CONTROL OF SEDITION IN SCHOOLS.

New Education Act in Uganda.

There has been published in Uganda the new Bill for the control of sedition in schools. The Bill provides for the establishment and re-constitution of an Advisory Council for the Education of the Province. The Council will be composed of the Administrator, the Chief Education Officer, and other members from each district. The Council will have the authority to make recommendations to the Government on questions of general education policy, and to advise the Government on the appointment of the Director of Education. The Bill also provides for the control of sedition in schools, and for the appointment of a Director of Education to enforce the provisions of the Bill.

There also has been formed in Uganda the new Education Board of Elders, which will be representative of the various districts in the Province. The Board will be composed of the Administrator, the Chief Education Officer, and other members from each district. The Board will have the authority to make recommendations to the Government on questions of general education policy, and to advise the Government on the appointment of the Director of Education. The Bill also provides for the control of sedition in schools, and for the appointment of a Director of Education to enforce the provisions of the Bill.

Under the Bill the Governor in Council may, on the advice of the Advisory Council, make regulations for the control of sedition in schools, and for the appointment of a Director of Education to enforce the provisions of the Bill. The Bill also provides for the control of sedition in schools, and for the appointment of a Director of Education to enforce the provisions of the Bill.

The certificate will be issued to the schoolmaster, and will be valid for a period of one year. The schoolmaster may apply for a renewal of the certificate at the expiration of the year.

In practically all cases where the Director of Education is given the power to issue a certificate, he is also given the power to issue a notice to the effect that the school is a "bad school." The notice will be issued to the schoolmaster, and will require the schoolmaster to take steps to improve the school. If the schoolmaster fails to take the necessary steps, the school may be closed.

CEMENT

Unlike many products of the manufacturing world the average man knows little about Cement. All cements look alike but in reality there are VAST differences. It therefore behooves you to pin your faith to a product backed up by the reputation of experienced manufacturers—a reputation earned over a hundred years. Unknown brands of foreign cement are usually cheaper and not uniform in quality or in any way satisfactory in use—indeed, they may altogether ruin an otherwise good job. Every one of these brands of BRITISH CEMENT is guaranteed to be perfect in quality and to exceed the requirements of the British Standard Specification. A copy of the actual test certificate is supplied with every shipment. A printed general list of all foreign brands may be obtained, owing to the variation in manufacture. Therefore, use these guaranteed BRITISH BRANDS.

DISCRETION NEEDED
Do not let it be thought that we are advocating the too frequent hiring of cars, as a rule, in the case of the motorist. The standard is needed in the use of the motor, because of the fact that at 40 m.p.h. and over, particularly in the case of a touring car, the wrong intention, it may turn an otherwise harmless, and even a pleasure, into one of considerable danger. For example, they may be an utterly pedestrian crossing the road, ahead, with the obvious intention of proceeding along the road, and sure to the opposite kerb, and in such circumstances the approaching motorist should slow down and pass behind the pedestrian without making any fuss about it. If the motorist is an experienced driver, he will be able to proceed at speed and give way to a hindrance, he will be able to proceed. Disadvantage of giving way to a hindrance is that the pedestrian who is likely to lead to an accident. Cases in which to look is dangerous, not to hurry, are not so frequent as those in which a note from the horn may avert an accident or, at any rate, a difficult situation, and any driver of a motor car should be well advised to give way to a pedestrian who is likely to lead to an accident.

In their recent visit to Kenya The South African Air Force chose the identical. SHELL MOTOR OILS—The Shell Co. of Kenya offered to Motorists and Travellers offers throughout East Africa. It is stated by Messrs. Leaver Cars Ltd. that as additional concession to those who have Leaver Cars now offer to all those who purchase their cars from them, free garage accommodation in the form of a garage, capable of holding up to ten cars, where the motorist is a Leaver Cars motorist. Leaver Cars also offer to all those who purchase their cars from them, free garage accommodation in the form of a garage, capable of holding up to ten cars, where the motorist is a Leaver Cars motorist. It is pointed out that these special concessions will have quite an important effect on the motorist's pocket.

