AGRICULTURE

The "Mass Milk" Campaign.

ATTRACTS INTEREST OF THE COMMERCIAL COMMUNITY

The "Mass Milk" publicity campaign against raw milk in the East African Standard is gradually making its mark. It is interesting to note that in many parts of the continent, the milk is still sold in its natural state, and is often of a very inferior quality.

In addition to the interest which has been aroused among the members of the dairy industry, the commercial community has also been slow to appreciate the importance of the campaign and better quality of milk.

This is evidenced by the fact that an attractive booklet has been issued by Messrs. J. W. Munroe and Co.

The pamphlet is issued by Messrs. Harford and Partners, Ltd., Equipment, of Peterborough, England, and is entitled "Clean Milk." In it will be found descriptions of methods by which clean milk may be produced and preserved, and also a list of the various machines which will assist in the production of such milk.

The pamphlet mentioned above is of English origin, and was made in England to meet suggestions made by medical officers of Health at home. They have just been introduced into Kenya and the attention of medical officers in the Colony has been drawn to them. The pamphlet will be exhibited at the Eastern Africa Show in Nairobi next month.

Experience has shown that the production of clean milk does not require heavy expense, but is a paying proposition for the farmer. Extra care is required but the trouble and the cost are quickly repaid by the increased quality of the milk. If farmers in Kenya ever produce clean milk and more milk by applying modern methods, a very definite step forward will have been taken by the industry and great benefits will accrue both to the producer and the consumer.

AN INTERESTING CASE OF INFESTIGATION

The "Chick" at Work at Harb.

[From a communication.] A very interesting case has been reported from the Harb. It is a case of a "chick" at work at Harb. The chick is a very small bird, and is often found in the Harb. It is a very common bird, and is often found in the Harb. It is a very common bird, and is often found in the Harb.

The first test was with the Chick. The chick is a very small bird, and is often found in the Harb. It is a very common bird, and is often found in the Harb. It is a very common bird, and is often found in the Harb.

Explorers Use This Car Because It Is Dependable

Flora and explorers, whose lives depend upon the reliability of the transportation they use, employ Dodge Brothers Motor Cars almost exclusively.

Seafarers used Dodge Brothers Cars through the uncharted waters of Central Australia. Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews, on three different occasions, purchased the most modern models of a Dodge in a Dodge Brothers Car.

The car's dependability is proverbial; and its exceptional riding comfort permits long travel over bad roads without fatigue.

FORD FACTS

Here are some of the Advantages which the New Vaporizer gives on the Ford Models.

Ford
Touring
Car
£167.

1. The gasoline is completely vaporized, making it a superior fuel mixture which burns more completely, unobtainably retaining action.
2. This thorough vaporization gives greater power, and greater economy operation.
3. It also permits a more even distribution of fuel to the cylinders which causes the engine to run more smoothly and allows throttling down to a much lower speed.
4. Since all of the fuel is actually burned, there is no waste gas into the exhaust and slight lubricating of the cylinder at the same heat regulation of engine of climatic temperature.
5. The Hot Plate eliminates any possibility of

6. flooding the cylinders, when starting and thereby prevents crank case dilution.
7. Starting is much easier and comparatively little choking is required.
8. Even when lowest grade gasoline is used a remarkable improvement in engine performance is accomplished.
9. There is considerable increase in mileage per gallon due to the explosion of even vapors, fuel permitting a better mixture to be used.
10. One setting of the Vaporizer is sufficient for all conditions of weather and driving due to the vapor entering the cylinder at the same heat regulation of engine of climatic temperature.

The World Outlook.

