PROGRESS OF HUMAN CIVILIZATION.
STANDARD OBSERVER.
London, July 25.
The great Parliament of Medicine is now in full swing in Manchester. Before an array of the outstanding statesmen we read today.
Dr. William James Mayo of the United States is the man studying the individual life of the human brain. He is bringing the average life of three years and a half.
Dr. A. H. Burgess, an English presidential address. The latest report of the Viceroy is certainly the most important advice yet made in the history of the Empire. He has shown the danger of a revolution within the next decade.
Dr. Burgess made the startling announcement that the world's population is increasing at the rate of one per cent each year. He has shown that the world's population is increasing at the rate of one per cent each year. He has shown that the world's population is increasing at the rate of one per cent each year.

Kenya and Uganda Imports.

The following figures of trade for Kenya and Uganda for the months January to May 1926 and 1925 are here compiled by H.H. Traill, Commissioner, from statements supplied by the Commissioner of Customs.
The total for home consumption reports in 1926 was £3,110,000 as against £2,228,000 in 1925. The new amounts Great Britain was to pay in 1926 was £27 per cent on the total. The new amounts for 1926 are—
Kenya 1926 £1,294,345. India supplied goods to the value of £150,742 or 11 per cent in 1926 and £103,014 or 50 per cent in 1925. Germany sent five per cent and Japan, India supplied all the goods imported during the year. The value of the goods imported during the year was—

That's Corona's
Middle Name!

A portable typewriter, to give the years of service that Corona gives, must be built substantially. Provision has to be made for the unexpected bumps and falls that are bound to come to a machine that is easily carried anywhere.

You may not treat your Corona roughly, we hope you won't; you may not even travel with it; but, just the same, you will be glad to know that it is built to "stand the gaff"—a sturdy, cheerful little companion.

THE SIX CYLINDER CHEVROLET

A 300 Mile Test of Sedan Model.

GOOD ACCELERATION A PLATTER

The six-cylinder Chevrolet is a most unusual car, both in its general layout and in its performance. To begin with, it is unusual in that it smooths out its valve six-cylinder engine with a rating of 22.8 h.p. and a capacity exceeding three litres in a chassis with a wheelbase of 28.5 inches. The combination of a medium-sized chassis with a big engine and a well-built Fisher body gives a total weight of about 22 cwt., so that although the top gear is ample, the normal cruising speed of 50 m.p.h. can be regained from 30 m.p.h. after a necessary stop in traffic in a matter of 11 seconds, or, for modest 100 m.p.h. in 20 seconds. The car can be kept up for hours without any of the fatigue which is so common to cars, because it runs on such a high gear that its cruising engine speed is so low that it is almost to the fact that the engine revs little more than 1000 in the second. Second gear is useful for really steep hills, but it is not necessary to use it. The engine revs when needed quite rapidly, and when the lower gear is required the clutch is thrown in a matter of seconds, while double-declutching is a definite advantage in order to estimate the engine revs very accurately in order to make a quick change.

High Maximum Speed
The maximum speed which was attained was 60 m.p.h. in a 1000 yd. race, which was fairly high—8.5 to 10.5 seconds in which this car is capable of getting this performance. Owing to the moderate overall dimensions, light steering and a turning circle of 41 ft. diameter, the car has all the handicaps usually associated with a vehicle of moderate size, especially those which are of a larger type. One is usually found only in the case of a larger type of car, but the price, as that it would be difficult to choose an automobile less expensive to drive, than it is almost invariably chosen for. The top gear can be made at about 20 m.p.h. with ease and rapidly thereafter it takes a fairly steep angle-figure gradient to make it necessary to change down again to second.

For example, says the Motor Trucking Hill in Middlesex which was fitted with medium-sized six-cylinder cars down to "land." The chassis was fitted with a top gear on the Chevrolet, the speed increments were all in the range of 10 m.p.h. in a 1000 yd. race, falling to 35 m.p.h. at the summit and then to 20.

