Please see the marked passages in this letter from Colonel Theriger. The outlook on the northern frontier of the G.A.P. is far from pleasing. Sir P. Gironard will be home in March, & Colonel Theriger will be here early in April. A very early opportunity should, I think, be taken to bring them together, to discuss the northern frontier question in all its bearings, and to get a clear line of policy laid down.

As to transport, we have just heard from Sir P. Gironard by telegraph, (~~and~~ ~~death~~ as the result of Colonel Theriger's representations on reaching Nairdi), that he wants permission to spend £1500 on the purchase of camels early in the coming financial year. We have applied to the Treasury (proposing a method of finding the money). If we have any difficulty with them over it, we must use the information in the latter part of the letter.

I agree what seems to be mainly required is a resourceful transport officer of the type of Capt. Condon, who was Asst. Transport Officer in N. Virginia & accompanied Major Jurgens on his survey of the Abegweit frontier.

Assuming Col. Thieriger's statements to be even approximately correct, the whole business is discreditable to the Gov. He can ask readily enough for money for other things, and here, for want of small expenditure waste in charge orders being incurred. Moreover in a matter the cause for which he has nothing of the things reported here.

This, certainly, seems unsatisfactory, but we must hear what the Gov. has to say before we make up our minds.

I am very anxious and I don't like even waiting till Col. Thieriger returns in the middle of April.
Give the Treasury all the information and press strongly (though it cuts badly across my unfinished fight with them on E. A. P. estimates).
I expect we shall have to act as at A. on p. 2 of Thieriger all this is very discreditable to Sir P. Girouard.

The Treasury have given us authority to spend the £1500 on combs without our having to use his letter (See Treaty Perhaps it would be well to register his letter for record, pending Sir P.

Girouard's arrival. When he comes, the question can be taken up in advance of

Dear Father As I am now busy of how I will write in continuation of my previous letter from Berwick and send it off in mail at Mayale.

1. The reason for our being stranded here is, that with our eyes with their transport could have deserted and presumably gone back to their own country. We had previously had difficulties with them further back, but tried it over. The situation might have been very serious indeed, as they might quite well have deserted when we were in a waterless tract or the tribes around us might have been actually hostile. The whole difficulty has arisen from having no organized troops, though the necessity for this has been repeatedly pointed out. To allow troops to look about in such countries as this and to be dependent on unorganized and unreliable tribes, is doubtfully to invite disaster. Some of us hope to push through with a few men and leave the troops and as many stores as possible here.

2. We left Berwick 6th November & reaching approximately 10-15 miles E of 42nd long reached this place on November 21st having stopped at various places en route in order to interview Chiefs.

3. The Murchison country runs approximately from Hole Rapids (Suba?) to some point between Logh and Dala from there in a line towards EL WAK (they come to about 2 days from EL WAK) & thence to Hole Rapids.

4. The country is undoubtedly in a very bad state constant raids are carried on against Ullibean to the south, from to the north, fullamam round

Date. In fact we can thoroughly engage all gungwe about them in his report. The whole trouble arises from the Galla section of the Murchison, who have come from within Murchison with rifles and powder, and then not only the remainder of the Murchison entirely them, but all the neighbouring tribes.

These Galla are subdivided into two sections the worst of them are under a gentleman called Shiro, one of the Mullahe men, he is the only chief who refused to have anything to do with us either by interview or letter, and everyone is afraid that nothing but force will effect to him.
The next worst are under three Chiefs who all came is to see us. As they rightly put it the Government have never occupied the country & they are only doing what has been done to them. They themselves say they would welcome government control, but it is no use sending less than 100 men into the country otherwise they could not ensure for the consequence. The third section would partially welcome peace. The remainder of the Murchison would not welcome settled government but state they would help us with men & cattle. The situation though

The Galla is in some respects a great deal more satisfactory than we have a right to expect for

1. The Galla do not seem to have increased their followers though they have probably increased their rifles.
2. They are confined to a comparatively small but good area of the country, which they would probably be very anxious to leave.
3. There is still in the country a distinct belief in the power of the government and they are open that although they may kill other Galla they would not touch a soldier.

