, before I ask my question I beg to make a correction first.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes I have to acknowledge that there is a clerical error here for which we apologize. The word, "Mayors" has been left out. The question by Mr. Ndile should read:

"Would the Minister tell the House why the Mayors for Nairobi and Mombasa travel in very expensive Rolls Royce cars."

Question No. 187

EXPENSIVE CARS FOR MAYORS OF NAIROBI AND MOMBASA

Mr. Ndile asked the Minister for Local Government if he would tell the House why the Mayors for Nairobi and Mombasa used such expensive cars like a Rolls Royce

The Minister for Local Government (Mr. Sagini): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I will deal with the question in two parts. The Mayor of Nairobi at the moment travels in an Austin Princess car which was purchased in 1961. Although the car is in reasonable condition, it has become increasingly expensive to operate and, therefore, I have authorized the Council to purchase a Rolls

Royce which is in keeping with the dignity of the Mayor of the capital city of the Republic of Kenya. I am advised that this car will be arriving in Kenya in January 1966.

With regard to the Mayor of Mombasa, he formerly used a car which was purchased in 1960 and again has served its useful life. I have, therefore, authorized that a Humber be purchased. Once again, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I feel it is necessary for the leading citizen of the chief port and the second largest town of Kenya to have a car which is in keeping with his dignity.

Mr. Ndile: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Minister tell the House how much it has cost the City Council of Nairobi to purchase the Rolls Royce which is about to arrive?

Mr. Sagini: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the approximate cost, inclusive of duty, is £10,850.

Mr. Balala: Would the Minister tell the House, Sir, why he did not consider it fit for the Mayor of Mombasa to have a Rolls Royce in the same way as the Mayor of Nairobi?

Mr. Sagini: Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is a question of financial stature. The revenue income of the City Council of Nairobi is £4.8 million, which is far bigger than that of Mombasa. I do not have figures for this here, now.

Mr. Shikuku: Arising from the Minister's last reply, where he refers to the question of funds, does he not agree with me that the sum of £10,850 is a large sum, and that this sum could be better used if people could be given employment instead of spending this money on luxuries?

Mr. Sagini: Sir, I think it seems muddled according to the way the Member has put the question.

Individual freedom is enshrined in our Constitution, the citizens of Nairobi have freedom to argue democratically and come to an agreement. The councillors came to an agreement and agreed that their Mayor deserves adequate dignity, because Nairobi is the metropolis of East Africa. Now there are various embassies here and the councillors do not want their Mayor to use a little beetle.

Mr. Tanui: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Minister aware that the ordinary citizens of this country do not want people to be dignified with cars, but they set standards according to respect and the way the people behave? This is more important than cars.

Mr. Sagini: Actually, what a person is, is terribly important, his soul, his way of life, his whole attitude. All this is part of that dignity.

[Mr. Sagini] like wearing a coat and tie. All these things add to dignity. We need material things as well as spiritual.

Mr. Ngala: Arising from one of the replies by the Minister, Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Minister not agree with me that a car costing over Sh. 200,000 for one person, just to help him keep his dignity, is a waste of money in a hungry town like Mombasa or Nairobi? If the Minister agrees with me, can the Government consider a policy that would level down the values of cars commencing with Ministers, downwards to chairmen of boards, mayors, everybody?

Mr. Sagini: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Rolls Royce is a famous English car which is known for its durability. It is no use buying cars which will not last long. This is a car that is strongly made, to last many years. That is one of the reasons why this car has been bought. What is more, important people come here. We hear that the President of West Germany is coming here—and when they do, they must be carried around in a way that befits their status, as the hon. Member knows.

NOTICE OF MOTION FOR THE ADJOURNMENT

UNSATISFACTORY REPLY TO QUESTION NO. 187:

EXPENSIVE CARS FOR NAIROBI AND MOMBASA MAYORS

Mr. Shikuku: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I suspect you are about to rule that we move to the next Order. Before you do that, Sir, may I in view of the serious point of view taken here, in terms of expensive cars given to—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You want to raise this matter on adjournment, do you?

Mr. Shikuku: Yes, Sir, I wish to raise this matter on adjournment.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Ndile, do you wish to claim that privilege?

Mr. Ndile: Yes, Sir.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): All right then, Mr. Ndile.

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

G.P.T. DEDUCTIONS IN KAKAMEGA

Mr. Godia asked the Minister for Local Government if the Minister would assure the House that a good fraction of the graduated personal tax deducted from all people from Kakamega who worked in urban areas (Nairobi, Mombasa, Kisumu, Nakuru, etc.) was sent to Kakamega to aid the present development projects within the district.

Question No. 191

KAKAMEGA WORKERS IN URBAN AREAS

Mr. Godia asked the Minister for Local Government if he was aware that 95 per cent of the people from Kakamega working in the urban areas and who were regarded as having left their Kakamega homes permanently to live in the urban areas had left most of their families in Kakamega.

The Minister for Local Government (Mr. Sagini): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I intend to answer these two questions together.

I think that all hon. Members should by now be aware of the rules governing transmission of graduated personal tax:—

(a) Where a taxpayer is paid from an urban area, but is resident elsewhere, all the tax deducted is transferred to the area where he is resident.

(b) Where a taxpayer is resident and working in an urban area, but all his dependent family are resident elsewhere, then half of his tax is transferred to the area where the family are resident.

(c) Where a taxpayer is resident and working in an urban area and has some of his dependent family resident with him, enjoying the higher standards of health, education and other services normally available in an urban area, then all his tax is retained by the council in the urban area.

The fact that a taxpayer originates from a certain county area does not automatically mean that his tax should be transferred to that county: transmission of tax takes place only in accordance with these rules. Any tax so transferred becomes part of the general revenues of the receiving council and is available for development or normal recurrent expenditure as the case may be.

Transmission of tax is as good as the information provided by taxpayers and employers. I am as concerned as the hon. Member that tax should be distributed fairly amongst the various councils, and I hope he is aware of the notices to employers on this subject which I have published by radio and Press this month.

With particular regard to Kakamega County, it is well known that a large number of people from that county are employed away from home. In respect of 1964, the county have received from Nairobi City alone over £26,000 as against £78,000

FOREIGN ARMED FORCES' PERSONNEL IN KENYA

Mr. Obak asked the Minister for Defence.

(a) If he felt free to declare to the House the number of personnel of foreign armed forces there were now in Kenya.

(b) If he could say whether it was correct that some British forces had remained in this country after their departure had been widely announced to the nation.

The Minister for Defence (Dr. Mungai): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. (a) No, Sir, I do not think this is necessary. I may say, however, that we have training teams from the United Kingdom for the Navy, Air Force and Army.

(b) As soon as Kenya became independent, it was announced that British forces would withdraw from Kenya within a period of twelve months. This promise was kept and they left before 12th December 1964. I believe many hon. Members were at the airport to see them board the planes that took them back to the United Kingdom.

Mr. Odoyo: Mr. Speaker, it is alleged that there are quite a number of British Forces in civilian uniform who are moving around the country. Can the Minister deny this?

Dr. Mungai: Yes, it can be denied.

Mr. Ekitella: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think this is a vague answer from the Minister concerned. I think that he is quite wrong to tell lies.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! You have a question to ask, have you, Mr. Ekitella?

Mr. Ekitella: It is a question, Sir.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Ask a question then.

Mr. Ekitella: Could the Minister tell the House whether some of these white people are still roaming around in these uniforms?

Dr. Mungai: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not know who those white people are. I know that there are many tourists in this country, and some of them are white.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, that so far he seems to be convinced that there are no former British Army officers masquerading within Kenya as civilians; to what extent has he done a survey, so that we, as Members of this House, are satisfied that our Minister has done the maximum?

Dr. Mungai: We have kept the usual survey and we do not permit members of other foreign forces to masquerade in uniform around Kenya, and I must mention here, as I said before, that we have members of training teams who are training the Navy, the Kenya Air Force and also the Kenya Army, and they wear the Kenya Armed Forces' uniforms.

Mr. Okwanyo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, will the Minister tell the House what part of the Kenya Army is Company "E"?

Dr. Mungai: Mr. Speaker, I did not hear the question: could the hon. Member please repeat it?

Mr. Okwanyo: Would the Minister tell the House what part of the Kenya Army is "E" Company?

Dr. Mungai: Mr. Speaker, I cannot and I am not going to, and it has nothing to do with the question.

Question No. 178

CEMETERIES FOR RURAL AREAS

Mr. Odero-Sar asked the Minister for Health if he could tell the House whether, in view of the fact that the Africans, according to their customs, were used to burying their dead inside their homes, he was considering declaring such a practice unlawful, in order to establish burial places outside the homes in all rural areas.

The Minister for Health (Mr. Otieno): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. Hon. Members will know already that, under Cap. 242, which is the Public Health Ordinance, section 144, the Minister is empowered to select, to appoint and to notify proper places to be used as cemeteries. It is provided in the circular that I have just issued to all my provincial medical officers that burial of dead bodies in the close vicinity of houses can spread epidemics. The health authorities should work together with the local authorities in fixing proper places for burial—

Mr. Gichoya: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, we are experiencing great difficulty in hearing the Ministers. Could they move nearer to the microphone?

Mr. Otieno: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Minister is empowered by the Public Health Ordinance, Cap. 242, section 144, to select, to appoint and to notify proper places which are to be used as cemeteries. I have just sent a circular to all the provincial medical officers, pointing out the contents of this section 144. I have also indicated to them that burial of dead bodies in the close vicinity of houses can spread epidemics and the

(Mr. Otieno) health authorities have been asked to work together with the local authorities in fixing proper places for the burial of the dead.

It is necessary, under the law, that such places should be notified in the Gazette by this Ministry.

However, under African Socialism, I must tell the House that although there is this Ordinance it has never been carried out. People still prefer to bury their dead near the house or in the home. It is, therefore, open to this House to decide whether to carry on with the Public Health Ordinance or whether to carry out their customs under African Socialism.

Mr. Odero-Sar: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Minister not aware that since the receipt of this circular to which he has referred, nothing has taken place?

Mr. Otieno: The difficulty, Sir, is the same as I pointed out. Whereas we can help in stopping dead bodies from being kept for four or five days, as does happen in some areas, we cannot point out where the dead bodies should be buried in the countryside. We only have power to do so in the townships.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: I have two supplementaries, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Just one. We will see if you get the other.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: The first, Sir, is: would the Minister tell the House the purpose of sending out this circular to administrative officers if he is still doubtful as to whether this circular should be put into practice?

Mr. Otieno: Mr. Speaker, I was only pointing out the law.

Mr. Shikuku: Mr. Speaker, arising from the Minister's reply, as to whether we should carry on our African Socialism or go by the Ordinance, has he so far received complaints from any corner of Kenya where people are complaining that dead bodies have been buried at home, thereby affecting health? So far as we know, we bury people six feet down and this is a way of mauling the country.

Mr. Otieno: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have received no public complaint, but, nevertheless, in highly populated areas such as my constituency, there is a belief that burial of the dead in the home is contributing to the death rate, but this cannot as yet be proved.

Mr. Kiprotich: Mr. Speaker, since we do not have enough land in this country, and people are looking for land, could all the dead bodies be burnt?

Mr. Otieno: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not want to offend the spirits of the dead but I would prefer it that way if the House agreed.

Mr. Ngala-Abok: Mr. Speaker, Sir, will the Minister promise that, as a part of carrying out this particular section of our law, he will now check the opinion of the people and find out whether they would like it to be carried out or not? Because it is not enough to send out circulars, saying that this section of the law must be carried out, when one cannot find out whether people would like it or not.

Mr. Otieno: I would like to do so and I am going to do so, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Mwangandi: Mr. Speaker, does the Minister know that the words "African customs" are used loosely? Some tribes may bury their dead bodies in their homes, but others do not do that.

Mr. Otieno: Mr. Speaker, while that was true a few years ago, I think it is generally accepted in Kenya now that we bury all the dead.

NOTICE OF MOTION FOR THE ADJOURNMENT

UNSATISFACTORY REPLY TO QUESTION NO. 178: CEMETERIES FOR RURAL AREAS

Mr. Gichoya: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I would like to raise this one since we have failed to get a proper answer.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Gichoya has every right to do that unless Mr. Odero-Sar, who asked the question originally, wishes to do so. If you do not wish to raise this on adjournment, Mr. Odero-Sar, Mr. Gichoya may do so.

Mr. Odero-Sar: I do not wish to do so.

Mr. Mwangandi: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, would it not be better, when a question is put like this, for the Minister or the Speaker to say so, because with regard to this business of African customs it looks as if there is not proper use of the custom, whereas—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! This does not sound to me anything like a point of order, Mr. Mwangandi.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Speaker, in view of the unsatisfactory reply from the Minister, I wish to raise this as a Motion on the adjournment. I will state my reasons for this.

Wednesday, 26th January 1966

The House met at thirty minutes past Two o'clock.

(The Speaker (Mr. Slade) in the Chair)

PRAYERS

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE CHAIR

DEATH OF THE HONOURABLE SENATOR
MAKASEMBO

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Honourable Members, I very much regret that yesterday I omitted to refer to the death of our late colleague and friend, the hon. Senator Dixon Oruko Makasembo, who died in a motor-accident on Saturday, 11th December, last.

My reason for this omission was the belief that the House had already paid tribute to his memory before we adjourned on the 10th December last; but, as the hon. Maitori-Iumbu was good enough to point out, I was mistaken, and in fact the death occurred after the adjournment of this House.

What I did do was to write to the Acting Speaker of the Senate on the 14th December last a letter in the following terms:—

"Dear Mr. Speaker,

Please accept, and convey to your fellow Senators, the deep sympathy of myself and all Members of the House of Representatives in the loss of the hon. Senator Makasembo. He was a very prominent figure among Members of the National Assembly, and we shall all miss his friendly and cheerful personality as much as the country will miss his wise counsels."

I was doubtless thinking of that letter, when I thought that I had already referred to this tragic event in the House; but I am grateful to Mr. Maitori for having corrected my error.

Indeed, we in this House regard all hon. Members of our colleagues, all of us being Members of one National Assembly; and we shall always lament the death of any Senator, just as we lament the death of any Member of this House.

As I said in my letter to the Acting Speaker of the Senate, the late Senator Makasembo was a prominent figure among us. He was respected as one of our veterans, having taken a leading part in politics for some years before he was elected to the Senate; and the confidence which he inspired in the people of Central Nyanza was proved by his re-election less than a year ago.

Within the Senate, I know that he was one of the most forceful and persuasive among them. Within the precincts of Parliament Buildings and elsewhere, we shall remember his vivid personality, his unfailing courtesy, his ready wit, and his robust enjoyment of life. In all places and on occasions, whether or not people agreed with his views, he stood out as a fervent patriot, and as one who truly spoke his mind.

We mourn his passing in the prime of life, when he had much yet to offer to Kenya; and we extend our respectful sympathy to his widow and children, his relatives, his colleagues in the Senate, and all his many friends.

I would ask hon. Members to stand, and pay your silent tribute to his memory.

(Hon. Members stood for one minute in silence)

RULING ON BILL PROCEDURE

The Speaker (Mr. Slade) Hon. Members, I have another Communication to make. There is a point of procedure which I should like to explain to the House.

Yesterday it was proposed, though not agreed that the Betting, Lotteries and Gaming Bill, having just been read a Second Time, should be taken in Committee the same day without mention of that later stage in the Order Paper.

