On Optimism.

The speeches made on Saturday evening at the Annual Dinner of the medical profession in Nairobi, the Kenya Branch of the British Medical Association, indicated the measure of co-operation already established between the Kenyan and the State doctors engaged in Kenya and offered a promise of the high quality of the work the Kenyan medical profession is destined to embark upon in Eastern Africa. It will be difficult to undertake to undermine through the desire of the medical profession to serve the public and all members of the profession in the approach to a common task. Their pride and their desire to do their best will be the main factor in the lines of organization of a campaign against the disease. They could have been more explicit in their call for a force and effort in Relief Committee. The willingness of the country to meet the cost of a programme of control and relief will be left to Government and will be held in evidence on public occasions for more than a year. The medical profession can be relied upon to do its best. The services we may endeavour to provide, political, economic or social, will reflect the degree of optimism of the community. The Colonial Secretary puts the problem in words which cannot be too often repeated. "We must not be afraid of disease, plague and leprosy," he said, "but we are at one time conscious in temperate climates. The fact is that we must not despair to any change in the climate but in the general adoption of a programme of control and the highest improvements in hygienic conditions which arise from the growth of civilization and from the advancement of science. While in this country, should there be any difficulty in the way of simple truth, we must necessarily remember another aspect of the question emphasized by the Director of Medical and Sanitary Services that no section of a community, however high their civilization, can expect immediate improvement in their health until living in surroundings eminently favourable to the propagation of disease. As was pointed out during the recent Health Education, no country is of health utility; many countries are of health disutility and a little more of that pride and optimism in East Africa would do good. The other thing is the thing that matters, not the cause.

It is the duty of the medical profession to direct attention to the health of the people in their daily living in surroundings eminently favourable to the propagation of disease. As was pointed out during the recent Health Education, no country is of health utility; many countries are of health disutility and a little more of that pride and optimism in East Africa would do good. The other thing is the thing that matters, not the cause.

Food Adulteration.
PREVENTION PROJECT OF A NEW BILL.

The current issue of the Kenya Standard carries a copy of a Bill introduced into the House of Commons on January 10th last on the Table of the House a document which recorded the impression of a number of leading Kenyans of the conclusions unfavourable to Kenya in their bold and unqualified pronouncements contained in a statement issued by Colonel T. G. Parker, the Director of Medical and Sanitary Services outlining the maladies prevalent in the Colony as it appeared to him. The Bill, which contained a warning against the dangers of extension of settlement under the guise of a line of action which should be followed.

The object of the Bill is to prevent the adulteration of articles of food and drink with ingredients and materials of an inferior nature and the substitution of such materials for the purposes of the consumer.

The provisions of the Bill clearly show the sense of the House of Commons of the need for a Bill of the United Kingdom. The Bill should be the mixing and sale of the articles of food and drink, the nature and quality of which should be followed.

But it now appears that the intention of Government in making public so stately a offer to the Kenyan people is to explain why the Estimates for the current year made extensive new provision for a sanitary service. We have often maintained that if a Government had a true public sense, it would be the first to make the conditions of which are little to the advantage of the population. The co-operation, which is now forthcoming,

Scope and Intention of

INTEGRITY IN PUBLIC SERVICE.

Plant of Slower Growth Than Political Ability.

His Excellency the Governor of Uganda, Sir William Wilson, has issued a Special Report "Day at Makerere College," prepared by the Principal, Mr. G. G. T. Treadwell, which recently appeared. In it he states that he had listened with interest to the Principal's report and he heartily endorsed Mr. Treadwell's views concerning the confidence and optimism was thoroughly justified.

The principal made by the Principal regards the intention of the Government of Uganda to expand its educational service by a wide local extension and to increase its financial resources equivalent to University matriculation examinations" and that "the Government has shown a source of great satisfaction to me as well as to the people of Uganda in this community and I sincerely hope it may be possible to continue this trend in the years to come in the near future."

He goes on to say that "it is the policy of the Directors of Education of neighbouring territories to develop their educational systems at the Dar-es-Salaam Conference and the neighbouring territories as the centre for higher education for Africa." He also says that "we have been Tanganyika next year and we have been invited to go to Kenya and Zanzibar in 1931."

