Having only four bought animals, Mr. H. J. Ayres of the Masai Hills today 60 head of cattle...

He has been 25 years stockbreeding and dairying in Kenya and his small Limuru property is modelled on New Zealand lines.

High milk yields are the reward of his work. The leading principle which has led him to success were discussed by him with a special correspondent of the 'East African Standard' during his present tour of dairy districts.

He believes in stating his convictions quite frankly, whether they deal with any native stock as a fountain-head, or his English-bred animals, or some people who call themselves dairy farmers.

No. 3: A Limuru Dairy.

(By Mr. H. J. Ayres, Limuru, in an interview with the 'East African Standard'.)

In the opinion of Mr. H. J. Ayres, the success of a dairy farm depends on the quality of the stock and the care of the animals. He emphasizes the importance of selecting good breeding stock and maintaining high standards of hygiene and nutrition.

Mr. Ayres notes that the Limuru dairy has achieved high production levels through careful selection and management. He mentions the use of imported animals and the importance of a consistent supply of feed and water.

He discusses the challenges of dairy farming in Kenya, including the need for improved veterinary services and better infrastructure. He stresses the importance of education and training for dairy farmers.

Mr. Ayres also touches on the economic aspects of dairy farming, including the need for fair prices and access to markets. He suggests that government support and subsidies could help improve the profitability of the industry.

He concludes by expressing his optimism for the future of the Kenyan dairy industry, provided that the necessary reforms and investments are made. He encourages other farmers to adopt his methods and principles.

Mr. Ayres emphasizes the need for a 'two essentials' approach: unremitting supervision and high production. He argues that these are the keys to success in dairy farming.

He further elaborates on the importance of supervision, noting that it is essential to monitor the health and productivity of the herd. He also discusses the need for high production to ensure the economic viability of the farm.

Mr. Ayres provides more details on his breeding program, including the selection criteria for his animals. He mentions the use of pedigree records and the importance of maintaining a high standard of genetic quality.

He also discusses the importance of nutrition and health care for the dairy herd. He mentions the use of various supplements and the need for regular veterinary check-ups.

Mr. Ayres concludes his interview by reiterating his commitment to the improvement of the Kenyan dairy industry. He expresses his hope that his experiences and insights will be helpful to other farmers.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH, NAIROBI.

Need for a New Building. The annual meeting of the congregation of St. Andrew's Church, Nairobi, was held on Saturday, March 7, 1912.

The meeting was held in the evening and was attended by a large number of members. The Rev. Canon St. John's presided over the meeting. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

The main business of the meeting was the consideration of a proposal for the construction of a new church building. The Rev. Canon reported that the present building was in a state of disrepair and that it was necessary to erect a new one.

The Rev. Canon proposed that a committee be appointed to investigate the matter and to report back to the congregation. The committee was composed of Messrs. J. P. O. W. and others.

The Rev. Canon also reported on the work of the church during the past year. He mentioned the success of the Sunday school and the various social and religious activities.

The meeting closed with a prayer and a hymn. The Rev. Canon thanked the members for their attendance and for their contributions to the church.

The Rev. Canon concluded his report by expressing his confidence in the future of the church and his hope that the congregation would continue to grow and prosper.

THE PROBLEMS OF THE DAIRY INDUSTRY.

There is no doubt that the dairy industry in Kenya is facing a number of serious problems. These include the need for improved veterinary services, better infrastructure, and fair prices for the milk produced.

One of the most significant problems is the lack of adequate veterinary services. This is particularly true in the rural areas, where the distance to the nearest veterinary station is often great.

Another major problem is the need for better infrastructure, particularly in the form of roads and railways. This is essential for the transport of milk and other dairy products to the markets.

The issue of fair prices for the milk produced is also a major concern. At present, the prices are often very low, which makes it difficult for the farmers to cover their costs and to improve their standard of living.

It is clear that these problems need to be addressed if the Kenyan dairy industry is to have a bright future. This requires the cooperation of the government, the farmers, and the consumers.

The government should take steps to improve the veterinary services and the infrastructure. The farmers should continue to improve their methods of production and to maintain high standards of hygiene.

