INFERNO OF FLAME.

Centre of Government Road and Harding Street Reduced to Wreckage.

PROVINCIAL CHANGE IN WIND.

The fire department breaks down in Nairobi on Saturday evening and the city is almost entirely gutted. It is believed to be the biggest blaze in the history of East Africa and certainly there has never previously been such devastation in the Kenya capital.

Many shops and offices in two streets were gutted, and so were the fire, started by a street vendor who was lighting a cigarette in the vicinity of several buildings on a street of the greatest importance. The fire was spreading up and down the pavement near the premises of the late J. J. J. Williams and his family.

It was very soon after the wind veered round and blew from the direction of Harding Street where a whole row of buildings, mostly three or four stories high, were situated. The fire was now directly against the houses of the late J. J. J. Williams and his family, which were completely gutted. The fire was now spreading up and down the pavement near the premises of the late J. J. J. Williams and his family.

WAITING FOR WATER.

The training of the Nairobi Fire Brigade was interrupted by a strike of the waterworks staff. The strike was caused by a dispute over the wages of the staff. The fire department was unable to get water for the fire and the fire was extinguished by the use of buckets and other makeshift means.

MOTURING TOPICS

The Careless Owner.

CONTINUALLY ABUSES CAR FOR OWN MISDEEDS.

Perhaps the most astounding thing in automobilism is the freedom almost of abuse a motor car will take from its owner...

Think of the people who leave their cars parked in the open all day, when the rain, wind, dust, sunshine, and thunderbolt happen...

Perhaps on a Saturday afternoon in a fit of energy, he will decide to wash his car...

From the modern roadway just west with all the claims made for it...

The owner's attitude towards the various mechanical parts, and in sight also, is apt to be one of indifference...

It is starting the car he pulls out the jack, and then forgets to switch on, and when he gets the engine going...

The Sparking Plug.

SHOULD BE CHANGED EVERY 10,000 MILES.

A Book's author recommends the substitution of new sparking plugs at least once a year...

The modern engine is so sensitive to the spark, and the spark plug is so important...

The through cleaning of a set of plugs makes a distinct difference in the running of the engine...

It is starting the car he pulls out the jack, and then forgets to switch on, and when he gets the engine going...

These are only a few examples of many other abuses of motor cars...

An Overdue Refinement.

NEED FOR INFLATION BY TYRE.

In view of the state of perfection to which the accessories of the modern car have been brought...

Oil while your BUICK runs

EVERY one knows how dirty and black the engine oil becomes after even a few miles of running. This dirty oil is constantly wearing the bearing surface of the engine away, for the dirt in the oil consists of road grit, carbon, and minute particles of metal.

Now Buick's oil filter changes all this. While the car is running, the engine oil is constantly being filtered and every 30 miles the car runs.

Buick's oil filter by microscopic filtration removes every particle of grit and impurity and returns pure, crystal clear oil to the engine and bearings.

The immense value of this oil filtration cannot be over-estimated. It insures long life for the motor, as it has made possible a high degree of engine performance before being situated. It means great economy in oil for it is only necessary to change crankcase oil once every 3000 miles.

PARLIAMENTARY AFFAIRS.

I therefore hope that all of you will agree that the Chamber of Deputies should be built with the least delay possible. It has been suggested that it should be built in the grounds of the Government House, but because I particularly like the site of Government House, I have suggested that the Chamber of Deputies should be built on the site of the present Government House.

DOMESTIC NEEDS. There remains the third side of the table for a hall, room, and kitchen. It is proposed to build a hall, room, and kitchen on the site of the present Government House. The population of Nairobi in particular is increasing rapidly and it is necessary to provide for the needs of the growing population.

CONVENTION OPPOSES IMPORTED INDENTURED LABOUR

A Frank Discussion.
AMPLE LABOUR AVAILABLE IF GOVERNMENT HELPS.

Influence of the N.A.D.

HOW LABOUR PLANTATIONS MAY BE THEY PROVE.

On Monday afternoon the Convention of Association settled its policy on imported indentured labour at its meeting at the Kenya Club. The subject was introduced by Capt. M. B. S. (Kenya) (Kenya) who moved the following resolution:

In view of the inability of the present administration to supply labour to the plantations, and in view of the fact that the labouring resources of Africa are inadequate to provide the amount of labour required for the development of the country, the Convention, on behalf of the plantations, requests the Government to take such steps as may be necessary to secure the importation of indentured labour from the countries of the East Indies.

