

Kenyatta restive as he awaits permission to move freely

RIDDLE OF LAST STRICT

Order gives no time limit

By Standard Staff Reporters

ONE vital question remained unanswered last night as Jomo Kenyatta settled down in his home at Gatundu.

This was: When will the last restriction, which has been in the limits of the house and garden, be lifted? Kenyatta himself seemed nervous and anxious to shake off this final restraint.

Although it had been stated again during the day that it would only be a matter of a few days, Kenyatta's spokesman said that he did not know.

It was reported that the order to be lifted immediately would only be a matter of a few days, Kenyatta's spokesman said that he did not know.

People had said that it would be de-constructed in a few days, but there was nothing to this effect in the order.

PETER DUNDRED

JOHN MICKLE

Peter Dundred, aged 18, is captain of athletics. He has played five letters in the Combined Schools team. After taking Highers next year Peter intends to study medicine in London. During school holidays he has worked at hospitals in the Kisi area where his father is an education officer.

Peter says that he likes reading and that he is Welsh which is "very important, that". It probably accounts for his enthusiasm for rugby. John Mickle, aged 18, is in Clive House of Prince of Wales School. Last term he was school captain of hockey. This last term he was representing his school in the national school boys' and swimming which he enjoys. John's parents live in Uptown.

He is taking Highers this year and wants to enter the R.S.C. and specialise in electronics. He thinks that he will probably receive his diploma as Honorary in England, training at Herby, in England.

MANOUR E. MOHAMMED, 16, has recently started work at the General Electric Company in Coventry. Last year he acquired a B.Sc. in electrical engineering at the Battersea Polytechnic and after two years' apprenticeship at Coventry he hopes to be able to get a post as a lecturer at Battersea.

In his spare time he likes dancing, tennis and swimming.

Mr. Jonathan ALL is also going to train in England. He left East Africa on the 1st, Kenya last week.

FARM STUDY

All has been an engineer with Galley and Roberts for some years, but is going to study agriculture in Britain, for which he has been promised a scholarship by the Uganda Government. This will not be his first visit to England, as his firm sent him there to train for two years.

He is a H.E.I. enthusiast and also a keen dancer. Not to be outdone, ZULEKHA, aged 19, sister of Manour and All, is also going to England to train. More specifically she is going to learn hairdressing for 18 months at the Warrington College in Oxford Street. She will return to Kampala eventually. One of her main interests is reading.

VISITS MITCHELL PARK JUMPING

Shaggy dog show for EASPCA

SUNDAY, October 23, is the day chosen to hold a "Shaggy Dog" show in the Mitchell Park grounds which is being organised by the executive committee of the junior branch of the E.A.S.P.C.A. in aid of funds for the society.

There will be events for dogs with long and short shaggy coats and short, large dogs too. Small, jumping dogs and just plain little dogs.

There will be dancing competitions for many performances, fund-raising stalls and a fund-raising concert. The Commissioner of Police, an observance demonstration by police dogs.

Mr. T. Bradley, chairman of the East African Kudu Club and chairman of the shaggy dog event, stresses the importance of every dog owner, shaggy or not, having their pet dog insured. If his letter on a leaflet in this issue, which is being distributed to all dog owners, is not subscribed.

Admission for adults will be 1/6, and for the girls, and 1/2, and 50 cents for each competition entry.

Entry throughout the day which starts at 10 a.m. and ends at 5 p.m. will be of a high order and a shaggy dog parade for dog and handler and a shaggy dog competition for dogs only will complete the event.

A report attendance is expected from the owners of all sorts, sizes and descriptions. If your pet's name is not in the shaggy "Directory" here, please contact the club through by entering him for one or other of the many events.

THIS year there seems to be hopping mad of the young people pretty boys during the Mitchell Park Horse Show at the weekend. Nothing is so happening with the "lookers" when the poor old chap is not to be seen on the horse's back. One wonders what the Rover Club of Kenya would say about it.

