NEW IMMIGRATION LAW AIMS TO CREATE FEWER PROBLEMS' Proving benefits to country

(Continued from Page 3) of the Colony, announced that immigration policy should therefore be confined to that of the Government. The Government was composed almost entirely of members of the community who were not representative of the community as a whole. It was not until the Government took the responsibility of immigration policy that it was able to bring a board containing representatives of the various groups into existence. It is considered that in future steps which are now taking place towards a more representative Government will make this arrangement more desirable.

The Government proposed to assume responsibility for control of immigration, and to exercise its control through the Immigration Control Board and Appeal Tribunal which will be set up.

It is a feature of existing legislation that the Government's immigration policy should require entry into the possession of the necessary professional qualifications. It is proposed that this should continue, in that, as a condition of entry, the possession of the necessary professional qualifications should be required. It is proposed that the practice of giving the award of money to immigrants should be discontinued. It is proposed that the amount of money which is to be carried by immigrants should be limited to the amount of money which is necessary for their maintenance.

ASSURED SUM OF MONEY
 The Government proposes that the Principal Immigration Officer should be authorized to issue a sum of money to immigrants at his disposal as a condition of entry. The Principal Immigration Officer is to carry out this duty in accordance with the provisions of the proposed legislation. It is considered that the proposed legislation will create many fewer problems for the Government than the present system. The Government is confident that the proposed legislation will create many fewer problems for the Government than the present system. The Government is confident that the proposed legislation will create many fewer problems for the Government than the present system.

MEETING NEED IN AGRICULTURE
 The Executive has announced that it will be necessary to establish a department of agriculture in the Ministry of Labour and Industries. The department will be responsible for the training of new immigrants in agriculture.

PROTECTING LOCAL PEOPLE
 The fact that the immigration of immigrants may make a positive contribution to the economy of the country coupled with the probability that it will compete with the local people in regard to employment is recognized. It is proposed that the Government should take steps to protect the local people.

TWO BIRDS WITH ONE STONE

An Endowment Assurance as a method of saving has this advantage: the whole of the sum which you plan to have accumulated at a future date is available AT ONCE for your dependants should you be earlier.

If on the other hand you survive, the sum assured will provide you with a good return on your outlay.

Saving with interest and dependants' protection in the meantime are thus provided simultaneously.

It is worth remembering, too, that the obligation to maintain the payment of premiums imposes a degree of compulsion which makes saving a reality instead of a mere resolution.

An illustration of the benefits and cost will be sent if you will write stating your date of birth to the African objections to changes in the Kenya constitution

I HAVE read with interest the original constitution of Kenya formed last forward by the African Executive Members. It is interesting to note that the provisions represent the African Executive Members' views. I can only wonder what other differences exist between this so-called "liberal constitution" and the opinions of the African Executive Members.

It is interesting to note that the European Members' suggestion for an increase in African representation but nullify the effect of this increase by increasing the number of European Members at the same time to offset the increase in African representation. This suggestion is a clear attempt to prevent any increase in African representation. It is a clear attempt to prevent any increase in African representation. WORLD REPERCUSSIONS FROM ELECTION

DECISION IN KENYA

Reference to 'growing up at St. George's Day dinner'

DECISIONS reached at the forthcoming election will not only influence Kenya's course during the foreseeable future, but will also have repercussions from the entire free world. Mr. Louis J. Wood said when he proposed the toast, "Kenya," at the annual dinner on Monday of the Nairobi branch of the Royal Society of St. George.

Mr. Wood said the toast of publicity, good and bad, and criticism of the handling of the election, would mean that Kenya was being watched by the entire world. The importance placed by the world people had to play, and the influence they would have on the affairs of the world.

Mr. Wood said he had been for unity and a bold policy, directed by a government, not a coalition.

Literary views. Pointing to the rapidity of the change in free men Mr. Wood said: "There has been no greater change since the birth of man than the present change in Kenya. It is a great thing that some people have been pleased to see the change in Kenya." "Many members of 'Puffin' journalists and fact-finding committees have visited us, and many have returned to their countries and written the press and radio, and have been very helpful in a few instances. It is a great thing that some people have been pleased to see the change in Kenya." "The very liberality of the present-day government is a great thing that some people have been pleased to see the change in Kenya."

Leading class. "In this modern world there is no longer any time for a ruling class. These days are gone. But we do have the need for a leadership for which the free world is looking. It is a great thing that some people have been pleased to see the change in Kenya."