Speaking in his honor, Capt. Robinson said, in bringing forward this resolution, he was not prompted by the desire to restrict the importation of indentured labour from the East Indies, but to secure that the money which is spent on the maintenance of the indentured labourer should be used for the benefit of the country. He said that he was not opposed to the importation of indentured labour, but that he was in favour of the Government taking steps to secure that the money which is spent on the maintenance of the indentured labourer should be used for the benefit of the country.

THE LOCAL POLICY

There is a serious difficulty which we have to face in Kenya. It is the shortage of labour. The Government has to consider the policy to be adopted in connection with the importation of indentured labour from the East Indies. It is the duty of the Government to secure that the money which is spent on the maintenance of the indentured labourer should be used for the benefit of the country.

On Monday afternoon the Convention of Association settled its policy on imported indentured labour at its meeting at the Kenya Club. The subject was introduced by Capt. M. B. S. (Kenya) (Kenya) who moved the following resolution:

MOTURING TOPICS

THE WILLYS-MOTORT.

A Car with Good All-round Performance.

SLEEVE-VALVE ENGINE.

Introduced into this country shortly before the war, the Willys-Motort, the latest development of Willys-Knight cars, is characterized as a car representative of the highest present, past and future... The car is an extremely handy motor with a dash-board panel which is adjustable to suit the driver.

A STIFF TEST

Starting from Stockport on a road which is a fine specimen of a good road building practice, it was headed against a run through rough, hilly and hilly to Green... The car is a very good one, and its performance is in fact the chief reason for its popularity.

High of the 1 in 16 to 1 in 18 order used and substantially maintained... The car is a very good one, and its performance is in fact the chief reason for its popularity.

APPEARANCE

The appearance of the car is really very beautiful, and the present gear ratios make high touring speeds to be attained, which are being slowly down.

straight and high surrounding only a shallow hood, which, save for the hood, is very smooth for the passenger. The two rows are exceptionally wide and well placed, and make it a pleasure to enter or leave the car. The engine is placed in the front of the car, and the large steering wheel is placed in the front of the car, and the large steering wheel is placed in the front of the car.

An important feature is incorporated in the steering column in the form of a combined extended horn push-button and headlight dimmer switch. When the head lamp is switched on, the horn light is switched on at the same time and throws a bright beam of light on to the rear side of the road.

The centrally placed gear lever is well within reach without leaning forward, and by virtue of the lightness of the front members of the frame, slight rattle is easily and quickly remedied.

Four-wheel brakes are fitted as standard, internal-expanding shoes to the front drums and external contracting bands on the rear drums being operated by hand. The brakes are smooth in action and powerful, and, although they do not produce a loud rattle, they do not produce a loud rattle.

The brake tests were carried out on wet tarmac, and although the results were good, they would undoubtedly have been better on a dry road surface. At varying speeds, the car was brought to rest in the following distances—From 30 m.p.h. to 0 ft. from 20 m.p.h. to 0 ft. from 10 m.p.h. to 0 ft. from 0 m.p.h. to 0 ft. from 0 m.p.h. to 0 ft.

Throughout the whole of its range the engine is very smooth, the top speed is reached about 45 m.p.h. and 50 m.p.h. and mid-after mid ones by, tested, all admirably at that pace when road and traffic conditions permit. It is, however, equally pleasant at any speed.

Since running on top gear does not require any manipulation of the carburettor or ignition settings in order to get satisfactory results. The minimum speed with smoothness was found to be about 5 m.p.h. but in traffic 5 m.p.h. or 6 m.p.h. is not only possible, without any sign of vibration, but is in fact a very good speed for the car.

Oil while your BUICK runs

EVERY one knows how dirty and black the engine oil becomes after even a few miles of running. This dirty oil is constantly wearing the bearing surfaces of the engine away, for the dirt in the oil consists of road grit, carbon, and minute particles of metal.

Now Buick's oil filter changes all this. While the car is running, the engine oil is constantly being filtered and every 20 miles the car runs.

