MAY 21 1919

The Postmaster,

Now that hostilities have ceased and it is probable that vacancies may exist for sorting clerks and telegraphists and other grades in British East Africa, Uganda and Nigeria, I shall be glad if my name may be submitted to the Colonial Office as an applicant for transfer to any suitable appointment which may be open or likely to be vacant in the near future.

I shall be 26 years of age in May next, am unmarried and have had 7 1/2 years' service in the British post office.

I have had a thorough experience of counter and sorting office work, telegraph and telephone working, and have also a good knowledge of accounts and book-keeping.

Superior officers will no doubt be able to recommend me as being both competent and reliable.

In consideration of my appointment which I formerly obtained, I am, Sir, your obedient servant.

Yours
grace

quite willing to accept them, should my application be successful. I may say that my parents with whom I am living are aware of this application and do not raise any objection to my proposal to go abroad.
