Mr. Hammarskjold taking Swedish soldiers into Katanga TSHOMBE WARNS U.N. LEADER

Troops today could cause trouble

KATANGA'S Premier, M. Tshombe, called Mr. Hammarskjold yesterday to say that his planned arrival this morning with two companies of Swedish troops could cause trouble in the province.

Observers in Elizabethville considered that while M. Tshombe was not refusing point blank to admit the soldiers with Mr. Hammarskjold, he was counselling most strongly against it. His telegram spoke of "grave inconvenience which can result from the occupation of troops before talks on the deployment of U.N. forces."

Earlier Mr. Hammarskjold had told M. Tshombe that he would be arriving in the Katanga with two companies of Swedish troops "under my exclusive personal authority" and possible lead a number of civilian advisers. The United Nations headquarters in New York said that M. Tshombe had agreed to their meeting and had guaranteed the party would be received in an orderly manner and with the highest courtesy.

Leopoldville rioting

The Elizabethville version of M. Tshombe's answer to the U.N. Secretary-General is apart from saying that the Swedish troops would cause trouble, "leading to serious anxiety among the whole Katanga" — promised to guarantee Mr. Hammarskjold's security "and that of your aides". Diplomats felt it would have been for Mr. Hammarskjold to have shown to Elizabethville first by himself and to have sent for the two companies after preliminary talks.

Crowds for Dr. Banda

When Dr. Banda, Malawi leader of the Malawi Congress Party, arrived in London yesterday, he was met by a large crowd of supporters from the Nyasaland Convention held in London, by which he was greeted by 12,000 cheering people.

Dr. Banda acknowledged the cheers by smiling, waving and shouting "Kwacha (Kwacha) is back in Nyasaland" to a large crowd of supporters who were gathered in front of the hotel where he was staying.

INDIAN VISITORS REDUCED BY LONDON TALKS

LAST YEAR'S tourist trade, mainly reduced by a fall in the number of Indian visitors, has been a disappointment to the Government. It is estimated that the number of Indian visitors to Kenya in 1960 was 1,146, compared with 1,380 in 1959. The decline was attributed to the fact that the number of Indian visitors to Kenya in 1960 was 1,146, compared with 1,380 in 1959. The decline was attributed to the fact that the number of Indian visitors to Kenya in 1960 was 1,146, compared with 1,380 in 1959.

FEWER FROM INDIA

It is emphasized, however, that the early fall in numbers had occurred entirely in tourist traffic to Kenya, India, Pakistan and Ceylon. Indian visitors to Tanganyika and Uganda had increased, as had the number of tourists entering all three territories from other African countries.

Increased numbers of Americans (up to 1,813), Canadians, Rhodesians and people from other East African States took their holidays in Kenya and British East Africa in 1960. The number of tourists from the United Kingdom in the first quarter of 1960 was 1,146, compared with 1,380 in 1959. Metings of a different kind are ahead for Mr. Peter Dakin, of Whalley, Lancashire. He gives the thumbs-up sign (right) at the start of a single-handed drive round the world.

Mr. Dakin intends to visit East and South Africa, Australia, Japan, South America and the United States during his two-year tour. He bought his Jeep for less than £20 to tow a trailer-caravan.

ANGER ON THE BEACH

It might be a home if the fishermen of Helsingør could get their business as usual. It happened at Helsingør after an old German 1900, which had been towed from the wrecked ship the Littor (left) and abandoned on the beach.

Here, an officer of a local fleet (right) promises to make it better.

Mr. Max Vandersluis (below), official representative of the Danish Prime Minister, M. Thomsen, has been receiving recently. After flying to London and Brussels he said there would be a fight to the death if U.S. troops entered Helsingør.

THE first visit of a reigning monarch to the Shetland Isles for nearly 100 years has been made by the Queen. Here she inspects fishing vessels, which were dressed overall for the occasion, in Lerwick Harbour.

In the background can be seen the Duke of Edinburgh walking with the hereditary Prince of Lerwick. The lines of fishing craft were filled with cheering families as the Royal couple made their way along the quay-side.

Twin-set makes way for Shetland overpull and lambswool golfer

THE lady who has sounded the trumpet for a fashion almost exclusive to the British Isles, it has had a long run for its money and no doubt will enjoy a popular revival in another decade or so. The "twin-set" (as the name implies) is one of the alternative styles in the recent vogue. It is a Shetland or lambswool sweater, "under" pair of woolen "overpull" in pale blue, white or other desirable shades called "over pull".

It is the avoidance of the "twin-set" and "overpull" which has given rise to the "Shetland overpull" and the "lambswool golfer". The latter is a similar garment, but it is a similar difference, and it is a similar difference.

The Shetland overpull is a sweater and overpull in a woolen and overpull in its own right. It is a similar difference, and it is a similar difference.

