Scientists fear blast was much more than 50 megatons RUSSIA EXPLODES GIGANTIC BOMB

Condemned as great insult to U.N.

RUSSIA yesterday defied the United Nations by conducting in the Arctic the most powerful nuclear test of all time.

Last night, scientists in many countries feared that the explosion was big bigger than the 50-megaton megaton promised by the Soviet Premier, Mr. Khrushchev. A spokesman at Heriqlip University said it was possible that the blast was in the 100-megaton range.

Western European recording centers began picking up shock waves soon after 1:30 a.m. GMT, and some said the force was two, three or even four times as great as last week's 30-megaton test.

The Soviet Government remained silent. Asked about the Western reports, a Foreign Ministry spokesman said: "We cannot say anything. But it is meanwhile, Moscow Radio was announcing the latest American underground test in Nevada.

Hiroshima 2,500 times over

Even if yesterday's Soviet test was only the 50-megaton range — the equivalent to 50,000,000 tons of TNT — this is 2,500 times as powerful as the atomic bombs dropped on Hiroshima, and Nagasaki. These killed 100,000 people.

A 50-megaton blast is also 25 times the force of all the bombs dropped on Germany and all Nazi-occupied territories during the Second World War. Last night, a Swedish scientist forecast earthquakes, storms, floods and abnormal solar activity between December and May as a result of the Russian test.

People in the little Norwegian town of Hovda, Zembia, feeling the shock of the test, said they had seen a bright light in the sky and a great noise. The British "Evening Standard" said the "blast" was heard in the United States.

The test was the first since the United States dropped the atomic bomb on Hiroshima in August 1945. It was the first since the United States dropped the atomic bomb on Nagasaki in August 1945.

A puff of smoke still rises from the 18,000-ton Italian liner Bionico-C, which was swept by fire off Gerardo in the West Indies. The liner was sailing from Venezuela, and had called at St. George's harbor, the island's capital, to pick up immigrants for Britain. Three people were reported killed and more than 20 injured, but 500 passengers and crew got safely ashore and were accommodated in hotels, schools and private homes.

London meeting dashes hopes

SOUTH AFRICA will not be represented at the council meeting of the Empire Games Association.

Sir Arthur Forrist, chairman of the association, said the reason was that she was no longer a member.

There is, therefore, no possibility of South Africa competing in the Empire Games at Perth in August. "I am afraid all hope has been extinguished," Sir Arthur said, "especially in view of the Australian attitude which has clarified the position."

But Sir Arthur added that at the association's general meeting at Perth in August it might be possible to raise the question of South Africa's participation in the Empire Games in 1968.

The general opinion, however, is that there is not much prospect of their leading to anything practical.

Tanganyika lose by 211 runs

TANGANYIKA lost to F.R. Brown's XI by 211 runs at the Gymkhana Club ground, Perth, on Saturday in a match which showed up the weakness of the home side's batting and bowling.

The main factor was Tanganyika's obvious inability to play fast bowlers, and their lack of batting depth. The home side's batting was only against the spin of Brown, and their bowlers did their best to exploit this.

Only C. D. Patel looked like a danger, but he was out early, and the home side's batting was only against the spin of Brown, and their bowlers did their best to exploit this.

WOOD-BE FINAL TAKEN TO 21st

CHRIS DISNEY'S GOLF REVIEW

P. H. DRACOTT, last year's club president, won the Wood-Be Colours' competition on the Royal Marske course at the weekend. Like other courses, the Hill was 21st before Dracott beat H. Dave. Dave had eliminated P. K. Lomas 4 and 3 in the semi-finals with Dracott disposing of P. K. Lomas 4 and 3.

Barrington makes 149 not out

THE TROOP, for players with handicaps of 19 or over, was first played in 1922, when it was won by the late Sir Charles (then Sir C. C.) Barrington, who was Chief Secretary of Kenya from 1911 to 1924 and Governor of Mashaland from 1924 to 1929.

HEAVY COURSE

This was won by D. Barry on the 18th hole, but he was out with 21 points on a very heavy course. Barry's score was 149 not out.

Situation never worse, Mr. Swann tells

on tribal hatred

Government time in Kenya, tribalism had never been more pronounced and the situation had never been more potentially explosive, the Minister for Internal Security and Defence, Mr. Swann, said yesterday.

