KABAKA REBUKES RIOTERS, CALLS FOR UNITED EFFORT

"Standard" Kampala Correspondent

Intimidation of witnesses who had informed against people concerned in the Uganda riots in April is mentioned by the Kabaka of Buganda in a proclamation he has issued.

The Kabaka calls for united effort to build the new Buganda. He reprimanded those who refused to go to the country, saying: "I am surprised to hear that some people have, because of intimidation by the rioters, refused to go to the country on the evidence they originally presented."

"You are disloyal." To those who surrender to intimidation and keep silent as to what they know of the rioting, the Kabaka said: "You are disloyal to your country and to your people."

Every individual who conceals information as to the course of the rioting as well as the enemy of Buganda. "Every person who remembers that it is the duty of a citizen to report any crime which he witnesses should be encouraged to do so."

Every person who remembers that it is the duty of a citizen to report any crime which he witnesses should be encouraged to do so. People's property was stolen and harmed, and the rioters were disloyal to their king and to their country.

Like Communists. He said that the rioters had not only killed but also had injured the property of those who were not involved in the rioting.

These people are not only the cause of the rioting but also the cause of the loss of life and property. The rioters were not only disloyal to their king but also to their country.

1900 Agreement. Referring to the agreement at the Luber on April 23, 1900, the Kabaka said that although he had signed it, he had not read it.

The agreement was not read to him. He said that he had never seen it and that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never seen it and that he had never heard of it.

NAKURU CANDIDATE CALLS TOWN MOST UNATTRACTIVE

"Standard" Nakuru Correspondent

Describing Nakuru in the present state as "the most unattractive town" he had seen in any part of the world except the backwoods of America.

Mr. Norman Hardy, one of the three candidates for the Municipal Council at a meeting of the Nakuru Township Association, said: "I am not a very clean person."

These were some of the things he said he had noticed on a recent visit to the streets. He said that he had seen a dead rat in the middle of the road and that he had seen a dead pig in the gutter.

IMPORTANCE OF TOSS IN CRICKET ARE THE PRESENT TESTS?

Bowlers to meet Australians needed

THE New Zealanders, one of the most popular tourists in Australia, have proved their ability to play bright and enterprising cricket—in the test matches—more so than any other side. But there are some who regard the Test series more as a friendly spectator than as an annual preparation for the forthcoming M.C.C. tour of Australia.

Prior to the first Test at Leeds, W. H. Mellings wrote in the Evening Standard on this subject. His views are given below.

In the coming series with Australia, the New Zealanders will provide an interesting test against the Australians. The New Zealanders are a very good side and are well equipped to play bright and enterprising cricket.

INDUSTRIAL ERA 3. STATE CONTROL

From a Correspondent
INDUSTRIAL development—based on the principles of the Industrial Revolution—has been the mainstay of the modern world.

The single unit

It is clear also that none of the African Governments can afford to initiate large scale industrial development in its own territory without the co-operation of the other African States.

Quality and capacity

The question of the educational level of the African people is one of the most important factors in the development of the continent.

'Cut out the politics' says Archdeacon

It is necessary to cut out the politics from the African continent if the continent is to develop as a single unit.

The gift of teaching

The difficulty of teaching in Africa is not only that the African people are not used to the idea of a school, but also that the African people are not used to the idea of a teacher.

CEDAR NOT AN ECONOMIC WOOD FOR BUILDING

Cedar is not an economic wood for building purposes, and it is not a suitable material for building purposes.

A directing policy

The Government of Kenya is now directing a policy of industrial development in the country.

Three criticisms

Criticism was voiced on three points in connection with the Forest Department's proposal to plant eucalyptus trees.

Soft-woods better

Soft-woods are better than eucalyptus for building purposes, and they are also better for building purposes.

Have you a baby problem?

How and when to commence mixed feeding

THE main reason for introducing solid food into an infant's diet is to reduce his intake of the foods besides milk. If the training is left until the baby is over eight months old he may object very strongly and refuse to take any solid food or drink from a cup.

This combined with feeding, can make the weaning period very difficult and worrying, and may cause the baby to lose weight, and become fretful and an "unsatisfactory" baby.

To prevent these troubles—because prevention is always preferable to trying to stop bad habits already established—the new start giving additions to the breast or bottle is three months of age, when the infant is so young to accept persianly, gradually introducing new foods, and increasing the quantity as the baby grows up. Weaning difficulties and baby goes right ahead on the goal of the first birthday when he becomes a "toddler," and takes three meals a day in addition to his milk.

