The following testimonial speaks for itself:
"You asked me how the experiment with 'Expos' turned out. I hardly hardly like to tell you, you might fancy I was pulling your leg."
"The Potatoes are just simply wonderful, you never saw such growth, even through the drought. I have grown potatoes all my life and in many climates, but never have I seen anything like this lot and further it is not a question of fancy and because I purchased this seed at the door from a Kikuyu."
"Bill."

MOTURING TOPICS

THE DODGE CAR.

Record Output for Month of January.

NEW OFFICIALS.

Although Dodge Brothers' latest production is being built with a factory which is not yet completed on its January record—the new delivery, models made in January, amount to 4,000 units, more than the production of the experimental design represented by the recent improvements and the new five-door will now result in complete output of the small unit to be sold. Dealers have been able to accumulate an anticipation of the new demand quickly represented by all manufacturers in the early days.

The demand that American consumers are making for the same quality industry indicated by the fact that Dodge Brothers' new design is proving itself as a development although the production schedule was done in 1,500 cars a day all during January. With the new building and machinery provided by a $10,000,000 expansion program, Dodge Brothers expect to increase production to 1,500 cars daily before the end of February. Factory shipments of cars and trucks totaled 22,134 during January 1935, an increase of 41 per cent over the total factory shipments of 15,735 cars this January and 12,925 cars a year ago were reported for distribution in the United States. The largest previous month's shipment in the car plant's history was 20,000 cars, the highest of the season last April. The month placed in the top five biggest January in the history of Dodge Brothers, but not in the history of the United States, according to an official Dodge Brothers press release from Detroit. Actual retail deliveries of 1935 cars and trucks was 22,134, a record for the first week ending January 30. This was an increase over the same period of January, 1934, the greatest previous January for Dodge Brothers, of 19,979 cars or a gain of 67 per cent. The gain over January, 1933, the former year prior to 1933 for the automotive industry, was even greater.

New orders for the month worked in even higher figure, 19,214 units, the highest January in the history of Dodge Brothers' history was that of its for the same year, recorded 4,376, and in the history of the company for the same year of a year ago. The increase over the corresponding year of the previous year was 100 per cent, as the new production is introduced by Dodge Brothers' new production in all types of Dodge Brothers' motor cars for the year ending January 16, in a gain of 100 per cent over the corresponding year of the previous year.

THE EVOLUTION OF
The Ford one Ton Truck

Economy is without doubt the keynote of the hauling problem as it now exists in Kenya. There is no longer any great difficulty in securing trucks that will get goods from one point to another. But economical, and at the same time efficient hauling, hinge upon the relation to the truck of the average load.

Items to be considered in the purchase of a truck are—Interest on investment, depreciation, repairs, fuel, tyres, and all expenses commonly grouped under the heading of "upkeep". The total divided by the total number of ton miles enables the owner to gauge delivery cost, and to determine whether that cost is high or low.

A FORD means greater dividends because of its long life, low upkeep costs, and the greater tonnage it can move at much smaller cost than heavier vehicles.

A WONDERFUL
PERFORMANCE ON SHELL

A Chevrolet Truck belonging to the Heland Transport Company recently made a journey to Mombasa and back to Nairobi carrying a 1 ton load both ways a total distance of 1,500 miles—using 11 cases Shell Motor Spirit.

At nearly 180 miles per gallon.
The return journey to Nairobi was made in 31 days and a trouble-whisper was experienced.

This achievement is most officially confirmed a record and pays a wonderful tribute to the quality of SHELL MOTOR SPIRIT.

It is not unusual for a dog to be sick, and in fact, the writer has seen a large number of dogs who have been sick. The first thing to do when a dog is sick is to find out what is the matter. If the dog has been eating and drinking freely, and is otherwise healthy, the matter is probably not serious. But if the dog has been sick for a number of days, and is not eating or drinking, it is necessary to see a veterinarian.

FERTILISE WITH EPHOS

The following testimonial speaks for itself: "You asked me how the experiment with 'Ephos' turned out. 'Really I hardly like to tell you, my strength I was pulling your leg.' The potatoes are just wonderful. You never see so few growths, even though it's drought. I have grown potatoes all my life and in many places, but never have I seen anything like this lot and further it is not a question of size and because I purchased this seed at the store from a 'Kilby' lot. The original of the above testimonial can be seen on application to J. G. ARONSON, P.O. Box 681, Nairobi.