Standing Order 89 provides that, with the exception of an Appropriation Bill or Consolidated Fund Bill, not more than one stage of a Bill may be taken at any one Sitting without the leave of the House; though Standing Orders 98 and 99 provide for the Report of a Committee on a Bill to be heard and considered by the House forthwith, and Standing Order 102 provides that, on adoption of the Report, the Third Reading may, with the leave of Mr. Speaker, also be taken forthwith.

In fact, our practice has been always to take both Consideration of Report and Third Reading of a Bill immediately after the Committee stage, unless there has been an amendment of the Bill in Committee; and so it has not been thought necessary, when the Committee stage appears on the Order Paper, to mention also in the Order Paper, the further stages of Consideration of Report and Third Reading. Hon. Members know that, unless there has been amendment by the Committee, those two final stages will follow immediately as a matter of course.

Nevertheless, the purpose of every Order Paper is to give notice of that day's business. Therefore, even if the House is prepared to give leave for two earlier stages of a Bill—that is to say, First Reading and Second Reading, or Second Reading and Committee stage—to be taken on the same day, that cannot be allowed unless the Order Paper has given due warning. Otherwise, there is obvious danger of leave being given by the House, and the later stage being debated, in the absence of hon. Members who would have refused leave, or who would have spoken on that later stage.

For these reasons, whenever a Minister wishes any two of the first three stages of a Bill—First Reading, Second Reading and Committee—to be taken on the same day, he must warn the Clerk, and have the later stage put also on the Order Paper with the words "Subject to the leave of the House." Then all hon. Members have due notice of the proposal to take the later stage that day, but otherwise, even with the leave of the House, it cannot be allowed.

NOTICES OF MOTIONS

DISBANDMENT OF KENYA NATIONAL YOUTH SERVICE

Mr. Mbogoh: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to give notice of the following Motion:—

THAT in view of the fact that Kenya National Youth Service is not achieving the aims behind its establishment, this House urges the Government to dismantle it completely and replace it by military service for all youth of this country with the priority given to those youth who are already in the National Youth Service.

INCREASED HELP IN DEVELOPMENT FOR KIPSIGIS

Mr. arap Bii: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to give notice of the following Motion:—

THAT in view of the Harambee initiative employed by Kipsigis as far back as 1948 in building permanent and modern primary and intermediate schools, health centres and water supplies without requesting the then Colonial Government for any grants, this House calls upon the Government as a matter of urgency to appreciate what the Kipsigis have done in putting up such magnificent projects and by so doing allocate more secondary school streams, health centres, and mechanical water supplies in the course of the implementation of 1965/70 Development Plan.

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Question No. 211

GOVERNMENT ATTITUDE TO RECENT CONGO COUP

Mr. G. G. Karuki asked the Minister for Foreign Affairs if he would tell the House whether the Kenya Government recognized the recent bloodless coup which had led to the formation of a new government in the Congo.

The Assistant Minister for Foreign Affairs (Mr. Matano): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. Kenya is not in favour of any coup, whether bloodless or otherwise, to effect changes of government. She prefers all changes to be made through constitutional means. President General Mobutu has recently sent an envoy to Kenya to explain his Government's aims and policy. Kenya has always kept a very close watch on developments in the Congo and will continue to do so. The Government will, when the situation warrants it, make her stand known with regard to the present government in the Leopoldville.

[The Minister for Lands and Settlement] the impression to some hon. Members that valuation is an approximate business in which individual personal opinion can play a significant part. In fact, land valuation and the valuation of farm properties generally is a precise subject and, in order to practise as a valuer, it is necessary to undergo a long and exacting professional training, in order to learn all the specialized techniques which valuation involves.

ORIGINAL LAND PRICES FOR EARLY BRITISH SETTLERS

Mr. Godia asked the Minister for Lands and Settlement to tell the House the price which the incoming British settler had paid for his land when he originally acquired it sixty or seventy years ago, and the conditions under which such prices were fixed.

The Minister for Lands and Settlement (Mr. Angane): Sixty years ago, British settlers paid a rent which was considered appropriate in terms of the unimproved value of the land at that time, the amount varying between 10 cents and 20 cents per acre.

It should however be borne in mind Sir that land was alienated to European settlers in accordance with prevailing policy at that time. This policy was designed to encourage agricultural development of the land which was still covered by dense bush. Account was taken of the fact that intending farmers were to be required to spend substantial sums of money to develop their holdings. Special development conditions were imposed with which it would be necessary for farmers to comply before they could be confirmed in ownership of their land. In some cases, it was required that there should be a minimum of Sh. 6,000 on permanent improvements on any farm of over 300 acres in extent, plus a further Sh. 4 for development for every acre in excess of 300 acres.

TARMACK FOR KISII-NYANGUSU ROAD

Mr. Anyieni asked the Minister for Works, Communications and Power what plans the Government had for the tarmacking of the Kisii-Nyangusu Road.

The Minister for Works, Communications and Power (Mr. Mwanjumba): There are no immediate plans contemplated by the Government for tarmacking the Kisii-Nyangusu Road.

Road development in Kisii District has been the subject of considerable investigation, and a large road work has been carried out in the last few years, despite the pressing needs in other parts of the country. In view of this, I regret that I cannot include the bituminization of Kisii-Nyangusu Road in the present development programme.

Question No. 147

SIZE OF THE KENYA NATIONAL DEBT

Mr. Anyieni asked the Minister for Finance what was the amount of Kenya's National Debt, and:

(a) How many pounds had the Government paid to its creditors since Independence.

(b) How much of the money owed had been brought forward from colonial days.

The Minister for Finance (Mr. Gichuru): As at 30th November 1965, Kenya National Debt stood at £96,363,870.

(a) Since Independence, capital repayments to creditors have amounted to £5,999,937.

(b) As at 12th December 1963, the National Debt stood at £86,840,966, which amount was brought forward from colonial days.

Question No. 152

ATROCITIES COMMITTED BY EUROPEANS

Mr. Anyieni asked the Attorney-General how many Europeans who were known to have committed unmentionable atrocities against the African people during colonial days, were today being allowed to hold responsible jobs in Government. What assurance did the Government have that these people had confessed, or would do so, to the crimes committed against the African people.

The Minister of State, President's Office (Mr. Nyamweya): No European who is known to have committed atrocities against the Africans is holding a responsible job in the Government.

If the hon. Member has any specific cases in mind he should disclose these to the Government, after which appropriate action would be taken.

Question No. 153

REMANDING PEOPLE FOR LONG PERIODS

Mr. Anyieni asked the Attorney-General:

(a) Whether Government was aware that, due to the shortage of magistrates, people not yet convicted were being remanded for periods of six months to a year.

[Mr. Anyieni]

(b) If the person so remanded was subsequently found to be innocent, how was Government going to consider such people.

(c) If the person who had been remanded in custody for so long was eventually found to be guilty and was imprisoned, would the courts take into account the time this person had stayed in remand before conviction.

The Attorney-General (Mr. Njonjo): (a) It is not correct to say that persons not yet convicted are remanded in custody for six months to one year due to a shortage of magistrates. Remands vary in their duration in the case of persons awaiting trial before a magistrate. The average period in the Lower Court is four weeks but nowhere does it exceed eight weeks. There is a shortage of magistrates and if all vacancies could be filled the position would be more satisfactory. All serious delays from the date of arrest to conviction are investigated by the Attorney-General.

(b) It is not Government policy to award compensation to persons acquitted of any crime, the Courts do award compensation when the proceedings are of a frivolous and vexatious nature.

(c) A long period of remand in prison is normally taken into account by the Court when sentencing an accused.

Question No. 226

K.P.E. CANDIDATES, EASTERN PROVINCE

Mr. Mate asked the Minister for Education how many children sat the Kenya Preliminary Examination in 1965 in Eastern Province by districts, and how many Form I places were available in each district for those children who had qualified for secondary education.

The Minister for Education (Mr. Koinange): The number of candidates who entered the 1965 K.P.E. in each district of the Eastern Province was:—

Masaku	8,529
Kitui	3,976
Embu	2,692
Meru	4,914
Isiolo	93

The number of secondary school places available for the children of Eastern Province are neither confined to the districts in which they took the examination, nor to the province itself, as they are eligible for secondary school places outside their districts as well as outside the province. It would be misleading, therefore, to give such figures without pointing out these facts. However, to answer the question, the following secondary school places exist in public maintained schools in the Eastern Province:—

Masaku	420
Kitui	210
Embu	245
Meru	420
Isiolo	35

[The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development]

(b) The Government is committed to a policy of accelerating Africanization of the economy within the context of growth and is pledged to achieve a more equitable distribution of commercial wealth. By equitable I mean that we are seeking to make sure that Africans and non-Africans share in Kenya's economic life without either deriving undue advantages over the other. I admit that we still have a lot to do in the field of commerce and industry, for it is a fact that non-Africans still control a disproportionate share of this country's economic and business activities.

Action is being taken to change this picture and in my view, our record in achieving increased African participation in big business since Independence has been remarkable. However, we do not intend to let up at all and I am certain that rate will be even greater in the next two years. I repeat that the Government is following a policy of Africanization through growth of the economy—and we are succeeding. In addition to the country-wide small traders' loans scheme, which is being re-organized, more progressive African groups and trading companies have been and are being assisted by the Industrial and Commercial Development Corporation since the new industrial loans scheme was started in November 1964. Fifty African companies have received loans totalling £45,000 which has enabled these groups to expand rapidly into wholesale distribution. Moreover, the Kenya National Trading Corporation is assisting African progress by concentrating on appointing African progress as its sales agents for such items as sugar, rice, clothing and textiles. To illustrate the success in this field, let me refer specifically to sugar wholesaling. Prior to Independence, less than 5 per cent of sugar sold in Kenya passed through African wholesalers—the percentage in October 1965 was up to 60 per cent and, pursuing our policies, I expect that within no time sugar distribution will be nearly 100 per cent Africanized.

As I have said, the small traders' loans scheme is being re-organized and, having posted ten new trade development officers to district centres at the end of 1965, the trade development boards in all areas have begun to recommence the issue of loans. Despite the re-organization which has been taking place, some loans boards have in fact been functioning and during the first nine months of 1965, 131 African traders have received loans totalling Sh. 488,000. It is expected that additional finance will shortly be made available to expand the operations of the trade development boards.

Question No. 133

EXPLOITING MINERAL WEALTH: HAMISI

Mr. Godia asked the Minister for Natural Resources and Wildlife

(a) If the Minister would tell the House when the mineral wealth of Hamisi was going to be exploited.

(b) If the Government was not prepared to exploit it, was it prepared to issue licences to the people of Hamisi so that they might go ahead.

*The Minister for Natural Resources and Wildlife (Mr. Ayodo): Hamisi is within the area of investigation of the United Nations Special Fund Mineral Resources Survey in Western Kenya. These investigations are attempts to assess in detail the economic potential of the area by looking for deposits which can be profitably mined and by indicating the suitable mining methods which could be used.

A detailed examination of deposits of alluvial gold in Hamisi and the neighbouring area is being made. The preliminary results have indicated that there may be possibilities of mining development. Further surveys by the use of modern geophysical techniques to locate buried minerals are planned. These surveys will not be known for some time.

When the United Nations survey is completed and their report carefully scrutinized, licences will be issued to applicants who are willing and able to work those deposits. In the meantime, however, the Kenya Government has closed the whole United Nations project area to prospecting and mining in order that the work of the U.N. team should not be hampered by the activities of the prospectors or miners in the areas selected for these special studies.

Question No. 135

HOTEL FOR KAKAMEGA

Mr. Godia asked the Minister for Information, Broadcasting and Tourism whether he was planning to establish a State hotel at Kakamega.

*The Minister for Information, Broadcasting and Tourism (Mr. Achieng Omondi): The question of a hotel at Kakamega has often been raised in the past but has not been approached many times in the past. I am not sure when a hotel will be constructed at Kakamega.

I have to assure the hon. Member that, as I have already said in this House, the Government has considered the possibilities of having hotels established in various places in Kenya. In this connection, Kakamega has been considered. However, I wish to make it clear that hotels are not luxuries but must be economic propositions. If a place warrants a hotel, my Ministry will take every possible step to interest private organizations. Further, my Ministry will take all possible steps to encourage the establishment of such hotel or hotels.

As soon as the Tourist Development Corporation is established, further investigation into the possibilities of establishing hotels at various places will be carried out.

*Answer prepared by this Ministry before Tourism removed from it.

Question No. 136

BUYING OUT EUROPEAN FARMS, UASIN GISHU AND TRANS NZOIA

Mr. Godia asked the Minister for Lands and Settlement to tell the House when all the European farmers will have been bought out from the Uasin Gishu and Trans Nzoia Districts. Would the Minister consider settling on these bought-out farms, farmers from Western Province who had no farms.

The Minister for Lands and Settlement (Mr. Angane): The purchase of additional land for settlement purposes is constantly under review. As the hon. Member for Hamisi is aware, the amount of money recently made available by the Government of the United Kingdom for development purposes in Kenya does not allow for the same rate of land purchase as has been the case during the purchase programme for the one million-acre scheme.

It is not possible to say at this stage when all the European farmers in the Uasin Gishu and Trans Nzoia Districts will have been purchased.

When each farm is purchased, consideration is given as to who should be selected as the new settlers based on the following principles:—

(a) High-density Schemes.—Candidates for these schemes must be landless and unemployed. In this category, the ex-legal labour found on the farms purchased for settlement schemes must receive priority, regardless of their tribal qualifications. This means that a Luo tribesman who, say, has been working in an Abaluhya area for many years and who becomes unemployed when the farm is bought out for settlement, would qualify to be settled on the same farm, provided that it can be proved that he has no land at his home, i.e., Luo area.

(b) Low-density Schemes.—An additional qualification is required by candidates for these schemes in that he must have some knowledge of agricultural practices and also he must be prepared to put down a certain sum of money to be used as working capital. So far, this has been anything up to Sh. 5,000.

(c) Allocation of Plots per District and Location.—The allocation of district quotas after ex-legal labour have been settled is a matter that provincial commissioners, in consultation with district commissioners, deal with, on the advice of the chairmen of the provincial councils.

Question No. 137

AFRICAN PROPERTY VALUERS

Mr. Godia asked the Minister for Lands and Settlement to tell the House how many African valuers had been employed to assist in the assessment of the value of the properties left behind by the outgoing European farmers.

The Minister for Lands and Settlement (Mr. Angane): Valuation of farms is a very specialized profession and, as the hon. Member for Hamisi is aware, the system of African education during the days of colonialism did not attract African students to undertake training in farm valuation.

There are therefore no Africans employed in my Ministry as farm valuers.

For the last two years, however, every effort has been made by the Government to accelerate the training of Africans in this field and it is hoped that there will shortly be a total of eight Africans from my Ministry studying both in this country and in the United Kingdom with a view to obtaining professional valuation qualifications. It will, nevertheless, be some years yet before these men qualify and in the meantime we shall continue to rely upon the services of professional expatriate valuers, and I should like to assure the House that we have every confidence that these men will carry out their work in an efficient and unbiased manner which will be in the best interests of the country and of those private individuals who, as sellers or purchasers, are involved in transactions in land. I wish to point out one last point which is this: I note that the hon. Member in posing his question has referred to the assessment of the value of the property left behind by outgoing European farmers. I think the use of the word "assessment" in this context may, perhaps, be a little dangerous since it might convey

The Minister for Lands and Settlement (Mr. Angaine): Work is continuing on the water scheme and it is expected to be completed by the middle of April 1966.