Above, these two youngsters seem likely to be photographed by our cameramen. With smiles like this, they must have won at least one prize.

An old man returns to Kikuyu

At a vivid turning point in his life, Mr. Mwangi returns to his country, his old man Mwangi, who has spent his life in London. Mwangi is now 60 years old and is returning to his home and family in Kikuyu.

LEFT: A group of Kikuyu men, including Mwangi, in a meeting. Mwangi is the man in the center, wearing a white shirt and a dark jacket. He is surrounded by other men in a room with a window in the background.

...and the world boats a path to his door

For the most part, Kikuyu politics have for 40 years, been worked on a firm basis. In Kikuyu and nearby basins, the world's force of Kikuyu politics from the first settlement of the Kikuyu in the world's workshop.

It is perhaps significant — it is at least encouraging — that on returning to an area where once he held much power, Mwangi has found things to right reference to his country and the need to maintain peace and order. It is an encouraging fact that Mwangi has been a member of the Kenya Legislative Council since 1955. He has been a member of the Kenya Legislative Council since 1955. He has been a member of the Kenya Legislative Council since 1955.

The present is no time for elaborate chit-chat and double-talk. The people of this country will not deny doubt leadership — but they will not be content with haphazard leadership — but they will not be content with haphazard leadership — but they will not be content with haphazard leadership.

Not sufficiently understood

There is another aspect of yesterday's events which might be worth a brief mention. The Kenya Government does some things that are better than it sometimes seems. There were carried out with considerable success. The Kenya Government does some things that are better than it sometimes seems.

The Man who looked for game, and only saw a donkey
Once Upon A Time this well set off as it usually happens) A Man set out for Mombasa. He felt very elegant, he thought, and lion and rhino and jackal and... But the only animal he saw was a rather scrawny donkey. The one that saved his car to the garage for him. Because just outside Fort Portal the engine went clunk and clunk and even clunk. And aspired. And he watched the smoke drift dimly up from the bonnet he thought... Now time I'll make sure my car is filled with Shell's 100 Magnalube and I thought served at a Shell Station before I go.

Reactions to modern art

MRS. HORAN'S letter to the editor is a most interesting one. I bought my first work of art when I visited the Sorbrie Gallery.

It seems to me that the shock which Mrs. Horan experiences when she looked at the works of contemporary British artists is a feeling not shared by the majority of the public who assembled the collection on my view. Everyone who visits the gallery would see the grand daughter of the National and Whitehead Galleries in London, the President of the Institute of Contemporary Arts, as well as the Director of the Fine Arts Department of the British Council, must have some expert knowledge of the importance or otherwise of works of art.

Therefore, if these distinguished personalities have, between them, decided that the heroic painting is a white ground, two uneven lines and seven black bars — is something which merits display then I, an amateur, am prepared to accept that this is a good example of modern art. I can only hope that I can make of it what, if anything, it can make of it. It is no happening in my particular instance when I first saw it but had some time in a second time and studied its use of colour and form. I did get a certain amount of pleasure out of it.

My own feeling is that to which Mrs. Horan has alluded in the Sorbrie Gallery to be looked at. The fact that Mrs. Horan nor her son could understand it is not a valid reason for condemning the work of the collection of British paintings. This painting, and others like it, strange as it may seem, is a masterpiece of a whole. It is too simple to be understood by a sophisticated audience.

Perhaps, if young Master Horan would spend a little more time looking at these British paintings (and assuming his mother has got over her fright and stop along with

Perhaps you need reminding that the Roman Empire was not a state in the economic sense but a state of the empire. THE LIGHTER SIDE

THERE are occasions when, to us Americans, one has "got to hand it to the Africans. They are big-brotherly. They are original. They are wise. They have ideas. Some of the ideas are a bit naïve; some of them are downright wrong; but they are steeped in brotherly friendship to showmanship nobody can say that Americans are better at."