Buick's oil filter by microscopic filtration removes every particle of grit and impurity and returns pure, crystal clear oil to the engine and bearings.

The immense value of this oil filtration cannot be over-estimated. It means long life for the motor. It has made possible a high degree of engine performance over better oil.

All oil is equally necessary to change crankcase oil once every 2000 miles.

OIL REFINERY TO CHEAPEN COSTS.

A Request by the Convention

UGANDA PROSPECTS.

The Convention of Associations has urged the consideration by Government of the establishment of an oil refinery in Kenya to cheapen prices.

In the Convention on Monday Capt. R. Kesteven (Kenya and Uganda) moved that the question of an oil refinery be established by the Government in conjunction with the people of the Colony, be thoroughly investigated with a view to ascertaining whether by such means, Petrol, Kerosene and Diesel Oil could be manufactured and sold at the lowest possible prices and it was time that those which obtain at the present time.

The mover and that at the present time petrol was Shs. 2 1/4 per gallon while in British Africa, it was only Shs. 1 6d. The quality of the roads was improving, and motor transport was rapidly increasing. It was time that in introducing something to reduce prices. He quoted figures to show how helpful oil refineries would prove. Austria had realized their value and had got into touch with the Persian Oil Co. and before Government was making arrangements with a view to building a refinery on half share, with a representative from the East Africa Co. He suggested that this Colony should have the same refinery built for about 25,000 and produce motor spirit, kerosene, and fuel oil. He moved that the Government be requested to investigate the matter.

Major Robertson seconded. Another member of the convention was that cheaper oil would relieve and benefit the question of labour. Mr. Dunbar said that they must also not overlook the fact that there was a possibility of producing alcohol and vegetable oils which were extremely valuable. The resolution was carried.

UGANDA POTENTIALITIES.

Capt. R. Kesteven (Kenya and Uganda) moved.

That the Kenya Government be asked to approach the Uganda Government with a view to the vesting of the exploration of the probable oil deposits indicated in the Report of the Geological Survey of Uganda, 1922.

In speaking to the motion Capt. Kesteven said that although it might appear contradictory to the Convention's move, it was simply a request to investigate. Mr. Weyland had reported indications of oil in the Albertine region, but it was not advantageous for a long time for exploring purposes. At the same time there was a possibility of securing a commercial success, if confirmed. The Uganda Government was prepared to offer the £1 for £1 system to anyone who would like to explore. They could not get more details, but they would ask the Government to approach the Uganda Government on the subject.

Major Robertson seconded. The motion was carried.

A GOOD NAME

Wherever the two words—DODGE BROTHERS—are used they stand as a symbol of conventional success and honor. They call up a picture of a particular kind of motor-car. Or, to be exact, a particular kind of motor-car which has won the admiration of that good name.

The name has come to suggest integrity—sincerity in the deal and in the manufacturing and business relations of the builder.

DODGE BROTHERS are keenly alive to that fact.

They realize that the permanence of their business depends upon the maintenance of that good name.

They realize that such a name is a perpetual promise which must be perpetually fulfilled by a show and their production of the maintenance of that good name.

As long as their name is attached to their motor-cars, DODGE BROTHERS may be depended upon to adapt and perfect it.

As long as they build motor-cars they will be the best and the most reliable. DODGE BROTHERS can build.

A Letter From Paris

(Our Fashion Correspondent.)

Line is given the right of it, although skirts are full enough to allow for walking with natural steps instead of little stepping legs, or for dancing.

Princesses in Street.

Princesses in the afternoon frocks are always long, whether jacketed or trimmed. The short frocks in the street now, but some frocks are better served with a trumpet-shaped one, or even the extensive bodice-sleeves. A light shade for the waist may have a very long trumpet-shaped collar or a tight sleeve to the elbow may have an ornamental bodice underlaying, but a collar, which is elaborately stitched and belted ones worn to our grandmothers in mid-Victorian times.

Grandeur is not fashionable on both dresses and coats. They may be for coats, or striped cloth, or silk suit, with striped with leather or velvet, or whatever material composes the garment.

Black and White Models.

Most of the other models were in black or black and white, and those for the Riviera in white. One of the few short-sleeved alterations the colored models were a black and white striped with a black ornamental design. With this was worn a long black suit with a printed black and white design on the blouse.