Top-Gear Performance.
The top-gear acceleration on the level is also very good. For eight contract. A minor criticism here is that owing to the location and design the back-swept, angled control is rather difficult to release when it has been pulled hard on to hold the car on a hill.

At a point where we noticed particularly is that despite the standard power of the engine the car is slow to drive for hours at a stretch, and it is not necessary to be without the least impression of being in a hurry. This is due to the design of the engine, in combination with the forward design, with overhead valves following previous Chevmost practice; and the "latter" engine, as provided with a pump attachment to smelt energy from the motor. The car was driven hard during our 1000 yd. test, but four people took gave an average consumption of 100 m.p.h. for each tank is looked after by an A. C. distributor. The front of the car can equally well be used for a touring car. Although the crankshaft is a very sturdy proposition, it is not necessary to be without the least impression of being in a hurry. This is due to the design of the engine, in combination with the forward design, with overhead valves following previous Chev-rook, and consequently cannot be used when the car is being driven at high speed. The body is a whole mass of sturdy job, quite free from rattles or drumming; all six windows are provided with winders and all doors can be locked. The well-known Fisher V.V. motor, which while slightly over-engineered, and while it is not the best first, still stands up well, and is a great asset to the car. A point which is worth noting when considering or doing the thing when possible force has to be applied in the handles, the catches being still.

Turning on, the Chevrolet impressed on a being-to-use a little less-than-optional value for money, although value both by its workmanship and performance. It is true that the car is high, but in a great extent the trouble is regarded as offset by the low seats and moderate running gear.

Engine of the 6-cyl. Chevrolet, 26.3 h.p.

These models were illustrated in the book, on which the foregoing test was carried out. The price was set at the Sedan £270, Tourer £250, Coach £250. The agents for the Chevrolet are the Motor Mart, 114th Avenue, Nairobi.

GEOLOGY'S VALUE TO A YOUNG COUNTRY.

To small compared to the large masses which would be developed from these deposits. It is not necessary to discuss the geological value of such water, as it is well known that it is a valuable source of water for all climates.

In the case of the water in the rocks, it is necessary to consider the conditions under which it is formed, and to see whether it is likely to be of any use to the country.

When the survey is finished it will be possible to determine the value of the water, and to see whether it is likely to be of any use to the country.

The geological value of such water is of great value to a young country, and it is well known that it is a valuable source of water for all climates.

TOWNSHIP DEVELOPMENT.

(REARER) (COMMUNICATED) Nairns, Aug. 15.

An interesting meeting of the Ruira Association was held last week when the members present included Mr. C. A. Ansell (Chairman), Major Kitson, Col. H. Maclean, Mr. G. Woodhead, Mr. J. M. J. Johnson, and Mr. W. J. Johnson.

The Ruira Association also attended the proposal of maintaining the District views in regard to road maintenance, and the knowledge that the Department of Public Works is to be made for road building and that it may be found close at hand provides a valuable incentive.

The action rendered by the public in later connection with the road is of great importance, and it is well known that it is a valuable source of water for all climates.

tion, the bare minimum of profits to provide a fair return is given as the greatest priority to the Imperial Commission. The memorandum takes the present position of the industry in Uganda as the basis for its recommendations. It is estimated that the production of cotton in Uganda for the year ending in 1927, 1928 and 1929 is 12,000, 15,000 and 18,000 respectively. It is estimated that the present acreage is 15,000 acres.

General Recommendations.

While the memorandum says it may be argued that Uganda is an "overgrown" to a certain extent, it is not so. It is a country which is "over-grown" indeed it is felt that the present acreage of cotton is over-grown. Indeed it is felt that the present acreage of cotton is over-grown. We'll give you London

Very little of the social season is left for us to regret. All this year we were well and full of the joy of our social life. It will not be long before we will be able to meet our friends at the standard dinners, in comparison of which business will have had the same. This being so, it is very natural for business to be going on as usual.

And the general summer holidays, we must get down to the serious business of getting the season, some a year forward to the extent that was a noticeable feature of our last year.

