b) Occasional U.P. and B.I. steamers via Cape or via Suez. These are very unreliable and make no provision to adhering to dates originally fixed.

Regular low weekly service by far the most convenient for us ~~and~~ will fit in with the ~~the~~ arrangements made and I think that in the case of U.P. Uganda and B.I. officials we should fix on the M.M. as the social line for the purpose of regulating extensions of leave. The M.M. line is now more expensive than the U.P. but as a man travelling by U.P. via the Cape (there are few Suez boats now) would probably be hung up at Natal and he would have to pay for his subsistence. There would probably not be much difference in cost in the long run.

The M.M. fares are 1st class (single)

(return) £ 90.3.2)

It may be possible to get the M.M. line to allow a rebate for our officers if we undertake to give them our support. They would probably require us to give them all our ^{traffic} ~~pass~~, and that would mean making the M.M. line compulsory for our men and I am not sure that we wish to prevent an officer experimenting on his own responsibility with the U.C. or B.S. provided that so far as leave goes he would get no better terms than if he had taken the M.M. boat.

We had better ask C.A. to see what can be got out of the Company before we go further, as on this will depend the nature of the instructions which we are to give to officers on leave and Governors.

H.F.D. 19.2.15

As regards the idea, I am inclined to agree that the Cape Town - Beira route would be cheapest. We must allow about £3 for subsistence with train, Scepter, but we avoid still wait.]

An indefinite wait at Barbours and, possibly, the ship could catch an earlier boat at Vera.

But we do not wish to incur an unnecessary two or three days journey
- I hope to see you - I am confident that, except in cases of emergency, we ought not to let our drift board by us.

For the other Post, I think that expediency is of much greater importance that we ought to adopt the M.M. as the regular line - 50 per cent at least as a 1st class, when we are concerned (I agree with C.A. as to 2nd class), but I would probably be better to pay the full fares than to give any pledge to any Company.

The A. can only ^{M.M.} pay for the whole or part of first class passages & can say that we suppose, if this arrangement adopted, to make the M.M. the regular service for E.P.'s affairs, but for the present, for the present, though as we may require the employment of other lines on occasion we pledge of all our passages can be given.

(Sd.) 20/2/5

We may try this on with the M.M., but other lines are so doubt it trunk with each other & we I doubt if we get any concession...

15.2.15.

In continuation of our letter of the 3rd of February, I have the honour to enclose a statement showing the routes now available for passengers wishing to proceed to the East African Protectorate, with their respective fares. I also enclose a copy of a letter from the Union Castle Company giving the sailings of their steamers to the East African ports as at present arranged. The Company are charging Mail steamer fares for their steamer of the 6th of March to which they refer, but these fares are lower than those charged by the Messageries Maritimes Company, as the latter have withdrawn the Government rebate of 15% and are charging a surtax of 20%. The route by rail to Marseilles and thence by steamer of the Messageries Maritimes de France does not appear to us very suitable for men of the mechanic class who, in existing circumstances would probably have considerable difficulty in making their way across France, and we are therefore

REC. 18 FEB 1915THE UNION CASTLE COMPANY TO CROWN AGENTS3 & 4 Fenchurch Street, London, E.C.

15th February, 1915.

Gentlemen,

We have duly received your letter M of 12th instant, and in reply beg to inform you that Miss. 1507 as at present arranged, our R.M.S. "Llandoverly Castle" which will take the Mail Steamer sailing of 8th March from London, will continue her voyage from Natal direct to Zanzibar and Mombasa, where she will arrive about the 11th and 12th April respectively. Passengers booked by this steamer for Delagoa Bay, Beira, and Chinde will require to tranship at Natal and provide their own hotel accommodation whilst awaiting the connecting steamer. At present we are unable to say when we shall despatch our next steamer to East African ports, but we are prepared to give passengers the benefit of a through rate to any such port, as shown on pages 26-31 of the enclosed Passenger Handbook, when travelling by our Mail Steamers (which usually take about twenty two days on the voyage from England to Natal) and transshipping at Natal. Owing to the present exceptional conditions, however, we are unable to provide hotel accommodation whilst awaiting a connecting steamer. With regard to sailings thence to Beira, the following will be our next two steamers calling at that port:-

Steamer	Leave London	Arrive Natal	Arrive
"Comrie Castle"	17th Feb.	27 March	2nd Apr
"Durham Castle"	19th March.	16 April	25th Apr

and

and in addition we are advised by our Natal Agency there are occasional sailings by the Rennie Line, Messrs King and Son, the British India Steam Navigation Company, and the Indian African Line. They, however, also inform us these sailings are not at all dependable and through passengers should be prepared for delays.