THE U.S. State Department, according to a report yesterday from Washington, has been sending out a good deal of material to Africa for about 20 months, and with few exceptions, the material of the American Embassy in Harare is the same. It is not only the same, but it is also the same in form. It is a letter to the Africans, in which it is said to indicate what can happen to the background, present and future, of the African continent. MAINLY FOR WOMEN Idea of loveliness depends on viewer's race

By JOHN BAKER WHITE

AN American newspaper, signed a nation-wide poll and last night to answer the question: "Who are the three most beautiful women?"

Their readers' choices were Princess Grace of Monaco; the former film actress Grace Kelly; Rose Hines; Elizabeth Taylor; and the wife of the President, Mrs. Jackie Kennedy.

These are the names that have won the most admiration for their beauty in the world. It is a poll of a different kind from the previous one, which was a poll of the most beautiful women in America.

Your children need the blackcurrant Vitamin C in Ribena

Children use Vitamin C in Ribena to build strength and to help them resist disease. It is hard to give them enough in their ordinary food. And their bodies cannot store this precious vitamin as well as their children's. That's why Ribena has a new supply every day. That's why Ribena is such a help. A glass of Ribena—your blackcurrant juice with extra-vitamin C. The Vitamin C they need each day—made their own!

—It's the great natural health drink of our time

THE NATURAL CONCENTRATED SOURCE OF VITAMIN C
Ribena is made from the best blackcurrant juice and has a natural Vitamin C content. It is the most natural source of Vitamin C available to us. It is the most natural source of Vitamin C available to us.

PLENTY OF ENTHUSIASM FOR MOTOR RACING

INTEREST in motor sport shows no signs of waning and the weekend meeting at Circus Nakuru Park Circuit prospects was well attended. Not a great deal emerged from it, however, but the assurance that the September meeting is likely to receive good support. A suggestion for development might be popular among some of the less experienced drivers, enabling them to become more familiar with the track under racing conditions and requiring less concentration.

Talking points among the people I meet

KENYA seems to be quite fired in the departure last night of D. W. F. Sidwell. In the 22 years he has been in the Colony he has rendered prominent services to the game. He recently married Marion, once a member of the famous Kenyan Cartographers in 1930 and they have three children. As receiver of the European Derby League, Sidwell was a popular and bright figure.

It is hoped that Sidwell will bring to us some of the London best of his firm. Owen Wheeler, past president and captain of Kenya Quinns and a member of the highly successful Tulkers side that have won the Kenya bowl, has returned from leave. There have taken the reins in the control and administration of Harlequin.

At the meeting of the Kenya Quinns held in the afternoon at the home of the late Sidwell, it was a most interesting affair.

There have taken the reins in the control and administration of Harlequin.

Army players awaited back from Kuwait

THE Army (East Africa) football team full of several important engagements next month and October. It has returned from Kuwait and will be filled by men from other units. The first game, on Saturday, October 2 will be away to the Kenyan Super League. Later the team will play at the annual fixture in the Kenyan Super League. Later the Army XI meets the Kenya Super League at the Railway Club. This match will be a part of the mid-week fixture at the Soldiers' Stadium and will include a display by the Kenyan Super League. Few points but game's the thing

FOR enthusiasm and good sportsmanship the Nairobi Justice Soccer League is carving a unique niche for itself in local sporting activities. The typical of a better day with the club side in the second division. The under-14s have gained one point from two games, with a tie to goal average, and the under-12s draw only out of five games, with a 4:0 goal average. They may not see another victory. All this is agreed by the players. They are interested in the game, but not in the trophies. They are interested in the game, but not in the trophies.

FROM THE SCOREBOARDS

MOVIES FOR BOYS

TWO months ago the Aid India Club approved plans amounting to £250,000 for the purchase of films to be shown in India to meet the requirements of the Government for the first two years of her film programme. It was a large sum of money by any standards and it is interesting to note that the club, which is a voluntary organization, was set up in 1947 and in some quarters is still regarded as a new organization.

