CORRESPONDENCE.

R. W. Bossett: Many thanks. The problem appears to add up and makes sense to me. I am glad there are generally some local chess players who are not "Dial" chessers. —Written from Durban.
Sudani: "We have been thinking of the Standard and have to write here on our own expense mail the fact that we really mean to go. It is a death wish on our part on the Government and we are really glad to see you good luck." It can scarcely be said that your criticisms are not well earned. We are glad to hear you are well.
Managani: Thank you.
Leung: Many thanks.
H. W. Bossett (Brighton): The paper has gone like a hot potato. I have enjoyed many thanks.
 The heavy description of man interfered somewhat with the understanding of the chess clock. Thursday, and it was found necessary to throw my matches up and down for decision on this evening to a future date.

The extra service that Goodyears give is not fanciful or speculative, it is very real. It includes more miles than could safely be expected from other tyres, more comfort and greater freedom from trouble.

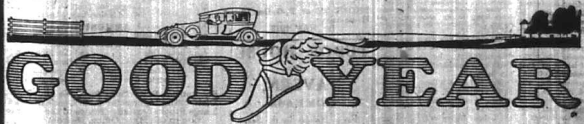

It is due to the conditions under which Goodyear tyres are built, and to the materials which go into them.

They are large of girth and thick of tread, that they may stand the scuff and pummeling of the roads without faltering.

They are stout of structure and tough of substance that they may wear slowly and with stubborn reluctance.

These long-wearing, hard-to-puncture tyres are particularly suitable for the roads of East Africa and Uganda as well as for the climate of these countries.

AND for these reasons you will eventually use and insist upon—

The Maize Growers' Association has issued a statement in reply to the article in the Standard of the 12th inst. regarding the maize growers' complaint against the Maize Commission. The statement is as follows:—
The Maize Commission was established by the Government in 1917 for the purpose of investigating the maize industry and recommending measures for its improvement. The Commission has since that time been engaged in a study of the maize industry and has issued several reports. The most recent of these reports was issued in 1919 and was entitled "The Maize Industry in Kenya." This report was a comprehensive study of the maize industry in Kenya and was based on a large amount of information collected by the Commission during its work. The report was a valuable contribution to the knowledge of the maize industry in Kenya and was well received by the public.