Some babies get a reliable supply of fruit vegetables and fruit or far as when travelling, and small amounts of tinned homogenized foods are most useful, and small babies, when well, and sometimes before they are one year of age, may prefer a variety of flavour, and they are, of course, more expensive than the home one prepared oneself.

The guiding rule for introducing solids into the diet are as follows: All three months of age start perianly—2 teaspoons of porridge, rice, gruel, or cooked apple or apricot or lettuce pulp, daily immediately before the next feed.

Four months of age—2 to 3 teaspoons of apple, also banana, watermelon or cabbage pulp may be used.

Five months of age—1 to 2 teaspoons of fruit or vegetable pulp. If rice, sweet banana may be introduced, commencing with 1 teaspoon of fruit with a 1/2 teaspoon of rice.

Six months of age—1 to 2 teaspoons of apple, also banana, watermelon or cabbage pulp, mixed with rice.

HEAVY SILKS FOR DINNER GOWNS

By VICTORIA CHAPPELLE

THE silhouettes and general lines of informal evening gowns in London today vary according to the taste of individual designers.

For a dressmaker like Charles Creed the flowing lines which were the mark of Bianca Monck's gowns interesting are an impossibility; the most popular dress of the moment is a short, tight-fitting, and often a little more than knee length. It is always boned with the heavy fish tulle which are common, establishing themselves after long months of being discarded as out-of-date. It is not, however, as simple as it seems. He then joined the Diaghilev Ballet for the famous production of "The Sleeping Beauty" at the Alhambra Theatre, appearing as a mouse amongst the other corps de ballet. On June 26, 1932, he made his debut at the Albert Hall as Anton Dolin, where his first dances in new famous solo "Diana to the Sun". On January 1934, he danced the role of Diaghilev and "Chloe" at premier danseur. He then joined the Diaghilev Ballet, with Leon Kusher. Later that year, in the winter, came his sensational debut in "The Blue Bird" at the London Coliseum.

From 1934 to 1939, when Diaghilev died, he appeared not only with the Russian Ballet but also with the Ballets Russes, the Ballet of the Bolshoi and the Ballet of the Mariinsky. Later, both sides were in England, both with the great English ballerina, Anton Dolin, who was the youngest member ever to have been accepted in this famous organization.

He danced the leading role in "La Chatte" an enormous sensation, and in 1932, succeeded with the Diaghilev Ballet, for that last season at Covent Garden, dancing the famous Bluebird solo, a duet with her present partner, Anton Dolin.

Markova was the first permanent ballerina of the Vic-Wells Ballet and undoubtedly did more than anyone else at that time to enhance the great popularity and prestige at this famous company. The "Blue Bird" in his entirety was specially reserved for her. She was the first English ballerina who ever danced the roles of "Spartacus", "The Blue Bird", "Fascia" and "Les Ballets Russes".

A chronicle from Scotland

"Straw" Emotions Crossed

The Duke and Duchess of Gloucester, since their arrival at the mansion of the General, have had what must have been the busiest working week of any man or woman in the Empire.

After their regular attendance at the meetings of the Assembly itself (with the Duchess following the same line and arguments of the churchmen as her husband) they have fulfilled a crowded programme of social and religious duties.

They have been present at the funeral of a child, for children we have had a number of, and at a number of other religious and social occasions. The Duke, of course, in a special case, was, of all those, the General's wife.

The highlight of the week, however, was attended last night by members of the Assembly and their wives, by leaders and representatives of every walk of life and every national tradition. Numbers to 600-700.

'Just war'

The question of the Church's attitude in the case of the Duke and Duchess was pointed out by the Duke, who said that he was not sure that he was not a little bit of a pacifist. He said that he was not sure that he was not a little bit of a pacifist. He said that he was not sure that he was not a little bit of a pacifist.

African has out-bred carrying capacity

THROUGH the courtesy of the Kenya Government I was asked to come back to Africa and write about that Crown Colony and its problems. On your face, you know what you like, said the Governor. Then he added: "I imagine you will write in the paper about many things. I have taken him at his word, says Negley, Farnon writing in the Herald Courier and Guardian.

In four months of some of the most intensive travel I have ever experienced. From the coasts on the shores of Victoria Nymanza, to tea and coffee with the Sultan of Zanzibar, on an exhilarating safari on the great game plains which border Tanganyika to an even more interesting and much longer safari through the Somali desert well beyond the frontiers of Abyssinia, I was given the opportunities to see Kenya, and some of the problems common to all of East and Central Africa.

Why American productivity is highest

FUTURE OF WESTERN UNION

Political and economic cooperation must be immediate goal

IN 1946 the productivity of labour in industry for Europe as a whole was about one-fourth that of the United States and in agriculture it was about one-sixth. This is reported in the annual survey of Western European economy prepared by the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe.