45. They are a very intelligent quick people, they less warlike and inclined to trade for us the Mullahe Galla. They would therefore be more likely to realize the gains of 58. At present the religious element is in favour of peace

27. Each section of the Galla is about 200-400.
If we now do nothing I think there is a very grave chance of despair setting in amongst our supplies, and of their being driven to join the lawless element. Things cannot stay as they are, they must inevitably get worse or better. I think it quite possible that if a Political Officer with a company of infantry and a section of the Camel Corps was to patrol the country for a year or so, everyone would come into line. To send him with a very few men would be deliberately to invite trouble. If this was done I believe it possible to avoid an expedition.
The Officer both Civil & Military would have to be specially selected as he must know just how far to go; he must necessarily have a very free hand, and everyone must realize that in the end force will be used if peaceful methods fail. I can see no other way, short of abandoning the country (which is unthinkable) by which you can avoid a very dangerous situation. This is the view I shall put before the Government if he asks for my opinion. It is the view not only of myself but also of the other members of our party, as also of the Somalis themselves. Action on similar lines has also been recommended by all those who have had previous experience of the country such as Guyon, Mathews & Williams.

The tribe being round Dole which is a very fertile country have been forced to take refuge in Abyssinian territory, they now being little by little disappointed at us not establishing a post prefer to migrate to the Italian side. They are not a very great loss, peaceful cultivators & savages, but it is not pleasant to have to replace them that we can promise nothing in the way of protection.

Burke December 5th We arrived here yesterday. At Dole is about 4 hrs distance a few Tigri' hunters were reported. As we had only 6 regular soldiers with us it was not worth trying to round them up. Practically speaking there is no situation up here with the Abyssinians to provide always that general ^{country} does not set in in Abyssinia cause any anxiety. The Abyssinian troops would shoot the Tigri' at sight and we shall never be able to prevent a few packages coming over, but beyond buying a stray tallow from our friendly tribes they do not interfere with them. The Gama Chiefs have come in to ask leave to countermand the Murchison they say they can raise about 4000 men and 500 rifles. Now comes the difficulty of the government & especially of the officer who intervenes them up here. If he says "Do not send"

to have no means of recovering their looted stock or parting them against further raids. If he says "Raid if you like" he is really letting loose 4000 undisciplined savages who will be most unlikely to take on the real aggressors, who are well armed & far away, but will perhaps & murder the more peaceful tribes who live between them and the Galla. Perhaps you will be able to supply the right answer to make to the ^{Galla} Galla. We have also had news that a rather serious raid had been made by the Murchison Zuleic on Wajeir and that they are now occupying the wells. If this is true it may develop into a most serious situation, and as you know the No. 2 are the most powerful Somali tribe here & could put some 5000 men in the field. They have twice been ordered by Political Officers to evacuate Wajeir. It is possible they may go without trouble but if they refuse what then?

Mayala December 12th

We have arrived here at last. This is the only place in the frontier as far as I have seen that is fit for a permanent station. It is very well situated & ought to be healthy. The place & buildings seem to reflect great credit on English but there does not seem to have been much done to it since. The Wajeir affair does not seem so serious as I believe they are paying blood money for the 16 or 17 killed, but whether they will leave the wells seems doubtful. Having seen the Gama men can quite ^{be} ^{of} ^{some} ^{value} ^{to} ^{us} ⁱⁿ ^{the} ^{future} ^{if} ^{we} ^{can} ^{get} ^{them} ^{to} ^{stay} ⁱⁿ ^{the} ^{country} ^{and} ^{not} ^{go} ^{to} ^{the} Marsabit Dec 27th I was unable to send this letter from Moyale so will close it here. Our Government Sapeis was held up on the main road just outside Moyale by 8 Abyssinian soldiers, we marched them off & put them in the Moyale guardroom. That such a thing can occur says little for our prestige up there and though undoubtably the fray-matches will express criticism it shows how they will try things on. The transport arrangements, or such as they were have completely broken down in this country. They have entirely had had luck as regards disease but the main factor may be put down to ignorance of everything to do with camp & lack of organization and supervision. Out of 200 fowls here about 190 have died in the last month or so and this is the third time that the transport has been completely wiped out. At present time we have officers scattered all over country setting down working for transport & cannot be obtained except at a tremendous expense. As far as we know the following are some necessities.

