From Nairobi to Laikipia and Roundabout. BY MRS FRED MATTHEWS (Edith Cook Parky)

(Continued from previous page) As the long, hot day passed, our anxiety increased. No sign of the wagon! All our food and most of our supplies were gone. We were forced to water, and to make more water, and to find more food. We knew where the wagon had got to. Mrs. Matthews had a vision of leaving camp for the purpose mentioned, and the idea of leaving camp for the purpose mentioned. If it was not to be our last, it was certainly going to be our last. We had to get out of camp as soon as we could, and to get out of camp as soon as we could, and to get out of camp as soon as we could.

Sir Francis Burnand

"About Some Humorists." (The views of a few of our "Punch" on some of our leading humorists are really funny.)

Sir Martin Conway

"Romance of Mountaineering." (One of the greatest explorers and climbers of the age describes how his fascination of mountaineering grew out of the derelict.)

Sir H. Seton-Karr, C.M.G.

"An Exciting Day in British East Africa." (Every day has its big game hunter's paradise, but rarely anything and anything from a lion to a duiker—an antelope not much larger than a hare...

Queen of Roumania

"If were a Millionaire." (One of the Queen of Roumania's charming essays. That the author, although a Queen, is far from being a millionaire, and is in fact rather poor, the distinction, namely adds plausibility to the article.)

Judge Parry

"The Funniest Thing I ever Saw." (Many people consider "What the Butler Saw" to be the funniest thing ever seen, but the creator of it holds other views.)

Tom Gallon

"The Art of Choosing a Wife." (The genial author of "Daintier" is his best vein when dealing with a subject of this kind.)

E. F. Benson

"My Favorite Pastimes." (The author of "The Solitary City" needs no introduction. His narrative pastimes are striking and other minor sports, and his articles about the reader who has not spent a holiday in the Alps feel that to be writing something...

Hubert Bond

"On Keeping Up Appearances." (Hobart) Desires to be better known in the Colonial than he is at present. His articles while full of disconcerting home-truths, are cleverly delivered.
