ARE THERE TOO MANY SPECIALISTS?

There are too many specialists in the world today. Each one knows a little about everything, but no one knows anything well. This is a problem because it leads to inefficiency and a lack of expertise. We need more generalists who can see the big picture and coordinate different areas of the organization.

The Kenya Police Commissioner, Sir John Wood, has announced that the force is to be reorganised into a more efficient structure. He said that the present structure was based on a system of districts, but that this was no longer suitable for the needs of the country. He said that the force would be reorganised into a system of regions, with a central command structure. He said that this would enable the force to respond more quickly to emergencies and to provide a more efficient service to the public. He said that the reorganisation would be completed by the end of the year.

The Commissioner said that the reorganisation would be based on the following principles: (1) The force would be divided into four regions: North, South, East and West. (2) Each region would have a regional commander. (3) The regional commanders would report to the Commissioner. (4) The force would be equipped with modern weapons and equipment. (5) The force would be trained to a high standard of efficiency. He said that the reorganisation would be completed by the end of the year.

However, the proposal to include more modern sports, such as basketball and volleyball, has been well received. The International Olympic Committee is expected to make a final decision on the programme in the near future.

BISHOP VOUCHES FOR LIVE FAITH IN KENYA

Concurrence at Thomson's Falls

THE history of the Church has been written in the blood of the martyrs, and the Bishop of the Church in Kenya was still being written in the same way, declared the Bishop of Mombasa, the Rt Rev. L. J. Spencer, when he presided at the new All Saints' Church at Thomson's Falls.

"A diabolical conspiracy has been hatched against the Church in Kenya," he said, "and we must be prepared to meet it with a firm and unshakable faith in the living God."

'Why work in the dark?'
says
DAYLIGHT

There's no need for you to be puzzled about it. This is the solution. It's only a matter of time for you to find that the only way to get your work done is to get it done in the daylight. Daylight is the only way to get your work done. It's the only way to get your work done. It's the only way to get your work done.
