PAYING FOR FARM DEVELOPMENT

Self help—not higher prices

COMMISSION SUGGESTS A COMMON POOL FOR EXPORT TAX

The most important article of the Kenya Council of Living Commission report, issued this week, is one on agriculture. It is the only one which deals with the agricultural industry. The report is a long and detailed one, but the main points are as follows:—

The Commission is of the opinion that the farmer is being provided with help to develop his land, but that the help is not being given in the form of a loan, but in the form of a grant. This is not a good thing, because the farmer is not being encouraged to improve his land, but is being encouraged to depend on the Government for help. The Commission suggests that the Government should provide a common pool of money, from which the farmer could borrow to develop his land. This would be a much better system, because the farmer would be encouraged to improve his land, and the Government would not be spending so much money on grants.

FURTHER REMARKS ON BUDGET

African agricultural policy reviewed

The budget which was presented to the House of Representatives last week, has been reviewed by the Commission. The Commission is of the opinion that the budget is a good one, and that it will help to improve the African agricultural industry. The Commission suggests that the Government should provide a common pool of money, from which the farmer could borrow to develop his land. This would be a much better system, because the farmer would be encouraged to improve his land, and the Government would not be spending so much money on grants.

The map shows the geographical location of Kenya in East Africa, bordered by Uganda to the west and Tanganyika to the east. The capital, Nairobi, is marked in the central part of the country.

FARMERS TO BE EVICTED

Settlers' farms wanted for timber

Two European families settled in the Northern Province of Tanganyika are being evicted from their farms because the Government has decided to use the land for a public purpose. The public purpose is to provide a timber reserve for the Government. The Government has decided to use the land for a timber reserve because it is a rich source of timber. The two families, who have lived on the land for many years, are being evicted because their farms are in the timber reserve. The Government has decided to use the land for a timber reserve because it is a rich source of timber.

COLONIAL POLICY CRITICISED

ARE RANGERS ON THE DOWNGRADE?

A period for a famous Scottish club

It is a fact that the Rangers football club has been in a state of decline since the death of their former manager, Mr. James Buchan. The club's performance in the Scottish Cup has been particularly disappointing, with a recent loss to the Glasgow Rangers. This has led to speculation that the club is on the downgrade.

The club's financial situation is also a cause for concern. The board of directors has been unable to secure a large transfer fee for a key player, which has led to a loss of revenue. This has forced the club to cut back on its spending, which has further weakened its position.

Despite these challenges, the club's supporters remain loyal. They believe that the club has the talent and the spirit to overcome its current difficulties. They are confident that a new manager will be able to turn the club's fortunes around.

FITZROY MACLEAN SIGNS UP STRENGTH - THE ONLY THING RUSSIA UNDERSTANDS

A two months tour through the southlands of the Soviet Union, leaves Brigadier Fitzroy Maclean, M.P. with mixed feelings.

- There are no powerful 'firm coloured' strong enough to resist power without outside help.
- United Nations intervention in Korea has acted as a tonic.
- But Britain is lamely weak in the Mediterranean, and no Western striking force exists to prevent a Russian invasion.

There is some evidence to suggest that the Russian position in the East is not as strong as it appears. The Russian army is not as well equipped as it is supposed to be. The Russian navy is not as powerful as it is supposed to be. The Russian air force is not as strong as it is supposed to be.

LEGALITY OF BAGANDA RIOTS COMPENSATION LEVY IS QUERIED

COUNSEL QUOTED UGANDA AGREEMENT: CHIEF JUSTICE DEFERS JUDGMENT

The action was brought in the name of Mr. (George) Nankabala, challenging the legality of the imposition of a 5s. 6d. levy upon the Baganda (with certain exceptions) following the 1954 disturbances. Purpose of the levy was to afford compensation to persons who suffered losses during those disturbances.

Mr. Bart Isaac appeared for the plaintiff and the Acting Solicitor-General, Mr. D. J. Sheehy, for the Defendant.

At the conclusion of the case the Chief Justice announced that judgment would be reserved until a future date.

Then, through the Court reporter, he explained to people in the public gallery what was happening.