All Members will agree that provocative statements should not be made in the House. It is Members say these things on public platforms, then we shall have a Minister, the Minister told the Legislative Council during an evening debate on the Government's powers to control public meetings. The Opposition asked for the debate in order to discuss speeches alleged to have been made by Mr. W. C. Murgar and Mr. D. T. Moi at a meeting at Terni, Kenya, last Saturday.

Still under arrest

THREE British soldiers who lost their way in a broad area during the Kenya operations and drove over the border into East Africa, have been held in military detention 13 weeks later.

Now the three, from left, Sergeant Humber of Herefordshire, Gloucestershire; Captain of Stafford; and Sergeant, London of Bedfordshire, Whitehall, Yorkshire, face the fine of three months. They are given charges, and there is no restriction on letters home — but no one knows how they will be charged before a military court, except perhaps the key authorities.

SEARCH OF AN ISLAND

Plans to "establish a cooperative, self-governing community" among possible islanders are being made. He said, "I always carried up the map and hope to get more maps in the next few weeks." He is pictured with his wife, Mary, at the globe. He appears to be resting his head on the globe.

GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY

If you enjoy a high income and do not have a pension scheme you are permitted by the Revenue Authorities to make provision for your old age and to treat any payment towards an approved scheme as a deduction from your taxable income. Thus you may be able to save tax of up to £2000 on a £2000 contribution.

The Norwich Union Pension Security policy has been approved for this purpose by the Revenue Authorities and is a particularly attractive scheme. Expert advice and information will be given gladly without obligation. Payments must be made before December 31, 1961, to qualify for tax relief this year.

Call for sanctions against S. Africa

NAIROBI and eight other African States have today signed a draft resolution in the United Nations Assembly calling for sanctions against South Africa.

The resolution, which was adopted by a vote of 121 to 10, with 27 abstentions, calls for the United Nations to take steps to bring the South African Government to a complete cessation of its racial policy.

The resolution also calls for the United Nations to take steps to bring the South African Government to a complete cessation of its racial policy.

'Persistent violation'

In proposing that the General Assembly should recommend the Security Council to take steps to bring the South African Government to a complete cessation of its racial policy, the resolution drew attention to Article 24 of the Charter of the United Nations, which has periodically violated the obligations of the Charter.

Unfair legal aspects of income tax proposals

EDITORIAL

DURING the past few or three weeks many of your subscribers, concerned over certain provisions of the proposed Indian Income Tax Bill, have called for its withdrawal or for its amendment.

Nothing has been said or written on this subject in the present issue of the Standard. (Amendment) Bill 1937.

It is interesting to note that the bill is being introduced by the Minister for Finance, Mr. K. M. Munshi, who is a member of the Government of India. It is not clear whether the bill is intended to apply to the whole of India or only to the provinces which are under direct British rule.

The bill is being introduced in the House of Representatives. It is not clear whether it will be introduced in the Council of States as well.

I HAVE recently been in Tanganyika and have had the opportunity to see the proposed Bill in its original form. It is a Bill which is being introduced in the House of Representatives. It is not clear whether it will be introduced in the Council of States as well.

Family African

IN the course of the meeting of the Executive Committee of the African Union, which was held in London on the 17th and 18th inst., the Secretary of State for the Colonies, Mr. G. S. Messervy, was asked by Mr. J. H. Williams, Member of Parliament, to state whether he was prepared to consider the possibility of allowing African women to be naturalised as British subjects.

CRITIC OF CONGRESS

ALTHOUGH I am opposed to a vote on the formation of a new Commonwealth, I must confess that I am not altogether satisfied with the way in which the Congress has been conducted.

The Congress has been a failure in many respects. It has failed to bring about any real unity among the various groups which are represented in it. It has failed to bring about any real agreement on the questions of independence and self-government.

Disunity

I WAS thinking that by the time the meeting of the Executive Committee of the African Union had taken place, the Secretary of State for the Colonies, Mr. G. S. Messervy, would have been asked to state whether he was prepared to consider the possibility of allowing African women to be naturalised as British subjects.

The bill is being introduced by the Minister for Finance, Mr. K. M. Munshi, who is a member of the Government of India. It is not clear whether the bill is intended to apply to the whole of India or only to the provinces which are under direct British rule.

British hockey in doldrums

SHARPshooters are desperately needed in British women's hockey and there will be a slight uplift in search for players in the months before the start of the Internationals at the end of February.

Mrs. Margaret Macdonald, secretary of the Women's Hockey Association, says: "We don't know yet who will emerge for selection. For forwards who can lead a line we are rather in the doldrums. There is really no one outstanding at the moment."