Some letters have suggested that the club is a mere front for the British who are engaged in the business of making profits out of such a vast expenditure. It is interesting to note that the club is a voluntary organization and its members are all British. The club has been successful in its efforts to raise money for the purchase of films and it is hoped that it will continue to do so in the future.

THE BACKGROUND

While the grant of the world-wide work was approved, the background of the project is not so clear. It is interesting to note that the club is a voluntary organization and its members are all British. The club has been successful in its efforts to raise money for the purchase of films and it is hoped that it will continue to do so in the future.

MARKET CREATED

Industrial production of the Western countries is at a high level and the demand for goods is increasing. This has led to a shortage of goods in many parts of the world and a market has been created for the purchase of goods from the West.

DRAKE 3 CLEAR FAVORITE FOR ST. LEGER

DICTA DRAKE, second to Paidim in the Derby and subsequently winner of the £27,900 Grand Prix de St. Cloud over the Derby distance, is a clear favourite at 3-1 for the St. Leger with a leading firm of London bookmakers.

The following prices were quoted by this firm last night: 2-1 Dicta Drake, 6-1 Paidim, 7-1 Just Great, 10-1 Aurelius, 10-1 Sovrano, 10-1 York Highness, 12-1 Paidim, 20-1 Just Great.

On breeding, Dicta Drake should stay the St. Leger course. He is to have a race on at Donoville this month and it will then be decided whether he should be sold. As he is a proven sire, 10-1 seems to be a reasonable price. Some of the other prices quoted are not so good.

It was well known that the 1963 winner Paidim has had a race on at Donoville and it is expected that he will be sold. He is only a yearling and his only race was a trial at Donoville on July 15. He was well liked by the public and his trainer, Mr. W. W. W. will have to be satisfied with the result.

The 1963 winner should not therefore attract any attention to back. Paidim should be sold for a good price. He is only a yearling and his only race was a trial at Donoville on July 15. He was well liked by the public and his trainer, Mr. W. W. W. will have to be satisfied with the result.

He and the pilot—who lost his life—baled out of 31,000 feet after trouble radio transmitter, with which he attracted the attention of a searching Shackleton circuit.

New lookout will attract tourists to East Africa

THE Mount Kenya Game Lodge in Secret Valley is exactly half-way up the mountain (Easton being 17,000 ft. and the lodge standing at 8,000 ft.) It is 12 miles from Nairobi, and the journey takes only half an hour. The lodge overlooks a waterhole and several salt licks on the floor of the hitherto unknown Secret Valley. Visitors can watch the many forest animals from the comfort of the lodge balconies. Each bedroom opens on to a spacious verandah, with an unrestricted view of the waterhole.

The lodge's maximum temperature is 80 degrees Fahrenheit, and it is well ventilated. The lodge is situated in a beautiful area with a view of the mountain and the forest. Experts estimate that the wild life should be back to normal before Christmas and this would now seem to be a 'safe case' at the present rate of progress. The base for the lodge — on the Sportsman's Arms Hotel — has always been a friendly and warm waterhole to the area. The lodge has been built on an extensive reforestation and with extensive reforestation and with extensive reforestation and with extensive reforestation.

Mr. Samuel Othman, the managing director, took over the Sportsman's Arms in 1955, and under his energetic management the hotel has been completely renovated with state-of-the-art equipment and facilities that have won the hotel a well-earned reputation.

He has a firm faith in the future of Nanyuki and East Africa, which has inspired the planning and building of the lodge. Determined to realize his long-cherished dream, he has been assisted by his wife, Mrs. Susan Shamma Othman, who has worked as a qualified catering expert, and the West African architect, East Africa, to build a Hotel Manager's Residence.

Mr. Raouf G. Patel, a well-known member of the Nanyuki Business Community for many years, directed the Marina Bakery, and later the Marine Cafe.

Reflecting his faith in the business future of the country, a full expansion of the Marina Bakery is in progress in Nanyuki, and more recently his participation in the founding of this lodge.