The only connection of which we have information between Beira and Chinde is that made by the sailings of the s.s. "Manica", a small coaster, which we understand makes about three voyages per month between these two ports.

We regret we are unable to give you more definite information with regard to connections at Natal, and shall be pleased to advise you immediately our next steamer is fixed to take passengers through to East Coast ports.

10th February

Gentlemen,

Agreeably with our conversation on the 4th of this afternoon, we have pleasure in handing you our passenger handbook herewith which will give you full particulars as to fares by our Line.

In the present dislocated state of matters our sailing list is in abeyance, but we hope to despatch our steamers approximately as follows:-

- s.s. "Inanda" About February 25th
- s.s. "Inkosi" " April 1st
- s.s. "Ingoma" " April 15th

We can issue a through ticket to Chinda but passengers have to tranship at Beira and, in the present state of matters, they would have to pay their own hotel expenses at that port while waiting for the connecting steamer.

Trusting we may have the pleasure of booking some passengers through your good services.

Nothing is more startling to the imagination than the comparison of a map of Africa as it was made with one of sixty years ago. ports and ample outlet for that surplus of population and trade. Going no farther than a generation back, European settlements formed but intermittent patches on the African coast. To-day, in the whole Continent, there are but three independent states—Abyssinia, Morocco, and the Negro Republic of Liberia.

In the present instance we are considering particularly the regions of the Orange, the Colony, Natal, and Portuguese East Africa. These are to be considered from two aspects which we may be permitted to characterise as the physical and the economic. The physical aspect is the commercial; the great cities of the South and South East Coast as the gateway to the British dominions of the Cape Colony, the Orange River Colony, the Transvaal, Rhodesia, and Nyasaland. The other aspect is the tourist's. But before entering into the geographical details we will first briefly consider the various routes afforded travellers to Africa by the Harrison-Rennie Line.

THE ROUTE

To Durban and even to ports further up the coast the route which the Harrison-Rennie steamers take is— to the Canary Islands and thence by the South Atlantic Ocean, a much shorter than the Eastern route perfectly and ample outlet for the surplus of population and trade. Going farther than a general survey of European settlements formed but intermittent patches on the African continent today in the whole Continent, there are but three independent states, Abyssinia, Uruksa, and the Negro Republic of Liberia.

In the present instance we are considering particularly the regions of the Cape Colony, Natal and Portuguese East Africa. These are to be considered in the aspects which are to be permitted to characterize the African continent generally. The latter, in respect to the commercial life of the South and South-East Coast, is the gateway to the British dominions of the Empire, which for a long time have been the East Indian, Borneo and Natal. The great and profitable commerce of the Eastern Cape and Natal, which is the chief outlet for the surplus of the Cape Colony, is the result of the opening up of the great natural harbors of the Cape of Good Hope, the harbor of Durban, and the harbor of Natal, which are the chief ports of the Cape Colony and Natal.

THE ROUTE

The Durban and Cape to Port Natal route is the route which the Harrison Route Steamers take, via the Cape Colony, Durban, and thence by the South Atlantic Ocean, a much shorter than the Eastern route through the Mediterranean and the Suez Canal and round by Guardafui. The line affords a direct service to and from Cape Town, Durban (Port Natal), Delagoa Bay, and Beira. Through-bookings can be taken to Chinde, passengers being transhipped at Beira. The outward passage takes from 23 to 25 days by the passenger steamers, and about 28 by cargo steamers. It is to be noted that the fares are less expensive than those on other lines. Thus to Durban the fares in the first-class and second-class respectively are £28 and £21; whilst the increment to Beira or the intervening ports is fractionary. A large reduction in this rate is made in the price of return tickets. In cases of transshipment the company takes every means to ensure the comfort and convenience of its "parting guests" by allowing them to remain on board, if at all possible, until the connecting steamer is ready to receive them. Also it is to be noted that by making intimation at London passengers to ports north of Natal may break their journey there and proceed to their destination by a subsequent steamer.