LADIES' FASHIONS.

A Letter from Paris.

The semi only, sometimes one belt, sometimes two. For a woman who is not of all-round shoulders, there is very pretty. The most elegant style for a look of the all-shoulder look, is the one of the new style, or three or four. The original model, the skirt falling full from the waist, and bands of gonging at the top.

This style of gown has made its mark in the world, and is particularly popular here with the entire continent. The correct tone is a small one of pinkish green or elegant red, suitable for use with sophisticated taste.

This is being used in a new way by the fashion designers. They make brilliant silk which comes out in the form of a long, narrow, and five or six feet in length, are decorated with fine lines in shades of white and black. These lines are placed with fine lines on the skirt.

The idea of the dress is to have a bodice cut in deep V-line at back, front and sides, with similar stripes.

over the arms. The hips are fitted with careful cutting and pinning as in men, and the fullness comes in the knee with wide girdles of silk or tulle. The lower skirt is fitted with left with a row edge, as in men, with a wide, or narrow half of black, turquoise, or red, which falls from the waist. The bodice has a faint design of a row of black, and a narrow half of black, and a narrow half of black, and a narrow half of black.

To go with the Froak. To go with a froak like this is a small, round-shaped jacket, which is to match the hair knotting. It has small, round-shaped jacket, which is to match the hair knotting. It has small, round-shaped jacket, which is to match the hair knotting. It has small, round-shaped jacket, which is to match the hair knotting.

New Jewels. Ornaments to go with evening.

The idea of wearing a nightgown, this piece over a fairly long skirt is an "evening" as it is up to date. Here the dress is made of imported tulle, and the coat of gold lace.

gives me most attractive. With tulle frocks are wornable made of many strands of fine frosted beads, with half patterns of delicately tinted glass droplets to be seen through the tulle. It is a new idea to have slender strands at the back and all the big ornaments in front. They crystal have from bands of very big diamante, tulle, or turquoise ball, or both.

POTATO BOUILLI. For maintaining special purposes, you naturally wish to make, say, a potato bouilli. To do this, you take a pound of potatoes, wash them well, and cut them into small pieces. Put them in a pot with water, salt, and a little oil. Boil for about 15 minutes, until they are tender. Drain them well, and serve with butter and herbs.

N.B. Report for 1925. The long-delayed Report for the year 1925, which was published by the Department of Kenya last week, is a most interesting and important document. It contains a detailed account of the progress of the Colony during the year, and is a valuable source of information for all those interested in the affairs of the Colony.

Plans for a £250,000 dam on the R. Lawrence River at Harare for a 1,000,000 horse power hydroelectric scheme have been approved by the Board of Commissioners. The dam is to be built on the Lawrence River, about 10 miles from Harare, and will generate 1,000,000 horse power.

GOOD EQUIPMENT MAKES A GOOD FARMER BETTER

Big Capacity Drill.
Saves Work, Time & Money

The McCormick-Deering
20-Furrow Tractor Drill

A Drill you Cannot do without for planting
Green Manure

The McCormick-Deering
One-Horse 5-Disc Grain Drill

Big and strong for tractor use. An extra large grain hopper helps you seed more land with fewer stops for refilling.

Reg-proof construction. Frame of rigid angle steel beams forms a bridge-like support for the grain hopper.

Light draft. The 20-furrow power-lift McCormick-Deering grain drill rolls smoothly on dust-proof bearings and easy-running steel wheels.

Simple, accurate power lift. A slight pull on the rope sets the clutch in action. One operation of the clutch lowers the discs and applies pressure. Another operation returns the discs to a raised position. The lift automatically throws the grain lead in or out of gear.

The 5-disc grain drill is designed for drilling green manure in orchards of coffee, etc. It is suitable for seeding wheat, rye, oats, beans, etc.

The drill is easy for the operator to handle. Two drive gears supply the power to operate the seeding mechanism, which is fluted feed type. It is also equipped with a fertilizer attachment.

The outside disc furrow openers have shields to prevent injuring the low branches of the tree. Openers are adjustable for 6, 7, or 8 inch spacings. The width of this machine is 36 inches.
