TRAINING THE NEW KENYA NAVY

TWO surprisingly sophisticated concepts of late 19th-century British manufacturers grace the naval forces of the Colony of Dartmouth.

The boats are described in the "Training the New Kenya Navy" report, which is the first of a series of reports on the Navy's anti-air warfare training at Dartmouth.

The first batch of 20 Kenya cadets arrived in Dartmouth in 1967 to begin their training at the college.

Kenya, India, Malaysia, Egypt, the United States, Australia and New Zealand. At present there are 20 Kenya cadets at Dartmouth.

Not that there is any Commonwealth or overseas link at Dartmouth. The Kenyans will be discussed, among the 20 British, as "others" and will be ranked, among the 20, in the results, on the same basis as the other 18. It is possible that the Kenya cadets will be attending in Dartmouth in the next few months.

The first batch of 20 Kenya cadets arrived in Dartmouth in 1967 to begin their training at the college.

TEN KENYANS arrived in Britain on Tuesday for the first two-year course at the Royal Naval College, Dartmouth. They are the first East African naval cadets to train in Britain. This article is based on a recent visit to the college by the East African Standard Staff Reporter in London, ARNOLD RAFAEL.

... and whether he should be treated on land or sea, or give a bit of cash.

But there has been continuing of old. It may be that the Kenya cadets will be attending in Dartmouth in the next few months.

The first batch of 20 Kenya cadets arrived in Dartmouth in 1967 to begin their training at the college.

to prepare for professional examinations. The admission, generally, mathematics, physics and radio navigation, and an introduction to the ship's anti-air warfare system.

... in these times a spelling of gloss, bacteriology and chemical subjects — the ABC's, as they call it — is essential even for the trainees. English is not included in those who will be expected to give orders properly and produce a decent report.

There is a place, too, for naval history and etiquette and generalities. They teach you how to use a sword properly without inflicting damage on yourself or those nearby.

There is of course one subject they cannot actually teach, at Dartmouth and it is that last subject, sea and ship, about which they teach you how to use a sword properly without inflicting damage on yourself or those nearby.

Self-confidence

But it is not only the subject which is not taught, but the attitude which is not taught. It is not only the subject which is not taught, but the attitude which is not taught.

Picture shows aspects of training at Dartmouth. Left, program about to enter the swimming pool; Centre, a painting-out parade; and right, instruction on a supply launch. Inset is the Kenya Navy School.

East African degree for President

THE Vice-Chancellor of the University of East Africa, Dr. Bernard M. Berman, announced that the university have agreed to grant three honorary degrees this year.

JOHN ELGON'S FRIDAY DIARY

President M. K. S. Karanja, who has been conferred with the degree of Doctor of Laws, will be the first African to receive a similar distinction.

Dr. William S. Leonard, who is Professor of Law at the University of East Africa, will be the first African to receive a similar distinction.

All three have stated they would accept an honourary degree as a mark of appreciation for their work in the university.

The University is empowered to confer the degree of Doctor of Laws, which is the highest honours degree in Kenya.

Leaving Arusha

THIS weekend a couple will leave through East Africa and join Mrs. A. Berman, leaving East Africa to arrive in London in New York.

Doctor returns

A YOUNG ROYAL DOCTOR, Dr. M. K. K. Karanja, the Nairobi Member of the Legislative Council, Mr. S. K. Karanja, is arriving in Kenya Monday, after spending time this week at the medical school in Toronto.

Diary date

The National Honorary Society of Kenya has decided to hold its annual conference on the 14th and 15th of next month at the Kenya National Conference Centre.

MINGLING OF SWEET SCENTS

by ANN MARSHALL

A mingling of beautiful people of different backgrounds and creeds gathered in the banquet hall of the Sheraton Hotel for a dinner to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the University of East Africa.

The event was the first African night sponsored by the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences and the Kenya Parli-ment House. Prof. Leonard, who presided at the banquet, welcomed the guests and expressed his appreciation for the support given by the Government and the University.

