Health and economics

The W.H.O. Regional Committee for Africa issued its second week of its conference in Nairobi with a critical analysis of the present status of health services as a factor in national economic development. This session was undoubtedly the peak point in the conference.

The developing countries of Africa were urged to learn to do without a doctor which was quick of the mark in this respect. They were urged to devise a greater proportion of their national efforts to the improvement of public health which had hitherto been attained. This was the "catch-up" of a valuable information for the result of research and practical experience towards the international improvement of the continent which includes malaria, leprosy, smallpox, poliomyelitis and yellow fever. It is emphasized that health workers are kept at bay by overpopulation, a lack of medicines, and a lack of training staff in current centres.

By using the abundant human resources, from the quality of man power which depends on the status of the health of its population, and the availability of unskilled health workers, as becomes even more responsible for indigenous doctors and nurses to leave their own countries for work elsewhere. There is a parallel to what is known as the "migration" of patients and medical students from one country to another. This is a parallel to what is known as the "migration" of patients and medical students from one country to another.

By using the abundant human resources, from the quality of man power which depends on the status of the health of its population, and the availability of unskilled health workers, as becomes even more responsible for indigenous doctors and nurses to leave their own countries for work elsewhere.

Yesterday's session heard that the health under-development of the continent aggravated by the fact that much of the little, available, skilled manpower flies away to industrially developed countries. This paralytic condition a kind of technological anoxia. The words, "on anoxia", might have been added to that sentence in the paper.

Recently, there has been wide criticism of delays and shortcomings in the treatment given to patients at various clinics, dispensaries, and hospitals in Kenya. Admittedly, there have also been tribulations and the fault seems to lie with the obstinate and experienced staff.

At this time there is progress with the Medical School and postgraduate training. The sudden expansion of the facilities required in towns and an even bigger and more complex problem in the remote areas, has demanded the engagement of very many ad-hoc doctors.

Poor health a bar to Africa's progress

Delegates to the W.H.O. Regional Committee for Africa conference in Nairobi were yesterday discussing "The Place of Public Health in the Economy of African Countries". This article was produced by the W.H.O. Regional Office for Africa to coincide with the discussions.

Poor health is undermining Africa's manpower resources by affecting the country's production and wealth. W.H.O. document points out that national economic life is being held back by the prevalence of communicable diseases and tuberculosis.

It is in this context that today health is being seen as an important element of national economic development and progress.

Cut in Nato forces 'would be harmful'

A reduction in Nato troop strength in Europe under present circumstances would be politically and militarily harmful, the alliance's Secretary-General, Mr. Manlio Brosio, told a news conference in Ottawa, Canada, on Monday night.

Mr. Brosio said he had met Prime Minister Trudeau, Canadian Foreign Minister Mitchell Sharp and the Deputy Secretary-General, Mr. Jean-Louis Bredin, who had assured him that NATO would continue to maintain a force under Nato command in Europe until such assistance as it might be required to open contacts with Communist bloc leaders and especially in the Balkans.

Mr. Brosio said he had agreed with the other alliance members on the importance of Nato and that he would not think Canada differed substantially from his view in upholding the importance of Nato.

Although Mr. Brosio gave no indication of what was discussed in detail, he said he had discussed the situation with the Canadian leader and mentioned the possibility of a meeting in Ottawa.

Mr. Brosio said he had also discussed the situation with the Secretary-General of the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) in Paris.

Czechoslovak crisis a serious blow to the Warsaw pact's prestige, the Secretary-General said.

Though this might be small if the balance of power in the world would not improve, Secretary-General Brosio said.

The Nato Ministerial meeting planned for December in Brussels may be postponed because of the situation in Czechoslovakia.

The question may be taken up during consultations held on the occasion of the General Assembly of the United Nations in New York.

Mr. Brosio said he had met with the Secretary-General of the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) in Paris.

3 GOOD REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD WEAR "SHIKIBO" SHIRTS

Quality stitching, superior tailoring, and outstanding durability are just a few of the good reasons why men should wear Shikibo shirts. Quality stitching of course assures easy care and wash-in neat advantages. Superior tailoring guarantees perfect fit and comfort. Outstanding durability keeps shirts in first-day shape even after long and constant wear. Add to these Shikibo's exclusive silky finish and the wide range to choose from and still more reasons why Shikibo shirts are the "number one" choice across the country.

Clashes arouse fears of 'autumn revolution'

By STEPHEN SOMMERVILLE Paris

Fresh brushes between students and the authorities in Paris have revived heated arguments of France's 'May Revolution', arousing fears that its violence may be repeated this Autumn. Family lines of data show public forces have made their appearance in the Latin Quarter, a district of Paris, in a bid to organize a boycott of the universities. Police officers, some officially equipped with tear gas and other armaments, were used to clear the streets.

The trouble has been limited to Paris, but the authorities in other cities are on edge. The situation of the troops and movements on both sides.

Cheats - no action

The Education Minister, Mr. Edgar Faure, architect of promised university reforms, announced there would be no more use of police or the punitive police monitors to supervise examinations. He said no action would be taken against students who deliberately cheated in order to sabotage the tests.

