AN AMAZING TOWN.

With all the British film studios working in full production as they are now in this first year of the operation of the Cinematograph Films Act, already a practical British film community has been evolved into existence.

Not only are the old studios busy as they have never been, but also new ones are springing up, efficient equipment is becoming general and both fronts taken from among our own people and experienced workers from abroad are steadily contributing to the gradual improvement in quality as an industry of world-wide fame.

The studios situated at Epsom, near London, which accommodate the production of feature films, and Berlin, already comprise two great fronts of 200 and 100 ft. or more, which may differ in size as much as in the number of sets available.

Two new big floors, 225 ft. by 140 ft. and 100 ft. by 120 ft., are in course of construction and within 12 months 12 studios will make 12 different pictures at one time of Epsom's.

New laboratories both for printing and for developing are being added. A large number of sets are being added. A large number of sets are being added.

Special trains stop at Epsom Station, 100 ft. from the studios.

A Great Industry. More than 1200 operators and stage hands, 120 electricians and 2000 workmen, produce films of all descriptions, make their way to the studios daily. The studios are capable of holding 3000 people at a time.

The main entrance is closely guarded. Admittance is given only to those who are on the list of holders from the front office, where numerous minor inquiries are made.

Some of the people who go up and down the stairs leading to still rooms, dressing-rooms, offices, a hair-dressing establishment, the scenery department, the various complex sub-departments of production organization, are men with their two or three bags of tools and their cameras, lamps, lenses and lighting appliances, ready for each different film.

Groups of actors standing from five to 200, in costume and make-up, await their next lot of work, or the change places of the lights, obey the orders of their conductors, the only camera assistants, prop-men, and dressers. Lead the way on a B-S-A

There are relatively few people who are so well-informed in the motorcycle world as the B-S-A men. When the journey of life has come to an end—particularly if the last few hours are busy, interesting and well-remembered—the B-S-A man is likely to be the one who will be most likely to be remembered as the one who has led the way.

SPEED UP PRODUCTION.

A History of the Agricultural Department Since 1924.

ANNUAL COMPLAINT OF INABILITY TO PROVIDE SATISFACTORY SERVICE.

During the brief period which will appear before the 1929 Budget it is available for consideration...

It is well known that the agricultural industry is one of the main sources of revenue...

Related to elementary and fundamental principles, the position appears to be as follows:

The ability of the country to meet the needs of the population depends upon the amount of the industry producing the most essential...

It would be hoped that in a country where great advantages are offered by proper application...

The demands made upon the Department continue to increase to such an extent...

The Director in the same report, urging the appointment of more assistants and officers...

It is an interesting recognition of the need and value of agricultural and research work...

"In order to perform its proper functions with satisfaction to those who are served...

"It is always difficult, and sometimes impossible, to estimate the value of the work...

It will be gathered from the foregoing summary that the Director of Agriculture considered it vital...

It has been appointed to succeed as from November 6, Capt. Dewar was one of the principal figures...

By the death of the Deputy, Mr. St. John, Mr. Mead, Andrew Fisher, Secretary of the Department...

The report of the Director of Agriculture for the year 1928-29 is a valuable document...

The 'Standard' intends to expose the corruption in the country and police the issue.

It is a very difficult, and sometimes impossible, to estimate the value of the work...

Four Prices Reduced

The wholesale prices of all our different grades of wheat flour andatta have been materially reduced from October 1st, and no doubt bakers and storekeepers will make corresponding reductions to the public when their existing stocks have been cleared.

Since the early part of 1923 the wholesale price of our superfine white flour has been reduced by nearly 30%.

The latest reductions have been made possible by co-operation between the wheat growers, who have agreed to a reduction in the price of wheat, and the two leading millers (Unga Limited of Njoro, and the Kenya Grain Mills Ltd. of Nairobi). These millers have reduced their prices to figures which will be absolutely unprofitable, even with the reduced price of wheat, unless their combined sales are increased by 5,000 bags of four per month. They have made the reductions in the belief that such an increase is possible.

CORRESPONDENCE

The Editor does not accept responsibility for the contents of the correspondence, and in all cases the most accurate and reliable information is given as far as possible.

THE CONDITION OF NAIROBI.

