NO TARIFF ON UNBANNED PORTLAND CEMENT HOUSING AND

The Government has announced that there will be no tariff on unbanned portland cement used for housing and other essential construction work.

This decision is part of a broader policy to reduce the cost of housing and to encourage the construction industry.

The unbanned portland cement is defined as cement that is not subject to the usual import duties and is used for the construction of houses and other buildings.

The Government estimates that this measure will save the construction industry several million pounds annually.

The decision is expected to have a significant impact on the housing market, particularly in the lower income areas where the cost of construction is a major factor.

It is hoped that this measure will help to speed up the construction of new housing and to improve the living conditions of the general public.

The Government has also announced that it will be reviewing the current tariff structure on other construction materials.

The aim is to ensure that the tariff system is fair and does not place an undue burden on the construction industry.

The unbanned portland cement is expected to be available in large quantities from the United Kingdom and other countries.

It is hoped that this will help to reduce the cost of construction and to improve the quality of housing.

The Government is committed to providing a high standard of housing for all its citizens.

It is hoped that these measures will help to achieve this goal and to improve the living conditions of the general public.

Mr. TSHOMBE BACK IN CAPITAL

Escorted by Consul from border

PRESIDENT Tshombe of Katanga returned to his capital, Elisabethville, yesterday after ten days of voluntary exile.

He landed by plane at Kipushi Airport on the Northern Rhodesian side of the border in the morning. Rhodesian soldiers took him to the border and he arrived in Elisabethville in the limousine of M. Frederic van de Walle, Belgian Consul in Elisabethville.

From a plane above the 30 mile road to Elisabethville, the President and his party could see the city for the first time since he left the city for Leopoldville last May.

He arrived at the Elisabethville residence of Katanga, party chief, after a very unexciting and uneventful en route the residence.

Return urged by Britain

Western diplomats considered that if Tshombe had not gone to Elisabethville yesterday his chances of returning in peace, even as a neutral head of state, would be "very slim indeed". Dr. Donohue, the U.K. special envoy, said that for Leopoldville to be returned to the Congo, Britain and the United States have all agreed to insist on his return to his capital and implement the Congo UN Secretary-General plan.

Dr. Donohue said that, by an angry discussion of the prospect of recapturing but only the technical aspects.

While waiting for the results of the UN Secretary-General's plan, the U.K. special envoy said that he was not sure that the U.S. would be able to do more than to "wait and see".

Capacity will be raised by 2m. gallons

NAIROBI City Council, which may now be served by a shaded water supply, has decided to raise the city's capacity supply of 12,000,000 gallons to 14,000,000 gallons.

Without dissent or discussion the Council agreed that tenders should be invited for the task of diverting the Kilnerton River southwards. This will raise the city's capacity supply of 12,000,000 gallons to 14,000,000 gallons.

DEMAND EXPECTED TO GROW

It was now about 2,000,000 gallons a day, and building development was showing signs of recovery which meant increased water supply. The Council would also have to provide for supplying more water to grow to which it would be used as a limited supply. Under the city's supply could be used as a limited supply.

Other areas to be attached into Nairobi were probably from the surrounding areas. The water has a high quality content and a city supply will probably be sufficient.

REASON FOR HASTE

The reason for the haste in the matter was that the Council had to be ready to meet the demand for water in the event of a drought. The Council had to be ready to meet the demand for water in the event of a drought.

STREET WORKS

Mr. Mbatia also expressed his regret that the Council had agreed to bring in a scheme to spend £100,000 on the improvement of the city's roads. He said that the Council had to be ready to meet the demand for water in the event of a drought.

EMERGENCY MEASURE Eldoret may build temporary homes

Eldoret is considering building temporary houses as an emergency measure to cope with an expanding African population. The municipal council has appointed a sub-committee to investigate the overcrowding problem, and people are to be encouraged to build their own houses. The estimated African population at the end of 1961 was 10,000, and it has increased considerably since then, although no reliable figures are available. A council spokesman said yesterday: "We have the need for more houses, but we do not have the money. We have applied to the Central Housing Board for help. The council has built 200 houses in the past three years, and they were filled as soon as they were completed. Private investors have bought a large number of vacant houses. The council said the need is unmet, because it alleges the houses are being let in "irregular tenancies", although the premises are intended for the large numbers of families occupying them.

Two men acquitted of assault charge

Wilson Oduor Othman, Kariuki W and Ogalo Dora, charged with unlawfully assaulting and assaulting Allygo Ogea at Mbaroni, have been acquitted by the Kenyan court magistrate, Mr. G. Gray. Kariuki Othman, who alleged that he was a victim of the assault, had the court in his favor for the prosecution to show that he had been in his house when the assault took place. The court found that the evidence was insufficient to prove the charges against the two men. The court also found that the two men had been acting in self-defense.

Gen. de Gaulle's statement hits City markets

Gen. de Gaulle's statement that France would not join the European Economic Community (EEC) has caused a sharp decline in the value of the French franc on the London market. The franc fell to a low of 166.50 pence per 100 francs, its lowest point since the devaluation of 1948.

The statement, which was made in a speech to the French National Assembly, also announced that France would not join the EEC until after the 1967 elections. This decision was a surprise to many observers, who had expected France to join the Community by the end of 1966.

The fall in the franc's value has had a significant impact on the London stock market. The FTSE 100 index fell by over 100 points, and the value of French shares listed on the London Stock Exchange also declined.

Mayor calls for Church and human touch

CHURCH unity and the bond for the Church to keep in step with the everyday life of the people, was stressed by the Mayor of Nairobi, Ald. Charles Babbs, when he spoke at the Provincial Synod of the Church of the Province of East Africa in Nairobi yesterday.

Anglican clergyman John Kenya, Tanganyika and Zanzibar are attending the four-day synod — the second to be held since the formation of the province. Among the delegates is the Bishop of Masai, the Rt. Rev. Trevor Huddleston.

Ald. Babbs said that the creation of the province was a momentous step forward in unifying the people and unifying administration in step with the development in other spheres, but he hoped that efforts would be made to ensure that the Anglican commission had its own touch of the Christian Church as the widest concern.

PLEASIBLE IN OUTLOOK

He warned against the dangers of treating to General organizations as an end in itself, thinking the form of the organization for the moment and failing to try to improve the present position.

The Church must be flexible in its outlook, adjusting itself to the day-to-day needs of the people, he said. It is an unending task, particularly now, in the aftermath of many new factors in new areas.

STABLE FUTURE

"I am sure that a stable future will be achieved for the people of East Africa," he said. "The people of East Africa are united in their determination to build a better future for themselves and for their children."

He stressed the need for unity and cooperation among all the peoples of East Africa, and for the people to work together to build a better future for themselves and for their children.

is in need of qualified and experienced staff

It is the policy of the Group to promote from within the organization, but the public acceptance of the VAUXHALL, OPEL, and RENAULT range of cars and the ever-popular REDFORD truck is greater than our capacity to fill the vacancies arising out of this increased turnover. It is for this reason that applications are invited from experienced people who may be fortunate enough to join the progressive, dependable and friendly group in relatively senior jobs.

BRANCH MANAGERS
Only those who understand what is required of a Branch Manager and who have the experience to be a Branch Manager at an early date need apply.