Question No. 105

TRIBAL BREAKDOWN OF SECURITY STAFF

Mr. Khalif asked the Minister for Internal Security and Defence if he would give the tribal breakdown of persons recruited into the Army, Police and Prisons Department since 12th December 1963.

The Minister for Defence (Dr. Mungai): I refer the hon. Member to the reply I gave to Question 2438 in this House on 5th October 1965.

Question No. 107

TEA PLANTING ON NGUNGUURU HILL

Mr. Mate asked the Minister for Natural Resources and Wildlife:—

(a) Whether the Minister would consider releasing Ngunguuru Hill in Egay for tea planting, since tea would form a good hill cover, and the rainfall in that part of Meru would not be affected, since the hill was not covered by forest but by bush.

(b) When did the hill become part of Meru County Council forest and what were the reasons for this.

*The Minister for Natural Resources and Wildlife (Mr. Ayodo): In answer to part (a), I would like to refer the hon. Member to the reply I gave to his Question No. 2315, in which he asked whether the Government was considering excising forests in this area. In reference to his statement that the hill is not a forest, this is not true. Except for those parts which were formerly under cultivation, the hill is covered with big trees. On the previously cultivated land, young trees of little commercial value are naturally coming up. These are, however, protecting the young camphor trees, which is, of course, one of our most popular indigenous hardwoods.

As regards part (b) of the question, the hill was gazetted as a forest under the name Ihunguru Hill Forest by Legal Notice No. 335 of 1958. Previously, the hill had been banned for cultivation because of its steepness. It was declared a forest area because it was felt that the hill would be safely protected by a forest which, in due course, will produce valuable timber.

TRANSPORT PAYMENTS TO RURINGU

Mr. Mate asked the President since there were individuals and firms who had been paid by Government for the expenses they incurred in facilitating the transportation of individuals or groups of freedom fighters from Mount Kenya Forest to Ruringu in Nyeri during 1963 and 1964, was the Government aware that there were other genuine claimants to such payments whose claims were still outstanding.

*The Assistant Minister in the President's Office (Mr. Nyamweya): No, Sir. The District Commissioner, Meru District, called for and received all claims for compensation early in 1964. Every claim was then considered according to its merits and those which were considered genuine were paid for by the Government. A period of nearly two years has now elapsed since the claims were called for, and the Government is satisfied that all genuine claims were submitted and met. There is no intention of entertaining fresh claims.

* Answer prepared by the President's Office before Mr. Nyamweya made Minister of State.

Question No. 123

NEEDING MACHINERY TO PREVENT TEACHERS' STRIKES

Mr. Godia asked the Minister for Education what plans did his Ministry have for strengthening the negotiating machinery between the Ministry of Education, the Ministry of Labour, the Kenya Parents Association, the Kenya Students Union and the National Union of Teachers, so that the people of the Republic of Kenya were not involved any more in strikes similar to the one that paralyzed the country in the month of October 1965.

The Minister for Education (Mr. Koinange): Following the agreement between Government and K.S.U.T. signed after the teachers' strike in October, steps have been taken to set up effective negotiating machinery. I should, at this point, say that the Kenya Parents Association and the Kenya Students Union are not involved in this machinery. However, a Teachers' Commission consisting of representatives of teachers, employers and other interested parties has been appointed and is held its first meeting.

Government is still exploring the very complicated implications of giving all teachers one employer. When these are clear, as it is hoped they will be very soon, the ad hoc committee to consider the implementation of this principle will be established.

[The Minister for Education]

As the board of inquiry into the teachers' complaints is still pursuing its deliberations, it would be improper to go into more detail or attempt to anticipate the findings of the board or the ad hoc committee. I share the hon. Member's earnest desire that the schools in the Republic should no more be disrupted by strike action on the part of teachers. I am confident that the arrangements for the machinery that will emerge from the current discussions will make it possible to avoid this.

Question No. 126

LAND SURVEY FOR HAMISI

Mr. Godia asked the Minister for Lands and Settlement whether he would consider instructing his survey team to come to Hamisi Constituency before the end of the year, in order to survey and map all farms and business plots, so that the owners could get title deeds issued to them at once.

The Minister for Lands and Settlement (Mr. Angaine): My Ministry would like very much to be able to send survey teams not only to Hamisi Constituency but to every part of Kenya, to map farms for the issue of title deeds. But, unfortunately funds for this work do not make it possible to do this and some areas will have to wait their turn.

I can, however, assure the hon. Member for Hamisi that my Ministry is pushing ahead as fast as possible with this work. The hon. Member is no doubt aware that a mission is at present investigating ways and means of speeding up this work, and I look forward to their recommendations on this subject.

Question No. 128

NON-AFRICANS AS SETTLEMENT OFFICERS

Mr. Godia asked the Minister for Lands and Settlement to tell the House what he was doing to see that non-Africans employed as settlement officers assisted African farmers by giving them good advice.

The Minister for Lands and Settlement (Mr. Angaine): Non-Africans employed as settlement officers are obliged to assist African farmers by giving them good advice. All settlement officers know that giving good advice to settlers is not a favour but a duty. I am not aware of any such officer failing or refusing to give African farmers good advice, and if the hon. Member for Hamisi can furnish details of such a happening, the matter will be carefully investigated and disciplinary action will be taken accordingly, as it has always been done.

Question No. 127

NUMBER OF EUROPEAN SETTLEMENT OFFICERS

Mr. Godia asked the Minister for Lands and Settlement if he would tell the House the number of Europeans who were employed by Land Settlement as officers, (a) who had failed as farmers on their own farms; and (b) whose farms were doing well.

The Minister for Lands and Settlement (Mr. Angaine): The Ministry has at present thirteen European settlement officers who owned farms before they joined the Department of Settlement. I am not qualified to comment as to whether they had failed or succeeded on their own farms, as this was not the criteria that determined their selection.

All I can say, Mr. Speaker, is that, when they were engaged, the Ministry required settlement officers with farming experience and the best that were offered were taken. Some, of course, have since proved failures in the Ministry and have been discharged. The majority of ex-farmer settlement officers have, however, served the Ministry to the best of their ability and such services have contributed a great deal to the remarkable settlement programme that has been achieved.

Question No 131

NON-AFRICAN AND AFRICAN URBAN BUSINESSES

Mr. Godia asked the Minister for Commerce and Industry:

(a) If the Minister would give the House a comparison of commercial businesses owned by Africans and non-Africans in the towns of Kisumu, Nairobi, Nakuru and Mombasa.

(b) To tell the House what his Ministry was doing to see that 75 per cent of all the businesses in such towns came into the hands of Africans who composed the vast majority of urban consumers.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa):

(a) I have endeavoured to obtain the information requested, but it has proved to be extremely difficult to draw up accurate comparisons. Many businesses are registered under a business name which does not disclose the racial origins of the proprietors. In the town referred to, the majority of the small businesses are owned and operated by Africans, but the medium sized and larger businesses are invariably owned by non-Africans, with the greatest percentage being owned by Asians.

[The Minister for Information, Broadcasting, and Tourism]

Local authorities have got a big part to play in the development of tourism. One of these is to ensure that, places of tourist importance in their areas, are made accessible to the visitors.

Finally, I wish to assure the hon. Member that my Ministry tries to sell to the would-be tourists Kenya's attractions and what they see here, depends very much on their wishes. My Ministry will do everything possible to assist local authorities in their efforts to develop and improve their attractions.

* Answer prepared by this Ministry before the removal of Tourism to the Ministry of Natural Resources and Wildlife.

Question No. 73*WORKING HOURS

Mr. Omar asked the Minister for Labour and Social Services if he was aware that some workers in the country worked 12-16 hours a day without a break throughout the year and that they did not get any annual leave.

* The Minister for Labour and Social Services (Mr. Mwendwa): I am not aware that some workers in the country work 12 to 16 hours a day without a break throughout the year and without getting annual leave. If the hon. Member could bring to my notice any specific cases of this nature, I will definitely have the matter investigated and dealt with.

* Answer prepared by this Ministry before Dr. Kiavo became Minister for Labour and before Social Services removed from this Ministry.

Question No. 76*TEACHING AFRICAN SOCIALISM TO THE MASSES

Mr. Shikuku asked the Minister for Information, Broadcasting and Tourism what plans he had or what he was doing to educate the masses through the Voice of Kenya on African Socialism.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onyok): Since the publication of the Sessional Paper No. 10 on African Socialism, a series of programmes both on sound and television have been put on the air explaining the various aspects of African Socialism.

In the National Service of the Voice of Kenya, a series of seventeen programmes explaining the Sessional Paper No. 10 have been produced and repeated several times at different times. The Sessional Paper itself, prior to the inception of these programmes, was read on the air, first by text. One programme on African Socialism has been produced by the President's Office. This programme dealt with the application of African Socialism to planning as it affects the Office of the President. Other programmes have covered adult education, self-help schemes, citizenship and co-operatives. Some of the programmes are still in progress. The General Service of the V.O.K. have also covered a variety of aspects of the African Socialism. In some of the programmes, leading personalities were called upon to discuss the subjects.

In July, August, and September, fifteen programmes explaining the Sessional Paper No. 10, in total, were produced in the Hinduist Service of the Voice of Kenya. The Sessional Paper itself, was read chapter by chapter. Several seminars and discussions were also held by this service on African Socialism. Regular talks explaining African Socialism have also been held in Gujarati and Hindustani.

My Ministry is constantly liaising with other Ministries on the production of weekly television programmes called Ujamaa wa Kiafrika. In this programme, the various Ministries discuss their respective roles and activities in carrying out the policy of African Socialism. My Ministry was the first one in this venture and produced three programmes on African Socialism dealing with information, broadcasting and tourism. The Ministry of Agriculture and Animal Husbandry also explained how it is implementing the policy of African Socialism. Other Ministries have also explained their roles. These include the Ministries of Labour and Social Services, Natural Resources and Wildlife, Lands and Settlement, and Health and Housing. The other Ministries will also have their turn.

As well as the foregoing programmes, others indirectly related to African Socialism are also produced. The programme Jamaa ya Mzee Pembe, for instance, emphasizes the need to go back to the land.

The continuing implementation of African Socialism is reflected in the daily news broadcasts and in meetings. Programmes on such matters as farming, business, health and women's subjects deal with African Socialism all the time.

From these illustrations, the hon. Member will note that the Voice of Kenya is doing a great deal of work to educate the masses about African Socialism.

Question No. 86*BLOOD SUPPLIES IN BLOOD BANKS

Mr. Ndile asked the Minister for Health and Housing if he would tell the House what methods the Medical Department employed to keep up supplies of blood in the blood banks for constant and instant use for all cases. Would the Minister consider paying a fixed amount of money to blood donors.

* The Minister for Health and Housing (Mr. Otiende): The Ministry maintains a Blood Transfusion Service which operates in Nairobi and all provincial hospitals in the country. There are blood banks attached to the Kenyatta National Hospital and to each of the provincial hospitals. Blood is stored in a special refrigerator at 4 to 6 Centigrade and, after taking blood, each sample is categorized in its respective group by highly trained staff. The measures adopted by the Ministry to ensure a constant supply of blood are—

(a) an approach to schools, training colleges, Government departments, industrial and commercial enterprises;

(b) appeals for specific blood donation for individual patients over the media of radio, TV and the Press;

(c) through Government information services by visits of information vans in rural areas;

(d) by encouraging relatives of patients who have received blood to repay the kindness they have received from the blood bank by donating their own blood to make up the total required;

(e) by keeping a record of the donors and requesting them to call at least once a year.

The Ministry has overruled paying a fixed amount of money to blood donors, as we are not in a position to pay for this service due to lack of funds.

We consider our system for the donation of blood most satisfactory and the House will note that, so far, we have not lost any lives due to lack of blood, but this does not mean that we are complacent about the situation, and we take this opportunity to urge hon. Members of this House to advise their people to help us in this cause. Our appeals for blood donors were very fruitful during Kenyatta Week.

Question No. 87*METEOROLOGICAL STATION FOR MACHAKOS

Mr. Ndile asked the Minister for Works, Communications and Power if he would tell the House the reason why there was no meteorological station at Machakos Township.

The Minister for Works, Communications and Power (Mr. Mwanjumba): The meteorological station network in East Africa was established before the 1939-45 war and re-established immediately after the war, principally to meet the needs of aviation and aviation weather forecasting. This requires meteorological stations at airfields and, in addition, at a number of other points in order to provide an even distribution of stations over the whole country. Since Machakos has no airfield and is comparatively close to Nairobi, it was not selected as a site for a meteorological station.

Question No. 89*LABORATORY FOR MACHAKOS PROVINCIAL HOSPITAL

Mr. Ndile asked the Minister for Health and Housing what plans his Ministry had to bring up the laboratory division of Machakos Provincial Hospital on to a par with other provincial laboratories.

* The Minister for Health and Housing (Mr. Otiende): This Ministry is aware that Machakos has a very congested laboratory which is inadequate; it is run by a laboratory assistant. It is intended to extend the existing laboratory in order to bring its standard on to a par with other provincial hospitals, and place it in the charge of a laboratory technologist.

I am pleased to be able to inform the hon. Member that my Ministry's plans for improved laboratory facilities at the Provincial General Hospital, Machakos, are well advanced. Building renovations and alterations have actually started and the work will, most probably, be finished before the next Financial Year.

* Answer prepared by the Ministry before Housing was removed from this Ministry.

Question No. 90*COMPLETION OF MUA HILLS WATER SCHEME

Mr. Ndile asked the Minister for Lands and Settlement when the water scheme in the Mua Hills was going to be completed.

[Mr. Ngala]

Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think the second point is that the Minister was talking of the National Youth Service people being employed. I thought the Minister was very ignorant of what is going on in that department because we as Members have just received circulars saying that the National Youth Service is not a kind of employment. I have a circular here from his own Ministry which says that the National Youth Service is not a paid employment. This is an underlying condition that youths between sixteen and thirty years should understand that it is not an employment for the Minister to come here and say that it is an employment is contrary to the truth, unless he is prepared now to change matters and say that the National Youth Service men are going to be paid fully.

Now having removed this confusion which the Minister was attempting to cause in the House and in the country, I would like to make it clear that the National Youth Service is not an employment. I have never heard of employment where a person is paid Sh. 20 a month and after a deduction of Sh. 8, is left with Sh. 12 a month. That is not employment. I do not think the Minister for Labour would support that policy as a suitable one for employment. If it is a salary, it is not support it.

Now, the other point is that we the government, the Members of Parliament and the leaders of the country are sitting on a very serious fire. The fire is unemployment in the country. The conditions under which the unemployed people are treated in various districts is very distressing. Take Mombasa, which I know best. I know people go from different parts of the country to Mombasa to look for employment. The first thing they are asked to do is to produce all the 1964 and 1965 Graduated Personal Tax receipts before they can be employed. And the poor people cry, they kneel down and say, "Look, let me have employment for two weeks, deduct my salary, I don't mind, deduct it all, but let me have that employment." The employment is there but the man is told, "You haven't the tax certificates so no job."