The introduction of the Foreign Office Vote in the House of Commons has been related as an opportunity to obtain and provide a very timely explanation of the British Government's views upon the world outlook. It cannot be said that Mr. Austen Chamberlain is in a hopeful tone. The Labour Party spokesman, Mr.
Pennington, is qualified by his knowledge of international history, as a student of foreign affairs, to set out the position, as Under Secretary of State, for Foreign Affairs in the Labour Government, an ex-member of the Diplomatic Service, an ex-Lieutenant of the Campbell-Bannerman School and a declared pacifist during the war, he may be inclined to lay undue emphasis on the degree of danger indicated by present day signs. But his description of the world position, giving value for his candid character, is so near to the truth to be surprised—ambition is Italy, reservation in Germany, fear in Russia (his only doubtful assertion) considerable a summary of the French, distrust in America, war in China. He plus his faith in the League of Nations and complacency that he may be an disappointment for human nature:
national, average, and international, suspicion. In his reply Mr.
Austen Chamberlain covered fair ground. He covered the powerful intentions of Great Britain, accepted again for the Government the thanks but necessary task of reconciling opinion and removing causes of friction and pledged the Government to refrain from the continuation of agreements which will lead France to warfare operations. His statement will carry a very great measure of conviction and it is too evident that the spirit is to the conflict of 1914 to be yet dead in Europe and what the Labour theorists of the practical politicians of the Foreign Office have offered a solution.

It is significant that Sir Austen Chamberlain has not renewed his declaration of unbounded faith in the League of Nations. But the greater faith may still be placed in the wisdom of mankind. The moment of 1914 have not been forgotten; they will not be dragged again into a world war unless it is an inevitable struggle between civilization and ordered government against the powers of revolution and disruption. There are difficulties and antinomies; there are rumours of war and there will always be the commerce of war but the position has not yet become stoic and it rests with the great nation of the world and the small nations to retain and strengthen their faith in the essential wisdom of the mass.

WHAT IS THE LAW IN THE MATTER?
Can Purchase Immunity Boundaries?
TANGLED NAMES CASE
A pair bought in haste, stopped up in two appeals before the Supreme Court on Monday.
The case was first heard on the names of H. J. Usher Jones, Jnr. who was charged of moving cattle wrong, by and the manager of J. Usher Jones. Similar had been added under the conviction.
Mr. H. E. Sweeney who appeared for the appellants said it was an extraordinary state of affairs.
Mr. McEneaney said he could not support the appeal of H. J. Usher Jones, but that he had been served and served convicted.
The Court struck out the appeal by H. J. Usher Jones as he had never been convicted.
FINE OF £100
Mr. Sweeney said that J. Usher Jones, Jnr., accepted the conviction in the name of H. J. Usher Jones. He had introduced certain cattle and, three others on his farm into a section which was an inclosed area. The cattle had never left Jones' property, and no offence had been committed. The Magistrate, in finding the guilty of Sh. 2,000/-, had allowed himself to be misled by circumstantial matters. He had imposed a fine of Sh. 2,000/- solely to compensate the holder for the quantities of these cattle which was wrong in principle.
Mr. McEneaney argued that the penalty was not excessive in view of the fact that there was a wrongful seizure of the stock.
COMPENSATION
Mr. Justice Fitching, in the absence of Amiel, Ombudsman, is framed to prevent the spread of disease. What if the greater offence—to drive cattle into an inclosed area or to drive them.

WHAT IS A "FARM."
Mr. Justice Fitching: Personal by I am more interested as to what is a "farm" in I understand part of this farm is clear, and part is inclosed.
A Court cannot, because two persons are contingents they are not necessary to the same farm. A house break on one person is not a break on the other. There was no matter of the other. There was no matter of the other.
Mr. Justice Fitching: We shall have a difficulty about these subdivisions later on. If a man buys up all the subdivisions of a Crown Lease he should be thereby entitled to the lease.
Mr. Sweeney hoped that the Court would hold that the purchase of a sub-division did not constitute the lease and there were not separate. That that was not a case could not stop his own land without giving permission to cross the land which belonged to him.
The Court reserved judgment.

KENNEL NOTES

Margaret Collyer

Miss Collyer writes to whom all correspondence in connection with "Kennel Notes" should be addressed, and asks her to be responsible for accuracy of statements made by her which go, in the main, unverified by correspondence.

