BUYING A SITE

Experiences of a Factory and Hotel Builder

B. E. A. OFFICIAL METHODS

THE EDITOR, B. A. STANDARD.

Sir,—I feel that these and similar matters should be brought to public notice to show the correct and profitable way in which we are treated by the public servants in this B.E.A. of ours, a country which has a reputation for being a white man's country.

Mr. Deane and I, wishful of erecting a cheese plant and Hotel respectively, from a business point of view (and incidentally this would have helped the incoming settler tremendously in the Laitkipsia area) approached the P.C. Naivasha, personally, for a grant of Land in the Ngurumuti Township on which to build a cheese factory and hotel.

The Provincial Commissioner, Nairobi, told me he would do what he could in the matter, and thought there would be no difficulty, and asked me to give him written application for building sites in the Ngurumuti Township. This we did.

After about 10 days I received two weeks later, having received no further news, I again applied to the P.C. Naivasha and received a prompt reply by which he stated that my application had been forwarded to the Land Officer. After a reasonable lapse of time I thought perhaps it had been there than the P.C. Naivasha I might get more satisfaction, so I wrote Mr. Sandford, Secretary Selection Board, and received a reply in the following terms:

Govt. House, 21st October, 1919.

Dear Mr. Seylan,
The town planning of Ngurumuti Township has been arranged for, and plans I understand will be ready in about 3 weeks.
Yours sincerely,
G. R. Sandford.

In October a Government Surveyor arrived at Ngurumuti, surveyed a few Indian Plots, but no plots whatever for Europeans. So there can be no excuse in regard to shortage of staff for surveying these plots for us, as it is surely you'd not have taken very long to mark out a few 1 acre plots.
On December 8 a Licensing Court at Naivasha I appeared and was given a provisional licence, i.e., when I could get a plot on which to build a hotel at Ngurumuti, I would be given a licence at the same licensing Court, an Indian was given a liquor licence he happened to have a tin shanty of a shop. So there you are, in a British colony in a European Township conditions are made so impossible that Europeans are prohibited from trading.

The above conditions apply to the Gil Gil township, many applications have been sent to the P.C. Naivasha Land Officer, or any one else connected with the Government, for plots on which to erect the hotels, smiths' shops, etc., but up to date nothing has been done in regard to the survey of this township. Can nothing be done at all with these so-called public servants into a man, or at their duty? A very pretty state of affairs exists, you know, when the promises of Government officials are worthless.

I remain,
Yours etc.
D. N. NEYLAN,

Rumuruti, 12th Oct., 1919.

LAND BARGAINS

Nairobi's best known out-of-town consisting of approximately 250 acres of coffee in full bearing, with manager's bungalow, factory, and 15 minutes from town: delightful for sale as a going concern at a price that makes it one of the best bargains in the market.

Exceptionally fine ten acre plot on the Hill. One of the very few freehold plots in the area. Splendidly timbered, with a stream running through it, and is admirably suited to sub-division. A bargain at £2,000 cash in London for immediate possession.

FREE ESTATE.—Practically all the available farms have now been sold or booked. Another large area suitably sub-divided will be the next feature on the same attractive terms.

S. AFRICAN LETTER

General Smuts' Argument to America

INDUSTRIAL COUNCIL

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

What did Smuts say at the Wesleyan Hall? He appealed to America "not to blast the hopes of the world." America had displayed the highest altruism in coming into the war at a critical stage and so "today the world is as less in danger." The machinery of the League, "he continued, "is wanted to save civilisation from dissolution into fragments, and from falling into decay. It alone can save tottering Europe. No nation has put more faith or more effort into the construction of the League than America. It now remains to rally nations have approved it. Even distant Asia, as represented by Japan, has given her approval, while America alone has not done so. What the great leader now lag behind the ranks? I can't believe it. I can't believe that America will waver after all this. She will stand by the American point of view, after all that has happened, will not allow to override the wider interests and necessities of our own civilisation.

Printers' Conference.

An official summary has been issued of the resolutions passed at the conference which was held at Johannesburg between the employers and employed in the printing trade throughout the Union. All important centres throughout South Africa have been graded and overtime rates and other general conditions have to a large extent been made uniform. The principle of a production working hour has been accepted and a by-law in that regard is to be made by the end of June, 1920. It was also agreed to establish a National Industrial Institute. The latter will provide a fund to be established for the settlement of disputes and the National Industrial Conference will provide a final court of appeal, as it were, for the consideration and decision of every important matter, including wages affecting the industry. Another resolution was that employers and employees should cooperate to ensure as increasing an output as possible. It was further agreed that the Government be urged to pass legislation enabling the force of law to be given to representative industrial agreements.

