AUTUMN WAR.

Hindenburg's Promise.

THE BALKAN FRONT.

When Marshal von Hindenburg informed a certain high official of the German High Command on September 10 that he was about to begin a different offensive, he was told that the latter would be a different campaign upon which, says the Times, military circumstances were not favourable.

Not in an easy matter for Hindenburg to have to recall other divisions which had withdrawn for the East and was well on its way had been fetched back to the Sambre. It was then thrown into the field and was badly out of action.

MACKENNA'S POSITION. Mackenna, at the head of the Bulgarian divisions, some 70,000 strong, was in a position to attack the German forces in the Balkans. The whole of the Balkan Peninsula was in German hands.

in an every line of advance upon Sarajevo, and on the side of Mianette they now have half their force. They have concentrated the positions and plenty of barbed wire. They have been driven upon their retreat. They are now in a position to attack the German forces in the Balkans.

by fluid operations is becoming more and more apparent. The main aim of the German High Command is to break through the French lines and to reach the English Channel.

WAR NOTES.

[By E. J. HARRIS.]

London, October 4.

PROGRESS. The steady progress of the British forces in the West is making them more and more confident. The German High Command is becoming more and more nervous.

SMUGGLING TRICKS HOLLAND. Railway Suits Claim.

Reports of smuggling in the Dutch Republic are becoming more and more frequent. The Dutch Government is taking steps to prevent this.

THE "DUPES" CONTINUED. The "dupes" of the German High Command are becoming more and more numerous. They are being used as a shield for the German forces.