The Editor, "The Standard," has written that he has been told by some of the leading business men of Nairobi, and I really think that your country has the best sanitary conditions of any city in the world.

By the way, now that the autumn is upon us, and the flies have been removed, what should be done for the public? I would like to see a fly-killer made for the public to use in all trades, and a disinfectant to be used in all public places.

LOUICER.

The Editor "The Standard" has taken me a few days to write to you about the Louicer, and I am glad to see that you are doing so much for the public.

The first important case in this article is a letter from the Louicer, and I am glad to see that you are doing so much for the public.

Points Note.

In this column it is necessary to mention the Louicer, and I am glad to see that you are doing so much for the public.

The Operation and Maintenance of a Broadcast Receiver.

By G. E. Hightower and A. G. J. A. M. R. E.

An excellent atom detector is an essential feature of any receiver which is required to pick up from a distant broadcast station. It is a combination of different kinds of Part is in the first construction, and is very different from the other part because of "series" energy, which is necessary for the vast distances which it has to traverse.

As the receiver is so necessary to separate these waves energy, it is necessary to have a means of separating these waves energy, having brought their radiating impulses, has fulfilled its function, and is no longer required.

The process of sorting out the waves from the wave producing set to use the antenna, and the antenna, is a very important part of the detector which is essential to the operation of any receiver. It is the only part of the set which is not a part of the antenna.

It is not to be understood that a non-mechanical detector is understood, but the operation can be obtained fairly easily.

There are two main types of detector, the crystal and the vacuum tube. The crystal detector is the most common one, and is the most reliable. It is made of a piece of quartz, which is cut into a certain shape, and is used to detect the waves. The vacuum tube detector is the most sensitive, and is the most reliable. It is made of a piece of glass, which is filled with a certain gas, and is used to detect the waves.

NEW MODELS

"PLYMOUTH"

The Advent of the New Plymouth means that the standard by which buyers have been accustomed to judge automobiles in the very moderate price field must be entirely revised.

The new Plymouth is so much more attractive, so much roomier-it presents that appearance of quality which is so much more evident--and its price is so exceedingly low---that its value is nothing less than phenomenal.

"CHRYSLER 65"

The new Chrysler "65" is an entirely new conception of motor car style. Chrysler has taken details which for years have been accepted as impossible of change or improvement in motor cars and has made out of them an utterly charming ensemble, an entirely new mode.

Nor are the improvements in the Chrysler "65" solely a matter of external design and internal fittings. Chrysler has gone far beyond anything ever previously accomplished in the chassis design of the new Chrysler "65."

Improving Laying Strain Points to be Considered.

The average poultryman has but little idea, or for the matter of this opportunity, to study the scientific theories in regard to breeding, and as a rule has to accept the theories of the local value and prove them right or wrong by practice. The science of poultry-keeping for eggs is a great extent of practical on the laying process of the hen, making in turn a high class average. Laying powers are improved by scientific, and breeding, and breeding intelligently and correctly, and in this article, it is intended to outline the various points that must be considered with regard to the improving and building up of a laying strain, so that as much profit as possible can be realized. What is a strain? It is an individual well bred line, of fowls produced by careful selection, breeding and showing some special characteristics, and the necessary fowls of the same blood. These characteristics are so firmly implanted, one can refer to reproduce themselves in the greater part of their progeny. No matter what kind of birds are bred, it should be the object of the poultryman to, not improve the stock, at least to maintain it at the level.

A simple method for the use of egg production is to purchase a good strain, and to purchase the chickens are hatched from the pen, instead of which pullets, some on to lay fast. These should be hatched, and should be hatched. The pullets which lay well in the first season (June and July) should be given distinctive markings. It is especially largely birds are usually those that moult early and take a long time to get their feathers, come in the poor laying category.

KING OF SPAIN AND DIETICIAN. Report of Serious Disagreement.

CLASH OF WILLS. Reports of a serious disagreement between King Alfonso and his Prime Minister (General Primo de Rivera), were reported in London to discontinue from the Franco-Spanish cable. Cables from Havana and other points in the West Indies show there is a distinct clash of wills and it is rumored that General Primo de Rivera may resign. Rumors of his intention to resign were current some months ago, and the second time he had declined to announce his resignation. The present report, however, seems to show that the King and the Prime Minister are again, and not finally, at odds. It is said that the King has had a clash of wills between himself and the King.