For summer frocks that were a bit of a novelty, there was a very simple, straight white crepe frock with a narrow cream lace collar and black tie.

Return of the Princess Gown.

Most of the great houses are paying special attention to the gown frocks. Although they are still and simple in line, they are anything but simple to make. The fit of the sleeve, little skirt, and dress which any cheap dress-maker could make a past.

The princess gown took very much of the fashion, long fitting sleeves, the semi-fitting bodice, and the hand of the expert. So here we see, once more, how well a considerable number, but on the other hand, to one, walk about.

with the pleasant circumstance of being better dressed than perhaps ever before.

A princess gown shows at a point. At home, one of the big dressmakers was of ashore blue crepe with a narrow cream over sleeve collar, of much-garment, fastened rather high up with a silver pin.

A straight frock with a shaped point skirt was of lattice green crepe with a Venetian lace collar, but the blouse and two rows of black velvet ribbon put on horizontally with a rather wide space between. The long sleeves were close-fitting to the elbow and then widened into a Venetian lace underlaying.

New Jewelry Style.

Paris is that the veritable measure of the deep used, as the latest from the new countries, as elegant, and are fastened with a Louis base worked in the diamond method of work a day.

In the world of diamonds jewelry, the boutique Paris is again predominant. But available two strings of three or four pearls in different orders. Pink cut gem stones in various designs, occasionally the colored beads are threaded alternately on each string.

Quite original are the new wide flat collars of closely set pearls, and of sham-wood carving below the collars with low-cut evening dresses without shoulder straps.

Brilliant Evening Gowns.

Evening gowns grow more and more brilliant. Golden, sparkling, paillettes and gold-green tulle, glitter in the dance hall. Green, and gold is one of the favorite colors, and a small, brilliant mode was of shaded green crepe de chine, pale at the top, and lacking, or ribbon of plaid white, or woven stripe or plaid white, or floral pattern, and velvet.

The machine that dips at the back is black, and if it occurs on the front, it is black. It is a suit with a corresponding top. It is a suit with a corresponding top. It is a suit with a corresponding top.

(including generally as it does) the lace, being highly recommended as a two or three different cases of gold.

The Decorative Screen.

There is no more decorative adjunct to a room than a screen, and yet comparatively little use is made of this particular item of furnishing. A good deal of interest, however, is now being made by screens both large and small, and some of them are so attractively designed as to anger well for their future popularity.

Screens of imitation Spanish leather (really a very thick and durable wall-paper) are most ornamental, especially when the upper portion of each panel is adorned with a gold-painting in the antique colorings of the Irish century. Reproductions of toilet leather of exquisite design are similarly effective, especially in rooms in which the furnishings are Oriental in character.

This illustrates how attractive one of the screens mentioned in the accompanying article can make a room in which it is placed with discretion.

Very feminine in style are the screens that are covered with colored silk, veiled in golden tones. The whole effect is shimmering with soft shades that is very subtle and goes well with gilt furniture of the French school. This is especially the screen for the woman's boudoir.

This is the graceful "princess" gown described in our Paris Letter.

Green is very popular at the moment. It is worn in richer shades like bottle green and hunter green for coats and three-piece suits. In the evening one sees some lovely shades of sea green and apple green in gowns, new children, or tulle. The slim

It isn't only the initial cost you've got to think of when buying a car—maintenance expenses must be taken into consideration. A car that is continuously in the garage for small adjustments and repairs is far more expensive in the long run.

The Studebaker is built throughout to give no-trouble Service. Moreover the Duplex body, an exclusive Studebaker feature gives you the equivalent of 2 cars in one. That's economy again.

The Studebaker Duplex Meets All Weather Conditions

THE Studebaker Duplex-Fluorite combines all the desirable features of an open car with the protection given by an enclosed car.

With the Duplex, you can enjoy the rush of fresh air if you wish, or in 30 seconds or less, convert it into a snug and comfortable closed car. Simply lower the rubber enclosures—without stopping or getting out.

Into the Duplex, and every one-proof Studebaker, go only the finest materials and workmanship. Unlike other American automobile manufacturers, Studebaker and Ford build cars complete in their own great plants. Only in these two camps are all bodies, engines, chassis, gear boxes, springs, differentials, steering gears, axles, gray iron castings and drop forgings made by one company.