1. The Kibab garrison should most certainly be in January; if they can supply them with about even which there will be some difficulty it is all they can do.
2. Loder Symonds with one original escort is wandering somewhere on the frontier, we have heard nothing since we left him at Dada.
3. Fitz Gerald at Soronle is due to rejoin his & go on leave. Owing to lack of transport we have to send a Libysian through Naualie & tell him to buy camels & return by Subahau.

- 57
4. Ginnshaw who was to have relieved Fitz Gerald by now, has to the best of our belief been waiting at the Gasso River but doing nothing for a month. He will now have to be pressed via Subaland.
 5. Moyale post was to have been relieved in January from Soronle and they have only a few weeks respite in any case.
 6. They have called on Moyale garrison to furnish troops for Wajeir, this means leaving Moyale with no officers at all, and on the one cannot get through from Naualie.
 7. Garrison at Wajeir should be relieved & sent home almost immediately there is no prospect of being able to do this.
- The heart of the matter is that the transport question here is one of the most difficult and complicated in the whole Empire and would tax the ingenuity and organizing powers of an expert staff. As it is it is done by the DC or ADC who happens to be here. Moore knows better than myself how hard they have worked; but as they have neither the time nor the expert knowledge required, it has got to cost nothing, the result is what might have been expected. There is not I believe a Veterinary Officer in the country with a specialist knowledge of camels. It is no uncommon thing, in fact it is the general rule to find members of 8, 10 or even more hours a day being continuously carried out and officers spend most of the short time they have taken in long distances The camels in the world will stand the end they must give out. I reckon that the mortality of camels of business regards privileges, has exceeded anything that has ever occurred in active service where the transport cannot generally be the first consideration that this is an economical method in the long run as I think out of the question; we have already taxed the Rendile in Camels to the utmost limit and must now buy, which really means compulsory purchase.

Last year in order to feed Sardinia, the Det Camps had to suddenly purchase camels in Svalaland at a cost of about 20,000 for the whole Empire; we have just had to buy outright 4,000 Camels to bring us down here, this was in order that there should be a few camels available here. In 1910 Mayala was in half a year gone, practically all through the year, the Camel Corps had no gear for the Camels and practically starved Sardinia until the above mentioned Convoy was sent up was leaving us what they could purchase from the Italians & had about no clothing. Things look like repeating themselves unless a big outlay is incurred - Although the transport arrangements are nominally purely a civil affair I consider that they come well within my province to report on; it is no use explaining to starving soldiers that their officers are not responsible and soldiers must be kept properly supplied when it is only a matter of spending money and not owing to active service conditions. After all it is not for any military consideration that they are kept in these places and you cannot say you were not warned that to starve the east before embarking on the new scheme. There are many most serious military problems in this country which must be fairly and quietly faced. All of them are probably capable of solution without any great difficulty, but some of them can be lightly brushed aside without the risk of complete breakdown. I shall of course report fully in my official report but but as this will be some time reaching you I wish to place before you my opinion -

These are ~~two~~ rather disquieting letters from Colonel Chesiger. You will see that a copy of the longer one has been sent to Mr. Read.
 Between the two of them, I hope that we shall get a trustworthy account of the military situation in the E. A. P. It is impossible to feel comfortable about it at present.

I gather that Col. Chesiger was at the time of writing just starting up to the Abyssinian frontier.

Dear Butler

Since writing my last letter to you I have received official information from the O.C Nairobi saying that owing to trouble with the Wakamba all available troops in Nairobi have been ordered to Machakos. Out of these companies, namely three, i.e. the Abyssinian, Kavirondo, Nyasa, they are able to muster 100 men; this is what makes the matter serious, as if we had had two properly trained companies I would have felt no anxiety. I am leaving Broadway here in case any more news turns up; and if all be well he can follow me in three or four days. Something will have to be done in this country unless we are going to be content to sit on a powder magazine & smoke pipes until something happens. I have asked for 1200 immediately to buy ammunitions for the armed corps. I hear one of our chief supporters at Sereniti has been murdered, and we are apparently to take no steps to assist justice but are to look on with 200 troops. I have at last got written instructions from the Provincial Commissioner for the D.C. & D.C. Sereniti. I enclose a copy for your information. I think Mr. Billi Ibrahim of the Aulika is going to give trouble; from all accounts he is a thorough-paced scoundrel and is beginning to discover that we are afraid of him. I hear the prison of the Wakawala trouble was one of these careless matters summed against a white man's troopers battle & hunting himself; they always seem to be doing these silly things. From this place to Sereniti it takes the same time as from Southampton to the Cape, how funny it would be to