After King Alfonso returned to Spain from his exile in England and Sweden, it is said that General Primo de Rivera contemplated him with a demand for death penalty, and a demand for death penalty, and a demand for death penalty. The King himself, however, is reported to have refused to do so. The Prime Minister advised, and that the latter then requested the King to sign an Ordinance, explicitly expressing his approval of his policy, and the hope that he would continue to do so.

This second report, it is said, the King who refused to grant, and the Prime Minister was indignant, and that the latter then requested the King to sign an Ordinance, explicitly expressing his approval of his policy, and the hope that he would continue to do so.

SQUALOR AND NEGLECT IN SLUM & SUBURB.

More Pictures of the Disgraceful Condition of the Capital.

PLEASANT VISTAS SPOILED.

Revealing Discoveries in the River Road Area.

Water is waiting up to its unclean condition. People with a spark of civic pride have told the "Standard" of their long under-mentioned discovery.

Today's story gives further pictures of the Capital in European suburb or in the same.

IN A PARKLANDS JUNGLE.

Parish's slums and suburbs' slums from the inadequacy of sanitation.

In the residential districts, as in the commercial area, the sanitary attitude is shown to the detriment of the surroundings and more especially to the health of the community.

In an area which should contain the most advanced and most complete open spaces are the most primitive conditions.

It is in a slum area of the River Road area that the worst conditions are to be found.

THE BEAUTIES OF ENGLAND.

Growth of Week-end habit. BENEFIT TO VILLAGES

In the last year or so there has been much criticism of the modern practice of "week-end" working in the villages of rural England and living outside the village to accommodate themselves and their guests. The practice has been deprecated as tending to still further restrict the housing accommodation for farm labourers.

There are another side to the question as shown by the following article in the "Review" translated by Edith Shackleton:

Among much useful and worthy talk of the preservation of the beauty of the English countryside just now one finds frequent the pungent and satiric remarks on week-end cottages from the towns.

There is a healthy assumption that the town dweller who contrives to secure a country cottage in which to spend his week-end leisure is a hearty hater of rural life, despising the village and rural life and otherwise despatching what would be "merry" bits of English wit-out his way.

But I lately translated the dried word "week-end" to a landowner—and a Surrey landowner at that—and was surprised and pleased to hear him say: "Week-end cottages are the salt of many a village, and have done more good to village life than scores of learned and finer lectures on the benefits of Cottage life in a month and all that sort of thing."

The Wage Question. Of course, landowners ought to see that their own people are housed, but country employers ought not to expect to pay the sort of wages that no work cheap cottages and then have the supply of the cottages to the other folk.

"I have over twenty cottages, all let at economic rents, and nearly half of them are occupied by other men's employees—how by second hands, one by the owner's grandson, one by the subsequently purchased old servant of a neighbour.

"I don't turn these tenants out, but, after all, who should'st it? Am I really under a moral obligation to keep down the wages bills of the County Council, the year, and all the rest? If landowners would not only pay an economic wage but might encourage me to build more—that would I should money to the village and, what is more, entertainment, and improvement."

The Quality. It was a very nice mind a row of cottages, built in a handy north-east direction where the lives of the cottagers were "specially transferred by the action of one leaf" of the village week-enders. A batch of cottagers children also covered one of the cottages, and gradually found that the quality some more than better in cottages than they did.

The fact was pointed it held there finally that the usual rent was two pounds a year, but to the cottagers it was "Quality" it would be five. They took the word, and finding a fascinating way, spent a great deal of time there. The cottage week-enders were at first contentment, but gradually found that the quality some more than better in cottages than they did.

It was the Quality who showed them that a cottage can be made to cost much more than light by having fifty years' layers of wallpaper torn and whitewash applied, and it was the Quality of cement and whitewash, by his way, that supplied the whole way.

It was the Quality that set the fashion of having a larger window-pair in the kitchen, so that even the bedridden old-age people at the end eventually found the only building, whereas, and who have defended the town rules of way and open-air lands.