A man of unflagging enthusiasm he has taken a keen personal interest in the venture.

Mr. Hilly Bhatnagar, another well-known member of the Nanyuki Business Community, has been for many years concerned with steadily developing business interests in Nanyuki. He has been associated with the expansion of the hotel and lodge from the beginning.

Mr. Baboo Patel, the contractor and builder, has tackled the job of building the lodge and treating into reality the plans and suggestions of the other team members with a tremendous and better energy after working late into the night without a break for meals.

GAZAR KILLING 'NOT RACIAL'

Political leaders again condemn violence

Kanu leaders yesterday reaffirmed their condemnation of the violence and said they would continue to put these views to their Government as an businessman.

The Leader of Government Business, Mr. Ngala, said: "I have no objection to an African being a businessman, and I will continue to do so in the future. Since we are not a political party, we do not take sides in political organizations, but we do not respect for leaders who were responsible for violence which had to be dealt with by all the good citizens of the country together with the government's."

The president of Kanu, Mr. Gburemu, said the Asians were getting unnecessarily alarmed about Tuesday's murder. Since then, there had been a case of African shopkeeper being the victim of robbery with violence. "I hope do not discriminate between Black, White or Brown," he said.

MANY AFRICANS KILLED

There was nothing political about the recent murder. He had recently been robbed of a cat himself. "One might have thought they would have respected the political organizations," he added.

The general secretary of Kanu, Mr. T. J. Moya, said: "I do not ignore that we have a duty to teach the people to appreciate the need for security and respect for law and to co-operate in ensuring that criminals are punished."

"Nevertheless, I do not believe that every crime that occurs in this country should be turned into a political issue. It is necessary to regard the Nairobi murder as a political crime. Anyone might have been killed - a European, African or Asian."

Highly respected individuals in the East African States have been asked to return to Kenya to assist in the reconstruction of the country.

S. B. LE COLONN ENTERS BERLIN

and Britain reinforces Garrison

British troop reinforcements passed through East Germany on their way to West Berlin in an incident yesterday. The battle column — 1,500 men with tanks, armoured cars and supply vehicles — was ordered West Berlin by President Kennedy to meet the 4,000-strong U.S. garrison. The British tanks, crews and sounders followed the 10-mile autobahn through East Germany. In great contrast, 10 British armoured personnel carriers were quietly unloaded at Spandau Goods Station in West Berlin.

They were travelling without their crews, but with officers and six men of the Welch Regiment. The British General took control for their train through East Germany. British soldiers met the vehicles in the city of the British garrison, ordered to hasten about 2,000.

Colour TV takes debut FIRST PUBLIC SHOWING IN U.K. AT RADIO SHOW

The British Broadcasting Corporation's colour television sets had their public debut for the first time at the annual London Radio Show in London on Wednesday. The event will be a landmark in the history of television, but it was the Radio Show in London 25 years ago that the B.B.C. showed the public that colour television was a reality.

Over seven years ago the B.B.C. showed the public that colour television was a reality. The regular colour broadcasts from the company's television system of the late John Logie Baird, Scottish inventor, were shown on the radio.

The Baird show in 1936, when Baird showed the first public exhibition of colour television, was held in the Royal Albert Hall, London, and was the first public exhibition of colour television. The show was held in the Royal Albert Hall, London, and was the first public exhibition of colour television.

Two systems... The Baird show in 1936, when Baird showed the first public exhibition of colour television, was held in the Royal Albert Hall, London, and was the first public exhibition of colour television.

TWO SYSTEMS

Despite the time difference between the two systems, British and foreign television operators have agreed to use the same system for international colour transmissions, with the exception of the Japanese 60-line system.

At a meeting of the International Colour Television Commission, which was held in London last month, the Commission agreed to use the same system for international colour transmissions, with the exception of the Japanese 60-line system.

DETECTION

A Visitor at the show will get a "handful" of color television sets. The sets will be available for sale in the exhibition grounds.

They will see however that the sets are not for sale in the exhibition grounds.

