Derby Lays Down Labour Principles in Opening Address.

NO COMPROMISER POSSIBLE.

Importance of Government Influence in the Reserve.

LESSONS FROM THE DOMINION.

The opening of the half yearly convention of the Convention of the Dominion of Derby was noteworthy for the explanation given by the Secretary of the Government's views on the labour question.

The Governor made it quite clear that there could be no question of compromise in any form and that Government could give no consideration to any supply of labour, but that it was a question in which the influence of Government could not be used to encourage the flow of voluntary labour from the Dominion.

He also stated his opinion that the development of the native labour was a stimulating effort upon the supply of labour there and that stagnation in their homes resulted in stagnation of people here.

He also directed the attention of the people of the Dominion to the fact that the Government was not prepared to base the production upon which the prosperity of the Dominion depends, on the Dominion and New Zealand labour, but that the Dominion labour had been built up.

GLASSBORO AND LABOUR.

Nothing is more important for the Colony than the establishment of a good system of public works. People sometimes still argue as to whether this is a white man's country or not, but it is established as a white man's country some years ago, but the fact is sometimes ignored that a white man's country, also, is a white woman's country, and that a woman's work requires special attention in our lands.

I write particularly the expression of confidence in us, which your President expressed, and I should like to congratulate you on having his lady-in-law believe in our health (especially) from what he has said to me. I gather that he felt renewed vigor to attempt to put his foot in the "Colony" I am sure that vigor will be expressed in his conduct of your duties.