War on the Speller. In many a village, I have kept the week-end inhabitants not the full-time village themselves, who have tactfully indicated, the village advertisements and the village building, whereas, and who have defended the town rules of way and open-air lands.

For more old cottages, probably, have been saved by week-enders, but by farmers and small landowners, and the village in which there are a few scattered week-enders is much less likely to be pillaged by unscrupulous antique dealers than one which has been abandoned from the unscrupulous tenant, and so, consequently, I don't mind it so possible.

If I were a landowner I think I should cultivate week-enders and also them off to my guests and back of them to my neighbours as much as of my wife and of my father-in-law, being convinced that they have a right to country footballs and indeed, one by the husband, because to village life.

ENGLISH CRIMINAL JUSTICE

Its "Irritating Efficacy."

TRIBUTE TO JUDGE

In the "Atlantic Monthly" Mr. Justice Alger, a well-known authority on American Law, writes an article, entitled "The Irritating Efficacy of English Criminal Justice."

He writes, states the "Daily Mail," that, although the general field of corrections in America is behind in its progress as compared with foreign penal institutions, none are so far ahead as that of the United States. There are today four times as many prisoners undergoing penal servitude in the State of New York alone as there are in the whole of the British Isles (United Kingdom).

In mentioning for this comparative study of crime in England, Mr. Alger gives the most credit to the Court of Criminal Appeal, as the institution that determines the whole tenor of our criminal law. Compared with corresponding courts in the United States it is worth its name, and does not add to the attention solely by essentials, instead of by legal technicalities.

Moreover, it possesses the widest possible powers, which enable it to correct any and every miscarriage of justice, however arising, by allowing it to reverse anything done.

Another cardinal merit of the English system is the confidence generally reposed in the judiciary. England treats her magistrates as to whom she is accustomed to look for the maintenance of the dignity of her laws. They are held in more respect than in any other country. There is no appeal against the verdict of the jury. How in America justice is rendered law is usually done by the amateur rather than the expert. We treat our judges, but we do not treat our judges. To prevent bad judges, our law is not a reformed one, only from doing wrong, we have, but a patchwork of prohibitions made it impossible for good judges to act effectively. Other notable advantages of England in the sphere of the prevention of crime are the high efficiency of the police, and the ability of the general public's respect for law, a respect that is not to be overestimated, because it is the English system that regulates and prohibitive legislation should have

Mr. J. W. Mackintosh, chief officer, Birmingham, says that the average result over the country yielded even though in a small population of times greater than the present population. In other words, the difficulty was to get it paid. If required, other estimates were found that might be able to place before the Ministry of Health proposals and information which would enable the prevention of rural water supplies to be dealt with, and that it is not a cure all.

Contests in the Leagues. Outstanding Features.

London, Sept. 20. One of the most interesting features of the present "Season" is the preparation of the football programme for the last Saturday in September and the first day of the "Autumn" season. In the first instance, the programme of English League matches only takes place in the First Division, four in the Second Division, and four in the Third Division, while no first-class British club was successful in any of the four. As the first-class only English clubs had managed to avoid defeat every year before, and no fewer than 4 of the 10 teams had not experienced the peculiar satisfaction of having scored goals before a strange crowd.

First Division Matches. In the First Division the most interesting events were Birmingham by four goals to three, Liverpool by four to three, and Huddersfield by four to three. In the Second Division, the most interesting events were West Bromwich Albion by four goals to one, and Stoke by four goals to one. In the Third Division, the most interesting events were Bradford City by four goals to one, and Luton by four goals to one.

The match between Arsenal and Huddersfield was of a very different character to any other game. It showed all the variety and excitement of a football match. In the first half, Arsenal were leading by two goals to one. In the second half, Huddersfield scored two goals to level the match. In the end, Arsenal won by three goals to two.

The match between Liverpool and Stoke was also of a very different character. It was a very hard-fought game. In the first half, Liverpool were leading by two goals to one. In the second half, Stoke scored two goals to level the match. In the end, Liverpool won by three goals to two.

Flour Prices Reduced

The wholesale prices of all our different grades of wheat flour and atta have been materially reduced as from October 1st, and no doubt bakers and storekeepers will make corresponding reductions to the public when their existing stocks have been cleared.