100,000 are work in the Rift Valley province

work in the Rift Valley Province is facing its biggest unemployment problem in many years. Although the shifting population means that any increase is temporary, a recent estimate is that about 150,000 men, women and children are unemployed. A less conservative guess would put the figure nearer 200,000.

The prosperous trend, with business and farmers untroubled by long-term development, increased the number of employed every year from 1953 to 1960. In 1961, according to official figures for the province except Nairobi, Eldoret and Kisumu, there were 162,000 employed. Last year the total had reached 191,677—108,571 men and the remainder women and children. The trend is now being reversed.

Mr. A. G. Dalglish, in his survey of unemployment conducted for the Kenya Government last year estimated that 12,000 were unemployed in the province—and it is now more than 15,000. The pool of surplus labour is steadily shifting, and a sudden increase of a few thousand in, for example, Nakuru normally means a similar decrease elsewhere.

SAVED BY FARMERS

The Kenya move from their reserves in search of work going to Nakuru, Thomson's Falls, Nakuru, Molo and thence on to Eldoret. The Kalenjin tribes go to Kiambu and eventually drift down to Nakuru. Officials estimate that the province would have considerably worse but for the kindness of many European farmers. Labourers who have been pensioned off are allowed to remain on the farm; many farmers could do living on the land.

One farmer is known to have 20 acres of land used for his own and his family. He has 100 more in his hands. Many Africans, with about three wives, have no land at all. They are dependent on relatives living off them. These people would immediately be unemployed if the farmer, worried about the increase of labour and looking for ways to get through, packed up and went elsewhere. Despite the lack of work, they take, and will not take the job offered to them unless they like it.

It was the largest crowd ever seen in the village and the young man was surrounded by admirers in their hundreds. The crowd was so large that it was necessary to erect a barrier of barbed wire to prevent the crowd from getting too close to the house.

Problem worsening as drift to towns continues BACK THE LAND FOR JOBS

Expansion in industry not sole answer

Kenya's unemployment problem could become chronic if its solution was left to the big industries alone, the Acting Labour Commissioner, Mr. Ian Husband, said yesterday.

Though more industrial expansion was needed, the country was basically agricultural and unemployment could be greatly reduced by absorption of labour in the Native Land Units.

Mr. Husband said the Ministry of Agriculture was working to encourage better and more intensive farming. Once the African farmer was encouraged to develop his land he would become an employer of labour. Greater spending of that money would create new jobs.

Mr. Husband also suggested an increase in savings in Kenya, such as wood-saving, which not only aids industry but also provides popular export items.

Cottage industries

At the end of last month 8,781 adult male Africans were on the books of Kenya's employment offices. Some 10 per cent of that is a fraction of the total who have no jobs. It was recently estimated that at least 15,000 people are out of work in the Rift Valley, and between 6,000 and 7,000 in Mombasa.

In Nairobi, thousands of men tread the streets day after day looking for work. As Kenya's population grows, more and more are becoming dissatisfied with subsistence-level existence in the reserves and so they come into the city.

But more and more they are pushing up against the unemployment sign.

Monkeys die in Tokyo

Two monkeys died in Tokyo yesterday after being taken to the city by a Japanese tourist.

The monkeys were taken to the city by a Japanese tourist who had been visiting the reserves.

21 jailed after riot sweeps town

Twenty-one people were sent to jail or detention centers for periods ranging from six to 12 months at Mombasa yesterday after a weekend of rioting.

The rioting centered round a demonstration against a Police officer who had been dismissed for allegedly mistreating a woman.

A riotous crowd had gathered in the town square and the rioting spread to the surrounding areas.

ALL RESTRICTIONS ON MR. KENYATTA ARE LIFTED

Standard Staff Reporters
AFTER almost three years of detention and restriction, Mr. Jomo Kenyatta yesterday stepped through his own front gate a free man.