Anthrax in Rhodesia.

It was officially stated from Salisbury on November 14 that since October 16 seven farms in the Shamva district and the Shamva township reserve had been infected with anthrax, and up to November 14, 78 deaths had been notified. The bulk of the cases was diagnosed as due to anthrax. The authorities are stated to have the position well in hand.

Australian Team.

The second match which the Australian military cricket team played with the Transvaal resulted in a easy win for the visitors, as follows: (Transvaal, 1st innings, 166 (Ward 40, Tait 32); 2nd innings, 57 (Ward 26, Leonard 26, Collins 20 for 22). Second innings, 178 (Zinkel 60; Dundas took five wickets for 60). Rhodesia, 1st innings, 82 (Gregory 75, Puller 61, Willis 49; Harwoody took three wickets for 20). Le Tozes 50 for 60). Australia won by an innings and 14 runs.

All interested are invited to attend. F. G. HAMILTON, Hon. Secretary, Re-organizing Committee.

possible, as the matter is one of very great importance and expediency, calculated as it is to uplift the African from a state of semi-savagery to useful citizenship.

It is not possible perhaps for us to compel them to labour, as this would be interfering with the liberty of the subject and verges on the borders of slavery but there are surely other means whereby they may be induced to accept employment and one of these is by educating them and teaching them to craft.

It cannot be denied that with the paucity of labour serious consequences and loss is being felt by the Government and the community at large.

Who is suffering from any disqualifications provided for the time being by any enactment.

Form of Declaration. I am qualified under Section 5 (1) of clause (4) above, and I hereby solemnly declare as follows: I am of pure European descent and over 21 years of age. I am qualified under Section 5 (1) of clause (4) above, and I hereby solemnly declare as follows: I am of pure European descent and over 21 years of age.

had suggested the matter two years ago, but it would come up again. He disagreed with the idea of a tax on turn-over, because it had been found to be too direct. When a man was paying the tax direct he should not pay another in the ordinary way. A man who would pay on his income, and if he had land apart from his business or profession, he would pay on both, but the farmer should not pay both. The man who was paying both or both should not pay stock tax as well. The latter would only affect the small and medium sections of the land. The tax on the land might possibly be slightly reduced. He went on to refer to the question of allowing open air recreation and creating waste areas. The planning of import duties, he said, and that they should be building up a country, which would be for property was cheap living and cheap labour. The cheaper labour and labour was, the greater the benefit. The regulating of tariffs needed very careful attention, and it was necessary to exercise great pressure. Turning over to another great pressure. Turning over to another great pressure. Turning over to another great pressure.

OTHER MATTERS.
Pursuing Mr. Wilson said his programme was more or less the same as that outlined by the previous speakers. Referring to the Government staff, he said he did not remember Lord Dalmeida's very interesting reference to the matter of efficiency in the Civil Service Commission report. They could not very well make public servants out of him, but they made it clear that the men who were doing their work would go ahead. If the country was not to be run by good servants, he said, he had got to get them. They did not want slaves, and the salary paid must be enough to keep the men of the country to go to the man offering it must pay them an adequate salary.

Referring to the compulsory dipping of stock, the speaker said the matter needed careful thought. He was of the opinion that the men who did not dip his cattle was a fool, but whether the Government should go out of its way to compel fools to do the right thing was another matter. Compulsory dipping might be put into operation where it was essential, but not necessarily in areas adjoining native reserves.

Mr. MacLellan Wilson, in conclusion, thanked those present for their attention and promised that, if elected, he would do his best as he had done in the past. (Applause.)

MAJOR GREGG.
The following letter, addressed to Col. Taylor by Mr. Tennant relative to Major Gregg's position in the forthcoming Legislative Council elections, was read at the meeting by Mr. Tennant on 12th November 12, last. Mr. Crawford, elected Major Gregg in London as follows:

"I highly urge you stand Legislative Council. Will you accept nomination? Your return prior to election not essential but best avoided. Reply to Tennant at Goreville."

To this Major Gregg replied to me as follows:
"I have replied your and Coward's kind. Will you my letter November 12th, if possible. Reply. I am thoroughly with you. Coward's has his views and received a copy this afternoon to the effect that he would like to share the matter with me on his return to Goreville next week. Mr. Coward was not in position to give you any further assistance to arrive otherwise, I am certain he would have given more definite views. In consequence, I am forced to take action without his assistance, and therefore, subject to Mr. Coward's approval, I intend to ask that your services will assist Major Gregg as a candidate for the constituency of Goreville."