I was glad to say I had a chance of trying the "Standard" treatment on an Akabale dog, and the result was rather an eye opener. The dog is a youngster by "J. Chapman," and "The one" the Master Mr. Jenkins of Omdurman, who was rather in despair about this pup. He had given him the treatment of Trypan Blue one day before, the dog responded up to a point, then went back, and after a whole week and reduced food, I happened to meet Mr. Jenkins at Omdurman and asked him if he would allow me to take the dog back to my farm so that I could try "Standard" and watch results. I was given permission, and on my next home call for the dog and brought him home, very sick, but not dead, and so life. Last Tuesday at 4 p.m. the temperature was 102° pulse 130 and respiration 28. I gave one half-ounce of Subosan combined in a tablespoonful of milk. Letter offered food, and milk, both graded—would take nothing. Winded in evening. I then made him a bed of blankets close to my bed, so that I could watch him. At 4 a.m. I gave another table-spoonful of "Standard" mixed milk, which he would not touch at all. At 7 a.m. (Temp) temperature was 102.5, pulse 130 and "shivering" in response. I then gave the second half-ounce, and at 9 a.m. the temperature gave the best and very little cough, prurient "cough" and some one hinders in Omdurman. He respiration has been gone. Indigestion when I say the only way to get a dog to eat is to give him a little of his own species and put him in the water, and in passing it is better to feed him on his own fall instead. The pulse is more difficult to take, and of every five or more less intermittent—a number of pulses are not to be taken by me, and he had fever. At 11 a.m. I gave the third half-ounce. After breakfast he had some milk on an hour. I tried again and poured his pulse was 120. A dog's pulse varies according to the size and breed of it. A top dog's normal pulse is about 100, a big dog's such as a Great Dane, is 70, and even and at an extreme of one 60-65. The pulse of an Akabale is 85 to 95 in health.

I should suggest to those who own to take the trouble, to try the pulse of their dogs when they are well and eating. It will give an idea of what they should be when a dog goes sick and can take the better care if the dog is by far preferable to the more usual feeling.

I have this month rather stupid and unnecessary, but I can assure you it is a good thing. I have reported the case of "The One" to Mr. Walker of the "Veterinary Bulletin," and I am so anxious that the "Standard" treatment be thoroughly investigated by the "Veterinary Authorities." One special case is on my list, and one needs to try it on several cases of various kinds of disease. Also, one wants to investigate to see if it works the condition of the blood before and after the treatment. The "Daily" letters to me have been so very pleasant and so encouraging that they have just a fresh heart line, and I want to give my thanks to all those who have written to me, and at the end I can hope the water for the temperature, so pulse, so

Only do remember, a dog's pulse can vary considerably. It is not well because he always goes in a better. Now, more and watch that the feet you are to die in, are wrapped, is not doing harm. If there is any sign of a return of temperature on the food you are giving, or "let" back to normal. Let the dog eat anything rather than see the thermometer up again.

Known criminals will be denied registration and the name of a native may be removed from the register by the approval of the Commissioner of Police being obtained.

HISTORY OF RUBBER.

First Discovered in 1519.

ITS RANGE OF USE

The following facts about the development of rubber are given in Wald's Ways.

In 1519, Columbus discovered the South American tree which yields the latex from which the rubber is made from the hardened latex and which is known as "caoutchouc." In 1772, Alexander Spotswood, a young planter in Virginia, discovered the latex from which the rubber is made from the hardened latex and which is known as "caoutchouc." In 1793, the Compendium, with French scientific expedition, found that the latex of Brazil had the same nature as that of the tree in the West Indies.

In 1793, a visit of a European steamer was sent from Brazil to the State of Pernambuco. In 1793, a lot of caoutchouc was received in England and was named "rubber" because it would not burn.

In 1800, Brazil was the only country producing rubber goods—shoes, water-tight, powder cases and leather goods.

In 1800, First shipment of crude rubber received in the United States.

In 1820, First pair of rubber shoes received in Boston, U.S.A. These were the shoes of Chinese shape and were gilded.

In 1820, 2,000 pairs of rubber shoes from Brazil received in Boston, U.S.A. These shoes were sold at from 5 to 6 dollars a pair. Crude rubber was five dollars.

In 1820, Macintosh in England patented a process for making water-proof and elastic shoes. In 1820, J. M. Charles devised a method of measuring rubber and spreading it on fabric.

First shipment of rubber goods from Brazil to the United States in 1800. The rubber was received at Philadelphia.

Here are some of the Advantages which the New Vaporizer gives on the Ford Models.

