His Excellency's Optimistic Review in Speech to Council.

HEALTHY FINANCES.

Abyssinian Government to Pay £21,000 as Compensation for Border Raids.

His Excellency's keenly awaited review of the pelitical situation was contained yesterday in a speech to Council which lasted rather more than half an hour. His Excellency indicated that he would deal with impending legislation at a later date in the session.

Her Highness Princess Marie Louise and the Hon. Lady Grigg attended Council and there was a represen-tative gathering of the public.

The Governor spoke of the satisfactory financial position which is even better than had been anticipated and announced that in view of the expected increase is trade, the Railway had placed orders for new engines and rolling stock to the value of £350,000.

An agreement has been reached between the Lenya Government and Abyasinia as a result of which the latter will pay to the Colony by way of compensation for border raids the sum of £21,000. This money will be devoted to the development of the Northern Frontier Province.

BRITAIN'S INDUSTRIAL RECOVERY.

A Big Decrease in Trade Disputes.

(BY WIRELESS.)
Rugby, May 12.

The Ministry of Labour's annual report for 1927 shows that the average number of insured persons in employment last year was greater than in any previous year. Unemploy-ment was 9.6 per cent compared with 12.3 in the previ us year.
The number of trade disputes and the number of working days lost by these disputes were the lowest re-corded during the 40 years for which statistics are available.

The report states one important feature of the year was the growth of a definite movement in which all sections of the community dis played an interest towards industrial peace. That movement crystallised in the invitation from the employers to the trade unions tion of fundamental factors in industrial relations.— British Official Wireles Service

WHY DO CHEVROLETS SCORE??

Because their Pistons Dont!!

THE REASON

Every day Chevrolet Saleamen are asked the question of what is meant by lavar strut pistons and what are their advantages. Few people have ever heard the name, which is a contraction of the word "invariable as this material, when heated, expands less than any other known metal. It is a special nickel steel alloy of extreme toughness and rigidity and is practically the same metal used by the United States Bureau of Standards to construct its gauges and precision instruments.

There are many types of aluminium pistons available having a wide range of efficiency and wear and this piston with two strike of trips of Invar and known as the "constant clearance type" was selected for the voted only after a series of graelling lesis on the General Motors Proving tround "At makes possible a fit between the cylinder walls of 1/5 that of the ordinary aluminium, piston which expands whose headed making necessary accessive clearance between the piston and cylinder walls of 1/5 and sorting, resulting in piston "slap" and oil of the cylinder walls of 1/5 and sorting. The contribution of the cylinder walls of 1/5 and sorting.

A practical demonstration of the controlling properties of Invar strut pistons was held recently. All the water was drained from the radiator of a test car, a blanket was thrown over the hood, and the engine was run at high speed for an extended period without a single piston scoring or sezzing the wall of the cylinder.

Invar strut pistons cost three times as much as the ordinary pistons and have been used for a long time in some of America's coefficiet cars. Their inclusion involves considerable expense further to assure for the 1925 Chevrolet its supreme Standard of Quality.

Comprehensive Report on the Year's Working.

INCREASED EARNINGS.

A Satisfactory Reduction in Working Costs.

The General Manager of the Kenya and Uganda Railway has issued his report for the year ending

The report, which embraces Marine, Harbour, and Motor Services as well as the Railway, follows the customary form—opening with the General Manager's Report followed by an accounts and statistical section and ending with diagrams, photographs and maps.

This last section is an extremely interesting feature of the report and well deserving study. The net surplus on the year's working amounted to 2401,986; whilst the year's earnings were greater by 367,333 than those for 1926.

One of the most striking features of the year was he reduction of working expenses by £65,987.

HIGH COST EVIL IN INDUSTRY.

Over-capitalisation in Lancashire.

COMMITTEE'S TASK

The committee teer usum and ther everything has been done in each trade to get rid of demarcation difficulties and other obstacles to interchange and combination of dimentities and other obstacles to interchange and combination of effort which unduly raise produc-tive costs," state the Committee on industry and Trade in their fourth volume of findings, issued in Britain recently.

The last two volumes will be published soon and the report it self, it is hoped, by the late summer or autumn of this year.

"There is no question that There is no question that the gigantic dinancial operations by which so many of the Lancashire cotton spinning mills became over capitalised have seriously added to the economic difficulties of the cotton industry, "state the committee "An Easy Victim."

Forty-five per cent of the p pulation, moreover, dwells with fifteen miles of one of the twelprincipal ports.

There was a wide disrepancy, it is stated, between the rates of increase of mechanical power at the service of industry in recent years and the productivity per head contrasted unfavorably with the contrasted unfavorably with the United States where, in a similar period, the rates of increase of not industrial production and horse-power per head of employees were almost directive.

Such differences naturally sug-gested the question whether in Great Britain full advantage had been taken of the increased power available.

The proportion of expenses to sales between 1918 and 1825 in-creased by about one-third, an in-crease parth due to improve ser-vices, especially of delivery, and, in the case of the stores, possibly to an extension of advertising second of the series of articles on Native Policies shows the aim in Tanganyika to gather together scattered remnants of one tribe and group the chiefs of those remnants into a governing Council or Native Authority.

PEDERATING TRIBES IN TANGANYIKA

nere there is only one paramount chief, or when chiefs deal with their own sections of a tribe, they have the advice of the old elders who represent a demo-cratic cheek on autocracy.

Tanganyika Government has deliberately revived and supported the power of those old men over the decisions and actions of the chiefs because the elders derive their influence from tradition res-troiced to the control of the control of the stroke 10 fee people and they represent a counter stroke 10 fee people and they represent a counter stroke 10 fee people and they are the political movements.