These liberal concessions were coupled, however, with a warning that offences would be noted and punished. Students fail to take their exams might not be allowed to continue their studies. Mr. Faure also announced a series of epoch-making educational reforms.

Too liberal

The Prime Minister, M. Guy Mollet, said that the 'May Revolution' was a 'wild and crazy' affair, but that it was necessary to be tolerant in different members of the Cabinet. Mr. Faure's reforms had aroused strong opposition. Some fellow Ministers, who were not in favour of the reforms, were also present. The students' movement is receiving the support of the Government, but it is not clear whether their protest movement in the Spring of 1957 is the same as the one of 1954.

The workers get their pay increases and now they are determined they will not let their reforms or take their grievances into the streets again after the new university year begins in November. — Reuters

Table Manners: Everyone doesn't need the sort of table manners we mention below. But a knowledge of table etiquette is always useful, here or abroad. See how you score from the questions below.

	A	B	C
When you dine out with friends, do you:	Wait for the ladies to sit down.	Go and spend a penny.	Sit down first wherever you fancy.
Do you put the table napkins:	Between your lap.	Around your neck.	On do you throw on it.
If you don't know which piece of cutlery to use do you:	Watch others.	Ask your neighbour.	Carry on as though you're the only one who is correct.
When having soup, do you:	Sip it carefully using the round spoon.	Drizzle your roll in it.	Pick up the soup plate and drink the soup.
When the courses are being served, do you:	Wait for the others at your table to get the rag.	Tuck into all the rolls & butter.	Just dig in and enjoy yourself.
When you have a roll and butter, do you:	Break it with your fingers and butter it as you eat it.	Cut it into slices.	Just chew the roll.
When the wine appears and no one is drinking it, do you:	Wait for the host to serve it.	Pass the bottle around.	Pour yourself a drink.
When the main course is finished and you get the leg do you:	Pick up the leg with your fingers and a napkin.	Use a knife and fork on it.	Put it in a napkin & take it home with you.
When your host has served a very fine wine, do you:	Express your appreciation.	Just knock it back.	Say it and say you don't really like wine.
When the chef has proudly served his speciality, do you:	Enjoy it as it is.	Demand baked beans with it.	Cover it with Tomato & Ketchup.
When you're in good company, and you order a beer, do you:	Ask for a City.	Just ask for a beer.	Ask for a beer brand.

How to score! To start with, call for a City Lager and see what good taste really means. Then mark the answers. If you agree with the answer in A column, you get 2 marks. B counts for 1 mark. C gets no mark. Then add up. 22 marks means you're a City man of good taste. 12 or over means you're average. If you get less than 9 marks you'd better have another City fast! Better still, two!

NEWS FROM THE PROVINCES

Mandera soon to have £10,000 hospital

The North-Eastern Province will soon have a new £10,000 hospital building at Mandera according to a report issued by the Provincial Medical Officer for the Area, Dr. J.R. Bowers. He said in the report that suggestions are afoot for the extension of all hospitals and staff quarters. A building is also to be put up for the necessary equipment that is already being received.

The report added that there are now a 12-bedded clinic and a mothers' home for the area. A national centre for the large number of Somali nomads who have been flocking to Mandera in the past few months has also been established in the town. It operates and plans to continue to do so in the future.

The report also said that the Medical Development Department has managed to pump water a distance of three miles from the River Juba to a school, a health centre and the people of Marjan Village and Gariin District.

A supply of pure water is still a continuing problem at Mandera according to the Provincial Commissioner for the area, Mr. M. Mahabu. He has arranged for the District Health Officer, Mr. Mahabu, to send a party of 10 men to inspect the water supply in the area. Mr. Mahabu said in his report that during the month 1,000 people were vaccinated against polio and 100 children under five years were vaccinated against measles. Mr. Mahabu's wife will visit Mandera and the Mandera and Marjan Water Works will visit Mandera to the public. He added that 100,000 standard tin cans were used for vaccination and 100,000 tin can lids were used for vaccination.

The Minister for Natural Resources and the Provincial Commissioner for the Eastern Province, Mr. M. Mahabu, visited Mandera and the District Health Officer, Mr. Mahabu, to inspect the water supply in the area. He was addressing a group of meetings during a visit to Mandera. Mr. Mahabu said the suggestions for the extension of all hospitals and staff quarters are afoot for the extension of all hospitals and staff quarters. A building is also to be put up for the necessary equipment that is already being received.

The Provincial Commissioner, Mr. M. Mahabu, had earlier called on the District Health Officer, Mr. Mahabu, and advised him that the Provincial Commissioner would be visiting Mandera during his tour of duty.

Mr. Mahabu said he was pleased to hear that the people of the area had received his call for plans to improve the water supply in the area. He said that the Provincial Commissioner would be visiting Mandera during his tour of duty.

Steeplechase facing danger of extinction

By Michael Collier

THEY HAVE TO BE KEPT alive, says the author of the book 'The Steeplechase' (Eds) as a further in the way. There is a danger of the upward trend of the sport and steeplechase will be a thing of the past. The author, Michael Collier, says that the sport is in a state of decline and that it is facing a serious threat of extinction. He points out that the number of steeplechasers has fallen from 100 in 1950 to 10 in 1970. He also notes that the sport is becoming increasingly unpopular with the general public and that it is being replaced by other forms of horse racing.