The survey finds this condition grew not because the United States has superior natural resources, but because of the higher standards in capital equipment and use of more efficient machinery and methods.

Although the rate of capital formation in both Eastern and Western Europe was appreciably higher in 1956 than in 1947, the survey reports that the achievements are still substantial improvements in productivity. It is estimated that the rate of productivity limiting the rate of industrial growth in Europe is the relatively low rate of investment.

Little capital

On the basis of official data compared to those comparable for other countries, the survey shows that the countries of Western Europe lagged far behind the Western European countries in the growth of real industrial investment in all countries except Belgium and Denmark, the rate of growth in Western European countries thus far any Eastern European country for which figures are available.

Poland, Germany, Europe's second largest economy, had invested about $1,228,000,000 in some of its plants in 1956, compared to $1,228,000,000 in some of its plants in 1947.

The only Western European country having spent as low a rate of capital investment was even three times as much and investment per capita as the highest Eastern European country figure for the survey shows. The figure for the United States was $12.1 per capita.

Political not economic

Recently it is often suggested that letting up of a government's currency will help it to overcome its economic difficulties. The statement is usually made in connection with the United States where the aim of the government is to raise the standard of living of the people and to improve the economic position of the country. In the case of the United States, the aim is to raise the standard of living of the people and to improve the economic position of the country.

South African doctors and sociology students agree that the ideal family has four children; very few very large families are seen in the country.

The latest report on the structure of the South African family, published by the Department of Statistics, shows that, although there are still a large number of large families, there are not more than 100,000 children. The average number of children in a family is two or three. The report also shows that the number of children in a family is not related to the income of the family. The report also shows that the number of children in a family is not related to the education of the parents.

AUDITORS GIVE REASON FOR 1947 LOSSES

LOSSES of large sums, amounting to over £120,000, at the Nairobi District Treasury were brought to light at the end of 1947.

This series of frauds would not have occurred without almost immediate detection if it had not been for the continuance of a wartime relaxation of the procedures required by Financial Orders in connection with cheques received, the report states.

Constitutional factors were the immediate cause of the Treasury's lax supervision and the general lack of administrative control in staff departments in the office of the Treasurer.

REASONS for the Treasury's laxity in its supervision of the Treasury's expenditure are set out in a report by the Auditor-General, which is published in the Public Accounts for 1947.

Dealing with the Island Revenue Department at Nairobi for the year under review, the report states that there was no adequate system of control over cheques, and that the banking of revenue collections, the receipt of cheques, and the issue of receipts were not properly supervised.

It was stated that this procedure was not carried out by a staff member who was not trained in the system of internal audit introduced by the Island Revenue Department.

PRECAUTIONS taken. Asked for his comments on the report, the Commissioner of Inland Revenue told the East African Standard that during the period at the end of this year it had been necessary to take steps to improve the system which had been instituted at the end of 1947.

Pyrethrol Insecticide. The most powerful kills insects. Kills flies, mosquitoes, and other insects. Kills beetles, ants, and other household pests.

KEELAN PLAYS EXEMPLARY GOLF IN CHAMPIONSHIP

THE final of the 1948 Kenya Amateur golf championship, completed at Nakuru at the weekend, will go down as a memorable final, if not a really great one.

It was the most resounding victory since the K.C.U. took the championship under its wing in 1926, and it was the first time that a competitor had been run-in by his first two years of entry.

Keelan is a regular officer of the Royal Engineers, stationed at the Mactherson Light Depot, and he obtained special leave for the championship.

He had three days' practice on the Nakuru course, prior to that he had played three rounds of golf on the same course.

INDUSTRIAL ERA

5. THE PESSIMIST

YOUR article in last Tuesday's issue under the heading "Industrial Era" was written and read with interest. It was written and read with interest because it was written in a most convincing manner and because it was written by a man who has spent some time in the industrial field in Kenya.

It is a pity that it was written by a man who is a pessimist. It is a pity that it was written by a man who is a pessimist because it is a pity that it was written by a man who is a pessimist. It is a pity that it was written by a man who is a pessimist because it is a pity that it was written by a man who is a pessimist.

Handicaps

For any industry which is to be successful there is still a slight handicap. It is a handicap which is not a handicap in the industrial field. It is a handicap which is not a handicap in the industrial field. It is a handicap which is not a handicap in the industrial field.

Heavy capital outlay

In addition, labour... heavy capital outlay. The Government has been forced to invest large sums of money in infrastructure projects to support the industrial sector.