THE GATE TO CENTRAL AFRICA.

The mechanical, not to mention the pecuniary, advantages offered by the Eastern ports as means of reaching the interior by rail have been ab-cluded to already. A few figures will serve to show how marked these advantages are. The distance to Johannesburg from Durban is 484 miles, as compared with 957 from Cape Town; to Pretoria from Durban 511 miles, as compared with 1903 from Cape Town; to Maritzburg 71 miles, as compared with 1367. From Delagoa Bay to Barberton is 157 miles, whereas from Cape Town it is 1343. For Rhodesia the most convenient port is Beira, the distance from there to Bulawayo being 675 miles, as opposed to 1362 from Cape Town; to Umtali 224, as opposed to 1713; to Salisbury 374, as opposed to 1663; and to the Victoria Falls 955, as opposed to 1642. The reader scarcely needs to be reminded that from all these ports there is a regular service of trains, under efficient management, and fitted out in the most up-to-date fashion.

THE SETTLER ASPECT.

Of the commercial attributes of these portions of Southern, Eastern and Central Africa which are under the British aegis, it is almost superfluous at this time of day to speak. The enormous mineral wealth, the suitability of the soil for vegetables and crops of many descriptions, are matters of

The gold output in this vast country, eager for enterprise, shows a regular increase; and among other workable produce are silver, copper, lead, and coal. As regards agriculture, the fertile soil, the regular wet season, the ample rainfall, the cheap land, all conduce to put Rhodesia on an equal footing with the most productive of the British Colonies. The country has demonstrated its rich response to husbandry; cereals and root crops as well as tobacco, and cotton can be grown abundantly in every part; the climate is well adapted to market-gardening and fruit culture; and there can be no finer pasturage found for cattle, sheep, and goats. distance. Special arrangements have been made by the Harrison-Rennie Line with the Rhodesian and South African Railways, whereby they are enabled to quote for circular tours by the Victoria Falls at much reduced rates. The land-travel portion of these tours starts at Beira and concludes at Cape Town or Durban, or vice-versa, the rate being from £50 upwards (including, of course, the journey by sea). As addenda, it may be mentioned that arrangements have been made with other lines whereby travellers can tranship at Beira and return to London via the Red Sea and Marseilles.

GENERAL CONDITIONS.

Passage Money.—The rates of passage money include a free table, Stewards' and Stewardesses' fees, bedding, linen, and all requisite cabin furniture; but do not include wine, spirits, or beer. Passages are booked only on the express condition that no liability attaches to the shipowners by reason of any detention or delay in the sailing of the steamer; and in the event of any such detention or delay passengers are required to defray their own expenses.

Sailing Dates.—While every effort is made to adhere to the advertised sailing dates, the shipowners reserve the right to make any alterations or omit any ports of call they may deem necessary. The advertised dates are approximate and no responsibility is accepted in the event of delay.

Quarantine.—In the event of a steamer being detained in quarantine, passengers will be charged at the rate of 10s per day First Class, and 7s 6d per day Second Class for their maintenance during their detention.

Payment of Fare.—All passage money is payable in advance. No berth can be considered engaged until half passage money is paid, and the whole of the passage money must be paid before passengers can embark. The shipowners to have a lien on the baggage of passengers for any amounts due to or disbursed by the shipowners or their agents on behalf of passengers.

Passengers not embarking after having engaged a passage will forfeit the passage money deposited. In the event, however, of a passenger being unavoidably detained, the passage will be transferred to a subsequent steamer of the Line, provided sufficient notice be given of inability to proceed in the first intended steamer.

THE HARRISON-RENNIE LINE

Sole Use of Cabin.—Any passenger wishing to reserve for himself the sole use of any cabin can do so by paying an amount equal to half-fare for each unoccupied berth. When the presence of children entails the sole use of a four-berth cabin, the amount paid must be not less than two-and-a-half full fares. Where the extra fare has not been paid for the sole use of a cabin the shipowners reserve the right of filling the unoccupied berth or berths at any time during the voyage.