ZAMBIAN TOURISTS LOSE IN SCOTLAND

A group of Zambian tourists who were on a holiday in Scotland have been forced to leave the country because of a severe weather storm. The tourists were caught in a heavy rain and strong winds which made it impossible for them to continue their journey. They were stranded in a small town and had to wait for several days before they could be rescued. The weather was so bad that the roads were flooded and the power was cut off. The tourists were very lucky to be rescued and are now back in Zambia.

Dixon Were plays with white hot fire every day.

And keeps cool with vitrea, rhodina and alvania.

There's more to making cement than you'd think. Ask Dixon Were. He's training to be a kiln supervisor. That workaholic tells him everything's okay at all stages of production. If something's wrong, he's in trouble. Fortunately, he can rely on Shell for assistance. And he needs it with a 300 foot kiln to supervise, generating a temperature of about 1800°C.

The kiln burns about 40 tons of Shell Fatigue Oil a day in firing the wet slurry. To keep their heels burning, Dixon relies on Shell lubricants. At one end of the kiln, the hotness-baked, self-adhesive Castrols Compound F is used while Sipsil Vires Oil lubricates and cools the giant bearings which support the load at high temperatures.

Tragi-comedy of the 'Free Welsh'

The latest bomb outrage in Wales, which seriously injured an R.M.I. warrant officer, has once again presented the police with the mystery which is never possible: JOHN LEWIS has been found to be nothing to do with the most respectable organisations of the Welsh Nationalists.

It is a pity that Special Branch officers, who are usually so good at their jobs, have not been able to identify the Welsh Nationalist who was the author of the bomb which was exploded in the street in Cardiff. ### Letters to the Editor

Unrealistic arguments against devaluation

Your correspondent, Z. G. Kamal, asks a arguments pointing devaluation as the only solution to our economic problems. In the academic and textbook world, it is often argued that devaluation is a necessary step to improve the balance of payments. However, in the real world, the situation is far more complex.

Devaluation is not something to be undertaken lightly. It has a wide range of implications for the economy and the standard of living. It can lead to inflation, unemployment, and a loss of confidence in the currency.

The arguments in favour of devaluation are often unrealistic. They fail to take into account the long-term effects of such a policy. It is essential to consider the needs of the people and the stability of the economy before making any such decision.

Marriage questions

Much has been said and written regarding birth control. The question is, why do we need it and how do we use it? It is a complex issue that involves social, economic, and personal factors.

Birth control is a means of preventing pregnancy. It is important for individuals to understand their options and make informed decisions. There are various methods available, each with its own advantages and disadvantages.

The decision to use birth control should be based on a variety of factors, including personal health, family size, and financial resources. It is essential to consult with a healthcare professional for advice.

Safari start in Nairobi

Plain before the competitors, who know the difficulties and have the knowledge to overcome them. A safari is a unique experience that offers a chance to see the wonders of the natural world.

Safaris are popular for their educational and recreational value. They provide a chance to learn about the environment and the animals that inhabit it. It is a chance to see the world from a different perspective.

When planning a safari, it is important to choose a reputable operator and to prepare properly. This includes packing the right gear and understanding the local customs and regulations.

Horiculture

Although we cannot offer the complete service of the writer, we can provide information on horticulture. Horticulture is the art and science of growing plants, including fruits, vegetables, and ornamentals.

Horticulture is a diverse field that encompasses many different areas. It includes the study of plant growth, development, and reproduction. It also involves the practical aspects of growing and maintaining plants.

There are many opportunities in horticulture, from working in a nursery to conducting research in a university. It is a field that offers a chance to work with nature and to make a positive impact on the world.

Road accidents and violent crime

Much has been said and written about road accidents and violent crime. These are serious issues that affect the lives of many people. It is essential to understand the causes and to find ways to prevent them.

Road accidents are a leading cause of death and injury. They are often preventable, but they can be devastating. It is important to take steps to reduce the risk of accidents, such as wearing seat belts and driving safely.

Violent crime is another serious problem. It is a threat to the safety and well-being of communities. It is essential to understand the factors that contribute to violent crime and to find ways to address them.

Swaziland will not back sanctions against S.A.

The Prime Minister of Swaziland, Prince Makhosini, today said his country would not back the United Nations General Assembly resolution which calls for economic sanctions against South Africa.

Prince Makhosini said that the Government would not support the idea of economic sanctions against South Africa and Portugal, a policy which is supported by the United Nations Security Council.

These neighbouring countries, they would adversely affect our economic development," he said.

Prince Makhosini, however, did not say whether Swaziland would support the United Nations General Assembly resolution which calls for economic sanctions against South Africa and Portugal, a policy which is supported by the United Nations Security Council.

Middle East showed the danger of prolonged maintenance of an armistice which in turn generated from dangers for humanity," he said.

But he did not mention recent events in Czechoslovakia.

The need for States to respect the sovereignty of other States is familiar to those of statements to the Security Council by other members in recent years, reported the Foreign Minister's address.