Mr. P. E. B. B. B. B., an active member of the Oxford Society, was the guest speaker at the dinner. He spoke on the theme "The East African in the World."

Mr. C. B. B. B. B. B. was the guest of honour at the dinner. He spoke on the theme "The East African in the World."

Mr. C. B. B. B. B. B. was the guest of honour at the dinner. He spoke on the theme "The East African in the World."

It was described as the best of the East African night, a gala affair which featured a variety of music and entertainment.

CHESS

Chess was the main attraction at the weekend tournament. The event was held at the Kenya Club and attracted a large number of players.

The explanation was simple

A KISUMU reader, Mr. J. E. D. D., explained the reason for the failure of the Kisumu branch of the Kenya Chess Club.

He stated that the club was formed in 1955 but has since been dormant. The reason for this was the lack of a suitable venue for the club's activities.

Mr. D. D. suggested that the club should be reformed and that the members should meet regularly to discuss the club's affairs.

NEWS QUIZ

1. Which of the following is not a Kenyan constituency?
2. What was the name of the first African prime minister?
3. Which of the following is not a Kenyan newspaper?
4. What was the name of the first African president?
5. Which of the following is not a Kenyan town?

The group of people was seen at the weekend tournament. They were gathered around a table, engaged in conversation.

“You pay your money and you take your choice.”
Punch, Vol. x, p. 17, 1946

In our case, you pay your money but we make the choice. We admit we discriminate. Frankly we don't want to insure buses, taxis, lorries or even pianotechnics. We aim to give a square deal to members of the Automobile Association who run their own private cars and enjoy life. So we want to contribute to that enjoyment by offering a modern, efficient and friendly insurance service to the discriminating motorist. "You pay your money", yes; but you get wonderful value.

Gangster thriller in the modern trend

The recently released psychological trend in dramas is followed in THE DUFFY, a new film showing as the Kansas thriller. It stars the suave and sophisticated French actor Yves Montand in a role that is a far cry from the one he played in the film "The American" which he made last year. The film is a gangster thriller in the modern trend, with a plot that is a far cry from the one he played in the film "The American" which he made last year.

BEHIND THE CURTAIN BRIGHT FUTURE FOR THE D.M.

by Peter Macdonald

It is early yet to make predictions but 1963 is certainly getting off to a good start as far as Nairobi's professional theatre is concerned, giving it a brighter outlook than it has had for some time.

Not only is that cheering, but the fact that the professional theatre is getting off to a good start as far as Nairobi's professional theatre is concerned, giving it a brighter outlook than it has had for some time.

SHAPING THE FUTURE

Development of high-speed telephone and telegraph communications has not reduced the importance of the postal service as a medium of worldwide exchange of ideas in culture, science and international commerce. The postal service, however, to fill the mass marketing demand for the private individual.
 With an annual increase of 4 per cent in postal traffic, East Africa's 593 post offices now handle more than 10,000,000 letters a year. To meet, dispatch and deliver this huge quantity of mail requires expert organization, and special attention is paid to the training of those who supervise and execute this complex work.
 The Administration, aware of future needs, is creating a team of experts to direct and assist postal staff and, through the Universal Postal Union, safeguard East Africa's interests.

Break the vicious circle of SORE THROATS

Most out of you see these areas caused by germ—and you can't have the germs and you lose the germ themselves. But that's not all—the sore area an irritated throat gets, the more the inflamed tissue are laid open to more germs, more infections, more soreness. Break this vicious circle with DEQUADIN LOZENGES. Scientific evidence that Dequadin works at the very cause of sore throats—and that's more possible can do better still. Dequadin is not washed away, so many remedies are, but stays up to 12 hours in the tissues of the throat and mouth, fighting a constant organized action against invading germs.

E. AFRICA TO PLAN INDUSTRY Exiles might go to Sudan for talks

Tanzania will get three 'exclusives'

THE terms of the Kampala Agreement, the text of which was published yesterday, by the East African Governments are to set up a committee of industrial experts to examine and advise on the future development and distribution patterns of industry in East Africa.

