ARABS TO CONSULT WITH THEIR KINGS AND PRINCES

Although both sides in Palestine express disappointment at the proposals of the Palestine Commission, it is not expected that the disappointment will be manifested in violence.

The Arab Higher Committee, which has declared that the Jewish state is being created in the most fertile parts of the country, will consult with Arab kings and leaders and have urged Arabs to 'maintain self-restraint.'

The Jews feel that their territory will be very small, and do not wish to lose the territory fertile southern region.

Appeal for Restraint

Disappointment at the Commission's report is expressed by both Jews and Arabs.

The Jews feel that their area will be very small, and they are unwilling to lose the most unproductive, but possibly fertile, southern region.

Premier's Speech at Albert Hall

PERSONAL CONTACTS

Way to Agreement "Given Right Spirit"

By July 9

The Prime Minister, Mr. Churchill, Premier to the international situation in a public speech last night at the Albert Hall.

He emphasized that Britain's policy will be to seek a settlement which will be based on the withdrawal of violence, thus leaving Spain to settle her own future for herself.

But the trouble that has arisen out of the civil war in Spain was only a by-product of deeper causes which are European. With regard to these, he said:

"I had hoped that the proposal made by the Commission..."

Puzzle for Powers

DILEMMA OF COMMITTEE ON NON-INTERVENTION

By July 9

The Non-Intervention Committee assembled in full at the Foreign Office this morning for the first time since June 28.

Members have before them the two sets of proposals—the British and French schemes rejected by the German and Italian Governments, and the Anglo-German scheme rejected by France and Britain—which have been before the Committee's Sub-Committee.

It is known that neither has any intention of putting forward any fresh proposals, but all four nations' powers have declared their desire that the principle of non-intervention should be maintained and improved, and therefore, although a breakdown is not an impossibility, the general impression is that efforts will be made to continue the search for an agreement acceptable in principle.

France's 'No'

Meanwhile a press interview published this morning with General Franco, which the Foreign Office leader, while persisting in the demand that the British should continue to consider the withdrawal of foreign volunteers engaged in Spain, adds an important factor to the problem.

The Maintenance Committee is still suspended—British Official Writing Service.

KENYA LAWN TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIPS

In order to dispel any possible doubts as to the genuineness of the results of the tennis tournament which is in progress at the moment, the following are the names of the players who have been eliminated from the championship without going through the final round, and those who played would then be left in the championship round, and those four places would be filled by those who reached the semi-finals in the qualifying round.

To take a smaller entry, the committee might accept only twenty-five entries for an event, and in this case 22 players or couples would not have to qualify, while the finalists in the qualifying round would fill the two vacant places.

All five events in the championships will have qualifying rounds, provided sufficient entries are received.

Whether the new system will turn out a success or not it is impossible to say in advance, but the interest of the Kenya Lawn Tennis Association can be for the support of the tennis community, at least, it can have a big trial.

Intending competitors in the championships are reminded that entries should be sent next Wednesday, July 14, and should be handed either to Messrs. May and Co. Ltd., or to Messrs. Craig's Sports House Ltd., Government Road, Nairobi.

of those special responsibilities again the most important was the prevention of any grave menace to the peace or tranquility of the Province. It was clearly never contemplated that a Governor would act contrary to the advice of his ministers except in some well defined major cases and then only when he was fully convinced after hearing arguments, that the advice tendered to him was not in the best interests of the province or for the people. Dr. Langa's statement made a big impression and there is little doubt it was received with favour of a more statesmanlike Governor policy. It is well known that people in this country are more moderate in their acts and expressions than those in opposition and there is much reason to hope that the decision of the Congress Party will not only create a better atmosphere in India immediately but will prove to have been for the lasting benefit of that much troubled country.

Dr. Langa speaking at the Canterbury Diocesan Conference, said that his position could be described by three adjectives—normal, defensible, inevitable. His life was "incredibly normal" and could possibly be understood; it should be called upon to bear such a burden; "inevitable" because the result in Belgium, about six months ago, had that been otherwise there would be no sensational result there.

BISCUIT MILLIONS—POLICEWOMEN WANT PRIMATE'S PARADISE—"TOTE" RECORD—POPULATION DECLINE—17 YEARS OF RECORDS.

London, July 10. Mr. Charles Palmer, of the firm of Hantley and Palmers, who died at the age of 76, left £1,335,840. He left a large number of bequests, including £200,000 to hospitals and rest-houses. The greater part of his estate goes to his sons, his wife and his daughters.