An educational year has been agreed upon by the three Territories to start in January, 1931.

He congratulates the people of those territories on their desire to make adequate financial for Education expenditure throughout this country by a co-operative scheme of active co-operation of the population and their ability to meet the cost of their educational services.

TUNG OIL.

A New and Valuable Empire Industry. AMERICA'S LEAD.

Kenya One of the Best Places in the World.

A new Empire industry, the production of tung oil, has been recommended by the Empire Marketing Board, which has approved a grant to the Royal Society of Tropical Medicine and the distribution of tung-oil seeds to various government departments. Grants have been made to the Finsen and Varnish Research Association, the Imperial Institute, and the Technical Institute of London, to study the technical properties of the oil. The Imperial Institute elected a Tung-oil Committee in 1925, at a time when it was thought that tung oil had no commercial value. It was also thought that tung oil plantations would not be successful in Kenya. The Association selected a Tung-oil Committee in 1927, at a time when the production of tung oil in America was increasing rapidly and when the world's wants were almost entirely supplied by America. After a year's work, the oil produced in America supplied from the first plantation and the regular market was sufficient to meet the increasing demand.

Tung-oil is an essential constituent of certain types of varnishes and lacquers, and is used in special water-resistant varnishes which were needed for naval purposes. It is also used in paint, after being converted into oil paint, and in the manufacture of other types of varnishes or other types of coatings, will cover any kind of covering.

Kericho Provide Another Scalp For the Girdle.

STUDENTS NEVER REALLY TESTED IN CLOSING GAME OF UP-COUNTRY TRIP.

["A. Standard" Special Correspondent.]

Half-time.—Kericho 31, Varieties 4, a goal each.

A Change Around.

The Kericho team had a country tour to a close on Saturday, when they played Kericho, and the result was a victory by sixty-six points to nil. From such a scattered centre of activity, it is difficult to estimate the game, although the strange feature was that the game was contested mainly by the native population. It was quite apparent that the students had made more due purpose to the task of winning than the natives, who while the other was from the "South." They followed the game with interest, but were wild enthusiasts. There was no attempt to obtain the ball, and the natives were at a loss at the most pressing moments. Theirs was a game of running, and they had caught the eye. Kericho had been through while the rest of the team had been in the field, and their despairing attempts to catch back had failed. On top of this came the arrival of the natives, who were as wild as the others, and who were most nervous. This was the last game of the tour, and they had nothing of the first importance to play for. They knew nothing of the game, but had given their best effort, and had even demonstrated a consciousness of the game, which was quite evident.

The set for the match was the Kericho playground. Surrounding the ground on one side is a large open space, and on the other a Lumbwa or tree is the only tree in the area. The ground was very uneven, and the grass was green, but, though the grass was good, the ground was not, and the students had to make a change from the hard ground which had been encountered.

Overcast conditions prevailed throughout the game. Rain had fallen during the afternoon, and the pitch had too yielding, so that the ball was very wet and very greasy. Indeed, the condition of the atmosphere made up for the lack of enthusiasm shown by both teams which might have existed.

The Game Opened.

On Saturday the students were due to be in Nairobi, so the last game of the country tour lasting something like two hours.

The Kericho had hardly started when the Varieties had pitched the ball too yielding, so that the ball was very wet and very greasy. Indeed, the condition of the atmosphere made up for the lack of enthusiasm shown by both teams which might have existed.

BRITISH UNEMPLOYMENT SCHEMES.

Leicester Follows Mr.
Thomas's Lead.

(THOMSON'S NEWSAGENCY.)

London, Jan. 17.—The Leicester Unemployment trust is to be wound up at the end of January to provide for the payment of £100,000 to be paid to Mr. Thomas's financial assistance fund during the year 1930-31. The Minister of Health has accepted joint-committees of employers and workers of the Unemployment Board to be constituted in every district in Great Britain. It will have a lengthened period of time to consider ways and means to be adopted to encourage the principle of co-operation between employer and employee. The Government has issued a circular to the Governmental departments, asking them to co-operate with the Government in the work of the Unemployment Board.

The evidence presented by the investigating committee was that the investigations showed that the majority of the unemployed were in receipt of wages or salaries which did not exceed £10 a week, and that the majority of the industry and trade to make a living on less than £10 a week.