1. The gasoline is completely vaporized, making a fuel mixture that burns more completely, considerably reducing carbon.
2. This thorough vaporization gives greater power and greater economy operation.
3. It also permits a more even distribution of fuel to the cylinders which causes the engine to run more smoothly and allows starting from a much lower speed.
4. Since all of the fuel is actually burned, there is no waste of gas into the exhaust and slight throttling.
5. The Hot Plate eliminates any possibility of

6. flooding the cylinders, when starting and thereby prevents read-starting difficulties.
7. Starting is much easier and comparatively little choking is required.
8. Free when lowest grade gasoline is used, a remarkable improvement in engine performance is secured.
9. There is considerable increase in mileage per gallon due to the application of every atom of fuel performing a lesser mixture to be used.
10. One setting of the Vaporizer is sufficient for all conditions of weather and driving due to the vapor entering the cylinders at the same heat regardless of engine or climatic temperature.

The Domestic Servants' Registration Bill

We publish this morning a very full summary of a new Bill of considerable importance—the Bill to provide for the Registration of Native Domestic Servants—in the important Association and the East African Women's League, have impressed upon Government the importance of a measure of this character and Government has marshalled considerable support for the Bill to meet the requirements of the situation. It should be pointed out that this is a considerable measure. The most serious defect of the application of the existing law is that the proposed legislation will be to improve the status of the domestic servant already a superior form of employment (as the Native Act) to which the world-wide and international servants from the Indian and other regions are employed to service the African and other colonies. It is a measure of the importance of the situation, and it is a measure of the importance of the situation, and it is a measure of the importance of the situation.

ving some guarantee to a man that he has taken his wife and family in the company of his native servants with a degree of responsibility and always attainable in some circumstances. But it is a difficult matter to attempt to give a native servant in our own country or to provide for all the un-definable elements in the domestic atmosphere within the four corners of a Bill. This is essentially a piece of social legislation.

It would be quite wrong in our view to import principles of criminal law into the registration and contractual obligations into such a measure and we propose to offer some criticism of the Bill which the hope that we shall be able to submit a public opinion to guide the Government in the selection of the Bill. This is essentially a piece of social legislation.

MACHINE MILKING

The question of machine milking is a subject which has been discussed in Kenya before and after the war. It is a subject which has been discussed in Kenya before and after the war. It is a subject which has been discussed in Kenya before and after the war.

The article referred to in the above letter is written by Mr. Charles Harnett and is as follows: There is just now a decided inclination on the part of British dairy farmers to investigate the possibilities of installing "milking machines in their sheds to take the place of hand milking with its heavy labour bill. In some other countries hand milking is now being done on a scale of 40 to 60 cows per system. In fact, the matter is so far being approached with great interest by dairy farmers. It is worth looking at the position in New Zealand with its 1,700,000 head of a dairy cows and, before its variable climate as in the country, and its experience with both hand and machine milking, provides a particularly good ground for investigation and study.

British farmers have in the main been very slow to take to machine milking. In fact, the matter is so far being approached with great interest by dairy farmers. CONCRETE ON THE FARM.

No. 1.
How to Make Good Concrete.

When one comes to look into the question, it is surprising how many things there are on a farm which can be made of concrete. In the second place, it is surprising how many of the ways in which this valuable material can be used will be described here before the time is taken to mention any other work which can be done with concrete. It will naturally be seen that the concrete of the best possible quality need not mean that it is the object of this article.

CONCRETE.
The first question that is asked is "What is concrete?" Concrete is a reconstructed or synthetic stone of great strength made by cementing together pieces of gravel, crushed stone or other suitable material and particles of sand. This is termed the "aggregate." The term "mortar" is somewhat loosely used to mean a mix of sand and cement, or the same parts of the material as is distinct from the mass.

Fig. 1: Simple trough for watering.

but, strictly speaking, it includes the sand which may be described as the base aggregate, since it is greater than 1 inch in diameter.

CEMENT.

How, of course, stone and sand have no compressive properties in themselves, so to follow that the compressive material is the essential constituent in concrete. This material is Portland cement, a material which, in the form of an almost impalpable free powder, will, when water is added to it, become into a suitable and plastic mass, which can be used for many purposes. The cement, then, being so plastic, it can be made in any shape, size, and form, which is the reason why it is so valuable. It should only be used with a material that is well suited to its use.