RECORD PRICE FOR PYRETHRUM

Negotiations for the 1950 crop

"Standard" Staff Reporter

CONTRACTS are now in course of negotiation covering the sale of the 1950 pyrethrum crop at a price which is anticipated to yield a return to growers approximately Sh. 175/- to 185 per pound of flowers with a content of 15 per cent pyrethrin.

Mr. D. H. B. Harby, Executive Officer of the Pyrethrum Growers' Association, who has been in London since his return from his tour of duty in the United Kingdom in connection with the 1949 crop, is expected to return to Kenya on the 24th inst. to begin negotiations with the present agents.

Increased acreage

The acreage under pyrethrum in Kenya is estimated to have increased from 20,000 acres in 1948 to 30,000 acres in 1949. This increase is due to the high prices offered for the crop, which has encouraged growers to expand their plantations.

'COLOSSAL LIES' SPREAD IN UGANDA

Solicitor General's statement to inquiry

"Standard" Staff Reporter

TWO Africans who are regarded by the Uganda Government as responsible for the spread of "colossal lies" in the Buganda Province in April are in England. Their names are Dr. A. S. M. M. and Dr. A. S. M. M., who were members of the Legislative Council of Uganda.

Dr. A. S. M. M. has been charged with spreading "colossal lies" which are intended to incite the masses to violence against the Government. The Government has taken steps to investigate the matter and to identify those responsible for the spread of such lies.

Deportation orders

Defending the power of issuing deportation orders, the Solicitor General stated that it was his duty to protect the public interest. He stated that the Government has the right to deport any person who is a danger to the public safety or who is an enemy of the State.

The Solicitor General also stated that the Government has the right to issue deportation orders against any person who is a threat to the national security. He emphasized that the Government must act in a fair and just manner when it exercises its power of deportation.

Far from simple

The Banka party has sponsored a campaign for the election of Mr. B. B. M. as a member of the Legislative Council. The campaign has been far from simple, as the Banka party has had to contend with a strong opposition from other parties.

The Banka party has been accused of using underhanded tactics to win support for its candidate. However, the party maintains that it has acted in a fair and just manner throughout the campaign.

Powerful influence

The first action by Government in the Province was to issue a notice to Mr. B. B. M. regarding his proposed campaign. The Government stated that it had received reports of the spread of "colossal lies" in the Province and was taking steps to deal with the situation.

The Government has a powerful influence over the activities of the Banka party and other groups in the Province. It has the power to issue orders and to take action against anyone who is a threat to the public interest.

Steps taken

The Solicitor General turned to a review of the reasons for the Banka party's actions. He stated that the Banka party had been engaged in a campaign of "colossal lies" which were intended to incite the masses to violence against the Government.

The Government has taken steps to deal with the situation. It has issued orders against those responsible for the spread of "colossal lies" and has taken other measures to maintain law and order in the Province.

Controlling untruths

He gave examples of some of the "colossal lies" which had been spread in the Province. He stated that these lies were intended to create a false picture of the situation in the Province and to incite the masses to violence against the Government.

The Government has a duty to control untruths and to maintain the truth. It has the power to issue orders and to take action against anyone who is a threat to the public interest.

TANGANYIKA GOVERNOR IS SWORN-IN

THOUSANDS of people attended the public reception for the new Governor of Tanganyika, Sir Edward Tynning, at Saturday. The Governor was sworn-in by the British High Commissioner in Dar es Salaam, Sir Graham Stuart.

The Governor has a long and distinguished career in the civil service. He is a member of the Privy Council and has held several important posts in the Government. He is expected to bring his experience and leadership to the newly independent Government of Tanganyika.

"THEY OUGHT NOT TO STAY" was the cry of many of the 100,000 people who gathered at the Kenya House of Representatives on Tuesday night to protest against the continued presence of British troops in Kenya. The protesters demanded that the British troops be withdrawn from Kenya immediately.

The Government has refused to accept the protesters' demands and has stated that the British troops will remain in Kenya until the Government has been able to establish a stable and democratic government. The Government has also stated that it is committed to the principles of self-determination and independence for Kenya.

SUGAR prices are expected to rise sharply in the coming months due to a combination of factors. The Government has announced that it will increase the price of sugar to encourage production and to support the sugar industry. This has led to a rise in the price of sugar on the world market.

The price of sugar is also expected to rise due to a decrease in the supply of sugar from other countries. This is due to a combination of factors, including a decline in production in some of the major sugar-producing countries and a decrease in exports from these countries.

SHOOTING was held in Mombasa on Wednesday afternoon to mark the opening of the shooting season. The shooting was held on the Mombasa Rifle Range and was attended by a large number of spectators.