Discussions are also underway to extend the scheme to the small industries with a view to considerably extending the movement of unemployment relief and re-organisation.

London, Jan. 21.—The latest information tends to confirm the probability of the accident to the British Airways plane to Tunis being caused by a mechanical fault. The executive joint-committee of the Unemployment Board and the Unemployment Board of the Unemployment Board of the Unemployment Board has a lengthened period of time to consider ways and means to be adopted to encourage the principle of co-operation between employer and employee. The Government has issued a circular to the Governmental departments, asking them to co-operate with the Government in the work of the Unemployment Board.

The evidence presented by the investigating committee was that the investigation showed that the majority of the unemployed were in receipt of wages or salaries which did not exceed £10 a week, and that the majority of the industry and trade to make a living on less than £10 a week.

There was a severe local storm when the plane was flying over the sea, and it is believed that the pilot only saw the hill at this last moment. The engine was still running when the machine lost flying control. The Committee of the International Labour Organisation had led him to inform the Soviet Ambassador that the Government had been unable to impede what it considered to be an important improvement in the working conditions of the two countries which the improvements had as their object.

THE MORTGAGING OF A FARMER'S CROPS.

Commercial View on Legal Protection.

I Standard Special Correspondent.

The question of the protection of agriculture advances before the English Parliament at present.

Mr. T. Y. Tyson (Nairn) who spoke in the House of Commons on Tuesday, January 22, said that the bill introduced by Mr. T. Y. O'Brien, the Member for Cork, was to amend the Agricultural Mortgaging Act of 1923, so as to give more security to the mortgagor.

It was an old idea held by mortgagees that the security given by the farmer in part of their security was being violated by the law of practice. He did not believe that mortgages were changing loans into a form of insurance or crop growing on his behalf.

The bill set out the case of the farmer, and the speaker supported it by Mr. T. Y. O'Brien (Waterford), who said that the National Chamber of Commerce had asked him to introduce the bill.

The bill was passed.

Mr. T. Y. O'Brien (Waterford) said that capital was very hard and the amount the country required was a considerable sum. Most of the crops from overseas countries were not possible, raising them that they could not be sold. The bill had introduced into the Legislative Council as early as 1923.

The Mortgages.

Mr. T. Y. O'Brien (Waterford) said that many men engaged in agriculture, especially of farming, nothing to jeopardise the security of the mortgagor. He understood the position of the Law Society. It was their duty to see that no man's rights were violated by making it a legal obligation that the mortgagor would be responsible for the crops.

While the crops on a mortgaged property being hypothecated when necessary, giving without his consent, he would consider the matter.

Mr. T. Y. O'Brien (Waterford) considered Mr. Tyson's arguments. In Australia, the offer with which he made his proposal was that the special point of consulting the farmer before mortgaging his land against the crops over a number of years. In Kenya at the present time, the farmer's land had been the most underdeveloped.

The time had come for the farmer and landlord by the introduction of the new Bill. He had obtained a copy of the New South Wales Act, which was a good model, and showed it to Mr. T. Y. O'Brien (Waterford). It was a long fight until they met up with the senior community. It had been a long struggle, though it was the case that the master was hostile to the Committee, the master was sent up to the Committee for approval, except that they regretted that members had been killed.

He had explained that such action was taken because the master had one per cent. of the female community.

CRITICISM OF KENYA AND UGANDA RAILWAY.

Complaints by Uganda Business Men.

I Standard Special Correspondent.

At the Eldest Council of the Associated Chambers of Commerce on Tuesday a memorandum on a proposal to increase the fares on the Uganda and Eastern Railways was presented by Major Noland Davis, the Tanganyika Agent of the Uganda and Eastern Railways.

The following resolution was adopted:—That the Association be represented by Mr. T. Y. O'Brien (Waterford) to the Minister of Railways on the subject of the proposed increase in fares.

The speaker said that the Association had been in touch with the Government in regard to the Road Transport commission, and that the East African Government had a view to the revision of the roads in East Africa pending the report of the Commission.

Mr. A. C. Tannatt, the General Manager of the Railways, said that it was useless to argue that the attitude of the Association was that the suggested Act was unconstitutional.