Never before have so many women played the game, yet never have so few goals been scored in first-class matches and never before has England been beaten by Germany or a touring team by South Africa or America.

Whether it is defence players who have become stronger or forwards who have become more pliant, it is not clear.

Both centred on both sides of the players, without distinction, is a merely secondary if the standard they play for is to improve themselves and to play for the Continental and South African teams. Another aim is to play for the British team which seems to be essential.

Both backs have become either frustrated or content, because they are not being used in the same way as in the past. There is a need for a player who can lead a line and who can play with a will.

MATCH DRAWN IN ZANZIBAR
Zanzibar drew with F. R. B. in the first of the two matches played on the 20th of the month. The match was a draw, 1-1.

Medical research on sport
The British team in the 1960 Olympic Games at that 2 weeks' rest night in the Italian capital prior to competition was an additional period for climatic adjustment.

Medical representatives were asked to complete a questionnaire and sent by the British Olympic Association in conjunction with the medical advisory committee.

Medical representatives from their own experience in Rome, 68 per cent of the team were asked to complete a questionnaire and sent by the British Olympic Association in conjunction with the medical advisory committee.

JUNIORS SEEK GRANT-IN-AID FROM COUNCIL

NAIROBI Junior Soccer League is to approach Nairobi City Council with a request for assistance in the provision of playing facilities—a portion of the proposed Central Park is suggested and also for a financial grant-in-aid.

The League, inaugurated this year with 18 teams and some 200 registered players ranging from 12 to 18 years, expects to register also a number of new registrations.

The League has already experienced considerable difficulty in the provision of adequate playing facilities. This has led to considerable speculation as to the future of the three clubs.

It is estimated that it is hoped that the Council will be able to assist in the purchase of land which has already been set aside for the proposed Central Park.

Two letters had to be posted last week last evening owing to the waterlogged condition of the K.E.S. ground.

The Governor of Kenya, Sir Patrick Benson, will today suggest ways of breaking the country's political deadlock.

Sir Patrick will outline the proposals when constitutional talks, which broke down three weeks ago, are resumed at Government House at 11 a.m.

According to an official statement yesterday, the Governor will report to the delegates on his talks with the Premier in London.

He will read a prepared policy statement which will be the basis for the talks.

The Secretary to the constitutional talks, Mr. P. E. Leung, yesterday said in the delegates' conference that the Government will accept all constitutional proposals which are in line with the Government's policy.

When Sir Benson yesterday refused to see his partners at the talks, it was reported that he would not see them until he had seen the Premier.

When the reporters contacted the Governor he had given an interview to the British Press before leaving London, according to a spokesman. "What he said was that he would be prepared to see the delegates on the basis of the proposals which he had put forward."

When Sir Benson yesterday refused to see his partners at the talks, it was reported that he would not see them until he had seen the Premier.

Tribal tension

Talks on 'drawback' system

QUESTION OF FUNDS STUDIED

The question of funds to continue Kenya's Customs 'drawback' system is being discussed at the Colonial Office, London, this week by the Minister for Finance, Mr. K. W. S. MacKenzie.

Under the system, local firms exporting raw materials for the manufacture of goods which are then imported into Kenya are permitted funds to refund the duties which they would have had to pay had they imported the raw materials themselves.

It is estimated that the Government's expenditure on the system last year was £1,000,000. It is estimated that the Government's expenditure on the system last year was £1,000,000.

STRONG DEMAND AS UPSURGE CONTINUES

The recovery in the stock market continued yesterday, and prices on a broad front moved up. Imports on a large scale, though selective, British Funds were firm, but Foreign Bonds were irregular. Improvements on Wall Street gave further impetus to Dollar Stocks.

In a recent session the market has shown a strong upward trend, with many shares reaching new peaks. This is a result of the recovery in the stock market, and the fact that many investors are now more confident about the future of the economy.

New varieties of pyrethrum developed

Over 100 new varieties of pyrethrum which could give a farmer a considerable larger yield have been developed at the Pyrethrum Research Station, Malindi, and should be available next year.

The new varieties are being developed to meet the needs of farmers who are growing pyrethrum for the export market. They are being developed to be more resistant to disease and to have a higher yield than the current varieties.

An epidemic in the New Guinea area, caused by a virus which has been found in the area, has been reported by the Ministry of Health, London.

