GERMAN U-BOAT SINKS U.S. SHIP

Thirty-Five People Still Reported Missina

The United States Naval Department announced in Mani-last night that they had intercepted unconfirmed wirelesses asserting that a German submarine had torpedoed ted States cargo ship, the Robin Moor, on its way to Capeton a Brazilian steamship, which said it had picked twors from the Robin Moor.

ISSING CREW AND PASSENGERS

Twenty-seven of the crew and eight passengers, including men and children, are still missing. The rescue of elever vivors is reported to have been confirmed by the United States blessador in Rio de Janetro.

The Navy Department indicates that the reported sinking the series of wireless messages from other vessels and to officially confirmed. Of the missing passengers four are as the Americans, three British and one Dutch. The Robin Mouried a general cargo, but no munitions.—(Reuter.)

TOEING THE LINE

HEN a man has apent a few years within a stone's throw of the Equator — say somewhere between 5°, North and 11° South — he begins to pride himself on his sound practical knowledge of thirsts and how to treat them. That explains why the cult of Nose's Lime Tulec has sorted through Kentya. Uganda and Tanganyika with the speed of a new limerick through the Stock Exchange. Why?

Well, Rose's happens to be the genuine juice of fresh times. Rose's grow these limes themselves, so they ought to know. Every bottle of Rose's knows its family tree, and there are no synthetic chemists lurking in its branches. Because it is pure, Rose's must always cost you just a little extra, but you do know that you're getting the real thing. And so will your guests, when they sample your cocktails and long cool drinks.