Now can the Minister tell me where a man can find the tax receipts? Are these all tax receipts made with the knowledge of the Minister or is someone else making them? I know that the President himself is not aware of some of these rulings because he would not stand for such people suffering such hardship without an action on his part. If the Minister of Labour is aware of it, he should tell us. If it is because of a by-law by the council, the Minister in charge of county councils should wake up and put these things right, because our people are suffering.

Mr. Speaker, I think two things should have been done to facilitate the agreement in the interests of the jobless people and or get them some other form of employment and reduce the hardship of those who have no work.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): If no other hon. Member wishes to speak, I will put the question.

(Motion withdrawn and agreed to)

ADJOURNMENT

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Therefore, the House adjourns until tomorrow, Wednesday, 26th January 1966, at 10 p.m.

WRITTEN REPLIES TO QUESTIONS

Session 1965-66, N. 2385A

EXPANSION OF DISTRICT ADMINISTRATIVE CENTRE

Mr. Odera-Sar asked the President's Office if the Minister of State would inform the House what development plans Government had for expanding Ukwala Administrative Centre.

The Minister of State, President's Office (Mr. Nyamwaya): The Ukwala Administrative Centre is being continuously expanded to meet the expanding needs of the community living in and around it. At present, the Government has secured a plot of land for the purpose of extending the main building in order to provide a ten-bed hospital for the near future. Provision for additional staff and administration police has also been made. The Ministerial officer will be made available in the near order to strengthen the administrative services of the centre.

Mr. Odera-Sar asked the Minister from all over the country to be informed the Government: (a) what plans were pertaining to their respective constituencies; (b) what plans for his area which includes Ukwala Administrative Centre I would, therefore, like to suggest that the hon. Member gets in touch with the provincial administration as early as possible.

HELP FOR CHURCH WORKERS

Mr. Ndile asked the Minister for Labour and Social Services if the Minister would tell the House whether the Government had any plans to help church workers financially who worked under considerable financial difficulties.

The Minister for Labour and Social Services (Mr. Mwendwa): I think that the hon. Member for Machakos South envisages some form of grant-in-aid towards the salaries of priests and clergy. Inevitably, subsidies would mean some form of control by Government and I feel this would be repugnant to most religious denominations in Kenya. The present situation where complete freedom of worship is guaranteed in Kenya to all religious persuasions is preferable to a State church.

This does not in any way reflect on Government's recognition of the work done by the churches. On the contrary, the Government subsidises most of the schools, hospitals, and other projects established by the churches and, is it not very appreciative of all the work the Church has done for the Government, and I am sure the Church would like to maintain this type of relationship.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST STOCK THEFT:
MASAI/KIPSIGIS BORDER

Mr. arap Soi asked the Minister for Internal Security and Defence what administrative campaigns against stock thieving along the Masai/Kipsigis Border had the District Commissioners of Narok and Kericho carried out in 1964/65.

The Assistant Minister, President's Office (Mr. Nyamwaya): The two district commissioners have constantly held joint border meetings with the elders of both the Masai and the Kipsigis tribes, and have told the two tribes to stamp out stock theft. Similar meetings have been held by divisional officers in areas along the Masai/Kipsigis boundary.

The district commissioners have also established border committees to settle complaints resulting from stock thefts. In addition to the normal administrative barazas, the District Commissioner, Kericho, recently held a leaders' conference during which he urged the leaders to dissuade their people from stock thefts. The Provincial Commissioner for the Rift Valley has also held a number of barazas along the border and talked to the people about the evils of stock theft. It is to be hoped that these efforts will yield some useful results.

The Administration and the Police have intensified their border patrols and the Administration Police establishment for the area has been increased by ten men. A Kenya Police patrol post has also been established at Lugemek, while two other patrol posts, manned by the Administration Police, have been established at Kaboson and Chebunyo.

Question No. 69

ATTRACTION OF TOURISTS TO RABAI LOCATION

Mr. Omar asked the Minister for Information, Broadcasting and Tourism if he was aware that Rabai Location in Kilifi District was the first missionary centre and was therefore a very important place historically. If the answer was in the affirmative, what plans did he have to attract tourists to this place.

The Minister for Information, Broadcasting and Tourism (Mr. Achieng-Otieno): I have often explained in this House that Kenya offers a great deal and varied tourist attractions. These include the wildlife scenery, the people, places of historical significance and even the climate. Our visitors come here either to see Kenya generally or to see specific attractions.

One of the main functions of my Ministry is to do everything possible to bring more tourists to the country. My Ministry endeavours to take other indirect steps which act as inducements so that these tourists may be spread as widely as possible in the country. In the Development Plan, each area of Kenya will receive due consideration.

I fully agree with the hon. Member that Rabai Location is of historical significance, but I would also draw the attention of the Member to the fact that there are very many places of similar significance. The coast, generally, is receiving a great deal of attention, but the actual spots and places tourists go to while they are at the coast, depend on the service and facilities available. Further, tour programmes largely depend on the personal interests of tourists.

[Mr. Shikuku]

Mr. Speaker, the other issue is these cards which the hon. Member has mentioned already which costs the Government money to print and so forth; but then, these cards were just wasted given to the people and the people, up to date, have not had any jobs. Anyway, Sir, people marched to the Minister's office recently, and we should not be surprised one day to find that any hon. Member, the Minister for Labour and Shikuku, the Member for Butere are being beaten up. The other day, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I was in this House when I saw a gang of unemployed people rushing around here protesting. We will be surprised one day to find ourselves stripped of our coats, being beaten on our faces. This is because the Government is not laying out some proper methods of making sure that people get something. In addition to that, Mr. Speaker, frustration is also created by the fact that these unemployed people, when they go and look for jobs, are told to produce Graduated Personal Tax cards. When I raised this point here, I was told that I was out of order; but today I can say this: the other day I paid Sh. 72 penalty for a person who had failed to pay his G.P.T. and Sh. 54 because he had not paid last year's tax in order that he could get a job. I can substantiate this. I know who the boss is and where he operates. It is a fair part for the Government to play. I do not even recall that the Emperor ever did such a thing!

So, Mr. Speaker, when you issue a statement pointing out this unfairness, it is never put out over the radio for the public to hear, then how long will the public be kept from the truth? So long as you hide the truth from the public, a part of that Government, we must know in this House, that if we hide the truth in statements issued in order to put things right, and such statements are never put out over the radio, the Voice of Kenya, because the Minister for Information, who is present in this House, feels that by hiding such a fact the Government will be flourishing, then let him know it will not be flourishing, you are just killing the Government.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I feel very strongly that the Government should do something. I wish I had more time to hit them hard.

With these few remarks, Mr. Speaker, I beg to support.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think, Mr. Mwendwa, in fairness to you I should explain that the present Minister for Labour has, I think, been taken by surprise by the early conclusion of all the business on the Order Paper, and so, the former Minister, who is doubtless very well acquainted with all these problems, has very kindly agreed to step into the breach to answer for Government.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am pleased to have to answer this on behalf of my friend who is not here, because I am a bit more acquainted with the subject. The new Minister for Labour has only been there for three weeks.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, one spoils his case by stating something which is not true. There may be truth in what he is saying, but as soon as he speaks of something which is not true, then he spoils the whole case.

Mr. Shikuku: (On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, the hon. Member is now alleging that some of the speakers have not told the House the truth. Can he substantiate?)

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! Mr. Shikuku, quite clearly the Minister was on the point of saying why some Member was not speaking the truth. You must give him a chance of explaining what he is telling us.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): Mr. Speaker, I think everybody in this House listened to the hon. Member who moved the Motion when he said that the Government did not employ a single person. He said that Government did not employ a single person during the Tripartite Agreement. I heard that when I was sitting here. I can give the names of some of the people who were employed during the Tripartite Agreement. China is one of them. Here, in the National Youth Service, we already have 3,000 youths enjoying the fruits of the Tripartite Agreement. They are here. This can be seen. We have other officers. If you come out with me I will show you the people employed during the Tripartite Agreement in Government departments, and yet an hon. Member can stand here and say that the Government did not employ one single person.

Mr. Speaker: Sir, the other thing is this, and I want this to be checked during my reply. I did not say that the Government did not know how many people were employed during the Tripartite Agreement. If I did say so, then it means that I did not know my work. However, Sir, I said and I repeat it again—that I can give this House the number of people who were employed during the Tripartite Agreement, and I have said this more than once. During the Tripartite Agreement, the Government, together with the private sector, managed to put into employment more than 38,000 people. I have said this, and it is not the first time I have said this. I have said it more than once in this House, but what I said, and I would like to repeat it, is that I never knew a more than once in this House; but what I said, and I would like to repeat it, is that I never knew it and Kiambu will never know, because it is impossible. The Members here will know that before our Independence any person, when he went to get employment, was given an employment card which he used to carry in his pocket to show whether he was employed or not. Now these cards do not exist, because my predecessor, Mr. Mbova, fought for the removal of this card. Therefore, you will find people walking in the street without any identity card to show where they are employed. So, the Government, as such, does not keep records of the people who are employed at any one moment. We do not keep them. All that we do—this is exactly what I told the House I told the House that there are people in the private sector who usually get sacked, but because they do not carry these identity cards with them and unless they go and report to their unions, we will never know how many people were employed. There are other people who get employment in the private sector, but because the private sector does not write these cards and send a copy to us we will never know how many people are employed at any given time. This is exactly what I said, and this does not show any ignorance. I hope the Members, when the Bill comes, to introduce these employment cards, will support it, because it is only then that the Government will know at any one given time how many people are employed, and how many people are sacked.

The hon. Members do not even seem to be listening to what I am saying.

The other thing, Mr. Speaker, Sir, is that the hon. Member, Mr. Shikuku did not say that he does not see the reason why the Government did not agree to continue with the Tripartite Agreement. What is the meaning of tripartite? This was an agreement which was reached by the employers, the Government and the unions. This is what we mean by tripartite. Therefore, the Government alone, without the agreement of the other parties could not agree to continue with the Tripartite Agreement, because it is tripartite. Now, also, it must be known by the Members themselves that the unions lost a lot because of the Tripartite Agreement and they will not now agree to go and lose it again. Why? Because during this period no worker could demand an increment. They had to work for a year without an increment. Now, is it helping our people to tell them not to demand an increment for two years? Is it helping the very people we want to help? I want to know, because you seem to think that the Government does not know what it is doing. We know what we are doing.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Address the Chair, Mr. Mwendwa.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): Mr. Speaker, Sir, let me clear up this point once and for all. The backbenchers seem to think that in the 1968 elections only the Ministers will be thrown out. This is nonsense. Every single Member here has a constituency to fight for, every single person. Even I will fight in my own constituency, and if I am thrown out that will be the end of me. However, many Back-benchers here will call me to come and help them, but I will never go. It must be known—

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Mwendwa, I do not think this is really relevant to the point.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): Mr. Speaker, I think you know the reasons why I brought this point. But it must be known that we all of us, Ministers as well as Back-benchers, will face the 1968 Elections as individuals. You will never go to your constituencies and say, "I accuse Mwendwa, he failed."

Mr. Ngala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think this is a Motion to which Government should give careful thought. Government should reconsider whether it was a wise step to terminate the agreement without following up two things. I think it is very necessary that the firms—whether they are private firms or big companies, they have all come out here to invest their money in this country—in a period when the country is suffering seriously from unemployment should have been persuaded further to appreciate this situation and keep these people on even on a semi-permanent sort of basis. The fact that Government itself announced in no uncertain terms that the agreement was over gave an opportunity to some of the ruthless employers, and they sacked the people right, left and centre without any care. I think Government was over-kind in this matter, and it should not have so very openly announced its intention, thereby giving strength to the employers to torture and punish our people who are unemployed.

[The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development]

them a longer period, at least this is my suggestion, so that during this period the retailers who usually come and buy these from them will know that the Government has now given them a period of 12 months to dispose of all their goods. Outside that period no goods will be allowed anywhere, even in the shops, they will be required by the Government to sell them either by auction or by any other method. But, Mr. Speaker, as I said, I was going to explain this during the Third Reading.

Therefore, as that was the point on which I wanted to give an explanation, I beg to move

(Question put and agreed to)

The Bill was read a Second Time and committed to a Committee of the whole House tomorrow.

MOTION FOR THE ADJOURNMENT

TRIPARTITE AGREEMENT: RESULTS

The Speaker (Mr. Slade) I will now call upon a Minister to move that the House do now adjourn.

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achong-Chook) Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move that the House do now adjourn.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa) seconded.

Mr. Kiprotich: Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker.

I rise to raise a matter on adjournment on the reply to Question No. 71 which was raised by the hon. Mr. Shikuku. The question was quite clear, and because the Minister at that time, who did not know his job properly, could not even give us a proper answer, in his answer he said, "I cannot tell the House how many workers who have been engaged under the Tripartite Agreement have been absorbed into permanent establishments." This Minister himself was unable to answer the question and he, himself, was the signatory on this null and void agreement, and yet he did nothing to relieve unemployment in this country.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, first on the 23rd of January last year these people met somewhere—I don't know where—and then they drew up an agreement which they said was going to help the workers and the unemployed people in this country. Instead of doing something to relieve, they said that the Government was going to employ 15 per cent and the private firms were going to employ 10 per cent, and the Government itself, starting from them, did not employ even a single person, and if they did, the former Minister is here, he can tell us because the present Minister is not here at the moment. What people did was to march and sit in his office, the Central Government Offices, and they wanted to see what the Government was going to do to them after they had registered in the labour offices. The only answer they got from there was beatings from the police, in getting these people out. The Government originally said, "You come in and you will be employed, but the Government did nothing completely, they only called the police to beat these people's persons. I do not see any reason for this Government to make such an agreement which was bringing harm to our innocent seekers of employment. I am very happy to see that the Minister is here today. They read a lot of nonsense in the paper here, cheating the public, this and that would be done, even the Minister himself reads in even the Government itself, which stands before me, unable to tell us how many people were engaged in this agreement. None of them are employed. We were only cheating the public with hundreds of paper in the labour offices, saying that they would get employment tomorrow. There were about four papers. Everybody was very happy. I was one of them, I am thinking that my own people who voted for me were going to be employed—but this Government was only cheating the public. But the time will come when cheating will be found out. I was not consulted on this issue.

So, when a question is being asked in this House—just a simple question—just for the Minister to tell us how many were employed, the Minister is unable to tell us. How many were absorbed by the government? The Minister is unable to tell us. He is sitting in his office or flying everywhere in the country. Why should he waste the public money instead of employing these poor people? But, the Minister has come. I am warning the Government that if they do not do a part, but if anything went wrong, it will happen to me, not only to me, but to all of us who are just sitting singing that everything is all right. It is not. These people who are sitting outside this building here, or in the galleries here, are not necessarily happy, because the employers themselves, including the Government, see people wandering about with papers which bear the name of the Republic of Kenya, saying that they will get employment. When they go to offices, they hear "Hakuna kazi".

no employment. What do these people think they are going to do? You tell them to go back to the land; all right; they go back to the land, but where are they going to dig in the reserves which are already full up with people?