The virus is believed to be a new strain of the disease, and it is thought that it may spread to other parts of the world. The Ministry of Health is therefore taking steps to prevent the spread of the virus.

REAL OPINIONS ON THE FUTURE OF THE REVENUE TAX PROPOSALS ARE 'OBJECTIONABLE'

WITH reference to the concluding paragraph of your editorial headed "A few indications in the attitude of the Kenya Branch of Indian business men and the proposed new Section 122 may be briefly summarized as follows:—

It would be very interesting to know the reasons for the Government's attitude in accepting the proposals which have been put forward to govern the country. The Government has been asked to accept the proposals in the light of the economic stability of the country. CIVIL SERVICE TRAINING THE OTHER SIDE

THE CONSTITUTIONAL PLAN
THE Governor of Kenya established a second Education Commission to examine the education and political affairs of the new Colonial Territories.

Mr. Kenyatta is expected to present a memorandum to the Education Commission with Mr. Manning, who was made Chairman of the Commission. The Commission's report is expected to be published later this year.

THE OTHER SIDE
Another side to the picture of the education of the African people is shown in a report from the Secretary, Office of the Chief Secretary, F.M.S., in reply to a year-long article by the same Secretary.

The article, titled 'Education in Kenya', discusses the challenges of providing education for a rapidly growing population. It highlights the need for more schools and teachers, and the importance of vocational training.

THE OTHER SIDE
The article continues to discuss the educational landscape in Kenya, focusing on the role of the government and the challenges faced by private institutions. It mentions the need for a more equitable system and the importance of teacher training.

Millions of people to be devalued, House assured CONTROL RUMOURS DENIED

MEMBERS of devaluation of the East African shilling or of the Kenya shilling were assured yesterday by the Finance Minister, Mr. J. E. B. Mwangi, that the Government had no intention of devaluing the shilling.

He was replying to a motion in Legislative Council, moved by Mr. L. R. M. Wachira, concerning the economic and financial state of the country.

To justify his faith in the shilling, Mr. Mwangi pointed out that the Government had no intention of devaluing the shilling. He said that the Government had no intention of devaluing the shilling.

PREVIOUSLY - NOT TRAGIC

Mr. Butler said that there was very little which Mr. Welwood had said which he wished to discuss. Later "tragic" though it did not consider the position. Welwood would be precise - and hoped that the Government would withdraw the motion.

"We must return to the matter," he said, "but without reserves in the bank," Mr. Butler said, "I don't think we can agree that to move to the independent changes that date back to the Emergency, and I think it was about £57,000,000."

Though the Government had no reserves, the reserves of the East African Currency Board were almost exactly £59,172,847 and the assets totalled £148,000,000 more than £8,000,000, excluding the emergency distribution reserve.

Anybody who talks about a currency which is going to be devalued is talking about a currency which is going to be devalued. It is not a currency which is going to be devalued. It is not a currency which is going to be devalued.

Waterlog pitches hamper programmes

KENYA's sporting programme is being held back by the weather. Hockey, football and cricket — all are suffering from waterlogged pitches which still show no signs of drying out. Cricketers' top attraction of the season — the visit of the Freddie Brown tour — has been held up by the rain. The rain has fallen during all their six matches to date.

On the soccer score, hard-pressed Nairobi Junior League officials fear that a backlog of fixtures might accumulate. If games scheduled for Sunday cannot be played, grounds are almost certain to be flooded if the rains continue.

For hockey, it is the heaviest form of the year with mud and water. In fact, the rain has been so heavy that it is almost impossible to play. In fact, the rain has been so heavy that it is almost impossible to play. In fact, the rain has been so heavy that it is almost impossible to play.

Both-neck of fixtures

"This could lead to a serious problem with a bottling-up of fixtures. It would be impossible to clear a heavy backlog of fixtures. It would be impossible to clear a heavy backlog of fixtures. It would be impossible to clear a heavy backlog of fixtures.

EX-PLUMBER KEEPS TITLE

JOHNNY CALDWELL, (left), the Belfast ex-plumber, retained his world title. He defeated the American challenger, Alvin Karpis, in a hard-fought contest. Caldwell's victory was a surprise to many, as he was considered a slight underdog.

Mr. Kenyatta and party group to hold talks tomorrow

NEW TALKS AS KANU QUITS

But delegates to continue discussions

KANU yesterday walked out of the constitutional talks at Government House, Nairobi. Later it announced that Mr. Kenyatta would lead a delegation to London, leaving tomorrow.