DRIVING VISION.

How to Cultivate a Wide Field.

TRAINING THE EYES.

Seated in the normal driving position at the wheel, the natural direction of vision is, of course, straight ahead. But just how much can be taken in on either side without conscious effort or important versus momentary with effort on individuals.

It is an undoubted fact that the usual angle of vision varies through very wide limits. To drive a car with the minimum of risk and fatigue it is essential that this angle should be as large as possible—about 120 degrees, which is little less than a complete semi-circle.

SEEING OBJECTS ON EACH SIDE.

To see what is on the pavement level with the eyes needs turning the head slightly. For most people it is possible under ordinary conditions to observe objects on either side—two yards or so ahead and without special effort, but few men that they are able to tell in which points on each side that are much closer than this, without making conscious effort, and taking no special attention of the road immediately in front of the car.

Objects on the sidewalk farther away than this, say four yards or more, present little difficulty to most drivers. They are easily taken in without movement or conscious effort.

The eyes of individuals would seem to vary almost as much as do different lenses in a camera; the photographic change in lens to suit the occasion using one of very or similar view where space is cramped, but one of comparatively narrow angle for more ordinary conditions. Of course, the eye cannot have its lens changed, but the starting one can be trained to work at an extremely wide angle.

Many drivers have undeveloped eyesight corresponding to the long focus or narrow-angle lens in the camera. They look directly ahead or to one side, but cannot do the two together, in the way that one who has developed as good driver.

Such a condition is, if not actually dangerous, a fruitful cause of undue driving fatigue. In an extreme case the neck is being constantly corrected, while, in milder cases the muscles of the eyes are all the while in a state of activity, moving the eyeballs about so as to take in objects at various points in the field of vision.

Ordinary spectacles tests give no indication of a driver's eyesight, and it is not until a driver is asked to spread out both eyesight is considered more than a matter of degree, and those who cannot get along at all without powerful glasses are very apt at it, while others with the sight of eagles, go along miles after miles, turning themselves off by constant shifting about the direction of the glasses.

Just as the expert aviator has as difficulty in keeping the eyes open under water or the diver who uses a microscope all day now finds it more to observe with one eye and to draw with the other, so he who is constantly driving in traffic must acquire the habit of seeing both sideways and forward simultaneously without special effort.

To have to make conscious effort to follow every dog and child on the sidewalk right out of the path way adds materially to the strain of driving.

THE LIMITS OF THE HUMAN EYE.

Of course, it is not possible to see clearly the objects just on the fringe of the field of vision—except to take them in sufficiently clearly to be able to detect immediately any sudden movement, such as tripping onto the road, if all that is required for safety.

Wonderful as some of mechanism what the human eye can do, and how it is best possible for the eyes and nose objects to be brought simultaneously only say a statement to accomplish this would lead, in fact only to severe strain. The habit of taking Cycle Speed Records.

NORTON PERFORMANCES AT BROOMLANDS.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT]

London, April 2
 On the Broomlands track, 2 Boreley riding a Norton under-tyre, ridden by R. M. N. Spring, broke two world's records. In the five-mile flying start, at 100.77 miles per hour, and in the five-mile flying start, at 100.91 miles per hour, the fastest speeds ever attained in the world by a single-cylinder machine. These, subject to the usual conditions, constitute world records.

It is a commonplace that the car is about to pass them, the attention is concentrated all the while on the road ahead until movement of any kind that portends danger from a nearby object is registered.

Any accurate test of the angle of vision of an individual would be very difficult to devise, but such experiments have commenced, the writer that as a man becomes used to driving in traffic he increases his useful angle to 150 degrees or more. Women generally have a wider angle than men, which casual observation would tend one to believe, but certain animals, such as horses and dogs, may be able to sweep round through very wide fields of vision with little or no movement of the pupils of the eye.—(The Motor)

Announcing Goodyear's Sensational Achievement in Tyre Construction

Goodyear now offers a tyre that completely eclipses all previous experience in mileage and serviceability; a tyre giving maximum comfort—yet possessing amazing durability and ruggedness :: :: ::

THIS is the greatest tyre that has ever been offered to the public, and is a typical expression of Goodyear's progressive policy.

