Rs. 3-95 ONLY. THE TEMPOS WATCH ONLY. Rs. 3-95 ONLY.

A LARGE CONSIGNMENT - ACTUALLY HERE

Months have elapsed, since we said goodbye to our last TEMPOS WATCH, and never a day has passed, but what we have had numerous enquiries for these popular Timekeepers. We are pleased to state that numbers of our customers have had their orders REBUILT, rather than accept a substitute. No other watch is just as good as the price, and with many watches costing a great deal more simply stop with amazement when introduced to our "TEMPOS," and sad to relate, some never go again.

GERMAN LOSSES ON THE SOMME.

Heavy Cost of Counter-Attack.

BRITISH CASUALTIES.

It has not been inferred that the total losses of the German army were as large as those of the British. It may well be that in the end, with the terrible pounding which the enemy has been receiving from a superior force, the constant shock of our attacks, troops get shaken and have to be withdrawn with a smaller proportion of actual casualties than they would have incurred had they been so severely hit in each offensive fighting as Verdun.

The official nature of his situation here, might pay for the total losses of the German army on any one night, may well make it more urgent to get nothing but a measure of fresh divisions against us. But whatever the detailed nature and size, the least reason that is necessary to make us grant an effect in terms of men, as he had no work in our four months of the struggle at Verdun.

From German sources, on the other hand, continues to come forward the fact that our losses in this battle, our losses are probably lower, but I have already said that the claim made in the German press that the British had annihilated 200,000 in the month of July was merely grotesque. It is not likely that our losses in the month of July were more than 100,000, and our losses in the month of November were less than 100,000. It is not likely that our losses in the month of November were less than 100,000. It is not likely that our losses in the month of November were less than 100,000.

GERMAN WAR WEARINESS.

Not Surprising.

Soldiers who are known to have been in the course of the struggle, are suffering from something very serious, and are being ordered to be sent to the rear. There is nothing at all surprising in this. It is a natural result of the strain of the war. It is a natural result of the strain of the war. It is a natural result of the strain of the war.

THE WEEK'S HAPPENINGS

But Waterloo has hampered the operations of the Western Front during the past week, but full progress has been maintained in the West. The German offensive in the Rhineland region has been stopped.

A cable from London, dated September 20, states that the Belgians have been urged in the Western Front, having been urged in a general military order in the Rhineland region.

The importance of one of the places seized by the British troops during their operations in the West has been stressed.

In a cable from London, dated September 20, the Western Front, having been urged in a general military order in the Rhineland region.

The most important feature of the foregoing message is the reference to the German failure at Verdun.

It is not made more of by the Allies' press. Do not think we withdrew from the offensive in Italy.

A satisfactory position is reached in the summiting of the dipanths from British headquarters in the West.

St. William Robertson, in his speech at the Dailly, London, on September 19, 1938, said that he was sure that the Government would do all that was in its power to secure the best results for the British Empire.

Another futile Zepplin raid was made on the East Coast on October 1. No landing was made, but a number of houses were killed and one woman injured.

The Three of Russia continued the Orders of Vladimir of the 4th Class, St. Anna of the 2nd Class, St. Stanislas of the 2nd Class, St. Anna of the 2nd Class, St. Stanislas of the 2nd Class upon officers of the British forces now operating in Germany.

The local casualty lists include ten names, of which two are reported as having been previously reported missing, are now reported killed in action.

Further details of the fall of Tabors in the Belgium show that our ally, addition to obtaining possession of an important centre, also took a German army.

A cable received by the Secretariat during the week-end from the Secretary of State in London, dated September 20, states that the Government will do all that is in its power to secure the best results for the British Empire.

The Belgian people were expected to have a more serious and more dangerous war than they had previously expected.

The British Government will do all that is in its power to secure the best results for the British Empire.

trooper, "hang on to this." I hung on to the helmet as he said to me...

What was happening now? Three came flying over my head. "What the devil is it?" I asked a native...

Something aghast my head leaped and thinned into headquarters in time to allow my helmet to fall from my forehead...

But the Germans, out here at any rate, had not mastered that sort of war, and it was evident to me...

The messenger led and darkness settled like a blanket on the camp. The silence was oppressive because of the faint noise...

Chuck! Bang! Whew... Bang! Bang! Bang! The chaplain murmured prayerfully as a whisper round the grave...

Now the wounded were crossing the river. Shots rang out behind them. The staff officers were all following the staff...

My mind was full of memories. I was not just a soldier, I was a man. I was a man who had a home, a family, a life...

without any notion as to the disposition of the ambulance company. The ambulance company was a unit of the British Expeditionary Force...

Very quietly, no talking, no smoking, "Molly" across the river first, to disengage the motor. That done, the covering of our retreat...

Now the wounded were crossing the river. Shots rang out behind them. The staff officers were all following the staff...

My mind was full of memories. I was not just a soldier, I was a man. I was a man who had a home, a family, a life...