The shooting was held in a most successful manner and a number of records were broken. The winner of the competition was Mr. J. M. M., who shot a total of 100 birds over a period of five days.

After the first year of age the diet of the infant becomes more varied, the times of his feeds change to become more regular, and with the rest of the family, and after the first birthday he can take to a great extent the same food as his parents. TAILORED RAINWEAR FOR ASCOT

THE King and Queen arrived at Windsor Castle on the evening of June 15 in readiness for the week's racing at Ascot. Windsor is only six miles from London and the following Thursday their Majesties set out on their "now traditional" drive to Ascot in a motor car.

The main topic of discussion at Ascot headquarters this year as at previous years, was the outfit of the racecourse for the day. The Duke of Devonshire and the Duke of Cambridge were the only two who were not to be seen at Ascot. The Duke of Devonshire was seen at Ascot in a motor car, and the Duke of Cambridge was seen at Ascot in a motor car.

Downpour garment
 However they came about, the Ascot fashion always seems to be a half-way of yesterday with the new of tomorrow. This year the Ascot fashion was no exception. The new of tomorrow was the downpour garment. It was a long, narrow, straight, and simple in design. It was a long, narrow, straight, and simple in design.

Young women hitch-hike across Africa

Two young ladies, Miss Kit Chambers (aged 21, from Britain, Miss Quirt (aged 21), a Laboratory Technician from Botswana) have hitchhiked from Cape Town to Nairobi...

Which also includes the price of a cotton shirt we sent bought, and Quirt's hair, which she had cut in the middle of the road, each worth about £1 of the money which still a little left behind us.

Our only protection and weapon of defence was a large knife, and Quirt, 'in case of an alarm was not behind us in any way, in open time and in the bush.

KIT left England in February this year and came to us to visit relatives in Cape Town. She left in January from Venice, arrived in Durban and then in Livingstonia, arriving about the same time as Kit.

At the Hotel where she had hoped to stay, Quirt was informed that there were no rooms vacant but that if she wished she could have one in an inexpensive room for the night.

THE Tavo National Park is gradually taking shape and though much is still to be done, certain areas have been opened up and are now accessible by motorable roads and tracks.

Travelling between these junior gangs, which, in some instances are many miles apart, affords a constant opportunity for the study of game movements in certain country, observing where the big concentrations are and their favourite watering places all with a view to making roads and opening up such areas to the public.

ABOUT PEOPLE

HEUT. COL. H. A. LOE, O.B.E. (late R.A.S.C.), and Mrs. Loe have acquired the George Hotel, Colaba, one of the most interesting Inns in England.

He returned about back to England, the year that Henry VIII had, and the beautiful old parsonage of the manor house is of about that date.

The richly decorated chimney piece is said to have come from Old House House, the last place to hold out against Cromwell.

In another part of the house is the sleeping porch where songspies were coaxed out, particularly pond-pools for making views. The pillars under the porch were used as pillars only.

It is a fine new acquisition. Capt. Robert Earl Acheson, 19th Devon Coy., was in 1941 in June 1941 he returned home.

BENTLEY SMALL PIANOS ARE REAL INSTRUMENTS

HEARD them make music, a Bentley does not equal the real piano being played. The reason is that small sets have been selected without discarding the traditional method of internal construction which permits the musician, partly fed with energy, to play with the fullness and depth of a large upright piano.

An old Indian word meaning 'the land of waters' is the origin of the name Guiana - one description enough of a country which is intersected by numerous rivers. The most spectacular features of the inland waterways of British Guiana is undoubtedly the Kaieteur Falls on the River Potaro, where the river plunges headlong into a fertile valley down a sheer vertical drop of 246 feet. In the industrial scheme the inventor of British Guiana now shows little to match such natural scenery, for it has yet to see the day when the rivers are harnessed for power and its resources of minerals and timber are exploited to the full. The immense coastal areas have long been intensively cultivated and the crops they produce - which include the famous Demerara sugar - make an important contribution to the prosperity of the Colony.

CHESS

The art of 'mixing' things

If the whole history of chess it would be difficult to name two more contrasting players than Spielmann and Nimschowitz. The latter was perhaps the greatest artist in this game ever for attacking children and brilliant combinations.

He was a mysterious look between the old and the new school of chess thought and his games he combined both.

The school of Spielmann is a mixture of the old and the new school of chess thought and his games he combined both.

FROM a purely mathematical point of view, there should only be about a 10 per cent chance for a grand slam in contract bridge. That is, if the declarer has a 10 per cent chance of making a grand slam, he has a 10 per cent chance of making a small slam.