U Thant told to 'shut mouth' on Vietnam

The Secretary-General of the United Nations, U Thant, has been told to 'shut his mouth' on Vietnam, according to a source in the United Nations Secretariat.

The source said that the United States has been pressuring U Thant to stop commenting on the Vietnam situation, particularly regarding the recent military operations in the North.

U Thant has been seen in the past as a mediator between the North and South Vietnamese, but his role has become increasingly difficult as the conflict deepens.

The source also mentioned that the United States has been expressing its dissatisfaction with U Thant's perceived bias towards the North Vietnamese.

U.S. Grounds Fighters After CRASH No. II

The United States Air Force is conducting a search for a crashed C-130 Hercules transport aircraft in the North Vietnamese jungle.

The aircraft was reported to have crashed during a mission to deliver supplies to friendly forces in the region.

The search operation is being led by a team of American and South Vietnamese personnel. The location of the crash site is believed to be in a remote area of the North Vietnamese highlands.

Call for free elections

A group of progressive South African politicians is calling for free and fair elections in the country.

The group argues that the current political system is undemocratic and that the people should have a say in their own future.

The group also expressed concern over the role of the military in South African politics and called for a return to civilian rule.

DISEASE CAN GO IF £4,166 IS FOUND

A Swaziland official has announced that a £4,166 grant has been received from the United Nations to fund a disease control program.

The grant will be used to purchase medical supplies and train health workers in rural areas of the country.

The program aims to reduce the incidence of malaria and other tropical diseases, which are major health concerns in Swaziland.

The official expressed gratitude for the international support and said that the grant would significantly improve the country's healthcare system.

Temu answers Clarke — with faster 5,000

Standard Staff Reporter
Natali Temu, Kenya's hope for a medal in the 1500m metres in the Olympic Games in Mexico City next month, yesterday answered his main rival, Clarke, in a 5,000 metres trial run at 8,000 feet above sea level at the H.A. high-altitude training camp at Thomson's Falls.

Clarke, the day before, ran time trial on the Olympic Games Village training track in Mexico City over 5000 metres in 16min 21.6sec. But Temu, running nearly 700 feet higher and also without opposition, ran a time 16min 20.0sec, faster than the Australian.

Encouraging report lifts power company shares

The highly diversified and successful activities of the newly formed East African Power and Lighting Co. Ltd. are set to be the highest since independence and fully justified in the light of the interim statement reporting a seven per cent increase in sales and the expectation that profits would exceed those of last year when after tax profits were Shs. 1,240.

There has been steady buying of the shares in London and on the Nairobi Stock Exchange. The officials, who crossed the border from the low point of a low in February, were at the highest point at which they have ever been contacted in 1963.

Public affairs reports are encouraging news. The Director, Mr. M. K. Njiru, has been invited to move from the Kenya Avenue office to his new office in the Industrial Estate, Nairobi.

Profits for the first half-year after tax are up by nearly 40 per cent on the equivalent period of last year. The after tax profit of Shs. 1,240 is a 7 per cent increase on the equivalent period of last year.

Such a result would justify an increase in the present 12 1/2 per cent dividend. The company is now carrying forward Shs. 100,000 and is expected to carry forward Shs. 1,500,000.

The company has been engaged in developing the Industrial Hill and for the construction of the road has been back to many delays. A recent occupancy

My Standard Business Correspondent

The fact that the company's activities have been profitable with investment opportunities in the overseas market next year is the most encouraging news yet to be received.

It is disappointing to find after a margin dividend of 10 per cent in 1962, that the company has not increased its dividend to 12 1/2 per cent. The net profit of Shs. 1,240 is a 7 per cent increase on the equivalent period of last year.

U.S. Senate asked to restore cuts in aid

The House today passed a bill to restore cuts in aid to the Soviet Union. The bill, which was introduced by Representative Charles McNamara of California, provides for the restoration of aid to the Soviet Union to the level of aid that was in effect before the cuts were made.

The bill also provides for the restoration of aid to the Soviet Union to the level of aid that was in effect before the cuts were made.

U.S. envoy quits to help Mr. Humphrey

Guerillas 'could light Middle East oil barrel'

The U.S. ambassador to the Soviet Union, Robert Murphy, has resigned his post. Murphy's resignation is believed to be related to his support of Senator Hubert H. Humphrey in the recent presidential election.

The resignation of Murphy is a significant event in U.S.-Soviet relations. It is believed that Murphy's resignation is a result of his support of Senator Humphrey, who is a strong supporter of the Soviet Union.

The article discusses the potential impact of guerillas in the Middle East on oil production. It states that guerillas could potentially disrupt oil production in the region, which would have a significant impact on the global oil market.

The article also discusses the potential impact of guerillas in the Middle East on oil production. It states that guerillas could potentially disrupt oil production in the region, which would have a significant impact on the global oil market.

Sacrifice ahead says Mr. Smith

Senator James O. Eastland has said that a sacrifice is ahead. He stated that the United States is facing a difficult situation and that a sacrifice will be required to overcome the challenges that are ahead.

Senator Eastland's statement is a warning to the United States government that it must be prepared to make sacrifices in order to overcome the challenges that are ahead.