The leader of the party's Parliamentary group, Mr. Gichuru, explaining the walk-out, said that the Colonial Secretary's message on Thursday contained nothing new to help delegates resolve the deadlock.

The decision was taken at a meeting yesterday morning under Mr. Kenyatta's chairmanship but the talks will continue. In a statement last night the Government said that the delegates who remained had decided that a sub-committee should be formed under the chairmanship of the acting Chief Secretary, Mr. Griffith-Jones, to consider constitutional matters, property and minority safeguards.

The breakdown came in spite of an appeal from the Governor, Sir Patrick Kenyan, that the Kanu delegates should remain and an offer from him that Mr. Kenyatta should be called immediately to join the talks.

Evading urgent problems

Last night the Standard Staff Reporter in London said that the Colonial Secretary was expected to see Mr. Kenyatta's delegation as soon as possible. The delegation which is due to leave Nairobi on Monday night consists of Mr. Gichuru, Mr. A. O. Odino, Mr. E. E. McKenzie, Mr. Chanan Singh and Mr. F. M. Muti. They will be joined in London by Mr. T. J. Mboya, Mr. Mumburi, Mr. P. Mariani and other aides.

Referring to Mr. Maudling's message at yesterday's talks, Mr. Gichuru said: "It takes no account of our immediate and urgent problems. It evades the position reached when the talks began and takes us right back to the position before the first Kanu-Kadu agreement."

Kadu's leader, Mr. Ngala, said he was ready to be made a Kadu if Kanu refused to discuss vital issues like a constitution for an independent Kenya, land titles and property rights. "I think it is now very important now for us to discuss these things than for Kanu to get into the Government," he added.

Mr. Ngala expressed disappointment that the Colonial Secretary had not mentioned internal self-government this year, but he approved the idea of bringing out a constitutional expert. Kadu had no objection to the immediate presence of Mr. Kenyatta at the talks.

Mr. Gichuru, reading a statement prepared at the party meeting under Mr. Kenyatta's chairmanship, said that the talks had broken down about a month ago "because of the partiality of the Governor in favour of Kadu and the refusal to form a Coalition Government, to include Kadu as equal partners."

'Irreproachable breach'

Kanu's position remained that there was no purpose in re-opening the talks without first forming a joint Government. The talks had already unanimously agreed that there should be a full-scale constitutional conference this month. The new decision by the Colonial Secretary and the Governor to hold this conference next year is a direct and irresponsible breach of decisions firmly taken by the constituent delegates.

Criticising Kanu's negative attitude, Mr. Ngala said that the date for the constitutional conference could still be held forward if everyone would sit down and talk. He had expected Mr. Kenyatta to give some soundings first to his followers on the constitutional problems, but he had obviously failed to do this. "He has been trying for six months to do this and he has not even surprised me that he has not achieved it," the Kadu leader added.

Kanu's vice-president, Mr. Muti, said that Mr. Gichuru's allegations against the Governor should not be unchallenged, but as the Kadu Parliamentary Group, the Kadu Government, the Kadu Executive Council and the Kadu Executive Members, Mr. A. J. Pandya, renounced after the walk-out.

Princess Margaret's child is a boy

PRINCESS MARGARET gave birth to a son at Clarence House, in London yesterday. An announcement said both were "doing well".

The boy is the first child of the 19-year-old Princess and her husband, the Earl of Snowdon, former society photographer, Mr. Antony Armstrong-Jones.

The baby replaces the Duke of Gloucester as fifth in line of succession to the throne.

The Queen's own three children, Prince Charles, Prince Andrew and Prince Edward, were born in the 1950's.

The baby was born in the white-walled Princess who had been telephoned to the Queen, who was holding an inventory at Buckingham Palace.

Cherys from crown.

The baby will be known as Prince George of Nyman, in the county of Sussex, in the name of his father by the Queen on Great St. Martin's Street, created 31-year-old Mr. Armstrong-Jones an Earl.

When the birth bulletin was posted on the gate at Clarence House, wild cheers broke from the windows nearby.

The bulletin said: "The Royal Household has the pleasure of announcing that the Princess Margaret, Duchess of Kent, gave birth to a son at 11.45 a.m. today."

KATANGA CLAIMS INVADERS DRIVEN OUT

KATANGA Radio yesterday claimed that all traces of the Congolese Central Army had been driven out of the province.

