THE PRINCE REACHES HOME.

RECORD JOURNEY FROM EAST AFRICA TO LONDON

Prince's Arrival Unexpected By His Majesty.

KING'S COUNCIL STILL GAZE.

Queen Cancels Engagements at the Last Moment.

The Tuesday's bulletin gives little relief to the anxiety created by the King's condition although the reports are regarded as more satisfactory than might have been anticipated.

Deane throngs gathered in the bitter cold and rain of the winter evening to welcome home H.R.H. The Prince of Wales who has completed his journey from East Africa in the astonishingly rapid time of nine and a half days.

His Majesty was not aware of the expected arrival of the Prince who, however, visited the sick-room almost immediately and the King was able to recognise him.

REFORM OF THE HOUSE OF LORDS.

Proposals Moved for its Reconstitution.

AN ELECTED HOUSE

Not Likely to be Given Legislative Effect

BY WHISKEY. Dec. 11.—The House of Commons today has proposals for the reform of the Upper Chamber. It is understood that the Government intend to submit to the members of the House of Lords a bill to make suitable provision for the elective representation of the aristocracy and for such other matters as may be necessary to secure the re-constitution of the House of Lords into an elective body. It is also understood that the Government intend to submit to the members of the House of Lords a bill to make suitable provision for the re-constitution of the House of Commons into an elective body.

VAST CROWD GREETS H.R.H.

REIGNING DUTY. Dec. 11.—A bulletin issued at 11.10 this morning states that the King had several hours sleep. His temperature remains high, but there is no further impairment of his strength.

The bulletin is not regarded as satisfactory and the confidence of the high temperature means that the infection will not be removed. It is stated that the King's condition has not improved, although the fever is not so high.

He was informed at 8.45 p.m. that the King's condition has not changed since the morning.

Foreign Queen.

BY WHISKEY. Dec. 11.—The Prince made the journey from London to East Africa by air. He left the railway station at 11.30 p.m. and arrived in East Africa at 11.30 p.m. He was met by the Governor and the members of the House of Lords.

Compulsory Labour.

TOWN COUNCIL DEBATES CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS.

Full Shopping Saturday Turned Down.

DIVIDED OPINIONS.

The question of whether the day after tomorrow should be gazetted a Public Holiday this year was discussed by the Members of the Municipal Interim Council at their meeting on Tuesday. Two proposals, both made by Councillor Shapley, to the effect that a holiday should be observed were debated.

A letter from the Acting Council Secretary, dated the Council's opinion regarding a proposal to observe December 24 a public holiday had been discussed in the several Purposes Committee, and the Council recommended that the Council were not in favour of such a proposal.

Councillor Shapley, at Tuesday's meeting said that he did not know whether the Council generally was in agreement with that recommendation but he would like to see a public holiday declared subject to exceptions such as provision shops, tobacconists and news paper shops. He considered that it would be an economy on health grounds.

Councillor Hagan said that the matter had been discussed fully by the Committee. The commercial community were leaving the employees, and it was a well known fact that no great profits were being made by the commercial community at the present time. He did not consider that it was for the Municipal Council to subsidize the extra profits should not be made where it became possible. He sympathized with both sides but he thought that Councillor Shapley's suggestion was wrong.

Many Holidays Already

Councillor Lee supported Councillor Hagan and said that when a partial holiday would be a very big consideration for the commercial community. It had been suggested of late that it was a holiday on a Saturday as on a Monday, but he entirely disagreed. It would be a physical impossibility to enter from a Saturday to Thursday. A great deal of merchandise would be ordered to merchants of the Customs office and the trucks were on the streets.

Rating of the Zoo.

LITTLE HELP GIVEN BY THE INMATES.

"STANDARD CORRESPONDENT." London, Nov. 11. Last week was the Zoo's first Christmas and the inmates of these pens were slaughtered, though whether they will be benevolent in nature is a matter of conjecture.

Work was celebrated with enthusiasm at the Zoo, for the animals were not to be put down but something extraordinary was done. The lion, tiger and bear were taken to the zoo where they will be with their mates for a month or two. The greatest surprise was brought out by the elephant which was not only fed but also entertained and rewarded, and when the work was done a colony of the workers distributed a colony of the inmates of the zoo to the inmates of the zoo.

The inmates of the Zoo themselves were not to be put down but the zoo will be a very busy place for the inmates of the zoo. The zoo will be a very busy place for the inmates of the zoo. The zoo will be a very busy place for the inmates of the zoo.