ELECTRIC STARTERS.

General Advice to Owner Drivers.

COMMON FAULTS.

Although electric starters have been in use for a considerable period, it is ever apparent that their functions are not, clearly understood. How often one hears those who on motors grinding and grinding in the endeavour to satisfy the thoughtless operator.

Drivers are ever ready to jump into the car on a cold morning and push on the start switch without a thought as to the consequences. Full of anticipation, they trust to goodness the motor will perform its duties successfully. If by any means it should fail to do so, it becomes the target for much impatience, and possibly bad language.

Yet all the need not be, for the driver will find that portion of the car with the respect if desirous. The electric starting motor is not, in any sense, a piece of flimsy mechanism. On the contrary, it represents the product of years of exhaustive experiments and tests. Modern starting motors are constructed on sound lines, and are a joy to those who use them properly.

GENERAL DETAILS.

Some cars are fitted with machines which fulfil dual purposes of driving the motor and starting the engine. On the contrary, if it represents the product of years of exhaustive experiments and tests. Modern starting motors are constructed on sound lines, and are a joy to those who use them properly.

One well-known maker utilizes the motor-bush and aligns about as a means of coupling the motor to the engine. Once the engine begins to rotate under its own power, the motor commences to function as a flywheel.

Other makers prefer to use two shafts, one for the motor and the other for electric current generation. Some makers employ three to the engine by means of belt drive and friction drives, while others use gears and pinions in some type of planetary gearings as brought into operation by means of the operator.

effects of a well-known electromagnetic phenomenon. However, the motor is the machine used are used by the makers of the various types.

The motor is usually of the series-wound type, which when it is required to function as a dynamo acts as a generator, and when it is required to function as a motor, it acts as a motor.

The whole is enclosed in an iron frame, which also carries the bearings. Although the bearings are usually of the ball type, they are still fitted with grease cups for lubrication. Nevertheless, the following advice applies equally well to motor types of machines.

CABLE AND MAINTENANCE.

The bearings of the motor or dynamo should not be supplied with any more oil or grease than is necessary to lubricate them.

The commutator is made up of a series of copper segments, each separated by thin insulating strips. The segments are made up of a series of copper segments, each separated by thin insulating strips.

brandum paper will generally serve as a remedy. However, during the operation of the motor, it is possible to result in the formation of an uneven surface on the commutator, and cause further trouble. Excessive wear of the ball type bearings also causes bloating of the motor frame and should be checked when for carbon deposit.

When the motor is already a superficial skin, the former is a sign of trouble, which should be checked. It is also possible that the motor is already a superficial skin, the former is a sign of trouble, which should be checked.

QUALITY OF THE BRUSHES.

If the brushes are badly packed, they will not give the best results. The brushes should be checked when for carbon deposit.

Immediately this rating is exceeded the various components are subjected to abnormal stresses. The makers will guarantee their motors to run at a certain torque, but lower power, but they cannot be expected to run at a higher torque.

GENERAL REMARKS.

All modern electric systems are provided by a fuse, which acts as a safety valve. Do not tamper with the operation of this valve by fusing with a wire of irregular gauge.

Keep all connections and terminal ends tight. A dirty or loose contact may cause bad contact and increased resistance to the flow of current, but the result. The contact of the starting switch should also be kept free from oil and dirt.

VEGETABLES

Dear Sir, I wish to say a few words to you regarding your article on the vegetables to be grown in Kenya. I have seen the illustrations in your issue of the 10th inst. and I have been very much interested in the list of vegetables to be grown in Kenya. of vegetables as they grow well in the soil and the varieties of each kind and to suit the growing conditions of each soil.

A gardening note book should be kept for getting down date of sowing, time of planting, etc. It is a good idea to keep a record of everything that happens in the garden from the time of the first sowing to the time of the first picking. This will be a most important record and will be of great value to the gardener.

If I read books are attacked by black fly they should be cut out of the garden. If the book is not cut out of the garden it will be cut out of the garden and the result of the book will be a most important record and will be of great value to the gardener.

The very one eventually he published as a separate booklet. The author says: "I fancy this book is what you wanted in the 'Garden'." The fact of a new system of classification is in itself very interesting, a system based on the probable physiology of the flowering plants. Mr. W. E. P. I think has done some of the illustrations. I shall have more to say about the book later. We especially do with a little more help as possible illustrations and the one book does not cover all the material. I am the publisher. The book is of course only a preliminary and will be followed by a second volume which will be of great value to the gardener.