SHIRT - BLOUSE

Another unique fashion is the "shirt-blouse" which is a blouse with a collar and a buttoned front. It is a similar difference, and it is a similar difference.

Rousing Rugby by Regiment

PROMISED Rugby, with less tackling and close contact than the characteristic of the rivalry between a Cavalry Regiment XV and the Duke of Wellington's Regiment on Sunday. The soldiers were making their first appearance in Rugby, before a large crowd of civilians which included the Overseas Forces' Commandant, Major Patrick Bennett, and his staff. The Cavalry XV, captained by Major Bennett, and the Duke of Wellington's XV, captained by Major Bennett, played a very close and hard-fought match. NEW ERA BEGINS FOR CYPRIOTS

Round the world

Sir Hugh sails as Makarios takes over

A 12-GUN salute and the crackle of fireworks heralded the birth of the Cyprus Republic yesterday. Archbishop Makarios was invested as the first President and Dr. Fazlil Kutchuk became Vice-President.

The two leaders of the Greek- and Turkish-Cypriot communities respectively, later switched the new republic's flag hoisted over the Council of Ministers building in Nicosia as thousands of Cypriots cheered.

The flag is a map of Cyprus in gold on a white background with two olive branches under the map. In the foreground with the island's recent history. It is the first 1,000 years of the island's recorded history. It has come to be known as an independent republic. It has come to be known as an independent republic. Members choose leader

The investiture ceremony yesterday was attended by members of the diplomatic corps, Cabinet Ministers and Members of the House of Representatives who made their appearance, first, then elected Mr. Glafkos Clerides President of the House.

The last British Governor of Cyprus, Sir Hugh Foot, was called for home in a Royal Air Force plane to an island. He is expected to board H.M.S. Chichester with his family, and return to England.

Strong Soviet opposition faces Mr. Hammar

U.N. SECURITY COUNCIL BREWS OVER CONGO

M. Lumumba declares martial law

MR. HAMMARSKJOLD, the United Nations Secretary-General, yesterday faced strong Soviet opposition about his handling of the Congo crisis as he prepared for a new Security Council debate.

After differences with the Congo Prime Minister, M. Lumumba, over the implementation of previous Security Council resolutions sent Mr. Hammaraskjold hurrying back to New York on Tuesday night after earlier asking that the Tuesday should be called into session yesterday.

He found when he arrived that the Soviet First Deputy Foreign Minister, Mr. Kuznetsov, had issued a formal statement to the Press from the U.N. Headquarters which asserted that Mr. Hammaraskjold had acted "in clear contradiction of the spirit and the letter" of all three resolutions on the Congo.

American support

Considering these criticisms, the American State Department announced from Washington that the Secretary-General had the complete support of the United States in the Congo.

Mr. M. Lumumba has declared martial law in the Congo, after challenging Mr. Hammaraskjold's official ruling that the United Nations should play a role in the internal political and constitutional struggle between M. Lumumba and the other Congolese provinces which seek greater independence.

POOLE: LAST HOPE OF ESCAPING DEATH FAILS

Poole, sentenced to death in January for the murder of an American in London, was taken to a cell at Brixton Prison at 4 o'clock.

The message was handed Poole by the parents and secretary to the Governor of London, Mr. Robert Poole, who is acting as governor for the time being. Poole is the son of a well-known actor and his wife is a well-known actress.

U-2 PILOT SAYS HE FLEW 1,200 MILES INTO SOVIET UNION

FRANCIS GARY POWERS, the United States U-2 pilot, admitted at his Moscow trial yesterday—his 33rd birthday—that he made a spy flight over Russia on May 1 and penetrated 1,200 to 1,300 miles into Soviet territory.

Powers told the bored, jaded military court that he had been ordered by the Russians. He had been given a permit by the Moscow for use in case he was captured. He said he was shot down when the maximum altitude of about 65,000 feet was reached.

Powers was brought down by a Soviet MiG-17 fighter jet. He was captured by a Soviet soldier who was on a reconnaissance mission. Powers was taken to a secret location in the Soviet Union.

Some physical facts the MIDDLE-AGED must face

It is becoming more and more a fact that the middle-aged man is not only a man of affairs, but a man of letters. He is not only a man of letters, but a man of letters. He is not only a man of letters, but a man of letters.

Anyone would think I was just a machine!

If yours is anything like a typical business, you are likely to find at least one young lady in the office who's rapidly being her discarded in favor of all the copy-typing she has to do. She says she might just as well be a machine - but she's wronging I think a little in copying the "Thermo-Fax" All-day Copier some far, for less than a typewriter. With the "Thermo-Fax" All-day Copier there is no messy chemical processing, no fire, no boiler, no time wastefully used and a great deal of money saved. Why we demonstrate?