High quality films expected on Kenya screens soon

High quality films from the United States can be expected to flock in Kenya in the next few weeks, after successful talks between the Kenya Film Corporation and the Motion Picture Export Association of America, the latter's chairman, Mr. Gault, said yesterday.

Three-way effort for progress

Standard Staff Reporter

Three-way talks between the Kenya Film Corporation, the Motion Picture Export Association of America and the Kenya Film Corporation yesterday resulted in a preliminary agreement that high quality American films will be shown in Kenya in the next few weeks.

The agreement was reached after a meeting between Mr. Gault, chairman of the M.P.E.A., and Mr. M. K. Mwangi, chairman of the Kenya Film Corporation, and a representative of the Kenya Film Corporation.

The agreement provides for the Kenya Film Corporation to purchase rights to show American films in Kenya. The M.P.E.A. will provide the films and the Kenya Film Corporation will handle the distribution.

This agreement is expected to result in a significant increase in the number of high quality films shown in Kenya.

Effort wasted in past on creation of privilege

Standard Staff Reporter

Effort wasted in the past on the creation of a privilege for the Kenya Film Corporation to show American films in Kenya, it was said yesterday.

The Kenya Film Corporation chairman, Mr. M. K. Mwangi, said that the corporation had spent a large sum of money in the past to create a privilege for itself to show American films in Kenya.

However, the agreement reached yesterday with the Motion Picture Export Association of America will result in the corporation purchasing rights to show American films in Kenya, rather than creating a privilege for itself.

Mr. Mwangi said that this agreement was a significant step forward for the corporation and for the film industry in Kenya.

School jobs to be done by pupils

Standard Staff Reporter

School jobs to be done by pupils, it was said yesterday.

The Kenya Education Officer, Mr. J. M. Mwangi, said that the government was planning to introduce a system where pupils would be responsible for doing their own school jobs.

This system would involve pupils taking responsibility for tasks such as cleaning, maintenance, and other school duties.

Mr. Mwangi said that this system would help to instill a sense of responsibility and self-reliance in pupils.

Something wrong with Kakamega—Minister

Standard Staff Reporter

Something was wrong with Kakamega, it was said yesterday by the Minister for Lands, Mr. M. K. Mwangi.

Mr. Mwangi said that there were problems with the land situation in Kakamega, particularly with the allocation of land to settlers.

He said that the government was planning to take steps to address these problems and to ensure that land was allocated fairly and equitably.

Czech exhibit for show

Standard Staff Reporter

A Czech exhibit for show, it was said yesterday.

The exhibit, which is part of a larger exhibition, will be held at the National Museum in Nairobi.

The exhibit will showcase various aspects of Czech culture, including art, science, and industry.

It is expected to attract a large number of visitors and to provide a valuable insight into Czech society and culture.

Servant 'refused to carry dead policeman'

Standard Staff Reporter

Servant 'refused to carry dead policeman', it was said yesterday.

The incident occurred in Nairobi, where a policeman was killed and his body was found in a street.

A servant who was called upon to carry the body refused to do so, claiming that he was a Christian and did not believe in carrying a dead body.

The incident has caused a stir in the community and has raised questions about the treatment of the dead.

Three die, nine hurt as bus overturns

Standard Staff Reporter

Three die, nine hurt as bus overturns, it was said yesterday.

The accident occurred on a road near Nairobi, where a bus carrying passengers overturned.

Three people were killed and nine were injured in the accident.

The bus was carrying a large number of passengers and was overloaded.

The accident has caused a major disruption to traffic on the road and has raised questions about road safety.

New fish research ship will help boost Lake's output

Standard Staff Reporter

New fish research ship will help boost Lake's output, it was said yesterday.

The new ship, which is being built in Kenya, will be used for research on the Lake Victoria fishery.

The ship will be equipped with modern scientific equipment and will be crewed by Kenyan staff.

The research is expected to result in a significant increase in the output of the Lake Victoria fishery.

Preacher in custody

Standard Staff Reporter

Preacher in custody, it was said yesterday.

The preacher, who was arrested on charges of sedition, is currently in custody.

The charges relate to a sermon he preached in which he was alleged to have made defamatory statements about the government.

The preacher has been held in custody since his arrest and is expected to face trial in the near future.

Trade commission for Africa urged

APPEAL TO F.A.O.

Standard Staff Reporter

A trade commission for Africa is urged, it was said yesterday.

The United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization (F.A.O.) has called for the establishment of a trade commission for Africa to help to promote trade and economic development in the continent.

The F.A.O. said that such a commission would help to coordinate trade policy and to negotiate trade agreements on behalf of African countries.

The commission would also be responsible for providing technical assistance and training to African countries in the area of trade and commerce.

ISRAEL IN KENYA

Message from the ambassador, Mr. Zev Leyin

On the occasion of Israel's participation in the 1966 Agricultural Show of Kenya, it gives the great pleasure to convey a message of greetings and best wishes.

An exhibition of the show is, in a way, a window through which one can look at a different country. And, indeed, the Israel Pavilion at this year's show is a reflection of Israel in miniature, where the achievements of industry, agriculture and service are on display.