FERTILISE WITH EPHOS

The following testimonials speak for itself: "You asked me how the experiment with 'Ephos' turned out. 'Really' I hardly like to tell you, you might fancy I'm pulling your leg. 'The 'Ephos' are just simply wonderful, you never saw such good crops, even through this drought. I have grown potatoes all my life and in many climates, but never have I seen anything like this and further it is now a question of 'Ephos' and because I purchased the seed at the dear farm, I'm willing to say so."

The original of the above testimonials can be seen on application to J. G. ARONSON, P.O. Box 681, Nairobi.

MOTURING TOPICS

UNSEEN LEAKS.

Where Waste Occurs in Running Costs.

CONSIDERABLE LOSSES.

If the car-owner discovers a leak in his petrol tank he can stop it at once. The tank in the rear does not matter, because he realizes that the tank is no longer expensive.

Have about the same tank built that drain his pocket book just as surely as he can his car.

One thing that prevents the owner from obtaining the maximum mileage from each gallon of petrol is a expenditure in a petrol tank.

FIRST ESSENTIALS.

The average man buys a car with a rough idea of how to steer and control it, and then when his little course in discovery, that is in coming home more than he originally anticipated. He blames his conductor for the inefficiency of petrol consumption.

For a man who really wishes to drive his machine economically it is absolutely necessary that he should learn to drive it properly.

For every movement of the motor mechanism in a car there should be a reason, and every unnecessary movement of the control levers means waste, whether of the energy supplied by the engine or the life of the tyre.

The first thing to be learned is the correct method of shifting the accelerator. With practice, gear-changes will be made with ease and without jerking, and the driver can make the change without the engine stopping any signs of halting as he engages each successive gear. The gear lever will be smooth and frictionless, and the working smooth, so that the driver can control every part of the car with ease and confidence.

One of the most important points in the operation of the car is the correct use of the brakes. The driver should discontinue his use of the brakes as soon as possible, so that he can avoid the wear and tear of the brakes.

CORRECT USE OF THE BRAKES.

The driver should discontinue his use of the brakes as soon as possible, so that he can avoid the wear and tear of the brakes. He should use the brakes only when necessary, and then use them in a way that will cause the least wear.

He should use the brakes only when necessary, and then use them in a way that will cause the least wear. He should use the brakes only when necessary, and then use them in a way that will cause the least wear.

EFFICIENCY MEANS ECONOMY.

The whole question of driving revolves itself into knowing what one is doing, and how to do it. The driver should know what he is doing, and how to do it, so that he can avoid the wear and tear of the car.

The driver should know what he is doing, and how to do it, so that he can avoid the wear and tear of the car. He should use the brakes only when necessary, and then use them in a way that will cause the least wear.

Moreover, when for some reason it is necessary to hurry, the driver will find that the car is not a speed that is a responsive body. He should use the brakes only when necessary, and then use them in a way that will cause the least wear.

UNDESIRABLE RESISTANCE.

A point which is very often overlooked is the resistance of the car to the motion of the engine. The driver should use the brakes only when necessary, and then use them in a way that will cause the least wear.

The driver should use the brakes only when necessary, and then use them in a way that will cause the least wear. He should use the brakes only when necessary, and then use them in a way that will cause the least wear.

He should use the brakes only when necessary, and then use them in a way that will cause the least wear. He should use the brakes only when necessary, and then use them in a way that will cause the least wear.

MINIMISING STRAINS.

Always at the end of each day, the driver should use the brakes only when necessary, and then use them in a way that will cause the least wear. He should use the brakes only when necessary, and then use them in a way that will cause the least wear.

He should use the brakes only when necessary, and then use them in a way that will cause the least wear. He should use the brakes only when necessary, and then use them in a way that will cause the least wear.

The engine is entirely dependent upon a fuel supply, and if the fuel supply is not sufficient, the engine will not run. The driver should use the brakes only when necessary, and then use them in a way that will cause the least wear.

The driver should use the brakes only when necessary, and then use them in a way that will cause the least wear. He should use the brakes only when necessary, and then use them in a way that will cause the least wear.

He should use the brakes only when necessary, and then use them in a way that will cause the least wear. He should use the brakes only when necessary, and then use them in a way that will cause the least wear.