Compare Studebaker cars, point by point, with any car. They offer the greatest values.

like a never lost sight of, although skirts are full enough to allow for walking with natural grace, they are little nature's boys, or for dancing.

Fashions in Sleeves.

Shirred on afternoon frocks are always long, whether substantial or fancy. In the afternoon dress is the most usual, but some frocks are now served with a long, open, shapely one, or even the extensive "mouline" sleeve. A light sleeve to the wrist may have a very long fringed-shaped "tail" or a long fringe of lace. A light sleeve above to the elbow may have an ornamental loop, palm-leaf, or other motif. Some elaborately striped and belated ones were by post granddames in many "Victorian" times.

Wrought cuffs are fashionable on both dresses and coats. They may be for one, or striped cloth or silk and satin striped with beads or velvets, or whatever unusual catches the gazer's eye.

Sleeves of the Princess Gown.

Most of the gown houses are paying special attention to after-noon frocks. Although they are slim and simple in line they are anything but simple to make. The fit of the deep little afternoon dress which only cheap dress-makers could make is very careful work. Note points of fitting above the waist fitting bodice, all the kind of darts, and so on. Here we are, once more faced with a considerable salary, but in the other hand, we can walk abroad with the pleasant consciousness of having letted dressed thus perhaps ever before.

A princess gown shows at a moment. At home "one of the big dressmakers" was of wappery blue crepe with a narrow open over-mawl collar of smoke-grey rayon, fastened rather high up with a silver rose.

A straight frock with a shapely gilet skirt was of lettuce green crepe, with a Venetian lace collar, the Byron shape, and two long sleeves, one of which was fastened horizontally with a rubber wide strap between. The long sleeves were close-fitting to the elbow and then widened into a Venetian lace under-sleeve.

Another colorful frock was in a lively pastel blue with a long narrow veil and turned back collar of beautiful white crepe.

Black and White Models.

Most of the other models were in black or black and white, and show that the fitters in white, though the few short-sleeved afternoon frocks had a plain black skirt and a bodice of white printed with a black ornamental design. With this was worn a long black satin coat with a general black and white crepe de chine lining.

For casual times that were in at the moment, there was a very smart straight white crepe frock with a straight green lace collar and black tie.

Ornate Trimmings.

Ornate trimmings are appearing again after an absence from the "fashion" models of the season. These are in the shape of broad enriching generally as it does to the best, being lightly embroidered in two or three different tones of gold.

The Decorative Screen.

There is not such decorative art in a room than a screen, and yet comparatively little is made of this picturesque form of furnishing. A bold but not over-ambitious screen, made by screens both large and small, and some of them are as attractive as screens will ever be for their future popularity. One well-remembered house is showing straight ones both in lacquer and cloth.

New Jewelry Styles.

Items that are the veritable treasures of the deep sea, as it is called from the new supplies, are without exception, are fastened with a large low worked in diamonds instead of with a flat sapphire.

In the world of jewellery, the new styles are again predominant. But invariably the best of these are by smart Parisiennes, and in their own right they are a favorite alliance. Occasionally the national fashions are introduced alternately on each side.

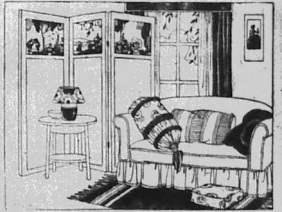

Brilliant Evening Gowns.

Evening gowns grow more and more brilliant. Golden sparkling paillettes and gold-woven filigree in the dance hall. Green and blue are in the foreground, and a notably attractive make was of shaded green crepe de chine, pale at the top and darkening gradually as it descends to the hem, being lightly embroidered in two or three different tones of gold.

Screens that are decorated with motifs of colored intarsia are likewise an ornamental addition. For instance a screen of dark wood with studies of parrots in early Italian woods set into the folds may become the object of chief interest in a room if cleverly placed so that there is a play of light upon the colored intarsia.

Very handsome in style are the screens that are covered with colored silk, veiled in a pattern. The whole gives a shimmering soft effect that is very subtle and goes well with gilt furniture of the French school. The screen is essentially the screen for the woman's boudoir.

This illustrates how attractive one of the screens mentioned in the accompanying article can make a room in which it is placed with discretion.