But instead of Sunday's milling thousands fewer than 100 people waiting to greet him on the day for which he had waited for so long. "Ohno," he called to them with a backward glance while Mr. Kenyatta set off on his first tour of freedom since his arrest.

Freedom came to Mr. Kenyatta at 4 a.m. when the District Commissioner for Nairobi, Mr. W. B. Barrow, arrived at the California house with the final order of restriction.

An unofficial party at the signing was one of Mr. Kenyatta's best friends, perched on top of the table clucking throughout the proceedings.

"Fine, fine"

With the notice, Mr. Barrow took the famous black "revel" slacks topped with a black sash, with a small silver shield on its back, a large red sash, and a small silver shield on its back.

The articles were taken from Mr. Kenyatta's home in Nairobi when he went to prison in 1952. He had been in the "front" "fine," he answered "fine."

Then out he went, through the gate. It was the first time he had been out since his arrest on the last day of 1959.

Nine years had made quite a difference, he found. When he left, only maize and potatoes were grown in the district. It has been converted into an experimental farm by the Government.

Mr. Kenyatta found that it was a different world.

He was shown round by his philosopher and writer, Mr. Jomo Kenyatta, who had been in the "front" "fine," he answered "fine."

Mr. Kenyatta found that it was a different world.

Nato fears E. German revolt

NATO headquarters staff are becoming increasingly worried about the danger of an uprising in East Germany.

They fear that the Communist regime's moves to limit the flow of refugees to the West may lead to an explosive situation. Nato's command and control system is being studied by the West.

The system is designed to establish themselves in the industrial areas of the city as soon as possible.

Meanwhile, the U.S. President, Mr. Lyndon B. Johnson, is reported to be pushing for a resolution in Washington support for the West.

Road project

But an employee reported that more than 80,000 varicose were filed throughout the same period. It is obvious that only a few of the roads are being built.

As an example of what the project will do, the Nairobi Municipal Council has approved the construction of a road project in the industrial area of the city.

The project is designed to establish themselves in the industrial areas of the city as soon as possible.

Meanwhile, the U.S. President, Mr. Lyndon B. Johnson, is reported to be pushing for a resolution in Washington support for the West.

Three in court

Three men appeared in court yesterday on charges of conspiracy to murder.

Never before

The cause of the political death was effectively announced by the government. But it is understood that the cause was aggravated by dietary difficulties.

Adult goats had never been taken abroad. An experiment was made in the past but it was abandoned in other countries.

By contrast, "Hush" is a goat which has been taken to the United States. It was taken to the United States by a man named "Hush" who is a member of the "Hush" family.

YOUNG ARTISTS' WORK ON SHOW

The Young Artists Exhibition to be held in Nairobi from September 22 to 23 is the fourth exhibition of young people's work. The first, held in 1958, was known as the Children's Art Exhibition. The title was changed because some of the exhibitors were attending rural African schools and teaching/learning colleges could hardly be called children.

The exhibition is sponsored by the East African governments who last year presented to the Government of Kenya the money for the painting of outstanding merit.

The Kenyan Society for Art Education, which was formed last year to encourage art education in Kenya, is organizing the exhibition. It is held in the Nairobi Art School. The school, which was founded in 1946, is one of the best schools in Kenya for art education.

The exhibition is being held in the Memorial Hall, Nairobi, from September 22 to 23. The school and college students over Kenya are submitting work for the exhibition.

The number of artists from Kenya and a selection of their work are shown in the exhibition. The artists are practicing artists who will be selected for exhibition.

The exhibition is being organized by Prof. C. Todd, Director of the Kenya Society for Art Education. The exhibition is held in the Nairobi Art School, Nairobi.

Mya drought's aftermath may last some years

MR. NGALA'S WARNING AT FARM EXPERTS' CONFERENCE

Mya's drought may well last for several years, said the experts at a conference on agricultural matters in Nairobi. Mr. Ngala, Uganda's minister of agriculture, was opening the U.N. Food and Agricultural Organization seminar on the drought and its effects and uses of agricultural commodities and which is being held at the High Commission headquarters, Nairobi. About 20 delegates from several African countries are attending.