The Congolese Army Chief of Staff, General de Witte, said on Thursday that an undetermined number of troops had been driven from Katanga's North-West border. He said he had ordered the advance after his troops were bombed by Belgian planes and that the invasion was the result of a "provocative" move by the Katanga forces.

The Katanga forces, led by General Kasongo, had captured several towns and were in the Central Government forces, with their equipment, near the frontier. Mr. Kasongo is in Geneva for medical treatment.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT

Mr. Maudling accedes to Kanu wishes

The Colonial Secretary, Mr. Maudling, has agreed to the request made by Kanu — that there should be a constitutional conference in London and that Mr. Maudling should visit Nairobi.

The Governor said the Colonial Secretary had agreed a joint government could not be imposed but only formed by agreement with the leaders thereof. A Kenya Government statement said: "The Governor pointed out that until internal self-government was established there could be no Kenya Government competent to negotiate a constitution for independence with the British Government."

A SECOND BREAKDOWN

WHAT an opportunity was placed in Mr. Kenyatta's way to give an exhibition of statesmanship at this critical period of Kenya's constitutional evolution.

He has never assumed the Kenya leadership role he had so long aspired to be, as he would have recognized the Mau Mau danger and the need for a more radical period of reorganisation, but only before the present London constitutional conference early in 1952.

After the Kariuki group had considered the terms of the statement, the delegation attempted to bring Mr. Kenyatta to a common sense withdrawal from support of Kariuki's disqualification case as a precondition.

It is not surprising that Mr. Kenyatta decided to stand firmly against it in a country which had been waiting for him to do so. He has shown that he has the ability to do so, but he will not do so unless the Mau Mau issue is solved. The Mau Mau issue is not solved because the Government is not prepared to accept the message in its entirety, only the general substance as a framework for further negotiation.

They attitude is that Mr. Mauding and the Governor have thereby to assume the formation of a Coalition Government. Promulgation having expired, instead, a new directive on this subject has been issued. It is not clear whether this new formula, indeed, had much merit, but it is clear that it is not a step towards the final settlement.

Mr. Kenyatta also expressed disappointment with Mr. Mauding's speech, especially over the defence of interest, self-interest, which Kariuki had wanted before the case. It is, however, not clear whether Kariuki's cooperation, so that there should be no further delay and that obstacles could be removed, naturally depends on the Robertson report about the failure of the Criminal Jury Law so many other people Mr. Ngalia would prefer to see forwarding preparation on that matter. It is not clear whether this can be covered by the Sir Mr. Mauding visits Kenya.

As there is to be a London conference to be held during the convenience of the British Government, Mr. Ngalia asked a group of British to defer the case.

Move to cut dead

Mr. Gibson's reasons for rejection were clearly argued after a discussion by the Kariuki leadership. However, Mr. Kenyatta as President, must accept the final responsibility for this second breakdown of the talks. Let it be noted here that Mr. Kenyatta was not present at Mr. Mauding's message but it is clear, and it should be the basis for negotiation among those who are writing Mr. Kenyatta and his colleagues could have made a grand cooperative gesture, regaining the entire political scene from despair. But they need not have constituted themselves as a group, accepting the message in its entirety, only the general substance as a framework for further negotiation.

Promulgation having expired, instead, a new directive on this subject has been issued. As there is to be a London conference to be held during the convenience of the British Government, Mr. Ngalia asked a group of British to defer the case.

Invitations to Mr. Kenyatta

Then Mr. Ngalia directed to the delegates at Government House and took the initiative by inviting Mr. Kenyatta to attend, regarding Kariuki would surrender one of the talks, following the view, the suggestion that a Crisis Member might resign, in view of the regulations are amended. Mr. Kenyatta can stand for election to the House, and he has to be elected to the House.

Mr. Kenyatta's reply was tantamount to an outright rejection of Mr. Mauding's plan, and it is clear that the British and Kenya Governments in the light of the Robertson report about the failure of the Criminal Jury Law so many other people Mr. Ngalia would prefer to see forwarding preparation on that matter. It is not clear whether this can be covered by the Sir Mr. Mauding visits Kenya.

As there is to be a London conference to be held during the convenience of the British Government, Mr. Ngalia asked a group of British to defer the case.

At a time when reports of tension between the Kariuki and other groups within the Mau Mau movement are being reported, it is clear that the Government is not prepared to accept the message in its entirety, only the general substance as a framework for further negotiation.
