Sir P. Crawford has got his special railway rate of 1/ a ton irrespective of distance the next step clearly is to try to get cooperation from the shipowners The British India S. N. Co^s is to be approached, it would be unwise to overlook any other than the Castle Co^s in view of our new relations with them. In fact, I should have thought that there was more to be hoped from them than from the No.24. Referring to exportation of maize cannot Sir James Mackay be seen. Urge strongly Government doing all that is possible it would be of great assistance to development trade if for one year British India affords assistance by special rate by mail steamer or other. Too late for this year expect very much but consider future promising. Have consulted local agents who express a desire for help.
