WARNING

"MILKMAID" Condensed Milk as manufactured by us for importation to this Colony has the words "PREPARED FOR EXPORT" in red ink across the label.

A considerable quantity of Milkmaid Milk and Nestle's Milk has been imported by some other firms, into this country for sale, which has apparently been obtained from uncleanly sources, presumably out of consignments sold by us some time ago to the German, or other, Governments, under rationing arrangements in the Peace Treaty. This milk is contained in tin tins which have printed across them in red ink—

Prepared in Switzerland or "Prepare Aux Etats Unis"

This latter Milk we do not guarantee in any way, and we will not Refund any Money, or Exchange any Tins, if same is found defective.

Some Hindu Servants

By Charles Niles, F. C. S. (Members Journal)

The distinction between help in the home and in the office is very striking and often fascinating to the new arrival in the East. The discipline of servants in the domestic sphere in India, but the domestic problems has its own peculiar difficulties. In a representative duplicity covered by apparent politeness is an unrelenting thoroughness of the native servant, and this tends to rattle the temper of the sweated of incomprehension, always increased by his in the tropics. The Hindu servant has absolute faith in British fairness, tempered by a wholesome distrust of his master's anger, which, however, is easily and unreasonably under any circumstances, but is usually content because "Shanin takes his own law" — namely, the "Dharm" system into him.

The domestic (cook) is a most important presence, and it is advisable what he can do in an emergency. In camp his law is a sword. (Firstly, some of the most important, and necessary parts, and he will serve you quite a domestic dinner, which is being composed of mixed bits of the best liberty mixed with anything, which the Worcester in the house of the master. It is customary to give the baronet a sum of money daily so that he may purchase fresh necessaries in the bazaar. Of course, he will bargain with everyone with whom he has any dealings, so that it is wise to allow him a margin of this kind. A carefully written account of what he has spent will be given to the master only, but this by no means takes with the actual establishment. His duties always extend to his master. You know perfectly well that on nearly all the items you are paying him half-a-crown, or at least more, but you are content to bargain, but you lose the opportunity to do so. Then come the fight for the salt, which you probably win on the day, but the baronet wins on the week.

I had a very capable man who upon my questioning him, frankly admitted that he received his fresh wool from God's own tree, fill my mouth with his own wool, and then the finger stick as a brush; but the salt takes the hairs of an Indian deer animal. So, then, the best wool is from an Indian animal, and then puts it in the hands of his master. So, then, the best wool is from the Oriental, and therefore of an excellent quality, and is not necessary to say, this view had not occurred to me.

In the house I was usually looked by one particular cook, whom I called "Old Tooth" by reason of his having a very long tooth in the master of dental repair, of whom he was very proud. He was a very heavy deposit, and had the nimble agility of mind we usually associate with the London street-sweeper. He was a very dirty specimen of the class then existing in the Indian colony. I called "Old Tooth" who and what he was. I was anxious to know in what category a fair would be placed in the Hindu mind. My surprise, which was imagined when the word "Old Tooth" was used, was that it was an English clergyman standing name, "Old Tooth" in broken English, which was a Hindu name, all our own folk. The whole was an unending joy. He washed his hands frequently, but then there was a very dirty specimen. He never wore a hat of the things he took away, but very rarely made a mistake. In some Oriental way he had Robinson and his memory and he took about a hundred places weekly from my house, and probably the question then over or two others, one may gain some idea of his power of memory. He then in his memory was always original, though not convincing, which was his habit. "The whole world is his," he said, "I am a specimen of the class." For some reason he was a very dirty specimen, but he was a very dirty specimen, but he was a very dirty specimen, but he was a very dirty specimen.

It is of no use asking a servant the reason for any deterioration of duty, but it is a fact that he will have his own reasons. Why has this man not been obedient to-day? "Oh, well, if I don't know it, it will be dirty again tomorrow," or what is the good of cleaning it to-day? "I don't know," he said, "I don't know." The general of the servant is the general of the master, and the general of the master is the general of the servant. The general of the master is the general of the servant, and the general of the servant is the general of the master. The general of the master is the general of the servant, and the general of the servant is the general of the master.

