the younger generation of Africans and the stubborn unwillingness of the older men to part with the institutions of an unchangeable social pattern. We must remember that our own efforts and teachings, religious and secular, provide the inspiration and that we must eventually accept the responsibility for the destruction of custom and tradition—a task which cannot be discharged unless we create the new site a fair and more abiding effort.

This moral conclusion may be approached in a more systematic frame of mind, if the usual considerations arising out of the report which we have allowed. It is a great pleasure to record that Government has issued instructions that one pattern in the form of fine, bands and special punishments, authorized or unauthorised, are not part of their policy of enforcing the planting of cotton.

The Administration has appointed a special land tribunal committee to operate for two seasons and, discovering an industry established, may not find so difficult to down and forbid but we regard it as a great pity that the present of public opinion should have been an essential incentive to a pure effort only. There is the subject of the cotton - the native trading which forms one of the most interesting features in the abstract of economic development. It has been never been able to discover why the more enlightened Cost natives and the capable Kenyan people were not encouraged to play their legitimate and obvious part in the trade in the native reserves; we are disappointed to learn to-day having in mind the results of the native reserves, which are attempting to build up a commercial empire among their own people are competing to buy goods for their village shops or retail prices from Asiatic stores, while their own people are importing from under European control do not desire to trade with our unfortunates. Surely it is possible to make arrangements which are so simple as to contain their own goods at the market price as those from whom they are imported, or when they are imported, at what rates to-day? And they are small subject, which requires more serious and direct attention. It is upon this subject that I should like to add that a common and change independent of the "Protestants" of the great. SAVING LESSONS.

It is a great privilege to be able to publish unadorned reports upon the domestic problems of the native peoples of the Empire represented by the interesting summary of a general meeting of the "African Peoples' Welfare Association" appearing in this column to-day. The history of the formation of the body and of its development is of great interest to those who are concerned with the growth and influence have been reached in the East African Standard. It arose out of circumstances and conditions of the present, but its life and action is upon the internal advancement of the Kenyan people and has been published in the East African Standard. ACCIDENT ON UASIN GSHU LINE.

Railway Football Team in a Collision.

COLD JOURNEY IN TRUCKS.

Stranded on Highest Point of the Railway.

What might have been a serious accident occurred on the Uasin Gishu line at 70 miles from Kisumu last night at 11 p.m. The special train which was carrying the railway football team and supporters back from Eldoret to Kisumu was proceeding slowly after having reached the station when the passengers experienced a shuddering and then heavily from their seats and the train stopped suddenly. Investigation proved that a head-on collision had taken place between this special train and a construction train consisting of a locomotive and several passenger coaches which was proceeding in the opposite direction. The cause of the collision was that the railway was a single track and the two trains had not been signalled. GOVERNMENT AND LAND ALIENATIONS. Reply to Question in the Council.

VERY HASTY CASE. More Protests in the Legislature.

TOO MUCH HASTE. The Elated members protested exceptionally yesterday in the Legislative Council against the power of resuming standing orders at the instance of the Government.

THE Elated members protested exceptionally yesterday in the Legislative Council against the power of resuming standing orders at the instance of the Government. The motion standing before the Council was the resumption of the standing orders which were suspended on the 23rd of August last. The Government had proposed to resume the standing orders on the 23rd of August last. The members of the Council were of the opinion that the Government had acted hastily in resuming the standing orders. They protested against the Government's action and demanded that the standing orders should not be resumed until the Government had had time to consider the matter properly.

GOVERNMENT ATTITUDE. The Colonial Secretary explained that it would be difficult for the Government to resume the standing orders at the instance of the Government. He said that the Government had to take into account the views of the members of the Council and the public. He said that the Government would not resume the standing orders until it had had time to consider the matter properly.

THE NEED FOR URGENCY. The Colonial Secretary explained that it was a matter of urgency for the Government to resume the standing orders. He said that the Government had to take into account the views of the members of the Council and the public. He said that the Government would not resume the standing orders until it had had time to consider the matter properly.

MR. H. J. SCHWARTZ'S COMMENT. Mr. H. J. Schwartz commented on the Government's attitude. He said that the Government had acted hastily in resuming the standing orders. He said that the Government had not had time to consider the matter properly. He said that the Government should have consulted the members of the Council before resuming the standing orders.

TOO MUCH HASTE. The Elated members protested exceptionally yesterday in the Legislative Council against the power of resuming standing orders at the instance of the Government.

THE Elated members protested exceptionally yesterday in the Legislative Council against the power of resuming standing orders at the instance of the Government. The motion standing before the Council was the resumption of the standing orders which were suspended on the 23rd of August last. The Government had proposed to resume the standing orders on the 23rd of August last. The members of the Council were of the opinion that the Government had acted hastily in resuming the standing orders. They protested against the Government's action and demanded that the standing orders should not be resumed until the Government had had time to consider the matter properly.

THE NEED FOR URGENCY. The Colonial Secretary explained that it was a matter of urgency for the Government to resume the standing orders. He said that the Government had to take into account the views of the members of the Council and the public. He said that the Government would not resume the standing orders until it had had time to consider the matter properly.

MR. H. J. SCHWARTZ'S COMMENT. Mr. H. J. Schwartz commented on the Government's attitude. He said that the Government had acted hastily in resuming the standing orders. He said that the Government had not had time to consider the matter properly. He said that the Government should have consulted the members of the Council before resuming the standing orders.
