170 1st April Your letter of 27th March and the enclosed copy of the 11th paragraph of our difficulties as regards the Native Taxation are firstly highly controversial matter of principle and inevitable delay in passing through the secondly, land tax and the proposed additional non-native expenditure in position of income tax, therefore, such a proposal tax must be based on previous years returns and it will be difficult to insist on returns relating to periods previous to enactment of the proposed fourthly, the effect of special expert staff to deal with income tax proposals, 1940, were prepared to submit our estimate with additional non-native and native taxation provisions, but I am authorized to notice it since various persons to keep records of income secondly, expert staff is appointed at present, it is well known that revenue estimates may not be reduced fourthly, an estimate of 200,000 from additional native taxation is calculated as a reserve for expenditure for the benefit of native development though such expenditure is not actually incurred during the current financial year, native have been compelled to make use of non-native assistance because of difficulty in raising retrospective assessment of land value for purpose of land transfer tax. Your under above conditions and require revised budget balancing at 20,200,000, if the non-native taxation bringing in 220,000 non-native land and income tax, and the above figures all converted at the exchange rate of the pound hence large apparent increase in sterling, a similar case if you agree will submit budget of these lines to Legislative Council and will proceed to take any opportunity that will occur for discussing the matter.