Yet, these exhibits are not meant to indicate achievements only. They are, first and foremost, an indication to the will of a country to succeed in an effort of a people united in a common aim, to wrestle a country out of the sands of underdevelopment and usher into a modern industrial era. In this struggle, Kenya and Israel are joined.

It is my sincere hope that Israel's continued participation in the Agricultural Show of Kenya will promote not only better trade between our two countries, but also better understanding between our two peoples.

Co-operation for all to see

Mr. Shlomo Perry
Economic Counsellor

by exporting and the flow of goods and services from Kenya to Israel. The trade relations between the two countries have been steadily increasing and are expected to continue to grow in the future. The trade agreements between the two countries have been signed and are being implemented.

An Israeli special Agent of the Ministry of Agriculture in Kenya, Mr. Zvi Givon, has been assigned to the country to assist in the development of agriculture. He will be working closely with the Kenyan authorities to improve the agricultural sector.

Kenya and Israel have signed a trade agreement which will allow for the exchange of goods and services. This agreement is a significant step towards closer economic ties between the two countries.

Kenya and Israel have also signed an agreement for the exchange of information and technical assistance. This will help both countries to improve their agricultural and industrial sectors.

Expertise in irrigation

Kenya has a long tradition of irrigation, and the need for modern irrigation systems is growing. Israel has extensive experience in irrigation technology and can provide the expertise and equipment needed to improve Kenya's agricultural sector.

Israel's irrigation systems are designed to be efficient and water-saving, which is crucial in a semi-arid climate like Kenya's. These systems can help increase crop yields and reduce the risk of crop failure due to drought.

By sharing their expertise, Israel can help Kenya develop a more sustainable and productive agricultural sector, which is essential for the country's economic growth.

Electronics in medicine

The medical profession is constantly evolving, and the use of electronics in medicine is becoming increasingly important. Israel has developed advanced electronic medical equipment that can improve patient care and diagnosis.

These electronic devices, such as X-ray machines, ultrasound, and diagnostic equipment, are essential for modern medical practice. Israel's expertise in electronics can help Kenya upgrade its medical facilities and provide better healthcare services.

By adopting Israeli electronic medical equipment, Kenya can benefit from the latest technological advancements in the medical field, leading to improved patient outcomes and more efficient medical procedures.

Pharmaceutical co-operation

Pharmaceutical co-operation between Israel and Kenya is essential for the development of the health sector. Israel has a strong pharmaceutical industry with advanced research and development capabilities.

By collaborating with Israeli pharmaceutical companies, Kenya can gain access to high-quality medicines and medical supplies. This co-operation can also help Kenya develop its own pharmaceutical industry and reduce its dependence on imports.

Israel's pharmaceutical expertise can be shared with Kenyan professionals, helping them improve their skills and knowledge in the field. This will ultimately lead to better healthcare services for the Kenyan population.

Co-operation for all to see

By the Trade Commissioner, Mr. Shlomo Perry

It is a fact that the Israeli approach to trade with Kenya is based on a long-term relationship. This approach is based on mutual respect and mutual benefit. It is not a one-way street. It is a two-way street. It is a street that leads to a common goal. It is a goal that is shared by both countries. It is a goal that is based on mutual respect and mutual benefit.

The new generation of Israeli exporters and importers is now making its mark. It is a mark that is based on mutual respect and mutual benefit. It is a mark that is shared by both countries. It is a mark that is based on mutual respect and mutual benefit.

Trade is the message of peace. It is a message that is shared by both countries. It is a message that is based on mutual respect and mutual benefit. It is a message that is shared by both countries. It is a message that is based on mutual respect and mutual benefit.

A young Israeli technician works on computer assembly

By exporting and the flow of goods in and from Israel, increasing more than 100 per cent, the interdependence of economic and trade relations between the two countries has become a fact of life. The trade volume between the two countries has increased by 100 per cent. This is a fact that is shared by both countries. It is a fact that is based on mutual respect and mutual benefit.

It is up to the Kenya tourist industry to lead the way. It is a way that is based on mutual respect and mutual benefit. It is a way that is shared by both countries. It is a way that is based on mutual respect and mutual benefit.

Pharmaceutical co-operation

Pharmaceuticals for human and veterinary use and growth stimulants produced by the Anon Chemical Laboratories are well known throughout both East and West Africa.

The firm's fine antibiotics, pharmaceuticals and chemical preparations, with more than 300 specialties, have been found and recommended by local government and military authorities and are widely used in government hospitals and in the private market throughout the continent.

Anon's success is due both to the high standards of its products and to the firm's policy of working through local subsidiary companies or through Israeli managers

Assisted by competent local technical staff.

In Nigeria and Ghana, Anon has its own local sales organization, while the pharmaceutical department of Diamond West Africa (now headed by Anon's Mr. Shuchal) is a resident manager.

Here, in the veterinary field, a number of products specially adapted to tropical climates have been introduced for the development of the poultry and dairy industries.

In cooperation with local scientists, Anon has established in Kisumu the Pharoos pharmacy.

At the beginning of this year Anon reported its own sales office for East Africa, with headquarters in Nairobi, staffed by two of its own experts, one for pharmaceuticals and the other for veterinary products.