The hon. Mr. Kaggia, when he raised the question of eviction of squatters, these people are just in the street and the Government does not know where these people go. Even the Minister for Settlement, I have written to him—did not tell me in his letter that he was going to settle the people. He cannot settle the people. What is he there for? Is he the Minister for Settlement or Resting? I do not know what kind of Ministry it is, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I warn the Government that next time they make any agreement between the trade unionists and the employer, then let the Bill come here first and then we can discover what it is in the Bill and discuss it and help them. But, Mr. Speaker, Sir, this business of only signing Mwendwa, Lumbwe and Colin Campbell is not right. They are just sucking the blood of the workers. They will do anything.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa). On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I would actually like the Member to substantiate how we were sucking the blood of the workers, because he has said that we were sucking the blood of the workers.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Yes, I think, Mr. Kiprotich, rather than substantiate you ought to withdraw that phrase. It cannot be justified.

Mr. Kiprotich: Mr. Speaker, Sir, because I do not want to be a laughing stock, I will withdraw it, Mr. Speaker, Sir, this Minister must also learn that the people are not going to be misused. Whenever anything is put in writing, unless you burn it and do not leave any copy anywhere, then we will agree with you, otherwise nobody in this country, or Kenya as it is today, will have any proof of the lies being told. Whenever we say this, then let it be done to the people. This is not just a question of putting it in the Press or over the radio, saying so many things to the public, for example, like the things which were said during the last election. How many things were said during the last election? A lot of nonsense. Mr. Speaker, Sir, we now wait for 1968 and see what is going to happen.

So, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move.

Mr. Shikuku: Thank you, Mr. Speaker, Sir. I would like to congratulate the hon. Member for having ably put the case, and if I may add, Sir,

I was terribly shocked, but as usual, if you ask a question in this House the Minister has the right to reply what he feels is right in his opinion, but, Sir, in this Motion I feel that I have to put the Minister right, Mr. Speaker, Sir, it was a shock to me and to the people of Kenya that the then Minister for Labour and Social Services terrified everybody throughout the whole country when he said that he was not aware of the number of people employed under the Tripartite Agreement, of which he was a party, and also how many were taken on a permanent basis. Despite the fact, Mr. Speaker—as I understand, I do not know how much it costs the Government—that they have these discs which were painted green, red, yellow and pink, Sir, I do not know the right kind of yellow. These discs were placed before the offices of the headquarters of whatever firm to show that the employer has already taken ten per cent. Now, Mr. Speaker, I understand these discs were being issued by the Government. If they were being issued by the Government, then surely the Minister for Social Services ought to know how many discs were sent out and how many firms had already fulfilled their ten per cent. If that could not be recorded, then, Mr. Speaker, Sir, I cannot understand anything.

In addition to that, the Government as such did not go by its pledges by honouring the agreement. They were supposed to have 15 per cent but they never did get 15 per cent. Some of the employers, Mr. Speaker, Sir, have even told me, "Shikuku, look here, we are ready to do our part but the Government should take the initiative." Yet the Government did nothing. Mr. Speaker, we may say that we had two or three there, this Ministry or the other, but they should make sure that the Ministries have something to show that they took on their 15 per cent.

The other thing, Mr. Speaker, is that the Minister did not even tell this House why, despite the fact that he is in the Government and the Government is the boss of the country, they did not see fit to renew the Tripartite Agreement. Does the Government mean to tell me that the workers and the unemployed people, that once you give somebody a job for 12 months, then that is enough to feed him for ever and a day? Mr. Speaker, Sir, these are the sort of things that the Government ought to be told about in no uncertain terms, that one can never live on twelve months' salary for ever and a day. It should be a policy of the Government to persuade the employers to keep on the people they have taken, and also to try and renew the Tripartite Agreement in time to come. However, so far, Sir, I am ashamed to say that the Government appears to have done nothing.

[The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development]

that we have no legal power to do so and therefore the main purpose of the Bill, as I said before, is to give the Government such powers.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, I do not think I can add any more to what I have said and therefore I wish to move.

The Minister for Lands and Settlement (Mr. Angaine) seconded.

(Question proposed)

Mr. Jahazi: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, I would like to support the Bill in total, because many times the Government has come out with a strong statement in the Press that such and such things are banned for importation into our country and these orders have not been backed by the law and it made the Government look silly as they gave an order which was not backed by the law. Now, they give an order and we expect the Government's order to be respected as an order not from an individual but from a Government and when the Government says that such and such a thing or such and such a person is banned from here, we take it as the law. This has not been the case and we have been very frustrated and embarrassed in some cases to see that Government orders have been flouted by people and they have got away with it. For instance, it is funny for the Minister to say that although they give an order that such and such goods from such and such countries should not be imported into this country they have come across, not one or two, but over three traders with South African goods and they were unable to take them to court. This is surprising because I would expect that even if there is no such law, then anyone who goes as far as to flout Government orders and take advantage of the fact that there is no law for that, should not be allowed to go scotfree, as has happened. These people should be dealt with, we do not need a law to withdraw an unscrupulous trader's licence, if there is no law and that man has continued to trade in South African goods, the first thing is to withdraw his licence until there is a law. For these people we have been left to continue trading in South African goods until such time as the Government was able to bring into being a law to prevent him from doing that. I think that the Government acted with considerable mercy towards these people, because some people do not deserve any mercy at all. Our Government is very kind and generous to many people, they are very tolerant, but many people take this as some sort of weakness and unless the Government really deal with these unscrupulous people with the toughness that any Government should use they are going to create a fiatna in the minds of the public and the Government will lose its popularity. Therefore I would ask the Government to deal with these people even if there is no law, to try and find some other excuse for dealing with such people. Because Mr. Deputy Speaker, there is no justification for a man to continue trading in South African goods. These people were given a long period in which to dispose of their goods and this notice expired and if these people found no reason to sell their goods cheaply, or at least to destroy them, but continued to sell them, then they defied the Government ban on South African goods and they defeat the African feeling and determination to suppress the South African régime.

Therefore, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I support this Bill very strongly and I hope that the Government will take all possible steps to see that all these people who are only waiting for the order to be dealt with that their cases will be brought forward and that they will not be forgotten just because there was no law. They should be brought to justice and in fact it demands that, however big they are in this country, whatever the role that they are playing in developing this country, if they cannot co-operate with the Government's aspirations and the people's aspirations of this country by crushing the South African régime when we boycott their trade and goods, then these people are not with us, they are against us. Maybe they are the friends of South Africa and are trying to defeat our purpose. The Government and the Minister should remember them when this Bill comes into being and I am quite sure that the whole House will support it and I would also take this opportunity to urge members to try and pass it quickly so that we can deal with these people who are trying to undo what we are trying to achieve in the progress and the development of this country.

With these few words, Mr. Deputy Speaker, I beg to support.

Mr. Khasakhala: Mr. Deputy Speaker, Sir, while I do not support this very important Bill, it was delayed for so long, because the boycott against South African goods has been in force months back and I am sure that the delay in the drafting of this Bill has enabled quite a lot of traders to escape without being brought to

[Mr. Khasakhala]

This Bill, Mr. Deputy Speaker, has come at the right time. Today most of the Asian shops in Nairobi have a lot of blankets that come from Rhodesia and this was going to give these people a very good chance of selling them slowly without bringing them before a court of law and I would urge the Government—in fact the period that has been given is six months—that this period should be reduced instead of giving these traders six months, they should be given two months only in which to dispose of their goods from South Africa or Rhodesia, because in the Bill, Mr. Deputy Speaker, it indicates that the trader should be given a period of six good months in which to dispose of all the goods that are illegally in their possession.

I feel, Mr. Deputy Speaker, this period should be reduced to two months so that all the blankets or other South African goods and Rhodesian goods which are in the shops today should be sold at a reduced price so that whoever gets them in large quantities to promote these opportunists who have never known that we used their goods and who are discriminating against the Africans should understand that they were acting against our own African Socialism. I would urge the Minister to redraft the clause where it says that the traders should be given six months, that is clause 3, paragraph (1) provides that in the case of goods in respect of which such an order is made after the commencement of the Act, the provisions of this subsection shall not apply until six months have elapsed after the coming into operation of such order. Why do we give them this six months? I think this is very unnecessary, we need to give them even one week. We do not want to see these goods in the shops, and the longest period we should give them should be two months, so that they can put on auction whatever goods they have from these illegal countries.

Mr. Deputy Speaker, otherwise, as a whole the Bill will, I am sure, receive the blessing of this House without any reservation. I beg to support.

The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza): If no hon. Member wishes to speak I call upon the Minister to reply.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa): Thank you very much, Mr. Deputy Speaker.

I thank the hon. Members for going through this Bill in such a short time, but there is one point which I would like to explain to the Members. One Member did actually question why we made an order about three months ago about restricting South African goods, and yet we say the Government had no powers to take these people to the court. Now, Mr. Deputy Speaker, here there are two things which are quite separate and different. It is usually the Government which makes an order, but an order from the Government itself does one thing, it does give the Government power to use what is known as Customs Management Act which stops goods from coming in. Therefore, the moment we announced that we were going to restrict goods from South Africa and Portugal, from that very moment no goods could be brought in from South Africa or Portugal because at that time we were using the Customs Management Act.

[The Speaker (Mr. Slade) resumed the Chair]

But, the difficulty was with goods that were within the country already, we had to use another Act to enable either the police or the Government to take these people to the courts, and this is what I am asking because we did not have these powers. But this does not mean that the goods from South Africa or Portugal are coming into the country; this is looked after by the Customs Management Act. So, I think that clears the point which the hon. Member did actually make.

The other point which I would like to clear, from the hon. Member, although I propose to clear it during the third stage, is about the timing. It is true that in the Bill it says that the people who have South African goods or Rhodesian goods, or whatever the case may be, will be given six months to dispose of their goods. In fact, this is the very part I want to amend, to give them a longer period, not a shorter period as you are saying. The reason is, Mr. Speaker, that unfortunately—or fortunately, whichever word you may use—there were people in the country holding goods from South Africa. Now, immediately we announced that Kenya was not going to trade with South Africa, the traders who otherwise would come and buy those goods so that they could go and sell them immediately to get rid of them refused to purchase these goods, they said, "To hell with your goods", and therefore the wholesalers have been holding these goods which were bought by them during the time when we were trading with South Africa freely and it is, therefore, not actually their fault. Unfortunately they have found themselves with these goods which they have found very difficult to sell and therefore, to be fair, we have to give

[Mr. Alexander]

In respect of the National Fund, of which you, Sir, are chairman, the practice has been for the main lottery that is, the Jockey Club Sweep-stake—to be directed very largely to the National Fund without any chance for sport, other than on one occasion in respect of the last Olympic appeal, to get their hands on any of that money, although racing is part of the sporting activities of this country.

More recently, as another example, Spain has seen the advent of this sort of a policy to sport and they have introduced legislation similar to that in Italy. The result has been in these two countries, Mr. Speaker, that amateur sport has been given a tremendous thrust and today, in these countries, there are millions of individuals actively, every day of their lives, taking part in sport. Now, we in this country will never be able to take advantage of this wonderful opportunity that we have already proved is available in sport to occupy our people in a healthy way, to make better citizens. In the case of Italy they were able to go even so far as to stage the Olympic Games as the result of the funds they derived from this type of hypothecation. In the case of Spain, it has even carried them in a very few years to the stage where, in a few weeks' time

The Attorney-General (Mr. Njonjo) On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I am just wondering whether what the hon. Member is speaking about has any relevance to the Bill which is in front of the House.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade) Yes, I did ask myself the same question, but I think the hon. Member is in order. The debate on a Bill has to be limited to the scope of the Bill. When it is merely a Bill for amendment of an existing Act, that scope is very limited, in fact, it is only on the actual amendments proposed when it is what you might call the initiation of new principal legislation, the scope is wider and the guide to its scope is contained in the title to the Bill. Now, the title to this Bill is, "An Act of Parliament to provide for the control and licensing of betting and gaming premises, for the imposition and recovery of a tax on betting and gaming, for the authorising of public lotteries . . ." and so on. I think when you have a Bill which is stated to be for the imposition and recovery of a tax on betting, it is open to hon. Members to suggest where that tax should go, for what purpose it should be raised.

So I think it is within the scope of the Bill.

Mr. Alexander: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

In fact, this must be correct, Mr. Speaker, because if we are to achieve the policy that I am trying to speak to, it is only in this Bill that, finally, we can obtain it and this Bill has to say—if the Government considers the words I am uttering to be wise—somewhere that the income or part of the income coming to the board will be diverted, will be hypothecated to sport. I am giving the example of these other countries merely to illustrate, Mr. Speaker, what could happen in this country. We have really only just scratched the potential of sport and we are all feeling now the difficulties we are up against, because we have not any more money. I was on my feet for many hours in this House before independence, condemning the attitude in the colonial era that saw hypothecation of revenue as an evil that Government must never, never allow itself to be drawn into. Now, Mr. Speaker, I am making the point that there are some times, and I am hoping an enlightened independent Government will see it, when hypothecation of revenue properly used can stimulate latent abilities and initiatives that otherwise would just lay dormant. I do urge upon the Government to consider this matter seriously, indeed, and I hope, when they reply, they will give us an indication that the same way that the Board will be directed, we are going to look into this whole matter, so that the Government can come back to us with legislation to amend this Bill, so that for the first time in its life sport, amateur sport—I am not talking about professional sport, that is a section of the entertainment business and is to be put where the Government put. I am talking about amateur sport so that amateur sport, for the first time in its history in this country, can really have some genuine financial independence.

Mr. Speaker: I suppose, I should declare an interest. I have a financial interest in the matter whatsoever, but this is a subject that is close to my activities and I do hope that the Government see that I am trying to put something for the good of the whole of our country.

The Attorney-General (Mr. Njonjo) Mr. Speaker, I hope the hon. Member will not take offence at what I say, but I think he is very interested in the subject, but my remarks were merely to point out, if possible, he was going to be outside the scope of the Bill, because I feel that on matters of this nature, I know—is very keen on promoting and encouraging amateur sports in this country. Therefore, the hon. Member—Mr. Alexander—I am sure, will accept from me that the Government is very interested in the work that he, himself, is doing in encouraging sports among our people in this country.

[The Attorney-General]

We have so far done quite well in the form of Mr. Keino, who is now distinguishing himself, I think in America, and his success is due in a great measure to a number of people who have given their time voluntarily in encouraging such people, and producing such talent and men like Mr. Keino. I think he is Inspector Keino.

Now, Mr. Speaker, this Bill has come at a time when we have a problem in this country with regard to betting, lotteries and gaming. Mr. Speaker, one has only to go to Victoria Street or to River Road, to see a number of unscrupulous shops which are being run by a certain number of Asians in Nairobi, who keep no books of accounts, businesses are not registered, the operations they run in that part of Nairobi are unknown, but we know that quite a number of people, particularly Africans, go there usually at the end of the month and use all their money gaming and hoping that their horse will come first, and therefore they will become millionaires over night. Then they find that not only is their horse last but, in some cases their horse does not run. We want, Mr. Speaker, regularize the running of gaming in this country so that our people are not cheated by these unscrupulous people. As the Minister who introduced the Bill said we have the Jockey Club of Kenya who run the racing at Nairobi, which is patronized by quite a number of people, and we know that they have a very good reputation, and they have also given money to the National Fund and also to a number of charitable organizations. It is, therefore, important that this Bill should come at this particular time so that these people who are making money quickly in Victoria Street should be put out of business.

Mr. Speaker, I beg to support.

Mr. Jahari: Mr. Speaker, thank you very much for allowing me to speak.

This Bill, I think, is coming for the second time as due to the technicality of the planning of the House it could not be discussed in time in the Senate.