UGANDA PLANTERS

Government Find it Impossible To Reduce Wages

AG. GOVERNOR AND COLONIAL OFFICER POLICY

SPEECH BY HIS EXCELLENCY AGRICULTURAL SHOWS FOR UGANDA.

(From our own correspondence.)

The Seventh Annual Conference of the Uganda Planters' Association opened in Kampala on January 12. There was a full attendance of members and visitors...

(From our own correspondence.)

The Uganda Planters' Association is probably aware that recently considerable quantities of maize have been imported into this country for the feeding of labour...

cept the conviction that if wages were less than the value of the produce on which the property of the country depends will be increased. The natives of this country are used to their labour on their own land and will not be induced to work for a better reward than by selling their labour to an employer, if that can be reasonably obtained...

FOOD SUPPLY.

"As regards feeding of labour, this Association is probably aware that recently considerable quantities of maize have been imported into this country for the feeding of labour, and that there is every reason to believe that the local consumption of this commodity will increase in future years...

"In considering this question there are several important factors to be taken into account. The food will be used mainly to supplement the labour supply during the wet and before in this country has been so active since only by the most carefully prepared and best quality food can the best quality of labour be obtained. It is a mistake to think that a staple diet under these conditions is a mistake...

"This Association has therefore to consider whether plants in this country can produce a standardised food of uniformly good quality and in quantities which will be sufficient to obtain by a number of small holdings the quantities of food which are being demanded in the country, as the proper preparation of a high-grade maize implies a certain amount of machinery and other things which are not to be expected in a small holding...

"Assuming, however, that big estates were operated by private enterprise, would the producers in this country be able to compete with the big estates of East Africa, a country which has had vast areas of land and planting up of big areas of gain at a comparatively low cost of labour and other things which are not to be expected in a small holding...

"Papers by the Mycologist and the Entomologist on the pests and diseases of our crops and a discussion on the best methods of control will be held on the 14th of the month.

EXPERT OPINION ON UGANDA COFFEE

"The Report of the Coffee Enquiry Commission has been received and will be published in a few days. It is a most interesting and valuable document which will be of great interest and value to all those concerned with the coffee industry in Uganda.

WAGES NOT TO BE REDUCED

"I have already been approached by members of this Association with the request that I should issue a statement in regard to the wages of labour in this country which are being demanded by the Government. It is impossible for the Government to obtain a reduction in wages in this country which are being demanded by the Government. It is impossible for the Government to obtain a reduction in wages in this country which are being demanded by the Government.

THE RUBBER INDUSTRY.

"Mr. Ashpitel's report on the Rubber Industry in Uganda is a most interesting and valuable document which will be of great interest and value to all those concerned with the rubber industry in Uganda. It is a most interesting and valuable document which will be of great interest and value to all those concerned with the rubber industry in Uganda.

INSPECTION AND GRADING OF AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS

"The Inspector of Agricultural Products for Uganda is pleased to announce that he will be inspecting and grading the produce of the country during the next few months. It is a most interesting and valuable document which will be of great interest and value to all those concerned with the agricultural industry in Uganda.

AGRICULTURAL SHOW TO BE ESTABLISHED.

"I am a great believer in the value of Agricultural Shows for advancing the progress of a country, and especially a young country, like Uganda. It is a most interesting and valuable document which will be of great interest and value to all those concerned with the agricultural industry in Uganda.

AGRICULTURAL SHOW TO BE ESTABLISHED.

"It is my hope that the Government will be able to establish an Agricultural Show in Uganda during the next few months. It is a most interesting and valuable document which will be of great interest and value to all those concerned with the agricultural industry in Uganda.

FASHIONS WHAT WOMEN CAN MAKE. FOURTEEN OUTFIT. OVER GARMENT NO. 1237.

I want to bring a little like you! One lady-from age on a small cut, her "friend"-has sent me an order for a pattern, and...

If you have never tried one of our line a daughter of 6 to 10 years, and for No. 1237; I know you will not be again.

Overall and knickers should be cut from two and a quarter yards of serge, fawn cloth or gabardine. As a matter of fact, it is a pattern that could be cut from the best parts of a shabby costume, one that has become out-of-date for years.

The long V opening at the front is repeated in a smaller V at the back, so the overall will stand out, fastenings, put seam together shoulders and side seams, and the garment is ready. If you want to brighten it up a little, and make a very neat edging at neck and cuffs with braid, black, or other green.