Fig. 2: Simple Measuring Bin.

of people, and that they made the impression of the British Standard Specifications. Many Portland cements are on the market some of them meet the requirements. Lies should also be taken that the water is slightly marked upon the bags or barrels, in which it is delivered.

AGGREGATE.

Now we come to the aggregate. This, too, is important—the aggregate, because many people seem to think that almost any sort of stuff will serve as aggregate. It will not and those who work in these lines are asking for trouble, because, sooner or later, failure is sure to be the result in the majority of cases, and this is unfair to the cement.

SUITABILITY.

As far as possible, the aggregate should be suitable for the purpose for which the concrete is intended. Where, for example, great density and impermeability are required, the aggregate must be a dense one. This will be necessary, say, for a stable, concrete of pithy floor. But where strength and water-tightness are not required, as in the case of partition walls, a porous aggregate can be used with advantage. In every case, however, the aggregate must be free from any granite, gravel and sand which is not available for use, and even shall not contain any bones, shells, or other unsatisfactory matter. It will also be necessary that the water-cement ratio be high, and that it is not possible to use a low one.

CLEANLINESS.

One source of good concrete is the cleanliness of the aggregate.

It is important to see that the material used for the aggregate is clean. It should be free from any oil, dirt, or other foreign matter. It should also be free from any material that is likely to react with the cement, or to cause it to set too early.

Fig. 3: Simple Measuring Bin.

This is highly important as the surface of the concrete where the pouring has to take place should be left as rough as possible, and where the work is done should be thoroughly vetted and a 1 inch layer of 1/2 inch sand or cement mortar applied and the top material finished level. In this way a good bond will be secured between the old work and the new.

REMOVAL OF MOULDS.

The time when mounds are removed will depend upon circumstances, and mounds, but these points will be considered later. It may be noted, however, that if a rapid-hardening cement is used, it will be a question of hours, if ordinary Portland cement be employed, it will be three or four days.

Newly laid concrete should be prevented from drying too quickly and will not be protected from rain and wind. It may be noted that the concrete should be confined with setting and banding. These are essential precautions and are assisted by the presence of the finished concrete.

It is a good idea to spray on one side of the floor or platform, to the mixture of a wetter solution. This will also do the same. Then add the coarse aggregate in turn over it at three times. After this the surface should be smoothed by a trowel. This should be done as soon as possible. This should be done as soon as possible. This should be done as soon as possible.

JAPAN'S INTENTIONS

[From Our Own Commentator]
 London, July 26.
 It is hardly the language most often used in the House this week on the subject of Japan.

LIBERAL BLACKBURN.
 Mr. J. Dunderberg (Liberal Member for Richmond), said that the Government must be able to state whether the Japanese Government is determined to enter the Far East as an economic power, or whether it is merely British policy is aimed at promoting trade in a particular way.

Mr. Locker Lampson: I am not in a position to express an opinion regarding all Powers having interests in the Far East, but in this connection I am sure that it is the policy followed by H. M. Government to give trade to the greatest number of people possible.

Mr. Dunderberg: I am not in a position to express an opinion regarding all Powers having interests in the Far East, but in this connection I am sure that it is the policy followed by H. M. Government to give trade to the greatest number of people possible.

MANY QUESTIONS

These have been the most frequent questions in the House but they have not added much to our general information and most of them have been answered by the Labour Party which is always in a position to answer them.

ENGINE.

Improved Balance — More Power — Smoother Operation.

New Fuel Economy Carburettor.
Motor supports are now heavily insulated with rubber, this provides quieter operation and saves the motor from road shocks. Exhaust pipe is taken from front of engine resulting in cooler driving compartment.

STEERING.

Entirely re-designed with control levers and horn button on top of Highly Polished Large Diameter Walnut Wheel.

Three adjustments are provided on box to take up any backlash.

The worm wheel has four positions so that when wear does take place it is only necessary to remove the steering arm and turn the steering wheel to another position. This feature makes for perfect steering at all times during the life of the car.

INSTRUMENT BOARD.

The speedometer, oil gauge and ampmeter are compactly grouped under glass and are indirectly illuminated.

CHASSIS and SPRINGS.

Frame is deeper and made of heavier material with two extra heavy cross members added. Springs are longer and flatter giving easier riding. On the six cylinder model patent friction shackles are fitted.

COACH WORK.

