 plight is desperate. She has already exerted her supreme effort,
 and she cannot repeat it. She cannot win, she has no hope. She can find hope only in the prospect

Nairobi's Premier Theatre. Proprietor T. W. RADELY.

GRAND MID-WEEK PROGRAMME FOR THURSDAY & FRIDAY, Feb. 3rd & 4th, 1916.

OVERTURE ... By Theatre Royal Orchestra.

1 Pathe War Gazette. A lengthy chapter of the many happenings and events, both at home and at the front.

2 The Mystery of Brayton Court. A magnificent Viagraph production, full to the brim with thrilling happenings.

3 The King's Visit to France. This film, taken by permission of the French military authorities, is a splendid record of the King's recent visit to France.

4 In Taxi 23. The very amusing experience of a young couple who, in their haste to reach the country, should create much merriment and laughter.

5 The Lion Tamer. A very laughable play indeed, the story being of a hapless husband and his lion taming friend.

6 THE FLOATING CALL (IN TWO PARTS). A most exciting chapter of events which befell a young girl on an African newspaper.

7 The Steeple Jacks. A finer and more dramatic present day, full of crystallized excitement, a fight takes place between two steeple jacks who are many hundreds of feet from the earth, one of them falling right over the balustrade of the steeple, which the other is working.

8 India's Loyalty to the British Empire. A most interesting film of our Great Indian Empire, showing a splendid parade of the Calcutta Volunteers; the Calcutta Light Horse; the Boy Scouts; and the various musical and marching bands participating for the success of the Allied Arms.

TRADE OR VICTORY?

For us to win the war. No one can find any fault with Mr. Bismarck's speech on December 17, 1871, but his intention, and we rather repeat than affirm to find that he had to learn a lesson from the Government which is obvious in the course of his particular declaration.

It is a history story that we must know our people in order to know the war. It is not the only duty of a citizen to be a soldier, but it is also his duty to be a citizen.

SALONIKA A CITY OF REFUGE.

My article on the beginning of the war... Salonika's population jumped at a bound...

those who many refugees of the class, were arriving from Serbia...

There came the French and British... into the city they poured in their thousands...

And here the French had to be... for the Turkish and few many...

Many girls in the "Reds" came... to the city, and the French...

As French and English soldiers... together, as we had to do...

A moment's thought... The British were very... they had the wherewithal...

That's all right! That's what... I am very glad to see...

And a word, too, must be said... in the way of the Allies by the...

There are many... I have seen the population...

Prices as Usual

SOLDIERS IN UNIFORM HALF PRICE

GRAND MID-WEEK PROGRAMME FOR TO-NIGHT, Friday, Feb. 4th, 1916.

OVERTURE By Theatre Royal Orchestra.

1 Pathe War Gazette

A lengthy chapter of the many happenings and events both at home and at the front.

2 The Mystery of Brayton Court

A magnificent Vitaphone production, full to the brim with thrilling happenings. Craft and cunning overcome by the clever young hero, who serves to keep the attention riveted from beginning to end.

3 The King's Visit to France

This film, taken by permission of the British military authorities in a splendid record of the King's recent visit to France. It shows the arrival of His Majesty the King and President Poincaré, the masses of the Royal Paris and General Joffre. The masses of French troops, marching past forms an imposing spectacle.

4 In Taxi 23

The very amusing experience of a young couple who decide to dance city life in the country should create much merriment and laughter.

5 The Lion Tamer

A very laughable play indeed, the story being of a nervous husband and his lion taming friend.

6 The FLOATING CALL (IN TWO PARTS)

A most exciting chapter of events which befell a young girl on an American newspaper. With the help of her fiancée, she has a hair-raising escape before doing so. The story will stimulate you with its delightful and adventurous spirit.

7 The Steeple Jacks

A finely acted drama of the present day full of crystallized excitement. A fight takes place between two steeple Jacks whilst they are many hundreds of feet from the earth, one of them falling over the balustrade of the steeple on which the men are working.

8 India's Loyalty to the British Empire

A most interesting film of our Great Indian Empire, showing a splendid parade of the Calcutta Volunteers, the Calcutta Light Horse, the Boy Scouts, and also huge masses of Mahomedans paying for the success of the Allied arms.

GOD SAVE THE KING.

THE EAST AFRICAN STANDARD

WEDNESDAY - FEBRUARY 10, 1916

The man in the street of Nairobi
 may fairly be said
 to represent the solid sentiment
 of the Nairobi public and it is in the man in the street that we must logically address every argument which we put forth. We have seen a considerable number of these men
 rough and ready as they may seem,
 but they are generally men of substantial foundation of common sense. And with regard to the man in the street, the man in the street has certain doubts. Are things going quiet as well as we would wish. Admittedly, war
 news, as presented to the public,
 is not a matter of daily news.
 Offers of aid in a strict relationship with the man in the street are not half sold. But, and here
 to the argument, are we justified
 in supposing that the cause has a chance in the matter apart from military expeditions? If he has an argument, is he not the man in the street on whom we must rely for our support? He has not only a right to be heard, but he has a right to be heard in a way which is not only fair but which is also just. It is not only fair to him, but it is also just to the public. It is not only fair to him, but it is also just to the public. It is not only fair to him,
 but it is also just to the public.

 adjournment of the court on
