THE LAND BOARD.

The Land Board, in common with other Boards created for the facilitation of business in the different Departments of the Protectorate service, has a certain proportion of non-officials in its membership. The non-official members are appointed by His Excellency, the Governor, by His Excenency, the Governor, from nominations submitted to him by the various public bodies, representing the settlers, in the Colony.

The Boards are the outcome of an agitation by the settlers that they should have some voice in the affairs of the country, where these more directly affected themselves.

directly affected themselves.

It is just possible therefore, that they were given as institutions not only to gradify the wishes of the Colonists but also to assist by their adi n putting the country's diffurs the sooner on a firm footing, as in the multitude of counsel there is assuredly wisdom.

The Land Board particularly has ing the weight of the experience of the many thorry land problems, it has served as a most most advanced by the many thorry land problems, it has served as a most most advanced by the most of the Land Board — at least those who are not members by virtue of their official positions which were the most of non-efficials are made every year. It is now some months ince the various representative hodies of stellars were requested to suggest nominess for the current year. That the Land Board has not yet been due to the necessity and the land some stellars were requested to yet the land beauth and the land some stellars were requested to suggest nomines for the current year. That we are used to the necessity and the land some stellars were as were the second of putting it on a sounder footing.

As has been stated its work has been altogether advisory. The time seems to have come when its counsels should be considered more in the light of enactments to be followed, subject to the Land Laws in force and to the approval of His Excellence. Excellency.

Excellency.

We have dispensed with the Commissioner of Lands whose duties consisted mainly of putting things in proper order and as His Excellency mirmated at the Legislative Council Col. Montgomery was himself of the option that his neutre of office was no longer necessary.

White the Land Office and

office was no longer necessary.
While the Land Office, under the direction of the Land Officer.
Mr. Barton Wright, has its hands full of the ordinary details of land rents and crown leases there is much to be done which is essentially work for the Land Board to perform, the responsibility of which the Acting Commissioner of Lands will doubtless be glad to have removed from his dioudless.

There are vast areas of unoccupied lands awaiting settlement. It is the duty of the Board to classify these and have them thrown open for

Then again many farms have in the past feem alimented to landlords.

Then again many farms have in the past feem alimented to landlords the past feem alimented to landlords the country nor do store been in the country nor do store been in the country nor do store the primary objects in to reap by fature asize the increased which is soldy due to the endeavours of those land owners who have made that homes in the country and who by hard told in developing their own properties have increased the value of the land landle dup in the names of those absence have increased the value of the land tied up in the names of those absentee landlords. The dealing with these cases is the work of the Land Board which should suggest to His Excel-lency some means of compelling occupation or forfeiture.

With fuller powers a land policy could be initiated by the Board, a policy with some continuity of purpose and working, which would facilitate settlement.

These weighty matters await the consideration of the Land Board which should have been officially formed at the beginning of April, so that a delay of three months has converted.

Perhaps His Excellency's departure has delayed the appointment of the Board which is so anxiously awaited by all Settlers.

After the ceremony the happy couple left for Kabete, where the hamsymoon is to be spent.
The bride's travelling dress was a pretty wolding presents were numerous and and included a handsome cheque

TRAIN ACCIDENT. WAGGONS DERAILED.

An Up Goods train was described on Monday evening at the Stony Athi River. On coming down the decline the brakes were clapped on too quickly, resulting in the two last waggons too quickly, resulting in the two last waggons running off the line. The train, which must have been exceeding the spacel limit, ran for about half a mile, with the two waggons off, and made the crossing at the Stony Ath River Bridge safely, before it could be brought to a night, was able to past them size to the raix. The rails were halfy tested and the steel sleepers heavily scored and burst where to deges of the waggon whosis ran on them. As a consequence of the accident the Up Mixed on Tuesday was delayed and did not arrive at Nariobi until 2-30 p.m. British Administration viewed through American specialism supersent rather striking colours and is made to smite the risibility of the reder who knows. Criminal Appeal.

The recent discussion in these olumns on the subject of vexatious ourt cases has shown the disabilities under which justice labours in such a cosmopolitan country as this, administered as it is under the ndian Codes.

Of even greater import is the revailing conditions of appeal under Criminal Procedure Code

A person presecuted and convicted ander the Code for crime has the right of appeal to a higher court. Should be decide to carry his case Should be decide to carry his case further he pays twenty rupees for the right of appeal; he also pays for a certified copy of the proceeding. etc. and has, of course, to make the usual expenditure for legal advice.

Assuming that a person is really wrongfully convicted the heavy expenses to which he is put in his unbearably heavy. In some cases it HOTELS no recompense whatever is made to him for his disbursement. The NAKURU.

Government prosecutes, the Government ment in the department of a lower Court convicts, and the Government as represented by a Higher Court

Doubtless legal expenses have been incurred by the Government but it is a hardship that as a result of their wrongful prosecution, an innocent individual should be mulcted in heavy fees and expenses.

We are dealing, of course, with possible innocent cases of which, we are assured, there are many.

A further injustice appears where two or more persons are conjointly accused and convicted.

The proceedings are one and evidence may bear equally on the two or more accused and yet each accused in appealing has to pay individually the appeal fee, cost of copy of proceedings, etc., etc.
Should the single party in the Lower Court be convicted and the judgment be upheld in the Higher Court the fees paid are certainly just. But even although the two or more were finally adjudged to be guilty, we question the fairness of collecting fees from each individual.

As our Courts are eminently onsidered to be places where justice igns we expect that in its dealings ordinary fair business dealings should be observed

When a person at infinite expense has proved himself to be innocent of a charge for which he was primarily convicted in a Lower Court he should entitled to a refund of the several outlays which it became incumbent on him to incur, or in other words which were laid up on him by Gov-

(By a Retired Banker.)
The building of character is the most important business of life. It matters little what a man words may be I words and build a man words may be I words and what a man we work and the matter of the matte Auguo numeri must have realised something of this when he said "nothing makes the soul "so pure, so religious, as the endeavour to create something perfect: for God is "perfection, and whoever strives for it strives for something that is Godlike." The failure to follow this effort after perfection led to a "for something that is Godlike." The failure to follow this effort after perfection led to a bitter disappointment in the life of Ruskin. He was visiting a Cathedral famous for its beauty. High up among the beavy timbers that support the roof are a number of colossal that support the root are a number of colossals figures. From the pavement these statues have the appearance of great beauty. Curious to examine them, Ruskin says that he climbed to the roof and stood close headed them. Butter indeed was his disappointment to find that only the parts of the figures which could be seen from the examination.