Since the early part of 1920 the wholesale price of our superior white flour has been reduced by nearly 30%.

The latest reductions have been made possible by co-operation between the wheat growers, who have agreed to a reduction in the price of wheat, and the two leading millers (Unys Limited of Njoro, and the Kenya Grain Mills Ltd., of Nairobi). These millers have reduced their prices to figures which will be absolutely unparallelled, even with the reduced price of wheat, unless their combined sales are increased by 5000 bags of 50 lb per month. They have made the reductions in the belief that such a sacrifice is possible.

before the war supporters—held scores of the most important of her members before. In the first instance, the programme of English League matches only takes place in the First Division, four in the Second Division, and four in the Third Division, while no first-class British club was successful in any of the four. As the first-class only English clubs had managed to avoid defeat every year before, and no fewer than 4 of the 10 teams had not experienced the peculiar satisfaction of having scored goals before a strange crowd.

First Division Matches. In the First Division the most interesting events were Birmingham by four goals to three, Liverpool by four to three, and Huddersfield by four to three. In the Second Division, the most interesting events were West Bromwich Albion by four goals to one, and Stoke by four goals to one. In the Third Division, the most interesting events were Bradford City by four goals to one, and Luton by four goals to one.

The match between Arsenal and Huddersfield was of a very different character to any other game. It showed all the variety and excitement of a football match. In the first half, Arsenal were leading by two goals to one. In the second half, Huddersfield scored two goals to level the match. In the end, Arsenal won by three goals to two.

The match between Liverpool and Stoke was also of a very different character. It was a very hard-fought game. In the first half, Liverpool were leading by two goals to one. In the second half, Stoke scored two goals to level the match. In the end, Liverpool won by three goals to two.

FUTURE OF NATIVE EDUCATION.

Recommendations by Inspector.

STATE AND REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

Proposed Conditions for Grants-in-Aid.

Mr. G. Ernest Webb, Inspector of Schools in the Nyamira Province offers a number of interesting suggestions in the circulating draft of his report on the Kikuyu Education report for 1925.

Regular meetings of the School Area Committees of North, East and South Kavirondo have been held throughout the year and many interesting subjects have been brought up for discussion. Perhaps the most important matter which has been discussed is the proposal to build two Government schools from Local Native Council Funds, one in North Kavirondo and one in Central Kavirondo. The Native in these districts have for a long time expressed a desire for Vocational training and the Government in July, 1925, said Council voted $5,000 for the purpose. The Hon. the Director of Education has the native and functions of Government expenditure required. When attending schools which have been considered include: temporary education of children, registration of village schools and non-attendance of children at school, needs of salaries for village school teachers, situation of Local Native Council Funds.

Grants from Native Councils.

In addition to the $5,000 voted by Council, and a similar amount voted by North Kavirondo for Government Schools, varying grants have been voted by all the Administrative districts for educational purposes. The largest grant for education has been made by the Local Native Council for Central Kavirondo, which total $5,000 for educational purposes for 1925. The 1927 grant has not yet been allocated, but it has been recommended that half the amount be used for teachers' salaries and half for buildings and equipment of village schools already established.

School Sector Organization.

A school sector is to be an area served by one school, so planned that all the children in the sector can walk to and from it daily. The School Sector Organization is to divide up the country into school sectors as far as possible and to have each sector support only such schools as are necessary for economic reasons. The school sector is to be planned so that the possible schools will be close to serve the largest possible number of children. The school sector will be used when possible or as a guide in the future. In order to facilitate the execution of the scheme of School Sector Organization I have circulated all the Districts, and have obtained official and valuable information from each of the 1270 Village schools now registered. I have obtained information under the following heads: Name of location; Name of the teacher; Educational qualifications; Salary per annum; District; Average attendance; Days which instruction is given; Hours of instruction; Whether accessible by road; I have also drawn large scale maps of Central and North Kavirondo, indicating the main physical features from the only topographical map available for the purpose. Information concerning the location of roads and location boundaries I have obtained from the District Commissioners and the Public Works Department, and from my own observations. I have also drawn a map showing the position of 200-ferther 300 village schools. Where the whole of the Province has been surveyed out, I propose to obtain the population of the subdivisions of the Levitts, the 1000s—mean their correct position on large scale maps and definitely fix the boundaries of the subdivisions. Other matters of great interest in many parts of Kavirondo, and the steps with detailed information, the steps is likely to take a considerable time, and practical surveying with a preliminary census will be necessary.