Assisted by local staff, they have already had considerable success with Anon's 'Milkolac' milk substitute, the use of which has not only led to more rapid growth of the animals but has also freed them of milk for human consumption.

Anon's exports to Africa have been rising rapidly. Sales during the first six months of this year have already exceeded last year's total.

Story of an airline

The story of the Kenya Airways is a story of a man's vision and a nation's growth. It began in 1946 when the late Sir Robert Lytton, then Governor of Kenya, proposed the formation of a national airline. The idea was to provide a means of transport for the people of Kenya and to promote trade and commerce between Kenya and other parts of the world.

The Kenya Airways was established in 1947 and has since then grown into one of the largest airlines in Africa. It operates a fleet of modern aircraft and provides a wide range of services to its passengers. The airline has a long history of excellence and has been a major force in the development of Kenya's economy.

£2m. hotel ready soon

All present in Kenya there are 7,200 hotel beds, available in 1977 and by 1977 another 4,500 will be needed, the Permanent Secretary to the Ministry of Tourism and Wildlife, Mr. A. P. Acheng, said at the weekend.

Mr. Acheng was performing the appropriate ceremony of the new Hilton Hotel in Nairobi — before representatives of the Hilton chain and local dignitaries. The guests were raised high above Nairobi in a workman's hoist in groups of 11. Many commented on the breathtaking view.

Mr. Acheng had three attempts before he succeeded in launching a bottle of champagne on the roof-top. He said later: "I was put off by the hoist — I have heights!"

Miss Mwanza, first above after the photoed Mrs. Njiru, who says that she is a Nairobi girl.

The Achengs have the scene of a state of Nairobi in a photo of Kenyan film in a Kenyan scene of the (1) photo, by the way, Mrs. Njiru (2) chairman of the Women's Union, and her wife with the group at one of the events.

Colonialism is in general disrepute today so much so that it has become the strategic weapon of political leaders who level the charge of colonialism against their opponents and discredited.

Another interesting move for the African continent is the proposal by British authorities to set up a special commission to investigate the role of colonialism in the development of Africa. This move is being met with a mixture of interest and scepticism.

Mr. Tubman, who has been in office since 1966, was regarded as a free leader in Africa, but he has been accused of being an authoritarian ruler. He has often a high regard for the people of his country and has been a strong advocate of the National Conference as a means of achieving a new constitution for the country.

THE TRADING POSITION System of benefit to both sides

Germany and Kenya have in a system that both depend to a large extent on world trade, which provides them with their individual requirements and at the same time an outlet for their products.

They are fortunate to have sound trade relations through there is still much room for expansion of trade between them.

As the Federal Republic of Germany has made it known that the Kenyan export trade is not only being encouraged but also being actively assisted.

It is only those exports which would be of benefit to Germany which are being actively encouraged and these are not limited to the Kenyan export trade but also to the Kenyan import trade.

A lack of the German market which is the principal market for the Kenyan export trade is a serious matter for Kenya and the Kenyan export trade is being actively encouraged.

The Kenyan export trade is being actively encouraged and the Kenyan import trade is being actively encouraged.

The Kenyan export trade is being actively encouraged and the Kenyan import trade is being actively encouraged.

Largest buyer of Kenya coffee

Among the traditional coffee buyers of Kenya are the German banks, which have been active in the coffee market for many years.

A breakdown of the Kenyan export to Germany in the first quarter of the year 1963 shows that the total value of exports to Germany was 1.2 million marks, which is a 10 per cent increase over the same period of the previous year.

Most of this increase was due to the fact that the Kenyan export to Germany in the first quarter of the year 1963 was 1.2 million marks, which is a 10 per cent increase over the same period of the previous year.

Quality ensures good reputation

It is not difficult to see why a good reputation can be built up in a very short time, but it is not so easy to maintain it.

This loan is intended to help Kenya to finance its economic development and to improve its infrastructure.

The loan will be repaid over a period of 10 years and will be guaranteed by the German Government.

The German Government has announced that it will provide capital assistance to Kenya in the form of a loan of 100 million marks.

This loan is intended to help Kenya to finance its economic development and to improve its infrastructure.

The loan will be repaid over a period of 10 years and will be guaranteed by the German Government.

Germany and Kenya have in a system that both depend to a large extent on world trade, which provides them with their individual requirements and at the same time an outlet for their products.

They are fortunate to have sound trade relations through there is still much room for expansion of trade between them.

As the Federal Republic of Germany has made it known that the Kenyan export trade is not only being encouraged but also being actively assisted.

It is only those exports which would be of benefit to Germany which are being actively encouraged and these are not limited to the Kenyan export trade but also to the Kenyan import trade.

A lack of the German market which is the principal market for the Kenyan export trade is a serious matter for Kenya and the Kenyan export trade is being actively encouraged.

The Kenyan export trade is being actively encouraged and the Kenyan import trade is being actively encouraged.

The Kenyan export trade is being actively encouraged and the Kenyan import trade is being actively encouraged.

The agony of division

"No People Shot in Flight," "No one at the Berlin Wall," "No one Thrown in the Street." These are the kind of headlines which the people of the Federal Republic of Germany, including West Berlin, have had to accompany themselves during the past few years.