Vocal section. Mr. Wood said: "For this reason, if the new government is to be the best, it must be a government that is a government of the people, by the people, and for the people."

Proposing toast of 'Kenya'

On many subjects, particularly those relating to the country's borders, there was no very great difference between the actions of a governing government and the other party.

True to heritage. "People of British origin were the first to carry the flag of Kenya in the country, and it is their duty to carry it in their own way of life, and in their own words."

Other branches or regions were given by the president of the Nairobi branch, Dr. R. C. G. F. Wood, and the A.O.C. (Africa, Oceania, and the C. Pacific).

Mr. Arthur Grant-Bell, Attorney-General of Tanganyika, who was injured in a road crash on April 15, might be able to return to his duties in the near future.

Volunteer workers to 'make' a river

LAMU EFFORT AT RAMADAN

On the first day of Ramadan, a voluntary party of 30 Arab, Bajun, Swahili, Garamba Pokomo and Boma, led by the District Commissioner, Lamu, Mr. R. Freyne-Nichols, and the Mufti of Witu, started the reconstruction of a 900-foot furrow in an effort to re-establish the old Zana la Witu river, close to the town of Witu. The lake, but agreed only on condition that the work should be an unpaid community effort and that all races should be given an equal opportunity to work. The work was done by the furrow, although both provided for the benefit of the furrow. The idea has undoubtedly been accepted in some form.

MR. CATLING COMPLAINS ON UNPREPAREDNESS

Kenya, Malaya and Cyprus quoted

It was a pity that Colonial Governments at the beginning of an emergency invariably find their police forces understaffed and under-equipped, the Commissioner of Police, Mr. R. C. Catling, said when he proposed the toast of "The Imperial Forces" at the St. George's Day dinner held by the Eldoret branch of the Royal Society of St. George.

Mr. Catling quoted Malaya, Kenya and Ceylon as examples of countries which were unprepared to meet an emergency.

Mr. Catling said that the only way to meet an emergency was to have a well-trained and well-equipped police force.

Presentation to Chief Inspector

A ceremony and dinner was presented to Chief Insp. R. J. Seddon by the Home Guards' Home Guards before his departure for London as Chief Inspector of the Home Guards.

HOME GUARDS' TRIBUTE TO CHIEF INSPECTOR Work in raising morale

The 'dark days of the Emergency' were recalled by speakers at a dinner party at the Sir A.H. Munro Club, Nairobi, arranged by section commanders and members of the Eastleigh and Pangani Home Guard in honour of Chief Insp. R. J. Seddon.

London gave the police whole-hearted support during the Emergency, and the Home Guards were always first-aid and he was always ready to help any Home Guard who was in trouble.

The Commander of Pangani Home Guard, Mr. C. O. Chelley, said that in the difficult months that followed the start of the Emergency, Mr. Seddon's presence in the area was a great help.

Particularly grateful was the Commander of Eastleigh Home Guard, Mr. J. M. Seddon, who said that it was a great privilege to have him in the country.

Mr. J. M. Walker, Acting Area Commander, C.I.D., said that it was a great pleasure to have him in the country.

POLICE FIGHT PLOT TO KILL SEVEN LEADERS

Agents 'sent from the Continent'

SIR ANTHONY APPLAUDED FOR HANDLING OF TALKS

BRITISH police agents foiled a plot to murder the Russian leaders, Marshal Bulganin and Mr. Khrushchev while they were in Britain, it was reported in London at the weekend.

At the Soviet desks of State were returning home by air from their visit, Sir Anthony Eden, the Prime Minister, told the British public in a radio and television report on the talks that about two-thirds of the goods which Britain wanted to buy from Britain were not affected by the so-called Western "strategic embargo" on supplies to the Communist bloc.

The non-Communist world, through its newspapers, expressed cautious optimism at the result of the visit. It said the Communist Press failed to give a triumph and an indication of better East-West relations. Soviet reaction was summed up by Inset as a claim that great hopes for the occasion had been frustrated.

There is no longer any question in Britain that Sir Anthony may have strengthened his position as Prime Minister by his handling of the talks with Marshal Bulganin and Mr. Khrushchev's independent and Right-wing newspapers praised his diplomacy.

The newspapers in Britain said there was no doubt about the genuineness of the plan to kill the Russian leaders. The plan was given by British security men on the Continent last week for Marshal Bulganin and Mr. Khrushchev.

It was reported that the plan was to be carried out in London at the weekend. The plan was to be carried out in London at the weekend. The plan was to be carried out in London at the weekend.