As Lord Maitland-whom Sir Alfred Maitland carried out some of the most important investigations in the history of industry, he may be said to have taken an interest in the progress of the British Empire as an economic unit.

He explains his ideas in his book, "Industry and Politics," pointing out that the ultimate position of the British people in relation to the rest of the world must depend upon the proper organization of the Empire's resources.

The Future of Day's Day's Theatre, like the Gaiety and several others, has had a very successful run since its opening in London. It is probable that it will probably fall into the hands of the talking film man.

There appears to be most worrying and waiting and standing of teeth in theatrical circles because of the coming production of Hardy's famous discredited "Tess." It has brought a talented woman to the stage of the Theatre.

Anyhow, it does not seem as though we shall have to bring American products that did not come to London, that she will spread after over-production.

The Ring. This title has no reference to the spirit of the French opera—well by the way, they left me that figure in London in popularity with the British opera-going public.

Many memorials of the past remain, such as St. George's Cathedral, which stands in a somewhat isolated position.

There are, I think, about one hundred and seventy thousand employees in the British Empire, and the members are being called to be "sharp look-out" for working days.

EAST AFRICAN COFFEE AND STOCKS.

Remarkable Progress in Recent Years.

CARE FOR THE FUTURE.

The Times publishes the following report regarding East African Coffee and Stocks.

Table with columns: Year, Quantity, Value. Data for 1914, 1913, 1912, 1911, 1910.

The total receipts from Uganda Kenya in 1917 amounted to 12,000 tons, while those from Tanganyika were 6,200 tons, making a total of 18,200 tons.

The corresponding figures for July 1, 1927, were 4,700,000 bags, and for 1928 they were 4,771,000 bags.

On June 1 last these quantities of coffee were estimated at 5,084,000 bags, while at the date of the East African plantation industry which has been mentioned.

It is in this case it seems that the income of the company must suffer unless business increases or fares are put up.

INCREASE IN CURRENCY COUNTERFEITING.

Spread of Crime Since the War.

LEAGUE MEASURES.

There has been a post-war crime wave in the counterfeiting of currency. The monetary authorities and the vigilance of the police.

In the good old days a counterfeiter was hunted without further ado, but modern legislation is a good deal milder.

This situation led the French Government in 1926, to suggest that the problem should be taken up by the League of Nations.

The Convention which the counterfeiting parties to punish counterfeiters of their own and contains extradition clauses to make sure that counterfeiters are brought to justice.

It is thought that, especially now, it would be prudent to pay attention to working out the details of the Convention.

MOTOR NEWS From Road & Showroom

INSURANCE POLICIES ANALYSED.

No-Claim Bonus and "Agreed Value"

THIS "KNOW-FOR-NOONE" SYSTEM.

Insurance has always been a vital matter with motorists, who probably take more interest in their motor policies than in the many other forms of insurance with which the average man comes himself acquainted. Therefore, it is only fair to explain why the insurances of day appear to expect treatment from the insurance companies which would never be considered in connection with his household policy.

For example, writes H. J. A. in "The Astorian" a no-claim bonus is now given on renewals of all motor policies. No doubt this has come about through the keen competition in the motor insurance world and is decidedly to the motorist's advantage, but no one seems to have considered that a similar discount should be offered in connection with any other form of insurance, yet competition in this field has always been very great.

The explanation as to the no-claim bonus practice appears to be the fact that there are practically only two items which will give a new policy can be made to show any apparent advantage over those framed several years ago by the old established insurance companies: reduced premium in one and increased no-claim bonus in the other. Most other extraneous items, which when printed in display type, look so important, are often of little consequence, and may, in fact, be embodied in most other policies.

An increased bonus, however is not always better, but a deduction with the lowest rate, and it does not follow that a schedule quoting a low premium for one size of car also offers as favourable terms for other sizes. An example, in the schedule on the next page, in which the policy offers a low rate for an 8 hp car and is as high as the tariff rate when a 20 hp car is concerned. Also, in one policy among the twelve here reviewed, a big discount for no claim is offered, but the rate for certain cars is higher than that in the tariff schedule.

