CITY'S SUBDUED MOOD

Jordan and Wall Street affect market

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE was in a subdued mood yesterday, with a tendency for prices to sink. There were four reasons for this.

Settlements to the previous Account were partly responsible for price falls in Jordan and the application of overseas holdings of sterling balances was unearring overnight.

Wall Street, did not encourage sentiment either. It closed at the point anticipated but after opening sharply higher prices tumbled in response to a small report.

AFRIGAS COOKING-

selected by the Kikamba Beach Hotel, Mombasa

Seven miles north of Mombasa on the Malindi road lies the most comfortable Kikamba Beach Hotel. There is a very beautiful beach right on the door-step, but there is also an up-to-date swimming pool if you feel disinclined to wade even that far!

All rooms have electric fans and private bathrooms with hot and cold running water. There is a cheerful dining room in the main building and an attractive bar in Ash Alley. Afrigas was installed in 1958.

Mr. O. Roberts, (pictured right), manager of the Kikamba Hotel has this to say about Afrigas: "One of the outstanding features of Afrigas is its speedy and clean cooking. It is especially good on a la carte meals where the order is turned on and off frequently according to demand at the dining-room. Instead heat means quick service yet nothing is wasted after switching off the heat."

Cameras & Common Sense

At the turn of the century — long before the Camera Centre came into being — photography was still being regarded as deep, dark magic. None out of her home reserved the pride of place in the sitting-room for the family portrait. Father, with his brooding moustache, standing rigidly at attention, mother sitting demurely at his side, "Milk" the children, dressed in their sailor suits, were draped around the group in poses of suitable formality. A dusky aunt of frightening demeanor usually completed the conjugal scene.

Compared with the casual candid shots of today our forefathers must have considered photography an intriguing ordeal synonymous with mysticism and witchcraft.

All this goes to show what tremendous advances have been made in the photographic field. In 1960 the family — or even the individual — that does not possess a camera is the exception. Whether it be for the value of 96s. or $200, a camera is now regarded as being a "must".

It's all very well to be the grand owner of an imposing camera, but how does one become a skilled and proficient in its use? By trial and error? Well that, of course, is the expensive method. The most practical way is that with a qualified photographer and his help the Camera Centre can be of assistance to you. Our technical adviser is always in attendance at the shop and will be only too pleased to help and give advice. Next time you have a minute to spare pop in for an informal chat.

Polls protest by students

BAGANDA WANT NEW SYSTEM FIRST

"Thinker" Correspondent.
BAGANDA students in Brisbane have protested to the Baganda Constitution Commission of the "high-handed" nature of the "one-man" system of electing that registration should start in Baganda.

The group, the Abamba Ki-Kira, the "Children of Kira", who is the traditional father of the Baganda — wrote to the Commission saying that they were perturbed by the announcement that elections would start in Baganda.

The Colonial Secretary was told that the group had been protesting for a long time now, protesting a standard party, but the registration of the electoral process of the Baganda people through the constitutional framework of the country.

They were not opposed to the system, but the system of one man, one vote, and the system of one election should be held after the registration of the Baganda people had been done.

FRIGIDAIRE A household word

THE bedtime hour, to the mothercraft experts but it is soothing. In reality, of course, it is a matter of these things, a mother's little hands at midnight. Instead, we notice a child and the cat, who wags his tail in his presence.

First we have the usual "Tummy Head" in the garden, leading tricycles from behind the bushes and reaching dolls who have been abandoned to it, up the stairs.

It is quite dark, but the light is a gentle, warm, when it is needed, and we are assured that the child is asleep. The mother, however, is not so sure. She has the feeling that the child is not so soundly asleep as she would like to believe. She has the feeling that the child is not so soundly asleep as she would like to believe.

Separating these voters, the Council approved with slight amendments the recommendations of a special committee which had been appointed to consider the reconstitution of local authorities.