I contributed to this Bill when it first came and I am glad that I have this opportunity of again speaking in strong support for this Bill.

Mr. Speaker, as we all know, Kenya is a young country developing rapidly, and it cannot afford to have such business as we are having in the locality which the Attorney-General mentioned. I am not very familiar with Nairobi, but Mombasa I think could compete with Nairobi in this daylight robbery of our people. Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Asians particularly have come to indulge themselves in forgetting other businesses when they discovered that installing a few machines in a room could give them more money, tax free, than wasting their time in having shops like ration stores, or grocery stores or anything. There they rob, and it seems as if the robbery is legal. These machines, Mr. Speaker, are never checked. Nobody bothers to find out if they are rigged; nobody cares to find out if they are working properly. Unlike the scales where we have a Department of Weights and Measures whose officials go and check the scales to make sure that they are working properly, these people have been left to go scot free. They can do anything with the machines. Even when the machine goes out of order it can continue for one week robbing people. You put in fifty cents, or one shilling, you never get any response from the machine. The shilling is lost, and you cannot even see a manager standing there to protest to, that I have put in a shilling and nothing has happened. You do not even know who the proprietor is. You just go there and find customers putting in money and the owner comes probably at night, closes the shop and collects his booty. Nobody cares how much he has, and the income tax on that would be how much, the machines do not show any account that yesterday this machine took so many coins, so that you can charge the proprietor income tax. This thing has been going on since I think the machines came. These machines came, I remember when they started. They started in a small way. We used to have small ones which used to take only ten cents. So a man could not feel that he had lost much by losing ten cents. When the habit was formed, they started introducing one which takes fifty cents. Now you have one which takes one shilling, others go one round which may cost you eight shillings, the big ones, and nobody seems to win, Mr. Speaker. This could be useful when people are so fed up, they have plenty of money and they have nothing to do with them, therefore one shilling, two shillings is nothing, but when a man gets one hundred and twenty shillings or one hundred and fifty shillings per month, he is attracted to go to these rooms, you find so many Africans jamming and queuing for using these machines, and whenever you go there you can never see any smiles on anyone's face leaving these gambling establishments. Everyone is angry and cursing.

[The Speaker (Mr. Slade) left the Chair]

[The Deputy Speaker (Dr. De Souza) took the Chair]

[The Minister for Home Affairs]

In 1952 the Jockey Club of Kenya made certain recommendations to Government concerning the setting up of a Betting Control Board to be the main licensing body to control betting, gaming and lotteries in Kenya, and also to be responsible to Government and account for its funds to the Finance Minister.

In 1952 we also saw a committee set up by the Government to look into the existing law and practice leading to betting, gambling and lotteries, to report what changes, if any, would be necessary and practicable.

Two years later, in 1954, the recommendations of the committee were accepted by Government, subject to certain modifications. The report of the committee on betting, gambling and lotteries was published in September that year.

During the last eleven years, Mr. Speaker, a considerable amount of work has been carried out by the Government in consortium with the Jockey Club of Kenya. Regrettably action has been long awaited.

In 1963 the Government introduced the Betting Tax Ordinance. The revenue obtained from taxing bets made on horse racing was £82,353 in the first year of operation and in the second year it was £93,582. It cannot be pretended that the desire to gamble does not exist in Kenya. It has been appreciated that the control of this human weakness is more desirable than turning a blind eye to it. At the moment all that is required is a blackboard and a piece of chalk, and a bookmaker can operate. He opens his books quite happily one morning with little or no capital at all, and waits until a punter, that is, some member of the public wins a large sum of money. He then closes down and disappears, leaving the disappointed and unpaid client.

The aim of this Bill, Mr. Speaker, is to eliminate these unscrupulous persons from the scene of gambling in order to enable the public to have a fair deal. This will also apply to every form of gambling, betting and lotteries.

The main principle which has been borne in mind throughout the deliberations dealing with the Betting, Lotteries and Gaming Bill has been towards the channelling of all such activities through properly organized and responsible bodies so that revenue may accrue to benefit the country. It is of paramount importance to ensure that all sections of the community are safeguarded inasmuch as the operating of betting, lotteries and gaming machines, etc., are carried out in a fair manner, and to see to it that the public are not persuaded to spend their money on activities from which they have little chance to gain.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Bill is divided into seven sections. Part I of the Bill is self-explanatory as the Members will realize from reading the Bill. However, I would like to highlight a few points from Part II.

Part II, clause 5 (3) provides that the board shall not issue any licence unless the local authority in whose area of jurisdiction the applicant for the licence is to conduct his business has been given an opportunity of objecting to our making recommendations with respect to the application.

Under clause 6 the board is required to require of every person issued with a licence a security of a sum not exceeding Sh. 40,000.

Part III of the Bill deals with the control and licensing of betting. It creates certain offences with respect to matters which are dealt with in this Bill that is betting and so on, it also includes restrictions on betting by persons under the age of eighteen years and with respect to betting in public places.

Clauses 30, 31 and 32 contain provisions for appointment of an agent to the Permanent Secretary of the Ministry responsible for the matters dealt with in this Bill, for the time being, of course, my Ministry.

Clause 34 provides that an agent, if there is one, appointed by the Permanent Secretary may be paid a commission for his work.

Part IV of the Bill deals with the control and licensing of all lotteries.

Clauses 35 to 44 create offences in connexion with unauthorized lotteries. Provision is also made in this part of the Bill for exemption subject to certain conditions of lotteries conducted on behalf of societies for charitable purposes. In this connexion Mr. Speaker, there have been unscrupulous people in certain towns who have established themselves as having authority for selling tickets produced by certain people. Instructions have gone out to the police that should those people operate in any area to deprive the public of their money they should be prosecuted, also to protect those charitable organizations which are operating legally to run their lotteries.

Now, as I said, provision is also made in this part of the exemption, subject to certain conditions, of lotteries conducted on behalf of societies for charitable purposes or sporting or athletic activities, lotteries conducted incidental to certain entertainments such as fêtes, dinners or sporting events and private lotteries; that is, lotteries confined to members of societies or persons living or working on the same premises.

Clause 43 prohibits the sale of any ticket in a lottery to a person under the age of sixteen years.

Part V, Mr. Speaker, deals mainly with gaming and it creates offences relating to gaming premises, and it does also empower the board to license public gaming premises.

Clause 46, subsection (4), makes provision for the payment of a tax in respect of gaming conducted in licensed gaming premises.

Clauses 50 to 52, however, make lawful, subject to certain conditions, gaming in small gaming parties, playing at games of chance, at entertainments not held for private gain.

Clause 53 creates offences relating to the use of unauthorized gaming machines.

Clause 54 empowers the board to license such machines.

Clause 55 prohibits gaming in public places.

Part VI of the Bill, Mr. Speaker, deals with amusement with prizes, prize competitions and chain letters.

Clause 60 in particular prohibits chain letters. This reproduces section 179 of the Penal Code.

Clause 61 makes obtaining money by cheating in lawful gaming or wagering an offence.

Part VII of the Bill, Mr. Speaker, contains miscellaneous provisions in clauses 62 to 71. I would like to highlight clause 62 in particular, which gives an opportunity for an aggrieved person or persons to appeal to a judge of the High Court against the board's decision if he feels that he has not been given a fair deal.

Clause 63 gives power to a police officer, or any other person authorized by the Permanent Secretary, to enter and inspect, without warrant, any premises and seize anything where necessary. Of course, the usual safeguard of making sure that the proper exercise of the board is carried out is embodied in this clause.

Clause 64, which really stems from clause 6 in the Bill, relates to penalties for any late payment of taxes imposed under this Bill.

Finally, Mr. Speaker, I would like the House to be aware that the provision made in this Bill for the establishment of a Betting Control and Licensing Board will involve some additional expenditure of public money in respect of remuneration, travelling and other expenses of the members and staff of the board. It is not possible to give an estimate of this additional expenditure right now, but it is expected that this expenditure will be covered, to some extent, by revenue from licences, and so on. The enactment of this Bill will, however, lead to additional revenue which will accrue to the Government.

With this observation and few remarks, Mr. Speaker, I beg to move that the Bill be now read a Second Time.

The Minister for Commerce, Industry and Co-operative Development (Mr. Mwendwa) seconded.

(Question proposed)

Mr. Alexander: Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is very opportune that the Government have brought this Bill before us: they are wise in doing so. However, I have to complain about one magnificent opportunity that the Government have missed in presenting this Bill to the country. I refer to the urgent need to get into the hands of sport some independent funds.

Now, Mr. Speaker, we all know that the dream, the ideal, of amateur sport is to remain independent, and that means independent of everything, independent also of the Government. But we know also, Mr. Speaker, that we live in a world where it is impossible to be independent—entirely independent—without money. There has very recently been established a National Sports Council. This council, Mr. Speaker, will have to go on bended knee to get money from the Government. It has no independent means of its own, and in that case it can become subject to political pressure.

May I, in order to illustrate the point more clearly, Mr. Speaker, refer to the experience in other countries. I suppose the perfect example or the most potent example of the use of this type of legislation to hypothecate revenue to sport is Italy. Italy saw this opportunity just after the last war, and in presenting this very same type of legislation to their Government, they took the opportunity to include in it the provisions that would enable the football pools of Italy to hand over a large proportion of their profits to amateur sport. In Italy today there is a body created to receive those funds and to operate those funds to the benefit of amateur sport. In Kenya, we have never had any such advantage for sport. When the pools were taxed in this country several years ago, sport made the effort then to try and persuade the Government to divert some of the funds independently to it. This was never done.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE HOUSE

(Committee read)(The Chair: Mr. Slade left the Chair)

IN THE COMMITTEE

(The Chairman: Dr. De Souza left the Chair)(The Chair: Mr. Slade)(The Chairman: Dr. De Souza)

(The Chairman: Dr. De Souza) Hon. Members will be aware that when the House last adjourned, we were discussing clause 15 of this Bill, on which a very long debate has taken place. In fact, hon. Members will probably recollect, the clause was amended by deleting from clause 15 the words "or". There is now a further amendment which is suggested to be proposed by the hon. Assistant Minister, Mr. Osogo.

(The Assistant Minister for Agriculture and Animal Husbandry (Mr. Osogo): Mr. Chairman, just as you have explained, hon. ## THE EVICTION OF TENANTS (CONTROL)

(MOMBASA) (AMENDMENT) BILL

(Minister for Health and Housing (Mr. Otiende) on 7th December 1965)

(Resumption of debate interrupted on 7th December 1965)

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Hon. Members will recall that the Second Reading of this Bill has been moved, seconded and proposed, and there has been a little debate on it before the debate adjourned. The debate now continues.

If no other hon. Member wishes to speak—I do not think the Mover is here to reply. He has been replaced in office by another Minister who is also absent. In that case I will put the question.

(Question put and agreed to)

(The Bill was read a Second Time and committed to a Committee of the whole House tomorrow)

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Next Order.

THE BETTING, LOTTERIES AND GAMING BILL

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onyko): On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I would like to correct one typographical error. This Bill is not the responsibility of the Minister for Information and Broadcasting.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Which Ministry should that be?

The Minister for Information and Broadcasting (Mr. Achieng-Onyko): The Ministry of Home Affairs.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): In that case we do apologize.

The Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. arap Moi): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to move that the Betting, Lotteries and Gaming Bill be now read a Second Time.

I will not keep the House for too long. This Bill was moved some time ago. It is divided into seven parts which are more or less self-explanatory. Betting, lotteries and gaming have been going on in this country for a long time without any legislation to control them. These, having been included in my portfolio, I have decided to introduce the Betting, Lotteries and Gaming Bill to control these activities. Mr. Speaker, Sir, it is agreed that by having this Bill we shall be able to make some revenue available to the Government, as well as to protect those people who will be interested in conducting betting, lotteries and gaming in this country.

Sir, when the House adjourned last time, unfortunately this Bill was not put through because of some technical trouble, but I would like to go through it in order to give the intentions of this Bill.

At that time I had reached the point where I said that the Ministry of Home Affairs, being responsible for this portfolio, was going to appoint an independent chairman who would be a person who was a non-Government person.

Later on I will ask the House to consider two amendments which appear on today's Order Paper.

[The Assistant Minister for Works, Communications and Power]

answered several times in this house. The Government has no plans for the construction of a railway line from Lumbwa to Kisi in the immediate future. Although Kisi is known to be an area of high agricultural potential, production is not large enough to justify expenditure of £1.5 million which is the amount it would cost to build such a railway.

Mr. Omweri: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, would he tell us the exact figure he wants us to raise in production so that he can give us an assurance that this railway will be started?

Mr. Bomett: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I said that the figure required in order to construct this railway is £1.5 million. As to the question of production, the figure that the district would be required to achieve in order to justify the construction of the railway line is a question for the Ministry of Agriculture.

Mr. Omweri: Mr. Speaker, arising from that reply, is the Assistant Minister aware that the £1.5 million required to construct a railway from Lumbwa to Homu Bay would be covered by the production from the three districts which would be covered, that is, Keenoi, Kisi and Homu Bay?

Mr. Bomett: Mr. Speaker, the experts in my Ministry advise that at the moment the production in these areas does not justify the construction of a line.

Mr. Ngala: Mr. Speaker, arising from one of the replies by the Assistant Minister, would he assure this House that, rather than fulfilling a political slogan which arises from this question, he will give attention to other areas before thinking of Kisi to Lumbwa, because that district is served with good roads?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): No, Mr. Ngala. Next question.

Question No. 143

ELECTRICITY SUPPLIES FOR KISI DISTRICT

Mr. Omweri, on behalf of Mr. Ameyi, asked the Minister for Works, Communications and Power to tell the House that when eventually Government brought electricity to Kisi District, he would undertake to make the electricity available to all cooperatives societies, factories, secondary schools, health centres and missionary centres.

The Assistant Minister for Works, Communications and Power (Mr. Bomett): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. I think it is important that the hon. Member for Manage-Bassi should understand that it is not Government who will be responsible for the construction of the power supply line to Kisi. This will be undertaken by the East African Power and Lighting Company, as will be the development of the distribution network in Sotik and Kisi. It is not possible for this Ministry to give a guarantee that electricity will be made available to all the potential customers mentioned in the hon. Member's question. A survey of potential loads along the route and in Kisi town has been made and this includes factories, schools, hospitals, missions, domestic users, traders and others and it is hoped that the majority of these potential customers will be supplied with electricity.

Mr. Omweri: Arising from that reply, Sir, would the Assistant Minister undertake to negotiate with the East African Power and Lighting Company to see to it that when this power is transmitted to Kisi, it is installed, they will help the people financially who require to get their light installed in their places?

Mr. Bomett: Of course, that will be the case. So that the Government here is the economic one, they will be helping to bring electric power to Kisi. The K. P. & L. S. A. and this will be being examined. But also in any other area without K. P. & L. S. A. on the route, if it is economically feasible to supply to other areas beyond that, this will be examined by the Power and Lighting Company.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): We must go on now. I think Mr. Sagim has a statement to make to the House.