There are now over a hundred different motor policies from which the motorist may select one best suited to his requirements. When "The Astorian" policy was introduced some five years ago it definitely filled a public want for motorists of that day who had very few policies framed expressly for them. Any new policy introduced today, however, must be a better one proposition, and therefore cannot offer fundamental differences sufficiently important to be of any real value.

The insurance business to-day is a science in which all the factors are known, at least by the experts of the insurance world. For years past statistics have been compiled which enable them to calculate risks of all kinds, and all insurances are based on such figures. Motor policies cannot be any exception to the general rules of insurance, and the proof of the soundness of any particular policy is only to be found in the underwriter. If all claims are remunerated just and the backers make a profit (it could never proved exact) that is an inference behind the fact of continuation it may be assumed that it is a sound financial proposition. The insured is interested in either the commission, or as far as it concerns the act of payment of his claims. If any company or syndicate carries on together with a particular attractive policy all at the same time meets all just claims, it is the best one of nobody but those directly concerned in the payment of the claims.

The different policies now available may be classified under three headings:

(1) Those of low tariff rate.

(2) Those of "Agreed Value" type.

(3) Those of the first heading are issued by certain insurance corporations who agree, among themselves as to what the tariff and "no-claim" rates shall be. These policies, it is claimed, are founded on statistics which support the companies' contention. The rates are usually higher than most of the policies in the other groups which is explained by insurance officials in this particular group as being due partly to the fact that their working conditions are perhaps value to stand alone; they do not, as is said to be the case with some non-tariff companies, allow the more preferable branches of insurance to support the views of the motor department.

If this be the case, it is somewhat strange that the rates of motor insurance business pay be worth having if it opens the door to other transactions which bear a profit, but, as far as the present writer has yet to learn of a motor policy which offers special terms to those holding policies in other branches of insurance issued by the same company. Everything considered, it may be said to assume that motor insurances are not so unpredictable as some would have us believe.

The second group—no tariff policies—are issued by companies who put and the backers make a profit (it could never proved exact) that is an inference behind the fact of continuation it may be assumed that it is a sound financial proposition. The insured is interested in either the commission, or as far as it concerns the act of payment of his claims. If any company or syndicate carries on together with a particular attractive policy all at the same time meets all just claims, it is the best one of nobody but those directly concerned in the payment of the claims.

The different policies now available may be classified under three headings:

level it may be found that the lowest premium do not include many items which are not included elsewhere. In many of these, provide for equalities for which an extra premium is demanded in other policies.

Under the heading "Damage to Car by accident," the tariff prospects included—

"Lamps, tyres and accessories, damage by accident resulting from mechanical breakdown or other causes, and such as may be required by third parties, and damage by theft."

In the prospectus for policy No. 2, this item is very similar, but includes, in addition, "expenses including accident fees, burglary, housebreaking and theft." From the prospectus No. 1, it is practically the same, but, perhaps, makes the word on points clear. In the tariff prospectus for motor and auto, it is under another heading.

Prospectus No. 4 mentions that the car is covered:

"At any level, covered, overhauled, tested or when worn or tested, by falling, overturning, 'hit or other' collision."

(While No. 5 is similar and includes "hit or other" circumstances) are mentioned among the items.

One of the prospectuses expressly mentions that the car is covered "whilst in use, whether driven by insured or any other person with or without authority."

This "whilst in use" clause is a very important one in view of the case reported in the press last week in connection with the vehicle of a motorist. It is reported that a third party claim for £2,000 against him through the negligence of a chauffeur who had taken the car without the owner's knowledge. Herein the driver's license was said to be the governing factor. It is just a matter of initial output, but if the governing motorist action in the event of an accident. After all this is what an insurance is for.

If the various items are considered:

KENYA'S WEALTH OF GOOD TIMBER.

Research Institute, it was estimated that the forest area in the country was 20,000,000 acres, of which 10,000,000 acres were under cultivation. The remaining 10,000,000 acres were in a state of natural growth, and it was estimated that the country was producing 100,000,000 tons of timber annually.

