MINUTES

The ruling in Mr. Patten's case in 21891 is quite definite, but in view of the effect indicated by the C.P. it is perhaps a matter for reconsideration.

Mr. Patten telephoned about this & I asked him to write if they wished to challenge the ruling. His point was that, as the man keeps his ~~concentration~~ deal, the passage of the efficiency bar is regarded as having effect from the day when he first drew pay.

With reference to your minute of 18th June regarding the method of assessment of contributions to the East African Widows and Orphans' Pension Scheme in cases where approval has been given for an officer to pass an efficiency bar in his scale of pay, our view was that as the passing of the efficiency bar (assuming that the officer's incremental date remains the same) is antedated the date at a given moment in both of the scales and in virtue of the latter should begin to contribute at the higher rate from his incremental date.

The result of the decision given in your minute would be that the man would lose the advantage of a higher rate of pension for his widow if he did not pass the formal notice of efficiency in his scale of pay before the formal notice of efficiency in his scale of pay was issued, and the fund would lose the amount of his contribution for this period which would be unsound from the actuarial point of view.

Perhaps you would not mind reconsidering the matter from this point of view.