MINISTERIAL STATEMENT

APPOINTMENT OF THE PUBLIC ACCOUNTS COMMISSIONER

The Minister for Local Government (Mr. Ngugi): Mr. Speaker, Sir, on behalf of the Chairman of the Sessional Committee, I beg to make the following statement for the information of the House. The Sessional Committee has nominated the Public Accounts Committee as follows:—

- The Hon. J. K. J. Dipu (Chairman)
- The Hon. A. W. M. Sagim
- The Hon. S. M. Amin
- The Hon. O. R. S. Alexander
- The Hon. S. Kiprotich
- The Hon. A. M. Mungai

POINT OF ORDER

COMPETENCY OF HOUSE TO DEBATE BILL

Mr. Alexander: Mr. Speaker, Sir, on a point of order, this Bill is dependent upon and stems from the East African Income Tax Management Act. There are very substantial amendments to that Act which, Mr. Speaker, have not yet been published; and I would seek your ruling as to whether we are really competent to discuss this particular Bill until that Management Act is passed. In fact, I would go so far as to suggest that if we pass this Bill which is before us, we might find it is ultra vires.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I wonder if the Attorney-General could enlighten us on this or might like time to consider it?

The Attorney-General (Mr. Njonjo): I would like some time, Mr. Speaker, to consider this.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I think we could have the First Reading now, if you would be prepared, Mr. Attorney-General, to advise us at the time of the Second Reading whether or not there is anything in the point raised?

The Attorney-General (Mr. Njonjo): Yes.

[Mr. Sagini]

There was a time when things were topsy-turvy. I worked hard and brought them to normality, and I keep trying to do so.

With regard to the hon. Member's question, that I should organize training courses, we did so last year, but because of lack of funds we are not able to have frequent courses. That is of first importance as far as county councils are concerned, but very complex.

Question No. 195

POST OFFICE FOR SOUTH BARINGO DIVISION

Mr. Tanui asked the Minister for Works, Communications and Power if he would tell the House whether he considered that having one post office to serve the entire Division of South Baringo was sufficient.

The Assistant Minister for Works, Communications and Power (Mr. Bonetti) Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. An official of the East African Posts and Telecommunications Headquarters (Kenya) will be surveying Rift Valley Province in the early part of this year to determine the need and suitable places where sub-post offices may be established. Baringo District will be visited and a number of additional sub-post offices are expected to be established after the survey. The appropriate authorities in each district.

Mr. Tanui: Mr. Speaker, Sir, can the Assistant Minister tell the House, whether his Ministry has submitted a request to the official to visit this district, because Baringo has a greater need for a post office than any other place in Kenya?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade) No answer, Mr. Bonetti?

Mr. Bonetti: No, Sir.

MISAPPROPRIATION OF FUNDS BY TRADE UNION OFFICIALS

Mr. Gichoya asked the Minister for Labour to tell the House if, when a trade union officer was found guilty of misappropriating workers' money, what steps did the Ministry take, firstly, to recover the money and, secondly, to restrain such an officer from repeating such an offence in that union or any other union.

The Minister for Labour (Dr. Kiano): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply: section 29, subsection 2, of the Trade Union Act, reads as follows: "No person who in convicted of any crime involving fraud or dishonesty can be an officer of a trade union."

On conviction for an offence under the Penal Code or any other Act involving fraud or dishonesty, a trade union officer is automatically barred from being an officer of any union and, accordingly, the question of his being in a position to repeat such an offence, as an officer, does not arise provided of course, that the authorities are aware of his previous conviction.

It is not clear what the hon. Member would like to know on the question of recovery of the money, but I presume that the hon. Member is referring to the misappropriation of money from the funds of a trade union which had been contributed by the members of that union. If that be the case, the union itself is entitled to pursue a civil remedy through a competent court of law for recovery.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from what the Minister says, that the officer will be barred from holding public office, and taking number one, that is the method of recovering the money, how would he be able to make a living so that he could be sued in a civil case, so that the money could be recovered, whereas he has been barred from holding any public office?

Dr. Kiano: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I am not too sure that I understand the question. There are two aspects to one is that if the officer is convicted of misappropriation of funds or any other form of dishonesty concerned with money, he cannot be an officer of a trade union, that is one thing. The other element has to do with the fact that if he has actually eaten the money, then how do you get it back? I can only read to the hon. Member the wording of section 55, subsection 1, and subsection 3 of the same Act, which says, "Any trade union officer found guilty of misappropriating workers' money, the court may order such a person to pay such money to the trustees of the union. If such an officer failed to comply with the court's order, within a specified period, he shall be guilty of an offence and liable to a fine."

Question No. 154

DAMS AND BOREHOLES FOR TURKANA DISTRICT

Mr. Areman asked the Minister for Natural Resources and Tourism if he could tell the House when the Government was going to start making some dams and boreholes in Turkana District.

The Assistant Minister for Natural Resources and Tourism (Mr. Mohamed): Mr. Speaker, I beg to reply. I am afraid the reply is going to be rather long, because questions on water have been raised in this Parliament very often, and I have to give a somewhat lengthy reply.

[The Assistant Minister for Natural Resources and Tourism]

My Ministry, the Ministry of Agriculture, the Administration, the Christian Council of Kenya and various missions are represented on the Turkana Rehabilitation Committee. This committee is responsible for preparing development plans, co-ordinating specialist activity and seeking financial assistance for approved projects. At present, this committee is primarily concerned with the fishing industry on Lake Rudolf, irrigation projects in the valleys of the Turkwell and Keru Rivers and in the development of range areas.

The hon. Member for Turkana North is a member of this committee and is aware of the present stage of our work. As regards water, a major part of approximately £43,000 is to be spent in the construction of boreholes and wells in the Turkwell Valley. Beside this, £2,000 has been made available for improving small water supplies for the people throughout the district. Through a generous gift from Oxfam a drilling machine, and money to operate it, was moved to Turkana last month, December, to assist in the search for water.

Except in very few areas in Turkana District, it is impractical to construct dams. This is because, according to meteorological records, the rainfall is very low—about 10 inches per year—while the rate of evaporation is as much as 12 feet per year. The only alternative is, therefore, to concentrate on boreholes and wells.

I would like to assure the hon. Member that my Ministry, in collaboration with the other bodies mentioned earlier, and the generous help from the F.A.O., Oxfam and the missions, are doing more to Turkana than to any other district. The challenge is enormous, and it requires highly skilled staff of which we have few. Finances are limited. But even if all these requirements were available, the desired results could not be achieved overnight.

Mr. Shikuku: Arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, Mr. Speaker, that these activities will not be met overnight, is he aware that the Turkana people are very hard up so far as the question of water is concerned? It should be an immediate effort by the Government to make boreholes to help the Turkana get some water for their food and their cattle.

Mr. Mohamed: Mr. Speaker, Sir, this is exactly what I have said. I said that we are going to spend about £43,000, and besides this the machine which has been made available to us by Oxfam, has already been sent there and will be drilling boreholes. The success of these boreholes depends on whether the water is there or not, but we are doing our best to assist the Turkana people.

Mr. Areman: Mr. Speaker, Sir, may we know in which month this drilling machine will be starting in the Turkana District? Because it has been said, every now and then, that it has been sent, it was sent yesterday, and it is not there yet.

Mr. Mohamed: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think I will have to check on this, but we definitely know that the machine was sent to the Turkana area last month. Whether it has come into operation or not may depend on technical difficulties, but we will check on the situation and clear the matter up.

Mr. Ekitella: Arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, can he tell us to which part of the Turkana District was this machine sent?

Mr. Mohamed: Mr. Speaker, Sir, normally it should have been sent to the district headquarters, but it may have been moved to the appropriate area where the drilling is to take place.

Mr. Kamuren: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Assistant Minister's reply, where he said that the machine has been sent to Turkana, can he tell this House whether he has gone there to check whether this machine has already been sent to the district headquarters?

Mr. Mohamed: Mr. Speaker, I am pretty certain this machine has gone, and before it went it was tested in our Water Development Department, to see that it was functioning properly, and, after this test it was sent. Turkana District is a very big district and it is for the local authority there to decide where it should go. Maybe the hon. Member does not know where it has gone.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Omweri, we will come back now to Mr. Anyieni's questions.

Question No. 141

RAILWAY LINE FROM LUMBWA TO KISII

Mr. Omweri, on behalf of Mr. Anyieni, asked the Minister for Works, Communications and Power when the Government intended to construct a railway line from Lumbwa to Kisii, in view of the large production of coffee, tea, pyrethrum, bananas, maize, etc., in the Kisii District.

The Assistant Minister for Works, Communications and Power (Mr. Bonetti) Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. The hon. Members will recall that the question regarding the construction of a railway line from Lumbwa to Kisii has been

The Minister for Local Government (Mr. Sagini): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. My Ministry has for some years assisted the Kisumu Municipal Council by way of a grant towards the council's recurrent expenditure in clearing floating islands. For 1965, the grant took the form of reimbursement of all such costs in excess of £100, subject to a maximum grant of £2,000, and a similar grant will be paid in 1966.

Mr. Oselu-Nyalick: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the Minister's reply, is he aware that the said grant is quite inadequate and, as a result of this, Kisumu is growing shabby and dirty because of floating islands, and since it is the capital of West Kenya, and we want

Hon. Members: Question, question.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Mr. Nyalick, you cannot use Question Time to put forward propositions of that kind, I am afraid. You must make it a question, you know.

Mr. Oselu-Nyalick: Mr. Speaker, Sir, may I repeat myself?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): You may continue your question, but you must not bring in matters of that kind.

Mr. Oselu-Nyalick: Mr. Speaker, Sir, please excuse my Minister's reply and since the capital grant mentioned is quite inadequate, what other proposals does he have to assist the municipality, so as to make Kisumu attractive to tourists and industrialists who may like to come to Kisumu?

Mr. Sagini: Mr. Speaker, I agree entirely with the hon. Member that it is inadequate, because the question of trying to get rid of floating islands is quite elaborate. In 1963, the Kisumu Municipal Council received a detailed report from a malaria engineer, setting out in detail necessary anti-malarial work required on the lake shore, and it was estimated that it would cost £100,000. This is very expensive indeed, Mr. Speaker. The council put a request to the Ministry of Health, by whom I am advised that it has not been possible to find the very considerable funds necessary to implement the recommendations in the report. The Ministry of Health, however, has for some years made specific contributions to Kisumu Municipal Council towards the recurrent cost of anti-malarial work around Kisumu. In the last two years a sum of £1,000 was paid to the council.

Mr. Speaker, if any further information is required, I should like this matter to be referred to the Minister for Health because he has more details of this than has my Ministry, Mr. Speaker. I would like to mention to the hon. Member that actually, the question of floating islands is an East African problem, because the stuff comes from Uganda and Tanzania and comes this way, his against land, where Kisumu is, and stops and accumulates.

Mr. Bala: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from the earlier reply from the Minister, would the Minister assure this House that despite his intention of withdrawing £50,000, as we learnt last month, he is not going to withdraw that sum of £50,000 by way of grant in the course of 1965-66 estimates, to Kisumu Municipality?

Mr. Sagini: Mr. Speaker, Sir, that is another question because it does involve figures, money, because we examine budgets of the various local authorities in this country very carefully and thoughtfully. I am not in a position to delve into this now.

Question No. 163

NYERI COUNTY COUNCIL MATRONS

Mr. Warithi asked the Minister for Local Government whether he could explain why the three special nominated seats for the Nyeri County Council had not been filled up to now.

The Minister for Local Government (Mr. Sagini): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. During the discussions in the Central Regional Assembly, amended the constitution of all local authorities of this province except that of Nyeri County Council in such a way that district commissioners and other public officers, also women who represented women's interests, were all excluded from nominated membership of councils, and in their places the Assembly substituted a number of persons to represent farming and commercial interests.

In addition to this, the Assembly also amended the term of office of all councillors so that instead of one-third of the members retiring each year, all members remained in office for a period of three years. For some reason unknown to me, the amendment to the Nyeri County Council Constitution which was drafted on the same lines as that of all other local authorities in the province was never passed by the Assembly, and was not published. I understand this was an error.

However, the Council has assumed that their constitution was legally amended to permit their members to remain in office for a period of three years. Since the annual elections have been held in accordance required under the original legal constitution of the Nyeri County Council, any nominations made now by me would, I am advised, worsen the situation, and I propose to wait until the constitution of the Nyeri County Council is regularized by law.

Mr. Warithi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, can the Minister tell us what his Ministry is doing to see that the constitution of the Nyeri County Council is regularized?

Mr. Sagini: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I propose to regularize the position by including an appropriate provision in the Local Government Bill.

Mr. Warithi: Mr. Speaker, Sir, can he give us an indication when these special seats will be filled?

Mr. Sagini: I hope some time this year, 1966.

Question No. 171

DISMISSAL AND REINSTATEMENT OF MERU COUNTY COUNCIL OFFICIALS

Mr. Mate asked the Minister for Local Government what were the reasons which led to the dismissal and, subsequently, the reinstatement of two senior council employees, viz. the secretary and the marketing officer of the Meru County Council.

The Minister for Local Government (Mr. Sagini): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. I think in referring to the secretary of the Meru County Council, the hon. Member for Meru Central means the clerk of the Meru County Council. This officer was not dismissed as far as I am aware. He was, however, suspended from office by the county council and subsequently reinstated under my directive.

With regard to the marketing officer, I am aware that he was dismissed by the county council for performing acts in the name of the county council without the council's authority. I am not aware that he was reinstated. In any case, dismissal or reinstatement of an officer, other than a chief officer or his deputy, is, under the Local Government Regulations, 1963, entirely the responsibility of a county council and they need not refer to me when making such a decision.

Mr. Mate: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Minister aware that this practice is quite common in Meru, and it affects many other council servants who are put into a job one day and put back again, other junior staff?

Mr. Sagini: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I have said that, with regard to jobs under the status of chief and deputy officers, I do not interfere because that is an internal affair of a county council. Why does not the hon. Member help them, you know, he studied philosophy? I fail to understand the motive behind the hon. Member's question because the little misunderstanding which cropped up between the clerk and councillors took place last year. I examined it and found the charges against him would not warrant his dismissal. This man is therefore long forgotten, and if the intention of the hon. Member is to whip up trouble in the County Council of Meru, is this the way the hon. Member wishes to help his people? It must be understood that anything which is intended to bring about squabbles in a local authority will never do any good.

Mr. Ngala: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I rise for your guidance on a statement that has just been made by the Minister. The Minister has implied that under the Local Government Regulations, 1963, his responsibility only lies on the senior officers of the county councils, but he cannot interfere with the affairs of the junior officers, and he so implied that it was not his responsibility.

I rise for your guidance, Sir, because my understanding was that although the employment or dismissal of people like town clerks or the clerks to the county councils, or treasurers, had to have the consent of the Minister, whereas the other junior staff did not have to have the consent of the Minister, but the Minister is generally responsible as Minister for the whole of the county council, no county council has exclusive powers constitutionally.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I was about to point out to Mr. Sagini that whether or not the appointment and dismissal of certain officers, the subject of this question, are the exclusive jurisdiction of a local authority, it is still in order for Members of this House to ask the Minister who is responsible for local government to speak in this House for the activities of local authorities, and to explain what they are doing and why. So, as I have said before, and I must say it again, it is not a complete answer to an hon. Member that something is actually beyond the direct responsibility of a Minister. If a Minister is still officially connected in any way with a matter it can be asked in this House, and he can be expected to answer it on behalf of the authority concerned.

Mr. Mate: Mr. Speaker, Sir, while I am grateful for the action the Minister has taken in interfering in these matters, does the Minister agree with me that this kind of behaviour has a demoralizing effect on the whole of the Meru County Council staff, and would he care to organize courses for the county councillors to make them understand their own duties?