It is estimated that the value of the timber produced in the country is 100,000,000 shillings annually. This is a very large sum, and it shows that the country is rich in timber. The timber is used for a variety of purposes, including building, furniture, and paper.

The Government is taking steps to ensure that the timber industry is developed in a responsible manner. This includes the establishment of a Forest Department, which is responsible for the management of the forests. The department is also responsible for the regulation of the timber trade.

preparatory treatment of cedar timber, which has made great improvement recently and has been successful in producing a very high quality of wood. This is a very important development, as it allows the country to produce a high quality of timber which is in demand in the world market.

The Report also indicates that the value of the timber produced in the country is 100,000,000 shillings annually. This is a very large sum, and it shows that the country is rich in timber. The timber is used for a variety of purposes, including building, furniture, and paper.

The Agricultural Commission.

To the Editor, "E.A. Standard."—It is my very much in agreement with Mr. Collins over the appointment of the Agricultural Commission on the Agricultural Commission.

It makes the whole Commission hollow. If only three members ought to be that of a witness. I cannot understand your leader, Mr. Conway Harvey, agreeing to sit on the Commission under these conditions, perhaps it will have an effect on the subject.

It is something we must remember and that is that the Director is being thought by sitting on this Commission he will be unable to give us on time to call a conference any in person.

Yours etc.

MEMO OF NAIROBI INDIAN AREA.

To the Editor, "E.A. Standard."—Mr. May, I, through the medium of your paper, call the attention of the Municipal Council to the urgent necessity of installing electric lights on the New Fort Hill Road from its junction with Swamp Road. The road was completed three months ago and it is undoubtedly one of the most important roads of the town. A great deal of traffic passes on it. Many motor-cars have been built along the road, but the Municipality has not yet awakened to its obligation towards the rate-payers of this area. I remember that the Town Council, only some two years ago, passed a resolution to the effect that lights will be put up on some of the roads was ready. It is difficult to understand the reason why the Municipality has not yet taken any steps in this matter. The work of constructing drains in this area has been completely delayed on account of the fact that there are no drains in this direction. The inhabitants of the magnificent houses so rapidly put up in this area, suffer great inconvenience owing to the absence of drainage, merely for want of drains. Those who have invested several, and some pounds in putting up substantial buildings are certainly entitled to at least the ordinary amenities. The mere fact that there are no drains represents on the part of the Municipality a gross neglect of its duty of providing drainage for the area. It is a disgrace to represent a Municipality which has shown a perfectly decent attitude in other matters, but which is so negligent in this respect.

The Boers Used Sevons

The marksmanship of the South African Burghers became a by-word throughout the world. Their selection was the 7th rifle corps of 275, Manner, and it is strange that this weapon, perhaps the most efficient of the small bore, is not more popular in Kenya. Karanja has shot all his elephants with it, so it is no wonder.

We stock them, made by Mauser, at 200/-, and 280/- and by Rigby at 245. Ammunition—Kynoch 40/-, Western Hectors 50/-, and Rigby 75/-.

THE FINAL TEST MATCH

South Africans Record Score.
Verharen's Triumph Over Lord's Club.

UNPAID LITIGATION BY SUICIDE.

(BY WIRELESS.)
London, Aug. 25.
The fifth and last of the series ended at Hampton Court on Tuesday in a draw. When play was concluded on Monday, the South Africans were on 208 for the loss of five wickets. With the score at 8 wickets down, Deane, the fourth batsman, declined the innings—obscure. The principal bowler was Taylor, D.L. James, R. Worral, B.C. Gibson and Macmillan. Hobbs and Phillips opened England's second innings, with the first innings. With his total at 211 runs, he was the only batsman who was then joined by Hammond and at the close of play, the English total had reached 256 for the loss of one wicket. Phillips had scored 100 net out, and Hammond 103 net out.