Dear Butler,

It may interest you to hear my views as to how things military are going on out here. When I was at Kisumu I received a letter from Girouard dated Sep. 27 giving his views on the N. Frontier question and enclosing a Memorandum on the subject from Breeding; you will have got this at the C.O. as Girouard says it was originally sent home to me.

The tenor appears to me to imply that he has been urged forward in a policy of expansion by the C.O. He states that since his return to the Protectorate he has become aware of the large number of arms coming into the country; but we have known of this for the last two years and before a man was moved, it is therefore no new problem complicating the situation. A year ago you will remember that the Governor guaranteed that no trouble could occur in the country, and that on this point I differed from him; no fresh situation has arisen, and yet now he seems to realise that the contingency is not only possible but indeed probable on a large scale if we try to disarm our Somali tribes. He states that there are two courses open: (1) Continue our policy of observation. (2) To withdraw. The second is clearly impossible. The first is what we have been doing and is what is gradually drifting us to the dangers of operations on a large scale for which we are totally unprepared. What is this policy of observation? As far as I can make out it is the placing of an officer in an isolated position where he has no means of enforcing any advice he may give. If the officer is a good one and has influence with the Somalis he may keep things quiescent for a considerable time, but some time a situation must come when he has either to take strong measures or climb down. It is all very nice talking of not interfering with tribal customs, but when

These customs consist chiefly of raiding, slave owning, and importing rifles. I do not see how an officer with troops at hand can sit still and permit things to go on without seriously impairing our prestige elsewhere.

One of our officers, Bois by name, has been observing for over a year at Serenli, he will shortly be home and probably knows more about the Merehan and Aulihan than anyone else. He is a thoroughly level headed capable man.

As far as I can gather it has now been left to me whether I move troops to Banissa and Dolo, I shall however not move in the matter until I have seen the Governor.

The troops, considering what they have been doing, are better than I expected. The Camel Corps will however require at least 75 camels immediately to put them in an efficient condition, and on this point I am writing to the Governor; in men all except one company are seriously below their strength. They nearly had trouble again with the Abyssinian Company in Nairobi; however they have now sent back some 22; ten months ^{ago} ~~ago~~ recommended ~~it~~ it. Two Companies, the Kavirondo and Nyassa, are all or nearly all recruits.

The difficulty of finding suitable officers of sufficient seniority and experience to command all these different detachments (there are now 6) is almost insuperable.

In Girouard's letter nothing is said about how Abyssinian raiding is to be stopped, Moyale with $\frac{1}{2}$ a company of infantry can clearly not do it, and you can scarcely kill a camel corps every year. What answer are we to make to the Italians when our tribes raid theirs? merely that this is a tribal custom with which we do not interfere; and are we to make the same answer to our friendly tribes who have been compulsorily helping us with transport, when they in their turn are raided?

You must remember that our situation here is ²³troublesome is more serious than even it was in Northern Somaliland; there we were based on the sea with the whole of the resources of India, Aden and England at our disposal at short notice. Here our sea base would be three weeks away under favourable favourable conditions, i.e. Kisumu to Serenli, and that in an unfavourable time, i.e. when the river was low, we should be cut off altogether. In Northern Somaliland ^{in a safe position} put ourselves was and is still merely a question of spending money, here you might spend as much as you liked and not be able to hasten things by a day.

I do not think there is any special immediate danger, there is however probably more than last year, as the tribes are naturally getting restless when they see that we have troops there and do nothing; you ought not however be surprised if you are forced into action.

I am now informed unofficially that the Governor has promised the settlers that three companies shall remain at Nairobi; you will remember that at the Conference he stated that no troops at all were required there; I know of nothing in the military situation which has necessitated any such complete alteration of view.

I am sending a copy of this letter to Read at Nairobi and I would be much obliged if you would let Mr Fides see it, as I think that C.O. should thoroughly realise the situation.
