RAILWAY CAPITAL EXPENDITURE

States that Railway Ministry works that sum provided for "Machinery and Extension of Workshops" will be insufficient. A further sum of £220 will be required. Requests sanction to defray from capital account balance of £2,384.

~~Mr. G. Fiddler.~~ Mr. G. Fiddler.

The ^{approved} original estimate for "Machinery & Extension of Workshops" was £12,000, & when the Govt. saw some ^{additional} expenditure for £4973 worth of machinery, to be met from the money provided for shunting locomotives he asked for a full explanation of the disposal of the capital balance (£2628).

This came to 482 1/4 & the Govt. asked for an extra £5468 made this item. This has been approved on 2nd Jan. ^{General Manager} 5076 & now the Govt. wants an extra £922.

There doesn't seem to be much finality about Mr. Taylor's requirements) but there can be little doubt that he covered up fully & spent a great deal more than is available and he should have it clear to know the