U.N. leader says future of Africa is at stake

Warning on strong-arm tactics

FEARS that a civil war was imminent in the Congo have been voiced by the United Nations Under-Secretary, Dr. Ralph Bunche.

He told a Press conference in New York, only hours after his return from the new republic: "We certainly hope it will not happen, but I cannot rule out the possibility."

Dr. Bunche, who spent two months in the Congo as the Secretary-General, Mr. Dag Hammarskjöld, added: "The whole future of the African continent is at stake and there must be a great deal of prudence in the use of force. But this does not mean showing weakness."

Without a further detraction from the Security Council, Mr. Hammarskjöld would have been in a difficult position to show any weakness.

There were 14,000 men in the U.N. force in the Congo, and even with 15,000, the number was being very gradually increased so that it would be ready to take over the security of the Congo in the event of a withdrawal of the U.N. force.

The United Nations was not sent to the Congo for the purpose of killing Africans. "The force was sent to the Congo for the purpose of showing an impartial attitude towards all the parties to the conflict. It is not an army but a peace-keeping force."

In Kinshasa, Congolese reports said that the Government had been told to show no favouritism to any of the parties to the conflict. The Government troops and United Nations troops were to be treated as equals. "The Government troops were to be treated as equals with the United Nations troops."

A Government spokesman in Leopoldville said that the military commander of Bakwanga had been told to show no favouritism to any of the parties to the conflict.

RIOTS SHOOK INDIA'S UNITY

The Indian Press Minister, Mr. V.K. Rajwade, said that the riots in the States of Madhya Pradesh and Bihar had shaken the unity of India.

On the 30th day of the month, there had been a riot in the State of Madhya Pradesh, and on the 31st day of the month, there had been a riot in the State of Bihar.

KAMBA WARRIORS CROSS BORDER

13 tribesmen killed in fights over stock raids

SEVEN Kamba tribesmen and two Masai have been killed in the Sultan Hamud area during a series of widespread skirmishes along their boundary east of the Nairobi-Mombasa road.

Another seven Masai are believed to have been wounded. Five of the Kamba were reported to have been shot by security forces yesterday in an attempt to prevent further raids by the tribesmen.

Kamba warriors, armed with spears and arrows, were waiting for their village at Mombasa to be raided by the tribesmen.

A local representative of the tribesmen, who was killed, said that the trouble began on Wednesday when five of his tribesmen from the Kamba were shot by security forces.

GOVERNOR SAYS POLITICAL HOPES MAY BE DELAYED

“Idealist” Correspondent. Dar es Salaam.
Ministers of the new Tanganyika Government were told by the Governor, Sir Richard Trendelenburg, that they would have to modify considerably what their political aspirations were with the public generally but with their own party both within and without Legislative Council. He was speaking at the swearing-in ceremony of the Ministers at Government House.

Recalling his remarks at the swearing-in of this Government, the Governor said that the tasks which lay before the Ministers were primarily to acclimatise themselves to the acceptance of collective responsibility even though such acceptance might involve the temporary subordination of some of their political aspirations. “They would have to acquire the skill of dealing with policies which were within the national consensus, which were administratively practicable and which would not conflict with the aims being pursued by their colleagues.

TASK LIKELY TO BE HARDER

Finally they would have to maintain a close and sympathetic relationship between public opinion and the procedure of government. The Governor said the march of constitutional change in the last two years and the importance of the fact that concerned with the maintenance of proper relations between public opinion and the process of government was likely to become increasingly complex. “Sir Richard quoted from Lord Morrison (formerly Mr Herbert Morrison) on the relations between elected Ministers and their party.

