Mr. Strachey

East Africa Trade and Information Office.

The task of "vetting" the candidates was left to Colonel Franklin and me. It has given much trouble, and I fear that the invitations to serve on the Advisory Committee have been delayed in consequence. Drafts on that point now annexed.

The staff question has been much complicated by the withdrawal of two excellent men - Colonel Collings Wells and Major Cote - who have decided on a private venture for marketing East African Products. The "possibles" of all grades that remain are:

Mr. Stack, late Assistant Chief Secretary, Tanganyika Territory. Has not actually applied but Mr. Green thinks he would like it.

Mr. E. B. Evans, formerly Assistant Secretary, East Africa Protectorate.

Major Dale - Army and Commerce.

Major Corbet Ward, retired from post of Staff Officer, Defence Force, Kenya.

Mr. Smith, late Private Secretary to Sir G. Archer in Uganda.

Mr. E. B. Evans is a member of an East African Agency firm (J. A. Hatch & Company) and should be one of the strongest candidates. But Colonel Franklin and I have independently formed a doubt as to his personality which makes us reluctant to put him forward if other arrangements can be made.

Major Dale's commercial experience and personality (I have met and like him) would be a great asset, but he does not know East Africa. The others have no commercial experience. Major Corbet Ward's strong point is knowledge of East Africa and ability to get on with people. Also his office experience would be very useful.

My dear Leggett,

I am very glad to learn from your letter of yesterday that you are prepared to serve on the contemplated Advisory Committee in connection with the East African Trade and Information Office.

I am very much interested in the information you give me about sugar growing in South Africa; this development is all to the good. The figures with which you have furnished me will be very useful as an illustration of the advantages of Imperial Preference. I will certainly not mention the actual name of the firm, but one could not want a better example of the mutual advantage to be derived from encouraging inter-Imperial trade by tariff concessions than that which you have furnished.

Suggestions as to Organisation.

The objects of the office are detailed very clearly in the Report of the East Africa Commission, pages 67-70.

I would, however, submit one point has been overlooked, which is that the office should also so work that it should be the centre for all East African interests.

As one means to this end I would like an advisory committee to the office to be formed (as is the case in the Department of Overseas Trade Organisation).

My suggestion is that this committee should consist of the members of the Joint East African Board, as the Board is, or should be, representative of all interests, and the Chairman to be a senior official of the Colonial Office.

The Committee should be able to help the office and the office should be able to help the Committee - besides it would ensure continued interest in the office by a very influential body of men in London.

In the rough estimates, provision was made for the staff to consist of

1 Deputy Commissioner .....	£1,000
1 Office Superintendent .....	£600/700
2 Stenographer-clerks .....	£400
Commissionaire .....	£150

7. Before dealing with the applications for employment I would ask whether it is the intention of the Colonial Office to staff this/

this new office,

(a) By men who have been civil servants in East Africa and are now retired on pension?

(b) By men now serving as civil servants in East Africa and who are anxious to anticipate their normal retirement, or are due or nearly due to retire?

8. In any case I think the estimates will have to be amended as I consider the work will have to be more divided than was at first realized - experience showing the necessity for dealing with a great variety of subjects and enquiries. My opinion is that a man, fully qualified in every way for deputy, would be worth £2,000 and in all probability would be better paid by doing other than Government work.

9. I am therefore putting up two schemes for staffing the office.

10. In drawing up these schemes I have constantly in my mind the desire to budget for a 28,500 expenditure at the most, as I am sure many unforeseen expenses will arise.

11. Schemes for Staff.

(a)	1 Deputy	£700	to 800
	1 Assistant - do - and Liaison Officer with D.O.T.	2400	450
	1 Secretary	2300	400
	Stenographers, & Commissionaire	2550	550
(b)	Deputy	£700	800
	Asst. Deputy	2850	750
	Chief Index & Billing Clerk	2250	250
	Stenographers & Commissionaire	2550	550

by £25

£15

In explanation of Scheme (a) I must revert again to the objects of the office and the policy best to carry them out.

In order to compel efficiency I am anxious that the closest liaison with, and full advantage of the ramifications of, the Department of Overseas Trade should be at the quick disposal of the office.

