Let Us Pause!
 Living expenses have increased enormously recently. Have wages increased proportionately? (Loud cries of "No! No!") That being the case, we must examine our position. The first question to be answered is: "Are we living as economically as possible?" Probably you will have to admit that this is not so. If you are running a mess, you will have to re-quit that, from month to month, you don't know what it is going to cost—what the same month to month, you continue in this state of financial uncertainty? bill is going to be. Why continue in this state of financial uncertainty? Why not know your liabilities beforehand? Why not have the best of everything? Why not live in a house surrounded by spacious grounds, containing a tennis court? All these things may be had

We specialize in settlers' Bungalows made to your own design—made of chined and gutter boarded walls and cedar shingle roofs (or Rubberoid) excellent durability.

We have designed a coffee drying shed to accommodate 16 special (equal to 30 ordinary trays) at a very moderate cost, which will prove a very valuable asset to your estate.

Our cedar wood fermenting tanks are half the price of stone or concrete tanks, and give double the results. They are more durable and have greater warmth, which is essential in quick treatment of large crops.

We are much gratified with the reception that has been accorded our building and contracting department. We are receiving letters of appreciation from our many clients, who receive all the advantage of our years of experience as builders and timber experts in South and East Africa—consequently we are working on what is called inside knowledge which is at your disposal to-day. FORCING PROSPECTS OF GRAND ADVANCE IN WEST

BY OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT (RODGER WALLACE).

(LONDON, September 9.)

The correspondence of the "Standard" on the western front, has been interesting British military leaders during the recent past.

It is incredible that a number of men should fall into the hands of the enemy in fighting of the character we have mentioned lately, where men are advancing over a country unopposed, or where the German correspondents are bound to the task of gloating over defeats.

It reports with a certain candour that German prisoners are very cheerful and confident. This does not mean that they are not suffering, but it does mean that the German correspondents are bound to the task of gloating over defeats.

By February 1915, when the system was adopted by the Germans, it was in full swing in April, 1915, and was in full swing in April, 1915, and was in full swing in April, 1915.

It was expected to fall in January 30, but the date was altered by the start of the German Party to July 31. It has not brought about the end of the war, and it has not started in the East.

WATTLE BARK.

Satisfactory Tests for Manufacture of Paper.

The Imperial Institute is highly satisfied with their tests concerning the suitability of wattle bark for the manufacture of paper. The results of the small scale tests at the Imperial Institute demonstrated that this could be used for the manufacture of wattle bark paper of good quality. The paper was easily bleached to a cream tint. This paper is believed to be eminently suitable for newspapers and possibly for writing. The large paper will be now proceeding to confirm the tests on a bigger scale. The reports are very optimistic as to this.

CHILDREN OF B. E. A.

THREE ZONES.

This brings me to the point that in judging of the health of the country one has to divide it arbitrarily into three zones: The Coast, the Low Land, &c., all had about 5,000 lbs. available, and the Highland. I have had no opportunity of examining children living in the lower altitude or coastal areas, but I can well imagine that the most food and essential provisions of these zones in these parts must be detrimental to the health and development of European children brought up there. For purposes of European sanitation, then, we can only take into account the Highland or the East African zone, and in this zone 5,000-10,000 lbs. certain tracts or belts of the country are utterly unsuitable for European settlement on account of the incidence of malaria and other diseases. I do not wish to mention these districts here, as I have no desire to be criticised or censured by the people living there, and who have varied interests at stake. Even in these unhealthy parts I am thoroughly convinced that by sanitary and other improvements these areas could be made healthy and habitable for European families. It is, therefore, the suitability or otherwise of a tropical country for the settlement of a white population is it necessary to have some knowledge of the facts to draw upon, and in a young and progressive country like East Africa this can only be done by a careful study of the rising generation reared in it and compare their physical and mental developments with those of the similar age in a temperate climate, such as England and Wales.

PHYSIQUE-GOOD AND BAD.

We shall now pass on to the physique and physical defects of children of school age. Children in this country do much heavier and taller than the average child of the same age in England or America. There no doubt that the open air life, good food and stimulating effects of the heat, accounts in a large proportion for a good deal of this increase. However, there is a great deal to be learned from the study of the children of the tropics to produce rapid and luxuriant growth in the vegetable kingdom, and by action in a similar manner on the human cell and protract the same process is achieved. Not only is there increase in the height and weight, but the child is proportionately lighter in chest measurement and chest expansion as measured during complete expiration and after deep inspiration. The average expansion of the chest is 21". This average is a good one for any part of the world, and is an average of the height which the lungs are used and function acting normally.

TUBERCULOSIS.

This brings me to the condition of the lungs and the diseases which are peculiar to them. It is common knowledge that tuberculosis of the lungs and other parts of the body are very prevalent and fatal conditions of children. There is no such an index that open air schools have been erected in several towns and country districts all over England for the accommodation and teaching of affected children. In these schools, different methods in rain proof shelters, which are open on all sides to the wind, and they sleep in dormitories which are practically open to the sky. The prevalence of tuberculosis among children at home is attributed to tubercular infected milk. The only way to protect infants in this country, I am confident, is to have the milk sterilized. It is well known that tuberculous infection is carried from cattle or other parts of the world. We can thus see that the open air life, combined with rich wholesome milk, is a very happy thing for the comparative rate of tuberculosis among children in this country. In my examination of children I have not been able to detect a single case of tubercular infection of the lungs, but I have seen numerous cases of tuberculosis of other parts of the body among children in England and Wales. This amounts to 1.5 per cent, and contrasts very favorably with 4.5 per cent which occurs among children in England and Wales.

