SOUTHERN ASIA DEVELOPMENT PLAN TO COST £1,000 MILLION

THE Commonwealth's scheme to develop South and South-East Asia will cost £1,000 million to be "more effectively administered". It aims to raise the standard of living of a quarter of the world's population by (1) The irrigation and cultivation of 13,000,000 acres. (2) An increase of mineral wealth from £1.1 to (17 p.c.) in electricity.

The plan, known as the Colombo Plan, because it is administered as a revolving Commonwealth Fund, was first announced last January, during the first session of the Commonwealth Conference in London. It was then approved by the Commonwealth Ministers in London and the Commonwealth Secretariat in London. The plan is to be financed by the Commonwealth countries themselves, and the plan is to be administered by the Commonwealth Secretariat in London. The plan is to be administered by the Commonwealth Secretariat in London.

FARMERS OF TODAY HAVE TO FACE NEW TYPE OF PROBLEMS AND DIFFICULTIES

Pace of agriculture is being forced up

"Farmers" Steve Finlayson writes

AS countries are becoming more closely settled and as the pace of agriculture is being forced up, so the problems and difficulties which the old cultivators meet have become steadily increasing. The late John Burt Foster in his book "The British Commonwealth" lectures under the auspices of the Agricultural Society.

He urged young farmers in particular to keep abreast of developments and to refresh courses, reading, and attendance at lectures and visits to research stations.

"The people of England were once a very rich and powerful nation because they were farmers," he said. "The people of the world are still rich and powerful because they are farmers. It is the farmer who feeds the world and who makes it possible for the world to be civilized."

REPORT ON FORMATION OF WHITLEY COUNCIL IN KENYA

British specialist gives details
 FORMATION of a Central Joint Whitley Council for Kenya is recommended in a report on the working of Whitley Councils in Kenya. The author of the report, Mr. W. J. Huggins, was invited by the Colonial Office to accept an appointment as Director of the Whitley Councils in Kenya for the purpose of conducting an investigation into the working of these Councils in Kenya and to report on the results of his investigation to the Government of Kenya on the subject.

Basic committee
 A basic committee consisting of representatives of the Government and the Whitley Councils in Kenya was formed in 1947. The committee was set up to investigate the working of the Whitley Councils in Kenya and to report on the results of its investigation to the Government of Kenya. The committee has since held several meetings and has produced a report on the working of the Whitley Councils in Kenya.

Arbitration tribunal
 It is recommended that a tribunal be set up to deal with disputes between the Whitley Councils and the Government. The tribunal should be composed of representatives of both sides and should have the power to make binding decisions on any disputes that arise between the Whitley Councils and the Government.

Cost savings
 It is recommended that steps be taken to reduce the costs of the Whitley Councils. This could be done by reducing the number of Councils, by merging some of the Councils, or by reducing the salaries of the Council members. It is also recommended that the Government should provide more financial support for the Councils.

Confusion over the new bogey

CONFUSION in the minds of golf club secretaries and members over the new bogey rule regarding the measurement of the length of their courses has been reported. It is in a letter to the Editor that the Secretary of the Kenya Golf Club writes:

It is not without a certain amount of surprise that I find that many of the members of the club are talking of "normal" courses. This is a very old-fashioned term and is not in use at the present time.

At which point?

There remains the question of the point at which the measurement of the length of the course should be taken. This is a question which has been discussed at length by the members of the club.

Early success puts England on attack

PRODUCING their best all-round form so far in this year England's cricketers led out Australia's powerful batting side for 228 runs yesterday when the first Test match was abandoned at Brisbane.