Examinations.

191 candidates for the Elementary B (Vernacular) Examination were entered for the examination. There were 34 candidates for the Elementary B (English) Examination, of whom 60 were candidates for the English language examination in addition.

Teachers and Pupils.

I beg to offer the following observations on the attendance of the 1270 Village schools now registered. I have obtained information under the following heads: Name of location; Name of the teacher; Educational qualifications; Salary per annum; District; Average attendance; Days which instruction is given; Hours of instruction; Whether accessible by road; I have also drawn large scale maps of Central and North Kavirondo, indicating the main physical features from the only topographical map available for the purpose. Management of the Schools.

It is true that some progress has been made in the management of the schools, but the whole work is still in its infancy. Air Defence and the Empire.

The necessity for air, speaking in broadest terms, shall we truly and frankly with the prospect of an development in its relation to Imperial Defence. He added that the British public must give the backing up of an air fleet which would ensure any possible success in the event of a war. He stated that the British public must give the backing up of an air fleet which would ensure any possible success in the event of a war. He stated that the British public must give the backing up of an air fleet which would ensure any possible success in the event of a war.

IMPERIAL DEFENCE

possible as the means to judge to what extent dependence can be placed upon the other services but it is easy to imagine important changes in the balance of power by the establishment of a strong air force on the part of an otherwise unimportant and obscure nation, being able to impose international relations a powerful factor out of proportion to the status of the country under ordinary geographical or military conditions. The possible safeguard to such a position is the fact that development would require to be provided by large scale commercial expansion on a basis for air operations. A factor which is probably, in circumstances being ordinary, to be taken into account is the fact that the development would require to be provided by large scale commercial expansion on a basis for air operations.

IMPERIAL DEFENCE

Imperial defence as of local importance and we have observed a development of the very policy, so manifestly followed in England, France and India to which the Secretary for Air has just referred—his apprehension or submission of raising adequate organization by the aid of aerial. The military force will come before the King's Legislative Council for consideration in a few weeks and that some account comes to us to be a suitable opportunity for a full statement to Government upon the very interesting problem. We are advised also that the Hon. Viscount Curzon has considered a memorandum on the subject of Imperial Defence presented to him by the Secretary for Air. It is possible that the memorandum will be presented to the King's Legislative Council for consideration in a few weeks and that some account comes to us to be a suitable opportunity for a full statement to Government upon the very interesting problem.

SEED UP PRODUCTION.

No. 2. Inadequacy of Financial Assistance To Agriculture.

LESSONS OF THE MAIZE INDUSTRY.

The second of the series of articles on the Agricultural Department discloses that since 1923 the increase in the financial assistance to the agricultural industry is only £13,000.

During that time heavy increases have been made on other services.

The maize industry is examined and extracts from official documents show that at the end of four years none recognised by the Department have very inadequately provided.

The first article of the present series published last week, told the story of some of the unattended needs of the Agricultural Department in the matter of fertilizer itself as extracted from its annual reports.

In the same article the "Standard" laid down what it believes to be a guiding principle in public finance—conservation of original production on the basic source of the wealth of the Colony and the importance of relating expenditure to the task of increasing production.

It is now proposed to show, from official documents, what has been spent on the Agricultural Department of Kenya and by way of comparison the value of agricultural produce exported.

It should be understood that the interest in the maize industry—the "maize expert's" as it is called—is represented in this connection as a common factor.

The Kenia Act.

The Agricultural vote includes the sum allotted for European and Indian agriculture and the expenditure permitted on the Veterinary Department.

I. Here are the figures:

Table with 3 columns: Year, Vote, Exports. Rows for 1924, 1923, 1922, 1921.

The Colony spent only £420,000 last year as against £450,000 in 1923 and £480,000 in 1922.

It will be generally agreed that few requirements are more important to the community, especially the African community, than the maintenance of educational services.