Other diseases of the lungs such as bronchitis and pneumonia are not of very frequent occurrence and occur more often among children under the two years of age at which time it is very fatal. [Owing to pressure on space we have been compelled to hold over the remainder of this 'important lecture']

CHILDREN OF B. E. A.

WEAK INFANTS MARK. The brain is the organ of nervous development of the European child in B. E. A. judging from the largely inherited and scientific knowledge. I need scarcely say that the nervous system such as epilepsy, chorea, weak intellect, etc., are rarely met with and when considered, the frequency of all these appear European children at home, the few cases that do occur in this community are usually very questionable attributed to climatic conditions. I have, however, noticed that sometimes brought up in this country had a good deal of the power of concentration, they are bright and quick in observation, the development of an infant amount of mental energy to a different position requires a greater amount of strain than they are capable of producing. The reason for this is that the infant is subjected to violent rays of the sun, by their continual stimulation and agitation of the nerve cells and prostration. I have already noticed a delicate and delicate condition wherein the nervous system is incapable of responding to the external world. This is the case with many children are more vigorous physically and mentally in the morning before the day gets to be hot.

I am thoroughly convinced that in order to get the best out of the children, teaching should start early, say at 6 a.m. Each at 10 minutes and some more if necessary from 3 to 4. The difficult part of the day work should be done in the morning and routine work such as drawing, writing and singing done in the afternoon. It is not reasonable to expect the same amount of work from a school child in this country as you get at home. The child works under greater difficulties, but although I am an enthusiastic supporter to hope that we shall ever produce a Kelvin, a Lister or a Watson, I have every confidence that with ordinary care and protection a child of highly intelligent and intellectual race. I would commend this paragraph on the nervous system by remarking that of all things, use of the most essential to the growing child in this country is sleep, sleep, sleep.

DEFORMITIES AND BONE DISEASE. I have noticed only three cases of deformity and they are congenital in children who were born elsewhere than in this country. Some degree of spinal curvature is at an enormous number of cases in this country. I attribute this to three causes: (1) Their frequent cough, (2) lack of proper gymnastic and exercise, (3) inevitable contact with colds and influenza at the beach. The latter defect has been mentioned however, yet I suspect to say what the government has not yet fully appreciated the importance of a new up to the school building and playgrounds for the benefit of their rising generations and future well-being. Rickets and other bone diseases are extremely common among poor and ill-fed children in cities and large towns at home. This is mainly attributed to the lack of food of refined flour, fat, and nourishing food. We cannot complain of either of these lacking in this country, and the parents who I have never noticed a possible case of rickets among infants born in this country. My conclusions can be drawn from a study of these comparative statistics: I. That the death rate which is mostly due to dysentery and malaria can be reduced from the present high figure by greater care and attention to the feeding of infants and their protection from mosquitoes.

II. 77 per cent. of the deaths among children under one year of age. This is an extremely high and it emphasizes the importance of the mother's personal attention to her infant until it gets over the first year of its life. In addition to this and most in experience is the proper control of the milk supply to Nahrung and lactation. The lack of attention over duration and rest, and a glance to the health of our young generation and immediate concerns should be the parents. I am authorized to remedy this dangerous defect in our municipal council.

NEW PHYSICAL DEFECTS. III. Children of school age are physically far ahead of the average English speaking school child. IV. Physical defects are not more common and in many instances are less in evidence than among children here and abroad in England and Wales. V. The effect of the heat and climate on the nervous system of the growing child has to be carefully studied and watched, and every means possible taken to protect it from any deleterious effects. VI. The teaching of the child must be carried out, not according to the time and regular hours, but down by the Board of Education laid by a study of the individual child and his mental and physical condition. The teacher can be aided greatly in this by the parents who exercise proper parental care over their children in their home life, and of all things it seems to me that the child gets plenty of sleep. VII. The watchword of child upbringing should be "regularity." By this I mean that the child should be taught to be regular in everything. His hours for meals, and his time for sleep should be precisely the same every day and this applies to infants as well as older children. Other portions of the body will grow in natural sequence and the child will grow in health and strength. No better example of the result of regularity can be seen than in the difference between the mental and physical vigor of the boarders and day

They consider films permitted as above, might be distinctly harmful here."

DECISIVE NAVAL BATTLE

Not in German Interests to Seek Such an Action

Admiral Von Schöner, interviewed by the "Lage-Verhältnisse," said that it was not in German interests to seek a decisive naval battle, because even if Germany were victorious, it would not follow, in view of the superiority of the British fleet, that the German mercantile marine would be able to regain its position during the war.

- Space permits of reference to a few of these only. 1. "THE 300 MILES NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP" - world's record race was won on the "X" by an 8 miles victory, in 32 hrs., -125 miles below the world's previous record. It also holds the World's record for most of the distance "1 to 300 miles." 2. "PETROL CONSUMPTION TEST" - The "X" holds the record of 162 1/2 miles per gallon of petrol. 3. "PATENT REMOVABLE CENTRE BAR" - allows tank, permitting quick removal of tank, and ready access for engine adjustment, without moving engine from frame. 4. "PATENT EXHAUST LIFT" combined with the kick-start, replacing the old lock-on and unsatisfactory "Wim" or "Handgrip" control. One kick, and the "X" fires. It is the easiest starting motor cycle in the world. 5. "PATENT PRIMING DEVICE." By the simple turn of a tap, paraffin is turned on to both cylinders, -no withdrawing of sparking plug in order to inject petrol or paraffin for the release of pistons clogged with condensed oil and soot.

We cordially invite the public to obtain the leaflet explaining the other 14 superior features of the "EXCELSIOR" and also ask prospective motor cycle buyers to have a "DEMONSTRATION RIDE" on the "X". It will please them as do other machines also.