The Kampala Agreement was originally drafted in April last year at an emergency meeting of the Commerce and Finance Ministers at a time when East Africa was faced with the possibility of a breakdown as a result of problems caused by the low levels of development in the three countries.

During the first five months, further meetings of the ministerial and official level and the original agreement was slightly amended.

The amended version was approved at a meeting of the Heads of Government in Mbariki last week, at which the text was agreed. It is expected that the text of the agreement should be made the subject of a legal convention or Treaty. Officials of the three Governments are now working on the draft of this convention.

SORE THROATS

Nine out of ten sore throats are caused by germs—and you can't beat the infection until you beat the germs themselves. But that's not all—the more sore an unswollen throat gets, the more the inflamed tissues are laid open to more germs, more infections, more soreness. Break this vicious circle with DEQUADIN LOZENGES. Scientific tests prove that Dequadin attacks all the germs that cause sore throats—and that's even more; these penicillin can do! Better still, Dequadin is not washed away, as many remedies are, but stays up to 12 hours in the tissues of the throat and mouth, fighting a constant resurgent action against invading germs.

NO NEED TO WEEP BECAUSE YOU ARE NOT A WILLOW

It doesn't really matter (who is kidding whom). The remark has already been heard in the streets, which makes us all the more determined to concentrate on this business of art. He is a young man who has already shown signs of a great talent.

A recent fashion show in London proved a success for the larger figure which combined elegance and up-to-the-minute fashion with good cut and colour to carry off the best of them. He is a young man who has already shown signs of a great talent.

Archbishop feels Ugandan should succeed him

Standard Staff Reporter Kampala

Archbishop of Uganda, Dr. Leslie Brown, is residing in November "The Uganda Chronicle" will be led by a Ugandan.

Dr. Brown, who has been in Uganda for over 10 years, said: "My decision has not been made on racial grounds or because of any pressure from any group inside or outside the Church."

"On the contrary, I know that very many wish to stay in Uganda and I am grateful for the kindness and friendship with which I have always been treated."

The way in which the Gospel was preached and taught and the organization of the Church must be adapted to the new age and new conditions. The interpretation and adjustment could only be done satisfactorily by people who fully share the way of thinking of those whom the Church was serving.

"This is why I believe the Uganda Church can best be led by a Ugandan," Dr. Brown said.

"I do not think it will be easier for a Ugandan to succeed me in a few years' time than it would be for me to succeed him in a few years' time."

Dr. Brown and his wife, Kathleen, and their two children, are leaving Kampala on their way to England. They will be accompanied by their two children, who are going to school in England.

WYOTT-BREAKING A CURE

Monday deadline on South African goods

Monday anybody in Kenya who deals commercially in South African goods will be prosecuted, the Minister for Commerce and Industry, Dr. Kioko, said yesterday.

In a speech read for him by his Assistant Minister, Gen. A. Mbatia, at the opening of a new connection business, Dr. Kioko said that in spite of the boycott of South African goods at independent Kenya—more than a year ago—items from South Africa keep turning up.

From Monday, the Government shall not accept the excuse that these South African items had been imported before the coming into force of the new trade regulations, he said. "Any trader who is found to be importing such items imported before that date should have been deported long ago."

"It has to be noted that the few businessmen who might not have been aware of these regulations might have been advised by their agents or brokers to import such items before the coming into force of the new trade regulations," he said.

STEPHEN TO THE RESCUE

By Susan Carroll
I'm sure you've heard the story of a boy named Stephen who was rescued from a tree. The story is a classic, and it's a story that has been told for centuries. Stephen was a young boy who was playing in a tree when he fell. He was stuck in the tree for several days, and he was in a very bad way. He was hungry, thirsty, and he was scared. But he was rescued by a man who was passing by. The man saw Stephen in the tree and he climbed up to get him. He was a very brave man, and he saved Stephen's life. Stephen was very grateful to the man, and he thanked him very much. The man was a very kind man, and he was a very brave man. Stephen was very lucky to be rescued, and he was very grateful to the man who saved him.

