I understand that you have arrived in town after, I trust, a very pleasant journey from East Africa, and although I am sorry to hear that you were somewhat fatigued by your journey, and that you are somewhat busy on business matters, I am afraid

There are several points with regard to the development of Lake Rudolf, the solution of which seems to be far from simple, and of the great interest which you are taking in this matter, I am sure you will not be surprised to hear of my desire to discuss matters with you at an early date. I am sure that you will let us know when and where it would be convenient for you to meet us. If I may make a suggestion, I would say that there may be some advantage in fixing a meeting in this office where we should have all the papers referring to the general scheme of our disposal and could put before you anything you may want to see.

We have been working on this business now for such a transcendently long time that we are necessarily anxious to come to a definite decision one way or the other, and we are confident that matters will be furthered a good deal if we have an opportunity of discussing them quite frankly with you.

Very sincerely,
SARGENT & Co.