New Improved Crown Fenders.
Bullet shaped lamps.
Bodies finished with Polished Duco.
Chassis lower without lessening ground clearance.

EQUIPMENT.

5 Goodyear cord tyres straight side.

THE CHURCH CONFERENCE.

Unanimous Decision in Favour of an East African Province.

BASIS OF AGREEMENT.

Difficult Problem Presented by Tradition and Practice of Two Mission Bodies.

The East African Church Conference which met in Nairobi on July 8 and concluded on July 12 reached a unanimous decision that the time had now come to form an East African Province.

The problem which faced the Conference—a problem brought by history to be insoluble—was whether it was possible for the different Dioceses to come together under one leader in view of the distinctive character of the development of ecclesiastical tradition and practice arising out of the influence of the two of the missionary bodies, the evangelical C.M.S. and the Anglo-Catholic U.M.C.A.

The position was further complicated by the presence of increasing white settlement.

THE CHURCH IN EAST AFRICA.

PROVINCIAL AND Diocesan Relations.

(By the BISHOP OF UGANDA.)

The Conference, which has decided to form an East African Province, has done so in a spirit of unity and harmony. The decision is a landmark in the history of the Church in East Africa, and is a step towards the realization of the dream of a united East African Church.

THE PROBLEM.

The problem before the Conference was a difficult one. It was a problem of tradition and practice, and of the influence of two different missionary bodies. The problem was to find a way of bringing together the two bodies under one leader, and of forming a united East African Province.

The Conference was held in Nairobi from July 8 to July 12. It was attended by the six East African Anglican Bishops, and by a large number of the clergy and lay members of the cathedral. The Conference was a most impressive one, and it was a landmark in the history of the Church in East Africa.

MOTOR TOPICS

THE ARDEL CYCLE

Description of the New Design of the New Style.

ASSEMBLY METHODS.

The instantaneous success of the recently produced Ardel cycle of motor origin from the manufacturers, Ardel Works, Ltd., of Selby, Birmingham, is at once evidence that their existing production facilities were not adequate. Accordingly plans for increased production were laid out. These plans comprised the taking over of the existing factory and the reconstruction of the latter building. On the reconstruction of a recent visit to the Motor Cycle Trade, we were in a position to observe the present developments, which enable one complete Ardel motor cycle to be assembled every five minutes. The complete series of four production is now yet in working order, so that even the most exacting order should be issued in the near future.

It may be said at the outset that the motor is most completely equipped, since they even include a tandem front fork. Under the present system of operation each department is fitted out in the best possible way so that it may be immediately assembled if any delay or re-arranging procedure is required. The various stores are situated near the department which they supply, and not centralized as was formerly the case. For example, the tube stores are situated in the frame building; the engine parts requiring machine service at a stress relieving machine shop; parts requiring machine work at the machine shop; to a series of stores situated in the erecting shop; the necessary consumable material is available in the store.

FRAME ALIGNMENT

Aligning frames on the frame shop as are the tubes and hinges in the manufacturing and in the form of completed and finished frames. Each frame is examined and planned preparatory to its assembly. The frame jig which defines any possible variation which may appear in the work is checked and corrected by a further "setting" operation in the jig. These are automatically heavily made to avoid "upsetting," so that the frame which leaves the assembly shop is ready to be in production.

We may visit the machine shop where a normal observation showed that the most up-to-date machines were used in every operation. It is planned to carry out the job in the shortest possible time. For example, a batch of ten chain sprockets has the teeth milled out in one operation, timing gear which has the teeth generated "on the fly" and the two or three large components such as pistons and connecting rods are milled and honed on Potter and Johnson automatic lathes.

ENGINE EFFICIENCY

Finishing out of the press shop we needed the assembly shop by way of the main shop and fore. We give only two final stages at the latter shop where we needed the assembly shop and the atmosphere and noise were a little overpowering. In passing, however, we noted a number of improvements which turned out which would shortly be embodied in the production of several well known outstanding designs. The engine which is built in Ardel's factory will shortly be run on the conveyor track system, but the conveyor plant has not yet been installed. The system employed at the end time is noteworthy, similar, since engine parts along the bench from time to time, receiving additions as they go. On completion these are taken to the test shop where they are run in to check the final results, subsequently bundling for one hour or half an hour on a test bench of their own power. Standard test has not yet been installed of 15 h.p., and model "T" engine of 18 h.p. is interesting machine for testing the complete ability to attain standard road speeds. The results on a road test by speedometer change to two wheels having unchanged components. These are revealed by rear wheel rotation, and the irregular component give a series of jerky shocks to the machine which quickly reacts to light duty riding conditions.