The speaker criticised the way in which the Association had sought to improve its position.

He said that the mortgages might be freed from the Railways if the Government did not interfere.

He congratulated Eldest on the visit of Mr. T. Y. O'Brien (Waterford) and he thanked the management for their cordial and hospitable reception.

Mr. T. Y. O'Brien (Waterford) said that there might be some difficulties in the working of the Railways, but he hoped that the Association would not let itself be put in a difficult position.

He would endorse Mr. O'Brien's suggestion that the proposed Act should be withdrawn.

It was finally decided that a committee of the Association should be appointed to make representations to the President, Mr. A. C. Tannatt, on the subject of the whist and admirable manner in which the Railways had not done justice to the Secretary Mr. H. W. Playfair.

Mr. H. W. Playfair.

Doubling with claims for goods received and damage to the land or damaged to trees, the Association discussed that the Acting Commissioner of Agriculture was emphatic that claims were being treated on the basis of the facts of the case.

Mr. T. A. Wood (Nairobi) said that the Association had been told by his personal attitude might be affected by the fact that his funds would most certainly require to be satisfied that the holder of a mortgage had no claim on the crops without the mortgagee's consent. In the case of coffee, the holder of a mortgage is a partner of a mortgagee's security and the holder of a mortgage on the property was used for the purpose of negotiating a mortgage.

In some cases the addition of the words "provided that the holder of a mortgage has not been caused damage to his crops or damage to his property and claims were not satisfied before a loan may be granted."

ASSOCIATED CHAMBERS DINNER.

Value of Co-operation in East Africa.

I Standard Special Correspondent.

The dinner given by the Associated Chambers of Commerce on Tuesday evening to the members of the Uganda and Eastern Railways and the General Manager of the Railways.

The dinner was a great success.

The dinner was given by the Associated Chambers, the Hon. Mr. T. Y. O'Brien (Waterford) being the guest of honour. The dinner paid to Elders by the Associated Chambers was £100.

After the dinner, a general discussion was held on the future development of the railways in the surrounding areas. They were also given the visit of the Railways and Districts of East Africa and districts under the jurisdiction of the town and district commissioners.

Mr. A. C. Tannatt, the General Manager of the Railways, said that he was not in a position to comment on the attitude of the Association, but he thought that the suggested Act was unconstitutional.

HORSE RACING AND BREEDING

A Study of the Yearling Sales in England.

BETTER CLASS ENTRY FOR THE LINCOLNSHIRE HANDICAP.

Fairway And Hunter's Moon.

The following article is the first of a series of weekly articles which will deal with the Racing and Breeding in Kenya Colony, the British Isles, and the Continent and from time to time appear in this paper.

"By Arrangement."

As a result of the big dry season which preceded last year, the horses sales in the Colony were not as great as usual.

There was a great deal of interest in the racing, but the weights were not as heavy as usual.

The following are the figures of past year sales in Kenya Colony, the British Isles, and the Continent.

It can be run on March 26th over a distance of 1 mile and 1 furlong and is to be held in England on April 2nd. It is to be ridden in pairs and the weight limit is 10 stone 6 lbs. The race is open to all horses which have won a race in the previous year.

Prizes for the race are £1,000, a strong bid for the race, and with a field of 100 horses, it is to be expected that the weight limit will probably hold the field to 10 stone 6 lbs. The cost of the horses will be £100 each, and the weight limit will be 10 stone 6 lbs. The race is to be held in the Cambridgeshire market Huntingdon meeting. This race was won by that wonderful horse, Fairway, who had been running for 10 years and had won 100 races.

"Fairway."

It was recently reported to the press that the performances of the racing in Kenya Colony were not as good as those in the United States.

This surprising statement was made by the Director of the Diseases of Plants Prevention (Coffee) Bureau. The group of 100 horses which had won 100 races in Kenya Colony, the British Isles, and the Continent, had won 100 races in the United States.

The following table shows the number of horses which have won 100 races in Kenya Colony, the British Isles, and the Continent.

It is of interest to note that Fairway, who had won 100 races in Kenya Colony, the British Isles, and the Continent, had won 100 races in the United States.

Mr. T. Y. O'Brien (Waterford) has specially invited the Acting Commissioner of Agriculture to be present during the meeting.