Second Class.—The shipowners will, as far as possible, allot passengers the berths selected, but if absolutely necessary to enable the vessel to carry her full complement of second class passengers, they reserve the right to rearrange the berthing when passengers join the steamer. Returns Tickets are issued at reduced rates, and are available for one year.

In the event of a return ticket being taken, and the return portion not used, a refund will be made of the difference between the amount paid and the single fare, less commission charges.

Re-Booking.—Passengers having taken single tickets and re-booking within twelve months will be allowed a reduction of 10 per cent. off the single fare on their producing evidence as to their previous journey to the agents of the Line.

Children under fifteen years of age are carried at one-sixteenth of the adult fare for each year or part of a year of their age. Separate berths are not guaranteed for children paying less than half the adult fare.

Infants under twelve months are carried free, but any milk or special patent food required for them must be supplied by their parents.

A child under twelve years of age will be carried except in the charge of an adult passenger.

Children are not entitled to a seat at the saloon table at ordinary meal times. Separate meals are provided for them at different hours, particulars of which will be intimated by the stewardesses at the beginning of the voyage.

Servants.—Fares for servants travelling with their employers will be quoted on application. Servants travelling Second Class are allowed to wait on their masters or mistresses during the day, and nurse-maids may take their meals at the First Class Children's Table at the same time as the children.

Waiting at Ports of Call.—Passengers proceeding from England to East Coast Ports may live on board the ocean steamer while in Durban, or, if they wish, they may live ashore at their own expense. Passengers waiting at any Port of Call to embark on any connecting steamer must bear their own expenses on shore. Passengers may break their journey at Durban or Cape Town and proceed by a subsequent steamer, provided arrangements are made at the time of booking the passage.

Passengers for Ports at which the steamers do not call must bear their own expenses while waiting at the Port of transshipment.

Infectious Diseases.—Passengers' attention is particularly called to the following regulations:—The shipowners reserve the right of isolating any passenger found to have contracted infection from a communicable disease, and in such case will require payment of the extra fare required for the sole use of a cabin, in addition to all expenses entailed by extra attendance, &c. In default of such payment, such passenger will be put ashore before the steamer sails, or at the next port of call. In the event of extra accommodation not being available, the shipowners reserve the right of landing such passengers at the first or any port of call, all extra expenses thereby entailed to be paid by the passenger.

Caseships.—Particulars can be had on application to the principal agents or to John T. Rennie, Son & Co., London.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Wireless Telegraphy.—The steamers "Ingoma," "Intaba," "Inanda," and "Inkol" are fitted with Marconi's Wireless Telegraphy. The "Inanda" and "Inkol" were the first passenger steamers calling at South African Ports to be fitted, the installation being made in 1902. Passengers by these steamers can communicate with their friends on shore some time after leaving port. The rates are:—

Between steamer and shore, United Kingdom,	Before arrival at destination.
Between steamer and shore, South Africa,	10d per word
	11d per word

Table.—An excellent table is provided, the menu being liberal and of the very best quality. The steamer provides every requisite for the Saloon table, exclusive of wines, spirits, beer, &c., which can, however, be purchased on board at moderate prices.

Cabins.—The new steamer "Ingoma," carrying only First Class passengers, has single-berth, two-berth, three-berth, and four-berth rooms, all fitted with wardrobes, heaters, etc., also electric fans for the use of which no extra charge is made.

The First Class Cabins on the "Intaba," "Inanda," and "Inkosi" are fitted for two persons, and are unusually large and spacious, being elegantly fitted up with all requisites, and are on the spar and bridge decks amid-ships.

The "Intaba" and "Inanda" also have large four-berth cabins, suitable for families. The "Intaba's" First Class Cabins are fitted with chests of drawers and wardrobes.

Second Class, there are two and four-berth rooms on the "Intaba," "Inanda," and "Inkosi."

Saloons, Etc.—The First Class Dining Saloons are all situated amid-ships, and the Second Class aft.

The steamers also have handsome and comfortable music and smoking rooms. The "Ingoma" in addition, has a children's room, conveniently situated.

Baggage.—All adult First Class Passengers are allowed 40 cubic feet of baggage free, and Second Class Passengers 20 cubic feet. The allowance for children is in proportion to the fare paid, while servants are allowed 20 cubic feet only.