Mr. Sheehy said that the defendant's claim in the case was for a declaration that the case was not an order made by the President of Uganda on February 2, 1955.

The plaintiff contended that the order was not an order made by the President but that it was an order made by the President on February 2, 1955.

The defendant contended that the order was not an order made by the President but that it was an order made by the President on February 2, 1955.

The Chief Justice said that he was in a difficult position and that he would reserve judgment until a future date.

NOMADS OF THE NORTHERN FRONTIER

The Boran—pagan poachers who came from the North

THE Boran are best described as an alien race having their roots in Abyssinia, for, unlike their neighbors the Somalis in the south, whose traditional trend channels north and eclipsed the Galla inhabitants, the Boran migration was a gradual infiltration by a people seeking freedom from parasitism under the arbitrary rule of Merikah and his overlords.

The waves of the invasion, their raids, as well as its immediate effect on the life of the people, are described in the following article. The Boran starts off at about noon from the camp of the day, and is attended by the herdsmen and the women and children. A few minutes are spent for carrying out the necessary arrangements for the day's march. The Boran has long herds of cattle, sheep, and goats, and is a nomadic people. They are not a people of the desert, but of the steppe. They are a people of the steppe, and their life is a life of the steppe. They are a people of the steppe, and their life is a life of the steppe.

MERRELL DALTON, in his latest article on the tribes of the N.F.D., writes of the customs and beliefs of a tribe who were forced from the green pastures of Southern Abyssinia and who found a frugal and nomadic existence in Kenya.

The time has come when the Boran must be considered as a distinct race. The time has come when the Boran must be considered as a distinct race. The time has come when the Boran must be considered as a distinct race.

Birth-day feasts

The birthday feast is a most important event in the life of the Boran. It is a time when the community comes together to celebrate the birth of a new member. The feast is a time of joy and celebration, and it is a time when the community comes together to support the new member.

Snake worship Most of the Boran claim descent from Galla stock and they share their beliefs as pagan—chiefly snake-worship. The snake and the pig are the chief objects of their worship. (Continued on page 23.)

N. TROOPS PULL BACK 20 MILES

Attempt to escape trap, MACARTHUR'S TWO ARMIES COMPLETELY SPLIT

General MacArthur's two armies have been completely split as a result of the withdrawal of the 11th Airborne Division from the front lines. The 11th Airborne, which had been in the front lines since the capture of the Japanese base at New Britain, was ordered to pull back 20 miles to a new position. This withdrawal was necessary because the Japanese had been able to break through the American lines at several points. The 11th Airborne's withdrawal has left a gap in the American lines, which the Japanese are now trying to exploit. MacArthur's two armies are now separated by a distance of 20 miles, and the situation is becoming increasingly precarious for the Americans.

FARMERS OF TODAY HAVE TO FACE NEW TYPE OF PROBLEMS AND DIFFICULTIES

'Face of agriculture is being forced up'

As countries are becoming more closely interlinked and as the pace of agriculture is being forced up, so new problems are being created. Sir John Russell, giving at Nairobi the last of the British Council lectures under the auspices of the Agricultural House of Africa, stressed the urgent views farmers in particular in Kenya should be aware of.

The people of India were mentioned in connection with the subject. Sir John said that in that country, the face of agriculture is being forced up by the need to produce more food for a growing population. He said that in Kenya, the same problem is being faced, but that the solution must be found in the use of modern agricultural methods.

He stressed the need for farmers to be aware of the changes in the world market for their products. He said that the price of many agricultural products has fallen, and that farmers must find ways to increase their productivity and reduce their costs.

100th crop

The general feeling was that the 100th anniversary of the end of the First World War was being celebrated in a spirit of optimism. Sir John said that the world had made great progress since 1918, and that the future was bright. He said that the agricultural industry in Kenya was also making progress, and that farmers should be encouraged to continue their efforts.

He mentioned the 100th anniversary of the end of the First World War, and said that it was a time to reflect on the progress that had been made. He said that the world had become more interconnected, and that the agricultural industry had become more important than ever before.