The first advantage to you of this new Goodyear tyre is far greater traction and non-skid efficiency. This is achieved not only by placing the diamond shaped All-weather blocks in the centre of the tread, but also by flattening the profile of the tyre to insure greater road contact.

The second advantage to you is greatly improved tread wear.

This is accomplished by the flat design, and by placing two circumferential ribs in the tread at scientifically determined points where the greatest wear takes place. The new All-weather tread wears evenly and smoothly without wavy spots or "pot holes", and at any given mileage shows less wear and less obliteration of the non-skid design than is the case with other types of tyres.

The third advantage is greater protection against punctures and tyre damage owing to the immensely superior protection afforded by the new broad thick tread which extends part way down the sidewalls of the tyre.

In addition to these important benefits the new Goodyear tread makes for greatly increased total tyre mileage, for quieter and smoother running, and for an even better looking tyre.

You will want these new tyres. You will want them for the sensible reason that these new Goodyears cost no more, and that you cannot afford to pay the same price for another tyre that will give you considerably less mileage.

Here are the pyjamas of "Madame's" latest bed-dressing. With it is "the picture" sergides that might have hailed direct from the Spanish Main.

Smaller patterns taking the place of bold designs, and pastel shades according to the conventional taste colours that have been recently sponsored by La Mode, are to be features of the forthcoming season. A concession is to be made to the outdoor enthusiasts, however, in some of the new creations, and sun-bathings. Though the material itself is of a pale tone, a conventional Gishel border is woven into it in some bright hues. By way of change, wide or narrow stripes—sometimes contrasting, sometimes of the same shading—form part of the weave.

ODDS AND ENDS.
There are many ways of using an odd yard or two of cloth. Try an old-fashioned patch-work cushion square in new-fashioned colours, purple, and see how charming the effect will be. The wondrous taste of the various materials appears to be making "fringe" worn with low-cut day dresses. Fringe trims are being used with evening gowns and with some of the most elaborate frocks. So little material is needed that

Fullness in the front of the skirt—one of Dame Fashion's latest decrees—is typically illustrated in this most afternoon gown of grey crepe silk. The skirt is full at the waist and falls in soft, graceful folds to the knees. The bodice is simple and elegant, with a high collar and long sleeves. The overall effect is one of understated elegance.

Both on tailored suits and smart walking frocks the designers are experimenting with a combination of materials. Fringes and smocking for the hoods and collars are made of the same favoured materials. Smocking is particularly popular in gowns of silk and crepe. The use of a fine wool border, either in spots or in bands, is preferred. As for shawls, it looks like being a perennial favourite. Pleated shawls in every variety are worn with jumpers, with cardigans, with heavy coats.

There is quite a "barbaric" spirituality in the newest "pajamas" from Paris. The material is of a light color and has a patterned border. The design is simple and elegant, with a high collar and long sleeves. The overall effect is one of understated elegance.

ON THE COMMENTS ON THE ELECTIONS MAJORITY.

Would Mean Greater Risk of Friction.

WITH NEIGHBOURS

The Times has published a very interesting article on the subject of the possible results of the election of Mr. MacDonald as Premier of the United Kingdom before the establishment of a Federal Africa of central authority, which would be an undoubted step towards a federation of East Africa as a unit.

Following is the text of the important expressions of opinion.

The publication of the full list of delegates, and the full list of speeches delivered at Nairobi last night by Sir Edward Grieg, comes as reminders of the important Colonial Conference which is to assemble in London next week.

Twenty of the delegates are to be represented by representatives of their own countries in person. Though the Government and the local authorities have been invited to send representatives to the conference, they are expected to do so only through their own representatives.