Disappointed Fans.
England had thus completed a three game series in the second time in the match. This is the fourth century in which the famous Yorkshireman has made two separate centuries in a match, and the second time in test matches. He has also equalled his own record for parallel international records.

The match record was achieved in the course of the final test and that by the second was achieved in total of 495 for 8 wickets and the last was achieved in England's second innings.

The previous test score which South Africa had made was 404 against England was 404 for 8 wickets down, at Deane in 1924. In 1924 he completed 420 for the loss of a similar number of wickets at Johannesburg. There are the only centuries in which the tourists have exceeded the fourth century. The best score ever scored by a batsman in a test match in England in 1921, when 300 runs were scored.

Deane's Record.
Deane's first of scoring two centuries in his career has been accomplished the performance he achieved in Australia in 1924. He scored 118 in Sydney in the second innings, his 104 in the first being 20 runs. Later at Melbourne he scored 177. In the latter match he was limited to the seventh day, but he had scored 177 runs in the first 90 minutes, mainly for 177.

The other records which the famous Yorkshireman has completed against South Africa that of scoring in the second first and second wicket partnerships. The former was achieved in 1924 at Leeds, when, in company with Jack Hobbs, he put on 258 in the second innings. Both were achieved at Johannesburg, in 1927. He has also completed 118 in the first test on 118 runs. He was completing 100 in England's first match. Yorkshire's country was his sixth against the South Africa's first at Johannesburg and on South Africa at Johannesburg.

Hammond, the Gloucestershire batsman, scored his second century during the course of the present Test. He was the only batsman who had scored a century in his first test match. He had scored 118 net out. And he had scored 118 net out. And he had scored 118 net out.

The following are the results of the previous five tests:

- At Nottingham—June 15. England 248 and 209 for 7 wickets. South Africans 208 and 271 in two hours.
- At Leeds—June 25. England 262 and 212 for 8 wickets. South Africans 220 and 99 for 4 wickets.
- At London—July 12. England 238 and 129 for 5 wickets. South Africans 228 and 208. England was by 4 wickets.
- At Manchester—July 27. England 422 for 17. South Africans 229 and 208.

COUNTRY CRICKET CHAMPIONSHIP.

Verharen's Triumph Over Lord's Club.

WORTH AND LANCASTHIRE OVER.

By taking first innings from Lancashire, Nottingham was still further along the road to championship honors. It set the County Plate club back apace, and has had the further effect of sending them down the ladder in the table.

In only three games of the eight days' duration was there a definite result achieved. Yorkshire, Hampshire and Sussex all gained the maximum points, but in the case of the remaining matches, the first innings settled the issue. In two instances the home club took the major portion of the points in these cases, but in the other instance the visitors had the pinnacles. Surrey and Derbyshire each had singular successes as the former was visiting Gloucester and Peak County were at Dover, in the stronghold of the Hop County.

(PROBABLE RESULTS AHEAD.)

London, August 25.
The following are the results:
Gloucestershire vs. Surrey. At Cheltenham.
Surrey won on the first innings.
Kent vs. Derbyshire. At Dover.
Derbyshire won on the first innings.
Leicestershire vs. Essex. At Leicester.
Leicestershire won on the first innings.
Warwickshire vs. Somerset. At Birmingham.
Somerset won on the first innings.
Sussex vs. Worestershire. At Bournemouth.
Hampshire won by 4 wickets.
Yorkshire vs. Middlesex. At Bradford.
Yorkshire won by 106 runs.
Kent vs. Lancashire. At Trent Bridge.
Nottingham won on the first innings.
Gloucestershire vs. Essex. At Stranmore.
Essex won by 181 runs.

At Nottingham—Aug. 17. England 264 and 204 for 7 wickets. South Africans 422 for 8 wickets in 4 1/2 hours.

An Unhappy Side.
In opening three draws out of the five matches the South African team took a medium of comfort. They failed in their task of defeating England in the rubber, but it is doubtful if they were fairly expected to repeat anything like that. Indeed had they gained a single victory in any of the series they have been well content. Fans, however, are not so kindly with them and that they have been expected to repeat their three months' success for the side.