There was no showing to present people, but the zoo will be a very busy place for the inmates of the zoo. The zoo will be a very busy place for the inmates of the zoo.

The DIFFERENCE IS IMPORTANT

THE two machines pictured here show the difference between Supertwist cord used in Goodyear Tyres and the cord used in ordinary tyres.

On each machine one cord stands out, intact and taut. That is Supertwist, a distinct Goodyear development used only in Goodyear tyres.

On each machine one cord is broken or hangs slack. This is the cord used in ordinary tyres.

On one machine Supertwist and an ordinary cord were stretched equally. Supertwist held firm—the ordinary cord broke. On the other, when the tension was relaxed, the Supertwist sprang back, like a rubber band, to its original measure. But the ordinary cord was left limp and distended.

The elasticity and durability of Supertwist cord in Goodyear tyres have reduced blowouts and similar troubles to the vanishing point.

Supertwist is one of the reasons why the present Goodyear Balloon with the tractive All-Weather Tread is called "Goodyear's Greatest Tyre."

BOOK—WORTH.
"STARDUST—OR ORANGEPOPPLES"
 Nairobi, Dec. 10, 1928.
 An impressive and undeniably original and unusual was announced last Saturday, the author's portrait of the life of the late Mr. Nananyku. The book is a real gem of the district, as has been proved in 12 years ago, when the present, townally she was ready, out dated with some of the most, and some watered down, but the general position of the Nairobi lodge.

ONLY A FEW COPIES LEFT OF FIRST ISSUE. Price Shgs. 7/6 of all Bookshelves.

"It is an interesting and amusing book which prompts a number of reflections on official traditions in the direction of placing theories before practical considerations, doubtless a number of these and all other observations are capital reading, being full of that humor of situation which is always missed by heavy newspaper-bearers, rare and unknown in Kenya, were that."—Morning Post.

FOR YOUR EYES CARL ZEISS FOR YOUR CAMERA.

How agreeable to distant eyes the substitution of the really corrective lenses by the much reputed Carl Zeiss lenses which provide clarity from all points to which the sight is directed. The wide field of the Carl Zeiss lenses and the ability of the eye to appreciate the feeling of infinity which arises from the insufficiency of the additional lenses.

Diseases in the Birds.

Causes and Cures.

Readers are continually writing asking for information on the various diseases of poultry and although I have gone over this ground many times in the past, few notes, in alphabetical order, will be of use to file for future reference.

Apoplexy.

General haemorrhage and apoplexy are usually considered together, and to a certain extent is commonly called a stroke, and a sudden alteration in the brain caused by the bursting of a blood vessel. My definition is not supposed to be in medical parlance, but just for the ordinary country farmer.

A sudden stroke may be caused in several ways. Over-feeding; feeding on food of low quality on the head, shaking by dogs or boys. Also, with very highly bred, or inbred, birds, any sudden excitement will produce a stroke. A sudden seizure will deprive a bird of all muscular control.

Bumble Foot.

This term is used for any hard swelling between the toes. It generally takes the form of an abscess and will have a hard core in the center. The foot always produces a great deal of trouble, and a farmer should not be lulled into a false sense of security when he finds a lump on the foot of a bird which will when on and on for weeks. It is not curable and should be removed.

Breathitis.

This sometimes follows a neglected cold. It is an inflammation of the bronchial tubes, which causes a rattling sound in the throat. With breathitis there is seldom any discharge from the nose of the nose should be given internally. Cold was considered in a recent article and may be treated accordingly. Give inhalations, remove mucus from nostrils, eyes and mouth. Use boracic for the nose, and paint the throat with weak tincture of iodine.

Crop-Block.

Crop-Block should not occur with well cared for birds, except in very rare cases. Birds which are fed irregularly are liable, as if they are left hungry one day they will gorge themselves the next. When a bird has over-eaten food the crop is likely to retain any dry green bits of straw, feathers, bones, etc., and this will cause crop-Block.

Service Changes.

The following appointments are notified in the current issue of the Kenya Official Gazette:—
 J. J. Waddington, O.B.E., to be Resident Commissioner, Mombasa.
 H. T. Lambell, to be Assistant District Commissioner, Kisumu.
 H. T. Lambell, to be Acting Assistant Treasurer, to be Acting Chief Stockmaster, Public Works Department; F. B. Butler, F.R.S., to be Acting Chief Officer and Inspector, Department of Agriculture; F. L. Henderson, M.C.S. (Eng.), to be Medical Officer of Health, of the Nakuru and Nakuru Districts and Townships.