“Neither party nor in power nor out of power, Ministers in Parliament may find themselves in a position where they are bound to do things which they do not desire to do. It is a constitutional necessity that the Government should be responsible to the House of Commons as a whole and not only to the party which supports it. It is the duty of the Government to be responsible to the House of Commons in detail and not only to the party which supports it. FRANCE HOLD KENYA TO A DRAW King's boxers win half the novice titles

Nyandika's fine run in Olympic 5,000 metres

FRANCE created the surprise of the day in the Olympic 5,000 metres when they held Kenya to a draw on Saturday. Kenyans had to be satisfied with a second place only 9.4 sec behind the winner, M. Hallberg, of New Zealand. His time of 13 min 52.9 sec was a personal best. Nyandika ran a clever race and held sixth position nearly all the time. He held the lead over some of the time. He lost it only once, but he was probably the freshest man on the 12 of the field.

Unluckily the finest performance by the Kenya Olympic contingent so far was the modest running of Nyandika in the final of the 5,000 metres, in which he finished in sixth place only 9.4 sec behind the winner, M. His time of 13 min 52.9 sec was a personal best. Nyandika ran a clever race and held sixth position nearly all the time. He held the lead over some of the time. He lost it only once, but he was probably the freshest man on the 12 of the field.

The British Agricultural Conference in Cairo, which opened on September 1st, is a landmark event in the history of African agriculture. It is the first time that the British Government has held such a conference in Africa. The conference is being held in Cairo, Egypt, which is a strategic location for the African continent. The British Government is committed to the development of African agriculture and the improvement of the living standards of the African people. The conference will discuss the various aspects of African agriculture, including the production of food, the use of land, and the training of agricultural workers. It is expected that the conference will lead to a new era of development in African agriculture.

NO U.N. PROTECTION FOR RED CROSS TEAMS IN KASAI

This slaughter by Yvon Henry of the "Kinshasa Times", London

As the only units now trusted, albeit hesitantly, by the Free Patriotes in the Katanga area, I am able to report as of this date on D. L. Lemay's activities as a prisoner of Staff Province.

More and more of the Free Patriotes, organized by the late General M. Albert Kalundu, who attempted to set up an independent government in Katanga, have been and are being slaughtered without mercy.

A close neighbour towards Kinshasa, he is an important personality by his own title, but at the moment is still seen as a criminal kept to hide.

Uganda on watch for Congo Army

UGANDA and the Belgian authorities in Ruanda-Urundi are strengthening their watch on the Congo border to stop any Congo troops entering Uganda.

On the Uganda side a company of the E.A.R. is stationed at Kisumu and police there have been increased.

The border in fact, but in its own right, is being patrolled by the Congo army. It is reported that the Congo army is still in the Katanga area, and is still being patrolled by the Congo army.

On the Uganda side a company of the E.A.R. is stationed at Kisumu and police there have been increased.

Care stopped

Travellers from Uganda are being advised not to travel in the area near the Congo border. The British Foreign Office has issued a warning that any British citizen who enters the area before they would be sent back to Uganda.

At that station, Mr. Jean de Klerck, who was appointed as the head of the new bodies, has been reinstated in the Congo.

TOY MAN'S BEST FRIEND...

By EDITH WOODWARD

BROUGHT me in a happy household, I spent the years of my youth, when I should have been studying and learning all about dogs. I should suppose, therefore, that I would be a specialist in the breed of dogs which were not a racing family and "blame" usually only something by the name mother and "dog."

Probably it was all to the good. I am now a completely uneducated, untrained dog lover and I shall thank you very much, anyway.

Even now I do not know how to select and require my dog, but I shall try to do my best.

COULD you tell me if you could give me a little more information about the dog which you are talking about? I am sure you would be glad to do so.

DOGS are not all the same. There are many breeds and each breed has its own characteristics. Some are better suited to certain climates and some are better suited to certain purposes.

THE dog which you are talking about is a very good one. It is a breed which is well suited to the climate of this country and is a very good one for a family pet.

HAIRDRESSING TASTE AND TEMPERAMENT

By AMITA CHRISTOPHERSEN

RECOMMENDING a hairdresser to a friend is a tricky art recommending a servant or a dressmaker. It is a highly personal matter of matching taste and temperaments which a third person can misjudge there are.

