DUG-OUTS. A Britisher's Constitution MEN WHO HAVE SAVED THE COLONIES

(Special to THE "E. A. STANDARD.") A Britisher has explained to us that the men who have saved the British Empire in its darkest hour are the men who have dug the dug-outs...

But those two men together, and their work for centuries, has been the British Empire, as the "E. A. Standard" has shown us in its columns...

It is the British Empire which has been the main factor in our history, and it is the British Empire which has been the main factor in our future...

The normal work of a man is to live his life in a struggle for life, or material, energy which may be roughly expressed in terms of his food...

But the British soldier, official or volunteer, as the fighting goes on, his life is not his own. He has to be ready to give up his life for his country...

Save Money

Every penny saved means help in win the war, and, therefore, death tax is prevented by every Britisher throughout the Empire. In those days when the price of everything is so high, it is the only way of saving money. After household expenses have been met, the question, "We can help to save it in the sale," offers themselves to buyers, and the fact that we can help save our own, means successful living, and money saving.

Save Money

Every penny saved to-day helps to win the war, and, therefore, should be treated by every Briton in the Empire. To those who are high-spirited, a small balance at the end of the month, may be a small consolation, but to those who are low-spirited, it may be a small consolation. The fact is that we are the only people who can afford to save money.

GAMES WORTH A HUNTER'S SHOT

The sudden change in the policy on Holland's part is very much regretted by the traders, and will naturally be felt to some extent by the masses of Belgium who can hardly escape the consequences of this change.

Many of the British agents and officers in Holland are convinced that the only way to maintain the present position is to continue to supply the Hollanders with the necessary goods.

Various rumors have been circulating in Holland, and it is thought that the Hollanders are very much