Excess Rates.—Excess baggage is charged for at the rate of 1s 6d per cubic foot to Cape Town, Durban, Delagoa Bay, Beira, and Chinde from London. All dues on excess baggage are payable by the Passenger, and must be settled on embarkation. All baggage, whether in the cabin or hold, is included in the allowance, except deck chairs, small handbags, and bundles of rug.

Every Package for the hold must have the Passenger's name and destination distinctly painted or otherwise permanently marked on it, in addition to the steamer's labels which can be obtained through any of the agents.

Shipowners' Responsibility.—Whilst every care is taken of baggage in no circumstances will the shipowners be responsible for loss, theft, damage or deterioration. Passengers should, therefore, personally look after the shipment and landing of their baggage themselves.

The following are examples of menus, which will give a fair idea of the style of table provided:—

The "Intaba" and "Inanda" also have large four-berth cabins, suitable for families.

The "Intaba's" First Class Cabins are fitted with chests of drawers and wardrobes.

Second Class, there are two and four-berth rooms on the "Intaba," "Inanda," and "Inkosi."

Saloons, Etc.—The First Class Dining Saloons are all situated amidships, and the Second Class aft.

The steamers also have handsome and comfortable music and smoking rooms.

The "Ingoma" in addition, has a children's room, conveniently situated.

Baggage.—All adult First Class Passengers are allowed 40 cubic feet of baggage free, and Second Class Passengers 30 cubic feet. The allowance for children is in proportion to the fare paid, while servants are allowed 20 cubic feet only.

Excess Rates.—Excess baggage is charged for at the rate of 1s 6d per cubic foot to Cape Town, Durban, Delagoa Bay, Beira, and Chinde from London. All dues on excess baggage are payable by the Passenger, and must be settled on embarkation. All baggage, whether in the cabin or hold, is included in the allowance, except deck chairs, small handbags, and bundles of rugs.

Every Package for the hold must have the Passenger's name and destination distinctly painted or otherwise permanently marked on it, in addition to the steamer's labels which can be obtained through any of the agents.

Shipowners' Responsibility.—Whilst every care is taken of baggage in no circumstances will the shipowners be responsible for loss, theft, damage or detention. Passengers should, therefore, personally look after the shipment and landing of their baggage themselves.

The shipowners undertake no responsibility with regard to any property passengers may carry in their cabins, and cannot be responsible for the safety of jewellery, plate, or other valuables. The Captain will, if requested, place such articles in the ship's safe, making a charge of 5s per cent. on the declared value (minimum charge 2s 6d), and the steamer will not be responsible for more than the declared value in the event of the articles going astray. This charge, however, does not cover the loss of the articles, except through theft or negligence. Sea risks should be insured against, in addition, in the ordinary manner.

Labels.—Every package which is not to be shipped as cargo must bear the steamer's label—"Wanted on the Voyage," "Not wanted on the Voyage," or "Cabin" as the case may be. Cargo, however, must not be labelled, but must bear a distinctive mark, stencilled or cut into the case.

Every package not absolutely necessary in the cabin should be sent to the Hold, when it can be had up once a week if necessary.

Access to Hold Baggage.—Baggage labelled "Wanted on the Voyage," and carried in the Hold can be got at each Friday during the voyage, at stated hours, particulars of which can be obtained from the Second Officer of the steamer.

Cabin Trunks.—Cabin trunks should not measure more than 32 in. x 18 in. x 14 in. in order that they may be kept under the berths, and each passenger is allowed one such box in the cabin.

Tobacco, Wines, Etc.—Amplic stocks of the best wines, beers, spirits, etc., are kept on board the steamers and can be purchased at moderate prices. No wines, etc., can be taken on board by passengers for use on the voyage without special permission. In such cases a charge will be made for Corkage accordingly.

Tobacco, cigars, and cigarettes of the best qualities may also be had on board.

Wine accounts must be settled weekly in cash—British Sterling.

South African Bank Notes can only be accepted in payment at a small discount, and Transvaal or Foreign Coinage cannot be accepted.

Surgeons.—An experienced Surgeon is carried by each passenger steamer, and he will, if desired, render his services free of charge to passengers for any complaint or illness contracted on board. The cargo steamers do not carry Surgeons.

Letters and Telegrams can be addressed to the care of any of the agents of the Line at Ports at which the steamer is to call, and it is very necessary that the name of the steamer should be distinctly written on all communications. A list of these agents will be found at the end of this book.