Mr. Sagini: Mr. Speaker, Sir, county councils have a lot of problems and I think the hon. Member, Mr. Ngala, knows this very well, he is a very brilliant man indeed. Very often I deal with delicate matters that concern the officials and councillors. In Meru I have tried my best.

(Mr. de Topp)

whose time of retirement has approached and who have been succeeded to some statutory boards or quasi-Government bodies in this country as an excuse route so that they can still remain here when their services are no longer required.

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do sincerely hope that the two officers to whom the hon. Member is referring, the senior nursing officer and the senior entomological officer, will not take these news seriously because, as the House is aware, we are short of personnel in these fields and we should be grateful that these people have agreed to remain. Despite the Government's having requested them to resign under certain arrangements and yet they are willing to give us their services which the country still needs.

Mr. Gung'uta: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Minister aware that there are some expatriates who have been Africanized and then employed in Government in different capacities altogether? If he is aware can he say how many of them there are?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I think I need not go to look into that one. I assure the hon. Member that if he gives me notice, I will deal with his question to his satisfaction.

Mr. Ngala: Arising from one of the answers to the Minister would he be prepared to assure that these Africanizations of some Ministries are mere decorations and not people who really can do their work? Because, Mr. Speaker, in some Ministries a District Officer has been promoted to a position of Permanent Secretary to look after accounts, which is not his profession. This is why there is all this nonsense.

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not want to get into the controversy which the hon. Member for Kilifi South may be having with the civil servants. I am quite sure there are—

Mr. Ngala: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I do not have any controversy, Mr. Speaker, with the civil servants. I am only asking the Minister to explain to me what I want to know.

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, what I mean is that such a statement can create a controversy between the politicians and the civil servants. I hope the hon. Member will let me deal with the question.

I am not aware of any other cases of promotion, who has been promoted by the status of a Permanent Secretary. Furthermore, Sir, we do not have a Permanent Secretary in a Ministry which is known as the Ministry of Accounts. That Ministry does not exist.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): We must go on now. Next question.

NOTICE OF MOTION FOR THE ADJOURNMENT

UNSATISFACTORY REPLY TO QUESTION NO. 162:
CONTRACT EXPATRIATE CIVIL SERVANTS

Mr. Ngala: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I would like to raise this matter on adjournment.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! Yes, Mr. Muliro does not want to.

Mr. Muliro: Yes, Sir, I want to.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Well, then, it is your right to do so.

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Question No. 183

GOVERNMENT HOSPITAL FOR BOMET

Mr. arap Sol asked the Minister for Health when the Government was going to build a Government hospital in Bomet.

The Assistant Minister for Health (Mr. Moss): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. I have to inform the hon. Member that the Government will not be building a hospital at Bomet during the 1965-66 development period.

Mr. arap Sol: Mr. Speaker, Sir, would the Assistant Minister tell us as the people of Bomet should not benefit from free medical facilities.

Mr. Moss: Mr. Speaker, Sir, there are many people in different districts of Kenya today who are in need of hospitals than the people of Bomet. At present, Sir, Bomet is served by four hospitals in Kericho District. We have a Kericho Government Hospital, then we have one at Kaparet, and we have a mission hospital at Tenwek which is only four miles from Bomet. Then, there is a hospital at Kablong, which is not very far from Bomet. However, in some other districts, such as like Busia, there is not even a single hospital. Provided, Mr. Speaker, Sir, must be given to those areas that need hospitals.

Mr. Bola: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I would like to seek your guidance. Do we now accept in this House people dressed in national dress?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Order! Order! Yes, it is usually done by Standing Order or otherwise. But what hon. Members do wear in this chamber. It always has rested with Members themselves to indicate what sort of dress they approve of or do not approve.

The question of national dress, therefore, does not really arise. I am not in a position to say whether the dress worn by the hon. Member is national dress or not. The real question is whether

[The Speaker] or not his colleagues in this House approve of the way in which he is dressed. If they do not approve, perhaps they will let him know in another place.

Mr. arap Sol: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Assistant Minister aware that the Tenwek Hospital which he mentioned is a mission hospital and that there are no free medical facilities available there? Again, the other hospitals mentioned are far from Bomet; they are not in Bomet. They are forty miles away.

Mr. Moss: Sir, when we speak in terms of district hospitals, we think in terms of Kericho as a district. When it comes to Bomet, the Member is trying to speak in terms of a section of a district. However, we have to speak in terms of a whole district.

If the hon. Member feels there is an urgent need for a dispensary or a health centre in his area, he should put this question before his people and initiate a self-help health centre or dispensary.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Next question.

Question No. 158

PENALTIES FOR LOSS OF G.P.T. CARD

Dr. De Souza asked the Minister for Local Government if he was aware that if a person had paid his Graduated Personal Tax and had proof to this effect, he was made to pay his tax again, plus a penalty of 200 per cent tax, if the card was lost or stolen.

The Minister for Local Government (Mr. Sagini): Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to reply. The Graduated Personal Tax Act, 1963, states in section 8: "Graduated Personal Tax stamps shall be deemed to be legal tender in payment of the tax."

This means that, in some respects, the stamps are the equivalent of money: a person coming into possession of these stamps, by whatever means, can use them to pay his tax. Now, if the honourable member loses his money or has it stolen, the loss is his: the Currency Board is not going to replace his money because he has lost it.

However, I am assured that the practice of Nairobi City Council is as follows:—

(a) If a taxpayer loses a stamped card and can prove to the satisfaction of the Chief Revenue Officer—

- (i) that he has affixed stamps to the card;
- (ii) that the loss did not occur through his own negligence;

then further payment in respect of the stamps claimed to be lost is waived.

(b) If a taxpayer loses a stamped card and is able to satisfy the Chief Revenue Officer that he has affixed stamps to the card but is unable to satisfy the Chief Revenue Officer that the loss did not occur through his own negligence then he is required to make a further payment in respect of the stamps claimed to have been lost but is not charged a penalty.

(c) If a taxpayer loses a tax receipt, a duplicate receipt is arranged on payment of a fee of Sh. 5.

Dr. De Souza: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the hon. Minister aware that there was a case recently of the servant of Mr. Howard Williams, a former Member of this Parliament, whose tax card was stolen from his employer's home, and the servant was asked to pay it again? All the tax that was paid again had already been paid and no reduction in the amount was allowed. Could we know if a more satisfactory procedure could be effected to ensure that this does not happen to other people?

Mr. Sagini: Mr. Speaker, Sir, in the first place I am not aware that Air-Commodore Howard Williams's servant lost his card. Neither am I aware that he was asked to pay a very heavy tax.

I would ask the hon. Member to bring this specifically alleged case to my Ministry and I will examine it and see what can be done.

I was not aware of what had happened.

Mr. Komora: Mr. Speaker, Sir, is the Minister not aware that, apart from the stamps affixed on the card, there are no other records which indicate, or show, whether or not a person has paid his monthly graduated personal tax? As such, his Ministry should do something to establish other records, apart from the cards.

Mr. Sagini: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the stamped card system is intended to lighten the burden of the taxpayer by enabling him to pay by instalment, but it would be quite impossible, in terms of administrative work and prohibitive cost, for the council to keep a record of every individual stamp bought by every taxpayer.

Question No. 160

CLEANING KISUMU TOWNSHIP LAKE SHORES

Mr. Oseuh-Nynlick asked the Minister for Local Government to tell the House what plans his Ministry had to help the Kisumu Municipality to clear the lake shores round the township and the floating islands.

The Public Archives Act, 1965	21-10-65	28-10-65	24-11-65

Mr. Malsori-Itumbo: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, I am rising to seek your guidance whether this House is in order to commemorate, or to record, the remembrance of the late Dixon Makumbi, as far as the House of Representatives is concerned, or is this only to do with the Senate?

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Mr. Malsori-Itumbo, we have already done that. I think I seem to recall making a Communication from the Chair on that subject.

Mr. Malsori-Itumbo: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I do not remember, because after the adjournment this incident happened, on the 11th December, and I am wondering whether we have done it or not.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): I thank you, Mr. Malsori. I had thought of the matter, but my memory must have deceived me; if I find that I am wrong, I will certainly correct the omission tomorrow.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE CHAIR

NOTICES OF MOTION

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Before calling on any hon. Member to give notice of Motion, I would remind the House of the effect of a recent amendment to Standing Orders. Now, when an hon. Member, other than a Member of the Government, stands in this House to give notice of Motion it means that that particular Motion has been selected by the Sessional Committee for early debate and that it is the choice of the Member that that particular Motion should be debated, so it means that hon. Members may expect the Motion of which notice is given to be debated in the very near future. It is, in fact, a warning of an impending debate.

NOTICE OF MOTION

Mr. Mwangandi: On a point of order, Mr. Speaker, in this case are these ones which have already been given the notice of? Mr. Speaker, Sir, I beg to give notice of the following Motion:

INVESTIGATION INTO NON-AFRICAN OWNERSHIP OF COASTAL LAND

That in view of the fact that Africans in the Coast are all described as "Squatters", as if the Asian and Arab landowners were more African than the Africans themselves, this House urges the Government to form a special commission to investigate the historical background of how the Arabs and the Asians got these lands and to bring the findings to this House for discussion.

ORAL ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

DEPUTY CHAIRMAN OF PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION: VACANCY

Mr. Muliro asked the President why the post of Deputy Chairman of the Public Service Commission had not been filled for the past one and a half years.

The Minister of State, President's Office (Mr. Nyamweya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, the expatriate officers are only retained in the service in the absence of qualified—

Mr. Muliro: On a point of order, Sir, the Minister is not answering my question No. 155.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): 155, Mr. Nyamweya.

Mr. Nyamweya: I am sorry, Mr. Speaker; I do apologize to the hon. Member for Trans Nzoia. It is because he has two questions on the Order Paper.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, the Government intends to fill the post of Deputy Chairman of the Public Service Commission as soon as possible.

Mr. Muliro: Arising from that reply, Sir, would the Minister indicate to the House when this will be done, since it has taken over a year and a half to fill this post? Might it be that the right person has not yet been found?

Mr. Nyamweya: It may be, Sir, that that has been the case in the past but we believe that the appointment can be made now, very soon.

Mr. Ngala: Arising from that reply, Sir, would the Minister explain the causes for the delay of one and a half years?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, one of the reasons for the delay in making this appointment, as hon. Members may know, is the lack of suitably qualified persons. But we do hope that now the country is in possession of suitably qualified persons, from amongst whom the appointment can be made.

Mr. Tanni: Mr. Speaker, Sir, can the Minister tell us how many times this post has been advertised and candidates have failed to qualify?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, the appointment of the Chairman or Deputy Chairman of the Public Service Commission is not advertised in the way the hon. Member thinks. It is an appointment which is made by the President himself.

Mr. Gichoya: Mr. Speaker, arising from the Minister's reply, that suitably qualified persons have not been available, may we know what are the basic qualifications needed for a person to be made Deputy Chairman of the Public Service Commission?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, I have already said that that might have been the case in the past. We are now in possession of such people; and therefore the question of giving the necessary qualifications does not arise.

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Next question.

Question No. 162

CONTRACT EXPATRIATE CIVIL SERVANTS

Mr. Muliro asked the President how many senior expatriate civil servants whose posts had been Africanized and who had been paid compensation by Kenya Government were serving Kenya on a contract basis, in which Ministries these expatriates were serving, and whether the Government contemplated getting more of these officers under these arrangements.

The Minister of State, President's Office (Mr. Nyamweya): Mr. Speaker, Sir, expatriate officers are only retained in the service in the absence of qualified African officers and, therefore, when a post has been Africanized, it follows that there is no vacancy in which the expatriate officer could be re-employed. That, Sir, is actually translating or interpreting the question of the hon. Member for Trans Nzoia as it reads.

However, I would like to make this qualification. There are two designated officers who have voluntarily retired under the retirement scheme and who have been re-employed on contract terms. These officers are both employed by the Ministry of Health, as nursing sister and senior entomological field officer respectively. Also there are four senior expatriate officers whose posts have been Africanized and who are working in Kenya in an advisory capacity under the technical assistance arrangements. These are in the Ministries of Finance, Home Affairs, Health and Labour where they had previously served as, respectively, Permanent Secretary, Commissioner for Prisons, Medical Officer and Assistant Commissioner for Labour. Officers working under this scheme are not regarded as civil servants and their salaries and their transport expenses are paid by the donor country, in this case, the British Government.

Mr. Muliro: Arising from that reply, why was it necessary to have Africanized these jobs and then have taken back these people to come and do the work again?

Mr. Nyamweya: Mr. Speaker, Sir, I really do not know whether I should answer this one but I do not want to appear discourteous to the hon. Member for Trans Nzoia. I thought I had explained the position very clearly, that these four officers were retained after their offices were Africanized. The purpose of their retention, Mr. Speaker, has nothing to do with any other reason save that of the benefit the country can gain from the experience these four gentlemen have.

Mr. ole Tipis: Mr. Speaker, Sir, arising from one of the Minister's replies, can he tell us the correct reply, because it says here, "... whose posts were Africanized and paid compensation by Kenya Government were serving Kenya on contract basis..." What I really want to know from the Minister is this: the number of officers

DEATH OF PRIME MINISTERS OF INDIA AND NIGERIA

The Speaker (Mr. Slade): Hon. Members, since the last sitting of this House, the world has lost two great men: Lal Bahadur Shastri, who was Prime Minister of India; and Alhaji Sir Abubakar Tafawa Balewa, who was Prime Minister of Nigeria.

During years of mounting strife, both at home and abroad, these two leaders of great nations stood out as mighty warriors; but they stood in the shining armour of those who fight for peace.

Mr. Shastri will be remembered by all of us as the little man with the great heart. In places of darkness, his small but radiant figure shed light—the light of indomitable faith, faith in the universal brotherhood of mankind. That light penetrated far beyond the borders of his own land. He died in the hour of achievement of what was perhaps his greatest ambition: peace between India and Pakistan. Whatever problems may yet face those two nations in solving their differences, Lal Bahadur Shastri and President Ayub Khan have set an example for which, now and hereafter, millions of people of many countries will owe to both of them more gratitude than they yet understand. It may have been the very effort of such achievement that brought death; it may seem tragic that death should follow so swiftly upon triumph; but what more can a man ask, than to be gathered to his fathers at such a moment of glory?

Sir Abubakar, though a man of very different physical stature, had the like heart. He too shed a valiant light of faith—faith in the unity of Nigeria; and beyond that, like Mr. Shastri, in the brotherhood of mankind. Among all his other great works, we shall not forget that he was the very first Prime Minister to convene a conference of Commonwealth leaders outside the United Kingdom. And for what purpose? Simply to help in bringing peace to another country, not even his neighbour: Rhodesia. Though it may be too early yet to assess the achievement of that conference, few can doubt that it strengthened all of us who share his faith. Here again, but in much more tragic and brutal circumstances, death has followed swiftly upon great achievement; yet again death by martyrdom, at the hour of testimony, might well have been his own desire.

Men such as these leave behind them lasting influence towards the peace of the world, for which they fought and died. We thank them, their families, and their nations, for their enduring examples; and to those who knew them best, and will feel their loss most keenly, this House respectfully extends our deepest sympathy.

Let us now stand in silence, to honour their memory.

(Hon. Members stood for one minute in silence)