The qualifications necessary for policewomen made it difficult for the average woman to apply for the position. They have to be well educated, tall, and between the ages of 21 and 34. Out of 1,000 applicants during the past year only 24 were accepted. Many were refused on account of flat feet and eyes too weak, while others were not accepted because they were engaged, had a husband, or were in the Force, however, resignations for matrimonial reasons are rare. The total number of policewomen at the present moment is still only about 100.

Dr. Langa speaking at the Canterbury Diocesan Conference, said that his position could be described by three adjectives—normal, defensible, inevitable. His life was "incredibly normal" and could possibly be understood; it should be called upon to bear such a burden; "inevitable" because the result in Belgium, about six months ago, had that been otherwise there would be no sensational result there.

Committee's Unanimous Wish

LORD PLYMOUTH REFUTES ALLEGATIONS OF PARTIALITY

Lord Plymouth has accepted the task, proposed by the Dutch representative and supported by all the members of the Non-Intervention Committee, of seeking a way out of the present deadlock.

Nearly before accepting the responsibility on behalf of His Majesty's Government, Lord Plymouth, chairman of the Committee strongly refuted criticisms of Britain's conduct during the Spanish war. If other powers had acted similarly, the position in Spain would be far different, he said.

As was announced yesterday that France will suspend the control scheme on the Franco-Spanish frontier from tomorrow.

OIL IN KENYA

To the Editor, "E. A. Standard":
Sir—I am referring to the statement made by the Secretary of State in the Commons last week, in answer to questions asked by Mr. A. C. Lunn, M.P. The statement, broadcast from London, was reproduced by the "East African Standard" of July 9.

Further, since the Exploration License granted to the corporations does not confer mining and discovery rights on the corporations, but only the right to explore for oil, it is not surprising that the Government of Kenya, in its answer, the Secretary of State referred only to the Exploration License, not to the 1,000 sq. miles of Kenya territory. As I have known, the Government of Kenya, on instructions from the Colonial Office, has granted not only an Exploration License, but also a prospecting license, which is valid for one year, embodied in the License granted, is presenting up both copies of the prospecting license from applying for oil exploration in prospecting licenses in the rest of the Colony.

The Secretary of State is right in saying that the Exploration License granted confers no right to win oil. But what the Secretary of State did not say is that, according to art. 11 Part I and art. 25, Part III, the License granted carries a preferential right to apply for prospecting licenses and leases which confer the right to win oil.

Further, what the Secretary of State did not say is that both the License and the legal undertaking, in effect of which, by design or otherwise to keep the Kenya Syndicate out of the oil business, are giving them a chance to recover their investment (see my review column) by Mr. DeJona and his Syndicate.

Finally, the License and the undertaking are obviously detrimental to the discoverer and the Syndicate who, in this way, may be legally deprived of the benefit of his discovery.

As I already pointed out, this is a well-orchestrated breach of the Statute of the Corporation of St. Germain, revising the Congo Basin Treaties, which says that the regulations on the matter of the development of natural resources shall admit of a differential treatment between nationals of the signatory Powers. This clause applies to differential treatment as between British Nationals and British Nationals, as well as between British Nationals and nationals of the signatory Powers.

The Secretary of State does not seem satisfied that there is a discovery already made, and even if it is not, it is not surprising that the Government of Kenya, in its answer, the Secretary of State referred only to the Exploration License, not to the 1,000 sq. miles of Kenya territory. As I have known, the Government of Kenya, on instructions from the Colonial Office, has granted not only an Exploration License, but also a prospecting license, which is valid for one year, embodied in the License granted, is presenting up both copies of the prospecting license from applying for oil exploration in prospecting licenses in the rest of the Colony.

sure back the Postmaster-General is responsible and no one to all His Majesty's Services. Whether this is in spirit and intention of the law I leave to lawyers, but again an attempt to force the issue of the R.P.C.A. (which benefited by the law) is a popular one. It is in such cases where the direct offenders are not the innocent ones who are maligned.

Perhaps it may be worth the while of the Law Department to make enquiries and prevent such a breach of justice, if not law, terms, and always anonymous.

EMPIRE AIR MAILS

To the Editor, "E. A. Standard":
Sir—This letter is evidence of a new era in air mail communication between you in the East and the West. It has come to you on the first Empire Air Mail service from England to which all letters and first class mail for Imperial territories in Africa have been carried by air and without surcharge.

The great advantage for a three-day Empire Air Mail service is the fact that the geographical barrier of the sea is overcome. Being under the British flag and in time to come this new scheme may well lead to the British Commonwealth of Nations, what Roosevelt calls "Daisy Power" now comes to Britain.

The fundamental result of this scheme is revolution in dispatch and re-forwarding in the "West," a handling, as a Statesman, is well grounded and understanding their scheme.

