RACING: SECOND DAY OF NAROBHI OCTOBER MEETING

Arctic Light Wins The Merchants' Purse

TAKEN as a whole the Nairobi October (King's Day) Race Meeting was a decided success. On both days the weather was perfect, the going reasonably good, it ran on the hard side, and the crowd excellent. There were some horse finishes and interesting racing and, on Monday in particular, a hotly contested and interesting race for the Merchants' Purse. Arctic Light was the winner, and it was the first time that the race of the annual day.

On Monday, also, native conditions were somewhat difficult and annoying. Several times the enclosure behind the stands were invaded by natives who had broken through the fence, and as fast as the Police pushed them back in one direction they swarmed back in another. There was also a considerable invasion of the stands in the First Enclosure by Natives, many of whom had not been warned of the race. This is a point that stewards' notice during the running of a race. This is a point that should be attended to at all future meetings.

The Tote and Members' Boxes both did a roaring business on both days and the biggest prize in the history was some £77. Monday's tote prize was good. For a 5/2 stake, first favourite of 44/1, won 24/1, were among those paid out. Hot favourites were seen to take a chance should the winner be one of the more than one race on either day and only two horses, Mr. G. J. Curran and Mrs. Billiard took won two races during the meeting.

The Merchants' Purse. The biggest and without doubt the best feature of the afternoon was the five furlong Merchants' Purse, which was taken by Capt. S. T. Brown's chestnut coursed grey, ARCTIC LIGHT (s), by Anthony's owner, Handicapper, trained by his owner. The gelding was by a length from Handy Pobble who gave him a mile from Golden Wand and Pombles with Merin.

impaired in these young babies' traits of character, which in future years would develop into problems of more than ordinary difficulty. For, of course, many of the orphaned children are of the type which in Britain, in remote East Africa we know nothing of their percentage, of the surrounding conditions of their lives, of their ancestry. In approaching the problem sympathy has to be practical as well as emotional.
 But let us look at this problem squarely in the face. In Great Britain there are thousands of innocent children of our own race who have been orphaned by the war. The protection, the guidance, the encouragement which in varying measure they might each have enjoyed from their parents and their home surroundings have been withdrawn at a stage before they were old enough to know what they were doing. Their future is obscure. They are cast upon the mercy of the State and the people. Their parents have died and their homes have been any man who meets his death in the trenches. Something has to be done about them. They have been born in a Christian land that stands today for justice, for liberty, for humanity. That is their heritage and all of us who are their parents and their lives and our possessions, aspirations and achievements must have an inescapable responsibility. We cannot all say that if it somebody else's job. We are looking earnestly day after day for an outlet for our anxious desire to help in this struggle.
 We are compelled to sit still and see, among the many causes that need our aid, whether the plea of these orphaned babies anything to which we can give in these new and young lands of the British Empire there are circumstances and conditions which can do more for these victims of the horror of war.
 We are compelled to ask these questions not only as individuals but as a community and as a State. It is not an easy problem to solve. The more fact that these are young children of our white civilisation is merely an island in the vast black sea of Africa must cause us to ap-

Tune for ECONOMY

In normal times, most cars are set to give the owner just that little extra in power and acceleration which might be termed "luxury" driving. Most carburettor adjustments can therefore be "fired down" considerably without risk of the engine stalling in traffic, and without appreciably impairing general performance. Have petrol by tuning for economy. Your Service Station can make the adjustment in a few minutes.

HOW many farmers in Kenya know the Agricultural Library? How many more realize that it is available for their use? Judging from the people who tell me, "But I had no idea you had books to people outside the Department," the number who know it is certainly, by as large as it might be. So now I am going to tell you by the Library and see if it can be of help to you.

In Kenya as in other countries, an agricultural library has been established in the Department of Agriculture. It is a library for the use of the members, who in their turn serve the public. The library is open as a public library to people outside the Department. It is a library for the use of the members, who in their turn serve the public. Mc Cormick Deering No. 15 Disc Ploughs
 The No. 15 embodies the very latest and most desirable features in disc plough construction for animal draft. These features include the use of steel parts where possible, prompt greasing, strength and capacity, roller bearings which insure light draft and minimize wear, and an improved lever lift which raises the disc high and low.

The discs are fastened to steel beams which are solidly clamped to the heavy cast-iron frame of the plough. This frame is strongly braced to withstand heaving strains. Disc units may be spaced on the main frame to suit the soil conditions. The roller bearings are of the roller type, which are self-lubricating. COFFEE CONTROL INQUIRY

The Kenya Information Office, authorized by the Government of Kenya, has re-opened the inquiry into the coffee control in Kenya. The inquiry was originally conducted by the Coffee Control Board, which was established in 1938. The Board was composed of representatives of the Government and the coffee growers. The Board's report was published in 1939. The Government has now decided to re-open the inquiry because of the discovery of irregularities in the coffee trade. The Board is now conducting a new inquiry into the coffee control in Kenya.