Why must we be pushed to extremes?

ANN MARSHALL makes a plea for tolerance to the over-keen salesman

I often wonder why we are so often pushed to extremes in our purchases. It is not that we are not intelligent enough to see through the salesmen's tactics, but that we are not strong enough to resist them. We are often pushed to extremes by the over-keen salesman who is determined to get his goods sold at any price. He will use every trick in the book to get us to buy, and we are often so tired and so tired that we do not know what we are doing. GIMMICKS SEEM TO BE FADING

The daily season is at least in the doldrums. The avalanche of the gowns which have suffocated women's fashions for about three years with frills is on the slide.

In Britain the first wave of smart season's styles carry a froth of "topping in Park Lane" effects.

The evening skirts appear to be on the ebb-tide and have given way to a more subtle design with draped pleats and tapered necklines are high without being frigid and the synthetic fibres are predominant.

ELEGANT WOMEN

Women are adopting a long-term attitude to the wardrobe, and the more today's fashions grow gimmicks tend to be fading.

Gloomy picture that events can disprove

By ERIC MARSSEN

ONLY A FEW WEEKS AGO Mr. Tolson's gloomy picture of the future of the country in his book, The Road Ahead, has been so often repeated that it has become a cliché.

Mr. Tolson's picture of the future of the country is a gloomy one. He sees a future of "darkness" and "confusion" for the United States. He predicts that the country will be "divided" and "disintegrated" into "two rival nations." He believes that the "American people" will be "betrayed" and "oppressed" by "unscrupulous" and "selfish" leaders. He thinks that the "future" of the country is "bleak" and "gloomy."

But Mr. Tolson's picture is a gloomy one. He sees a future of "darkness" and "confusion" for the United States. He predicts that the country will be "divided" and "disintegrated" into "two rival nations." He believes that the "American people" will be "betrayed" and "oppressed" by "unscrupulous" and "selfish" leaders. He thinks that the "future" of the country is "bleak" and "gloomy."

OUR FLAME LILY HOLIDAY WAS A HOLIDAY ALL THE WAY

The Victoria Falls was something we knew we had to see some day—and it surpassed our wildest imaginations. Kariba Dam; we'd read lots about it but never realised what a breathtaking experience we had in store. The enormous Wankie Game Reserve was truly thrilling and Salisbury, with lots of lovely shops and restaurants and plenty of things to do, day and night, was tremendous fun. Do what we did—send to the Tourist Office, P.O. Box 2479, Nairobi, for the fascinating full colour folder on Flame Lily Holidays.

The success of a Wilson Speedster is shown in thorough testing at M.I.E.A.

AT speeds often approaching 200 m.p.h. the prototypes of some of the world's fastest cars will soon be hurtling down a straight level track in the quiet hills of England's most beautiful countryside. At the wheel will be highly skilled engineers alive to every minute reaction of the high-precision machines under their control, often working at night to safeguard the secrets of the prototype they drive.

Their job is to test the machine's speed, torque or power—before they reach the public. Their services are the backbone of the Motor Industry Research Association of Great Britain.

These needs will be reached by the new testing straight on M.I.E.A.'s proving ground in the quiet hills of the Cotswolds. Here, where the weather is consistently fine, they will be able to test the machine's performance in the most realistic conditions.

As every mother knows, there are certain food supplements that all babies must have to help them grow strong and healthy. Many do not realize, however, that the Vitamin C that appears in fruit juice is not enough by itself. Every baby must have Vitamin D for growth and teeth. Doctors are almost always the number of babies who are getting Vitamin C supplements, and there have even been cases caused by lack of Vitamin D.

HORSE RACING FOR BEGINNERS

In the two previous articles in this series we covered the preliminaries to the race, including an explanation of the betting facilities. It is now opportune to consider the race itself and, particularly, what sort of race it is.

The process which constitutes the race begins at the start with the horses in the starting stalls. The jockey starts the race by pulling on the reins and the horses begin to run. The race is over when the horses cross the finish line. The winner is the horse which crosses the finish line first.