There is an important aspect of this scheme which must appeal strongly to all those engaged in aviation. It is that Empire Air Mail transport has violated itself as an instrument for the benefit of all classes of people within the Empire and this must be a happy day for the pioneer who travelled from the start a system of air transport serving not merely luxury travel to the few but the masses of the many.

It is a pleasure to have had the privilege of communicating with you in the East and the West, and I can think of no more fitting occasion than to send greetings and good wishes to you, your organisation, and members.

Yours etc.

YACHTING AT ZANZIBAR

First Race of Reformed Sailing Club
Zanzibar, July 8.
Yesterday afternoon at 12.15 p.m. the first race of the reformed Zanzibar Sailing Club was held. The day was a perfect one, and the race was not very strong.

When the three other boats of the race were still in the race, which it is hoped will be very much of the same character as the present. However, everyone concerned themselves immensely yesterday and H. H. the Sultan is expected to take a very great interest in the sport. The following are the four boats sailed respectively:

1. Capt. Charlewold and Dr. Shary.
2. Capt. Murray and Mrs. Murray.
3. Mr. Southard and Mr. Telford.
4. Mr. and Mrs. McEwen.

The result of yesterday's race was—1. Capt. and Mrs. Murray; 2. Mr. Southard and Mr. Telford; 3. Mr. and Mrs. McEwen; 4. Capt. Charlewold and Dr. Shary.

It is hoped that a ladies' race will be arranged shortly, which should have some interesting results, as some of the lady competitors will be new to the sport.

Obituary: MR. EDMUND THORNTON

Death at Nairobi of Well-known Resident

Another of East Africa's older residents has passed away in Mr. Edmund Thornton of Nairobi, who first came to Kenya in 1902. He was afflicted by a neuralgic disease known as "dancing feet" and died on Sunday at the age of 67.

Before his illness and trouble came to him, Mr. Thornton was for his age a very energetic man. He leaves five sons and a daughter living in various parts of East Africa. Four of his grandchildren were born in Kenya.

The late Mr. Thornton was a builder by profession and it was as a successful business of Nairobi. During the war despite his age he joined up with the East African Corps and rendered very useful service.

After the war he returned to his profession and he has been successful in clearing a wide field of business, many well known buildings such as Ter's Hotel, the hotel building, the National Bank of India and the new Standard Hotel building and his activities look him throughout East Africa.

In the early days he owned many buildings, but the late Mr. Thornton passed on to his eldest son, Mr. J. H. Thornton, who is now a well-known and successful business man in Nairobi.

The funeral took place at the Forest Road cemetery yesterday afternoon.

ALL BAY BAN ON MOTOR HORNS?

Not Yet Tried Out in Britain

POLICE VIEWS

STANDARD CORRESPONDENT. London.

For three years British local authorities have had the opportunity of experimenting with a 36-hour prohibition of the sounding of motor horns. None has done so.

The reason is not that they all dislike the idea, but that they have not had sufficient time to try it.

Several authorities have shown a desire to be the first to make the move. They have been encouraged by the fact that a considerable number of motorists have been killed in accidents involving motor horns.

It is now being considered whether it might have not increased in building areas out of proportion to the increase during the last few years and their police chiefs also are favourable, because they notice a greater tendency for collisions among drivers at night.

Onto Takes the Lead

The Briton took the lead in the afternoon for the first time in the match. Out in 10 as against Shute's 12, he led the hole in the match in an agonizing 37.

The American's driving broke down at the 12th hole, but he was still on top for sinking a ten yard putt on the 13th, which led him to take up the first half of the match three down. As it was his two-down.

On the second day, July 13, the match the weather was fine and there were 20,000 spectators.

On the first round Cotton won by 18 to 15, and Shute, who had turned three up, opened well, and further ahead on the second half, taking 30 to the American's 27.

BRITAIN'S DRESS REPUTATION ASSAILED

Exhibition Display to be Changed

Mr. H. B. Hudson, secretary for Overseas Trade, made this statement in the House of Commons yesterday in answer to questions by Miss Irene Ward.

Mr. Hudson replied that at the request of the Government the Council for Art and Industry undertake the responsibility for the design of the pavilion, the selection of the exhibits and the arrangements for their display.

He had been informed by the chairman of the Council, who had just returned from Paris, that it was recognized that this section fell behind the general standard of display set out at the exhibition.

Mr. Ward said that while the Minister for a statement which will give great satisfaction to many people, may I ask if we can have an assurance that it will take part in future exhibitions of this kind, we shall not have to make an alteration of the high standard for designers to look at?

This question was not answered.