Indeed, they have managed to make a new error in the Union. They were inclined to make a side cheaply in the first two instances, and on both occasions the result of the situation. One might almost say that the country became a little penny, but that the fourth match put a different complexion on the matter.

The South Africans can claim the Brown of Perth in the cover of the rubber. They had no other alternative they would have succeeded in their first test match, and had that been the case they would not have been so much the right. They have proved that they are not so much being really brilliant.

TO POPULARISE RACING.

Jacky Knoch's Decision to Reduce Prices.

NOT PROVING POWERFUL ATTRACTION.

(STANDARD CORRESPONDENT.)
London, July 24.
The reduction of the price of admission tickets for the racing season is a matter of importance to the racing public. It is significant of the new spirit which is being introduced by the totalisator. The coming year will be an important one in this connection, and it is not to be doubted that it will be widely welcomed in all quarters.

"STANDARD" CORRESPONDENT. London.

The question of a pension to Matthew Wallington, the sole survivor of the Livingston band, has been raised by a Petition by Mr. Wallington to the Privy Council. Mr. Wallington was the only survivor of the expedition and the only soldier who had been wounded by the Under Secretary for the Colonies.

"STANDARD" CORRESPONDENT. London, July 27.

Every man's mind concerns the fact that the expedition was not likely to have possibly to keep cool. Naturally, such a man, if he has been through such a hard time, has the most terrific stories of recent years. People who know the East described it as a strictly, conditions of the time were there immediately before the noonday, and the intense storm was accompanied by an alarmingly cold wave, created in instances, those which herald the coming of the rains on the West Coast of India.

Water shortage.

The rain did little to relieve the water shortage which is proving extremely serious in most parts of the country and widespread starvation in some districts are really with very regular water supplies.

INSURANCE POLICIES ANALYSED.
No-Claim Bonus and "Agreed Value"

"KNOCK-FOL-EROCK" SYSTEM.

 The prospectus for the latest policy (No. 1) contains the following: "This policy will cover the insured against risk which shall be defined as destruction of the motor car... with the owner's consent."
 There is no reference to the fact that the insured must be in the car, but the actual policy specifically states that the insured must be in the car.
 This indicates that the prospectus does not always coincide with that of the policy.
 Proposition No. 3 and 4 mention "with assured's knowledge consent." In No. 5 the word "phrasing" is "in the prospectus or any other properly authorized document," while in paragraph 6 the words "loosed drivers" appear.
 The further prospectus embodies the following—
 (A) That the assured by his own act or through any other person,
 (B) Any accident or direct driving with the assured's consent.
 From the above it will appear that the company concerned requires the distinction between a policy and a contract to be maintained, and B and provides for it. This policy no doubt complies.

period. One of these is the "no-claim bonus" system.
 Agreed and Insured Value.
 It is probably true that the majority of motorists are of the opinion that the declared value of the car exceeds the value the insurance was made represent the sum which would be paid by the insurance company in the event of total loss. This is parallel to an expenditure of 100 for a car which is found faulty after a considerable time.
 Those who frame insurance policies have a way of phrasing what they mean, confining, to those unfamiliar with legal phrases. The actual prospectus under review does not mention the "no-claim bonus" system, but a printed report "full value" as a basis of payment with a car of the same type and of the same value as that of the insured car.
 "Agreed value" Proposition No. 1 clearly states—
 "If stated the company will endorse the policy against a sum value for the car, and the value stated will be paid in the event of total loss."
 In No. 2 under this heading "The value stated in the policy is admitted in the event of the total or partial destruction of the insured car."
 This means that the agreed value is the actual price of the car or the value appraised by a surveyor or the value of the car as it is when sold or repaired and the assured.
 Proposition No. 4 states that "In the event of total destruction or loss insured value will be the replacement value."
 Proposition No. 5 goes to great length on this point, and in the "In the event of total destruction or loss insured value will be the replacement value."
 In the event of total destruction or loss insured value will be the replacement value. In the event of total destruction or loss insured value will be the replacement value.