From the test bench we passed to the most interesting feature of the works, the new spraying bench. This bench is equipped with a number of small tanks in which frames are fixed by means of a handle through the top of the seat pillar tubes and every five minutes the series of operations being performed. First the frame is dropped into position on the track and the complete engine bolted in below. On such occasions the rear gear, motor and stand, the front fork and steering column gear box, footrests, and alternator. The next operation is the front gear and both wheels, which are fixed down a frame from which building and tyre fitting department. The front and rear chain cases are fitted. The frame is held in position by two chain gears, petrol tank and pump. Small items such as handle and pump are then added and run down of the track to be read test and dispatch mounted. The tractor is returned to the beginning of the track and run on a test bench.

These modern methods in which motor parts have been modelled have enabled production to be increased 100 per cent in the last three months. It is interesting to note that the management consider the most important factor in this increase to have been increased output of the track and system out of gear. The most important feature of being industrialized is the absence of any waiting.

Explorers Use This Car Because It is Dependable

Pioneers and explorers, whose lives depend upon the reliability of the transportation they use, employ Dodge Brothers Motor Cars almost exclusively.

Explorers used Dodge Brothers Cars through the uncharted deserts of Central Australia. Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews, on three different occasions, penetrated the innermost wastes of Mongolia in a Dodge Brothers Car.

The car's dependability is proverbial; and its exceptional riding comfort permits long travel over bad roads without fatigues.

Ford FACTS Ford

Here are some of the Advantages which the New Vaporizer gives on the Ford Models.

Ford Touring Car
£167.

1. The gasoline is completely vaporized, making a far superior fuel mixture which burns more completely, considerably reducing carbon.
2. This thorough vaporization gives greater power, and greater economy operation.
3. It also permits a more even distribution of fuel to the cylinders which causes the engine to run more smoothly and allows throttling down to a much lower speed.
4. Since all of the fuel is actually burned, there is no excess to get into the crankcase and dilute lubricating oil.
5. The Hot Plate eliminates any possibility of

6. flooding the cylinder, when starting and thereby prevents rough idle operation.
7. Even when lower grade gasoline is used a remarkable improvement in engine performance is soon realized.
8. There is considerable increase in mileage per gallon due to the explosion of every atom of fuel permitting a better mixture to be used.
9. One setting of the Vaporizer is sufficient for all conditions of weather and driving due to the vapor entering the cylinder at the same rate regardless of engine or climatic temperature.

Kenya's Problems.

Kenya's problems are not new. They have been known for years. But they are becoming more acute. The most serious of these is the shortage of labour. This is due to the fact that the population of Kenya is not increasing as rapidly as it should. This is because of the high death rate and the low birth rate. The result is that there is a constant shortage of labour, which is a serious problem for the Government. The Government has tried to solve this problem by importing labour from other countries, but this has not been successful. The only way to solve this problem is to increase the birth rate and decrease the death rate. This can be done by improving the health and education of the population. The Government should make a priority of these things.

The Government has also been faced with the problem of the shortage of capital. This is due to the fact that the Government has not been able to attract foreign investment. This is because of the uncertainty of the political situation and the lack of a sound financial policy. The Government should make a priority of these things. It should improve the political situation and make a sound financial policy. This will attract foreign investment and solve the problem of the shortage of capital.

The Government has also been faced with the problem of the shortage of land. This is due to the fact that the Government has not been able to acquire land for public purposes. This is because of the resistance of the landowners. The Government should make a priority of these things. It should acquire land for public purposes and solve the problem of the shortage of land.

What is Nairobi's taste in cinema productions? ... It is, it is suggested, a different attitude to films generally out here and rather a lack of sentiment as such.

The tastes of Indian and Africans, it is declared, are entirely different. The former are fond of the type of the British type. The latter, Mr. Davis suggests, are fond of any kind of film which may be ignored safely.