There are all sorts of hairdressers to be found in every town and village. Some are good, some are bad. Some are kind, some are unkind. Some are patient, some are impatient. Some are clean, some are unclean. Some are honest, some are dishonest. Some are kind, some are unkind. Some are patient, some are impatient. Some are clean, some are unclean. Some are honest, some are dishonest.

There is only one shop in Nairobi with a complete range of fish, but many of the butchers stock frozen fish, and the prices seem to be relatively uniform.

It is reported that crab, prawns and shrimps will be in the shops early next week. It is worth noting that shrimps will be in the shops early next week.

The highly popular lake fish in Nairobi, which is a fresh fish, is a very good one. It is a breed which is well suited to the climate of this country and is a very good one for a family pet.

WHAT IS A CAMERA?

In the days of old-fashioned photography an "expert" was needed to take a photograph. The "expert" was the camera. The camera was the "expert" who took the photograph. The camera was the "expert" who took the photograph.

With the present different types of cameras have been developed, almost at one stroke the type of photography is no longer the monopoly of the "expert". The camera is now the "expert" who takes the photograph.

We are not trying to present modern photography as a complex and intricate thing. It is a simple thing. It is a simple thing. It is a simple thing. It is a simple thing.

Our Technical Advice is always in attendance and will be only too pleased to see you in the next few minutes to spare you in for an informal chat.

POSITIVE APPROACH

A QUESTIONER asked Mr. Shandell on Tuesday night why he had been so long over calling a meeting in Nairobi and there is some speculation as to why. One such meeting has to be for the purpose of a new constitution. Some of his associates—namely, Mr. Shandell, Mr. Kenyan and Mr. Omondi—believe that he would have been better served if others had followed suit. There are, however, some who believe that Mr. Shandell's conduct has been unbecomingly dignified. It is, however, a fact that Mr. Shandell's conduct has been unbecomingly dignified. It is, however, a fact that Mr. Shandell's conduct has been unbecomingly dignified.

The facts of succession in Kenya are not clear and there has been a more serious lack of leadership than in the past. It is a fact that Mr. Shandell has been unbecomingly dignified. It is, however, a fact that Mr. Shandell's conduct has been unbecomingly dignified.

Talks on restoring confidence

One of Mr. Shandell's main arguments had to do with monetary control. He stated that the amount of money in circulation was too large and that the Government should reduce it. He also stated that the Government should reduce the amount of money in circulation.

Responsibility is what Kenya must guard against, unprincipled demands for self-government and the demand for independence. He stated that the Government should reduce the amount of money in circulation.

DOES ANYONE WANT TO REPLACE BRITAIN IN KENYA

IMPERIALISTIC ambitions were not the motive force behind the interest of the American people in Kenya, Mr. Gordon Haigberg, director of the Washington office of the African American Institute, said at Nairobi yesterday.

Ample time had not elapsed since Mr. Haigberg, who is visiting here as part of the primary objective of a tour of cooperation, had left the United Kingdom last year.

He said that the Government had not been able to do anything to help Kenya in the past, and that the Government was now making a great effort to help themselves. He said that he would like to see sympathy if they showed more interest in the progress and welfare of the African people.

Three groups reject speech by Governor

ATTACKS on the recent statement of the Governor of Kenya regarding the country's economic and political situation have been rejected by three groups.

A statement issued by the Kenya African National Congress (KANAC) yesterday said the Governor, through his speech, had introduced a new era of freedom and progress in Kenya.

It stated the speech was made at a time when the country was still in the throes of a severe economic and political crisis.

The Kenya African Union (KAU) also rejected the Governor's speech, saying it was a mere attempt to divert attention from the real issues facing the country.

The Kenya African People's Party (KAPU) also expressed its disapproval of the Governor's statement, saying it was a clear attempt to undermine the confidence of the people in their elected representatives.

The Governor's speech was widely criticized in the press and by the public, with many feeling that it was a clear attempt to justify the government's policies and actions.
