Special Articles of Particular Interest to East Africans.

Trip Across Africa.

(From Capetown to Cairo)

Mr. Emil Lund

This second of Mr. Lund's adventures journey across Africa has never before been published. It is highly interesting in securing this interesting story of a trip through the Continent which has been completed from Dark West to East.

Trip up the Jubal River.

By our Special Correspondent at Kismayu.

This article is an impression of a trip from Hoboken to Somali and describes his journey as well as the highly interesting story of the natives of the country of the Jubal river, which inhabits the south west bank of the river.

What London Thinks of B.E.A.

Some months ago we instructed a continental globe-trotter to send us a short series of articles upon responsible public men in England as to the future of B.E.A. and in outline as follows: (1) the attitude of the press; (2) the attitude of the public; (3) the attitude of the States; (4) the attitude of the Colonies. The first article has been received and will continue the view of the "average" man and in these cases of the circumstances upon which those views are based.

Modern World Movements.

F. G. Cawston, B.A., M.B., B.C. (Cantab), M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P. Mr. Cawston in his article discusses the changes in religious, social and political thought that are influencing the great nations that more particularly influence us in the future of B.E.A. and in outline as follows: (1) the awakening of China; (2) the changes in India; and (3) the position of Europe. His article is a very interesting and should create discussion in the Journals and notes of Eastern Africa.

Jubaland. Its Peoples and Future.

By Cecil Whitwick Haywood.

We have made arrangements for the publication of a series of articles in this short series of articles upon responsible public men in England as to the future of B.E.A. and in outline as follows: (1) the attitude of the press; (2) the attitude of the public; (3) the attitude of the States; (4) the attitude of the Colonies. The first article has been received and will continue the view of the "average" man and in these cases of the circumstances upon which those views are based.

African Travel

— and —
Special Articles of Particular Interest to East Africans.

"A Trip Across Africa."

(From Capetown to Cairo)

Mr. Emil Lund.

This account of Mr. Lund's adventurous journey across Africa has never before been published. It will be of interest to those who are planning a trip through the Continent which has now emerged from darkness.

Trip up the Juba River."

By our Special Correspondent at Kismayu.

This article is an impression of a trip from Gobeon to Barmal and describes the scenery on route. It lightly touches upon the political and economic conditions of the Gobeon which inhabits the south-west bank of the river.

"What London Thinks of B.E.A."

Some months ago we instructed a particular globe-trotter to send us a short notice of articles appearing in the great London papers on the subject of the future of B.E.A. and to outline as vividly as possible the main points conveyed by the various articles. The result is a paper which has been read and which outlines the views of the "average" man and sets in train some of the circumstances upon which these views are based.

"Modern World Movements."

F. O. Gawton, B.A., M.B., B.C. (Cantab), M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P.

Mr. Gawton in his article discusses the changes in religious, social and political thought that are influencing the great nations, but more particularly Great Britain. He deals with Japan as a new power on the horizon of China, the changes in India, and the position of Europe. His article makes many questions and should create discussion in the Legislative and both of Eastern Africa.

"Jubaland. Its Peoples and Future."

By Cecil Whitgift Haywood.

We have made arrangements for the publication of a series of articles on the little known province of the Protectorate. The series will be dealt with in three parts: (1) the History of the Province; (2) the Physical Features; (3) the People and their Future. The author is a well-known expert on the subject of the Province and his articles will be of great interest to those who are interested in the Province. The author has been in the Province for some years and has been in contact with the Administration and has been able to obtain much information and to interview many of the leading men of the Province.

The above articles shortly will appear in the columns of the

"East African Standard."