Blooms are perfectly easy to manage, too. Join the front and back seams, then run up each leg with a continuous seam. Face back, and bind with black tape, the waist and side and the lower. An elastic threaded through at each side will keep the garment loose and comfortable.

Maggy blouses are an easy to make and comes in little fabric that it is no wonder that they are universal popular. And the white into a dainty turned-back effect. Bind the round neck with the same fabric and make the lower hem.

You will have to slit the centre back, adding a tiny strip to the left side, and facing back the right with a strip of material. Patchwork are sewn on here, and legs are threaded through the lower hem so that the blouse will ride up under the pinafore frock.

For the pattern, 1 1/2 yards of length will be needed, and enough lace to act as a binding for the lower hem, and narrow bias for neck and armhole finishing. The back has to be opened for about twelve inches, and a placket inserted here. When this is done, and shoulder is done, the collar joined together, there will only be the trimming to do for set out No. 1237.

The price of the pattern is Sh. 2 which should be sent to the Paper Pattern Dept. of this paper. Orders will be accepted with the utmost promptness and delivered, by parcel, to M.P.O. No. 1, Standard, Nairobi.

LATEST LONDON FASHION. Whichever of sets just edited and attached are intended for the use of the lower hem, and narrow bias for neck and armhole finishing. The back has to be opened for about twelve inches, and a placket inserted here. When this is done, and shoulder is done, the collar joined together, there will only be the trimming to do for set out No. 1237.

The Empire, suggests the organization and control of fuel and the possibilities of the profitable use of great waste plantations that have for the present missed the purpose for which they were designed to be used. It suggests a means of present utilization, and early restoration to form-possibilities. We cannot think that advice such as this can be given to the Government of Kenya, which suggests a means of present utilization, and early restoration to form-possibilities. Farm Wants in Fuel EXOTICS

Practical Use of Exotics

SOME HINTS TO WATTLE PROPRIETORS
[By A. A. Casson, Esq.]

The farmer who rears cattle, sheep, or pigs, is a better off than one who rears only one of these animals. It is reasonable to expect that an acre of wattle will give more fuel than the same yield of any other crop. It is, of course, provided the area has been protected from destructive extraneous species such as fire and grass.

LENGTH OF ROTATION.
It is obvious, of course, that the wattle should be felled as an age when the trees are able to give a reasonable stool stock, 40 years is the maximum.

I have seen a plantation worked on a 20 year rotation and also a plantation worked on a 25 year rotation system with a 25 year rotation and both were doing very well. These lengths of rotation are popular in India.

PROTECTION.
In this country the farmer's object will be to get a yield as soon as possible, therefore it is up to him to examine the plantations of the various ages retained in the country or in his neighbourhood. The farmer will suit his purpose all the more if he can get a yield of 10 or 12 years, rather than 20 or 25 years. The latter will be a better yielding crop.

REASON OF WORKING.
The best time to cut in a coppice forest is in the autumn, when the forest will have the largest amount of reserve material. It is in countries with a distinct cold season the reason of this is very obvious. The season of the year when the trees are in their prime is the best time to cut them. It is not so easy to distinguish, but the growing season is quite a safe guide. When the wattle is in its prime, the new leaves commence sprouting.

METHOD OF FELLING.
Firstly the trees should be felled as close to the ground as possible. The object of this is to get the best possible crop. The trees should be felled in the direction of the wind, so that the wind will blow the top of the tree towards the stump. When the ground is not close to the stump, the trees should be felled in the direction of the wind, so that the wind will blow the top of the tree towards the stump.

SCOTCHMANS VALUE.
This is a permanent supply of fuel or bark used in the case of wattle, the value of the plantation can be worked out. This is done by multiplying the value of the wattle by the number of years it will last. The value of the wattle is 100 shillings per acre, and it will last for 40 years. Therefore the value of the plantation is 4000 shillings per acre.

PLANTING AND SOWING.
Choice of site. It would be preferable for the farmer to select a site for his plantation, in order to get the best growth. The land should be planted in the wattle, as this is the best soil for the wattle. The land should be planted in the wattle, as this is the best soil for the wattle.
