Attitude of France Towards Reparations.

UNDERGOES A LAST MINUTE CHANGE.

FATE OF CONFERENCE IN JEOPARDY.

M. Herriot Withdraws from His Earlier Standpoint.

The fate of the Reparations Conference is in jeopardy owing to another last minute change of attitude by France following the return to Lausanne of M. Herriot, from Paris.

After an all-day discussion it is understood that M. Herriot will only refuse to yield an inch, but even succeeded from his earlier standpoint. He is said to have finally asserted that if the Conference was not satisfied with the French terms, the original Yugo-Slav must continue.

He declined to discuss Germany's demand for the deletion of the "war guilt" clause from the Versailles Treaty. He also refused to entertain the idea of a new demands.

The "War Guilt" Clause.

As the result of an agreement reached at Lausanne, the Allies have decided to accept the terms of the Versailles Treaty, but they insist that it is a condition precedent to the signing of the final peace treaty that the German Government should accept the "war guilt" clause.

Lord Moyne's Review of Budgetary Position.

FURTHER EXAMINATION WITH VIEW TO ECONOMIES URGED.

Too Costly Administration?

SCALE OF PUBLIC SERVICES GREATER THAN CAN NOW BE AFFORDED.

If it be decided that the financial situation and prospects make further taxation unavoidable, those who have to bear new burdens may fairly ask that they be lightened to the utmost, by a further examination and application of the maximum measures of economy and consolidation with administrative efficiency.

The foregoing is a passage from that part of Lord Moyne's Report which the Financial Commission reserves Kenya's general Budgetary position.

Lord Moyne says an additional ground for re-examining the cost of Government establishments is to be found in a comparison between revenue and expenditure in 1925 and in 1922. He quotes figures which, he says, point to the conclusion that the scale of public services is greater than the Colony can now afford.

A Reasonable Demand.

In a review of the Colony's general Budgetary position Lord Moyne in the course of his report says: "The Colony of Kenya has in 1925 scarcely failed to balance its budget out of current revenue, but successive deficits have been incurred since December, 1925, and it is estimated that the deficit for the year ending 31st December, 1926, will be about £100,000."

Table with 5 columns: Year, Gross Revenue, Gross Expenditure, Surplus or Deficit on year, End of year. Rows for 1922, 1923, 1924, 1925, 1926.

It will be seen from this table that the Colony's financial position within those of the year 1926 was not one of the most satisfactory. The fact that the Colony's accounts for 1926 are not yet audited is a further indication of the financial difficulties which are being experienced.

THE BUDGETARY POSITION.

has been made this year and a total of £100,000 on the current estimates as against the 1925 total has already been secured; most notably, an increase of £20,000.

The 1926 estimates, as passed by the Legislative Council on 27th June, 1926, provided for a surplus of £73,000, which is £226,546 less than the original estimate of £299,546 as compared with the £440,000 estimated in the Budget for July, 1924. Total letters were issued to the extent of £1,197,221, and the total amount estimated to be received was £1,197,221.

The 1926 estimates, as passed by the Legislative Council on 27th June, 1926, provided for a surplus of £73,000, which is £226,546 less than the original estimate of £299,546 as compared with the £440,000 estimated in the Budget for July, 1924.

Recoverable Expenditure.

In the figures given above for the 1926 estimates, there is no account in any of the following items of the recoverable expenditure which is shown as an item in the balance sheet of the Government.

Causes of Difficulty.

The widening of Kenya's financial deficit has been due largely to the need of the Government to meet the various external payments made in the course of the year.

Revenue Commission.

It would be hard to overstate the importance of this body in the future of the Colony, and it is to be hoped that the Commission will be able to make a valuable contribution to the development of the Colony.

Effects for Economy.

In the early months of 1926 the financial position of the Colony was such that it was necessary to consider the possibility of a reduction of the scale of public services.