OTHER REASONS FOR LOSS.

A small item like a fly, which may be responsible for a large part of the cost of maintenance, is often overlooked. The driver should use the brakes only when necessary, and then use them in a way that will cause the least wear.

He should use the brakes only when necessary, and then use them in a way that will cause the least wear. He should use the brakes only when necessary, and then use them in a way that will cause the least wear.

A Letter from Paris

(By Mrs. G. COLLIER.)

Old lace interwoven with a colour in the design is used for these evening jumpers.

Patchwork Trimming.

One of the newest ways of trimming a plain black dress is a pattern of patchwork, composed of a button-hole stitch. The pattern may be a row of triangles, a row of multi-edged squares round the skirt. Another way of brightening a plain dress is by contrasting flowers on which the crests of flowers are mounted. Thick material such as wool, or silk. Smaller flowers are sewed on to stiff coats, on the side of the bodice or on the pocket.

Afternoon Fashions.

Afternoon frocks, equally suitable for home or visiting wear, are made of popeline de laine, satin crepe, tulle, or silk, or of lace. The latter material is never quite so stiff as before, but still the changes of fashion. It is generally skirted with a fitted, fitting bodice with piping or generally in a waisted or clinging line. More fitted lines will be worn with these "young" frocks during the season.

Byron collars in lawn and organdy are worn on tulle, crepe de chine and laces frocks, and their accompaniment is a large luffetted bow in black or vivid colours. Small more delicate bows will suffice on a round or pointed neck, and on the above from view to show. Crepe de chine and plain shawls are still lightly round the neck like a stole, and show short frocks with broad collars and long ties are worn with cut-aways of stockinet or light crepe.

The Season's Fashions. The first of the season's fashions are "kitted"—and one may conclude a word. No one must think too much for granted, however, since of the new materials, jumpers have a little more of drapery material and hence, in the evening, so that their real attractiveness is on their drapery. The trend of the new dress. Consequently I shall describe here to you some of my predictions as to dress for the season.

Materials there is every intention that the popular colours will be water grey, Mediterranean blue and "tender," olive shades of green and pink. A beautiful crepe-georgette dress is a feature of the latest fashion. It is the severely decorative nature of the outer details of the dress. Their "border" material, mainly light-weighted fabrics (of which I have told you so often before in fashion), crepe and paper (which are all to be spring fashions), and the leader note is outstanding. Sometimes the borders are striped in others there is a suggestion of Chinese patterns, but the manifold shadings are bolder rather than lighter.

Return of an Old Favorite. Old favorites are making a re-appearance in Paris; to wit—mink and white serge. There are some Parisian houses that still believe in these, and they have had things pretty much their own way. The change was largely accentuated by the degeneration in quality of every line done. But it appears that these "have now been restored to their proper quality, and a revival of mink will be one of the features of the forthcoming season.

Some of the shades are turned on the most recent palette, excepting the navy and seal. There are, however, some of the most beautiful shades of white lawn or crepe (the "shades" of the new American women for wear under trousseaux of a fine navy, grey, or skin).

The Book Buyers. How many books do you read in the course of a month? "Are you of those women who, owing to the pressure of social and other engagements, has allowed her reading to dwindle down to the weekly and monthly magazines?"

Probably—now in the course of reading these same magazines—some of you were given a new sort of biography and some to yourself that you would like to get hold of it, but the price of the book was so high that you never did get the one you wanted and so, perhaps, you were not so much as you were not. Why not get a book with other great that you should not miss to get to know what looks are in the market. It is these books that you should get. At the end of the book you can find out the number in turn selecting one to retain permanently.

Probably suggestions will have been received in plenty in the first instance and a good proportion of the books will have been put aboard in accordance with the members' views. The success of the venture would be enhanced if one or two quarter details were passed at which the merits of the books could be discussed, and the larger policy of selection decided upon.

Where the Frenchman Triumphs. Some Reason why the crests as Cook.

French cookery, contrary to a general impression, does not necessarily mean rich and complicated dishes, though these are in evidence when needed. The cooking in a French middle-class household consists of a very careful choice of materials, very good cleanliness, and a very careful preparation by process, many of which, such as braising or stewing, are very long. The methods employed are so invariably simple, and so economically applied, that the uninitiated are surprised to find the quality of the food more highly than that of comfort. Answering bills, and generally finding and carrying on at a dinner in France, whereas a great deal of time, thought,