Armed Congolese troops manhandle Canadian soldiers

U.N. OFFICER AND Civil aircraft attacked in CONGO while at Leopoldville

Minister petitioned Lodwar

More than 500 well-armed men were in the lounge of Nairobi Airport yesterday to see Kenya's Olympic team off for Rome. Of the blue-bloused contingent, some were boarding their plane, the Colony's Sports Office. Mr. Archie Evans, said it would be surprised if one or two of them being back some tomorrow.

Leopoldville Airport was closed to all civil aircraft yesterday after Congolese troops attacked a Canadian Army officer there, knocking him unconscious with the butt of a rifle.

Other Canadian soldiers were searched and forced to lie flat on the ground during a security check by troops armed with machine-guns.

The officer attacked was Capt. J. C. Tashmore, who was in charge of a five-man team of army signals at Kasai Province. An ex-aviator, he was among those inside the aircraft and the engines were being started when a group of Congolese ran up and signalled the pilot to switch off.

Thought to be 'spies' The Congolese then made the Canadian get out of the aircraft. About a company of Congolese soldiers, all of whom were armed with machine-guns, surrounded the pilot and the crew.

They searched the crew and forced them to strip down to their underpants. Their radio equipment was roughly handled and dropped to the ground. The pilot at the airport said they thought the Congolese—who were making a security check for "spies"—believed the five French-speaking Canadian soldiers were in fact to be Finnish paratroopers posing as members of the United Nations Force.

Another detachment of about five Canadians was also manhandled. The incident took place at Leopoldville, the capital of the Congo, which is 12,000 miles from the United States.

Debate halted A conference debate in the Congo has continued for seven hours in the Belgian Lower Chamber today when Ministers walked out in protest against a Communist motion.

The motion was that the Government should withdraw its troops from the Congo. The Government refused to do so.

Second day of Powers trial SUMMIT VERY FAR FROM MIND, SAYS U-2 PILOT

GUY BURGESS, the runaway British diplomat, was in the body of the court when the trial of the U-2 pilot, Francis Powers, entered its second day in Moscow yesterday. Burgess heard the day's most dramatic moments of the trial.

KENYA'S newly completed Broadcasting House is due to open its operations on Tuesday (15th) at 10 o'clock, marking the transfer of the English National Service from Nairobi to the new building.

The Asian and African National Service and the African Regional Service are to follow and it is intended to have all four services under the one roof by September 20 when the Governor, Sir Patrick Munn, is to perform the formal opening of the new building. A two-day party was given by the contractors, Messrs. G. S. Shaw and Company last night to mark the completion of the building.

Broadcasting House has been built at a cost of £1,900,000—including a silent film studio.

Working at three and four — the English National's best-known radio personality, David Stewart, was caught by the radio camera at his desk in the new Broadcasting House. Equipped with his usual cap and a bottle of something, Stewart is prepared to play the first record of the evening programme, and (right) with toast in hand and tucked back he continues a busy broadcast before starting work on the morning programme.

KENYA'S new Broadcasting House follows the completion of which news has been reported.

The first programme to come over the air from the new building will be from the new English National Service on Monday (14th).

FANTASTIC PRODUCTION FIGURES

4,290,000 Volkswagens owned can't be wrong in making their cars as the world's most popular car and VW's are still coming off the production line at the rate of 4,000 a day!

VOLKSWAGEN . . . WATER WAGEN!

IN AUSTRALIA

A rubberized moose, a rubber tube extension to the exhaust and a propeller fitted to the rear engine turned a Volkswagen Sedan into a "WATER WAGEN". This unusual amphibian attracted more attention than the official opening of the Perth Narrows bridge when it sailed round Swan River and under the bridge for more than an hour, with its front wheel acting as rudder!

IN NEW ZEALAND

Recently, a driver won a bet of £50 when he "swam" the river TAY in his Volkswagen, using similar attachments to those used in Australia.

IN U.S.A.

During 1959, more Volkswagens were sold than any other make of car.

NO IDLE VOLKSWAGENS

Although about 125,000 cars from Europe which are lying idle in the U.S.A., there is not a single Volkswagen. 151,000 VW's were imported into the U.S.A. last year and this figure fell far short of requirements.

FROM GERMANY

UNIQUE high re-sale value

Unique high resale value of Volkswagen is linked to its reputation of being built to last, but continual improvement. 3,127 improvements have been made to its components since its inception.

27 MORE IMPROVEMENTS THIS YEAR

FROM KENYA

Some of this year's improvements to the VW include a front axle stabilizer, revised steering wheel, self-cleaning indicators, improved sound-proofing.

AFRICA'S ONLY MOBILE SERVICE LINE

FROM KENYA

Recently, the 5,000th Volkswagen to be serviced since August '59 on the only Mobile Service line in Africa, passed through. The car was given a free service and a presentation was made to its owner. This service line is based at Galper Market at Cotacachi House, Nairobi. The full service takes only two hours and costs very little.