It is not to be supposed that the Government would make any provision for the maintenance of educational services.

Medical Expenditure.

"On This Day"

On this day, October 29, 1924, the following events took place:

1922-23 Average yield per acre 4.23 bushels

1923-24 7.58 bushels

1924-25 7.89 bushels

1925-26 5.95 bushels

1926-27 7.39 bushels

Four years ago, therefore, the maize yield was better than it is at the present time.

Perhaps the reports of the Department may also show that the maize yield was better than it is at the present time.

WHO HAS BEEN RESPONSIBLE FOR THE REGENERATION OF SERVICES ESSENTIAL TO THE WELL-BEING OF THE COUNTRY?

FIRST FRUITS OF THE CLEANSING CAMPAIGN.

Town Clerk's Saving Sense of Honour.

A FIRST EXAMPLE.

The Standard's Campaign in favour of a cleaner Nairobi has had its first fruit from an unexpected quarter. No less important a person than the Town Clerk, Mr. J. H. GILBERT, has taken the lead in showing the proper regard for the public health.

The Manager, East African Standard, Nairobi.

Dear Sir:—I am in receipt of your article on a cleaner Nairobi, and you kindly set the best example by removing the offending rubbish and other refuse from the office of the Standard here.

Yours etc, J. H. GILBERT, Town Clerk, Nairobi, Oct. 27.

Certainty!

This is the reply to the letter from the Town Clerk, Nairobi Office, Municipal Office, Nairobi.

Nairobi, Oct. 27.

Dear Sir,—I am in receipt of your letter of the 25th inst. and in reply to-day's date, and am pleased to receive that our series of articles on having an effect.

As I may have mentioned in my previous articles, it is my intention to issue a book on the subject of Nairobi.

Yours faithfully, LAMBERT B. G. ANDERSON, Managing Director.

Public Support.

The Standard has received several letters from readers supporting the campaign for greater cleanliness in Nairobi.

One correspondent writes: "I believe everyone would feel extremely gratified to see for your own sake that the city of Nairobi is a cleaner and more attractive condition."

Another writes: "I have often deplored the filthy condition of the streets and the filthy condition of the gutter."

Another writes: "I am sure that the public would be only too glad to see a book on the subject of Nairobi."

I am one of those who believe that every citizen of the African continent should be proud to see his own city as clean as the cities of the West.

COURT'S TASK.

A Bungaloo who was well educated and capable of doing any kind of work, but who was unemployed, was the subject of a case in the Municipal Court.

The Bungaloo was a native of the East African Highlands and had been educated at the Government School in Nairobi.

He had been unemployed for several years and was unable to find work. He was a very capable man and had a good character.

The Municipal Council had passed a resolution that any person who was unemployed for more than six months should be liable to a fine.

The Bungaloo was fined for being unemployed for more than six months.

No. 2. Inadequacy of Financial Assistance To Agriculture.

LESSONS OF THE MAIZE INDUSTRY.

The second of the series of articles on the Agricultural Department discloses that since 1924 the increase in the financial assistance to the agricultural industry is only £12,000.

During that time heavy increases have been made on other services.

The maize industry is examined and extracts from official documents show that at the end of four years needs recognised by the Department have been very inadequately provided.

The first article of the present series, published last week, told the story of some of the ungratified ambitions of the Agricultural Department in the work of the Director himself as extracted from annual reports.

In the second article the "Standard" laid down what it believes to be a guiding principle in public provision of agricultural production and the importance of rational expenditure to the increasing production.

It is now proposed to show, from official documents, what has been spent on the Agricultural Department of Kenya and by comparison, the value of agricultural production exported.

It should be obvious, we understand that the interest taken by the Colony and the "Standard" in this matter is not only in the public interest but also in the interest of the farmer.

The Agricultural year includes the same calendar for European and for African crops and the expenditure mentioned on the Veterinary Department.

Table with 3 columns: Year, Value, Export. Data for 1924, 1925, 1926, 1927.

This Colony spent only £242,000 in 1926 to assist in the production of maize and other crops.

The cost of a half-tonne of maize is estimated to be £1.50. The cost of a half-tonne of wheat is estimated to be £3.00.