For the past 6 years information in respect to development in East Africa, costs of production, harbour and railway works, finance, banking, credits, commercial openings, status reports, etc., etc., have been amassed in the East African Section of the Department of Overseas Trade and experience shows that in regard to commercial and other investment both the export and import business overlap and during my last 6 months' interview I could not say what enquiries should have been made at 35, Old Queen Street, and what at the new office, if the latter had been in existence.

I really think that in order to make the office of full use, the East African Section of the Department of Overseas Trade, with its pertinent records, should be part and parcel of the new office. I have said so already, and I cannot see why it should not be. It would be necessary that the Department of Overseas Trade should agree to the officer who has been dealing here with all East African matters should become one of the staff at the new office. I can see a Treasury objection, because he (Mr. J.W. Bridger) is also chief of the Indian Section, D.O.T., and his transfer would mean his promotion to the rank of Senior Intelligence Officer, but the objection should be met by the office paying half his salary.

of £800 to £900 per year consolidated - say a cost to the office of £400 to £450.

The D.O.T. work could then go on as smoothly as at present and the whole personal connection would not be divided - the officer, having complete knowledge of the work of the Department of Overseas Trade and its Trades Sections and foreign representatives and organisation generally, would be able to deal with financial and commercial enquiries in the way they have been done during the past 5 months that the officer has worked with me here. The Treasury would also be relieved of all the subordinate staff work now engaged in the East African Section, as well as 50% of Mr. Bridgen's salary, and the office would have inexpensive service.

Another consideration is the possibility of interchanging this officer with the D.O.T. deputy at Nairobi during the period of the latter's leave - this could not be done except by using a D.O.T. officer, as the Nairobi office is a D.O.T. institution.

I may say the officer mentioned knows a certain amount of the Territory, having been on the Army Staff in Kenya and Tanganyika during the War.

I have in a previous memo. stressed that in the deputy we must look, primarily for a "sahib" with "character"; he should have, as far as possible, a knowledge of the countries represented; he should have personal knowledge of planting conditions and products, as on the agricultural development the future of these countries depend; he should also be of undoubted social standing.

The actual working out of financial schemes and commercial enquiries from both standpoints, the technical investigations/

investigations of markets, the opening for East African products in foreign countries, office management, etc., etc., would be carried on by the D.O.T. officer, with the full force of the D.O.T. organisation. behind him.

My experience tells me that the Dominion offices in London miss many opportunities of making the best use of the D.O.T. organisation, and in fact in many cases work overlaps unnecessarily, and I am extremely anxious that this office shall be an example of efficient work done with a minimum expense.

Under any other arrangement I foresee that I will have to duplicate a very large amount of the information my office sends forward, which all means money.

If the above arrangement is sanctioned, I would then be able to increase the staff by the inclusion of a man secretary - he should be one with some knowledge of East Africa - be of undoubted social standing - should superintend the office routine, keep accounts, etc., - he would also act as Secretary to the proposed Advisory Committee, etc.

(b) If (a) is not acceptable, I will only be able to employ 2 men - the assistant should be a man with as large a commercial experience as possible and I would have to train him in D.O.T. and Government work as much as possible before I sail for Africa. He should be of such personality as to make as close liaison with the D.O.T. as possible.

I would have to increase the girl staff by an index and filing clerk.

12. My budget under both schemes is as follows:-

"A"	£	£
Commissioner	500	500
Deputy Commissioner	700	800
Asst. Deputy & Liaison Officer, D.C.T.	400	450
Secretary	300	400

The office accommodation will provide a room for East African visitors with access to East African papers, shipping lists, lists of East African people on leave, notices, etc., also writing accommodation.

I hope also that one of the private offices will be large enough to serve as a Committee Room. In East Africa I have found it very useful to provide a neutral ground for meetings between bodies of possibly conflicting interests.

On the opening of the office I would suggest that the Colonial Office should authorise a statement to the press on the following lines:- i.e. "that it has been decided to open a Trade and Information Bureau <sup>under the aegis of</sup> ~~to be run~~ by the Governments of East African Dependencies, full advantage to be taken also of the organisation of the Department of Overseas Trade to facilitate East African enquiries as to Dominion and Overseas markets for their produce".

Informing her that Lord
 Cranworth is at the present in Kenya <sup>to the north</sup> and suggesting that Enshai is somewhat pressing the Amery is pushing the fact that he is to communicate with her Cranworth before he leaves the Colony
 yours truly