"I am, accordingly, I have to assure you that Major Gregg is registered, under the Electoral Act, as a voter in Nairobi North constituency, and will fulfil all the statutory requirements for a candidate for the constituency of Goreville. In this connection, I have to state that the result of the election in Nairobi North (Dec. 23) proves this to be correct."

without this, Major Gregg has taken an considerable interest in the election in the country that the same are known to be completely, especially in an area such as Nairobi where most of the electors are men of the large economic zone of the country's east provided by the published report of the Economic Commission on them.

I return to you which he did not think it fair to hold a tax retrospective view. Taxation of income was opposed to all ideas of taxation, and now the issue has been raised, it was very difficult to impose it. If a graduated income tax came it would most certainly be a tax on the rich. An excess profits tax was not desirable. As regards an import duty tax, it was necessary to consider why the land was not being developed. It was not a fair tax to tax. If the land was undeveloped and the value increased as the result of the efforts of the men who were not being taxed, it was not fair to tax it. The land of the native, he thought, should be developed. He thought that the land should be developed. He thought that the land should be developed.

LONDON LETTER.

Lord Milner on Overseas Policy DEVELOPMENT MONEY

(From Our London Correspondent.)
London, October 31.
Discussing Colonial policy at the Geneva Club, Lord Milner has been responsible for some important remarks. The secretary for the Colonies pointed out the loyalty of the many diverse races composing the Empire as a striking evidence of its wonderful stability during the world upheaval, which, he said, was proved and proved again, "despite the efforts of the enemy to sow the seeds of dissension and revolt." Such troubles as there had been, he added, were with the older Colonies, but in the newly acquired territories the most profound tranquility was maintained.

Speaking of the material development of the Colonies and Protectorates, Lord Milner said an immense amount of work confronted us, and for this purpose, he definitely proposed to secure all the money he possibly could, although, admittedly, there were obvious difficulties in these days of rampant economy. "It is not without interest to add that Mr. Lloyd Harris, chairman of the Canadian Trade Mission over here, addressing an audience overseas tonight the previous evening, mentioned that while in England he had had the opportunity of discussing Empire trade with representatives of other Dominions, and the result of the experience and knowledge he had gained was a conviction that the Empire could be found every raw material and every manufacturer.

Providing Mr. Lloyd Harris's scheme for the Empire Trade Council can be commended, there is every reason to be assumed that these resources for trade will be thoroughly developed.

WREATH OF LADY LEE.
Considerable interest has been aroused in forensic circles in London and elsewhere by Sir Digby Lawson's successful petition for divorce from his wife, Lady Lee May Lawson, "on the ground of her misconduct with a man unknown." The case achieved some notoriety as "The Wreath of Lady Lee," when the respondent declined to divulge the name of the co-respondent. When the one person who knows all, or to sell, judges are empowered, and although common sense is perfectly justified in obtaining as much security as possible for their clients as possible, and with the observation of justice, it opens a wide door nearly as old as the Divorce Court itself.

In the middle of last century, a few years after the Court was established, the full reports of details in the Press led Queen Victoria to advocate agency for all but the Court's findings. Her Ministers, however, vetoed any such suggestion. In their view publicity was a deterrent.

But the current law, now occupying the attention of the Divorce Court, are the heaviest yet known, and would seem sure to indicate the necessity of their view.

THE OLD "VICTORY."
One wonders if any man could precisely determine how much of the flag ship, "Victory," that famous old wooden three-decker, still remains, despite the constant renewals which time has necessitated. Certain it is that the sacred spot in the quarter-deck where the great admiral crossed his fatal wound, which is marked "Haro Nelson fell," and which, on Trafalgar Day, was honored by a wreath of laurel leaves, is jealously preserved, while all the remaining timber is of recent date.

Another unchanged curiosity is the original hand-loom, constructed from a simple, hollowed tree-trunk, which reaches down to the mucky depths of the masts to give purchase to the feet, the whole "machine" unfolds the oddest contrast to modern methods.

There is a touch of real humor for the visitor who declines to the gloomy receipt where Lord Nelson knelt his last, knelt in a corner. But enough sympathy, it is doubtful to comprehend what this dark and stately den must have been when filled with shrouded men, upon whom progress was opening without consideration. How many people realize that the great admiral died in a lantern-lighted shroud amid sighs, groans, and death agonies?