Mr. Ngala said that among the international organizations working in the field of agriculture, the FAO is investigating agricultural problems, procuring good husbandry and raising living standards, and is especially interested in the drought problem.

POSSIBLE BATTLE AGAINST NATURE

It is pointed out that the nature of the battle which has to be fought continuously against Nature had been fought in the country in "most vivid form" by the drought. The succession of inadequate rains had led to a serious drop in crop production and reduction in soil quality and quality of grazing, which had taken a toll of livestock.

Technical measures had had to be introduced on a wide scale and large farms and estates had been compelled to diversify their livestock resources. The Government is happy, the production of plantations, crops, the majority of Kenya's export earnings, had not been affected to any extent.

Mr. Ngala emphasized, however, that the drought had not been a "normal" experience for Kenya's farmers. He said he had considerable doubts as to whether the drought would be repeated in the future, and he stressed the need for agricultural development to be based on the principle of self-reliance.

The importance of agriculture in the country was stressed by the Director, Crops, who pointed out that the drought had led to a serious drop in crop production and reduction in soil quality and quality of grazing, which had taken a toll of livestock.

The rugged outdoor look moves indoors with stone walls

By MAXEL MEYRICK

If you move home in Britain or take a new room in the States, you will be faced with formal, conventional wallpaper. For there is a world-wide trend, as the movement towards stone, rough-hewn, rough materials in their own right for decoration instead of covering them up with plaster.

In Kenya, for instance, it has been quite common for a landlord to find a fireplace wall left in natural brick or stone, with a square-cut hole to take the fire. The traditional material has virtually disappeared or, if at all, in distasteful imitations that narrow itself slotted into the brickwork.

The most popular choice in Kenya is of course, grey with red veins, and of course, it is not so much the color as the texture that is sought. A rough, sandy look has been almost impossible to reproduce in the past.

Formal walls are shown in the picture above. The stone wall has no such coating of plaster, and so presents a more convincing view. But you are actually looking at a wall made of concrete blocks, which are covered with a rough, sandy texture. The texture is made of the same material as the concrete blocks, but is covered with a rough, sandy texture.

WOODEN WALL

Others have succeeded in convincing your friends that their new room is made of wood. It is not the fact because they have never seen wood. It is not the fact because they have never seen wood. It is not the fact because they have never seen wood.

Another way to make wooden walls in the form of wood is to use a material that is made of wood. It is not the fact because they have never seen wood. It is not the fact because they have never seen wood.

The shelves in this kitchen are movable because they are supported by metal brackets which can be shifted anywhere on the wall.

KINDNESS STILL PAYS — AND IN MANY WONDERFUL WAYS

MOST good deeds are unremembered, but a simple "thank you" and are then promptly forgotten. But not all of them.

COFFIN REQUEST

When the straightened board of the kind was returned to a Chicago man who had been rescued from a sinking ship, he was repaid by the United States for the gift of a diamond ring.

PASSERLT

The story is the story of a man who was rescued from a sinking ship. He was repaid by the United States for the gift of a diamond ring.

Indication of the growth and progress of a town or city towards better type, whether it be one building or commercial district, is to be seen in the windows. Heroic knock by Subba Row

RAMAN SUBBA ROW, despite a groin injury, was the hero of England's battle to draw the fifth and final Test against Australia at the Oval last night. He made a gallant stand on what was almost certainly his last Test match appearance, as he has stated he will retire from international cricket at the end of this season for financial reasons.

The left-hander started his knock as rain fell when England were dismissed for 100 for the first time with whom he had returned yesterday's first innings without a still 53 runs behind Australia's first innings.

The pair started their fifth wicket for 172 but even so Australia still had a chance of victory. After Subba Row went to the crease, the Australian captain, Alan Davidson, said that he was "not sure" of Subba Row's batting. Davidson said that he was "not sure" of Subba Row's batting.