Phosphate loss

The loss of phosphate from the soil is a serious problem for farmers. Sir John said that phosphate is an essential nutrient for plants, and that its loss can lead to a significant reduction in crop yields. He said that farmers should be aware of the signs of phosphate deficiency, such as stunted growth and yellowing of the leaves.

Dust-bowls

The problem of dust-bowls is a serious one for farmers. Sir John said that dust-bowls are caused by the erosion of the soil, and that they can lead to a significant loss of topsoil. He said that farmers should be aware of the signs of dust-bowl formation, such as the appearance of rills and gullies in the soil.

The main source of such insects is the soil in the immediate neighbourhood of the animal's quarters. It is well known that the soil in such places is very rich in organic matter and is therefore very fertile. In addition, it is often very damp and is therefore very favourable to the growth of insects.

Plan for support for Britain's champion
By Freddie Mills

ALREADY the Funtons are being round the head of Jack Cassiter, who has been beaten in a world championship boxing show with a victory which is now regarded as the most important in the world since the outbreak of the second world war. It is not only that Cassiter is a world champion but he is also a member of the British Empire, and this is a point which is being emphasized in the plans for his support.

The British Empire is proud of its many sportsmen and women who have won world championships in various sports. It is a matter of national pride to see a British subject win a world championship in any sport. In the case of Jack Cassiter, the victory is particularly important because he is the first British boxer to win a world championship since the outbreak of the second world war.

It is the duty of the British Empire to support its champions. This support should be shown in every way possible, and it is hoped that the plans for Jack Cassiter's support will be successful. The British Empire will be proud to see Jack Cassiter win his world championship, and it is hoped that he will continue to bring glory to his country in the future.

AMONG THE NEW BOOKS

A Posthumous novel by 'a born writer'

CRISIS REVIEW
The Year by Ben Ames Wilson. (Chambers and Co., Ltd., London, 1s. 6d.)

"This is a most remarkable book... the author has done his best to bring before us a picture of a world which is both real and ideal."

The Year by Ben Ames Wilson is a posthumous novel... It is a remarkable achievement for a writer who died so young and in such a sudden manner. The book is a study in character and a picture of a world which is both real and ideal.

THEY were also men from another world, these 29 East Suk tribesmen who had huddled together on long benches in the Kiambu District Court Chamber at Kitale for long days while one European and black-gowned European sought to prove that they had murdered a European police officer in their country on 24-25 and another European and black-gowned European tried to prove the contrary.

IN THIS ARTICLE BY "EAST AFRICAN REPORTER" EARL
Specially who was present at the trial of Suk tribesmen at Kitale, for the murder of a European police officer, describes the scene and the proceedings of the 15-day hearing. "They were, in fact," he writes "like a 'lost' civilization, cut off from the world and away almost never to have done white men before."

They were, in fact, men from another world, these 29 East Suk tribesmen who had huddled together on long benches in the Kiambu District Court Chamber at Kitale for long days while one European and black-gowned European sought to prove that they had murdered a European police officer in their country on 24-25 and another European and black-gowned European tried to prove the contrary. For the first time in the history of the world, a European, standing by the side of a black-gowned European, sought to prove that they had murdered a European police officer in their country on 24-25 and another European and black-gowned European tried to prove the contrary.

GARDNER TAKES EYE OF AMERICA

Should Britain adopt the no-fault rule?

A few days ago I happened to wander by my restaurant in the office. I went in to find that Jack Gardner was there, and he was more than willing to talk to me. He had just returned from the United States, where he had been competing in the British championships, and he related to me his impressions of the American game.

Machakos fund hits the target

The building of the Machakos Church is to start in the New Year. The Rev. Fr. J. J. O'Connell, who is in charge of the parish, has received a grant of Shs. 10,000 from the Government to help towards the cost of the building. The fund was started some 10 years ago but in 1958 when it had almost reached the total required to erect a building of this size had to be allowed to lapse. When the project was re-considered in 1957, it was decided that the Government should contribute towards the cost of the building. The grant of Shs. 10,000 is the first instalment of the total of Shs. 20,000 which will be required to erect the church. The Rev. Fr. O'Connell is hopeful that the Government will contribute towards the cost of the building.