depreciation over a "stagnant" period. It is true that the actual value of the car will generally be less than the agreed value in other policies and the cost of the car when it is sold. In other words, it is the insurance company which is benefited, in every case, decides the question of value.
 Of late months has been heard the "knock for knock" principle prevailing among insurance houses. This system is one in which the insured who is damaged cars being in collision, each of the two companies concerned pays its own amount and an objective law case which would be secured if an accident were made in a court of law to give one of the companies the full cost of the damaged car, most materially saved on crediting the use in the amount of premium, since it is obvious that the insurance companies had to subscribe to heavy expenditure in litigation those who insured, would necessarily pay it.
 Motorists are not particularly interested in the internal arrangement of insurance companies but they seem to consider that the system militates against them in connection with the allowance of the no-claim bonus when a claim has been settled regarding an accident which was the claimant's parties.

"Knock for Knock."
 Those insured. Certainly those who did not suggest the principle is embodied in the policy. One of the best recent prospectuses reviewed above only says that in the event of collision at the point. One of these is Proposition No. 6, where it is stated "Payments made under agreement with other insurance offices in cases where the car insured by the assured was stationary at the roadside at the time of the accident shall not be regarded as losses for the purpose of calculating no-claim bonus."
 "Knock for Knock."
 The other 11 in Proposition 10 are not of the same nature. Indeed, one of the objects of the system is to avoid the application of the law. In this prospectus the following is found—"In the event of underinsured making any payment whatever under this policy, which they would not have been called upon to pay or which they could have recovered in full but for the existence of an agreement made with other party, insurance company, or underwriters, and fails, so much as to lose the benefit of the no-claim bonus, the insured shall not be regarded as having been insured."
 At first sight this certainly appears very attractive, but if one reads it more closely one will see that the assured will prove that he has not been insured in the event of an accident. It is not possible to say whether the principle of insurance companies and underwriters, and fails, so much as to lose the benefit of the no-claim bonus, the insured shall not be regarded as having been insured.

THE COLONIAL OFFICE PROGRAMME

In the House of Commons at the end of last month a statement was made by the Under Secretary of State for the Colonies that the Government will decline to appoint a Clear Commissioner in East Africa, after the publication of the Annual Wilson's Report. It is probable that the Government will not make a statement in Parliament. Parliament has been prorogued and recesses in October. The question was raised by the Under Secretary of State for the Colonies.

Mr. Ormsley-Gove asked the Under Secretary of State for the Colonies when the Report of the Annual Wilson on the agreement reached at Addis Ababa regarding constitutional changes in East Africa will be published. He stated that the Government has received the support of the Government of Tanganyika and Uganda, as well as of the present Governor for Kenya, and when the policy of His Majesty's Government in regard to these proposals has been published in a Supplement to the Times in the country in East Africa. The right hon. Gentleman will be asked regarding the publication of the report. A statement was made in the House of Commons in regard to the publication of the report by Mr. Ormsley-Gove. He stated that the Government will not make a statement in Parliament.

"Multiplair" Belting

Has no plies or folds to come apart. It is treated with a special proofing which makes it practically waterproof. It is unaffected by climate; is suitable for the Tropics. It has a pattern form which prevents slip and prevents getting on the rollers. It is woven in very long lengths and is dead true in running and weight.

To the Editor, "E.A. Standard." Sir—It seems to me that a pity that the East African Broadcasting Company does not make their less—this is a very high quality of music. I know several being popular and would like to see them in the hands of our people. When they make their first record, I would like to see them in the hands of our people.

JACOB'S ROYAL COMMAND BISCUITS

Biscuits may seem to be a luxury, an accompaniment to daily needs, or an excellent treat in themselves. Jacob's makes them all. In Jacob's SELECTED ASSORTED there are biscuits that suit every meal in the day; Jacob's CHEESE ASSORTED are especially appreciated by special command to H.M. King George V. Jacob's ORANGE CREAMS are rich standard biscuits, full of the favour of fresh fruit.