Caution to Passengers.—Goods of a dangerous nature.—Any person taking articles of a dangerous nature on board, incurs a penalty of at least £100, and in case of fatal results is liable to a criminal prosecution. Passengers are specially cautioned against bringing matches or other dangerous articles in their luggage.

Drafts.—Passengers can obtain drafts on John T. Rennie & Sons, Durban, for amounts not exceeding £50, at par, payable at sight, on application at the London office.

Bicycles.—If packed in crates or cases Bicycles are accepted as Passenger's Baggage. They cannot, however, be carried unless so packed.

Firearms and Ammunition.—Firearms and cartridges can only be shipped by special arrangement.

Dogs.—Very stringent restrictions are placed on the importation of dogs into South Africa, and a Permit must be obtained from the Agricultural Department before they will be allowed to land.

Special arrangements must be made with the agents about their passage, rates for which will be quoted on application to the London agents. Passengers must provide kennels, chains and food for the voyage.

THE HARRISON-RENNIE LINE

The shipowners undertake no responsibility with regard to any property passengers may carry in their cabins, and cannot be responsible for the safety of jewellery, plate, or other valuables. The Captain will, if requested, place such articles in the ship's safe, making a charge of 4s per cent. on the declared value (minimum charge 2s 6d), and the steamer will not be responsible for more than the declared value in the event of the articles going astray. This charge, however, does not cover the loss of the articles, except through theft or negligence. Sea risks should be insured against, in addition, in the ordinary manner.

Labels.—Every package which is not to be shipped as cargo must bear the steamer's labels—"Wanted on the Voyage," "Not wanted on the Voyage," or "Cabin" as the case may be. Cargo, however, must not be labelled, but must bear a distinctive mark, stencilled or cut into the case. Every package not absolutely necessary in the cabin should be sent to the Hold, when it can be had up once a week if necessary.

Access to Hold Baggage.—Baggage labelled "Wanted on the Voyage," and carried to the Hold can be got at each Friday during the voyage, at stated hours, particulars of which can be obtained from the Second Officer of the steamer.

Cabin Trunks.—Cabin trunks should not measure more than 32 in. x 18 in. x 14 in. in order that they may be kept under the berths, and each passenger is allowed one such box in the cabin.

Tobacco, Wine, Etc.—Ample stocks of the best wines, beers, spirits, etc., are kept on board the steamers and can be purchased at moderate prices. No wines, etc., can be taken on board by passengers for use on the voyage without special permission. In such cases a charge will be made for Corkage accordingly.

Tobacco, cigars, and cigarettes of the best qualities may also be had on board.

Wine accounts must be settled weekly in cash—British Sterling.

South African Bank Notes can only be accepted in payment at a small discount, and Transvaal or Foreign Coinage cannot be accepted.

Surgeons.—An experienced Surgeon is carried by each passenger steamer, and he will, if desired, render his services free of charge to passengers for any complaint or illness contracted on board. The cargo steamers do not carry Surgeons.

THE HARRISON-RENNIE LINE

Letters and Telegrams can be addressed to the care of any of the agents of the Line at Ports at which the steamer is to call, and it is very necessary that the name of the steamer should be distinctly written on all communications.

A list of these agents will be found at the end of this book.

Caution to Passengers.—Goods of a dangerous nature.—Any person taking articles of a dangerous nature on board, incurs a penalty of at least £100, and in case of fatal results is liable to a criminal prosecution.

Passengers are specially cautioned against bringing matches or other dangerous articles in their luggage.

Drafts.—Passengers can obtain drafts on John T. Rennie & Sons, Durban, for amounts not exceeding £50, at par, payable at sight, on application at the London office.

Bicycles.—If packed in crates or cases Bicycles are accepted as Passenger's Baggage. They cannot, however, be carried unless so packed.

Firearms and Ammunition.—Firearms and cartridges can only be shipped by special arrangement.

Dogs.—Very stringent restrictions are placed on the importation of dogs into South Africa, and a permit must be obtained from the Agricultural Department before they will be allowed to land.

Special arrangements must be made with the agents about their passage, rates for which will be quoted on application to the London agents. Passengers must provide kennels, chains and food for the voyage.