On August 13, 1961, the German Republic announced a "closure" of its capital, and with it the "closure" of the West Berlin. The "closure" was a challenge to the Western countries, and it was a challenge to the people of West Berlin.

The Soviet side, Moscow did not even bother to issue an address. The Potsdam conference did indeed propose the closing of Germany, but the Soviet Union carried on with its policy of preventing the world with economic aid.

As soon as hundreds of thousands of refugees made their way to the West, the Soviet Union began in 1946 to close the demarcation line from time to time temporarily. On May 27, 1952, it was finally closed completely.

It was done according to the agreement of the Potsdam conference, the state of farmers and workers from agents, spies and agents from the West.

Economic policy—freedom and planning

By the Minister for Economic Affairs, Herr Schröder

The German Government has decided to pursue a policy of freedom and planning in its economic policy. This policy is based on the following principles:

1. Freedom of enterprise and initiative.

2. Freedom of competition.

3. Freedom of movement of labour and capital.

4. Freedom of international trade.

5. Freedom of international financial relations.

6. Freedom of international scientific and technical cooperation.

7. Freedom of international cultural relations.

8. Freedom of international information relations.

9. Freedom of international sports relations.

10. Freedom of international relations in general.

Realisation of this policy will be achieved by the following measures:

1. The abolition of the price controls which have been in force since the Second World War.

2. The abolition of the exchange rate controls which have been in force since the Second World War.

3. The abolition of the foreign exchange controls which have been in force since the Second World War.

One of the Big things about a VW 1200

Lowest price of any other car of its class and size. And that's not all. Not by a long chalk. You get a lot of extras you don't pay extra for. Like the famous everlasting Volkswagen finish and reliability. Big wheels, more tyre mileage. Up to 35 miles to the gallon of regular petrol. A long-life, low-rpm, low stress, air-cooled engine in the rear. No water worries. Thoroughly proven safari successes. And the unusual advantage of an immediate sale cash return.

And like all other Beetles, it has fully independent suspension, a solid steel chassis, safety collapsible steering column. And then there's the solid, 20 year old VW engine, 90 hp, 95 VW Service Workshops and approved VW mechanics backing you with Spas. Africa — spares available in Best Africa. Your trade-in terms and the purchase price are competitive. You don't need to think it over. You can't go wrong. Get with it, get Volkswagen.

VACCINATION DRIVE OVER

Mr. Ngei is Kanu Machakos chairman
Standard Staff Reporter
KANU has elected Mr. Ngei as its chairman for Machakos County. The election took place at a meeting held at the county headquarters in Machakos on Saturday. Mr. Ngei, who is a member of the county executive committee, was elected by a large majority. He will be responsible for leading the county's campaign for the 1977 general elections.

Busy weekend in Nakuru for Minister
Standard Staff Reporter
The Minister for Lands, Housing and Survey, Mr. M. M. Mwangi, spent a busy weekend in Nakuru. He arrived on Friday evening and held a series of meetings with local officials and members of the public. He also visited several projects in the area, including a housing scheme and a water supply project. The Minister is expected to leave Nakuru on Sunday morning.

M.P. injured
Standard Staff Reporter
KANU
A Member of Parliament (M.P.) was injured during a public meeting in Nakuru on Saturday. The M.P., who was speaking at a public meeting, fell from a podium and sustained a head injury. He was taken to a nearby hospital and is expected to recover. The meeting was held in support of the county executive committee.

Court to rule in college dispute
Standard Staff Reporter
KANU
A court is expected to rule on a long-standing dispute between two colleges in Nakuru. The dispute concerns the ownership of a piece of land on which both colleges claim to have a right. The case has been ongoing for several years and has caused a great deal of controversy in the area. The court's decision is expected to be final.

VACCINATION DRIVE OVER
Standard Staff Reporter
KANU
A vaccination drive in Nakuru has come to an end. The drive, which was organized by the health department, was successful in vaccinating a large number of children against measles. The health officials are pleased with the results and hope that the incidence of measles will be reduced. The drive was held over a period of several days and was well attended by the community.

OLYMPIC GAMES

Kenyans have high hopes of upsets

Standard Staff Reporter

Nairobi, Kenya, September 29.—Kenya athletes are confident of making a big impression at the Tokyo 1968 Olympic Games. They believe that a number of their men will be able to upset the favorites from the United States and the Soviet Union.

Opening of new racing circuit

Standard Staff Reporter

The opening of a new racing circuit at the national Nairobi Motor Club's first meeting yesterday. The event was a significant milestone for the club, and it attracted a large number of spectators. The race was held on a newly constructed track, and it was a success for all involved.

The new circuit was designed to provide a challenging and exciting racing experience for all participants. It features a mix of straightaways and curves, and it is well-maintained to ensure the safety of the drivers and spectators. The club is committed to providing the highest quality of racing facilities and services to its members and guests.

The opening ceremony was held in a grand and festive atmosphere, with many guests in attendance. The club's management and staff worked hard to ensure that the event was a memorable one for everyone. The new circuit is expected to become a popular destination for racing enthusiasts in the region.
