

Abstract

A case of primary intracerebral haemorrhage complicated by cerebral abscess is presented with a review of the literature.