The Art of Tuning Your Engine.

Principles-Under-lying Valve Timing and Carburetter Setting. A SIMPLE FORMULA. Part IV.

As regards the amount of initial adjustment possible, this depends upon the engine. Over-slowed engines will usually lose 200 degrees and a racing engine may take much more, according to construction. The amount of spin, as it depends upon the design of the engine, is best given as it controls the car rather than the engine, and as their recommendations are for average conditions, a slightly greater advance is generally advantageous if high-speed tuning is the object. It always pays to fit decompression plugs, so that they can be changed on other, sport and cleaned. Use only the best, here, the cheapest on others, and clean in the end, and adjust the valves according to the characteristics of the engine to which it is fitted.

Set the points to .015 in. or .020 in. in high-speed engines, and between .02 and 20-thousandths of an inch. Do not rely upon the gap set by the maker, which is not always accurate; it is best to have a feeler gauge and set the points according to the design.

The Principles of Carburetion

Finally, we come to the matter of carburetion. The advent of air-fuel mixture, because everything else must be right, or at least in the right order, should be known, before the carburetter is touched.

There are two main air-fuel mixture aspects of carburetter adjustment, the first being to be assured that the mixture is as rich as the engine will burn. The following simple examination must therefore be carried out.

Remove the carburetter, take out the jets or spray nozzles (being careful, in the case of the latter, not to touch the original setting, so that it can be replaced), and clean all the parts thoroughly.

However, the petrol used and turn on the petrol tap for a few seconds to see if the flow is ample in shot, be certain that the fuel supply system, the float chamber and the spraying mechanism are free from any form of obstruction that can confuse subsequent observations.

If the carburetter is of the constant vacuum order, see that the valve or piston works freely, and that the air of the carburetter, that the throttle spindle is not too tight, and that it is possible to check the petrol level, do so in some make of carburetter this is essential.

Books are issued free by the makers of carburettors, and it is always well to arm the operator with a copy before commencing the examination.

Details of the carburetter, those points are superfluous here, and the respective carburetter books deal, as a rule, most fully and handsomely with the mechanical side of the particular carburetter we wish to use. We will therefore, pass on to the more technical side of the principles of carburetion.

In an old engine adjustment of it is with carburetion.

to do: Always understood to what end you make an adjustment, before making it, for even very successful chance shot, the best work needs the manual to understand the physical effects of the engine, and their methods of application.

Carburetion a Compromise

Now in adjusting for speed and efficiency, assuming the first (or open) type of carburetter, we have to employ a choke which covers a number of fixed jets at the valve rise.

Mr. Hiss, owing to his incapacity and Lady Bess handed them for their attendance.

My friend, those who are leaving school of what Mr. Scott, the new Director of Education, said a day or two ago in this Hall.

They have now on that will be an enduring lesson to the memory of some boys of this school who sometimes in life more highly than their own safety or interest than that of their school.

My advice to you who are leaving school is to find something that is worth more than his health, to live contentedly and wisely, and, if need be, to be happy, for a better green gold, a head gone grey in sale.

With apologies to those who are leaving school, I wish to say that I am glad to see you.

To those of you who remain on at school I would say: Work on and play on hard as you can. Take examinations and prizes as they may come, without making them objects in themselves.

Lady Bess then presented the prizes in the order of which the gathering was and joined in the singing of the National Anthem.

The following is the complete list of prizes—

BONE COMMENTS ON THE PRINCE'S SPEECH.

something to contribute in our minds to the great future of our country, and to know the outward sense of it will be a help for us when we cease to be guided by the hand of the Lord.

It is not the least of the Prince's benefits and very sensible activities when he is moving to and fro in the far places that go to make up our Empire he points the path of duty to the rising generation and the only road to our healthy continuance in prestige and prosperity.

The Prince's Staff. By the way, the "Daily Express" although acting as the country's Ambassador to the African Colonies, has the "Times" all the content of the expedition on its own private files.

This expedition is estimated at approximately £20,000, and includes the following principal amounts—

Traveling expenses 41,000 Special equipment 2,000 Transport, boats, a basket 200 Entertainment 200 Fretchlin 200 Camp provision 200

It is an interesting commentary on the financial resources to be used in meeting the increased calls on the financial resources of the Empire, that the Prince's staff has been specially redeployed for his own occupation.
